"Prior to 1850 English financiers used to declare that the East Indies was a 'veritable gulf for silver, swallowing all that was poured in and never letting any come out.'

LONDON'S DEMAND FOR SILVER.

"In 1851 Japan and China; with a population of three times that of the 200,000,000 of India, were opened to the commerce of the world. That year (1851) London, then as now the center of exchange for the whole world, needed only about $8,000,000 worth of silver to send out to settle the year's balances in favor of the east. The trade of west with east developed so fast during the next twelve years that she (London) had to find and send to the east in that time $600,000,000 worth of silver, and it had to be all in silver, as their creditors would accept nothing else. So wrote an eminent authority in 1863, and he said that 'if it had not been for the timely discovery of gold in California and Australia and its arrival in London so as to enable the purchase of silver in France and other continental countries, replacing the silver with gold currency, a tremendous money panic would have convulsed England.'

"What London has had to find of silver for the payment of the trade balance due the east for the thirty years since is almost beyond conjecture, and the trade of the eastern nations with the western is expanding all the time and the demand for silver for the balances due is always increasing.

ENGLAND RECOGNIZES A GOOD THING.

"Under such circumstances can we expect that England will ever take a step to assist in the remonetization of silver? Only a short time ago at a banquet in London an Englishman said that it used to cost nearly twice as much to buy silver necessary to coin a 'rupee' (the silver coin used in the East Indies) as it does now. 'Our transatlantic cousins,' he said, 'would like us to help them remonetize silver. We can't afford to. If silver bullion got back to its old value I don't believe that we could get a pound more of wheat or an ounce more of cotton in India for a rupee.'

"In the foregoing I have given the demonetization of silver in 1873 as the principle cause of the weakened financial standing of the farmer, and as I believe that the welfare and prosperity of all of us rests and depends upon his well-doing I would like to hear him demand a return to the money standard of 1873.

WHAT TARIFF LAWS HAVE DONE.

"At the same time I think that the tariff laws we have long lived under had a certain share in reversing the financial standing of the farmer to the city man. The farmer for the greater part of his crops could get no better prices from the American manufacturer and his employes than were fixed in the foreign market by the demand of the foreign manufacturer and his employes, but he had to pay the price made by the protected American manufacturer for all the home-manufactured goods which necessity compelled him to purchase or to use, thus the protection given by our tariff laws was largely at the expense of the farmer. Revenue for the support of the government must be had, and I believe in a tariff upon imports; but suppose that all American manufacturers engaged in protected industries contributed to that support by paying upon the estimated consumption by themselves and their employes and their dependents of that part used by them of such farm crops as are sold here at prices fixed by sales abroad; that they pay the same percentage as they are given as protection against competition by the foreigner in this market. As an illustration: Tariff for protection 50 per cent, estimated amount of wheat used by manufacturer, his employes and their dependents, 100 bushels; price $1 a bushel—$100; tax to be paid by protected manufacturer direct to government $50.

"But tariff or no tariff is just now a secondary question. As H. F. Nelson, a farmer of Armour, Neb., well says in The Chicago Record: 'Let us swear first, last and forever that silver is and shall be redemption money, as well as gold; let us fight out this question first, that we may have the power to conquer others.'

FARMERS CAN LOSE NO MORE.

"A careful consideration of the present situation of the farmer and the city workingman toward each other can lead only to the one conclusion that the manufacturing interests of this country depend entirely upon the purchasing ability of the farmer; the foreign demand for American manufactured goods, as shown by our export tables, can keep but a small part of our factories busy, and the employes at work in such factories must be on the pay rolls at a wage rate to enable the manufacturer to compete with the product of the cheap labor used by the foreign manufacturer.

"If I am correct in asserting that our manufacturing interests have been fostered and built up in great part at the expense of the farmer, it is equally correct to say that the farmer can no longer support our manufacturing industries to anything like their present magnitude. He cannot spare any more of the $25 in the $100 left to him, and at the present prices for his main product—cereals, cotton and tobacco—no balance will be left to him for expenditures on new things, after he has purchased the bare necessaries of life.

"What, then, is to become of the city workingman—the tin pail carrier? He had better get his thinking cap on; if he rests in the belief that more protection will be followed by prosperity and high wages, God pity him in the cold days and nights to come."

It Largely Supplies the Place of Meat With the Peasant Class.

Here in Bavaria where I write all beer is subject to strict governmental inspection, and if adulterations are found in it the police authorities empty it into the public sewers, the brewer bearing all losses and paying all costs. As a consequence Bavarian beer is famed all over the world for its purity, and, chemically considered, its high reputation is justly deserved. As to its healthfulness, this seems to be a question of quantity rather than quality, and I am not quite ready to affirm that, taken in moderation, it is not a normal and wholesome article of diet. They call beer in Bavaria flussiges brod—that is, bread in a liquid form—a name which some would think to be not very complimentary to the "staff of life." Be this as it may, it is certain that beer constitutes, whether for better or worse, a large fraction of the nutriment of the people, especially of the peasantry. With this latter element of society I have had much intercourse for several years and know their habits and dietic resources pretty well. As a rule, the peasant class in Bavaria are practically vegetarians. Not that they have any dietetic theories as to the uses of animal and vegetable food respectively, for, truth to tell, they have commonly no theories about anything under the sun, being ignorant and priest ridden to a degree which excludes nearly all the better possibilities of manhood.

Sunday is the only day in the week on which the peasants of Bavaria allow themselves the luxury of meat, simply because the conditions of poverty prohibit the indulgence. Beer being cheaper than meat, the working classes almost of necessity resort to it as a staple article of nourishment, and it seems to contain, as to chemical constituents, much that is essential to repair the waste of tissue inseparable from long and severe muscular exertion.

In Munich some years ago the public had a little taste of the prohibition dogma, which is not likely soon to be repeated. They have a great brewery here called the court brewery by reason of the fact that it is owned by members of the royal family of Bavaria and is operated under their supervision. In the fluctuations of trade it came to pass not so very long ago that the price of hops and malt took an upward stride on the market so that the cost of brewing the royal beers was slightly increased. Thereupon, following the law of self protection, fundamental in mercantile ethics, the government put up the price of beer half a cent per quart. Speedily it became evident that bread in a fluid as well as in a solid state can breed revolutions, for such was the threatening attitude of popular feeling that riotous assemblies gathered in the streets and public parks, and especially in the great courtyard of the royal brewery, and it was for a little while a question how long the walls would be likely to stand and the great tuns and vats hold their precious contents. The price of beer was forthwith put back at the old figure, the government pocketing the loss.—Christian Register.

Fishing at Les Cheneux.

Eighty per cent of the fishermen who go up Lakes Michigan and Huron every summer for sport go to Les Cheneux islands, better known as the "Snows." These islands are up at the head of Lake Huron, about 30 miles east of Mackinac island and the same distance south of the "Soo." Two little steamers from St. Ignace and Mackinac visit them daily. The channels between the islands are just the kind to shelter the game fishes found there, which include a few muskellunge, lots of pickerel of from 2 to 15 pounds in weight, bushels of yellow perch and rock bass up to a pound in weight.

The pickerel and bass are caught on any kind of trolling spoon hook, while Mackinac trout trolling from a sailboat is fine. The best black bass fishing is in the St. Mary's river, a few miles below the "Soo." A few almost inaccessible trout streams are on the main shore, and good catches repay those who care to scramble through pine and cedar tangles. Worms are the chief reliance of the trout fishermen.—New York Sun.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & CO., 14 Pacific Ave. Chicago, Ill. are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 3[illegible]	5.0
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.0
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.0
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.0
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.0 to 1.70
NE of SE 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
6 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.0
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	6.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

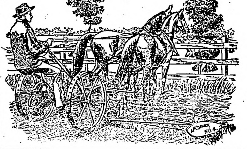
Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞ Warehouse on railroad track. : : : : : : : : : : : :

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
St. Hilaire, Minn. J. HOGQUIST.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest.☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP.......President
J. L. JOHNSON.......Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN .... }
W. A. SORSOLEIL....... } Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON....... }
LEONARD HOLMES.......Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	46c	Butter	6@8
Oats	10c	Eggs	6c
Barley	12c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	57c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Ed. Gistie purchased the Jorstad residence last week.

Miss Cora Harris finished her term of school last Friday.

The plastering on the new Patterson residence is finished.

Hay is being shipped out from this point every train day.

St. Hilaire has a great future. Come in on the ground floor.

Thief River Falls was well represented here last Sunday.

H. E. Ives went to Crookston Monday on committee work.

Blueberries were bought at seven cents a quart here last Monday.

Services were held at the Norwegian Lutheran church Sunday evening.

Col. Stranahan's residence is being treated to a new coat of white paint.

E. M. Hoff and family were visiting friends at Thief River Falls yesterday.

The population of Norway according to the latest census is 1,988,674 persons.

M. Z. Epperson made a couple trips to Crookston last week with his pacers.

30,000,000 feet saw mill—thats what St. Hilaire is going to have. Watch us grow.

Prof. Frank Juliott of Pembina furnished the music at Brink's hall Saturday evening.

R. H. Aimer drove up to Thief River Falls Monday looking after his business interests.

A heavy wind and rain storm struck this village last Saturday afternoon. No damage it reported.

Attorney Richardson went to Crookston Monday to look after the interest of his client in a land contest.

Much credit is due Landlord Arthur the way he handled the banquet given at Brink's hall last Saturday evening.

Chas. Tedford, of Thief River Falls, attended the banquet given by the citizens of St. Hilaire Saturday evening.

Crookston is without a merry-go-round and they miss it to the sorrow of the little ones, and delight to the old ones.

Mrs. Reynolds of Argyle, who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. Peter Hall, for a few days, left for her home Monday.

H. W. Higham, the agricultural implement dealer of Grand Forks, was doing busines in the village a few days last week.

D. P. R. Strong will be here Friday evening and will give an exhibition with the Neely Fire Extinquisher, of which he is their agent.

The Crookston base ball boys seem to get the worst of it playing with Co. F. of Grand Forks. Last Thursday's game stood 4 to 12 in favor of Co. F.

H. W. Lee and son was here a few hours Monday on their way to Crookston where they appear as principals in a land contest.

Boys, if you want to play ball, get out and practice, don't let them run up a score same as last Thursday—hold them even, if nothing more.

Messrs. Wood and Fuller of the upper falls were giving the St. Hilaire boys pointers on how to play base ball last Sunday—and they know to do it too.

John Kirsch, special agent for the Deering machine company, with headquarters at Red Lake Falls, was visiting with our local agent, L. Holmes, Saturday.

A number of lady and gentlemen bicyclists rode down from Thief River Falls Sunday afternoon and took supper at the American house. They were all graceful appearing on their bikes.

H. M. Meisner and family of Euclid with a party of relatives and friends, seventeen in number, stopped here between trains Friday, on their return from a tour of the Red Lake country.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Handy and children, who have been visiting ye editor, and friends for the past two weeks left to-day for their home at Grafton, N. Dak.

Elmer Stranahan, who makes his headquarters at Fargo, North Dakota, came in to-day on the late train, and will remain a few days visiting at the home of his parents.

Little Neil Dahl had the misfortune to hurt his foot last week while playing in the Epperson building and in consequence was carrying his foot rather awkwardly for a few days.

Thief River Falls is talking of organizing a K. of P. lodge, in fact several of the members got together Monday evening and talked the matter over at P. G. Peterson's drug store.

They have a man by the name of "Paddy the Pig" over in North Dakota and he was arrested last week for running a blind pig and selling liquor without a government license.

Geo. Ossman, representing the Joseph Ullman Fur house of St. Paul, was doing business with his customers Saturday. Mr. Ossman has been buying hides, wool, etc., for the past thirty years.

Work on the track between here and Red Lake Falls was completed last Friday. The road is now in the very best of condition and well guarded against wash outs which were were so frequent this spring.

The little fellow that wore bloomers and done the pitching for the Red Lake Falls club last Thursday, won the game by his superior "rooting" which rattled the home boys. That fellow is alright—he is a mascot.

A lively run-a-way took place on Broadway last Friday afternoon, completely demolishing the top buggy they were hitched to. The team belonged to a farmer by the name of John Sundahl living east of town.

M. Z. Epperson shipped four car loads of hay to Duluth to-day. One car of which was timothy, the rest being upland. The hay is in the very best of condition and will demand the highest market price.

A noted woman writer declares that red noses are often the result of tight garters. Now we never can tell when we meet a man with a crimson nose whether he has been drunk or only has his garter too tight.—Ex.

An outfit of hunters from St. Paul, well equipped with a large tent, dogs, etc., passed through here last Sunday morning looking for a good location where they will camp for the season, and make hunting their business.

An old settler informs us that when Lincoln was nominated the letter "L" appeared on the oat leaves in the fields and this year history repeats itself and the letter "B" appeared after Bryan was nominated.—Argyle Banner.

What St. Hilaire wants, and will get, is a bank and a good attorney-at-law. Look over the advertisements and what you don't see represented, there is a good opening for. Come in on the ground floor and be in the "push."

The Fertile Journal says Mike Kirsch, at present county commissioner, and who is running against Remi Fortier for the same office in the third district, has always been for "Crookston first with Mike a very close second."

An exchange tells of a man who attended a hugging bee for the benefit of a church, and while blindfolded hugged his wife for ten minutes without knowing who he was hugging. When he found out he wanted his fifteen cents back.

M. N. Johnson, who figured the matter over two years ago and claims there is money in raising 30 cent wheat, was nominated again for congressman last week by the North Dakota republicans. Will the farmers elect him to stay at home? We will see.

A few democrats gathered Monday evening and elected S. M. Hoff and Peter Dainard delegates to attend the democratic county convention, which was held at Crookston yesterday. The delegates started at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning in order to be there on time.

Four men and their teams passed through here yesterday on their way to Conway, N. D., where they will harvest their last crop in that state. They have taken up land east of here and built houses and done considerable breaking. They will return in the fall with their families.

M. E. Bjerk, Harry Ives and E. M. Hoff will leave Friday for a few weeks outing at Red Lake. They along with a party from Crookston have chartered one of the Meehan steamers and it is needless to say they will have a right royal pleasure trip. Fishing tackles will be part of their equipment.

Mr. Simle, the harness maker in Thief River Falls is in doubt whether the bullet that came in through the back window last week was shot at random or with intent. We hope there is no one mean enough in this country to shoot at a harness maker—if it was at an editor we could give a decision.

D. P. R. Strong of East Grand Forks, agent for the Neely fire extinguishers, rode over on his bike yesterday from Euclid, or nearly all the way. D. P. R. walked into town leading his bicycle and upon being questioned, said he had punctured one of the tires and he took the only route left—three miles walk. He claims the town always "hoodoed" him, every time he came here he either got wet, stuck in the mud, or broke down. Mr. Strong said we had the best flowing well and the finest drinking water in the United States and we forgive him for all he said about "hoodo, etc."

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

30,000,000 FEET SAW MILL

That is What The Citizens of St. Hilaire Will See Running in Good Shape Next Summer.

A big deal was consumated last Thursday which means everything to St. Hilaire. T. H. Shevlin, of the firm of Shevlin, Carpenter Company, Minneapolis bought out Jim Hill's interest in the townsite of St. Hilaire and also half interest in the St. Hilaire Boom and Water Power Company which owns the shore rights between here and Thief River Falls. The citizens have banked on a deal of this kind for several years and it was only a question of time when the pine could be bought up in large tracts to warrant the putting up of a large mill of this kind. They will also put up a planing mill and sash factory which means the employment of many men the whole year around. The mill will be built next spring with a sawing capacity of thirty million of feet during the season. Mr. Shevlin will be here somewhere between the 10th and 15th of August and plans will be made for fixing up the race and sheet piling will be put in from the race to the dam. Much credit is due Mr. H. E. Ives for getting such a man as Mr. Shevlin interested in this kind of a deal where much capital is required.

Citizens Banquet.

The banquet which was given by the citizens of St. Hilaire, at Brink's hall last Saturday evening, was a treat that will long be remembered by all those that were present. At 9 o'clock Prof. Juliott made a few passes on his $1,500 harp, which signified that everything was in readiness. Short speeches were made by Messrs. Marshall; Garceau, Hunt and Dr. Watson of Red Lake Falls, also from several of our townsmen, each and every speaker dwelling on the 30,000,000 feet saw mill, and by turn brought down the house with tremendous applause. A fine table was spread which all seemed to relish. After the tables were cleared, dancing commenced, which lasted until midnight, when all retired to their respective homes highly delighted with the evenings entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Garceau, Miss Ralph and Dr. N. M. Watson of Red Lake Falls attended the citizens banquet which was given at Brink's hall last Saturday evening. They enjoyed themselves immensely and only wished it had been some other evening so they could remain at the dance without breaking the Sabbath.

A prisoner while trying to make his escape from the county jail at Grafton, N. D., was detected half way up in a chimney, and after the deputy made the following brief speech "come down or I send some lead into you for a sinker" he concluded to come down. The victim stole a horse July 4th and got tired waiting for his trial. A guilty man is willing to take any and all chances, but he had no chance at all in the chimney.

Rust on wheat always carries with it the fear of damage to the whole crop but according to one informant that damage depends on where the rust is located. A correspondent says that the danger from rust comes when rust settles on the upper stock before the grain has headed out and where there is milk forming in the grain. He contends that he has seen excellent wheat that has been so red with rust that no green could be seen at a distance.—Red Wing Republican.

Oliver Caron, the Hout bee raiser, was in town Tuesday. He has 48 swarms of bees all busy manufacturing honey, and expects to harvest one ton of honey. This is sold at 20c. a pound. Mr. Caron says Northern Minnesota is the best section for successful bee raising he has ever struck and much superior to Southern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa. One new swarm of bees has produced thirty-four pounds of honey since June 8th. He keeps the Italian variety. Mr. Caron is the propagater of an industry that is being taken up by many farmers of this vicinity.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

The People's Party County Central Committee met at Crookston yesterday and organized for the campaign. The committee is composed of the following gentlemen: Christ Houston, chairman John Gleason, secretary; Ole Christianson, treasurer; H. E. Ives, C. T. Lanman, L. A. Kaufer, Joseph Lafrombois, Joseph Gervias, K. J. Sandvig, William Lemen, Robt. Anderson, J. E. Oppegard, Anton Lindem, Wm. Marin and Henry Norland.

The first five named were appointed as a campaign executive committee. It is the purpose of the committee to thoroughly organize the party and put up a vigorous campaign.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

The proposition to bond Polk county for $250,000 for a subsidy for the Farmers Railroad, of Mr. Hines, does not seem to be making any progress in public favor. The farmers would like to have a short independent line to Duluth that would give them lower rates on wheat than the two roads now competing in that region, but they do not relish the notion of bonding their county and taxing themselves to build a road for other people to run, and possibly to sell to one or the other of the old companies. In fact, the whole business of subsidizing railroads has become somewhat obsolete. If there is business to support a new road, capital can be raised to build it, and if not, then it should not be built. There are too many unprofitable railroads in this country already, that are burdens on the companies operating them and that sap the vitality of paying lines.—Northwestern Magazine.

Base Ball.

The game of base ball played between Red Lake Falls second nine and the St. Hilaire team last Thursday afternoon was a game where lots of running was required. The home boys were rattled from the very start and did not get a run until the fourth inning when W. C. Stranahan struck the home plate. The first three innings the St. Hilaire boys went out in the one, two, three, order and the game was all one sided. H. J. Freeman acted as umpire to the satisfaction of both nines. The following is the score of runs and outs:

ST. HILAIRE.	O.	R.	RED LAKE	O.	R.
Hoff, M. S	3	2	Lambert	2	5
Olson	4	2	Lafanier	4	4
Stranahan W.	1	4	Lemieux	2	5
Hoff, M. E.	3	0	Hennings	4	3
Sorsoleil	4	2	Perrin	5	1
Stranahan, L.	3	2	Paul	2	3
Ross	3	2	Hunt	4	3
Hall, S.	3	1	Botteneau	2	5
Hall, M.	3	3	Moran	1	4
	27	18		26	33

Following is a brief resume of the principal provisions of the filled cheese bill as given by an exchange:

The new law defines filled cheese to include "all substances made of milk or skimmed milk, with the admixture of butter, animal oils or fats, vegetable or any other oils or compounds foreign to such milk and made in imitation or resemblance of cheese." Manufacturers are taxed $400 annually, wholesale dealers $250, and retailers $120. The product itself is taxed one cent a pound and imported filled cheese is subject to a duty of 8 cents a pound in addition to the cheese duty. Filled cheese must be packed in wooden packages only and branded with the words "filled cheese," in black-faced letters not less than two inches in length, and all wholesale and retail dealers must display conspicuously in their salesroom a sign bearing the words, "Filled Cheese for Sale Here," in black letters not less than six inches in length on a white ground.

A game of base ball between Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls will be played on our grounds in the near future

The Populists held a ratification meeting on Saturday night and made considerable of a success of the effort.

After the nomination of Bryan was announced and they had their supper, they began to figure upon a public demonstration. Tom Young's voice came down the street about this time and Tom followed a block or so behind. Here was their opportunity and he was pressed into service. His announcement delivered from his dray in his usual eloquent and impressive manner added to the attention attracted by several boys carrying banners, drew a large number of people to the corner of Main and Second streets, where a huge bonfire had been built and the speaking began. A. R. Holston was master of ceremonies and the dray was used as a platform. The affair was successful, and considerable enthusiasm was worked up. The speakers were Senator Ringdal, L. E. Gossman, A. R. Holston, Nat Campbell, Eli Steenerson, R. J. Montague and Halvor Steenerson.—Crookston Times.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

Gluttonous Eskimos.

The eating powers of the Eskimos, if the tales told in the books of northern explorations are to be believed, are most extraordinary. Sir W. E. Perry tells of a young man scarcely full grown who ate 4 pounds and 4 ounces of frozen seahorse flesh, 4 pounds and 4 ounces of seahorse flesh broiled, 1 pound and 12 ounces of bread, 1 1-4 pounds of rich gravy in 12 hours. Besides eating the above he also drank 1 pint of grog, 3 glasses of raw spirits and 9 pints of water.—St. Louis Republic.

Drove Bulls Four-in-hand.

Pomona, a section of Germantown, was once the home of Colonel Forrest, who purchased the tract of land from a family named Shoemaker more than a century ago. Forrest was a colonel in the Revolutionary army and took part in the battle of Germantown. He was always doing something out of the usual custom, according to the accounts given of him by old residents of that suburb. It is said that he sometimes would drive a four-in-hand team of bulls from Germantown to Philadelphia. Forrest sold Pomona to James Duval, a French merchant, about the time of the war of 1812. Duval took considerable pride in raising fruit and ornamental trees of all kinds, and Pomona was the attraction for many distinguished people who came to Philadelphia.—Philadelphia Record.

Wit.

Wit, like every other power, has its boundaries. Its success depends on the aptitude of others to receive impressions, and that as some bodies, indissoluble by heat, can set the furnace and crucible at defiance, there are minds upon which the rays of fancy may be pointed without effect, and which no fire of sentiment can agitate or exalt.—Johnson.

Notice for Bids.

Bids will be received by the trustees of School District No. 102, Polk county, Minnesota, until July 30th 1896, for carpenter work and painting. Specifications on file at Clerk's office, St. Hilaire, Minn. Bids will be received for any part of the work. Rights reserved to reject any or all bids.

51-52 H. E. IVES, Clerk.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

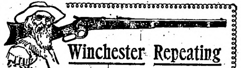
Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

More

Medicinal value, more skill, care, expense, more wonderful cures and more curative power in

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Than in any other. Be sure to get only Hood's.

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, indigestion.

He Withered.

Minnie—One of those odious mashers tried to talk to me on the car this afternoon.

Mamie—You called the conductor?

"No; I just gave him a withering look."

"Oh! And did he wither?"

"He dried up."—Indianapolis Journal.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

A Sad Blunder.

Leading Prohibitionist—And how far is your rural home from the nearest rum shop?

The Indiscreet Farmer—Why, it's only a half-dozen rods or so. You could easily crawl home on your hands an' knees on the darkest night, an' not miss th' way.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Imposter Exposed.

"Yes," said the dear girl. "I knew he was an imposter, though he did wear the college colors."

"And how?" asked the other dear girl.

"Easily enough. He didn't seem to think he was any better than anybody else."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Tender-Hearted.

"Why did you do it?" asked the inquisitive visitor of the man who was under sentence for throwing his wife into the well.

"She was cryin'," the gentleman explained, "and I never could stand it to see a woman cry."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children Teething.

A Bond street tobacconist takes about 375 from lady devotees of the fragrant weed.

Henry George is an athlete and a great cyclist.

The London Zoological gardens spend each week $500 in feeding the inmates.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

E. C. Pickler, D. O., Prest.
F. D. Parker, D. O., Vice-Prest.
L. M. Rheem, Secy.

NORTHERN INSTITUTE OF OSTEOPATHY.

GLOBE BLDG. MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Will open its fall class September 1, 1896. All persons desiring to enter this class can obtain full information in regard to tuition, terms, etc., by addressing the Secretary. Osteopathy is a comparatively new science, but is one that offers unexcelled advantages to young ladies and gentlemen desiring to enter professional life.

OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
We Loan Money on Wheat In Elevators

We Will loan you 90 per cent of the value, at 6 per cent interest, on wheat sent to us to be stored or upon grain in your local elevator. Osborn, Crosby & Co., Grain Commission, Flour Exchange, Minneapolis.

"THE MIDDLE SOUTH"

A handsomely illustrated 16 page Monthly Journal describing the development of the Middle South, the farmer's paradise. Price 50 cents per year. Send 25 cts. at once mentioning this paper and you will receive "The Middle South," for one year, postage free, or if you secure four subscribers and send us $1.00 we will send your paper one year free of charge. Address Middle South Pub. Co., Somerville, Tenn.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. Free Trial. State case. Dr. Marsh, Quincy, Mich.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

THEIR CHOICE, TOO

THE SILVER CONVENTION NOMINATES BRYAN AND SEWALL.

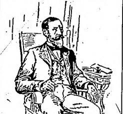
The Men Selected for President and Vice President by the Democratic Convention Become the Unanimous Nominees of the Silver Party—The One-Plank Platform Is Adopted.

St. Louis, July 22.—The national convention of the silver party was called to order in Grand Music Hall at 12:30 to-day by Chairman Mott of the national committee.

After the reading of the call, Francis G. Newlands of Nevada was presented as temporary chairman.

Mr. Newlands read a long and carefully prepared argument in favor of free coinage of silver. He concluded as follows:

"This campaign is to open up an era of education, and in this work the silver party enters animated by no sectional spirit, controlled by no feeling of envy against the more prosperous, but inspired by the desire to maintain a broad American policy which shall protect the interests of American production whether in the mining camps of the mountains, the wheat fields of the West, the cotton fields of the South or the factories of New England. But let us remember always in this contest that union is strength, and that the motto of our opponents is now, as it has always been, 'Divide and conquer.'"



J. J. MOTT.

After Mr. Newlands' speech the Declaration of Independence was very well recited by Miss Lillie B. Pierce of St. Louis, who was dressed as the Goddess of Liberty.

The usual committees were then appointed.

The following committee was announced to confer with the Populists, with a view to solidifying the forces. G. A. Baker, California; D. F. Keith, North Carolina; Judge Scott, California; W. H. Standish, North Dakota; Gen. Turner, Massachusetts; S. F. Keith, North Carolina; C. Turner, Minnesota.

The convention then took a recess until 4:30 in the afternoon.

The afternoon session opened at 4:50 o'clock. The committee on credentials made a report which was adopted.

The committee on permanent organization, through Gen. G. C. Bradshaw of Montana, chairman, reported the following permanent officers of the convention:

Permanent Chairman—William P. St. John of New York.

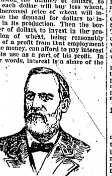
Vice Permanent Chairman—Charles A. Towne of Minnesota.

Secretary—R. E. Diffenderfer of Pennsylvania, with power to select his own associates, one of whom will be George P. Keeney.

Reading Clerk—W. Jefferson Pollard of St. Louis.

Chairman William P. St. John was introduced and made a short speech. In the course of it he said: "The fountain head of our prosperity has run dry. Our farmers all over the country have endured the depression in prices until they get about $8 or $9 per acre for an expenditure of $10 per acre, and the line. Their credit at their country store is exhausted. The country store ceases to order from the city merchant, the city merchant reduces his demand from the manufacturer. Manufacturers are curtailed. The consequence is that employes and all elements of labor are being discharged and wages are lowered to those who continue in employment. The sufferings of the farmers, who constitute nearly one-half of our population, are thus forced upon the city merchant, the manufacturer and all forms of labor. These combined elements constitute the overwhelming majority of voters. Their intelligent conclusion will be felt when expressed at the polls.

"The banker also is without prosperity unless prosperity is general throughout the United States. He must learn to distinguish between cheap money and money commanding a low rate of interest. The dollar worth two bushels of wheat is a dear dollar, and yet it commands interest in Wall street at present of but 2 per cent per annum on call. If the dollar can be cheapened by increasing the number of dollars, so that each dollar will buy less wheat, the increased price of wheat will increase the demand for dollars to invest in its production. Then the borrower of dollars to invest in the production of wheat, being reasonably sure of a profit from that employment of the money, can afford to pay interest for its use as a part of his profit. In other words, interest is a share of the profit on the employment of money. So that an abundant money, money readily obtainable, which is to say really cheap money, is the money which commands a high rate of interest, as a share of the profit of the borrower in using it."



GEN. WARNER.

A committee was appointed to confer with a like committee from the Populists on a plan for united action.

The convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock in the morning.

When Chairman St. John called the convention to order Thursday morning he said he was sorry to be compelled to announce that Rev. Dr. Nicholls, who was to open the convention with prayer, had been called from the city. Congressman Newlands moved that a committee on ways and means be appointed to raise funds with which to defray the expense of the convention.

Charles A. Towne, vice chairman, was then introduced and addressed the convention at some length on the silver question. He was followed by ex-Gov. John P. St. John, Mrs. Helen Gougar and others.

The convention then took a recess until 2:30 p. m.

It was 3 o'clock when Chairman St. John called the afternoon session to order. He announced that owing to the fact that the People's party had not effected its permanent organization, no conference committee had been appointed. This would necessitate delay, but he hoped the delegates would be patient.

A resolution was adopted extending the thanks of the convention to Dr. J. J. Mott, chairman of the national committee, for the work he had performed in behalf of the free silver cause. Before the adoption of this several speeches were made eulogistic of Mr. Mott and his work.

Dr. Mott was called for and was greeted with cheers. He said he felt sure free silver would sweep the country in November.

While the convention was waiting for the report of the platform committee addresses were made by H. L. Chaffee of Minnesota and C. B. Lane of California.

A poll of the convention was then made to find out the previous political belief of the delegates. The result of the poll showed that there were 526 Republicans, 135 Democrats, 47 Populists, 9 Prohibitionists, 1 Nationalist, 1 Greenbacker, 12 independent. Two of the lists failed to report.

The convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock in the morning.

Chairman St. John called the silver convention to order Friday. Rev. Dr. L. W. Covert led in prayer, after which G. W. Baker of California took the floor. He said the People's party convention had appointed a conference committee, and moved that the convention defer action on the platform and postpone the nomination of a ticket until after noon. The motion prevailed.

After a number of delegates had spoken on the silver question, Senator Stewart of Nevada was called for and responded with a short speech.

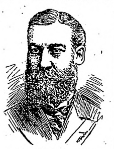
Under a resolution adopted yesterday, the roll of states was called to find out how many old soldiers occupied seats as delegates. The poll showed 106 Union veterans, 18 Confederate veterans and 4 Mexican war veterans.

Adjourned until afternoon.

Chairman St. John rapped for order and introduced the Rev. Mr. Hagerty, who made the opening prayer at the afternoon session. At the conclusion of the invocation G. W. Baker was called upon for a report from the conference committee. He said that the time was too short to reach a satisfactory conclusion. There were not more than 100 men in the conference and only two hours in which to discuss the methods to be pursued. He read the resolutions which were adopted at the conference. On motion of Mr. Turner of Kansas the report was accepted and adopted by a unanimous vote.

The report of the platform committee was then made by Senator Jones of Nevada.

A motion to adopt the platform was made. Mr. Hess of Illinois objected, and a wordy wrangle followed. It ended in the adoption of the platform. It was decided by the chairman that the recommendation regarding nominations was not a part of the platform and should be acted upon separately. Mr. Page of Nebraska moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of a presidential candidate. It prevailed. Gen. Warner said it would be necessary to nominate a candidate rather than endorse in order to avoid some of the peculiarities of the state ballot laws. E. E. Lutle of Kansas nominated William J. Bryan of Nebraska.



WILLIAM P. ST. JOHN.

Several speeches were made seconding Bryan's nomination, and then the rules were suspended and the nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. Baker of California then moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of vice president. Mr. Troup of Connecticut placed the name of Arthur Sewall of Maine before the convention. H. T. Niles of Ohio seconded the nomination. It was moved that Mr. Sewall be declared the vice-presidential nominee by acclamation, and the motion prevailed.

Mr. Baker of California moved that each delegation select a member of the committee to notify the nominees. The motion was agreed to. The roll call of states was begun, but before it was half finished two-thirds of the delegates had left the hall and all the visitors went out.

Col. Pace of Nebraska offered a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the convention that as the Democratic party had arranged to notify Bryan and Sewall in New York, the silver party notify them in Bryan's home at Lincoln. The motion was agreed to. Thereupon the convention adjourned sine die.

Names of Dickens' Novels.

Charles Dickens often changed a title after choosing it. "Barnaby Rudge," that earnest plea for tolerance and abolition of capital punishment, was announced for many months under the name of "Gabriel Vardon." During the twenty months of the serial publication of "Dombey and Son," its title was "Dealings With the Firm of Dombey and Son, Wholesale, Retail, and for Exportation," but on its completion in 1848 its present admirable title was adopted. Dickens' favorite child, "David Copperfield," was originally brought out under this title: "The Personal History, Adventures, Experiences and Observations of David Copperfield the Younger, of Blunderstone Rookery (which he never meant to be published on any account)." Dickens followed the example of his avowed master, Smollett, and at first gave a novel the title of its hero or heroine, even going so far as to adopt the alliteration of "Peregrin Pickle" and "Roderick Random" as a model for "Nicholas Nickleby;" but he broke away from this habit, and his titles are generally original and striking. "Bleak House" was first called "Tom-All-Alone's," and certainly in this case second thoughts were best.—Collector.

WIND AND WATER

ANONTER BAD STORM SWEEPS OVER PENNSYLVANIA.

In Pittsburg and Allegheny at Least Three Lives Are Lost and a Large Amount of Property Is Destroyed—Much Damage Reported From a Number of Towns in the Immediate Vicinity.

Pittsburg, July 29. — A wind and rain storm of unusual fierceness visited this city to-day causing the loss of at least three lives and doing immense damage to property. Several dwellings were completely demolished and others partially wrecked. Eight or ten churches had their roofs blown off and otherwise damaged. Telegraph, telephone and electric light poles were snapped like pipe stems, mixing the wires in an inextricable mass. Fierce lightning and high winds accompanied the storm, or rather, two storms, for Pittsburg and Allegheny was the meeting place of one storm from the west which came up the Ohio valley and another from the east which followed the course of the Allegheny river. Such a battle of the elements is rarely witnessed. In East Pittsburg and Wilmerding hail fell in large quantities, some of the stones being large ones. In the first five minutes of the storm .58 of an inch of water fell and the wind reached a velocity of thirty miles an hour.

Later another storm, almost as fierce as the first, came up and .68 of an inch fell, making a total of 1.33. The rivers are now rising and another flood is expected. Among the casualties reported is an accident to the camp of the Eighth Ward Hunting and Fishing Club of Allegheny. The club was at its camp in Sugar grove, about four miles up the Allegheny river when the storm came up. The members say it was

A Genuine Cyclone.

The trees in the grove were broken and twisted as though they were weeds, and one large sycamore thirty feet in circumference was snapped off near the ground and fell upon the tent of the campers, killing almost instantly John Figus, broke the back of George Miller, who will die, and seriously injuring Thomas O'Connell, Charles Kosack, Jacob Metz, Frank Olt and Harry Hadley.

On Greenfield avenue, in the East end, Joseph Ashfelder was killed by a sign being blown down, striking him on the head. In Sharpsburg W. L. Norr was killed by the roof of a house being blown down on him.

At McKee's Rocks, where Prof. Gerodette, curator of Carnegie museum, had a gang of men at work digging up an old Indian mound in the interest of science, lightning struck a tree under which the party had taken refuge, shocking one of the laborers, an old man, into unconsciousness, also a young man by the name of Pool, son of a college professor, both of whom will probably die.

The result of the storm in property damage has not all been gathered in, but it is known that all through Allegheny, the South side and the East end, many horses were unroofed, signs blown down and windows broken. Along Penn. toward Homewood, where many fine suburban mansions are located, the splendid lawns are completely destroyed and the beautiful shade and ornamental trees ruined. It is estimated that $100,000 will hardly cover the loss in this locality alone. Reports from the outlying towns tell of much damage to houses and other property, but no lives lost so far as known.

Struck by Lightning.

In Allegheny twelve persons were struck by lightning. They are in the hospital and considered by the physicians to be in a critical condition. Their names are Abner Hayes, freight receiver for the Fort Wayne railroad; A. M. Bennett and three children; August Snedz, his wife and their four children.

In Pittsburg reports of damage to property is still coming in. On Washington street ten houses, a machine shop and church were blown down and completely ruined, but fortunately no one was injured. The row of houses belonged to the Daniels estate and had been condemned and tenants removed from them. The Centarry M. E. church on Kirkpatrick street had its roof and steeple carried away by the wind, the bells from the tower being thrown to the ground and broken. The roof of the John Wesley chapel, A. M. E., was torn away and carried 200 feet. The Pittsburg high school and Holy Ghost college suffered, but are not badly damaged. Returns from the different sections of the two cities show twenty-five or thirty people injured more or less by falling trees, roofs, signs, etc.

Insurgents Killed.

Havana, July 29. — During recent skirmishes in the province of Pinar del Rio and Santa Clara the insurgents left eighteen killed on the field, among the dead being an American, and retired with their wounded. The troops had one officer and twenty soldiers wounded. Maj. Yglisio has dispersed an insurgent force at Congo mountain, province of Matanzas. He captured the enemies' camp and destroyed a hospital used by the insurgents. The latter had five men killed and the troops captured two prisoners.

Killed by Hail.

Scotland, S. D., July 29.—A very destructive hail storm passed over a section of country six miles west of here yesterday, totally destroying the crops and doing great damage to live stock and buildings. Two children are missing and are supposed to have been killed by the hail.

Rhodes Will Confess.

London, July 29.—The Daily News says that it hears that Cecil Rhodes intends at the earliest possible opportunity to attend the parliamentary committee which is to investigate the Jameson raid and to fully disclose everything he knows about the raid.

Spanish Loss Is Heavy.

Havana, July 29.—An important engagement has been fought between Gen. Linares and the insurgent forces under Calixto Garcia, in which the Spanish losses were admittedly heavy.

Stuck an Iceberg.

St. John, N. F., Special.—The British steamer Concordia, Capt. Mitchell, bound for Glasgow from Montreal, loaded with cattle and a general cargo of merchandise, has arrived here, almost wrecked, having struck an iceberg.

Charged With Murder.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Special.—Mrs. Moore, at New Martinsville, is under arrest, charged with poisoning her stepson, Okey Moore, who died last night, and his brother is not expected to live.

HE MAY WITHDRAW.

Bryan May Decline to Run as a Populist.

St. Louis, July 29.—Chairman Jones, of the Democratic national committee arrived at Jefferson City to-day and sent for Gov. Stone. They were in conference several hours, and it is said they considered the matter of withdrawing Bryan's name from the Populist ticket.

The affairs of the People's party are now in the hands of Senator Butler of North Carolina, the new chairman of the national executive committee. To-day the nine members of the retiring Populist executive committee made a formal settlement with the new committee. They turned over to Chairman Butler and Secretary Edgerton all the money on hand and their accounts were approved. Very few of the new members remained in the city for the meeting. They authorized Chairman Butler and Secretary Edgerton to audit the accounts and hastened home to prepare for the campaign. The Silver party has established a temporary headquarters in the Corcoran building, Washington. Future events will determine whether or not it will be continued there. Vice Chairman Stevens, who will have active charge of the headquarters and who will relieve Chairman Lane of much of the work connected with the coming campaign, will leave for the capital city in a short time. It is rumored that the Populist national executive committee will also make its headquarters in that city, but Chairman Butler refused to either confirm or deny the statement. The selection of headquarters has been left to him and a decision in that matter will probably not be made for several weeks.

Charles B. Lane, chairman of the Silver national committee, has left for his home in California. He will stop at Lincoln, Neb., and hold a conference with Bryan. While it has not yet been definitely decided, there will probably be no formal notification of Bryan by neither the Populists or the Silver men. It was learned from a prominent Western member of the Silver national committee that it is the intention of both the Silver and Populist committees to waive the usual formal notification and on Aug. 12 hold a ratification meeting in New York at which Bryan's nomination for the presidency will be announced.

MANIAC AT LARGE.

Lax Insanity Regulators May Result in Murder.

Iowa Falls, Iowa, July 29. — Frank Pierson, in a fit of insanity, cut the throats of his aged father and mother and then opened his own neck at their home in this city at an early hour this morning.

Before beginning his work the maniac had started a fire in a trunk filled with combustibles in his own room upstairs, with the evident intention of cremating the bodies of his intended victims. The weapon used was a razor, with which he first cut his father, but he only succeeded in making a slight flesh wound on the neck. He then caught his mother with his left hand and drew the razor across her neck, cutting a deep gash from ear to ear to the middle of the neck. The lunatic then cut his own throat from ear to ear, partially severing the windpipe, but, strange to say, is still living, though the surgeon considers his recovery doubtful. The mother is in a precarious condition through loss of blood and nervous prostration, but hopes are entertained of her recovery.

The younger Pierson was but recently discharged from the asylum at Independence as cured, but is undoubtedly insane. Albert, a brother of Frank, committed suicide in Chicago last spring.

Doolin at Work Again.

Wichita, Kan., July 29.—In a lively gulch several miles west of the village of Lacy, in the northern part of Oklahoma Territory, the regular mail stage was held up to-day by a band of outlaws who rifled the express and mail sacks, taking all the registered letters and all the valuables carried by the two passengers in the coach. There is little doubt that the robbery was the work of the reorganized gang of "Bill" Doolin, the condemned murderer and outlaw who escaped from jail at Guthrie several weeks ago with a dozen desperate cutthroats and robbers. A big force of United States marshals has been in pursuit of the outlaws ever since their escape.

Gold Reserve Growing.

Washington, July 29.—The bankers are making good their promises in the matter of turning in gold to the treasury, and to-day the reserve was swelled by the addition of $1,145,009 in coin, $400,000 coming from Boston, $250,000 from Chicago and $495,000 from New York. There was drawn out to-day $129,100 in gold coin and $5,400 in gold bars, leaving the reserve standing at $105,073,019.

Board of Public Works Abolished.

St. Paul, July 29.—Mayor Doran today signed the ordinance abolishing the board of public works, and before the end of the week he will name the man who is to fill the position of commissioner. The appointment will probably be John Copeland. An effort is being made to have the appointment postponed for a time until the law can be tested in some way, but Mayor Doran will not do this.

Bad Mill Fire in Preston.

Preston, Minn., July 29.—A serious loss by fire occurred here Saturday night when Conkey Bros.' flour mill was entirely destroyed. Loss, $15,000; insurance, $5,000.

Hobart a Golf Player.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 29.—Hon. G. A. Hobart has joined the Hotel Champlain Golf club and is an active player of the game.

Millais Dying.

London, July 29.—It is announced that Sir John E. Millais, the president of the Royal academy, is now in such a critical condition that he is unable to take nourishment, and that the end is only a question of a few hours.

Improving the Big Muddy.

Washington, July 29. — Col. W. A. Jones, in charge of the improvements on the Missouri river between Great Falls, Mont., and Sioux City, Iowa, reports that $25,067 were expended during the year.

Druggists Elect.

Fargo, N. D., Special.—The North Dakota Pharmaceutical association elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, E. C. Lucas, Lisbon; first vice president, T. W. Kibbe; second vice president, H. Lennaux; secretary and treasurer, W. S. Parker, Lisbon.

Whisky Killed Him.

York, Pa., Special.—Augustus Witticken, aged thirty-eight years, whose parents live at La Crosse, Wis., was one of a party of five who drank a gallon of whisky last night. This morning he was found dead in a barn near Logarsville, this county.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Principal Value.

Teacher—Tell me, Johnnie, what is the principal value of history.

Johnnie Chaffie—One dollar.

Teacher—One dollar?

Johnnie Chaffie—Yes; you get the history from the book store for $2 a copy, and make us boys pay $3 for them.—Texas Siftings.

A Veil of Mist

Rising at morning or evening from some lowlands, often carries in its folds the seeds of malaria. Where malarial fever prevail no one is safe, unless protected by some efficient medicinal safeguard. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is both a protection and a remedy. No person who inhabits, or sojourns in a miasmatic region or country, should omit to procure this fortifying agent, which is also the finest known remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, kidney trouble and rheumatism.

Why the Winds Howl.

"How the winds howl to-night," said the melancholy boarder.

"I shouldn't wonder if it had the toothache," suggested Mr. Asbury Peppers.

"Toothache?"

"Yes. Have you never heard of the teeth of the gale?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

How to Grow 40c Wheat.

Salzer's Fall Seed Catalogue tells you. It's worth thousands to the wide-awake farmer. Send 4-cent stamp for catalogue and free samples of grains and grasses for fall sowing. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Guilty as Charged.

Judge—You are charged with cutting Jasper Johnson with a razor, after he had worsted you in a friendly sparring match.

Prisoner—Yes, sah; I slashed 'im. Dat coon 'veigled me into boxin', an' never tole me he was lef'-han'ed.—Detroit Free Press.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The Eternal Feminine.

"What a sad expression Mr. Welham has. Ever notice it?"

"Yes. There was a woman at the bottom of it all, as usual."

"You don't say! Who is she?"

"His wife. Her cooking has given him the dyspepsia."—Indianapolis Journal.

Czar Nicholas will make his visits to the sovereigns of Europe alone.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is our only medicine for coughs and colds. Mrs. C. Beltz, 439 8th avenue, Denver, Col., Nov. 8, '95.

The British mints coins half a ton of pennies, half-pennies and farthings weekly.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week for Northwestern inventors:

Francis M. Dean, Huron, S. D., pneumatic track sander; Otis M. Kirlin, argo, N. D., vehicle brake; Obied D. Reisinger, St. Paul, Minn., sashholder; John B. Rossman, St. Paul, Minn., concentrator and amalgamator; Charles J. Swanstrom, Deadwood, S. D., curtain holder; Edward A. Thiem, St. Paul, Minn., adjustable wheel gauge; Hjalmar Zahl, Duluth, Minn., fastener for shoe laces; Christensen & Henderton, Madelia, Minn. (trade mark), wheat flour; Frank A. Schnorr, Ashton, S. D. (trade mark), lubricating oils. T. D. Merwin, patent lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul Minn.;

Better Method.

She—I think Mr. Belasco made a mistake in dragging Mrs. Carter around by her hair to teach her the robustness of acting.

He—What would have been a better method?

She—He should have put her on a bicycle and let her fall off.—Buffalo Times.

Etiquette.

Mr. Dun (unpaid bill in his hand)—When shall I call again, Mr. Owens?

Mr. Owens—Well, it would hardly be proper for you to call again until I have returned the present call.—Cleveland Leader.

Personal.

ANY ONE who has been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, will receive information of much value and interest by writing to Pink Pills, P. O. Box 1592 Philadelphia, Pa.

Thinks Bicycling Immodest.

Smith—Thank goodness, I've got a wife who'll never wear short skirts or bloomers.

Jones—Ah, but don't you know—

Smith—Don't I? Well, I gues I know how tender she is about her No. 6 shoes!—Chicago Record.

Child Wiser Than the Man.

Prof. Giesler of Gottingen has twenty-four children. He saw a child crying in the street, and asked:

"What is the matter, little boy?"

"Don't you know me, papa?" said the boy.

He was one of the twenty-four children.—The Collector.

The Explanation.

She—Why, do you think Hawthorne called his story "The Scarlet Letter?"

He (absent-minded)—He probably wanted it read.—Washington Times.

The average duration of human life is thirty-three years.

The takings of London theaters and music halls exceed $7,500,000 per annum.

Poor Pilgarlic,

there is no need for you to contemplate a wig when you can enjoy the pleasure of sitting again under your own "thatch." You can begin to get your hair back as soon as you begin to use

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Kickapoo Indian Worm Killer

Is what you should give the children. Half their sickness is CAUSED BY WORMS.

A. T. Co.
BATTLE AX
10 CENT CUT

There is no dividing line.

Battle Ax PLUG

DON'T FORGET for 5 cents you get almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other brands for 10 cents.

DON'T FORGET that "Battle Ax" is made of the best leaf grown, and the quality cannot be improved.

DON'T FORGET, no matter how much you are charged for a small piece of other brands, the chew is no better than "Battle Ax."

DON'T FORGET, "Economy is wealth," and you want all you can get for your money. Why pay 10 cents for other brands when you can get "Battle Ax" for 5 cents?

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 5, 1896. NUMBER 1.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The state department has recently been giving much attention to the conduct of the United States consuls, and in consequence it has been found necessary to call for resignations in the case of a few of these officers.

People in Print.

Nathaniel Hutchinson McKelway, a son of St. Clair McKelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, is dead of consumption.

Maj. Josiah Quincy has issued an invitation to Li Hung Chang to visit Boston as its guest while on his coming visit to this country.

Col. Calvin Fletcher Burns, president of the National Bank of St. Joseph, Mo., and one of the state's leading financiers, died after an illness of two weeks.

Gen. C. E. Colston, who was an officer in the Confederate army, and at one time commanded the Stonewall brigade, died at the Soldiers' home, in Richmond, Va.

William B. Noble, a wealthy citizen of Washington, D. C., who went to Colorado for the benefit of his health, died in the swimming pool at Glenwood Springs, presumably of heart failure. His family is summering at Bar Harbor, Me.

Casualties.

The explosion of a powder magazine at Fuenfkirchen, Austria, resulted in the death of five persons, the injuring of eighty others and the wrecking of the town hall.

The yacht Avocet of Cleveland, for whose safety there were great fears, she having been caught out in the gale, has finally been reported safe at Rocky river, ten miles west of Cleveland.

Enos N. Barge, aged twenty-one, and Barbara Herschey, slightly younger, while returning from an outing in a buggy, were struck and instantly killed while crossing the track of the Pennsylvania railroad near Lancaster, Pa.

Four large flood gates at Buckeye lake, near Newark, Ohio, were opened to prevent the lake from overflowing its banks. The water rushed out, flooding 500 acres, washing away fields of grain and killing fifty sheep.

The bark Yoalani arrived at Honolulu on July 16, 154 days from New York. The vessel ran into a hurricane April 21, losing sails and rigging. The ship Tillie E. Starbuck sailed for New York with a cargo of sugar valued at $200,000.

While Levi Sancomb and Nellie Busby, aged respectively eighteen and sixteen, of Chateaugay, N. Y., were returning to that village they were struck by an engine on the Central Vermont railroad as they attempted to cross the track. Sancomb and Miss Busby and the horse they were driving were instantly killed.

Two French fishing crews report that the schooner Anna Marie, with twenty-one men, sunk in a collision with the schooner Pacifique and that the schooner Tedel, with fifteen men, foundered. The French crews landed at St. Johns, N. F., having been picked up adrift in dories.

Andrew Mansfield, for many years a resident of Chicago, who arrived at St. Joseph, Mo., a few days ago to take charge of the city electric light plant, suffered an accident which will cost him the sight of both eyes, if not his life. By mistake he opened the door of a gas generator.

The five-year-old son of Will Morlan fell into a well sixteen inches in diameter and eighty feet deep at Jefferson, Iowa. He managed to catch hold of a sharp rock just above the water, fifty feet from the surface of the earth, and hung there. A man tried to go down, but was unable to force his way through, so small an opening. Finally, a twelve-year-old boy squeezed down and rescued the little fellow. The rescuer, however, had his shoulders terribly lacerated.

Evil Doings.

The mine of the old Pittsburg Coal company at Hymera, Ind., was burned by strikers.

One of the robbers of the stage near Cripple Creek, Col., on July 23, has been arrested.

It is reported that a race-war has occurred about fifteen miles east of Jasper, Fla., in which six men were killed and seven seriously wounded.

James Casheraga, alias George Wilson, was hanged in the federal jail at Fort Smith, Ark., for the murder of a man named Thack. He protested his innocence.

I. N. Coffee, president of the Illinois state board of pharmacy, was stabbed and killed in Cairo by Dr. Crabtree, in front of the latter's drug store. Crabtree is in jail.

The case of Ed Perry, who was to be hanged at Ava, Mo., for killing three members of the Sawyer family, early last fall, has been appealed to the supreme court.

George McConnell, grand keeper of records and seals of the Knights of Pythias of Oregon, has disappeared, and his accounts with the order are about $2,000 short. It is said he has gone to his former home in Canada.

Jesse Wilson of Massillon, Ohio, accused his wife of having improper relations with other men. She denied the accusation, when he threw her on the bed and cut her throat. She is not expected to live. Wilson is in jail.

Frank Connors and Steve Brady, each about twenty-five years old, tried to hold up Bartender James Maloney, in Maloney Bros' saloon at Kansas City, Mo., and Connors was shot and perhaps fatally wounded by the bartender.

James Byers, employed at Moran, Ind., as agent for the Vandalia Railroad company and the Adams Express company, killed himself. Byers was $300 short in his accounts with the express company and $150 short with the Vandalia.

Young Hartwick of South Chicago, Ill., who shot and killed his father and also shot a policeman who attempted to arrest him, was captured in a box car at Whiting by Officer Horlbeck, after a struggle, in which the officer's clothes suffered considerably.

John Selvage, a young farmer, shot and killed the thirteen-year-old daughter of David Hoffman, a farmer, and then killed himself, near the little town of Afton, Kas. The murderer left a letter in which he stated that he could not live without the child.

The grand jury at San Francisco has presented an accusation against Supervisors King, Scully, Benjamin Hughes, Dunkirk, Morganstein and Wagner asking their removal from office on the ground that they corruptly reduced the assessments of several large corporations.

Several months since Jim Carey arrived in Clinton, Mo., from Iowa, and made his home with his uncle, W. F. Carey, near Clinton. During the latter's absence Mrs. Carey eloped with her husband's nephew, taking her baby along. A warrant has been issued, but it is thought they have fled to Iowa.

Lucas Johnson and his wife, colored, while on the public road near Augusta, Ark., were fired upon from ambush, the woman being instantly killed and the man fatally wounded. Another negro with whom Johnson has had trouble has been arrested on suspicion.

From Foreign Shores.

Sig. Bernard Mortango, formerly governor of the Banca Romana, is dead in Rome. He was the central figure in the Banca Romana scandals.

Geoffrey Millais, the second son of Sir Geoffrey Millais, is a keen sportsman, and is writing a book on the deer of India. His recent work on the big game of Africa was well received.

Several arrests have been made at Warsaw of persons who were found to be connected with an impending Polish revolutionary movement. The movement is of a serious character.

A riot broke out at Zurich, arising from the killing of a Swiss by Italians, and continued all night long. An infuriated crowd attacked the Italian quarter and committed serious excesses.

The Chronicle announces that the duke of Westminster, as chairman of the Cretan distress fund, has appointed Bickford Smith of the Antiquarian society, to distribute the English funds in Crete.

After the arrival of the reinforcements on their way from Spain to Havana, Capt.-Gen. Weyler will assume personal direction of the campaign against Antonio Maceo in the province of Pinar del Rio. The women imprisoned in the jail at Las Recojidas are the wife of Dr. Trujillo and the wife of the insurgent leader Colongo.

United States Consul Monoghan, at Chemnitz, regards it as meriting note that, while earnest efforts are being made in the United States to reform the consular service, a movement is on foot in Germany to reform the consular service in that country so as to bring it up to the present efficiency of that of the United States.

Miscellaneous.

Congressman H. C. Logensluger was renominated by the Republican convention of the First district, which met at Woodbury, N. J.

Because of depression in business, the Pennsylvania railroad decided to stop all work on its line wherever possible, in order to reduce expenses.

It is said, on excellent authority that ex-District Attorney John R. Walker will, in a few days, institute proceedings in the federal court against the brewers' combine which has existed at Kansas City for some time past.

Among the speakers who will take the stump for the Populist ticket will be Senator Butler and ex-Chairman Taubeneck, Eugene V. Debs of Terre Haute, Robert Schilling of Milwaukee and Senator Allen of Nebraska.

The wage conference of the chimney branch of the American Flint Glass Workers' association is being held at Pittsburg, and the prospects are that a settlement will be made on the basis of last year's scale. About 2,000 men are affected.

A wage scale to govern the shipping interests of the world has been drawn up. If the shipowners fail to accept it, seamen say, a strike will be declared, which will be felt wherever men trust their lives to the decks of vessels.

G. H. Duggan, owner of the half-rater Sophia, has admitted having fouled the buoy at the end of the ninth mile in the Ogdensburg (N. Y.) yacht race, although unseen by the judges' boat. The international cup was given to Paul Butler's Vesper.

The great auditorium in St. Louis, in which the Republicans and Populists held their national conventions, will be turned into a Madison Square garden for horse shows, bicycle meets and other great indoor sporting enterprises the coming fall and winter.

Within a mile of the white sands of Normandie-by-the-Sea, where a thousand summer visitors daily bathe in the ocean, a gigantic man-eating shark was captured. The great fish became entangled in the nets of some fishermen, and he was towed into shallow water and killed.

William W. Borst was appointed receiver of the Denver, Lakewood & Golden railroad by Judge Hallett in the United States district court at Denver, on application of the Farmers Loan and Trust company of New York. The company is in default on the interest of $627,000.

At New York a meeting of prominent sporting men and managers of different athletic clubs has been held, to form a protective league. After considerable discussion it was agreed to name the new organization the American Sporting Protective League. Its object is to promote all kinds of professional sport.

Maj. George A. Armes, U. S. A., retired, who achieved national notoriety last fall by delivering a threatening letter to Gen. Schofield on the eve of his retirement as commanding general of the army, came into prominence again by being the cause of a writ of sequestration issued by the district court to secure pay of alimony and [illegible]

OASES IN DESERT

SUCH DO SOUTH DAKOTA IRRIGATED FARMS SEEM.

The Problem of Keeping a Supply of Water for the Dry Season Solved by the Edgemont Canal—The Cheyenne River Dammed With Great Difficulty—How the Work Was Accomplished.

Chamberlain, S. D., Aug. 4.—Each season vast amounts of water from the melting snows have been passing down the various waterways which traverse Western South Dakota, and numerous plans for saving and storing quantities of water for use during the dry season have been suggested and experimented with by farmers and stockmen, who find the lack of water during the latter part of the summer and fall a serious obstacle to their prosperity. Owing to the insufficiency of the rainfall immense tracts of land on the eastern and southern slopes of the Black Hills have been virtually unproductive. The lack of moisture is the only drawback, as the soil is as rich as can be found anywhere in the United States.

How to retain water for the dry weather emergency seems to have been solved by the originators of the Edgemont canal in Fall River country. This canal is fed by the waters of the Cheyenne river and Beaver, Pass and Bigfoot creeks. The floods that came last spring completely filled the canal and the reserve lakes, and there is now sufficient water on hand to last the settlers on the irrigated farms along the canal for sixty days. The water of the river and creeks is retained and held by dams which have been thrown across the streams. An immense amount of work was necessary for the successful damming of the Cheyenne river. At the point selected for the dam the river is nearly three-quarters of a mile wide. It was also necessary to put in a backwater over 600 feet in length to protect the canal. This embankment is made as solid as earth, stone, logs and bolts can make it.

The first work was to reach bed-rock and then build a bank of logs. These logs are bolted together, the ends and middle of the bolts being held by strong iron plates. Scores of car loads of rock were placed between the logs in such a way that they were held securely in place. At the end of this dam is a head gate, the outlet of which is parallel with the sluiceway that was cut for the Cheyenne river to run in. The water passes into the sluice, and the height of the water carries it into the canal, the amount being regulated by the gate. In no place is the head-gate subject to the full force of the flood water. Just above the head-gate Beaver creek empties its water, and the dam has successfully withstood all the force these streams could bring against it. The south end of the canal runs to Cottonwood creek, a dry creek during the greater part of the year, but one which six or seven times during the year carries an immense amount of flood water. Plans were made to save this, and a dam was thrown across the creek at a point two miles above Edgemont.

The irrigated farms along the canal present a fine appearance, and crops there will compare favorably with those of any section of the West. These farms will also solve the problem of supplying the Black Hills region with hay and grain, which has heretofore been shipped in from Northwestern Nebraska. By reason of the canal and irrigation facilities which it furnishes, thousands of acres of heretofore unproductive land have been reclaimed, and the irrigated farms resemble oases in the desert compared with other sections of country in that region which have not had sufficient rainfall to insure the raising of crops or even hay.

TRAINS COLLIDE.

Brave Engineer Refuses to Jump and Is Among the Killed.

Clinton, Ill., Aug. 4. — Through the carelessness of trainmen a frightful wreck occurred on the curve just East of Birkbeck, a small station on the Illinois Central, five miles northeast of Clinton. A passenger train going south and a passenger train going north collided while going at full speed. Charles Burchbaugh, engineer, and William Baker, mail agent, were killed. A dozen others were injured.

The trains were scheduled to pass at Painell, but the north-bound train was late and orders were given to side-track at Birkbeck. The name of the station was overlooked. Both engines are complete wrecks, and one mail car was reduced to splinters. The other mail car and both baggage cars are badly damaged. Engineer Burchbaugh leaves a wife and three small children. He was a man of iron nerve, and when advised to jump by his fireman, Swartwood, he said: "No, I will stick to her to the last," and he did.

Cincinnati's Big Storm.

Cincinnati, Aug. 4. — Many people here to-day visited the scenes of the hurricane of yesterday in the northern suburbs. The public did not know what a narrow escape the city had had till to-day. With the wind blowing sixty miles an hour and a rainfall of two inches within two hours, the weather bureau says the city was fortunate in escaping with only property damages. This was due to there being no funnel shaped clouds, no twisting winds or whirlwinds. The only death reported was that of Chas. Bouhe, who picked up a telegraph wire that had blown into his yard. The wire crossed a trolley that was also blown down.

Thirteen-Million Deficit.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The comparative statement of the government receipts and expenditures issued by the treasury department to-day shows the total receipts from all sources during July to have been $29,020,209, and the expenditures $42,083,468, leaving a deficiency for the month and fiscal year thus far of $13,059,230.

W. P. Belden, D. D., secretary of the International Missionary union, died of paralysis at Clifton Springs, N. Y.

DEATH IN A STORM.

Severe Hurricane in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Athens, Ohio, Aug. 1.—The most destructive storm in the history of the Sunday creek valley occurred at Gloucester, a mining town 12 miles north of here, last night, which resulted in the almost total destruction of one of the principal thoroughfares of the city and doing damage in other places to the extent of thousands of dollars. The storm, which came from the northwest, struck the town without any warning whatever. The fury of the wind is indescribable. Buildings were toppled over, trees torn up by the roots, and the town to-day is a scene of desolation. J. L. Daugherty, who was in front of his grocery when the storm was raging at its worst, was struck by a section of a plank walk which was lifted up by the wind and instantly killed. Four other persons are reported dead and several others seriously injured, but the details are very meager and it is impossible to learn names. A livery stable with six horses, vehicles, etc., was blown into the creek and swept away. Nearly every building in the town is damaged and many are completely demolished. The streets are filled with broken lumber and debris of every kind. To add to the horrible scene, Sunday creek is sweeping everything before it. Several houses have been washed away, and two persons are reported to have been drowned. Later reports say that the list of dead will reach 15.

A Wall of Water.

Steubenville, O., Aug. 1.—A severe storm like a cloudburst occurred west of this city this afternoon, and within a period of thirty minutes a mighty torrent of water had spread desolation along both Barnum's and Fisher's run in the lower part of the city. No lives were lost, as there were persons along the creeks who saw the water coming down the valley, who ran from house to house warning the people. Everybody fled, many wading knee-deep in water from their homes to the hills which line the runs on both sides. Two hundred people are homeless to-night as a result of the flood. The damage will aggregate $200,000. The water came down the creeks 20 feet high, sweeping before the flood houses, outhouses, barns, bridges, and trees.

Around Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Aug. 1.—This city and vicinity was visited by another severe storm of wind and rain this afternoon. In the immediate city the damage inflicted was slight, compared with the storm of the 27th, but reports are coming in from the surrounding towns telling of great damage to property and the loss of two lives have been reported. They are John Schuler of Homestead and a young woman at Duquesne, whose name is not as yet known. Schuler, with several companions, was in the cellar of his boarding house, drinking beer, when the storm came up. A bolt of lightning struck the house, carrying destruction with it on its way to the cellar, and just as Schuler was in the act of raising a glass of beer to his mouth he was struck by the lightning and instantly killed. His three companions escaped unharmed. The storm in and around Duquesne and other towns assumed the nature of a cyclone, doing great damage.

MURDER IN TEXAS.

A Prominent Man at Austin Kills His Family.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 1.—One of the most heinous crimes ever committed in this city was brought to light at 10:30 o'clock this morning. W. E. Burt, a member of one of the best and most respectable families of the city, murdered his wife and two children, aged 2 and 4 years, last Friday night and placed the dead bodies in a cistern. His residence adjoined the business portion of the city, and the foul stench led to an investigation. He left the city Saturday night following the terrible deed, and informed several of the neighbors not to drink the water, as it was polluted by a dead cat. His relatives became alarmed at the disappearance of his family, and when he departed something was suspected. The wife was asleep. He bound her in a blanket, after tying her feet and neck together, and then dropped her body into the cistern. Both children had their brains knocked out. His brothers have offered a reward of $300 for his apprehension.

IT IS "CONTROLLED."

So the Exchange Bankers Prevent the Gold Leak.

New York, Aug. 1.—A representative of the Associated Press was informed this morning by an influential member of the syndicate of foreign bankers formed to control the exchange market, that signatures would be attached to the contract to-day. In addition to the exchange houses, a number of outside business interests will be added, including several influential corporations. One of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. said that the reports purporting to give details of the exchange deal operations were entirely inaccurate and misleading. Mr. Morgan personally said in reply to the report from London suggesting that an advance in the premium on gold at New York to 1 per cent would start imports of gold eagles from London, said that imports of gold from Europe were not needed here at this time, and that an inflow of foreign gold would greatly complicate the existing difficulties.

PRIVILEGES CURTAILED.

Dr. Jim and His Fellow Prisoners in Wormwood Scrubbs Prison.

London, Aug. 1.—Dr. Jameson and his companions, Maj. Sir John Willoughby, Col. Reginald Grey, Col. H. F. White, Maj. R. White and Capt. Henry F. Coventry, who were convicted and sentenced on Tuesday for violating the neutrality laws in invading the territory of the South African republic, have been removed to the Wormwood Scrubbs prison, where all will be treated as second-class misdemeanants. The announcement made yesterday that they had been made first-class misdemeanants at Holloway prison, which allowed them to have their meals from outside the jail, to dress in their own clothes, to have all their menial work done by other prisoners and to have [illegible]

MINERS SUFFERING

SEVEN THOUSAND MEN THREATENED WITH STARVATION.

They Are Now Idle and Merchants Refuse Them Credit—They Sow Crops Only to See Them Destroyed by the Army Worm—Unless Help Comes From Outside Sources They Will Starve.

Milwaukee, Aug. 4. — A desperate state of affairs exists on the Gogebic range in Northern Michigan. Where once 8,000 iron miners were employed at an average of $1.75 a day now only 1,000 have employment at $2 a day and the unemployed find themselves on the verge of starvation. All the mines with but two exceptions, have shut down their pumps. Merchants have refused credit to the unemployed and before the snow flies thousands will be in need of food to keep from starving. Most of the residents along the Gogebic range have not yet recovered from the panic of 1893 and are still in debt. Those who are still employed have their salaries drawn by the merchants with whom they deal, and after deducting a share of the debt the balance is turned over to them. Under this system the people are almost penniless most of the time. To the idle ones the merchants have refused credit because they see there is no immediate prospect of their securing employment. Many of the mine companies have allowed the idle miners to plant potatoes on the spare lands, but the army worm now swarms in that part of the state and is destroying the crops. No relief can be expected from Gogebic county for the treasury is depleted. All the taxpayers have organized themselves and have refused to pay taxes, and consequently the poor commissioners are at sea where to get money from. Unless outside assistance is secured there will be starving families on the range.

THREE DROWNED.

Tragic Occurrence in the Mississippi River.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 4.—While out boat riding Henry Hendrickson, Anna Amsrud and Lizzie Oldstad, three La Crosse young people, were drowned in the Mississippi river just below the city. They were just rounding a head in the river where the current was very swift and the boat became unmanageable. The boat with its occupants was pulled under some barges which were moored near by and that was the last seen of them. Neither of the parties could swim and had very little experience with rowing. The bodies have not been recovered.

Elevators to Close.

West Superior, Wis., Aug. 4. — The Belt line, Terminal, Globe and Great Northern Elevator companies have notified their managers that the plants in this city will be closed permanently in a few days, owing to the fact that the Superior board of trade has decided to adopt a new system of inspection under the Wisconsin law. Board of trade men believe that this was done for the influence it was expected to have on the deliberations of the Commercial club, which body held a meeting last night and unanimously passed a resolution favoring the change in systems. It is looked upon as a master stroke of bluffing, but it did not seem to work the desired result. The board of trade at the meeting to-night will finally settle the matter, which has been agitated by the grain interests of the head of the lake, in fact, throughout the Northwest, for three years. The board of directors will be ordered to appoint inspectors under the Wisconsin law, and provision will be made for their salaries, which means that the Minnesota system of inspection will be abolished. Hundreds of Dakota farmers have informed the Superior board that they will ship all their wheat to this point if the new system be inaugurated; that they are dissatisfied with the Minnesota system of grading wheat and will co-operate heartily in the interest of the Superior board.

Champion Oarsmen.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 5.—The professional four-oared race for the championship of the world and $1,000 was rowed last evening. The crews were the English, Bedford, St. John, Halifax and Canadian. The latter crew took the lead from the start and kept it to the turn, being closely pressed by the English crew, with Halifax a close third. The Canadians turned the stake boat, with Halifax a half-second behind, with English, St. John and Bedford crews in order. The return was pretty much in the same order until within about 300 yards of the finish, when the Englishmen caught the Canadians and were neck and neck for a time. Suddenly the latter spurted and drew slowly ahead and crossed the line fully two lengths ahead of the English crew with the Halifax men a good third. The winning crew was composed of Gaudaur, Duran, Hackett and Rogers. The time of the Canadians was 18:30.

Robbery Confessed.

Perry, Okla., Aug. 4.— Mail carrier Hempmeyer, whose stage was reported robbed by outlaws between Okenee and Lacey several days ago, has confessed he committed the crime himself. Hempmeyer is only nineteen years old. Since the robbery he has been acting suspiciously and spending money freely. He was arrested yesterday on suspicion and to-day made a confession. He had charged the robbery to "Bill" Doolin and "Dynamite Dick," outlaws who recently escaped from the Guthrie jail.

Strikers Arming.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 4.—A startling piece of news in connection with the Brown strike, which comes from an apparently reliable source, is to the effect that the strikers are arming themselves and drilling. It is announced that the purpose of the men was to avenge the death of two men who were shot at different times in conflicts between union men and non-union men. [illegible]

MANAGE THE CAMPAIGN.

Of the Gold Democrats in Minnesota.

St. Paul, July 30.—At the recent conference of gold Democrats of Minnesota, Chairman Lawler was authorized to name a committee of five to select a state central committee, an executive committee and congressional and county committees to organize the gold Democrats of the state for effective work in the coming campaign. Mr. Lawler named as the committee of selection Judge Flandrau, F. W. M. Cutcheon, J. J. McCafferty, Ernest Schrader and W. C. Read. This committee met to-day and selected the following state central committee, consisting of a chairman and secretary and two members from each congressional district:

Chairman, Robert A. Smith, St. Paul; secretary, Jared How, St. Paul.

First District—John Ludwig, Winona; W. Logan Brackenridge, Rochester.

Second District — C. W. Schultz, Worthington; Dr. J. S. Hillscher, Mankato.

Third District — J. C. Pierce, Red Wing; T. H. Quinn, Faribault.

Fourth District—Dr. Ernest Schrader, St. Paul; J. C. McCarthy, Stillwater.

Fifth District—George H. Partridge; Judge Ueland, Minneapolis.

Sixth District—E. P. Alexander, Jr., Duluth; Theodore Bruener, St. Cloud.

Seventh District — J. E. O'Brien, Crookston; Chauncey Baxter, Fergus Falls.

The committee also designated the following executive committee: Chairman Smith and Secretary How, ex-officio; Crawford Livingston, St. Paul; H. W. Lamberton, Winona; John C. Oswald, Minneapolis; J. Adam Bede, St. Paul; Dr. Ernst Schrader, St. Paul.

HE WAS STRUNG UP.

Rough Treatment of a Waiter at Lake Minnetonka.

Minneapolis, July 30.—Frank Young, a waiter at the Hotel St. Louis, Minnetonka, came into town to-day to secure warrants for the arrest of several fellow waiters at the hotel. He says that recently one of the guests named Riley missed some $55 from his room. After making various inquiries the suspicion of his fellow waiters settled upon Young. He was questioned about it, but stoutly declared his innocence.

"Oh, but you might as well confess it," said one of the waiters. "We know you did it, and have got the money."

In vain Young protested. He had not stolen the money and did not have it. A number of them, so the sufferer says, concluded to try their hands and see what a little judicious torturing would do. Accordingly, the suffering man was taken by some of his fellow waiters out into the woods and strung up to a tree. After keeping him there for some little time he was let down. He still refused to tell and insisted that he had not stolen the money. Nothing would then do but to try the medicine again, and once more the long suffering Young was strung up to a tree. This time he was kept there longer than before, but again he refused to divulge any of the secrets he was accused of having in his possession. After the second trial, he said, the gang left him alone and he was permitted to depart. The names of the party which did the stringing up were given to the sheriff by Young. The affair will be investigated and if it is found to be as claimed by Young, arrests will follow.

AN OLD-TIME TYPO.

F. A. Briggs of North Dakota Revisits Minneapolis Scenes.

Minneapolis, July 29. — Frank A. Briggs, the Republican candidate for governor of North Dakota, is registered at Hampshire Arms, being accompanied by Mrs. Briggs and their daughter, Miss Stella. Although Mr. Briggs is in Minneapolis for personal reasons, he does not decline to talk politics. He protests that his nomination was totally unexpected. Mr. Briggs is confident of McKinley's election, and does not count on any defection from the party in North Dakota. Back in the seventies Mr. Briggs used to set type on the Minneapolis Tribune and resided in the city until 1881, when he removed to Mandan and went into the real estate and loaning business. For four consecutive terms he was treasurer of Morton county, and then became auditor of the state, which office he now fills. Mr. Briggs will return to his home in Bismarck this week, but his wife and daughter will remain in Minneapolis for some time.

Heinous Crime Charged.

Litchfield, Minn., July 29.—Charles Nelson was arrested Saturday evening on complaint of I. Kulset on a charge of assault committed on his little ten-year-old girl. The act is claimed to have been committed nearly a month ago. The child is in a serious condition.

Drowned While Drunk.

Buffalo, Minn., July 30. — A man named Charles Hill was drowned here to-day. He started to cross the lake in his boat. Later his boat drifted back to the shore with his provisions and oars in. He was under the influence of liquor.

Olivia's Flour Mill Burned.

Olivia, Minn., July 30.—Fire broke out in the Olivia flouring mill this morning. Both building and machinery were partially burned. Loss, about $9,000; insurance, $7,500. Kubesh & Braun are the owners of the mill. Cause of fire unknown.

St. Paul, July 30.— Robert G. Coleman and wife of Minneapolis were arrested to-day on the charge of fraud with use of the mail. They are accused of trying to swindle Mrs. E. A. Fitzgerald of St. Paul out of $1,000 in a Mexican land deal.

Killed by a Train.

Tomahawk, Wis., July 30.—Peter Olson, unmarried, section foreman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad at Harshaw, Wis., while trying to get his handcar off the track, was struck and killed instantly.

Killed His Wife and Himself.

Nashville, Tenn., July 30. — Near Richmond, in Bedford county, a farmer named Haley shot and killed his wife [illegible]

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Joseph Kaldelker killed his nine-year-old son while shooting at a target.

Michael Meyer was severely injured in a saw mill at Winona.

S. Reichart, an old resident of St. Cloud, was stricken with paralysis.

Charles Lucius lost his hand in a flour mill at St. Cloud.

The assessor's returns give Winona a total valuation of $7,010,055.

A private telephone line has been constructed between Delano and Watonwan.

A carpenter repairing the O'Neal elevator at Stewartville, fell forty feet in a bin and was killed.

Robert G. Coleman and wife were arrested at Minneapolis for using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

Lawrence Collins, a workman on the postoffice at St. Paul, fell from the roof and was killed.

George Fisher, an old man living near Tyler, was adjudged insane and committed to the hospital at St. Peter.

A man giving the name of Sam Short was arrested at Rosemount on a charge of counterfeiting.

Andrew Wilson, charged with illegal fishing in the river at Hastings, was fined $50 or sixty days in jail by Justice Marshall.

Mrs. Amel Peterson, twenty-seven years of age, living four miles west of Lakefield, fell backward into a well thirty feet deep and was drowned.

At Olivia Kubesh & Braun's flour mill, with all its contents, was burned. Origin of fire unknown. Loss, $12,000; insurance, $7,500.

Harvesting around West Concord is about completed, and, owing to the ravages of the army worm, crops will hardly come up to the usual standard.

Rines & Co's warehouse at Princeton was burned. One hundred tons of starch was stored in the building. Loss, $8,000; partially insured.

Ira C. Clark, who was beating his way to Big Stone City, fell between the cars at Renville. Both legs were amputated above the knee.

A Mrs. Swenson, who was at Sleepy Eye visiting friends, fell from a buggy and was injured to such an extent that death ensued.

The president has pardoned John Gallagher, sentenced in Minnesota to six months' imprisonment for assaulting an officer, and H. H. Malory, sentenced to five years for robbery.

While threshing on the Slater farm in Ramsey township, near Anoka, Gilligan Bros.' new separator, together with all the grain stacks, were destroyed by fire at a loss of $1,500.

Fire in Hormel's Austin packing house at Austin burned out the upper part of one building and damaged the meats and building to the amount of $1,500.

H. A. Schultze, of Winthrop, through his attorney, Ed. H. Huebner, has commenced an action against Peter Jensen and Dr. D. W. Bolles of Brownton to recover $2,000 damages for false imprisonment.

One of twenty-five tramps fell from a Great Northern train at Sauk Center and had a leg crushed so that amputation was necessary. He claims the trainmen compelled him to leave the train while in motion.

A number of union teamsters hauling rock from quarries struck at Winona, and their places were immediately filled by non-union men. They claimed their teams were being overloaded, and struck on that account.

Ald. Joseph Adams fell dead at Austin without warning. Heart failure was the cause of death. He came to Austin from Decorah, Iowa, twenty-nine years ago. He was a prominent contractor and builder.

A tramp convention was held at Beaver Falls recently, presided over by Sheriff Vichman. Steps were taken which, if followed up, will make it exceedingly tiresome for "Weary Willies."

Charles Nelson was arrested at Litchfield on complaint of I. Kulset on a charge of assault committed on his little ten-year-old girl. The act is claimed to have been committed nearly a month ago. The child is in a serious condition.

E. H. Stone of Elysian, the veteran hotel keeper and merchant, is dead. He was eighty-three years old, and commenced business at Elysian forty years ago. He was well and favorably known among all the early settlers in that section of the state.

Dr. Leon H. White died at Alexandria. He was formerly of Mankato, and was the brother of Mrs. J. H. Letson of Alexandria and of Wallace E. Wait of Minnetonka. He was a young man, an able physician and a general favorite.

News was received at St. Cloud of the suicide of George Milton, a pioneer of Benton county, residing near Foley. He had shown signs of mental weakness several times. He went into the barn yard, fastened a string to the trigger of a shotgun, the contents of which entered his heart.

The largest attended Christian Endeavor convention of Southwestern Minnesota closed at a three-days' session at Sleepy Eye. Officers elected are: President, Rev. John Sinclair of Redwood Falls; secretary, Miss Mame Starr of Tracy; treasurer, Miss Kitty Stiles of Sleepy Eye. The next annual convention will be held at Canby in June next year.

A party arrived at Montevideo a few days ago, purporting to represent a gasoline engine company at Winona, and drew two checks upon W. J. Dohney of Chicago. One of $35 he succeeded in cashing with P. L. Norman, hardware merchant, and the other of $35 at the Citizen's State bank. Information has been received from Winona that the engine company there has no such agent.

Mrs. C. A. Outcalt, an old lady of sixty-five years, accompanied by her son of forty years, were on their way to Chatfield, and while going down hill the team ran away. The tongue broke and the occupants were thrown out. Mrs. Outcalt suffered a broken collar bone, a limb in two places, besides a dislocated shoulder, and had her right ear torn off. The injuries are probably fatal. The son was badly bruised, but will recover.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST
—DEALERS IN—
HARDWARE, FURNITURE
—AND—
Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware, Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture. Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing, Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc. Will compete with T. M. Roberts or others on Wire and Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY
THE ST. LOUIS
DAILY JOURNAL
SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.
EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE
Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday..$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..........$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth —something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal
Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:
Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year........ $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

P. G. PARADIS,
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.
FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.
West side Broadway.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.
Dray in Connection.
First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :
☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.
ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.
—RUNS—
THROUGH CARS
TO☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 5, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON
For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY
For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE
For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM
For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN
For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN
For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY
For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS
For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE
For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA
For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY
For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER
For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives— S. J. LEE, Norman Co.
N. S. NELSON, "
W. A. MARIN, Polk Co

Word just reached us as we go to press that John Lind was nominated for governor and Alex McKinnon nominated for state treasurer by the Democratic state convention. The balance of the ticket will be filled with People's Party men.

St. Louis Convention.

H. P. Hall, of St. Paul, attended the Populist convention at St. Louis. In the Globe July 28th he says:

"Notwithstanding my criticisms, I consider it a very remarkable convention, perhaps the most remarkable of the fourteen previons ones I have attended. There were no marching clubs no brass bands, no champagne or roystering festivals, no increasing of bartenders or lengthening of bars or any of the paraphernalia of the old party convention. I say this to their credit. Outside of the convention all was orderly and decent. The only band was the one furnished in the Auditorium by the citizens, and that only for three days, though the convention lasted four. The delegates who came were nearly all men of moderate means, many absolutely poor, and many were sent by contributions taken up in their neighborhoods because they could not afford to bear the burden themselves. Very few stopped at first-class hotels, and for the most part second, third, fourth class and boarding houses were used, but they were all very much in earnest and for the most part above the average intelligence, while many were men of marked ability. Hundreds came long distances in day coaches because they did not have the means to pay for sleeping cars, but they were there discussing and conferring with each other. They must have a constituency or they could not come. It was notable, too, in looking over that gathering, that there was a preponderance of gray heads. It was apparently an illustration of: "Old men for counsel, young men for war." You may ridicule them as cranks and in perhaps some cases with justice, but these are exceptions. It is not justice to style them as anarchists, though demagogic leaders may impose anarchic doctrines upon their platform. It is true, they are for the most part plain, common people in the lowly walks of life, but their homes and families and social relations are no less dear to them than to those who enjoy magnificence and munificence. The conditions which bring this class together, mistaken perhaps, but earnest and sincere, cannot be a phantom of the imagination. There is something wrong somewhere. There is something which needs a remedy, and instead of despairing and abusing these men, the members of the old parties and those in higher walks of life who have greater means, ability and experience to accomplish results, though certainly no more sincerity, would better devote their energies to ascertaining and applying the remedy. Grievances do not spring from the ground like a gourd in the night and rally an army to proclaim them. The politician who scorns, ignores or cries down this element is not wise. A crisis has been reached where it is possible for this convention to be a determining factor in the coming election, and success will at least command respect, if nothing more.

"I make no argument on existing political questions and conditions but I believe it wise to regard the mutterings of an impending storm, foreshadowed by such a gathering as the one I have just attended. In many respects these people may be wrong; in some they must be right, and besides they are men who are sincere in their convictions. They have no desire to wreck the country, but are liable to be misled by false leaders.

"This country is too great to be ruined by any political party. It survived the four years of the terrible civil war, involving the sacrifice of hundreds of thousands of human lives and billions of dollars. It will survive the present crisis, and despite the prophets of evil omen, when the polls close on Nov. 3, whatever the result, the country will 'still live.' Only those who wish to 'avoid the rush' need take the financial situation so much at heart as to start for the cemetery now."

Hoke Smith has flopped and will stump the state of Georgia making free silver speeches. He will enter the campaign August 12th.

Paragraphs from the Penny Press.

The thinnest thing of the year is the average McKinley-Hobart audience.

The argument of last resort by the up-a-stump goldite is that the people are "anarchists."

Sleet in March is lovely as compared with the cold and damp of a McKinley-Hobart "mass meeting."

The cows of Minnesota pay four times as much taxes as the bankers and brokers pay on money and credits. All honor to the cows.

In 1892, the bankers of Minnesota paid taxes on $891,836 of bank moneys, and the yearling calves paid taxes on $966,120 of valuation. Hurrah for the yearlings.

The dogs of Minnesota pay almost as much taxes as the bankers on bank credits. The dogs are models of patriotism and loyalty to the state treasury in that regard.

The seamstresses of this city are assessed on sewing machines, according to the last state auditor's report, at more than the banks on bank moneys. What is the matter with our champions of "honest finance?"

There were 150 G. A. R. buttons in the St. Louis silver Republican convention, and twice that number in the People's Party convention. The old soldiers can be relied upon to stand for America and the American people against foreign usurpation.

Banker Merriam's town was assessed, according to the last state auditor's report at $17,000 for bank credits and $75,000 for cows. From this it appears that the cows of St. Paul are more patriotic and loyal to the public treasury than those champions of "honest finance," the bankers.

There is a peculiar coincidence connected with the nomination of Thomas E. Watson for Vice-President. When Chairman Allen announced the result of the ballot it was exactly 12:44 a. m., and many voices could be heard crying "16 to 1." To the superstitious this would mean success, and circumstances have almost made many people be half inclined to become just a little superstitious.—St. Louis Evening Journal.

The Duluth & Winnepeg road will take no steps of an active nature this year toward the extension of the line, according to report. It will take at least sixty days yet to get the road out of the courts, and by that time it will be too late to extend the road to any point this year that would be of any object in the operation of the line.

Had the sale come off earlier in the season the result would have been different. The dirt would now be flying along 200 miles of new extensions. It was the plan in the spring to extend the road 200 miles this season, but the tedious delays with which everyone is familiar, had the effect of delaying the project for another year.

There have been two surveys made northwest from the present terminus of the line, but neither of them is entirely satisfactory and another will be made.

Otto Lugger, the state entomologist, proposes the following plan of fighting the army worm, which is just now doing so much damage among the fields of the northwest.

"My remedy is based on the fact that the army worms always move in the same general direction. The farmer can use this trait of the worm for its distruction. By mowing a wide swath between the fields infected and the field toward which the worms are traveling, and then plowing a deep furrow, with its straight side toward the field to be protected, we have an excellent trap. In most cases this deep furrow or ditch is sufficient, but if the number of worms is very large, a second furrow should be made parallel to the first in such a way that the earth is thrown into the first furrow. In this way the worms are killed and buried, and we have also a new line of defense [illegible]

Wide Tire Law.

Any person continually using in and about the transaction of his business any wagon the tires of the wheels of which are not less than three inches in width, shall be entitled to a reduction on his road tax for each and every such wagon used. To entitle a person to a reduction he shall on or before the first day of April in each year make an affidavit in writing stating that he has for the space of twelve months prior, continuously used on public highways and in and about his business such a wagon and deliver such affidavit to the overseer of the roads of the proper road district: he shall pay at the same time to such overseer of roads the fee for filing such affidavit in the office of the clerk of the town in which such road district is situated.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

IN THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

The Vast Difficulties Attending Telephone Construction There.

A description by J. W. Dickerson of the running of a telephone line from Leadville to Aspen shows that telephone construction in the Rockies is not all plain sailing. It took two months to cover the entire length, 48 miles. In ordinary construction the poles would be set 42 to the mile, but at certain points where sharp turns were necessary the number would sometimes be increased to 75 to the mile. The members of the construction gang had to be as expert as axmen as they were as linemen, for when timber was encountered a path of 200 feet on each side of the line had to be cleared in order that wires might not be broken when trees were blown over by the terrific blasts which at times prevail in that region. A great deal of the comparative slowness of the installation was owing to the inability of the workmen to labor in such a rarefied atmosphere. At one point the wires were strung at an elevation of 12,000 feet above sea level. In such an altitude the lineman soon becomes completely tired. After he has climbed two or three poles he has to take a long rest to recuperate his energies. The preparation of the holes for the poles, which would have been tedious in similar ground even in an ordinary atmosphere, was an especially slow and fatiguing operation. It was often necessary to blast a hole for the pole by the use of giant powder, and an examiner who had had an extensive experience with explosives was assigned to the job.

The digging of one pole hole would sometimes occupy him a whole day, working honestly. Over 300 pounds of powder were used on the line for this purpose. When the continental divide was reached, the poles had to be abandoned, and the wires were placed in a submarine cable, which was buried in a two foot trench for a distance of 7,600 feet. The advisability of abandoning aerial construction at this point was demonstrated by the experience of the company who maintain the Denver and Leadville line. At one point on that line, Mosquito pass, the poles were originally set 100 feet apart. As soon as the wires were covered with sleet they promptly snapped and the line was useless. Double the number of poles were then used, with the same result. The space between the poles was then reduced to 15 feet, but as soon as the sleet came the line was swept down flat. Eventually an underground cable was laid for 2 1-2 miles, and there has been no trouble since. The rapidity and size of these ice accumulations are almost incredible to those who have had no experience with mountain telephone lines. The foreman of a construction gang remarked when questioned about this difficulty, "Why, man, the sleet comes down Mosquito pass in such a way that a telephone wire would be as big around as your body in no time." In winter the linemen detailed to make repairs travel on snowshoes. If they are overtaken by a storm or find they must remain out over night, they push on for the nearest refuge, which is ordinarily a deserted cabin formerly occupied by some prospector or miner. All the poles are numbered, and the linemen are furnished with maps which indicate where shelter is to be obtained.

"Unlucky" Opals.

It is not fashionable to be superstitious about wearing opals. Ten years ago the woman who wore an opal was a brave woman indeed. Today, experts admit, more opals are bought than any other precious stones except diamonds. It was Sir Walter Scott who helped, in "Anne of Geierstein," to arouse the fears of the superstitious concerning the wearing of that very beautiful stone, and it was a German dealer in gems who fostered that fear very successfully for other ends than those of romance. He came to England years ago, we are told by a lady jeweler, to fill an order from one of the royal families in Germany—a wedding order, if I remember rightly. Opals were then high. He had printed the story that opals were unlucky and spread the report diligently. In a short time the price went down, and he was enabled to fill his order and make a handsome profit.—Westminster Gazette.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Judge Frank Ives, of Crookston, on his return from the St. Louis convention, informed the Penny Press to-day that the action taken will insure a tremendous vote in the Red River valley. Polk county, he says, with 7,000 votes, is not likely to give the gold Republicans over 600 votes all told. There is but a handful of gold Democrats in the whole county. The judge predicts the election of Senator Lommen for congress in the Seventh over Eddy, by 3,000 majority.

MINNESOTA
State Normal Schools
—AT—
Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School. The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows;
IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

DO YOU NEED
WOOLEN GOODS!
OF COURSE YOU DO,
and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.
We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.
We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.
Litchfield Woolen Mills,
Litchfield, Minn. H. KLAUSER, Prop.
41-52

BARBER - SHOP
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.
—0—
Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing
Razors honed and put in first-class order.
J. H. PENNO, Prop.
ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.0
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	500
2 forties in 33	6.00
11 " 34 at from	5.00
5 " 35	4.75 to 5.00
	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
3 " 21	6.00
7 " 20	5.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Blacksmith!
Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.
J. C. DAHL.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!
☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.
G. A. SKEIE.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
ALL KINDS OF Hardware
HEADQUARTERS FOR
Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.
BRINK BROTHERS
DEALERS IN
Wines & Liquors
Minneapolis Beer.
Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF Agricultural Implements

M. Z. EPPERSON
Proprietor of the
St. Hilaire Saw Mill.
Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,
North Side Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily
Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.
W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt., ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours.

J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.

Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	46c	Butter	8@8c
Oats	10c	Eggs	6c
Barley	12c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	57c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Epperson is shipping hay—and lots of it.

The last few days has been poor hay weather.

M. Z. Epperson lost one of his horses the first of the week.

Little harvesting is being done on the ridge west of here.

Twenty-six days from now and the prairie chicken will be ripe—not before.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Aimer entertained visitors from Thief River Falls last Sunday.

The weather is getting back to where it left off about two months ago—rain every day.

The dance that was booked to come off at Brink's hall Saturday evening fizzled out.

Mr. and Mrs. Slack, of Grand Forks, N. D., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Bramsness.

C. A. Skeie, the harness maker can fix you out if you want one of them long binder whips.

C. G. Rapp started bright and early Sunday morning for Crookston returning Monday evening.

Prof. Casey of Red Lake Falls stopped off between trains to-day on his way home from the east.

Mrs. J. L. Johnson and children were visiting parents out on the farm while the painters were at work.

The St. Anthony & Dakota elevator company have been shipping car loads after car loads of wheat lately.

Halvor and Ike Halvorson will make a trip to their claims next week, which are located near the Black Duck lake.

Miss Minnie Olson, who has been visiting friends at Crookston for the past three weeks returned home Monday.

John Frye, representing Oswald Company liquor dealers of St. Paul, was doing business in the village today.

Elmer Stranahan, who has been visiting at the home of his parents for a week, left Saturday for the scenes of his labors.

H. W. Lee and son Grant, returned to-day from Crookston where they have been for the past week in the interests of a land contest.

The democrats and populists of Grand Forks county have fused in putting up a ticket. Each party naming every other man.

Mr. Howard, foreman of the Standard Oil Company, arrived to-day and will look after the constructing of a house at this point.

It was sixteen minutes to one o'clock when Chairman Allen announced the ballot of Thos. E. Watson for Vice-President at St. Louis.

Joseph Paradis, of Red Lake Falls was seen upon our streets Monday. He made a few passes of "come-e-c-wa" and was off for Crookston.

Special game wardens have been appointed all over the state. Down in Anoka county they are killing young chicken by the wagon loads.

Miss Johanna Eikhoff, who has been visiting with her Uncle Fred and family for some time returned to her home at Crookston Monday.

The stereopticon entertainment given at Brink's hall last Friday evening was very poorly attended. The receipts being below the expense account.

Rev. George West, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Red Lake Falls will preach in the Methodist church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Little Bennie Hoff was quite sick the first part of the week. Drs. Dunlop and Francis were called in and pronounced it a mild case of bronchitis.

N. N. Nelson, the veterinary surgeon and ranchman out on the Clearwater was in the village the first of the week paying off help and in after provisions.

Andrew Berg being the lowest bidder, was awarded the contract for painting and shingling the school house. Work will be commenced at once.

Dr. Dunlop and A. C. Smith came down with the tourists yesterday that were spending their vacation at the Red Lake. They left for Crookston to-day.

Dr. Thor Moeller, physician and surgeon, of Thief River Falls, (formerly of Fargo, N. D.,) made arrangements last week to visit St. Hilaire every Thursday hereafter.

Thief River Falls will hold an election September 1st for the purpose of organizing itself into a city and will either retain its name or be known as Twin Falls.

P. S. Ware, one of the proprieters of the Thief River Falls Press, and wife, returned home last Wednesnay after an extended visit with friends and relatives in New York state.

Fred Eikhoff who has been under the weather as the result from being caught out in the rain a week ago has so far recovered as to attend to his customers at the hardware store.

Wm. Eikhoff and family returned today from a two months residence at Rube, Wis. Grasshoppers and army worms seems to have been the principal drawback down there this season.

Now is about as good a time as you can find to insure your hay stacks and buildings by plowing fire breaks. Do not overlook this as it is very important to every one who has hay or buildings.

Dentist Henault left last Wednesday for Argyle where he will remain awhile, and from there he goes to Roseau. Due notice will be given in the columns of this paper when he expects to return.

Rev. Bredeson's barn at Thief River Falls was struck by lightning last Sunday night. A cow perished in the flames. A cutter, buggy and other things too numerous to mention were burned.

The thunder storm of last Sunday did considerable damage here and there throughout the country. A barn at Thief River Falls was struck by lightning, killing several horses and setting the building on fire.

Several rigs turned out and St. Hilaire was well represented at the Valhall Society ball Saturday evening. They have an elegant hall and parties attending always speak highly of the way they are entertained.

John A. Baker, proprietor of the Hotel Crookston, returned home Wednesday from a trip to the Red Lake country. He brought home a relic in the shape of a pipe-tomahawk which has a history dating way back.

E. J. Holmes, who has been looking after his business interests in this vicinity for the past ten days started for his home at Cannon Falls Saturday. He was accompanied as far as Red Lake Falls by Leonard Holmes.

Elsewhere in the columns of this paper will be found the article headed "Beware of setting forest and prairie fires." We would advise all farmers to cut the article out and paste it up in a conspiciuos place for ready reference.

The Duluth Citizen advises its people to boil the city water and then not drink it. It goes further and asks: "Which will we have next winter? Typhoid fever or pure water." The water must be rank in the zenith city.

J. G. Brady of Red Lake Falls was in the village a short time this afternoon. Mr. Brady will commence a two months term of school near the Falls next Monday, and at the expiration of that time will begin an eight months term at Wylie.

The populists are no longer the only anarchists of the country—the free silver democrats are classed as even worse. A country is in a perilous condition when more than half of its population are howling anarchists.—Ada Herald.

Crookston is making an attempt to re-organize their bass band. The coming political campaign will undoubtedly require large chunks of music of this kind and it will be a paying investment from the start. By all means, re-organize at once.

E. M. Hoff, H. E. Ives and M. E. Bjerk returned yesterday from an outing trip at Red Lake. The weather being unfavorable they returned a great deal sooner than was expected. High seas and drenching rains changed the program.

The large manufacturing plants in the east, owned or controlled by monopolies, are shutting down in order to make their bluff good. Cheese cloth signs have been tacked over the doors, with the following large letters, "Shut down on account of free-silver."

One drunk and disorderly victim languished in the village bastile Monday night. He was brought up before Justice Peters yesterday morning who administered to him the usual fine and short notice to get out of town. This is the first arrest made since last spring.

Mike Willmas, who is well known in these parts as the famous well driller has purchased the West hotel at Red Lake Falls and will move the same to a more central location at once. Mr. Willmas has been figuring on this deal for some time and finally made the deal last week. Mike is an experienced hotel man and will prosper.

Who weeps with you when you are sad, and laughs with you when you are glad? The editor. Who has to be both kind and wise, and never (hardly ever) lies, and when he does creates surprise? The editor. Who has a heart as well as cheek, is possessed of a spirit proud and meek, and lives on forty cents a week? The editor.—Ex.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council, Monday August 3rd 1896.

All members present except President Rapp.

Meeting called to order by Recorder Johnson.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

On motion H. J. Freeman was appointed president pro-tem.

On motion the following bill were allowed:

D. Patterson, 1 trip to Crookston on bridge, etc.	$ 7 50
J. L. Johnson, ¼ yr. salary as recorder, etc. as per bill	16 35
S. Harris, 15 days work as per bill	22 50
M. Z. Epperson, lumber as per bill	46 18
W. Harris, work on Y grade	6 88
H. E. Adams, work as per bill	13 75
L. J. Stranahan, running ferry boat 24 days	24 00
C. Sandmoen, work on ferry boat	3 75
Geo. Olson, work on Y grade	2 50
Martin Hall, assisting ferry man one day	1 00
Aug. Peterson, work as per bill	19 00
Ed. Whaley, " " "	8 75
Christ. Hall, " " "	15 00

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] H. J. FREEMAN,
Pres. pro-tem.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Fall Examinations.

The examinations of candidates for teacher's certificates will be held as follows:

August 18th and 19th, Fisher, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls.

August 21st and 22nd, Fosston and Crookston.

September 24th and 25th, East Grand Forks and Fertile.

EXAMINATIONS FOR FIRST GRADE CERTIFICATES.

Crookston, August 20th, 21st, and 22d.

East Grand Forks, September 24th, 25th, and 26th.

Examinations begin promptly at 9 a. m.

1-3. O. McCRILLIS, Co. Supt.

A Minnesota subscriber to the Farm, Stock and Home asks for a receipt to kill fleas out of a house where they are in the ground. He gets the following answer which is worth trying: "Insect powder scattered freely about the room is good, or a piece of sticky fly paper with a bit of raw meat in the centre put on the floor at night will catch quantities.

Not to be outdone by the rain last Sunday afternoon, the young folks who had planned the whole week to hold a picnic in the Gigstad's grove, secured Brink's hall and everything came off on schedule time. Ice cream and cake were partaken of, after that games of all kinds were indulged in. A real pleasant afternoon was spent and shows what can be accomplished by a little grit regardless of the inclemency of the weather.

The courts have decided that a bicycle is a vicicle and is entitled to all the rights of one. A team should turn to the right on meeting a bicycle to a sufficient extent to permit the free passage of the rider, without forcing him out of the road. Should any damage result from failure on part of driver to do so he would be liable. If a bicycle desires to pass the driver shall allow sufficient room on his left to permit such passage.

An old law in Minnesota provides that any person in any city, town, or township, who shall construct and maintain and keep in repair a watering trough beside the highway, which shall be above the ground and made easily accessible for horses, shall be allowed by the city, town, or township $5 out of his highway tax for each year during which he shall furnish the same. Any person in any city, town, or township, who shall construct and maintain and keep in repair a good well or spring beside the highway and easily accessible, and provide it with a suitable pail or bucket, and keep the same so supplied and in good repair, shall be allowed by the city, town, or township $3 out of his highway tax for each year during which he shall furnish the same.

The gold bug says: "Free coinage will flood the country." I know men in Texas who have not enough money to pay doctor bills or buy bed sheets for their beds, yet have nightmare for fear the country will be flooded with money. If we were to get four times as many coining machines as we have and run them ten hours per day, it would take us more than 52 years to coin enough money to pay our coin debts. But they say, it won't be worth a dollar in Europe. Many of us have not dollars enough to pay for bread, yet we are distressed about our dollars in Europe. I am willing to let the fellow who wants to, spend his money in Europe, but don't want to be taxed to pay the difference. Just make your European bondholder take our silver dollar under his contract and he will make it good in Europe.—Cyclone Davis.

Persia and the Bible.

An illustrated Lecture on Persia, the cradle of the human race, the land of Cyrus, Darius, Daniel, Queen Esther, and the Wise Men, will be given by Joseph Knanishu a student at Augustana College, preparing for missionary work among his people, the Nestorians. The lecture will be illustrated by magic lantern views of the manners, customs, religions, and traditions of Persia as found among the Mohammedans, Armenians, Nestorians, and Fire Worshippers. He will appear in his native costume, and will speak and sing in his native tongue, the Syriac as well as in the Turkish and Persian languages. Lecture held at Norwegian Lutheran Church Friday, August 7 at 8 o'clock. Free Collection.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

Beware of Setting Forest and Prairie Fires.

Office of State Forest Commissioner, St. Paul, Minn., March 26, 1896.—Under the act of the legislature of Minnesota for the prevention and suppression of forest and prairie fires, approved April 18, 1895, the following are liable to a penalty not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding three months.

Any person refusing, without cause, to assist fire wardens in extinguishing forest or prairie fires.

Any fire warden who neglects to perform his duties.

Any person who wilfully, negligently or carlessly sets on fire, or causes to be set on fire, any woods, prairies or other combustible material, thereby causing injury to another.

Any person who shall kindle a fire on or dangerously near to forest or prairie land and leave it unquenched, or who shall be a party thereto.

Any person who shall use other than incombustible firewads for firearms or carry a naked torch, firebrand or other exposed light in or dangerously near to forest land.

Any person who shall wilfully or heedlessly deface, destroy or remove this or any other warning placard posted under the requirements of the above mentioned act.

Any railroad company wilfully neglecting to provide efficient spark arresters on its engines, or to keep its right of way to the width of 100 feet cleared of combustible material, or which shall fail to comply with other provisions of section 12 of the above mentioned act.

The following are liable to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50.

Any railroad employe who wilfully violates the provisions of section 12 of the above mentioned act.

Any owner of threshing or other portable steam engine who neglects to have efficient spark arresters, or who shall deposit live coals or hot ashes without extinguishing the same.

The following are liable to a penalty not exceeding $500 or imprisonment in the state prison not over ten years, or both:

Any person who maliciously sets or causes to be set on fire any woods, prairie or other combustible material whereby the property of another is destroyed and life is sacrificed.

R. C. DUNN (State Auditor)
Forest Commissioner.
C. C. ANDREWS,
Chief Fire Warden.

While on his way to Drayton, N. D., to attend a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Farmers' R. R. last week, Judge Grindeland met the LaCount brothers on their way to Winnipeg to reclaim the body of their father, the stoneman. They told the story of their father's death something like this: He and another scout were escorting a party from Winnipeg to St. Paul in 1839. The usual route at that time was to proceed on the west side of Red River as far south as lake Traverse and then go east. This was before the Indian trail on the east side of the river was used. In the party was an Englishman, who was anxious to start straight across the country for their destination, hence at Pembina he induced LaCount and a few others to cross to the east side of the river. During the day the Englishman became insane and when at the bank of a coulee he shot LaCount in the breast and immediately after shot himself. The sons, who were then 17 and 10 years old respectively, took off their father's clothes, wrapped him in a blanket and buried him, but the remains of the Englishman they left for the wolves to devour. Before expiring LaCount gave directions for re-crossing the river to join the other party. Mr. Grindeland believes their story to be perfectly true, and says that their forms and features bear a striking resemblance to the stone man. They spoke very feelingly of their father. The elder, who is 74 years old, lives near St. Paul, and the younger at Wylie, Polk county.—Warren Sheaf.

One cannot help admire the Populists. They have never wavered in their purpose; they have been as implacable and as irreconcilable as Parnell in his fight against the British government, and they seem to have captured the Democratic party. It is a case of absorption, and the Populists kick the willing captive by way of giving a broad hint of who is boss. There never was such another victory in the records of time. It is the lesser swallowing the larger and beating it to a pulp before going through with the act of deglutition. There was no need of a fight, as the captives have come to the camp of the enemy, welcoming stripes as proof of the sincerity of their convictions.—Manitowoc (Wis.) Pilot.

—Subscribe for the Spectator.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,

Rapp & Post.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

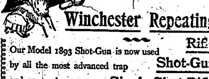
Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Strong

Muscles, steady nerves, good appetite, refreshing sleep come with blood made pure by

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills.

Set Right.

Shopkeeper—Let me see. You are Mr. Henleigh's wife, are you not?

Mrs. Henleigh—No, sir; Mr. Henleigh is my husband.—Boston Transcript.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

A Great Joker.

Mrs. N. Peck—Papa always was a great joker.

Mr. N. Peck—That's so. When I asked him for you he said: "Take her, young man, and be happy."—Indianapolis Journal.

How to Grow 40c Wheat.

Salzer's Fall Seed Catalogue tells you. It's worth thousands to the wide-awake farmer. Send 4-cent stamp for catalogue and free samples of grains and grasses for fall sowing. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis.

On Board Ship.

Pitkin—Brace up, old boy. Seasickness can be thrown off if you will only think so.

Simpson—Do you—see—any one—throwing it off—f— than—I am?—Detroit Free Press.

My doctor said I would die, but Piso's Cure for Consumption cured me.—Amos Kelner, Cherry Valley, Ills., Nov. 23, '95.

The speaker and forty members constitute a house of commons.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

There are seventy-two places called St. Etienne in France.

There are now in Paris over 1,000 American female art students.

Personal.

ANY ONE who has been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, will receive information of much value and interest by writing to Pink Pills, P. O. Box 1592 Philadelphia, Pa.

In a pack of cards there are 635,013,559,600 different whist hands.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Suicides in Paris average eleven a day in December and eighteen in June.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

London firms are said to spend over $10,000,000 a week in advertising.

It is usually considered that an adult should drink about three pints of liquid a day.

PRIVATE WIRES.

Winnipeg. Sault Ste. Marie. Chicago. New York.

Grain, Commission and Stock Brokers.

CHAS. E. LEWIS CO.

Chamber of Commerce, Minneapolis. Members of Duluth Board of Trade and Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce. Execute orders in all the markets of the world. Out-of-town orders a specialty. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Duluth. West Superior. Fargo. Grand Forks.

PRIVATE CIPHERS. WRITE FOR PRICE CURRENT.

SHIP YOUR GRAIN TO US.

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII.

It Will Be Produced at St. Paul, Minn., During the Encampment.

One of the features of the G. A. R. encampment will be the grand pyrotechnic display known as the "Last Days of Pompeii," which was produced at the world's fair and has never been seen elsewhere in its perfection except at Manhattan Beach, N. Y. The management of this spectacle has been induced to produce it here during encampment week. It is said that it requires twenty cars to transport the scenery and apparatus used in giving the display. The story of the "Last Days of Pompeii," as graphically described in the last chapters of Lord Lytton's celebrated book, is wonderfully and vividly brought out in this realistic work. It is a matter of congratulation that visitors to St. Paul that week may be permitted to see it.

Encampment Rates.

Inquiries are frequently received at Grand Army headquarters in St. Paul about railroad rates for the encampment from points in the Northwest. This information can be obtained from local agents. In most cases the rate will be one fare for the round trip. The time limit on tickets, when sold, will be fifteen days, but the time may be extended to Sept. 30 by depositing tickets with the joint agent in St. Paul before Sept. 15.

These half-fare tickets from Northwestern points will be sold for trains arriving in St. Paul Monday, Aug. 31, and Tuesday, Sept. 1.

This is the general plan for encampment business that Northwestern roads expect to observe.

It is said that bees can fly 20 per cent faster than pigeons.

Nineteen million gallons of beer are consumed in the United Kingdom each week.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.

J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist, ST. PAUL, MINN.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

W. N. U. No 33—1896

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

IN IMPERIAL ROME.

A Jewish Boy Who Entered One of the Famous Foot Races.

Rome was a mighty city in those days. It had many a mile of streets and avenues, reaching out into the surrounding country, until nobody could tell where the city ended, although everybody knew that its center was on a hill at the capitol. Far from the capitol, but still within the city, was the amphitheater, or circus, where the most wonderful shows were given that the world had ever known. There wild beasts and men were made to fight by thousands, for the shows were murderous, and the vast sandy area of the amphitheater was often stained with blood.

Cyril was walking along a narrow, crooked street, that led away from the capitol in the direction of the circus.

At that moment he almost ran against a wall, and he stood still. It was one side of a vast marble arch at the main entrance to the circus; and, as he looked up, he saw a placard, with an inscription in several languages. He could read some of them. They were all alike, and they told him that the emperor's prefect of the circus had arranged for prize foot-races. One of these was free to all who could pass the trial race for admission. There was to be a prize of ten sestertia, and Cyril's brain whirled a little at the thought of so much money.

"More than six hundred shekels!" he exclaimed, after a calculation—"and I can yet run! It says the sub-prefect will see all who apply." He stood gazing at the placard and reading it aloud. Suddenly a voice near him said:

"That he will, and he will scourge you well if you fail at the test. Can you run? You look like it. Come."

Black as jet was the face of the dwarfish figure that Cyril at once turned to follow through the arch and a side door and along a tiled-floor passage. In a few minutes more he stood in the presence of a richly-dressed official who for a moment eyed him sternly. The dwarf had addressed this great man very reverently, calling him Crispus, but a strange thought flashed into the mind of Cyril, for he had never seen a Roman whose face was like that of the sub-prefect.

"Oh, Jewish boy, who are thou?" asked Crispus in Aramaic, with an accent that made Cyril's heart beat.

"I am Cyril Ben Ezra, of the house of Kish," replied Cyril, staring hard at the grim, iron-mouthed official, for something in the man's face seemed familiar.

"Amen!" said Crispus. "Answer in thine own tongue, for thou art a Galilean. I am Reuben Ben Nassur, of Cana. I am thy kinsman. Knowest thou aught of thy house?"

"Isaac, the Rabbi, is well," replied Cyril, and on he went, for Reuben, or Crispus, asked him many questions, and they talked in Hebrew, which none near them could understand. Perhaps another reason was plain when he said of the circus:

"What is it to me or thee if all the heathen slay one another? Thou shalt run. I will give thee a week of training before the trial, but know that I cannot save thee from the scourge, if thou fail before the prefect. Mark this, also—forget that thou art a Jew until thy feet have told Tallienus that thou art a good runner. Thou hast nothing to do with the Law whilst thou art a beast in the Roman circus."

Bitter, indeed, was the cup of poverty that Cyril was drinking. He had put away his pride, driven by starvation, and now a brother of Ben Nassur himself was bidding him put aside his religion. No opportunity for an answer, yea or nay, was given, however, and he was led away by the dwarf to one of the outbuildings of the amphiteater. It was, as he at once, discovered, a kind of jail, in which were kept the men who were training for the races. Many of them were mere slaves, put there by their owners, in hopes that they might win a prize for their masters. At all events, Cyril was to have shelter and food, but the boarding house or jail of the runners adjoined great dens of wild animals, and he was kept awake by the roaring of many lions; for a thunderstorm swept over Rome, and the imprisoned kings of the forest or plain responded with thunderous roars of their own making.—From "The Swordmaker's Son," by W. O. Stoddard, in August St. Nicholas.

A Fish Story.

There is an old darkey who can be found any day perched on such freight as may rest upon the platform of the little station at S——, up in Maine. He has a cheerful word for every one that will greet him, and was never known to lose his good-humor except on one occasion. One morning he as, as usual, perched on a bale of straw, but instead of whittling at a piece of stick, a habit of his, he sat with his face in his hands, gazing mournfully out over the little lake that stretched away among the hills. It was then I noticed that his nose had assumed enormous proportions, almost shutting out his eyes.

"Why, Ike, what's the matter with your nose?"

He shook his head sadly, and inquired if I had a little "baccy." I handed him some and waited for an explanation about his nose.

"I's neber gwan to fish no mo', sah—no, sah! neber no mo'; 'cause dat's where I got dat nose, youse see."

"How did it happen, Ike? Tell us; perhaps we can fix you up."

"See dat little neck er-runnin' out past de big mountain ober dar? Well, round dat neck dere's a cove, an' dere's as fine a trout stream runs in dere as dey has 'bout dis place. I was er-fishin' dere de oder day, when Ise seed er big one flittin' by a rock dat's dere. Ise thrashed dat spot by de hour, an dat trout he done come an' look at de fly, an' den—yes, sah, den dat trout laugh at me an' swim 'way. I's tried eberyt'ing to ketch him, but 'twan't any use. Den Ise grew er-thinkin'. What he do 'round dat stone all de time? So Ise rested very quiet an' watched dat stone. Pretty soon Ise see a bee hummin' round close to de water an' near de stone, an' Ise see de trout make er leap for him.

"Dat settled it; Ise knew what ter ketch 'im wid. Ise just caught er bee an' put de hook in between de wings, where it wouldn't hurt him. Den Ise casted. Yah! yah!—he! he! Dat trout made one leap, an 'he had de bee; but de fight was awful. He done paid no 'tention ter me, but he an' der bee wuz havin' it out an' how dey did fight. Ise got him on de bank at last, an' dere's where my trouble came in. Ise opened his mouth fer get de hook out, when out flew dat bee, an' he wuz mad. Yes, sah, he jest been a-waitin' fer me, Ise know, an' he landed plumb on my nose. Youse see de result. But dat's only part ob it. De trout he swelled up de same way. He wuz five pounds when I first ketched him, an' when he wuz done swellin' he wuz too heavy to carry home."

We silently left Ike to continue his mournful contemplation of the lake.—Harper's Round Table.

Clever Feats of a Chimpanzee.

Prof. Garner says that one of the most intelligent and quite the best-educated chimpanzee that he ever saw is Consul II. The many feats done by this ape would fill a small volume. He has not been trained to perform them as tricks, simply to amuse and entertain visitors, but many of them he has taken up of his own accord, having seen others do so. The feat that impressed me most was his skill in riding a tricycle, and his taste for that sport. He often takes his machine without being told, and rides all about the place; if he finds it lying on its side, he sets it upright, adjusts the handle bar, mounts it and takes a ride. He propels it with ease and guides it with dexterity. No boy of his own age can handle it with more skill. He rides all about the place, around the walks and drives, all over several acres of ground; he steers it around the posts and corners, around the curves of the paths, makes his way through crowds of people without colliding with them. He amuses himself by the hour at this pastime. When he tires of it he sometimes shoves the vehicle up in one corner and leaves it.

Consul also smokes cigar, cigarette or pipe. He often finds a cigar stub about the place, picks it up, puts it in his mouth, and then goes to his keeper for a light. One amusing habit he has is that of spitting; he is not very skillful in this, but he is persistent. However, he has the politeness not to spit on the floor; he spreads a piece of paper on the floor and uses it as a cuspidor.—Harper's Round Table.

A Home-Made Barometer.

There is no reason why every boy should not possess a barometer of his own, which he will find not only endlessly useful in planning his little holiday trips, but which will afford him infinite interest as well.

All he has to do is to take a gramme each of camphor, saltpeter and ammonia salts, and dissolve them in about thirteen drachms of alcohol. When the dissolution is complete, shake the mixture well, and pour it into a glass bottle, one rather long for its width is preferred. Cork tightly and seal with wax, so as to prevent the air from penetrating into the bottle.

Expose this improvised barometer on the outside of the window, on the north side of the house, if possible, and the chrystallizations which are produced will announce a change in the weather, as follows:

Absolute clearness of the liquid denotes fair weather.

If the liquid becomes disturbed, or rolly, as we say, it is a sign of rain.

If downy masses form in the bottom of the bottle, it will freeze, or at least, the thermometer will descend; the more these masses rise toward the top the more rigorous will the cold become.

Little stars in the liquid foretell a hard storm.

Large flakes are a sign of cloudy weather or of snow.

Threadlike objects in the top of the bottle indicate wind.

Dog Catches Fish.

William Clawson, a fisherman of South Plainfield, N. J., is the owner of a dog of which he may well be proud. The animal, which looks like an ordinary cur, is possessed of an intelligence far above that of other animals of his species. The dog has become one of the most expert fishermen in the vicinity, and has the reputation of having never lost a fish. Mr. Clawson and the dog work in company. Arriving at the stream, his owner will get the lines ready, the dog watching with more than ordinary interest, and when everything has been arranged to the mutual satisfaction of the two the dog will watch the water until he sees that a fish has taken hold of the line, and then he will assist in landing it. But it is when his master goes gigging that the dog is in his element. Nearby Mr. Clawson's place is a bridge over a small stream in which are a number of carp. It is Mr. Clawson's habit to stand on the bridge and let down a line into the water, which is so arranged that a fish in passing will run his head into the loop prepared to receive him, and so get caught. The moment that the fish is caught the dog does his work. Leaping into the water, he grabs the struggling fish and brings it in safety to the shore, and he has never been known to lose a fish caught by him in this manner.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Poet's Gifts to His Little Friends.

As we all know Mr. Field was ever gentle and tender to the little ones. If they were in any way weak or afflicted, they appealed all the more strongly to the love of which his heart was so full. His nature was as simple as a child's, and he loved the children's toys as much as he did. His sympathetic enjoyment of their pleasure in any new toy was a revelation to the every-day man or woman. One day I went with him into a toy store to get some little things for the babies, as he rarely went home empty-handed. After he had purchased several things, he ordered a dozen medium-sized bisque dolls. I wondered what he was going to do with so many, and put the question to him. He answered, "Oh, I like to have them; and when little girls come to see me I give them a dolly to take home." Some time after his death the family found the box that had contained the dolls. There was only one left, and that one in some way had been broken.

It was only a few weeks before his life ended that he bought these dolls—so he must have had many visits from his little friends.—"Recollections of Eugene Field," by Martha Nelson Yenowine, in St. Nicholas.

A Girl's Composition on Boys.

A little girl in Boston wrote a composition on boys. Here it is: "The boy is not an animal, yet he can be heard to a considerable distance. When a boy hollers he opens his big mouth like frogs; but girls hold their tongue till they are spoke to, and then they answer respectable, and tell just how it was. A boy thinks himself clever because he can wade where it is deep; but God made the dry land for every living thing and rested on the seventh day. When the boy grows up he is called a husband, and then he stops wading, and stays out nights; but the grew-up [illegible]

WHAT IS OSTEOPATHY

THE SCHOOL OF WHICH THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD IS TALKING.

Remarkable Work Performed by the New Science — Some of the Most Prominent Business Men of Minneapolis Interviewed by the Times.

The Minneapolis Times in its issue of Sunday, July 19th, reviews the new science of Osteopathy in an article two columns in length, under the above caption. The article covers practically the same ground as those that have appeared in the different newspapers and magazines, describing Osteopathy as a system of drugless healing the practice of which is spreading over the country, and also taking up the matter in its local aspect, giving a description of The Northern Institute of Osteopathy located in that city by Messrs. Edwin C. Pickler and Frank D. Parker, who are practitioners of the science, or, as they are more generally called, Diplomates in Osteopathy, and Mr. Lewis M. Rheem, who is the Secretary and business manager. The institution was organized for the purpose of treating diseases of different kinds by this method and educating gentlemen and ladies in the science. The reporter gives an interesting account of the methods employed in teaching anatomy and physiology, on which the science is based, and then gives several interviews with such prominent citizens of Minneapolis as Mr. R. S. Goodfellow, the large dry goods merchant; Mr. Anthony Kelly, Mr. George E. Higgins, wholesale grocers; Mr. John C. Oswald, Mr. Theodore Basting, wholesale liquors, and Mr. Frank W. Greaves, wholesale tailors' supplies. On account of the high standing of these gentlemen we give their interviews in full for the benefit of those who desire to investigate the science.

Mr. R. S. Goodfellow said in response to The Times' question of what personal experience he had with Osteopathy: "I cannot say enough of Mr. Pickler and Osteopathy. From an experience in my own family I consider Osteopathy little short of marvelous. One of my family had quite a serious internal trouble and has been a sufferer for years. I had spent hundreds of dollars in treatment under the best advice, with no relief. I was induced by friends to try Mr. Pickler and was truly astonished and more than pleased to find after a short course of treatment that a perfect cure resulted. I should be glad to recommend anyone suffering to try this treatment."

Mr. Theodore Basting, manager for Mr. J. C. Oswald, was next seen: "The case of my son was a very painful one. The boy was 18 years of age, and while out skating fell and hurt his spine. A curvature of the spine was the result. This curvature was very marked and it did not require a physician's eye to detect it. I consulted the best of advice and was told that the boy must go to either New York or Boston to some very celebrated specialists in spine diseases. He would have to be gone four or five years and be put in a plaster cast or in a sort of leather and steel harness. I had almost made arrangements to follow this advice when some one told me of Mr. Pickler and Osteopathy. I had little faith in any such treatment and was astonished to meet such a quiet gentleman as Mr. Pickler. He did not urge me to leave my son, but said he could cure the case. After considering the matter, I at last consented, knowing that nothing much further could hurt the boy. After a week's treatment my boy said the pains were much less, and in nine months he was as well as you and I and has been so ever since. Some year or so ago my boy had some internal trouble which he had since a baby, and this, too, has disappeared, leaving him, at 19 years of age, well, strong and weighing 134 pounds. I was never so pleased in my life as at the recovery of my son and heartily indorse Mr. Pickler and his work."

Mr. John C. Oswald, when interviewed, said: "I have seen so many cases that are cured by Osteopathy that I would keep you busy telling of them all. A friend of mine from Boston had trouble for years with his hip joint. He had consulted eminent eastern advice without any relief. He was obliged to walk with a cane. After a number of talks I induced him to see Mr. Pickler and as a result he took treatment. He is now entirely cured and as well as anyone. One of my servants dislocated her arm and had it treated by some practitioner. By his advice she used liniments and lotions, but getting no relief I sent her to Mr. Pickler, who took the inflammation down, reset the arm, and she now uses the arm as well as ever. A middle-aged lady, whose name I am not at liberty to give, suffered for years in one limb. Nothing seemed to do any good and she was afraid no help could come. On my advice she saw Mr. Pickler and after a short time she walked and ran up and down stairs as well as ever. These and many more cases I know of."

Mr. Anthony Kelly said: "In my own family I have not had any experience with Mr. Pickler, but from what Mr. George E. Higgins, here in the office, tells me, I can heartily indorse Osteopathy." Mr. George E. Higgins spoke of his own case: "The experience of two of the members of my family and their cures has made me a thorough supporter and indorser of Osteopathy."

The case of Mr. F. W. Graves is certainly unique: "My little girl, when but 4 years old, fell from her tricycle and injured her hip. We had her treated for nine months in the regular way and then on advice consulted a specialist. After getting no good from this I heard of Osteopathy and went to Dr. Pickler. After one treatment the child, who had to be carried down on a pillow, walked out of the doctor's room, perfectly well. You can imagine my pleasure."

Mr. Jacob Stone, of 14 Third street S, says: "I suffered from dislocation of my arm and can say that I am very much pleased with the results of Mr. Pickler's treatments."

In addition to the parties named above there are a large number of people in the city who are equally enthusiastic. The secretary has on file a large number of letters from former patients of Mr. Parker and Mr. Pickler which are remarkable for their enthusiastic expressions and hearty good will. Beside those from residents of this northwestern country, Mr. Rheem showed the reporter letters from Mr. F. A. Buckman, cashier of the Citizens' State Bank of Council Bluffs; Mr. A. T. Flickinger, attorney-at-law of the same city; Mr. T. C. Havens, coal and wood dealer, Omaha, and also from the same city Mr. C. S. Carrier, ticket agent of the C., M. & St. P. railroad; Mrs. J. A. Hake, 26th and Poppleton avenue; Dr. C. W. Sandborn, 1508 Howard street; Mr. A. J. Vierling, manager of the Paxton and Vierling Iron Works; Mr. C. S. Potter, general agent of the American Express company; Mr. H. P. Ryner, general manager of the American District Telegraph company; Mr. Edgar Allan, wholesale grocer, and a large number of others, all relating to the remarkable work performed by Mr. Parker while located in Omaha.

By these voluntary testimonials of cure right here in this city, it would seem as if nothing can stop the growth of this school, and if the good work continues, as it seems hardly possible not so to do, the believers in Osteopathy will be startlingly increased in the next few years. We need all the knowledge that science can give us to cope against the hosts of diseases with which we see ourselves surrounded.

Linton's $5,000 Ride.

French makers do not hesitate at expense. The firm for whom A. V. Linton rode in winning the recent Paris-Bordeaux race spent over $5,000 upon the ride, which sum in nowise covers the firm's total outlay, since Linton [illegible]

TO FOOL THE COPPER.

A Novel Way to Avoid Arrest When One's Bicycle Lamp Goes Out and There Is no Way of Relighting It.

There is one way in which a cyclist can ride through the streets of New York at night without a light on his machine and not be subject to arrest. In two instances it has been tried with success, and the lightless rider in each instance avoided arrest by means of a string, just a little piece of common wrapping cord.

This simple means of avoiding arrest is to tie a piece of string from the handle bar of the machine, whose light has gone out, and tie the other end of the cord to the saddle post of a machine on which there is a light. The two machines thus tied together are, in the eyes of the law, a tandem.

Chief Conlin, when asked for an opinion on the matter, said that two bicycles so joined together were to all intents and purposes a tandem. There is no law which says a tandem shall have only two wheels, and as tandem means one before the other, the wheelman is perfectly safe in attaching an unlighted machine to one which carries a light, and thus improvising a tandem, and in such cases the police have no authority to make an arrest.

The City House of To-Day.

The ready-made dwelling—built to rent—in the first half of the century, compares with the ready-made dwelling to-day as the flail of Franklin's time compares with the modern threshing machine. In nothing that is outside the line of the revolutionary inventions of the age has progress made such strides as it has in ministering to the comfort of those who dwell in cities. The rented house of the first half of the century was larger than it has become, but it was a mere empty box, after all—usually it was a part of a monotonous row of such boxes. Now such dwellings are tastefully designed, and an effort is made to give each an individual character. Within they are illuminated by great plate-glass windows, decorated with a liberal finish of ornamental hardwood, fitted with sanitary safeguards in the plumbing and ventilating fixtures, and completed by modern improvements of many useful kinds. In each is a house telephone, with mouthpieces and electric buttons in every room. The dumbwaiter of such a house reaches to the first bed room floor, if not to the top of the building.

The mantel pieces have cabinet tops, and are built above grate fireplaces that contain gas logs, or false but showy fuel made of asbestos veined with perforated gas pipes. The doors slide into the walls, so as not to take up any of the too little space in the small modern rooms. A showy china cabinet is a fixture in the breakfast room, and a refrigerator is built in one of the walls near the kitchen. In madame's bed room and in her parlor is a cheval glass. An apron of iron over the kitchen range promises to rid the house of the smells of cooking, and good draughts for the fires are guaranteed by flues of iron piping instead of brick. Wardrobes, which are really dress closets, with great doors, are fixed in the wall, and for the clothing of men the closet drawers of old are turned into shelves fronted by doors that drop open upon hinges at the bottom thereof. The dining room has moved up stairs into the back parlor, and is one-quarter furnished by having a pretentious sideboard built in a niche in the walls. Stationary tubs are housed in an annex of the kitchen, and the fin de siecle bath room has become a beautiful chamber lined and walled with brick, ventilated by an air shaft and skylight, and fitted with tubs and other equipments that are either porcelain-lined or made of crockery. Electric lights are distributed throughout the house, and all doors to yard and street are double, to save coal and internal heat of the dwelling.

Thus the modern Cornelia is provided with what we may call fixed comforts. But she is not content with these. Therefore with the modern dwelling goes the man who keeps the street clean by an arrangement with the householders of each block. With it also goes he who attends to the furnace and rolls the ash barrels out to the curbstone. The private watchman gives first aid to the insufficient police, or the automatic burglar alarm stands in that relation to him.—Harper's Weekly.

The Scouts of the Sea.

Torpedo boats, however, are designed for a wider service than simply to carry and discharge the frightful weapon from which they take their name. They are to the navy what scouts and skirmishers are to a land army. They form the cavalry of the sea, of which the cruisers are the infantry and the battleships and monitors the artillery arm. They must spy out the position of the enemy's fleet, hover about his flanks or haunt his anchorage to ascertain what he is about and what he means to do next. They must act as the pickets of their own fleet, patrolling the neighborhood, or waiting and watching, concealed among islands or in inlets and river mouths, ready to hasten away to the admiral with warning of any movement of the enemy.

It is not their business to fight (except rarely, in the one particular way), but rather to pry and sneak and run. Hence they are as small and sleek and swift as they can be made. When the fleet goes upon a cruise, they are carried on the decks of the big warships, although they are able to get about in really rough weather by themselves. A very recent idea is to build them out of aluminum, which would be not only of great advantage toward ease of transportation, but would tend toward increased speed, by adding buoyancy and elasticity to the structure, which seems to skim along the surface and fairly leap from wave to wave; but it is doubtful whether aluminum is strong enough for safety and whether it will not be injured by the chemical action of the sea-water.—"The Tricks of Torpedo Boats," by Ernest Ingersoll, in St. Nicholas.

Accommodating.

"Of course I'm a friend of the workingman," said the aspiring politician.

"Then why don't you work occasionally?" asked one of his auditors.

"Oh, that's simple enough. I don't wish to crowd some more deserving man out of a job."—Philadelphia North American.

Open to Conviction.

Parson (to youngster fishing on Sunday)—My boy, I'm surprised to find you here.

Youngster (innocently)—Do you know some other place where they bite better?—Up-to-Date.

The Retort Courteous.

Mrs. Cumso—Is the [illegible] good, my dear?

Mr. Cumso (gruffly)—Yes; [illegible]

Awarded

Highest Honors—World's Fair.

·DR·

PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Those Trusting Eyes.

She—Dearest, am I the first girl you ever loved?

He—Little sweetheart, the man who could look into those trusting blue eyes and tell a falsehood is not fit to live. So prepare yourself to hear the truth. You are.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

To Cleanse the System.

Effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently overcome habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

Eighty-five per cent of the people who are lame are affected on the left side.

That Terrible Scourge.

Malarial disease is invariably supplemented by disturbance of the liver, the bowels, the stomach and the nerves. To the removal of both the cause and its effects, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is fully adequate. It "fills the bill" as no other remedy does, performing its work thoroughly. Its ingredients are pure and wholesome, and it admirably serves to build up a system broken by ill health and shorn of strength. Constipation, liver and kidney complaint and nervousness are conquered by it.

A Fair Inference.

Stokeley—I met Gibson in Chicago. He spoke of you.

Brokley—Indeed! he remembered you, then?

Stokeley—Oh, yes; said he never would forget me.

Brokley—Then you owe him money, too?—Yonkers Statesman.

Pretty Good Proof.

Watts—I wonder if the water is fit to drink yet?

Potts—Guess it is. An eel came through our hydrant this morning, and it seemed to be in good health.—Indianapolis Journal.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Still Suppressing Crime.

Excited Citizen—Officer, I've just been held up! There goes the scoundrel that did it!

Efficient Policeman—I'll 'tend to him in a minute. I'm after a little rascal that's ridin' his bicycle without any lantern.—Chicago Tribune.

Six persons lose their lives through paraffin lamp accidents each week in London.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

James Fleming, Shakopee, Minn., double drum-heating stove; Levi A. Haight, Tyndall, S. D., windmill; August Heine, Wahpeton, N. D., band-cutter and feeder; John Holum Minneapolis, Minn., car-coupling; William Lefstiko, Glencoe, Minn., barrel-locking bolt for break-down guns; Rudolph C. Pleins, St. Paul, Minn., lacing eylet; Nathan M. G. Syverson, Rock Dell, Minn., door-hanger; Emery E. Taylor, Minneapolis, Minn., car-jack; Charles L. Travis Minneapolis, Minn., bicycle; Charles L. Travis, Minneapolis, Minn., bicycle or like vehicle; Otto H. L. Wernicke, Minneapolis, Minn., separable book case; David S. White, Northfield, Minn., heater; Annella S. Gilmore, Elk Point, S. D., hair-curler; Bruno Kippels and W. Zellar, Moorehead, Minn., plating machine; Drewry & Sons, St. Paul, Minn., carbonated beverage, cordial and syrup; Frederick W. and A. A. Tuchelt, St. Paul, Minn., cigars.

D. Merwin, patent lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.;

New York Fashions.

That next winter is to see our arms tightly encased in sheathlike sleeves there seems very little doubt. There is a marked shrinking in size already, and the exaggeratedly large sleeve already looks passe. The new styles, though, are too extreme to become popular at once, and they are certainly most unbecoming. Two silk waists just finished to wear with duck skirts are very odd. One of flame-colored taffeta, changeable from the deep flame to pale yellow, has the fronts of the waist in full folds crossed over the bust; the sleeves fit tight to the arm, except just at the elbow, where there is a queer full puff that looks like a pin-cushion. The other model is of shaded mauve silk, and the sleeves are shirred from shoulder to wrist; apparently the silk used is very narrow, for the edges stick out "like quills upon the fretful porcupine," and look like ridges up and down the arm. No softening effect of lace or embroidery is on these waists which have just been turned out by one of the smartest modistes.—Harper's Bazar.

There are five male convicts to one female convict in English prisons.

Woman's Writes

Believe in Woman's Writes? Of course we do. Who could help it when women write such convincing words as these: "For seven years I suffered with scrofula. I had a good physician. Every means of cure was tried in vain. At last I was told to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which entirely cured me after using seven bottles." —MRS. JOHN A. GENTLE, Fort Fairfield, Me., Jan. 26, 1896.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla ..cures..

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

Makes marvelous cures. Purely vegetable and absolutely harmless.

The Great Blood Purifier.

EVERY FARMER IN THE NORTH

CAN MAKE MORE MONEY IN THE MIDDLE SOUTH.

He can make twice as much. He can sell his Northern farm and get twice as many acres for his money down here. We sell improved farms for $8 to $20 an acre. Plenty of railroads—four of them. No droughts. Neither too hot nor too cold—climate just right. Northern farmers are coming every week. If you are interested write for FREE pamphlets and ask all the questions you want to. It is a pleasure to us to answer them.

SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' LAND COMPANY. Somerville, Tenn.

"Judgment!!"

Battle Ax PLUG

The umpire now decides that "BATTLE AX" is not only decidedly bigger in size than any other 5 cent piece of tobacco, but the quality is the finest he ever saw, and the flavor delicious. You will never know just how good it is until you try it.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 12, 1896. NUMBER 2.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

The Nation's Capital.

Brig. Gen. Richard M. Batchelder, quartermaster general of the army, is to go on the retired list on account of age. His successor has not been named.

People Talked About.

Col. John A. Danks, chaplain-in-chief of the Union Veterans' league, died at his home in Glenfield of heart disease.

At San Antonio, Tex., Miss Jane Scofield, one of the faculty of the San Antonio Normal college, dropped dead of heart disease in the class room.

Sir William Grove is dead at London. He was born July 11, 1811. Sir William made several important discoveries in electricity and optics. He was a fellow of the Royal society and in addition held the titles of D. C. L., LL. D., and P. C., as well as holding the degree of Master of Arts.

Matthew Addy, aged sixty-one, president of the Addiston Pipe and Steel company, and founder of the suburban town of Addiston, Ohio, died at his Falmouth (Mass.) cottage. He was connected with various interests in Addiston and employed thousands of men. He was several times a millionaire, and had done much for the city and the Presbyterian church. He was born in Montreal, and went to Ohio penniless before he was of age.

Accidental Happenings.

The fertilizing works of Daniel Baugh & Sons at Philadelphia were damaged by fire to the extent of $125,000.

Henry Kettering, a machinist at Canton, Ohio, was instantly killed by the explosion of an engine.

A fire at Cheboygan, Mich., destroyed between five and six million feet of pine lumber and the docks on which it was piled. The loss is estimated at $100,000, and the insurance is $65,000.

Manistee, Mich., was visited by a $30,000 fire. The lumber plant of Emery & Stokoe, two miles east of Manistee, was consumed, together with its contents and 4,000,000 shingles, 5,000 cords of tanbark, etc.

The body of Alfred Steele, an optician of Buffalo, N. Y., was found floating in the Ohio river, near Evansville, Ind. It is supposed that he was drowned from a passenger steamer on leaving for his home.

A cloud-burst in the foothills west of Denver, resulted in floods in which twenty-nine people are known to have perished, and was followed by another terrible storm, the like of which has seldom been seen.

A well known citizen of Elkhart, Ind., was knocked down by a colt, which broke his windpipe in such a peculiar way that in breathing the air passed under the skin, causing the body to swell enormously, and finally producing death by strangulation.

A cyclone passed through Southeastern Michigan. Much damage is reported, the worst in Hilldale and Calhoun counties. Heavy losses have resulted from the rainfall, and it is believed there has been loss of life, but the telegraph wires have been so broken that no definite information can be secured.

Crimes and Criminals.

Frank Lomeo, an Italian blacksmith in New York city, shot and fatally wounded his wife and then killed himself.

Col James F. Lilly was shot down in the Baptist church at Metcalf, Ga., by John T. Rushin, and in the panic several women and many others fainted.

John Hazel of Popular Bluff, Mo., in custody for horse stealing, leaped from a train going at a rate of forty miles an hour near Tuscola, Ill., and was killed.

Mail Carrier Hempmeier, whose stage was robbed by outlaws between Okenee and Lacey, O. T., has confessed he committed the crime himself. Hempmeier is seventeen years old.

Patrick Coyle, sixty years old, was killed at New Madison, Pa., by his son Walter, and but for the intervention of a priest would have been lynched. Singularly enough the priest's name was Father Lynch.

At Denver David H. Ramey, a colored Pullman car porter, shot and instantly killed his mistress, Mattie Clark, also colored, and then sent a bullet through his own brain. The cause of the deed is not known.

Annie Boch, twenty-three years old, a dissolute woman, was found dead in bed at New York with her throat cut from ear to ear in her room. The police believe the woman was murdered.

Isaac Craft, twenty-two, of Tillie, a hamlet six miles west of Sergeant, in Letcher county, eloped with Miss Lizzie Collins, a fourteen-year-old girl, and walked over rough mountain roads a distance of fifty miles into Wise county, Va., where they were made "one" at Wise court house.

John Schmidt was found guilty of murder in the first degree at Clayton, Mo., for his part in the murder of Bertram Atwater, the Chicago artist, at Webster Grove, last January. Sentence of death will be passed in case the court overrules the usual motion for a new trial.

The trial of "Bob" Mullen, police magistrate of Cripple Creek, has begun before the town board. He is charged with malfeasance, oppression and incompetency. It was shown by witnesses that he threatened to kill George J. Bentley, an attorney, and anyone else who should aid in the prosecution of the charges against him.

James Banister, a prominent and well-to-do farmer of Greensburg, Ind., was stabbed by his grandson, Ray Bannister, aged fourteen. For some time the lad had been paying attention to a neighborhood girl, much against the wishes of his parents and grandfather. The latter attempted to remonstrate with the lad, with the result as stated.

Freight Conductor Rouse of Newark, Ohio, alleges that he caught Mrs. Bush in the act of setting his house on fire. In his night clothes he chased the woman, firing twice at her, thinking she was a man. Mrs. Bush had poured oil on the house and ignited it while the Rouse family was asleep up stairs. She has been arrested. She is probably insane over the loss of considerable valuable real estate.

While walking in her sleep Mrs. John Harvey, wife of Policeman Harvey of Sioux City, Iowa, took her husband's revolver from the pocket of his trousers and fired a shot through the partition wall and the oak door of the adjoining room. Harvey, who was up after a drink at the time, was narrowly grazed by the bullet, and, rushing to his wife's side snatched the weapon from her hand just as she was cocking it for a second shot.

Foreign Gossip.

Li Hung Chang, since his arrival in Paris, has lunched with M. Hanotaux on the Eiffel tower.

Lord Roberts has been granted $30,000 for the purpose of the military maneuvres in Ireland.

The peerage conferred upon Sir Hercules Robinson came after fifty years' service to the crown.

John Moreley has rented Hilders, Haslemere, from Mr. McLaren, M. P., for several weeks, and will go there, as soon as parliament is prorogued.

The London Daily News says: "We have to congratulate the veteran tenor, Mr. Sims Reeves, on the birth of a son. Mr. Sims Reeves is seventy-four years of age.

Patriotic Spaniards, living in Argentina have given a Clyde building firm an order for a cruiser of 4,500 tons, to cost $1,600,000 and to be delivered in eighteen months, as a gift to Spain.

A dispatch from Neath, seven miles from Swansea, Wales, announces that forty miners were entombed in the Bryncoch pit, near that place, by an explosion.

Rochester (N. Y.) Free Masons in response to an appeal by Very Rev. Dean S. Reynolds Hole, upon his visit there, raised a $100 subscription to the fund for restoring the cathedral at Rochester, Eng.

A wind storm at San Louis, province of Santiago de Cuba, has demolished the barracks there, killing two guerillas outright, and burying seven others under the ruins. Five persons were killed by electricity.

Corea has conceded to a syndicate of Americans the right to construct a railroad from Seoul, the capital, to Chemulpo, the main port and harbor. The Americans, in addition, have the right to work the minerals along the line of this road.

A special from Madrid says that a great fire is raging at Rueda de Medina, a town of about 4,000 inhabitants, twenty-five miles south of Valadolid. Hundreds of buildings are said to have been destroyed, and the inhabitants are in a state of panic.

The captain of the steamer Costa Rica which has arrived at San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, from El Rama, reports that heavy floods have occurred at that place, destroying houses and plantations and causing great loss of life.

The Mussulmans have burned 200 Christian houses in the village of Kahodike in the province of Selino. Christians as a reprisal are burning the Mussulman villages. Hostilities have been resumed in various parts of Selina.

Brig. Gen. Echague, with 700 reinforcements, arrived at Havana by the trans-Atlantic mail steamer Catalina from Spain. The same vessel brought a quantity of munitions of war and $1,000,000 in silver consigned to the captain general.

Otherwise.

To-morrow several iron mills of Pittsburg, Pa., are to resume, thereby setting to work at least 10,000 idle men.

Saucy Chief, candidate of the half-breeds, has been elected chief, or governor, of the Osage nation after one of the most hotly contested elections in years.

Allen's print works, situated at the north end of Providence, R. I., started up after three weeks' shut down. The concern gives employment to 300 persons.

The will of the late Robert Garrett, formerly president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, has been filed for probate. The bulk of his estate, which is estimated to be worth $5,000,000, is bequeathed to his wife.

Norman Williams, a farmer near St Johns, a small village in lower Michigan, was bitten by a vicious hog a few days ago. Blood poisoning set in, and in spite of medical aid the victim rapidly failed and died in great pain.

In refusing to grant naturalization papers to two young Italians, Judge Cole, of the District of Columbia supreme court held that no one who is in ignorance of the constitution of the United States is competent or entitled to become admitted to citizenship.

A novel auction sale was held at the Westdorf (Ky.) court house. Lawrence Polk, a white man, was sold for six months under the vagrancy laws. Deputy Sheriff M. H. Williams cried the sale in the presence of a large crowd. John Creil was the purchaser. The price paid was $12.75.

Marshall W. Allen, aged twenty years, son of Dr. J. M. Allen of Liberty, Mo., president of the university medical college, died at the German hospital in Kansas City, Mo., from the effects of an overdose of morphine taken both to allay pain and to satisfy a desire for the drug.

All records of kite flying were broken at the Blue Hill observatory at Boston. A kite was sent 7,333 feet into the air. This is 1,000 feet higher than the top of Mount Washington and 800 feet higher than a kite had ever been sent before. Fifty members of the Appalachian club witnessed the exhibition.

Prof. R. S. Tarr of Cornell university, who started with Lieut. Peary on an Arctic geological expedition in the steamer Hope, has written to his family in Gloucester, Mass., that the steamer is hung up in the floe ice off the Greenland coast. Mr. Tarr's letter does not speak as if the vessel was in any immediate danger.

BRYAN AT CANTON

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE IN M'KINLEY'S HOME TOWN.

He Is Greeted by a Large Crowd and Makes a Speech—The Journey Is Continued to Pittsburg, Where Mr. Bryan Is Given an Enthusiastic Welcome—Crowds at Various Points.

Canton, Ohio, Aug. 11.—Mr. Bryan arose early this morning but not early enough to please a number of people at several points in Indiana which were passed before the nominee had prepared his toilet and was ready for his day's siege of speechmaking and handshaking. At every point at which the train stopped crowds had collected and long before Canton was reached Mr. Bryan's hand was sore from shaking hands. He made but a few brief speeches along the route. While waiting for the train to reach Canton a committee from Pittsburg who had arrived to escort Mr. Bryan to that city called upon Maj. McKinley. The spokesman said on arriving at the governor's residence that he believed that any candidate for the presidency was worthy of the greatest respect of every one, regardless of political affiliations. The members of the delegation had therefore called to pay their respects and to make a friendly call as American citizens. In response Gov. McKinley said:

"I am deeply grateful to receive this friendly visit from the Bryan reception committee, although we are of different political belief. We are as American citizens proud of our country and believe in common that we have now and will continue to have in the future the best government in the world. I sincerely thank you, gentlemen, for this visit, and assure you that it gives me great pleasure."

At the conclusion of his brief address Maj. McKinley greeted each member of the delegation in person.

Bryan Speaks.

When the Pennsylvania train pulled into Canton, bearing Mr. Bryan into populous Stark county, the home town of McKinley turned out in thousands to greet their fellow townsman's opponent, and Mr. Bryan returned the complement in his speech. Mr. Bryan said:

"When I received notice a short time ago of the organization of a silver club in this city, I little imagined the tremendous sentiment which seems to be behind that club. I am glad in this city, the home of my distinguished opponent, to testify to his high character and personal worth. (Applause and tremendous cheering for McKinley.) I shall be satisfied (the speaker was here interrupted by renewed cheering for McKinley); I shall be satisfied if as a private individual I may be able to stand beside him in public esteem. But, my friends, this is not a contest between persons. It matters little to the American people whether your distinguished townsman or myself, as individuals, occupy the chief executive position in the greatest nation upon earth. In this campaign persons are lost sight of in the interest of the cause which these persons represent. In my own state and in my own city are many people who believe the interests of the country will be better served by the election of my opponent, and I am gratified to know that in his home city there are many who believe that the interests of the country will be best served by his defeat. (Applause and cheers.) To my neighbors at home I say that if according to your convictions of public duty you believe my opponent should be elected that I shall bear them no ill will, and I have so high an opinion of my opponent that I know that he will say to his fellow townsmen here that every one of them should feel free to make his ballot represent a free man's will, although it may result in keeping your distinguished citizen among you as a townsman still. I thank you for your kind attention and bid you goodby."

In Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Aug. 11.—The meetings in this city proved a fitting capsheaf of the day's triumph. It excited the amazement of the people of Pittsburg and the joy that it afforded Mr. Bryan and the redoubtable "Silver Dick" has manifested itself in their beaming features since they struck the city limits. When the exceptionally long train on the Pennsylvania Central which it was almost impossible to traverse during the last hundred miles because of the numerous committees and enthusiasts who had boarded and spread themselves out over the conveniences, ran into the Pittsburg depot it was immediately surrounded by acres on acres of frantic people. When Mr. Bryan emerged from the train, in spite of the efforts of the large local committee to carry out its programme, the crowd closed around him and it was a free for all fight from that time on for every person except Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. Bland. When they entered their carriages the relentless throng closed around them and it was with difficulty that they were driven to their hotel. While they were partaking of refreshments a crowd of several thousand people kept up a continuous cheering. After luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were driven to the Grand opera house and the Avenue theater, both of which were crowded to suffocation, while the streets in the immediate vicinity were packed with people. Mr. Bryan spoke in the Grand opera house and afterward in the Avenue theater, when the party returned to the hotel, where the scenes of enthusiasm were repeated.

Thomas Lowry's New Purchase.

St. Paul, Aug. 11.—Thomas Lowry of Minneapolis will in a few days be the sole owner of the Globe building, on the corner of Cedar and Fourth streets. Negotiations have been going on for some time and have now advanced to such a stage that the information may be given publicity. The Globe Building company is stocked for $240,000. Mr. Lowry is the largest stockholder, holding shares to the amount of $70,000. There is a mortgage of $125,000 on the building and a floating indebtedness of something over $25,000.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Items of General Interest Placed in a Few Lines.

A withdrawal of $250,000 gold has been made from the New York subtreasury for Canadian account.

The steamship St. Paul, which went ashore in a fog near Monterey, Cal., is still firm on the rocks and will probably be a total loss.

Rainfall at Dubuque, Iowa, last night reduced temperature, but at 10:30 this morning thermometers marked 90, the highest at that time and date for several years.

Among the passengers on the steamship Peru, which arrived at San Francisco last night from Yokohama and Honolulu were Mrs. Sanford B. Dole, wife of the president of the Hawaiian republic.

The weather has been uniformly hot at Wichita, Kan., for ten days, with little relief. Yesterday the thermometer ranged higher than ever, but at night a refreshing breeze came up. To-day the heat has returned in all its force.

Letters have been received in Honolulu giving the testimony of an eminent man in Vienna on the baccilus of the disease that carried off the natives last year. They give as a final verdict that the visitation was genuine Asiatic cholera.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Wheat — August, 56 1-4c; September, 57c; December, 60 7-8c; May, 64 1-2c. Corn—August, 23 3-8c; September, 23 7-8c; October, 24 3-4c; December, 25c. Oats—August, 16 1-8c; September, 16 1-2c; October, 16 7-8c; December, 17 1-2c; May, 19c. Pork — August, $6.25; September, $6.27 1-2; January, $7.10. Lard—August, $3.17 1-2; September, $3.20; October, $3.27 1-2; December, $3.40; January, $3.57 1-2. Ribs—August, $3.35; September, $3.35a3.37 1-2; October, $3.32 1-2; January, $3.52 1-2.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Hogs slow and lower; light, $3a3.35; mixed, $2.85a3.25; heavy, $2.95a3.15; rough, $2.65a2.80. Cattle.—Good natives steady, others weak to 10c lower; beeves, $3.30a4.60; cows and heifers $1.30a4; Texas steers, $2.50a3.15; Westerns, $2.75a3.75; stockers and feeders, $2.60a3.70.

Minneapolis Aug. 11.—Wheat — August closed at 53 1-4c; September opened at 53 1-4c and closed at 53c; December opened at 56 1-4c and closed at 56 1-4c. On track—No. 1 hard, 55c; No. 1 Northern, 54c; No. 2 Northern, 53 1-4c.

Milwaukee, Aug. 11. — Flour quiet; Wheat steady; No. 2 spring, 58 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 59c; September, 56 7-8c. Corn nominal; No. 3, 24c. Oats steady; No. 2 white, 21 1-4c; No. 3 white, 20 3-4c. Barley nominal; No. 2, 32c; sample, 23a33c. Rye dull; No. 1, 31 1-2c. Provisions firmer; pork, $6.25; lard, $3.10.

South St. Paul, Aug. 11.—Hogs—Not enough hogs to make a market. Cattle steady and in good demand; light trading; sales at $2.25a3.25.

DEMANDS HER PROPERTY.

Dawson-Scott Tragedy Revived at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Aug. 11.—Clara Dawson-Scott, the Widow of Walter Scott, who was murdered in Des Moines last Christmas by her father, caused a sensation Saturday by serving a demand on her mother for property, which she claims is withheld. She demanded three wine glasses, three olive mugs, an arithmetic, a song book, a pincushion and several other equally valuable articles. Mrs. S. R. Dawson sent back word that they were not worth fifty cents altogether, and that she could have them at any time. She claims that her daughter is now trying to persecute her, after succeeding in sending her father to the penitentiary for ten years. The death of Walter Scott grew out of his visit to the Dawson home to get Clara's clothes.

Cooled Off by a Storm.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 11.—The heated spell was broken here late yesterday afternoon by one of the most furious storms that has ever struck the city. Suddenly and almost without warning, the sun was obscured by clouds which came up in the northwest. There were a few puffs of wind and then came a blow lasting for half an hour. The wind reached a velocity of sixty-two miles an hour. The lake outside the harbor was covered with yachts practicing for to-morrow's regatta. The storm was upon them almost before they had time to prepare for it. The Priscilla, Vencedor and Avoca took in their canvas in time to meet the gale and they weathered the storm safely. The Clipper and Sprite were, however, capsized. Five men on the former had a narrow escape from drowning.

Mustn't Gamble at Butte.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 11.—After having had a wide open and licensed gambling system ever since the foundation of the city, Butte to-day enjoys the novelty of a prohibition of the business. Judge McHatton, of the district court, decided that the city ordinance prohibiting gambling, which has just gone into effect, is legal, notwithstanding the state law by which gambling is legalized under a license. Anticipating unfavorable legislation by the next legislature, the gamblers have decided not to take an appeal and will go out of business in the city.

Cardinal Vaughan's Brother Ill.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Very Rev. Prior Vaughan of London is lying at the point of death at the Auditorium annex. He was overcome by the heat and is now in a critical condition. He is a brother of Cardinal Vaughan of England, and is making a trip around the world for his health.

Sun's Eclipse.

Yokohama, Aug. 11. — The sun's eclipse was clearly visible here and at Tokio. Northward, however, in which direction the astronomers proceeded, the sky was cloudy and observations were impossible.

Bodoe, Norway, Aug. 11.—The weather was clear and fine and the eclipse of the sun was well observed.

Serious floods have caused much damage on the Mosquito coast in Columbia.

R. R. MONEY POOL

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY FROM PRESIDENT STICKNEY.

He Says His Road, the Chicago Great Western, Was Not a Party Thereto, and He Was "Importuned, Bullied and Threatened" in Order to Get His Road in the Deal—The Pool's Method of Fixing Rates Made Anarchists.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The expected explosion before the interstate commerce commission took place this morning, and the top was blown off the railroad pool, uncovering an unlawful combination. The prosecution is now confident that the investigation will end in the imposition of some large-sized fines against most of the Western roads. There has been a strong pressure under the apparent smooth surface of the present week's investigation. Yesterday when President A. B. Stickney, of the Chicago Great Western, took the stand he created a mild sensation by the disclosure of the methods of his company in outwitting the others in the handling of grain. This morning the cross-examination of Mr. Stickney was up to the expectations. He charged his fellow railroad men with inciting the present investigation to catch him in a well laid trap on the charge of rate-cutting. He turned the tables on his opponents and charged them with assailing him because he refused to pool his trade with them.

President Stickney substantiated the report of a strong pooling arrangement among the roads west of Chicago. He said that he had refused to become a party to it or turn over his surplus traffic for the benefit of the combine, and charged the roads in the pool with instigating the present inquiry for the purpose of proving him guilty of cutting rates as a penalty for his refusal to join the association. Chairman Morrison said if there were such a conspiracy he knew nothing of it, but that he was very anxious to learn of any such trap and of the details of the pool. Mr. Stickney said that the pool officers had importuned, bullied and threatened him in order to get his road into the deal. He said that the pool's method of fixing rates made anarchists for the reason that high rates were charged the farmers and low secret cut rates given to the rich grain merchants. In his evidence Mr. Stickney grew quite eloquent and his testimony was sensational throughout. He promised to produce every bit of documentary evidence in his possession that would throw light on the pool, but said it would take weeks to collect it. The commission ordered that it be forwarded to Washington.

FARM OF MYSTERY.

Man and Wife Completely Disappear and Leave no Trace.

Boise City, Idaho, Aug. 9.—It has been months since Dick Thomas and his wife mysteriously disappeared from their farm on Sinker creek, Owyhee county, and no trace of them has yet been discovered. They disappeared as completely as though the earth had opened and swallowed them.

Whether one or both were murdered and their bodies cached in some inaccessible place is as much of a mystery as it was last spring, immediately after the disappearance became known. Instead of clearing the mystery, it has deepened, and a recent attempt at murder on the Thomas ranch has placed another snarl in the already woefully tangled skein.

According to a story that reaches Boise City, an attempt was made a few days ago to murder Mrs. Murphy, a sister of Mrs. Thomas, who had been living on the Thomas farm since the disappearance of Thomas and his wife. Mrs. Murphy was hanging clothes on the line when some one, concealed in the brush near, threw a rock, striking her in the forehead, inflicting a frightful gash, and she fell to the ground as though dead. When found some time afterward, she was insensible. The officers of Owyhee have mysteries on the ranch that have but few parallels in the Northwest.

EXCITING BANKING.

How the Business Is Carried On in Arizona.

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 8.—Five men made a daring attempt to rob the International bank but were frustrated by the presence of mind and coolness of Mayor Fred Herrera, cashier of the bank. John Dessart, president of the bank, was leaving the building when three men entered, two of them armed with a pair of Colts revolvers each and the third with a Winchester rifle. One man covered the cashier with two pistols and the man with the rifle covered Dessart. The third tried to get into the vault. One man went to the back room where several men were holding a meeting and made all hold up their hands. He attracted the attention of the man who had the cashier covered and thus furnished an opportunity for the cashier to get his gun. The robbers immediately the building, mounted horses and rode off, shooting as they went. The cashier followed them into the street and emptied his gun, and it is believed he shot one of the men, as he was put on a horse by a confederate. President Dessart received a slight scalp wound and a horse in the street was shot. A posse formed quickly and stand a good chance of capturing the robbers.

William Wyatt was killed in the Katie Burnet mine at Murray, Idaho, while digging out an unexploded blast.

Series of Tragedies.

Los Angeles, Aug. 9. — William J. Relland committed the last of a series of three tragedies last night by shooting himself while watching the coroner exhume the body of a babe. Relland had been living with a Mrs. Snyder, who more recently came here from Oadotte, Wis., where her husband now lives. Mrs. Snyder died Wednesday as a result of a criminal operation said to have been performed by a prominent physician of this city. Relland brooded over the woman's death until his mind became deranged.

DOCTORS DISCUSS.

Southern Minnesota Medical Association Holds Its Annual.

Owatonna, Minn., Aug. 9.—The fifth annual meeting of the Southern Minnesota Medical association was held here to-day. The district covered by the association is that part of the state south of the Twin Cities. Owing to lateness of trains from the east many doctors were prevented from coming, so instead of eighty to a hundred expected, only about forty were present, and the programme was somewhat disarranged in consequence. The president, Dr. Charles Hill of Pine Island, delivered a thoughtful address, choosing for a theme "New Therapeutic Agents." A very strong paper was read by Dr. W. C. Eustis of Owatonna in favor of "Asexualization for the Prevention of Crime." Dr. S. W. Ransom of Dodge Center led the discussion in a well prepared paper in which he strongly opposed the idea. There seemed to be a slight majority against it. D. W. T. Adams of Elgin discussed the "Pathology of Typhoid Fever," and Dr. W. T. Wilson of Lake City, its treatment. Dr. A. W. Stinchfield of Rochester read a paper on the "Pathology of Rheumatism," and Dr. A. S. Adams of Rochester discussed its treatment. Other subjects were "Obstruction of the Bowels," by Dr. W. J. Mayo of Rochester; "Surgical Tuberculosis," by Dr. R. C. Dugan of Eyota; "Glaucoma," by Dr. C. H. Mayo of Rochester. Doctors Moore of Minneapolis and Rogers of St. Paul were also in attendance and spoke in discussions. The resident physicians tendered an elegant banquet at the Owatonna. Dr. N. S. Taft of Plainview was elected president and Dr. H. H. Witherstine of Rochester was re-elected secretary.

BA DRUNAWAY.

Minneapolis Ladies Injured and One May Die.

Minneapolis, Aug. 9.—A horrible accident occurred to-day on Nicollet avenue and Fifth street. Mrs. Victor Johnson and Mrs. Bushwhacker, residing at 1523 Winter street northeast, were sitting in their buggy in front of the Minneapolis Dry Goods store, just getting ready to start home, when a team belonging to Dr. Little, which was right behind them, without warning made a plunge and landed on top of the buggy. The vehicle was crushed and the two women were beneath the horses' feet. The infuriated animals were beyond control and plunged time and again until the buggy was made into kindling wood. They then dashed up the street. Both ladies were pulled from beneath the wreck unconscious and bleeding profusely. They were carried to the store of John W. Thomas & Co. and a doctor was sent for. Both ladies were badly lacerated about the head and arms. They were later removed to their homes. Mrs. Johnson had her collar bone broken and sustained a concussion of the brain. Dr. Lewis stated that Mrs. Johnson was very seriously injured and there was no improvement in her condition. Mrs. Bushwhacker is reported as being much improved. Her physician states that her injuries are not serious.

Large Apple Crop.

St. Paul, Aug. 9.—There will be a large crop of apples this year and they will be cheap. The commercial crop will exceed that of last year from 25 to 50 per cent. The commercial crop is that part which gets into the general market. It does not include the apples consumed locally or those that get no further than the purely local market. These statements are made on the authority of Isaac Tuck, publisher of the Fruit Trade Journal of New York, and of Richard C. Barry, of the John Barry & Sons, apple jobbers of Montreal. The two gentlemen were in St. Paul yesterday. They have come from the annual meeting of the National Apple Shippers' association, at Chicago, which was attended by leading jobbers of the country, and where the two gentlemen were able to verify their own estimates by conversations with well informed men from all parts of the country.

BLAZE AT TYLER.

Implement and Machine Warehouse and Other Buildings Destroyed.

Tyler, Minn., Aug. 9. — A. W. Magandy's large implement and machine warehouse, Peterson & Steffensen's sash and door factory, Jorgenson Bros'. blacksmith and machine shop and A. A. Evand's feed mill were all destroyed by fire to-day. There was no insurance on any of the property and the loss is total. Fred Clausen had $117 in cash burned in his trunk.

Alleged Burglars.

Austin, Minn., Aug. 9.—Sheriff Johnson has captured a couple of men who are said to have burglarized the Great Western depot at Taogi, Minn. Their names are given as Thomas Clark and John Fitzsimmons. They claim Indiana as their home.

A Cycle Failure.

Minneapolis, Aug. 9. — The S. F. Heath Cycle company, insolvent, has filed schedules of assets and liabilities which show debts of $15,386.99 and assets of $6,878.74. It owes the Irish-American bank $4,300 for money loaned.

Pretty Long Pull.

Havre, Aug. 9. — The rowboat Fox, from New York on June 6, with the two sailors, Frank Samuelson and George Harbo on board, which was sighted off Sicilly island on Aug. 1, arrived here to-day.

Removes to Illinois.

Hastings, Minn., Aug. 9.—Rev. C. E. Baker of this city has accepted a call from the First Baptist church at Woodstock, Ill., and will enter upon his duties there Sept. 1.

Forest Fires.

Stillwater, Minn., Aug. 9. — Severe forest fires are raging near Spring Brook, Wis., and Stillwater loggers fear damage to timber owned by them.

Fire at Cando.

Cando, Minn., Aug. 9.—At 2 o'clock this morning, during a severe thunder storm, lightning struck the barn of William Hayes. The barn and its contents, including twelve head of work horses, were all burned. Loss, $2,000; no insurance.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Henry Rogge was drowned in the river at St. Paul while swimming.

Gustav Von Goetzen, the well known St. Paul musician, drowned at Wasconia lake.

Gov. Clough and the National Guard will attend the state fair Tuesday, Sept. 3.

State Auditor Dunn has served notice on the managers of state institutions that they must reduce expenses.

Elmer Hoyt, a clerk in the Faribault postoffice, has been arrested of irregularity in his accounts.

Rev. J. C. Hull, formerly pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. church of St. Paul, is accused of poisoning his wife with arsenic.

Jerry Fricke, a farm hand near Hay Creek, near Red Wing, died of sunstroke. He was eighteen years old and has relatives near Menomonie, Wis.

The railroad exhibits of products grown along their lines will be very comprehensive at the Minnesota state fair this year.

Mrs. Martha Holzimer of Hampton died, aged ninety-one years. She was a pioneer resident of that town, settling there in 1863.

Joseph Gail, while attempting to board a Great Northern freight train at Anoka, made a misstep, losing one leg. His father lives at Phillips, Wis.

Eric Eckman shot and killed Daniel Clough at Randall. The crime is said to be the result of a dispute about a contract for clearing land.

Lightning struck the barn of Warren Potter & Co. at Grand Rapids, causing fire, which destroyed the barn and logging outfits. Harness and cattle were safely removed. Loss, $1,500; insured.

During a heavy storm the barn of Rev. Braedesen at Thief River Falls was struck by lightning and entirely consumed, together with all its contents, including a cow and two pigs.

The house of Thomas Brown at Montgomery was entered through the cellar while the family were all asleep, and ransacked from cellar to garret. Little was taken, however.

William Hiederbrandt, a farmer living a few miles from Northfield, lost a large barn by fire, together with two cows and farming implements. Loss about $800. Insured.

Prof. N. J. McArthur of Minneapolis has been elected superintendent of the Le Sueur high school for the coming year. Prof. McArthur has been assistant in the Albert Lea schools for the past year.

A tramp helped himself to three shirts in T. W. Sheeley's store at Montgomery and made a rush to get away. He was captured and the goods recovered. He was sent to the county jail for twenty days.

Frank Savalding, a cook at the County Seat hotel at Bagley's dam, in Beltrami county, was held up by a footpad to the tune of $34. The footpad had two comrades, who joined him shortly afterward on the road to Fosston.

The death of another old settler occurred at Litchfield. George S. Sholes, Jr., who settled in Meeker county in 1857, died of consumption. He had held the office of sheriff and other positions of trust. His wife and three married daughters survive him.

Thaddeus Shrader of Decatur, Ill., who went to Madison two weeks ago in hope of benefiting his health, is dead. He was twenty-four years old. His father and sister, who have been traveling with him from Texas to California for some years, were with him.

The boilers in James Quirk & Co.'s flour mills at Montgomery exploded, killing Engineer John Boodash and wrecking the mill. The excitement caused William R. Miller, who has been insane, to become violent, and he attempted to take his own life by cutting an artery in his arm.

At Willmar recently two strangers were held up by tramps, one in the Great Northern yards was struck on the head with a revolver and deprived of a few dollars. The other in the west part of the city was knocked unconscious and deprived of a watch and a sum of money.

Joseph Fell, an aged Bohemian of Hayward township, near Albert Lea, arose the other morning and complained of not feeling well. His wife went into the field to tell a son, and when she returned the old man had expired, heart disease, no doubt, being the cause.

A tramp giving his name as John White was arrested at Glenwood on the charge of attempt to criminally assault the seven-year-old daughter of Charles Herron. He was tried before Justice Thorson and bound over to await the action of the grand jury, which does not convene until December.

John Stieve, a milkman of Appleton, suffered serious injuries in a peculiar way. He was leading a cow by a rope when the animal gave a lunge, jerking him to the ground and dragging him a short distance, breaking his collar bone and his arm. As Mr. Stieve is seventy years of age the injuries may prove fatal.

John Kuisle, residing eight miles north of Chatfield, was babbitting a box on a piece of farm machinery yesterday afternoon, when the metal exploded. The burning stuff struck him squarely in the face and destroyed his right eye completely and he may lose the other one also. It is supposed that the box contained water and that the explosion resulted thereby.

Deputy Game Warden Hewitt of Columbia Heights, Anoka county, assisted by several deputies, determined to stop the unlawful shooting of game in that district. As the result of his labors he captured three Minneapolis hunters, together with several chickens. They gave their names as James Treat, John Lingren, Joe Prince and are supposed to be running a blacksmith shop at New Brighton.

A sad drowning accident occurred at Alexander, a summer resort about twenty miles northwest of Little Falls. The victim was Ralph Pond, aged thirteen years, who was in bathing with one companion. The boy could not swim and got into deep water and sank before his companion could reach him. The unfortunate boy's parents live at Appleton, Wis., and he was spending the summer with his sister, Mrs. J. M. Tuttle.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday.$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..........$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year.......... $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year.......... $1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

TO—

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the post-office at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN,
of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON,
of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STERBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives { S. J. LEE Norman Co.
W. A. MARIN, Polk Co

THE GRIP OF GOLD.

During the week of March 10 last the following appeared in the London Financial News. This was previous to the national political conventions in the United States. Since this article was published, McKinley and Hobart have been nominated on a goldbug platform, and it consequently becomes very interesting. Here is what the Financial News said last March:

"The financial situation in the United States is very serious. The senate has blocked all relief measures proposed by President Cleveland, and congress is at a dead standstill on the money question. The free coinage senators are masters of the situation. The condition of affairs in the United States congress demand the immediate attention of British financiers and statesmen. The trade of the world is now in our hands, but it will not long remain there if the United States goes to a bimetallic basis with free and unlimited coinage of silver. With the addition of silver to the volume of money, everything in America would take on a new face; labor and industry would gain new life. The grip of the gold standard on the products of the world would be loosened and prices would rise. Great Britain would lose her markets in South America, Asia and Europe, and American ships would not be long in capturing the carrying trade of the world.

"British creditors must now apply themselves quickly to the American money problem. The sound money men and banking interests, led by Senator Sherman, Cleveland and Carlisle, with a plentiful supply of means, have been beaten. The American people are now thoroughly aroused and educated on the power and use of money, and made desperate by debt and business depression, they are forcing free silver as the main issue. Great Britain need fear no injury to her trade or investments if the Republican party can force 'protection tariff' as the main issue in the coming presidential campaign, but if free silver dominates the American mind and carries at the polls it will bring about a change in England that will be ruinous from its suddenness and severity. The damage that can be done British manufacturers by a protective tariff is slight compared with the disasters that would be entailed by a change from a single gold to a complete bimetallic standard. It is evident that the Democratic party will not renominate a man who holds to President Cleveland's ideas on money, and the only hope for a continuation of Mr. Cleveland's financial policy will be in the success of the Republicans in the next election.

"The success of free coinage will bring down the rate of interest on money, and cause an immediate rise in the price of all commodities. When silver becomes primary money the American mines will pour their products into the mints, and a new era similar to that produced by the issue of greenbacks during the civil war will begin. Gold will leave the banks and enter into competition with silver in the avenues of trade, and the manufactories of the United States, which have been shut down or crippled since 1892, will again resume their fight for the English markets.

"It is doubtful whether the Republican party can be held much longer in check by sound money statesmen as its adherents are divided by powerful factions. The Democratic party is also breaking up under the weight of the free silver agitation. It matters not to Great Britain which party succeeds if the gold standard is maintained, but either of the old parties or a new party which goes into power pledged to free coinage will be inimical and prejudicial to English manufactories and trade. The American people cling with wonderful tenacity to party organizations, but financial embarrasment and business stagnation has become too severe for their patience, and they are ready for any change that promises relief. They are becoming convinced that it cannot be found in the protection theory, as that has been tried, and they are massing now on free silver. When that issue comes fairly before the American people, England will regret her apathy and adherence to the single gold standard."

Champions of "Honest" Finance.

When the people ask for the restoration of the American bimetallic standard, they are called "anarchists and repudiators." Those who make these violent charges call themselves champions of "honest" finance. When the banks and their organs thus indict the rank and file of the people as "dishonest" supporters of dishonest finance, it is fair that the record of those who make these charges be examined. The Penny Press will not refer to the late banker's panic, in which the people were robbed of hundreds of millions of hard earnings by dishonest financial institutions, because this dishonesty was not general, but individual. But let us take a more general and typical test. The tax rolls of the state furnish such a test of honest and patriotism. The reports of the state tax and assessment officials furnish a basis on which one may judge what classes are true and loyal in their protestations of honest and patriotic dealings with the public.

According to the grand totals of all the counties of the state the report of the banks to the assessors and auditor of Minnesota, there are just $1,422,419 of bank moneys and $531,158 of bank credits in the state of Minnesota.

Let us see. The dogs of Minnesota, over six months old, are assessed at $429,497, the watches and clocks at $575,651, the sewing machines at $664,242, the pianos at $1,276,810—and all the notes and mortgages and other credits of the banks at just $531,158!

Let us look again. The yearling calves of Minnesota are assessed at $965,242 and the two-year-olds at $1,727,572—and all the "moneys of banks, bankers, brokers or stock jobbers" are assessed at $1,422,419!

How is this for honest finance? How is this for honesty and patriotism in dealing with the public? And this is the sworn valuation of the bankers and brokers of Minnesota. The above is the sworn valuation made to the state of Minnesota by those who call the people "anarchists" and "repudiationists" because they favor the restoration of the time-honored system of American bimetallism.

The housewives and musicians and seamstresses are assessed at $2,371,747 on sewing machines, pianos and organs! while the bankers and brokers are taxed on only $1,953,577 for all their moneys and credits. This proves that the housewives, musicians and seamstresses are in practice truer disciples of honest finance in supporting state and local government, than the boasted preachers of honest finance in the banking institutions. When those who preach honest finance so lustily begin to practice it in their dealings with the public, the latter will have more confidence in the preaching.

Look over the above table in detail. All the moneys in the banks of Minneapolis are only $92,075, as against $354,167 in pianos in this town, and $94,369 in sewing machines.

In St. Paul banks the total amount of assessed moneys in 1894 was just $39,005, as against $81,144 in sewing machines; and all the bank credits were $17,847, as against $385,185 in pianos. Ramsey county is not much of an agricultural county, but its cows are taxed for more than all its bank moneys and credits.

Hennepin county is not a great county on farming, but the farms are assessed at $222,928 on cows, as against $92,075 which the banks are assessed on moneys.

According to the sworn statements of Twin City bankers, there are less moneys and credits in the banks of St. Paul and Minneapolis than in the banks of such agricultural counties as Meeker, Polk, Scott, Stearns and Wright.

Meeker county is assessed at $135,824 for bank moneys, as against $131,000 for the great metropolises of Minneapolis and St. Paul combined.

Polk county, located up among the wheat fields of the Red River valley, has $131,402 of bank moneys, just the same as all the banks of the Twin Cities, and six times as much as in the banks of St. Paul, the home of that great exponent of Republican "honest money," Hon. W. R. Merriam, president of the Merchants National.

Stearns has $153,700 of bank moneys—seven times as much as St. Paul—and Wright has $75,000, which is about 60 per cent of the assessed bank moneys of the Twin Cities.

In bank credits, including notes and mortgages, Ramsey county, or St. Paul, is assessed at less than the farming counties of Brown, or Chisago, or Dakota, or Douglas, or Fillmore, or Goodhue, or Kandiyohi, or Nobles, or Watonwan. Just think what little banking business Banker Merriam's town does.—Penny Press.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Fall Examinations.

The examinations of candidates for teacher's certificates will be held as follows:

August 18th and 19th, Fisher, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls.

August 21st and 22nd, Fosston and Crookston.

September 24th and 25th, East Grand Forks and Fertile.

EXAMINATIONS FOR FIRST GRADE CERTIFICATES.

Crookston, August 20th, 21st, and 22d.

East Grand Forks, September 24th, 25th, and 26th.

Examinations begin promptly at 9 a. m.

1-3 O. McCRILLIS, Co. Supt.

THE TALE OF TWO COINS.

They Were In Jeff Davis' Possession When He Was Captured.

General Nathan Church, the Michigan representative of the quartet of old staff officers, who rose from captain to colonel of the famous Twenty-sixth Michigan, and then to assistant adjutant general and chief of staff under General Miles, showed with much pride while in Washington a $5 goldpiece that has a wonderful history. When General Church's regiment was to be mustered out in 1865, General Miles requested the war department to allow him to retain his chief of staff in the service, which request was granted, and for six months after his regiment had gone home and until he declined to remain longer General Church was with General Miles at Fort Monroe, their principal duty being to guard their distinguished prisoner of war, Jefferson Davis.

When captured, Mr. Davis had in his pocket the goldpiece in question and a Mexican silver dollar. General Church procured other similar pieces and effected an exchange for the two found in Mr. Davis' pocket. He retained the goldpiece and gave the dollar to Major Black, the Dakota member of the four who were present at the recent exercises, and who had been his tent mate. A few months thereafter Major Black was showing his famous dollar at an evening gathering, passing it from one to another, when it suddenly disappeared, and he has ever since mourned for his lost treasure.

General Church had better luck, however, with his goldpiece, and, while he occasionally exhibited it to his friends, carried it as a much prized pocket piece for 25 years, when he suddenly discovered that he had unintentionally paid it out instead of another similar piece of money he carried with it, but to whom he had not the slightest recollection. He promptly directed the cashier of his bank to lay aside any $5 goldpieces bearing the date of 1857 that might pass through his hands in the course of business, thinking there might be possibly one chance in a million that the valuable keepsake would some time make its appearance. Six weeks afterward an old farmer dropped in and made a small deposit, when the cashier said to Mr. Church, "Here, see if that's the goldpiece you are looking for." He took it and was overjoyed to find the distinguishing marks he had placed upon the coin when it first left Mr. Davis' pocket and found its way to his own. Since then the precious piece has been kept carefully wrapped and safely secured against another disappearance.

While in Paris five or six years ago General Church was a guest one evening at the home of a wealthy family who had formerly resided in New York. In some way the hostess learned that he had helped to guard Mr. Davis while he was a prisoner of war, and she said, with much apparent satisfaction, "I have a Mexican dollar that was taken from Mr. Davis' pocket at that time, which I value very highly."

Without betraying the anxiety he felt, Mr. Church asked when and where she obtained it and was told that it had had been presented to the late President Andrew Johnson while he occupied the White House, and that she being his near relative it had fallen to her on the distribution of his valuables after President Johnson's death. General Church had no opportunity or inclination then to explain what he knew of the old relic, but he has now had an opportunity to personally tell Major Black where his long lost dollar is, and he, too, may, like General Church, come in due time into possession of his own.—Washington Post.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

—[d] A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	5.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.10
5 " 35	5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 28	5.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE,

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞ Warehouse on railroad track. : : : : : : : : :

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

LIND IS CHOSEN

Named for Governor by Acclamation by the Democrats of Minnesota.

Heinrichs of Hennepin for Secretary and Alex McKinnon for Treasurer.

Populists Will Endorse Them and Name the Remainder of the Ticket.

Sensation of the Convention the Ousting of Committeeman Lawler.

THE TICKET NAMED.

Governor - - - - John Lind
Brown County.
Secretary of State - Julius Heinrichs
Hennepin County.
Treasurer - - - Alex McKinnon
Polk County.
Electors—John Day Smith - Hennepin
H. L. Bonnewell - - McLeod
Charles d'Autremont St. Louis
Wilson Borst - Cottonwood
J. H. Ives - - - Ramsey

Nominations for lieutenant governor and attorney general were left open and will be filled by Populists.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 5.—The Democratic state convention, as predicted, nominated Hon John Lind for governor and came out flatfooted for the free coinage of silver. Julius Heinrichs of Minneapolis was nominated for secretary of state and Alex McKinnon of Crookston for treasurer. No nominations were made for lieutenant governor or attorney general, as these offices are to be filled by the Populist convention.

HON. JOHN LIND.

The sensation of the convention was the unseating of National Committeeman Lawler, J. J. McCafferty and F. W. M. Cutcheon, prominent gold Democrats of Ramsey county, because of their announced intention to not support Bryan for president. A hard fight was made against this action, but the roll call showed that two-thirds of the delegates favored it. Mr. Lawler was also deposed as national committeeman and T. D. O'Brien of St. Paul given the position.

FOR SILVER AND BRYAN.

Convention Loudly Cheered Their Mention by the Chairman.

It was 11:15 when Chairman McDermott called the convention to order and declared that this was the freest convention ever held in Minnesota. When he got as far as "free" he was loudly cheered in expectation of the word "silver." But it did not come. Mr. McDermott approached his climax with great adroitness, so when he sprung the name of Bryan he brought down the house.

The reading of the call was dispensed with, and T. D. O'Brien nominated E. T. Champlin for temporary chairman, referring to the fact of Mr. Mr. Champlin's turn down at the last convention, when the gold men held the reins. Seconds came thick and fast, and Mr. Champlin was elected by acclamation. T. D. O'Brien, Judge Rea and Mr. Rosing escorted Mr. Champlin to the platform, and he accepted the honor in a befitting speech.

The Party of the People.

The Democratic party, he said, was the party of the people, and it was with pride that he announced that he was a Democrat. He predicted the triumphant success of the Democratic ticket and declared that the last Democratic congress had made a gallant stand for the interests of the people in the repeal of the "infamous" McKinley bill and the force bill. It would be a long time, he said, before a Republican congress would pass such legislation.

Mr. Champlin argued for silver and charged criminal practices in the enactment of the demonetization law. The audience held its breath for a moment when the newly elected chairman who sat immediately in front of him, for his alleged party disloyalty. He did not name Mr. Lawler, but every one realized the subject of the remark when he said that "the men who had raised the banner of treason in the Democratic party must remember that no one man is greater than the party." There was loud and prolonged applause at this thrust and there were a few cries of "Lawler" and "Hit him again."

Took a Rap at Dan Lawler,

John F. Stone of Pine and C. A. Quist of Hennepin were chosen as secretaries and the usual motions for committees were made and carried.

M. J. McGrath moved the appointment of a committee of seven by the chair to confer with the Populist state committee in regard to a joint ticket and the committee was named. The convention took a recess at 12:40.

GOLD MEN OUSTED.

Convention Unseats a Trio of Ramsey County Delegates.

There was a little preliminary routine at the opening of the afternoon session, and then the convention got down to business by hearing the report of the committee on credentials. It was proposed to dispense with the reading of the list of names, but ex-Mayor d'Autremont of Duluth at once took the floor, saying "We want to know our delegates and whether they stand for Bryan and 16 to 1. The flag of rebellion and revolt has been raised and we want to know about those men who aren't with us." There was a murmur of assent and the report was read until Ramsey county had been passed. J. T. Bowditch then took the platform, and presented the following as an amendment:

Your committee would move to amend the report by striking therefrom the names of Dan Lawler, Frank W. M. Cutchoon and Judge McCafferty.

Gold Delegates Not Wanted.

This step was advised because the men named were gold delegates. Delegate Baker of Ramsey denied the right of the convention to oust delegates who had been properly chosen, as was the case with those in question. Frank W. M. Cutcheon was allowed to take the platform for a speech, but when he said he feared for the country if the free coinage idea prevailed he was cried down and had to leave the platform. Chairman Buckley of the Ramsey county delegation demanded a roll call on the motion to declare the three delegates named unseated, and the roll call resulted in the adoption of the motion by a vote of 531 to 201. There was a regular riot during the roll call, and sergeants-at-arms had to be called on to secure order.

The report of the committee on organization that the temporary organization be made permanent was adopted.

A. T. Ankeny, from the committee resolutions, reported the following platform which was adopted.

THE PLATFORM.

Endorses Bryan and Sewall and the Chicago Declaration of Principles.

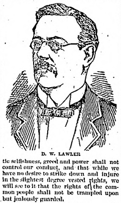
The Democracy of the state of Minnesota in convention assembled hereby reaffirms the platform recently adopted at Chicago and hereby approves its selection of candidates, Bryan and Sewall, for the high offices of president and vice president.

We further denounce the platform of the Republican party on the all absorbing issue of the day, namely, honest money. It professes to favor bimetallism, yet it proposes to submit the question to other leading nations, when it well knows that those nations are solidly in favor of the continuation of the present gold standard. The question, therefore, now before the people is whether we shall be obliged to remain on the gold standard, with all its destructive tendencies, or whether we shall follow the traditional policy of the United States and hold both gold and silver to be the standard money of our people, freely coined on the old legal ratio of 16 to 1. On this all important question we earnestly invite the coöperation of every citizen who is anxious for the future prosperity of the country.

Regarding State Affairs.

We demand that the policy, which for the past 38 years has controlled the legislation of our state and the administration of its institution and affairs, be now changed. Wrongs older than a generation remain to be redeemed. No state can ever prosper which commits for so long a period its affairs to the same political party. We now congratulate the people that this long period of misgovernment is about to end and that the people are now ready to resume their right of honest government and the reform of all abuses.

We denounce the Republican party of the state for its subserviency to corporations, rings and trusts, and its total disregard of the great producing masses—the middle classes, the common people, farmers, mechanics and laboring men. We hold that these latter classes should receive the fair and first consideration of the legislative and executive powers of the state. We pledge the people, if given the authority, that corporate and monopolistic selfishness, greed and power shall not control our conduct, and that while we have no desire to strike down and injure in the slightest degree vested rights, we will see to it that the rights of the common people shall not be trampled upon but jealously guarded.



D. W. LAWLER

Demand a Free Ballot.

The ballot is the weapon of American freemen, and the sacredness of the ballot can only be preserved by its secrecy. We unqualifiedly condemn all efforts of corporate or private employers to enquire into or investigate and uncover the true sentiments of the voting employes, thus by a covert threat challenging his vote and neutralizing his influence and making him tributary to interests which may be opposed to the interests of the people.

The constitution provides that taxation of property shall be as nearly equal as possible. We therefore demand that iron mines and unused railroad lands be required to pay a fair and just tax in the same manner that other property is taxed.

We are furthermore opposed to the struck jury law and demand its repeal.

We demand an amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for the election of president, vice president and United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

We favor legislation looking to the construction and maintenance of good roads in the state of Minnesota.

O'BRIEN AS COMMITTEEMAN

National Democratic Committee Asked to Give Him Lawler's Place.

Mr. d'Autremont of Duluth offered a resolution endorsing the selection of T. D. O'Brien as a member of the executive committee of the national Democratic committee, and asking the national committee to declare Mr. Lawler's place vacant and confer it upon Mr. O'Brien. Mr. Matt Gallagher offered a substitute simply ousting Mr. Lawler, but it was voted down and the d'Autremont resolution adopted. Mr. O'Brien made a neat speech of thanks.

H. J. Peck of Shokopee presented the conference committee's report favoring John Lind for governor, and the nomination of treasurer and secretary of state by the Democrats, leaving lieutenant governor and attorney general to be selected by the Populists. The electoral ticket was also to be divided, four being chosen here, four by the Populists and one by the Silverites.

Donnelly Endorses Fusion.

Ignatius Donnelly was at this time given a hearing and made a characteristic speech in support of the proposed fusion. Without further debate the report of the committee on conference was adopted.

J. W. Griffin, chairman of the bimetallic organization, announced that the Silverites wanted John Day Smith of Minneapolis nominated as a presidential elector.

O. d'Autremont moved the appointment of a committee of seven to select electors, and the following were chosen as such committee: Senator R. O. Craig, Waseca; W. S. Comstock, Mankato; R. H. McClelland, Glencoe; Byron I. Mosier, Stillwater; C. M. Foote, Minneapolis; Harry Hawkins, Cloquet, and Alex McKinnon, Crookston.

THE NOMINATIONS.

Lind Named for Governor by Acclamation.

A motion that John Lind be nominated for governor by acclamation was made and carried amid great applause. A committee of notification to join with a similar committee from the Populist convention was named as follows: John P. Rea, Frank L. Randall, T. D. O'Brien, E. C. Gridley, Henry Timmerman.

For secretary of state Julius J. Heinrichs of Minneapolis, A. Bierman of Rochester and Alex McKinnon of Crookston, were named, but the sentiment became so clear that Bierman and McKinnon were withrawn and Heinrichs nominated by a rising vote.

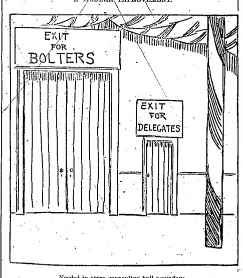
For treasurer George Geissell of Morrison and Alex McKinnon were presented and a roll call became necessary, resulting: Geissell, 156; McKinnon, 545.

Closing Acts of the Convention.

The state central committee, to be appointed, was clothed with plenary powers to put the names of the Populist nominees on the ticket and the following list of electors was presented: John Day Smith of Hennepin, H. H. Bonnewell of McLeod, Charles d'Autremont of St. Louis, Wilson Borst of Cottonwood and John H. Ives of Ramsey.

The proceedings closed with the announcement of the state committee as follows: Byron J. Mosier, Stillwater; Thomas J. McDermott, E. J. Schurmeier, St. Paul; J. H. Johnson, Winona; M. Breslauer, Lars M. Rand, Minneapolis; Joseph Roach, Northfield; Henry Himmerman, Jr., Mankato; Frank Zins, St. Cloud; J. W. Craven, Carver; Tim O'Connor, Renville; H. T. Tolsare, Spring Valley; C. H. Stanton, Appleton; Dan C. Brownell, Luverne; John R. McKinnon, Crookston; E. O. Kiley, Itasca; J. W. Eddy, Stevens.

A MODERN IMPROVEMENT.



Needed in every convention hall nowadays.

WANTED TO DETAIN HER.

Miss Charles Had an Interesting Experience in Cuba.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Miss Cecilia Charles arrived on the steamer Washington from Havana, from whence she escaped with some difficulty, as the authorities desired to detain her. Miss Charles is somewhat known to fame as a writer on Spanish-American topics and an ardent sympathizer with the Cuban insurrection. She went to Havana about two months ago with the object of studying the situation in the eastern part of the island.

She carried with her letters of introduction to some of the best families in Cuba and accordingly had a most cordial reception and was treated with great courtesy. After spending two weeks in Havana she took a trip to the country to see the famous trocha erected to check the movement of the insurgents, where she met General Bayas, who has just been reported killed, and with whom she had a very interesting interview. On her return to the city (Havana) Miss Charles spent a day in the Cuban prison. There she visited the Competitor prisoners and encountered various interesting experiences. As a result of her activity, the authorities became suspicious, and an order was issued for her detention as an emissary of the revolutionary party in the United States. Miss Charles succeeded in evading the order of arrest by escaping from the rear of a house in the suburbs of Havana, walking many miles in a blazing sun without food or drink for 24 hours, not having had time to change her clothing when she sailed.

TAKES TWO TO QUARREL.

A San Francisco Editor Accuses Ex-Marshal Naegel of Trying to Kill Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—David Naegel, ex-United States marshal, who killed David Terry seven years ago while acting as a bodyguard to Justice Field of the United States supreme court, became involved in a serious altercation will James H. Barry, editor of the Star, a weekly paper of a strong anti-corporation policy. In the latest issue of the Star was published a biography of Naegel in which the latter's record and character was severely criticized. The two men met on Montgomery street. Pointing to the article in the Star, Naegel demanded: "Did you put that in?"

"I not only put it in, but I wrote it, replied Barry."

"Then take this," said Naegel, spitting four times in Barry's face. With his hand in his own hip pocket, Naegel then said: "Now fill your hand."

Barry said: "I have been warned you would try to kill me. You are armed and I am not."

Bystanders interfered and separated the men before any blows could be exchanged.

In an interview subsequently, Barry stated he had been warned Naegel would endeavor to provoke a quarrel, and upon the slightest provocation, shoot him, having witnesses near by who would testify that the shooting was justifiable.

Vermont Gold Democrats.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Aug. 6.—The state conference of gold standard Democrats was held here during the day. W. H. Cramer was selected as the Vermont representative at the Indianapolis conference and a committee was appointed to carry out the suggestions of that conference.

Sovereignty of Brazil.

LISBON, Aug. 6.—It is again stated here in the newspapers that Great Britain has recognized the sovereignty of Brazil over the island of Trinidad, off the coast of Brazil. Similar statements were made in February last and have been repeated at intervals.

Sewall Will Be Present.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—It was announced at the Democratic headquarters in the Bartholdi hotel that Mr. Sewall would be present at the meeting at Madison Square Garden on the 12th when William J. Bryan will be formally notified of his nomination.

Killed in a Freight Wreck.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 6.—Two men were killed and another fatally injured in a freight wreck on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad six miles west of Shamokin.

Fire in Wheat Fields.

MONTROSE, Minn., Aug. 6.—Fire burned 60 acres of wheat in shock on the farm of W. H. and Sherman Stacy, near this place.

NONE ARE BETTER

Wisconsin Republicans Sound on Money, the Tariff and McKinley,

According to the Statements of Mr. Lamoreaux, Temporary Chairman.

An Interesting Fight in Michigan Over the Gubernatorial Nomination.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 6.—What promises to be the most exciting and interesting political convention ever held in the state was called to order at noon in the Exposition building by Chairman E. D. Coe of the Republican state central committee. The weather is insufferably hot, but when the gavel fell the big auditorium was packed to the doors.

Chairman Coe immediately introduced O. A. Lamoreaux of Ashland, who had been chosen temporary chairman of the convention. Mr. Lamoreaux was greeted with cheers and addressed the convention.

Sound on Everything.

Mr. Lamoreaux claimed for the Republicans of the Badger state the credit of having first advocated the nomination of McKinley. He said no better or truer Republicans are to be found than those who make up the party in Wisconsin, for they are sound on the money question, sound on the tariff, and sound for William McKinley.

He charges the Democratic party with having brought about the present period of industrial distress by its mistaken policy of free trade. The free silverites have seized the opportunity to shout for free silver and to lay the blame for all this stagnation to a lack of free coinage of silver and scarcity of money. The moment that any uncertainty arises as to a possible change in the monetary system of a country the volume of business diminished; credit is only extended upon the best of security; confidence is destroyed; money is hoarded and general depression follows. It is this contraction of confidence, of credit, which causes the tight money markets and panics, not the lack of money.

Ninety-two per cent of the trade of this country is transacted upon credit, instruments of one kind and another actual money is used in only 8 per cent. This constant agitation of the free silver question has undoubtedly of the people, and it has resulted in the contraction of credit. But this condition of affairs has only been made possible by reason of the tearing down of the protective tariff and reciprocity system established by the Republican party. The present demand for the free coinage of silver is but another cheap money scheme of which the world has seen many, all of which have ended as would this, in disaster and ruin. The experience of ages has demonstrated beyond a doubt that gold is the best of all metals for a money standard. It is less liable to fluctuate in value. It is found in quantities sufficient to satisfy the demand. It will last forever. Nothing is lost in the process of reducing and dividing, and in short it is the one metal: which seems to exactly meet all requirements, Nearly every metal has at some time in the world's history been used as money standard, but nearly all have been found lacking in some important requisite and have given way to gold.

Added to the General Alarm

Ready to Meet the Crisis.

"Coming as I do from an iron-producing section of the country," continued Mr. Lamoreaux, "I have no doubt that our people would favor the free and unlimited coinage of iron at some arbitrary ratio, and there would be about as much reason in such a demand as there is in the demand of the free silverite for the free coinage of silver at a 16 to 1 ratio. The Republican party is ready to meet this crisis with the fortitude and patriotism which has ever characterized its action in the past."

The forecast of the nomination for governor is plainly between the leaders of the race, Major Schofield and Robert M. LaFollette.

At the conclusion of Mr. Lambreaux's speech, a call of congressional districts was made for the names of those agreed upon in the caucus of each district for membership upon the committees on permanent organization and resolutions. The convention then adjourned until 8 p. m.

MICHIGAN REPUBLICANS.

Interesting Fight Between Pingree and the Machine.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 6.—Not for a dozen years has a Republican state convention in Michigan been attended with so much excitement, enthusiasm and noise as the one now in session. The town is full of candidate boomers. Not a quarter of them can get into the hall, which at the fall of the chairman's gavel, contained a sweltering, perspiring mass of 5,000 people. The chief interest attaches to the contest for the gubernatorial nomination. H. S. Pingree, the picturesque mayor of Detroit, originator of the Pingree potato scheme for utilizing vacant city lots for the poor, and foe of the corporations and enemy of the machine, has for the second time made a determined onslaught upon its governorship

Some of His Opponents.

Opposing him are Colonel A. T. Bliss, Saginaw; ex-Congressman James O'Donnell of Jackson; A. O. Wheeler of Manistee and D. D. Aitkin. Arrayed against Pingree also is the influence of the state Republican machine. The machine candidate is said to be Bliss, although this is denied. The situation at the opening of the convention is involved in the greatest doubt. Pingree has undoubtedly the lead but will not have a majority on the first ballot. Close after him is Bliss, who is confident of winning.

D. M. Ferry, chairman of the state central committee, called the convention to order at 11 o'clock, Rev. John L. Jackson made the opening prayer, and Victor M. Gore of Benton Harbor, was made temporary chairman.

Although Michigan is supposed to be a strong free silver state, it is expected that the St. Louis platform will be emphatically endorsed.

THE OSAGE ELECTION.

Candidate of the Half Breeds or Progressive Element Elected.

PAWHUSKIE, I. T., Aug. 6.—Saucy Chief, candidate of the half breeds, has been elected chief or governor of the Osage Nation, after one of the most hotly contested elections in years. The half breeds also claim the election of a majority of the council, among whom will be John Palmer, a prominent progressionist. This election marks an epoch in the affairs of the Osages, as the government of the nation will pass into the hands of the progressive element, who favor taking allotments and becoming citizens of the United States.

Li Hung Chang's First Secretary.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 6.—Won On Pong, first secretary of the Chinese chancellor, Li Hung Chang, accompanied by an interpreter and body servant, arrived in this city from Victoria en route to San Francisco, then to Washington. Won On Pong is a very handsome man, standing nearly six feet tall and weighing about 200 pounds. He declined to state the object of his visit to this country as it is against the rules of the imperial government and the wishes of the chancellor.

MONTANA REPUBLICANS.

Agreement Reached Between Free Silver and McKinley Men.

BUTTE, Mon., Aug. 6.—On invitation of Senator Lee Mantle, chairman of the state Republican central committee, representative members of the party to the number of several hundred were in secret conference here all day and late into the night, discussing the political situation and the advisability of putting McKinley electors into the field next fall.

The conference was not in session half an hour before it was manifest that there was a strong sentiment against the action of Senator Mantle and Congressman Hartman in declaring for Bryan, and rather bitter things were said by ex-Senators Sanders and Powers in speeches made by them. Powers accused Mantle of having packed the conference, and the feeling on both sides became so strong that an adjournment was taken until 9 o'clock.

During the recess a compromise was reached to the effect that when the state convention meets the state ticket will first be nominated, and then the silver Republicans will draw out of the convention, leaving the gold men to put up the McKinley electors. This will give the bolting Republicans a chance to remain with the party organization, and will also keep the organization intact in the state. The compromise was agreed to at the evening session of the conference.

Minnesota Gold Democrats.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 6.—Fifteen of the 19 members of the state central committee of the Minnesota sound money Democrats were present at the first meeting of that body in the New York Life building. The executive committee was directed to proceed with the organization of the sound money Democrats throughout the state, and to form county committees and organize clubs wherever it was deemed necessary.

Congressman Hull Renominated.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 5.—Captain J. T. Hull was renominated for congress from the Des Moines district, the convention being held in Winterset.

Was a Son of President Abbott.

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—A dispatch received at the Boston agency of the Wisconsin Central railroad from Laggan, B. C., stated that Philip S. Abbott, assistant attorney of the company, was fatally injured yesterday by falling over a precipice. Mr. Abbott was a son of President Edwin H. Abbott of the Wisconsin Central and lived in Milwaukee where his office is. He was well known in Boston.

Spanish Populace Aroused.

VALENCIA, Spain, Aug. 6.—There has been considerable excitement here recently occasioned by popular demonstrations against the action of the government in sending additional troops to Cuba. A number of people have been arrested for attempting by force to prevent the soldiers from embarking on board the Spanish transports.

Great Storms in Nicaragua.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A dispatch to The Herald from San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, says the captain of the steamer Costa Rica, which has arrived here from El Rama, reports that heavy floods have occurred at that place, destroying houses and plantations, and causing great loss of life. The Nicaraguan government is trying to reopen communication so as to confirm the report.

Indians Declared Not Guilty.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 5.—Aimaisis and Lucky Bear, the Indians who were brought back from Montana and placed on trial for complicity in the Frog Lake massacre, during the rebellion of 1885, have been acquitted by the authorities at Regina.

Senator Davis Speaks.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 5.—Senator C. K. Davis opened the campaign for the Republicans in Minnesota in this city last night. The meeting was held at Market hall and was well attended.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Of the Board of County Commissioners Held at an Adjourned Meeting July 22d, 1896.

Proceeding of adjourned meeting of the board of commissioners of Polk county.

The board of commissioners of Polk county met pursuant to adjournment, July 22d 1896, with all members present.

Moved and carried that action on the ditch petition of Frank Cernousek et al, be deferred until July 25th 1896, at 2 o'clock p. m.

On motion the following order was made in compliance with the petition of P. H. Wermager, et al.

Moved and carried that an order appointing viewers be made on the petition of P. H. Wermager and others as follows:

An order accepting petition and appointing viewers in the matter of the construction of a county ditch through and in the town of Russia, Hammond and Fairfax was made and adopted as follows:

The petition of P. H. Wermager and others for a county ditch to be established and constructed through and in the towns of Russia, Hammond and Fairfax having been filed with the county auditor of said county, and the said petition having been brought before the board for a hearing, and the board being satisfied that notice of the hearing on said petition has been posted in three of the most public places in each of said towns more than thirty days prior to the 13th day of July 1896, the date of the hearing thereon and the proper bond having been filed and approved and the board being satisfied that said proposed ditch will be of public benefit and utility and conducive to public health, convenience and welfare, do hereby accept said petition and appoint A. M. Hanson, C. C. Ostby and Noe Brosseau, who are resident freeholders of said Polk county and are not interested in the construction of said ditch and not of kin to any parties interested, to meet on the 23d day of July 1896, at the court house in the city of Crookston, Minn., to commence their duties as such viewers as prescribed by law, and after completing their duties as such viewers, to make and file their report with the county auditor of said county, on or before the 15th day of September, 1896.

Dated July 22, 1896.

By the Board. ANTHON LINDEM,
Chairman.

Attest: JOHN GLEASON,
County Auditor.

The application of A. M. Childs for abatement of taxes was on motion referred to the state auditor for his approval.

The following resolution, offered by Com. Norland, was on motion adopted and order made accordingly:

Resolved, That the petition of John Clementson, et al, asking for the organization of township 147, range 47, be and the same is hereby granted, and it is ordered that said town shall be named "Scandia" and that the first town meeting shall be held at the school house in school district No. 211, on the 13th day of August, A D. 1896, the boundaries of said proposed town to be the same as those of the congressional township 147, range 47.

In the matter of the petition of Frank J. Cernousek, et al, for a ditch through towns of Tabor, Northland and Esther, a hearing was had and the following order made:

In the matter of the petition of F. J. Cernousek and others for a ditch in the county of Polk, state of Minnesota.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
County of Polk. }

Whereas, A petition bearing date the 13th day of June 1896, signed by F. J. Cernousek, Joseph Dostal, M. Staska, Frank Madera, John Slonek, Andrew Palya, V. Kopecky, Frank Slonek and others praying for the establishment of a certain ditch in said county, the route of which is more fully described in said petition, and a proper bond accompanying the same, has been filed with the county auditor of said county, as by law required;

And Whereas, It appears, by satisfactory proof to the Board of County Commissioners of Polk county, that at least thirty (30) days' notice of the pendency of said petition, and the time and place at which the same would be heard, has been given as required by law;

And Whereas, Said Board has determined that the construction of such ditch as proposed in said petition will be of public benefit or utility, or conducive to the public health, convenience or welfare;

Now, Therefore, We, the Board of County Commissioners of said county, at a regular session held this day, do hereby accept said petition, do hereby appoint O. A. Thoreson, D. B. Ferguson and Paul Sorenson, three resident freeholders of said county, and not interested in the construction of said proposed work, and not of kin to any parties interested therein, as viewers, and do specify the 28th day of July 1896, at the county auditor's office in the city of Crookston as the time and place for said viewers to meet, preparatory to commencing their duties as such viewers, as prescribed by law, and after completing their duties as such viewers to make and file their report with the county auditor of said county, on or before the 15th day of September, 1896.

Dated July 25, 1896.

By the Board. ANTHON LINDEM,
Chairman Board County Commissioners of Polk County.

Attest: JOHN GLEASON,
County Auditor.

Moved and carried that the petition of Louis Larson and others, praying that Twp. 153 and 154, range 46, be established as an election district, be granted, and that Bernt Sonstrud, Christian Anderson and Engebright Dahl be appointed as judges of election, and that the place for holding elections be the residence of Elling Olson; on the southwest quarter of section 32, Twp. 154, R. 46.

Moved and carried that the petition of John W. Northrup and others, for a bridge across a lake between Sec. 3, Twp. 153, R. 50, and Sec. 34, Twp. 154, R. 50, be granted, and that Comr's Rhinehart and Lindem be appointed a committee with power to advertise for bids and let contract, bids to be opened at said bridge on the 3d day of August, 1896.

On motion the petition of Martin P. Boraas and others was granted, and Twp. 151, R. 41, was organized as an election district, the place of holding elections to be the school house in school district No. 210, and the judges of election to be Martin P. Boraas, A. P. Erickson and Elwood E. Harvik.

The following resolution was offered by Com. Norland:

Resolved, That in relation to that petition filed in the county auditor's office of Polk county, Minnesota, June 22d, 1896, for the organization of that certain territory situated in Polk county, Minnesota, described as follows, to wit: Section No. 33, (now incorporated and known as the village of Thief River Falls), and lot No. 5 of section 27, and the se¼ of the nw¼ and the sw¼ and the w½ of the se¼, and lots No. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of section 34, and lot 1 of section 35, all in Twp. 154, N. of R. 43, W; and that the same be incorporated as a city under and in accordance with Chapter 8 of the General Laws of 1896 of the state of Minnesota; and that the corporate name thereof be Twin Falls—that this board having examined the said petition and find the allegations therein contained true; and that the said petition is in due form of law, that it is duly signed by the requisite number of legal voters resident within said territory; and that notice in accordance with the statute of the fact of the presentation of said petition to this board having been duly given and proof thereof filed in said auditor's office; It is ordered that the prayer of said petition be granted, and before the consideration of said petition by this board, another certain petition signed by M. C. Burns and others, having been filed in said auditor's office on July 23d 1896, asking that the prayer of the petition first above referred to, be granted except as to the name of said proposed corporation; and praying that the name by which said proposed corporation shall be designated and known shall be Thief River Falls, and said petition having been signed by the requisite number of legal voters resident within said territory: It is ordered that an election be called and such election is hereby called and ordered to take place in the several election districts into which the said territory so proposed to be organized into a corporation, which districts are hereinafter designated, and said election is hereby fixed, and ordered to take place on Tuesday, September 1st, 1896, and the polls of such election shall open in each of said election districts at nine o'clock a. m. of said day, and shall close at five o'clock p. m. of said day, and the questions to be submitted and voted upon in said election districts at said election shall be as follows, to-wit: "Proposition to incorporate certain territory as a city." "Proposition to name such city Twin Falls." "Proposition to name such city Thief River Falls," and such election shall be conducted and the ballots for such election shall be made and notice of such election shall be given and the voting at such election shall be done, under and in accordance with Sections 8, 9, 10 and 11 of Chapter 8 of the General Laws of Minnesota for the year 1895; and returns of such election shall be canvassed and made under and in accordance with the provisions of said chapter, and such notice of election shall be given, posted and published in accordance with the provisions of said chapter 8 and as required by law; and such election in the several election districts in said territory hereinafter designated shall be conducted in each of such election districts by the judges of election hereinafter named; and such judges shall provide in their respective election districts, poll lists, ballot boxes, booths, polling places and all other appurtenances for such election.

The said territory so proposed to be incorporated as a city shall be divided into three election districts, to be known as the First, Second and Third election districts, and the boundaries of such election districts and the territory included in each shall be as follows, to-wit:—All that part of said territory lying north of the center line of Second street in the village of Thief River Falls, which street is named and designated as Second street, in the recorded plat of the said village of Thief River Falls, and lying westerly of the Red Lake River, being all that part of said section 33, situated on the westerly side of Red Lake River, and north of the center line of said Second street, shall be and constitute the First election district, and the place for holding the election for said First election district shall be at the furniture store of P. O. Berg, in said First district; and John Burke and John Hemmingson, and H. H. Olsen are hereby appointed and designated as the judges of said election to conduct the same in said First election district.

All that part of the said territory lying south of the center line of said Second street on the westerly side of Red Lake River shall be and constitute the Second election district; and the city hall situated in said Second election district is hereby designated as the place for holding said election in said Second election district; and William G. Porter and O. Tansberg, and J. W. Wallin are hereby appointed as judges of election to conduct said election in said Second election district.

All that part of the said territory so proposed to be organized and incorporated lying on the easterly side of the Red Lake River, shall be and constitute the Third election district and the place for holding said election in said Third election district, is hereby fixed and designated to be at the public school house situated in said Third election district, and Gilbert Gilbertson, and Oscar Anderson and William Brown are hereby appointed judges of said election to be held in said Third election district to conduct said election.

Ordered, That notice of such election be issued, posted, published and given in accordance herewith, and in accordance with the provisions of Section 8 of said Chapter 8; and that such notice of election shall be published in the Fisher Bulletin, the official paper of said county, printed and published at the village of Fisher, in said county.

The foregoing resolution was unanimously passed by the Board at the regular meeting of said board held July 25th, 1896.

On motion the county auditor was instructed to issue his warrant for balance due for grading Huntsville and Bygland county roads, when so instructed by the commissioner of the 2d district.

On motion Com. Norland was appointed to superintend the construction of abutments for St. Hilaire and Mallory bridges.

A petition was presented by Olaf Gunderson, asking to be set off with his land the se¼, nw¼, e½, sw¼ and sw¼, se¼, sec. 3, twp 148, range 42, from school district No. 230 and attached to district No. 128, and on motion a hearing was granted upon said petition for Sept. 15th, 1896.

The petition of E. L. Wicterman, asking for the formation of a school district, to be composed of all of twp 150, range 39, and sections 24 and 25, of twp 149, range 39, was on motion granted, order made, and district given the number 231.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That a levy be and the same is hereby made upon the taxable property of Polk county for the year 1896, as follows:

County Revenue Fund, 3½ mills,
County Bonds and Interest Fund, 1 mill
County Road and Bridge Fund, 1 mill.

The following bills were audited and allowed:

Grand Forks Herald, books and blanks, 5 bills	$181 30
Walter S. Booth & Son, books and blanks, 2 bills	3 45
Geo. D. Barnard & Co., books and blanks, 3 bills	12 75
Pioneer Press Co., books and blanks	1 40
P. and J. Meehan, lumber for bridges	323 01
Red River Lumber Co. " "	10 60
W. M. Coulter, grading county road	300 00
Jos. Pegeon " " "	100 00
Crookston Furniture Co., coffin and services as undertaker	16 00
A. C. Cowing, hardware for bridge	20 03
E. M. Walsh, insurance premium	23 00
Crookston Times, sundry office supplies and printing	79 74
W. E. McKenzie, sundry office supplies and printing	13 20
W. E. McKenzie, sundry office supplies and printing	4 20
C. C. Knappen, sundry printing	32 78
W. A. Hammond, printing	75
Mrs. Bertha Walstad, janitor work for training school	35 00
James E. Morrisey, balance due on iron fence	60 06
John Vig, express and postage	3 75
John Gleason, express and postage	17 55
Hugh Quigley, conveying prisoner to reformatory	50 00
A. Steenerson, collecting seed grain notes	65 36
J. S. Dwyer, service as coroner	20 23
Cahoon & Lytle, wood to jail	10 00
L. I. Benoit, mdse. to county hospital	6 25
C. O. Christianson, repairs on office safe	50
Gunni Swanson, work on county road	10 00
John Florin, table for county clerk	3 00
Theo. M. Nelson, justice fees	1 00
K. J. Sandvig, "	4 00
R. E. English "	2 60
Wm Bloom, constable fees	3 60
Knut I Haugen, " "	4 30
" " " "	1 35
F B King, jury fees	1 12
A Morberg, " "	2 00
A R Holston, witness fees	4 00
A R Amber " "	1 21
Fred W Hall, " "	1 12
James McGee " "	1 12
Albert Anderson, " "	7 00
Coris Anderson, " "	1 12
P A Byrne, " "	1 48
Peter Cornelius, " "	2 96
Martha Lutness, " "	2 44
D D Bodal " "	8 56
R B Hogenson, " "	2 20
Hans L Hogenson " "	2 44
H M Hogenson, " "	3 32
F E Dunning, " "	1 12
R Christianson, " "	1 12
F J Stebbins, " "	1 12
Theodore Nelson, " "	7 00
F G Pollard, " "	2 36
Henry Norland, services as com'r	37 70
J E Oppegaard " " "	39 80
M E Kirsch, " " "	36 20
A C Rhinehart " " "	25 60
Anthon Lindem, " " "	67 00

Following bills were referred back for correction:

W. M. Proctor, 2 bills, Geo. W. Barnard and T. Hodgman.

Following bills were disallowed:

A. Steenerson, O. McCrillis and W. M. Proctor.

On motion board adjourned sine die.

JOHN GLEASON,
Clerk of the Board.

Official proceedings of the Board of Equalization of Polk county.

The board of Commissioners of Polk county met at the auditor's office, July 20th, 1896, and in conjunction with the county auditor took and subscribed the statutory oath and entered upon their duties as a Board of Equalization.

On motion the personal property assessments against H. P. Hoff in towns of Russia and Onstad were ordered corrected in accordance with the sworn statement of the said H. P. Hoff.

Moved and carried that the valuation of improvements on farm lands throughout the county be equalized uniformally at 40 cents per acre.

On motion the townships of the county were classified for assessment purposes as follows:

	Class.		Class.
Andover,	1st	Angus,	1st
Black River,	2d	Bray,	4th
Badger,	4th	Brandsvold,	2d
Belgium,	4th	Bristel,	2d
Bygland,	1st	Crookston,	2d
Columbia,	4th	Chester,	4th
Emardville,	4th	Euclid,	2d
Eden,	4th	Esther,	1st
Fairfax,	2d	Farley,	2d
Fanny,	2d	Fisher,	1st
Grand Forks	1st	Garfield,	3d
Garden,	2d	Gentilly,	3d
Gervais,	3d	Grove Park,	3d
Godfrey,	2d	Hammond,	3d
Higdem,	1st	Hill River,	1st
Huntsville,	1st	Hubbard,	1st
Keystone,	2d	Kertsonville,	3d
King,	2d	Knute,	3d
Lake Pleasant,	3d	Lambert,	3d
Liberty,	2d	Lessor,	3d
Lowell,	1st	Louisville,	3d
Nesbitt,	2d	Norden,	4th
North,	3d	Northland,	3d
Numedal,	4th	Onstad,	3d
Parnell,	3d	Poplar River,	3d
Polk Centre,	3d	Queen,	4th
Red Lake Falls,	3d	Reis,	2d
River Falls,	3d	Rockbury,	2d
Roome,	2d	Rosebud,	2d
Russia,	3d	Rhinehart,	1st
Sanders,	3d	Sandsville,	3d
Sletten,	2d	Sullivan,	2d
Tabor,	2d	Terrebonne,	2d
Tilden,	4th	Tynsid,	1st
Vineland,	1st	Winger,	3d
Woodside,	4th	Wyandotte,	4th
1st District,	3d	2d District,	4th
4th District,	4th

Moved and carried that the townships of the county be equalized on the following basis:

1st Class to Average	$4 00	Per Acre
2d " " "	3 00	" "
3d " " "	2 00	" "
4th " " "	1 50	" "

Structures were equalized as hereinafter named:

Angus raised	80	per cent
Black River raised	100	"
Belgium raised	40	"
Bygland raised	60	"
Crookston raised	80	"
Emardville raised	100	"
Eden lowered	20	"
Fairfax lowered	20	"
Fisher township lowered	10	"
Grand Forks lowered	10	"
Garfield raised	10	"
Garden lowered	10	"
Gervais raised	10	"
Grove Park lowered	20	"
Hammond raised	50	"
Hill River raised	20	"
Huntsville lowered	20	"
Hubbard raised	40	"
Kertsonville raised	100	"
King raised	20	"
Knute raised except Erskine townsite	30	"
Lambert raised	30	"
Liberty lowered	30	"
Lessor raised	40	"
Louisville raised	30	"
McIntosh village raised	100	"
Numedal raised	50	"
Poplar River lowered	20	"
Queen raised	40	"
Red Lake Falls twp. raised	100	"
River Falls raised	60	"
Roxbury lowered	10	"
Rhinehart raised	80	per cent
Sanders raised	30	"
Sandsville lowered	20	"
Sletten raised	40	"
Thief River Falls Village raised	20	"
Winger raised	10	"

Acreage lands in cities and villages in Polk county were equalized as follows:

City of Crookston to Average	$10 00	Per Acre
" East Grand Forks to Average	10 00	"
Village of Thief River Falls to Average	10 00	"
Village of Fosston to Average	10 00	"
" Fisher " "	6 00	"
" Fertile " "	6 00	"
" McIntosh " "	5 00	"
" Red Lake Falls to Average	4 00	"
Village of St. Hilaire to Average	3 00	"

Items 1 to 9 inclusive were equalized as follows:

Horses 1 Year Old and Over to Average					$8 00
do 2	do	do	do		15 00
do 3	do	do	do		25 00
Cattle 1	do	do	do		3 00
do 2	do	do	do		5 00
do 3	do	do	do		8 00
Working Oxen			do		15 00
Sheep			do		1 00
Hogs $1 Per cwt

Wagons, carriages bicycles and sleighs, in townships only to average $8 and in villages and cities to average $12; watches and clocks in townships to average $3 and in cities and villages to average $6; melodions and organs to average $18 and pianos to average $100.

The assessment on household and office furniture was equalized as follows:

Andover raised		50	per cent
Angus raised		200	do
Black River raised		100	do
Bray	do	100	do
Badger	do	50	do
Belgium	do	50	do
Brislet	do	100	do
Bygland	do	75	do
Crookston Twp raised		70	do
Chester	do	70	do
Emardville	do	10	do
Farley	do	70	do
Fanny	do	60	do
Fisher Twp	do	20	do
Fisher Village	do	50	do
Fertile	do	20	do
Grand Forks	do	100	do
East Grand Forks raised		50	do
Garfield	do	20	do
Garden	do	30	do
Gentilly	do	50	do
Gervais	do	100	do
Godfrey raised		100	do
Hammond raised		70	do
Higdem	do	50	do
Hill River	do	40	do
Huntsville	do	80	do
Hubbard	do	60	do
Keystone	do	80	do
Kertsonville raised		80	do
King	do	20	do
Knute	do	20	do
Lake Pleasant	do	30	do
Lambert	do	80	do
Liberty	do	100	do
Lessor	do	100	do
Lowell	do	20	do
McIntosh	do	100	do
Nesbit	do	140	do
North	do	10	do
Northland	do	100	do
Onstad	do	100	do
Parnell	do	100	do
Poplar River	do	150	do
Polk Center	do	80	do
Queen	do	50	do
Red Lake Falls Village raised		150	do
Red Lake Falls	do	100	do
Reis	do	200	do
River Falls	do	100	do
Roxbury	do	50	do
Roome	do	100	do
Rosebud lowered		20	do
Rossia raised		50	do
Rhinehart raised		100	do
Sanders	do	100	do
Sandsville	do	100	do
St Hilaire	do	20	do
Sletten	do	40	do
Sullivan	do	150	do
Tabor	do	80	do
Tyngid	do	20	do
Thief River Falls raised		50	do
Terrebonne	do	70	do
Tilden	do	50	do
Winger	do	50	do
Woodside	do	80	do
Wyandotte	do	100	do

The assessment on agricultural tools, implements and machinery was equalized as follows:

Andover raised		20	per cent
Angus	do	100	do
Black River raised		100	do
Bray	do	70	do
Badger lowered		50	do
Brislet	do	20	do
Bygland raised		20	do
Chester	do	100	do
Fisher lowered		60	do
Grand Forks lowered		20	do
East Grand Forks raised		70	do
Garden	do	20	do
Gentilly	do	10	do
Gervais	do	30	do
Grove Park	do	20	do
Hammond lowered		10	do
Hubbard raised		40	do
Kertsonville raised		100	do
King lowered		10	do
Knute raised		80	do
Lake Pleasant raised		50	do
Lambert	do	70	do
Lessor	do	40	do
Lowell lowered		20	do
Nesbit raised		10	do
Norden lowered		30	do
North raised		100	do
Numedal raised		100	do
Parnell	do	20	do
Queen	do	60	do
Red Lake Falls Twp raised		50	do
Reis	do	30	do
River Falls	do	80	do
Roome lowered		20	do
Russia	do	20	do
Sletten	do	20	do
Tabor	do	10	do
Thief River Falls raised		50	do
Tilden	do	20	do
Vineland	do	10	do
Winger	do	100	do
Wyandotte	do	20	do

The assessment on bank stock was as follows:

First Nat'l bank of East Grand Forks	$21,645 00
Merchants Nat'l bank of Crookston	31,415 00
Scandia-American bank of do	37,410 00
First Nat'l bank of do	30,225 00
First State bank of Red Lake Falls	14,722 00
The Erskine bank	1,500 00
The Fertile State bank	16,575 00
The State bank of McIntosh	6,500 00
The Citizens bank of do	5,000 00
The Polk County bank of Thief River Falls	4,000 00
The bank of Fisher	4,500 00
The Bank of Fosston	6,000 00

The assessment on flouring mills was equalized as follows:

Town of Terrebonne—
Ohm and Kankel, mill and machinery	$ 2,000
Garfield—
Kankel and Hess, 2 mills and Machinery	$ 5,000
McIntosh—
M W Jenson & Co Mill and Machinery	$ 3,500
Knute—
H H Ames mill and machinery	$ 3,500
City of Crookston—
H R Lyon, receiver, mill and machinery	$ 6,000
Fisher—
H R Lyon, receiver, mill and machinery	$ 7,000
Red Lake Falls—
Johnson & Marshall, mill and machinery	$12,000
Red Lake Falls Mill Co. mill and machinery	8,000
Thief River Falls—
Anna Kretzschmar, mill and machinery	$4,500
Fosston—
S S Stadsvold, mill and machinery	3,000

Grain elevators and warehouses were equalized as follows:

Angus Township—
Minn and Dakota Elevator Co	$ 1,500
Minn and Northern do	1,000
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	1,800
Euclid Township—
Minn and Northern Elevator Co	$ 2,000
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	2,000
Fanny Township—
Thorpe Elevator Co	$ 1,500
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	500
Crookston City—
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	$ 2,500
Minn and Northern do	2,500
Fairfax Township—
Monarch Elevator Co	$ 1,500
Minn and Northern Elevator Co	1,800
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	2,000
Russia Township—
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	$ 1,500
Reis Township—
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	$ 2,200
Thorpe Elevator Co	1,500
Kertsonville Township—
Minn and Northern Elevator Co	$ 800
Tilden Township—
Minn and Northern Elevator Co	800
Monarch Elevator Co	800
Grove Park Township—
Minn and Northern Elevator Co	$ 1,800
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	1,800
Knute Township—
Minn and Northern Elevator Co	$ 2,000
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	2,200
McIntosh Village—
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	$ 1,800
Andrews and Gage do	1,200
Minn and Northern do	1,800
Sletten Elevator Co	1,900
Fosston Village—
Farmers Elevator Co	$ 1,300
Jacobi do	1,500
Minn and Northern Elevator Co	2,000
St Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	2,300
Polk Center Township—
St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	$ 2,500
St. Hilaire Village—
Marshall & Johnson	600
Holmes Elevator Co	1,000
St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	1,000
Thief River Falls Village—
Jacobi Elevator Co	1,500
Marshall & Johnson	600
St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	1,800
Fisher Village—
St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co	2,100
Minn. and Dakota	1,700
Northwestern Elevator Co	1,350
Fisher Township—
Thorpe Elevator Co	1,200
Huntsville Township—
Monarch Elevator Co	1,800
Minn. and Northern Elevator Co	1,800
St. Anthony and Dakota	1,800
Nesbit Township—
Monarch Elevator Co	1,400
East Grand Forks City—
Minn. and Northern Elevator Co	3,500
North Dakota Elevator Co	1,500
Keystone Township—
Chas Lockhart	1,800
Louisville Township—
Thorpe Elevator Co	1,500
Red Lake Falls Village—
Thorpe Elevator Co	1,600
Marshall & Johnson	2,000
Monarch Elevator Co	2,000
A J Hoskins	2,000
Esther Township—
Minn and Northern Elevator Co	400
Lake Pleasant Township—
Thorpe Elevator Co	1,500
Godfrey Township—
Thorpe Elevator Co	700
Fertile Village—
Great Western Co	1,500
Monarch Elevator Co	1,500
Garfield Farmer's Elevator Co	1,500
Garret L Thorpe Elevator Co	1,500
Onstad Township—
Monarch Elevator Co	1,500

The assessment on manufacturers tools implements and machinery of the following printing offices was equalized thus:

East Grand Forks Courier	$1,000
Fertile Journal	600
Press Publishing Co of Thief River Fall	600
Satterlee's Journal of Red Lake Falls	200
Red Lake Falls Gazette	175

Cold storage houses were equalized as follows:

Minneapolis Brewing Co of Crookston raised	$600
Minneapolis Brewing Co of East Grand Forks raised	600
Hamm Brewing Co of East Grand Forks raised	500
Miller Brewing Co of East Grand Forks raised	800
Valentine Blatz Brewing Co of East Grand Forks raised	500
Schlitz Brewing Co of Fertile raised	600

The assessment of O L. Larson, of village of Fosston on goods and mdse. was raised $800.

The assessment of Oen Bros. of Thief River Falls on goods and mdse. was equalized at $1,800.

The assessment of Hans Langseth & Co. of Thief River Falls on goods and mdse. was equalized at $2,000.

The assessment of O. P. Johnson of Thief River Falls on goods and mdse. was equalized at $2,000.

The assessment of B. F. Bushee of East Grand Forks on goods and mdse. was equalized at $1,700.

The assessment of Cresslan & Wolf of East Grand Forks on goods and mdse. was equalized at $1,500

The assessment of P. & J. Meehan on logs in town of North was equalized at $3,000.

The assessment of P. & J. Meehan on steamboat in town of North was raised to $450.

The assessment on goods in the following named towns and villages was equalized as noted:

Fosston Village raised			20	Per Cent
Knute Township	do		20	do
McIntosh Village	do		80	do
St Hilaire	do	do	20	do
Thief River Falls Village raised			40	do
Terrebonne Township lowered			30	do

On motion the assessment of Fontaine & Anglim on their stock of goods and mdse. in city of Crookston was equalized at $20,000.

On motion the assessment of Fontaine & Anglim on the Gervais stock of goods and mdse in the city of Crookston was equalized at $4,500.

It was moved that the assessment of Rosenthal & Falk on goods and mdse in city of Crookston be reduced to $7,500. Motion lost.

The assessment of e½ se¼, Sec 1, T. 151, R. 50, was equalized at $8.00 per acre, and e½ ne¼, nw¼ se¼, se¼ sw¼, w½ ne¼, ne¼ nw¼, and lots 6, 7, and 8, Sec 1, T. 151, R. 50, at $12.00 per acre, and four acres in ne corner of ne¼ ne¼, Sec. 2, T. 151, R. 50, belonging to Martin Purcell at $15.00 per acre.

The assessment of A. O. Rolstad on office and household furniture in city of Crookston was reduced $100.

The assessment on lots in Crocker Cundy and Nelson's Add. to St. Hilaire was raised 200 per cent.

On motion the assessment on wheat in elevator, against St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator Co., at St. Hilaire, under the item goods and mdse, was canceled, it being shown that all wheat owned by said company had been assessed at the principal place of business of said company.

On motion the following resolution, offered by Com. Oppegaard was adopted:

Resolved, That the county auditor together with the county attorney, be requested to ascertain the amounts of undivided profits of the Scandia-American bank of Crookston for five years back, that are subject to assessment and which have escaped assessment, and list the same with the assessment of said bank for the current year. The motion was adopted, Com's. Oppegaard, Lindem and Norland voting in the affirmative, and Kirsch and Rhinehart voting in the negative, Com. Kirsch giving as his reason for voting negatively that the Scandia-American bank assessment was equalized the same as other banks in past years, and further that sec. 1631 of the Gen. Statutes makes it no part of the duty of the commissioners to make such request.

Board adjourned July 29th, 1896.

JOHN GLEASON,
Clerk of Board of Equalization

Fourteen Hundred Out.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Fourteen hundred of the 2,500 employes of the South Chicago Shipbuilding company struck during the evening, which will necessitate, it is said, the closing of the yards. The strike originated with 300 boys employed to heat rivets, whose wages were cut from $1.50 to $1.25 a day. The men riveters, 1,100 in number, followed their example.

Greek Professor Disappears.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 6.—Professor C. W. Winchell, who holds the chair of Greek in Park college, Parkville, Mo., has mysteriously disappeared. He had been spending his vacation in the East, and the last heard of him was a letter written from Cincinnati on his return trip a week ago. In it Winchell stated he was ailing. Since that nothing has been heard of him.

WANT ELECTORS

Kansas Democrats Ask Populists to Concede Them the Presidential Ticket.

In Return They Can Do as They Please With Regard to State Offices.

Alabama Populists Charge Democrats With Gross Election Frauds.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 6.—A special to The Star from Hutchinson, Kan., says: The anomaly is presented here of a state convention of a great party suspending operations for nearly 24 hours while every eye is turned towards another big state convention, by which the fate of the Kansas Democratic and Populist parties in the coming campaign hangs in the balance. The probable result of the joint conference committee of the Populist and Democratic conventions, at Abilene is the one absorbing topic of discussion among the Democrats here. When the Democratic conference committee boarded the train for Abilene several hundred delegates were at the train to see them off, and on every one's lips were the words, "Don't sacrifice a single Democratic elector. Make it 10 straight or nothing."

The prevailing sentiment here is now crystallized into a stubborn determination to bring the Populists to terms on the basis laid down at the beginning of the fusion negotiations—Democrats to take the electors and Populists the state ticket. There are some, however, who do not cherish sanguine hopes that the conference committee will not back down if the Populists make a strong fight for a division of the electoral ticket.

ONLY ASK THE ELECTORS.

Kansas Democrats Willing to Fuse With Populists.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Aug. 6.—The Democratic state convention has declared in favor of fusion and surrendered all the state offices for the privilege of naming the presidential electors. The platform unequivocally endorses the Chicago platform, reasserts the demand of the Kansas Democracy for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, lauds Bryan and Sewall as the true champions of the people's interests and in conclusion demands a resubmission of the prohibition question to the people of the state.

MORE FRAUD THAN EVER.

Secretary of the Alabama Populist Campaign Committee Talks.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 6.—Frank Baltzell, secretary of the Populist campaign committee, has issued the following statement:

"The election last Monday was characterized by fraud more widespread than any previous election, and in the black belt, in defiance of law and contempt of the opposition, which the law required to be recognized by from 8 to 10 representatives at every poll. In Montgomery, at the courthouse poll, an illiterate suspected his ticket was wrongly marked, showed it to a friend to decide, and the fact was developed that a Goodwin ticket had been marked for Johnston. The illiterate was arrested and jailed for showing his ticket, and the marker, who was guilty of the crime, was not interrupted. In the black belt counties, the reports state Dallas, or some other black belt county, will send up the usual majority, which means that whatever majority may be needed from these counties will be sent up next Saturday, when the vote shall be canvassed.

Populists Much Exasperated.

"The Populists are very much exasperated on account of the wrongs practiced upon them, and will not support the Bryan Democratic electors. They will put out an electoral ticket for Bryan and Watson; the Democrats can take down their ticket, vote that ticket or see 100,000 votes practically lost. If this shall not be done the Populists will refuse to vote and let the silver Democrats work out their destiny and repent of their meanness. Self respect, manhood and civil liberty are dearer to some people than free silver or any other political issue.

"Hon. A. T. Goodwin made a brilliant and effective campaign, visiting nearly every county and speaking to the largest audiences ever accorded a speaker in this state. He has be elected by 16,000 to 18,000 majority in the white counties, and received about 40,000 votes in the black belt, but these 40,000 votes are counted for Johnston, giving him a majority of about 25,000."

Fuse in Oklahoma.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 6.—A special to The Star from Guthrie, O. T., says the Democratic territorial committee, conferring with a conference committee appointed by the Populist territorial convention, agreed to a proposition of fusion proposed by the Populists.

Bland Nominated for Congress.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 6.—Richard P. Bland was nominated for congress by the Democrats of the Eighth district by acclamation. Resolutions endorsing the Chicago platform and nominees and renewing allegiance to Mr. Bland were adopted.

Lands in Oregon Sold.

PORTLAND, Or., Aug. 6.—All of the Northern Pacific lands in Oregon, comprising about 300,000 acres have been sold at public auction. The lands were bid in by President Winter for $550,000.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade. at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.
St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

Chas. G. Rapp.............President
J. L. Johnson.............Recorder
H. J. Freeman } Councilmen
W. A. Sorsoleil } Councilmen
M. Z. Epperson } Councilmen
Leonard Holmes.............Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	44c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	11c	Eggs	6c
Barley	12c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	57c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Very poor hay weather of late.

Wheat dropped two cents Friday.

The Standard Oil building is completed.

Dr. Moeller of Thief River Falls was here Thursday.

Considerable grain is in shock four miles west of here.

The work on the school house is being pushed rapidly.

Plow your fire guards now and you will make no mistake.

S. M. Dainard made a trip to Crookston last Wednesday.

The dates for the Fosston Fair is Sept. 10th, 11th and 12th.

Wm. Stranehan purchased Wm. Sorsoleil's black pacer last week.

The book agent was around yester day getting in his work collecting.

H. E. Ives has been under the weather since he got back from Red Lake.

The wheat crop in the Red River Valley is estimated at 10 bushels to the acre.

A. R. Jones received orders to ship all the wheat in his elevator to West Superior.

The high winds last Friday did untold damage to hay stacks all over the country.

Fred Eikhoff received several thousand rounds of amunition on last Monday's train.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

P. G. Paradis was present at the retail liquor dealers meeting at Crookston last Thursday.

Chris Amandson from the upper Falls was greeting his many friends here yesterday.

M. Z. Epperson is figuring on shipping two of his threshing outfits to North Dakota.

A large force of men and teams are at work throwing up a grade across the "muskeg" west of town.

Charley Tedford came down from Thief River yesterday. Charley wears a Bryan hat and talks silver.

Bill Brower left Monday for Dakota where he will look around for a good point to work two threshing rigs.

The threshing outfit that was standing west of this office since last fall was shipped to Dakota last week.

Mrs. R. H. Aimer and two children left to-day for Keystone where they will visit relatives for a week or two.

Services were held in the Norwegian Lutheran church last Sunday. Rev. Aastad of Thief River Falls officiating.

The street fair at Grand Forks, N. D., occurs this year Oct. 7th, 8th and 9th. It promises to be a great success.

John Solberg picked up a car load of stock for the Truesdal Stock company and shipped the same last Tuesday to Ottona.

Halvor and Ike Halvorson left Monday for their claims near the Black Duck lake. They will be absent about two weeks.

If Jim Hill's trains were as regular as the new boy driving the U. S. mail we would have no kick coming. He is always on time—that boy.

Editor Converse of the Thief River Falls Press passed through here last Saturday enroute to St. Paul, where he will remain a few days.

Read the State Normal Schools advertisement in another column. Anyone wishing a good education should not overlook this opportunity.

L. T. Bergh, collector for the McCormick company, left Monday for Grand Forks where he will look after the firms interests in that vicinity.

Mrs. M. Williams and children, who have been visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity for the past month, left for their home at Wadena, Friday last.

The hail storm that passed through the vicinity of Neche, N. D., August 2nd destroyed about 5,000 acres of grain.

Charles Westby, of Red Lake Falls bought in the mortgage property that was sold in front of the post office last Saturday.

R. H. Aimer who has been looking over the country in the vicinity of Euclid and Bray, reports very little damage done by hail in his travels.

John O. Carlson and Betsy Englund, of St. Hilaire, were married last Saturday by Rev. P. J. Lindberg, at his residence in this city.—Crookston Tribune.

C. Bourdon, deputy sheriff and C. Boughton, both of Red Lake Falls were at St. Hilaire last Saturday attending to business matters in the shape of real estate.

Interpreter Beaulieu of the White Earth Agency was here between trains Monday. He wore a daisy button on the lapel of his coat, which denotes a 16 to 1 man.

Petrified eight feet giants are selling for $25, and 6½ feet giantess at $20, by a firm in York state. Elephant baby and Egyptian Mummy at $10 apiece. Large stock on hand.

The heavy wind last Thursday night kept many of the St. Hilaire people awake. No particular damage was done outside of a severe shaking up of buildings—earthquake like.

Wonder how long it will take the Warren Sheaf man to hop in on the gold standard band wagon? About two months ago, Bro. Mattson was a strong advocate of free silver.

Dan Patterson purchased a fine team of draft horses from a Fillmore county man. They will be used on the road distributing oil for the Standard Oil Co. of which Mr. Patterson is agent.

Nick Hoffman proprietor of the East Grand Forks brewery committed suicide last Wednesday by shooting himself. Financial troubles being the cause of committing the rash act.

The election held yesterday for the annexation of lots 4 and 5 of section 5, and lots 1, 11, 12 and 13 of section 6, in township of River Falls to St. Hilaire was carried by 46 in favor to 1 against.

Uncle Tom's Cabin company are making a tour throughout the Northwest showing under canvas with a seating capacity of 2,000. They showed at Grand Forks Monday at 25 and 15 cents.

August Lundgren of Warren, advertises for 100 teams. Mr. Lundgren has secured the contract to remove 127,000 cubic yards of earth by digging a state ditch in the township of Vege, Marshall county.

One would naturally suppose there was a suicide club in existence in Polk county and some with time called on them—one and two a day is the way they shuffled off on the gun and rope route last week.

G. H. McPherren's attorneys at Winnipeg, Manitoba writes Editor McKenzie of the Crookston Times to retract what he said about the stone man August 1st. Mac still holds his opinion of the stone man as a "fake, pure and simple."

The fire alarm turned in yesterday noon proved to be nothing more or less than the burning out of a chimney at the residence of Carl Olson. Nevertheless the fire laddies and the bucket brigade got there on the double quick order just the same.

The SPECTATOR acknowledges two complimentary tickets to the Thirteen Towns Fair, which will be held at Fosston, September 10th, 11th and 12th, 1896. The people at Fosston never do things by halves and we will venture to say that those who attend the fair will not regret the trip.

McKinley's manager, Mark Hanna the millionaire, employs nothing but scab labor. Labor organizations will look into this matter and no doubt McKinley will go the same route as Whitelaw Reed went four years ago. Labor organizations get in their work about election time.

William Tallady, who was the head breakman on this line for some time, was the victim of an accident which occurred at Crookston last Saturday evening. While making a coupling his foot got caught in the track, throwing him down, the engine passed lengthwise over the prostrate form, cut the body in halves from his hips to the top of his head leaving one part on each side of the track. He leaves a wife and three children.

2,000 gold bug "Supplement to the St. Hilaire Spectator," is what we have on our hands. They are the latest thing out and are dated August 12th. They were sent to us free of charge. They came all the way from Wisconsin prepaid by an express frank. If we had the price of a carpet for our front office room, we could use them. If someone don't come to our rescue for the price of a 12x12 carpet,—2,000 two page, six columns "Single Gold Standard Supplements to the St. Hilaire Spectator" will die on our hands. Few of our exchanges that have been running "gold boiler plates" for some weeks past, will in all probabilities use "Supplements" every other week—commencing this week.

It is now proposed to authorize postmasters and their deputies to open letters on which no postage stamps have been placed, to learn the name of the writer, and avoid sending it to the dead letter office. If all who write would have their names and addresses printed on the envelopes they use, as the post-office department requests, no such trouble would arise. ☞The SPECTATOR makes a specialty of printing envelopes with return card printed thereon. Come in and get our prices.

Friday's Hail Storm.

The hail, rain and wind storm that passed through this vicinity last Friday afternoon at five o'clock, did considerable damage to crops of all kinds. The hail, which lasted just fifteen minutes, raised havoc with windows on the west side of the buildings, breaking double strength windows with ease. What little grain there was in the country was cut down by the hail. Cabbage, pieplant and other wide leaf garden truck were perforated in artistic style.

DAMAGE HERE AND THERE.

Ed. Gjerswold lost everything in the shape of grain.

Part of the roof of Brink Bros. hall was torn off by wind.

Several windows were broken at the residence of Leonard Holmes.

Ole Larson, living northwest of town a few miles lost all of his crop.

Carl Swenson, north of the town line lost what little he had by hail.

O. O. Opperud and Chas. J. Fellman both living east of here lost all their grain by hail.

Shingles from the roof of the school house building were peeled off and scattered about.

S. M. Dainard's flax crop stood the hail without damaging it a particle; the wheat was ruined.

Otto Amandson living two miles west of here lost all his grain and six window lights by hail.

Dr. Francis on the approach of the storm made for a cellar and heard neither wind or hail.

In Luck.

The people of St. Hilaire are to be congratulated on their good fortune in securing the Shevlin-Carpenter mill. This corporation was the heaviest purchaser of pine-lands at the late sale, having now timber enough for years of manufacture. The mill will add quite a number to the population and consuming element of that thriving town and consequently to the business. It is largely owing to the public spirit and energy of the leading business men of the town that such an addition has been made to their resources, and especially to the push and persistency displayed by Harry Ives, backed by a united public spirit, without which no man can succeed in any public undertaking.—Thief River Falls Press.

The Dr. Miles Medical Company of Elkhart, Ind., are getting very uneasy about their contracts made with different newspapers throughout the United States, and sends out a circular to every newspaper saying. "We have decided to add the following condition to all contracts made for newspaper advertising. 'It is also agreed that should the Free Silver Candidate Bryan be elected, the Dr. Miles Medical Co. have the privilege of cancelling this contract.'"

What nerve this great medicine company have that advertise 25 doses for 25 cents. We dare say that wherever contracts exists, they are getting their advertising done at less than 25 cents on the dollar now. We don't use "Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills."

Although there is a long future ahead for the lumber manufacturing business in Minneapolis, her enterprising lumber men are always on the lookout for good things. Among the recent purchasers of large tracts of timber on the Red Lake Indian reservation was Thos. H. Shevlin of the Shevlin-Carpenter company. This timber will not be tributary to Minneapolis except by way of the Brainard & Northern Minnesota railway, when that road is extended a number of miles farther to the northwest than at present. So in order to secure a location for a possible mill with which to saw his new timber holdings into lumber, Mr. Shevlin in company with F. P. Hixon, of LaCrosse, who is also president of the T. B. Scott Lumber company of Merrill, Wis., has purchased the interest of the Great Northern railway in the townsite of St. Hilaire, Minn., and fifty per cent of the stock of the St. Hilaire Boom & Water Power company. The railroad company owned one-half of the townsite, and the Boom company owns shore rights all along the river from St. Hilaire almost to Thief River Falls. This purchase insures the selection of a site for a saw mill. They have not as yet formed any definite plans, but it is highly probable that a mill will be built at some time in the future to saw the logs that will come down the Red Lake river from the timber lands purchased by Mr. Shevlin.—Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

Honest republicans who love truth and righteousness and their country should bear in mind that the republican party, only 40 years ago, was made up of just such men as John Lind, Charles A. Towne, John Day Smith, William Jennings Bryan, Thomas E. Watson, Frank A. Day and the thousands upon thousands of other republicans and democrats who to-day make up the peoples party which has brought to the front such brave and honest men as Bryan and Lind. Republicans and democrats should bear in mind that the only way to overthrow the power of the gold monopoly and all other monopolies is by the coming together of honest men from both the old parties and thus creating a new party in which there will be no place for the monopolist or his hired agents or attorneys. And now is the time to do it. All the combined monopolies of to-day are arrayed on the side of McKinleyism and against Bryan. "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve. God or Mammon."—Waseca Herald.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Names of The Presidents.

The following easily learned rhymes are the best we have yet seen for fixing in the mind, in their order, the names of our country's Presidents:

Washington first of the Presidents stand
Next placid John Adams attention commands.
Tom Jefferson's third on the glorious score
And square Jimmie Madison counts number four.

Fifth on the record is plain James Munroe
And John Quincy Adams is sixth dont you know?
Next Jackson and Martin VanBuren true blue.
And Harrison ninth, known as Tippecanoe.

Next Tyler, the first of the Vices to rise.
Then Polk and then Taylor, the second who dies;
Next Fillmore, a Vice, takes the Presidents place,
And small Franklin Pierce is fourteenth in the race.

Fifteenth is Buchanan, and followed by him,
The great name of Lincoln makes all other dim;
Next to Johnson comes Grant, with the laurel and bays.
And next after Grant then comes Rutherford Hayes.

Next Garfield, then Arthur, then Cleveland, the fat,
Next Harrison, wearing his grandfather's hat;
Adroit little Ben, twenty-third in the train.
And last on the list, behold Cleveland again.

—SCHOOL AND HOME.

Wheat went down another cent on the strength of one million and a half bushels of wheat being destroyed by hail in the Red River country. Old time elevator men expected a five cent raise when they heard of the heavy crop loss. Something wrong somewhere.

Lind in Demand.

The silver people of North Dakota could not do better than to induce John Lind, of Minnesota, to make few speeches in North Dakota to the Norwegian voters, who are blindly following the deceitful lead of M. N. Johnson. They need the light which Mr. Lind could shed.—Grand Forks Plaindealer.

St. Louis platform:

> The single gold standard is good enough for England—hence good enough for us. We owe England and should pay her in whatever money she may demand. England wants gold, hence it is the duty of all good Americans to support the gold standard.

Chicago platform:

> An honest dollar is that dollar which buys the same amount today, tomorrow and forever. The essence of money is its purchasing power. We are creating money for America, not England or any one else, and we intend to make it according to our own idea. We are for honest money—not a fifty cent dollar nor a two hundred cent dollar, but a hundred cent dollar—the honest dollar.

The above is the situation boiled down in a few words.

Mosquitoes.

A schoolboy wrote the following essay on "The Mosquitoes of America:"

The mosquitoes of America are so large, that many of them weigh a pound. They are very ferocious; they climb the trees and bark. Sometimes a mosquito crawls down to the foot of a tree and roots. They like a trunk and will get into it if they can. They divide into several branches. When you try to catch a mosquito he soars away among trees and leaves. A mosquito sucks human blood and flies; he sucks the blood of cattle and hides. They drink with their bills and eat with avidity. Their bills are larger than the McKinley bill, and tear-if not prohibited, they export blood and import poison. They bleed you with a collection of large bills, which are always present(ed) in summer. They fly with their eyes open and a-light on their feet. They prefer (k)nights; in the day-time they "go to grass." They are treacherous in a duel and will draw blood before you are aware of it. They are not discouraged by an exhibition of your cheek, but rather take edvantage of it. They are easily provoked and fly to arms. They are also given to backbiting. With his sting, a mosquito produces wounds and soars. Upon the whole they do much harm, because they are in sects and have no scruples of conscience.

No Pledges.

There has been no president since Lincoln who did not enter the White House bound by certain pledges made by himself or by party managers with his consent. Johnson and Arthur are of course not included, they having come into the presidential chair by the death of the regularly elected presidents.

Wm. J. Bryan will be an exception. His nomination was won at Chicago not by skillful manipulation of managers or the dealings out of promises, but by the inspiration, which seized the convention that in this crisis he was the man to lead to victory. Now as the populist national convention is assembling, on whose action depends the casting of some 2,000,000 votes, Mr. Bryan declines to make any pledges save that he will treat all of his supporters from whatever party they may come with equal fairness and justice.

This is a magnificient display of courage and manhood which will excite the admiration of the American people. It renders evident his appreciation of the high office for which he has been named, and that he proposes to win it not because of well distributed awards of patronage in advance, but because of the confidence of the people in his ability and devotion to the cause he represents. Such a man is a new creation in Americal politics, and may well inspire the confidence and enthusiam of the masses. It is time indeed that the republic had such a man at the head of its affairs, and now that the opportunity presents itself, there need be no fear but that the people will put him there.—Rocky Mountain News.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale! —The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.
☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Cures

Talk in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla as for no other medicine. It has the greatest record of cures of any medicine in the world. In fact,

Hood's

Is the One True Blood Purifier. $1. Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills cure sick headache, indigestion.

Spontaneous Combustion of Hay.

Two destructive fires have occurred recently in Kansas City. The Kaw Feed and Coal company's warehouse, at Nineteenth and Wyoming streets, was wrecked with about 2,000 tons of hay entirely destroyed. A little later the J. A. Brubaker's warehouse caught fire and a $1,700 loss was sustained on the building and hay. This is the second fire for Mr. Brubaker within two months, he having lost his warehouse full of hay at Rosedale, worth about $5,000 and insured for only $2,000. There seems to be something wrong about the construction of these buildings, as all the fires are laid to spontaneous combustion, and unless there is more care exercised in ventilating warehouses and storing hay, hay men will find insurance rates out of reach entirely. If proper care in bailing is observed, there is no danger of spontaneous combustion.—Kansas Farmer.

By Steamer, Train or Boat.

Which of these have you selected as a means of travel? No matter, Whichever it is, recollect that for sea-sickness, disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, engendered by rough locomotion and bad food or water, and for malarial troubles, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most useful specific you can take with you. It is invaluable also for rheumatism, kidney complaints and nervous trouble.

Stockings of Other Days.

"I saw a little girl in striped red and white stockings the other day," said the woman, "and it made me think of the time when I was a little girl myself. There was no thought of black stockings then. The small legs of all the small girls looked like sticks of variegated candy. The child who had the gayest combination of stripes was the happiest, and if the color scheme happened to be displeasing to our youthful tastes there was such a feeling of utter woe as I know I seldom feel now that I am 'grown up.'"—New York Times.

Personal.

ANY ONE who has been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, will receive information of much value and interest by writing to Pink Pills, P. O. Box 1592 Philadelphia, Pa.

Beyond Arbitration.

The Duke of Cadminster—So, though you are intensely American, you wouldn't mind being an English duchess, eh?

She—No—but for one thing.

He—Your democratic education?

She—No; I would have to marry an English duke.—Puck.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Ancestry.

"You have no ansectry, then?"

"No; my forefathers didn't go in for that sort of thing."—Detroit Tribune.

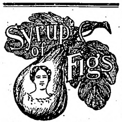
If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

The Christian religion is steadily making headway in Japan.

We will forfeit $1,000 if any of our published testimonials are proven to be not genuine. —The Piso Co., Warren, Pa.

Dried locusts are eaten with bread in Africa.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

"THE MIDDLE SOUTH"

A handsomely illustrated 16 page Monthly Journal describing the development of the Middle South, the farmer's paradise. Price 50 cents per year. Send 25 cts. at once mentioning this paper and you will receive "The Middle South," for one year, postage free, or if you secure four subscribers and send us $1.00 we will send your paper one year free of charge. Address Middle South Pub. Co., Somerville, Tenn.

E. J. Pickler, D. O., Prest.
F. D. Parker, D. O., Vice-Prest.
L. M. Rheem, Secy.

NORTHERN INSTITUTE OF OSTEOPATHY,

GLOBE BLDG. MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Will open its fall class September 1, 1896. All persons desiring to enter this class can obtain full information in regard to tuition, terms, etc., by addressing the Secretary. Osteopathy is a comparatively new science, but is one that offers unexcelled advantages to young ladies and gentlemen desiring to enter professional life.

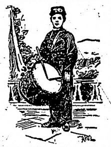
OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. Free Trial. State case. Dr. Marsh, Quincy, Mich.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

A Boy Veteran.

It is pleasant to record an instance of a little soldier who passed through the most active scenes of the war and emerged from it even more of a boy in spirit than when he entered. Indeed, legally, and almost literally, he was an infant, more baby than boy, when he enlisted. He was certainly still a child when he was mustered out.

In the summer of 1862 a certain Lieut. Elwood came with a mule team and three or four soldiers, recruiting for the army, into the little country town of Port William, in Clinton county, Ohio. A bright little boy by the name of Gilbert Vanzandt, a native of the place, volunteered to drum for him at the "soldiers' meeting," held in the old brick school house, and at its close the lieutenant tossed him a fifty-cent piece, the first money the boy had ever earned. He was then taken over the country by Capt. Hicks to drum for recruits, and, imagining that a soldier's life was a continual succession of such pleasant duties, he enlisted, Aug. 6, 1862, with Company D, Seventy-ninth Ohio volunteers, as its drummer. At that time he was ten years, seven months and sixteen days old, the date of his birth being Dec. 20, 1851. The enlistment of the little fellow was not, after all, such a cruel thing as might be supposed. His recruiting service had served as an easy transition to army life. His school teacher enlisted at the same time, and was soon promoted to the captaincy of the company. In addition with "Little Gib," as he was called, marched about twenty young men of the neighborhood, true friends, his ideals of manhood, whose departure, if he had been left behind in the little depopulated Ohio village, would have rendered him more genuinely homesick than he ever was among the familiar faces in the army. Then, too, he was engaged in what was, to him, the most delightful task in the world, and one at which he was an adept—drumming. He drummed in the regimental band, as well as in the field, and so became the pet and pride of the entire regiment.



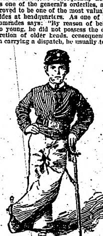
"Little Gib" When He Enlisted.

Brave and Modest.

At Nashville, Tenn., the colonel had a short, small sword especially made for him, and the entire regiment followed the gift with the present of a handsome drum and shield. While here the first of the accompanying pictures were taken, Gilbert being at the time a month or so past the age of eleven.

Young as he was, there was no better or more faithful soldier in Sherman's army.

Indeed, it was his extreme youth that, added to his natural disposition, tended to keep him quiet and modest in demeanor, while his love for his work rendered him attentive to his duties. His comrades looked out for him and saw that his willingness did not result in his injury. When, after the battle of Resaca, the duties of his position became too arduous on account of the heavy marches, he was detailed to act as "dispatch carrier" at division headquarters, under Gen. Ward. In this capacity he served through all the battles of the famous "march to the sea." At Milledgeville, Ga., some of the soldiers captured a pony, which the general decided should be turned over to "Little Gib." Being thus mounted, he subsequently acted as one of the general's orderlies, and proved to be one of the most valuable aides at headquarters. As one of his comrades says: "By reason of being so young, he did not possess the discretion of older heads, consequently, in carrying a dispatch, he usually took the most direct route, regardless of the danger."



Gib When Mustered Out of Service.

At the "muster out" in Washington, June, 1865, when the second of the pictures was taken, Gilbert being at the time thirteen years and six months of age, he was as genuine a boy as when he had enlisted three years before. Just as no money in the world could have tempted him to part with Lieut. Elwood's half dollar, so the pony which had been assigned to him by his general, and was dearer to him than the coin, or his sword and drum, and shield, inasmuch as it had been more friend and companion than possession, ranked in his estimation above the honors that men generally esteem of the greatest value. He knew as a good soldier, that the pony, having been confiscated, was Uncle Sam's property, and so, with a boy's directness, went straight to headquarters to gain his heart's desire, its possession as his own. He called on President Johnson and requested permission to take it home. The president asked him which he would prefer, to have the pony or receive a commission as an officer. "Little Gib," childlike, replied, "Please, sir, I want my pony." So the president gave orders that it should be his, and receive free transportation with him to his home in Ohio, where, to round out the story in the proper manner, "they lived happily together" until its death in 1872.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

COMPRESSED AIR TO THE FRONT.

As a Power Its Advantages Are Very Rapidly Being Recognized.

Compressed air as a power is coming to the front so rapidly that electricians regard it as a dangerous rival. The men who make the machinery for compressing, storing, transmitting and supplying air have made wonderful improvements within the last few years, and to-day they succeed in retaining fully 90 per cent of the initial energy. Ten years ago a compressed air drill that was able to utilize 50 per cent of the power which compressed the air was regarded as a first-class tool, but drills are working to-day which develop 90 per cent of the "prime power.

Two years ago in this column the value and advantages of compressed air as a power were given at length. Since then the clean, safe, flexible, elastic and responsive power has developed so largely that it has become popular, and runs street cars and locomotives, raises sunken vessels, and does many other useful things. It paints buildings and steers ships. It shears sheep and dusts carpets. It mines coal, iron and precious metals, and lifts water out of wells. It carves stone and cleans castings. It mixes chemicals and explosives and runs clocks. It has thrown out belts and shaftings in many machine shops, and it operates sewing machines in private houses. It carries mail and operates block signals. It acts as a refrigerator and propels fish torpedoes, and it does a thousand and one other things as well.

Just at present compressed air motors for street cars are exciting considerable attention, and it is predicted by mechanical engineers that within a few years compressed air will displace trolley cars on many street car roads.

The compressed air men are so confident that their favorite power will take the place of electricity in many things that they are talking of using the current from the Niagara Falls electric plant to operate compressors at distant points and using the compressed air for work at the place of consumption, claiming that by this double arrangement more power can be developed.

It is claimed that the greatest future of compressed air lies in its application to traction purposes. In Rome, N. Y., the Hardie system of compressed air street cars is in use.—Chicago Record.

Rugs Destroy an Echo.

An echo that has been bothering the court house authorities ever since the erection of that building has at last been overcome. This morning J. Foster Warner, the architect of the building, and a number of workmen, took possession of the special term court room, on the third floor, and with a pile of rugs and draperies proceeded to make tests. The first thing done was to cover the floor with heavy Japanese rugs. The effect of this was magical. Not an echo could be noticed, and the acoustics of this room were perfect. Architect Warner said that his idea was to solve the difficulty by trying the most effective plan first; then he would gradually take away the materials little by little, leaving only as much in the room as necessary. He thought that the draperies, which would be hung, would be all that was needed. Rugs would not be used, he said, unless absolutely necessary, as the marble floors were not nearly as noisy as was expected, and were more cleanly.—Rochester Union.

An Extra Chair.

Do, in pity's name try to have an extra chair or two on your piazza. Here is where you expect to entertain your friends for the next three months, if you are in town, and yet you count noses and let it go at that. There are just seats enough and no more for the family. If a visitor appears everybody jumps and everybody offers a seat. Then the youngest members, or some unfortunate man of the family, attempt the roosting process. He tries the porch, railing, the top of the steps or anywhere to save getting an extra chair. If the small boy or girl is out in the cold, he or she balances on the arm of a porch rocker until its occupant is about driven frantic.

Have a wash-bench when you can't afford anything better. It is fine when cushioned if stationed in a corner where it will be given a back. The cheapest contrivance is better than the general stampede that is bound to occur when piazza chairs are limited, a stampede that suggests instant flight to the intruder.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Naked Savages on the Wheel.

The naked savages of the South Pacific Islands are to taste the delights of cycling. Oscar Pomare, prince of the Island of Bora-Bora (one of the largest of the Society group), having been educated in Europe and learned to cycle himself, is returning with a dozen machines, which he intends to introduce among the aristocracy of Bora-Bora, to whom he will set the fashion as a wheelman. Here is an idea for the enterprising British trader. If the nigger will not buy our cotton goods and blankets as much as before, and looks askance upon our offers of cheap Bibles and hymn books, perhaps he will buy our machines. If the subject races of mankind were once bitten with the cycling craze, what tons upon tons of ivory and shiploads of oil and fiber might be obtained in exchange for a few pneumatics! It is, perhaps, unnecessary to say that Prince Pomar is not taking English machines out with him. His wheels are of the American make.—St. James Budget.

Different Now.

Hodge—Too bad that you have to work nights in addition to the long hours that you put in during the day.

Henson—Oh, I don't have to work nights. I get through at 5 o'clock every day.

Hodge—Why, your wife told my wife that you had to work until 11 or 12 o'clock every night.

Henson—Yes; but you know my wife is away from home now.—Cleveland Leader.

Reciprocity.

"And would you die for me?" the fair young thing asked.

"Well," the cruel man replied, as he fondled the golden braid that was hanging down her back, "I suppose it would be only doing the fair thing, since you seem to have bleached for me."

Whereupon a solemn stillness enfolded them.—Cleveland Leader.

WIT AND HUMOR

A Disappointment.

He scrambled up wildly to the spot where the bulletins were being posted. When he reached a place where he could read the announcements his jaw dropped and his lip curled.

"It's just news from the convention, ain't it?" he remarked.

"Yes," replied the man next to him. "What did you expect?"

"I thought it was from the ball game.'

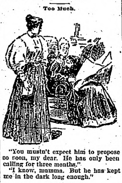
And he sank back through the crowd and boarded a street car.—Washington Star.

He Knew Jinks.

"I'll tell you," remarked Jinks, "honesty is the best policy. My wife used to be dreadfully jealous, and I know she was trying to keep a watch on my actions; so one day I sat down and told her everything that I had done for a week—didn't keep a thing back. She has never bothered me since."

"Ah-" said Kinks. "Got her divorce, did he?"—Chicago Tribune.

Too Much.



"You mustn't expect him to propose so soon, my dear. He has only been calling for three months."

"I know, mamma. But he has kept me in the dark long enough."

The Pulpit in 1900.

The Elder—What a touching sermon our pastor gave us last evening.

The Deacon—Yes; I never heard a more beautiful allusion than he used in closing, when he prayed that the punctured soul might never lack a Bible repair kit by which to inflate his tires with the breath of salvation and search on to the celestial road-house.—New York Press.

Distrustful.

"You didn't say a word to the bride after the ceremony," said Mr. Grumper's wife.

"No; I may be wrong, and I hope I am; but I didn't feel as though I could honestly speak very hopefully of the outlook for her."

"Why not?"

"She's married a young man who can sit gracefully in a hammock and play the guitar.—Washington Star.

Good Time.

"I am tired to death," declared Mrs. Matronly, as she reached home from down town, the other evening.

"What's the matter?" asked her husband.

"Been having baby's picture taken. They have a way of taking them instantaneously now, you know."

"How long were you at it?"

"Three hours and a half."—Detroit Free Press.

The Way Out of It.

A hater of tobacco once asked an old negress, who was addicted to the pipe, if she thought she was a Christian.

"L'spects I is," was the reply.

"Do you expect to go to heaven?"

"Yes, indeedy."

"But the Bible says nothing unclean shall enter there. Now, the breath of a smoker is unclean. What do you say to that?"

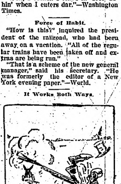
'Well, I reckon I leave m' bref' behin' when I enters dar."—Washington Times.

Force of Habit.

"How is this?" inquired the president of the railroad, who had been away on a vacation. "All of the regular trains have been taken off and extras are being run."

"That is a scheme of the new general manager," said his secretary. "He was formerly the editor of a New York evening paper."—World.

It Works Both Ways.



For the Good of the Community.

"Why," asked the Casual Observer, "did you shoot that tenderfoot?"

"Because," replied the chairman of the Civic Federation, always glad to supply reasonable information, "he would otherwise have died of consumption, and we are trying to have our town recognized as a health resort, you know."—Detroit Tribune.

A Safe Mule.

"Rastus, you infernal nigger, you told me that mule was perfectly safe, and when I went into the stable he nearly kicked the top of my head off."

"Yes, sah; I sayed do mewl was safe, sah. But ef yo kin recollec, I didn't say nuffin' about wedder it was safe in his vicinity. Dat mewl is able enough to be safe anywhar."—Indianapolis Journal.

Possible.

"Why did Mrs. Hawkins discharge her French maid?"

"Incivility."

"What! Why, she struck me as the acme of civility."

"Me, too; but I believe she couldn't understand Mrs. Hawkins' French."—Harper's Bazar.

In the Sweet By and By.

She—You may say what you will, I think that you will find women are less wicked than men. I expect that heaven will be inhabited principally by women.

He—Very likely. The men, of course, will generally be found in the smoking room below.—Boston Transcript.

Freaks Have Their Woes.

"Alas!" cried the two-headed girl. "Alas! Alas! Ah, woe is me!" And bowing a head upon each hand she burst into a flood of tears.

"What's the matter with her?" asked the fat woman.

"She's sorry," answered the living skeleton, "that she didn't remain single."—Chicago Tribune.

A Different Motive.

"What a lot of respect everybody seems to pay that rich Mrs. Beasley. They don't leave her alone for a single moment."

"That isn't respect."

"What is it?"

"Don't you know? She is a kleptomaniac."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cause and Effect.

Enamored Youth—Your father seems worried about something to-night.

Sweet Girl—Yes, poor pa has so many business cares.

Little Brother—That isn't it. He's mad because the big dog he bought didn't come.—New York Weekly.

Great Scheme.

Lowfer—I notice you have put an orchestra in your restaurant. Did you do it on the theory that music aids digestion?

Mr. Eatonhouse—No; the music sets the boarders' teeth on edge, and they bite the toughest beefsteak with the greatest ease.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

No Diversion to Him.

"That spiritual medium played Pidger a mean trick last night."

"What was it?"

"He asked to have some gifted conversationalist materialized, and they called up his mother-in-law."—Chicago Record.

Hard To Believe.

Mrs. Truegold—Well, it can at least be said of Mrs. Hardup that she is a lady.

Mrs. Justrich—Is it possible? Why, they say she does her own work!—Cleveland Leader.

That Makes a Difference.

Lucille—Why do you treat that poor Mr. Wintergreen with so little consideration? I declare, I'm surprised that he puts up with you.

Genevieve—Oh, but we're engaged.

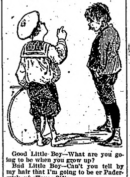
Lucille—Oh!—Cleveland Leader.

Love's Battle Ended.

"No, Mr. Spoonley and I have decided that we are not kindred souls, and I have returned his ring."

Mr. Queensberry Rules—What! You mean that the fight's declared off?"—Brooklyn Life.

A Coming Genius.



Good Little Boy—What are you going to be when you grow up?

Bad Little Boy—Can't you tell by my hair that I'm going to be er Paderwiskey?—Texas Sifter.

Unmitigated Selfishness.

"Ruggles, how does it feel to have a tooth pulled?"

"It cost me a dollar to find out. If you want to know how it feels go and pay for the knowledge like a man."—Chicago Tribune.

Preoccupation.

Mother (severely)—May, did I see Mr. Dashaway stroking your hair on the piazza last evening?

May—Yes, ma, but that's only force of habit.

Mother—Habit? What do you mean?

May—Why, he stroked his college boat, you know.—New York Press.

What They Mean.

"What do the papers mean when they say: 'The popular orator's wife modestly withdrew'?"

"I suppose they think she ought to be so tickled that she would go out turning hand-springs." — Chicago Record.

Getting Ready.

Osgood—I guess Matthews intends to run for office this year.

Wyman—What makes you think so?

Osgood—He's removed the fence from around his beautiful lawn.—Cleveland Leader.

Salvation.

Reggy—Here's good news for you. Your grandfather has just died, leaving you a cool hundred thousand.

Willis—Good heavens, what a godsend. Now, thank heaven, I can keep my bicycle in complete repair.—New York World.

Johnnie's Complaint.

Friend of the Family—Johnnie, I suppose you are delighted with the new little brother at your house?

Johnnie—New nuthin'. He's second-hand. The doctor brought him, and there's no tellin' how many families had him before.—Detroit Free Press.

At the Bicycle Races.

Smart Aleck (pompously)—I have no less than four wheels.

Van Sharp—Doesn't their whizzing disturb you nights?—Kansas City World.

A Boy's Idea.

"Mamma," asked the little boy, "what does this story mean by talking about a great-grandmother? Ain't all grandmothers great?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

More Essential.

"Did you tell her that you could not live without her?"

"No; I tried to persuade her that she could not live without me."—World.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,
DR.
PRICE'S CREAM
BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Color Influence.

Balzac's curious speculations suggest the extent to which color influences our human life. He had noticed that a woman who had taste for orange or green gowns was quarrelsome; one who wore a yellow or black apparel, without apparent cause, was not to be trusted; preference for white showed a coquette spirit; gentle and thoughtful women prefer pink; women who regard themselves as being unfortunate prefer pearl gray; lilac is the shade particularly affected by "over-ripe beauties;" therefore, the great author held lilac hats are mostly worn by mothers on their daughters' marriage day and by women more than forty years old when they go visiting.

These theories are founded upon the principles of color, as already laid down—namely, that red and yellow excite; green, tempered by blue, is billous; orange is fiery; gray is cold and melancholy; lilac is a light shade of purple, the most retiring color of the scale.—Philadelphia Press.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 806-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Friendship Shattered.

"I suppose you are fond of Shakespeare?" said one legitimate actor to another.

"Of course I am."

"Then, why in the name of humanity do you insist on acting his plays?" Washington Star.

How to Grow 40c Wheat.

Salzer's Fall Seed Catalogue tells you. It's worth thousands to the wide-awake farmer. Send 4-cent stamp for catalogue and free samples of grains and grasses for fall sowing. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Weary of the Plea.

"What's that girl singing?" said Mr. Topfloor to the bellboy.

"'O, Promise Me,'" replied the boy.

"Well, for goodness sakes, go down and promise whatever she wants, and charge it to my account."—Up-to-Date.

Making His Mark.

She—Have you heard that our minister is to be tried for heresy?

He—Yes. It is quite a distinction for so young a man."—Brooklyn Life.

China's national debt is a mere trifle—something like $200,000,000.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Bryant W. Annin, Minneapolis, Minn., mechanical toy; Clarence D. Chatterton, St. Paul, Minn., runner for bicycle wheels; Levi A. Disbrow, Owatonna, Minn., combined churn and butter-worker; John Lucas, Hastings, Minn., feed-distributor; Michael J. Lyons and L. Beemer, Duluth, Minn., bath apparatus; John Muir, Hunter, N. D., wagon body; Benjamin Porter, Ellendale, N. D., buggy-jack; Joseph G. Romeneske, Rochester, Minn., wagon-seat lock; Henry Seidler, Fort Benton, Mont., attachment for tobacco pipes.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911, 912, Pioneer Press Bldg., St. Paul Minn.

Apple Parties.

A late fad introduced by a woman in Cincinnati is the "apple feast," to replace the afternoon tea drinking. The guests assemble around the table and choose their favorite pippin from the dishes of apples of colors and kinds. The fruit is, supposed to give both beauty and color to women, and it is surprising with what renewed energy a round of social calls can be resumed under the tonic and health-giving influence of the wholesome fruit.

A Victim of Science.

"Your photograph looks like you, but your nose is disgracefully red."

"Yes; I made a mistake and got into one of those places where they photograph in colors."—Chicago News.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

The use of serum in diphtheria has reduced the deaths 50 per cent in German hospitals.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Rural Sophistication.

"Ellen," said old Borderkeep, "here comes them York folks, give the children a little more snuff, an' get 'em ter sneezin'. We've got ter make 'em think it's cool here somehow."—Judge.

A Boon to Art.

"They say crude oil is becoming exhausted."

"Good! Now we shall be spared the infliction of so many crude oil paintings."—Chicago Record.

Ready for It.

"My boy, it is high time a check was placed upon your performances."

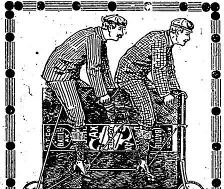
"Thank you, father. Please make it payable on sight."—Detroit Free Press.

The Bane of Beauty.

Beauty's bane is the fading or falling of the hair. Luxuriant tresses are far more to the matron than to the maid whose casket of charms is yet unrifled by time. Beautiful women will be glad to be reminded that falling or fading hair is unknown to those who use

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Kickapoo Indian Oil
QUICK CURE
FOR ALL PAIN.



"A Bicycle Built for Two."

Battle Ax PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

Five cents' worth of "BATTLE AX" will serve two chewers just about as long as 5 cents' worth of other brands will serve one man. This is because a 5 cent piece of "BATTLE AX" is almost as large as the 10 cent piece of other high grade brands.

Minn Hist Soc

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 19, 1896. NUMBER 3.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

People Talked About.

Edwin R. Brown of Elmwood, Ill., who delivered a poem on the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of William Cullen Bryant, is dead.

A laboratory for the examination of patients by the Roentgen rays has been established in Berlin under Prof. Buka of the Polytechnicum.

Edwin R. Brown, editor, lecturer, banker, business man and poet, commonly called the "sage of Elmwood," died at his home at Elmwood, Ill., at the age of seventy-one years.

A four-act play called "La Cubana" in which the revolution in Cuba is used as a background to an interesting plot has just been completed by Robert Wiziarde, a well known writer and librettist.

Dr. William H. Vallette, formerly of Philadelphia, and who is said to have squandered within the past ten years a fortune of $250,000 left him by his grandfather, the late Henry Vallette of Cincinnati, died at Kansas City, Mo., in a boarding house, where for several months he had been provided for by friends.

Accidental Happenings.

Rev. J. W. Scott of Carlyle, Ill., was drowned while bathing in a pond.

Dispatches from New York report twenty-four deaths from heat prostration.

Charles Newberg, aged thirty-five, was drowned while bathing in the Rock river at Moline Ill.

Charles Johnson and Edward Schubel of Chicago, were drowned in the lake by the capsizing of their boat.

Mrs. John Zeller, of Herman avenue, wife of the mayor of Guttenburg, N. Y., was terribly bitten by a dog.

The wreck of a freight train on the Des Moines railroad, near Marengo, Iowa, resulted in the death of four tramps concealed in the cars.

A thirteen-year-old boy of Shelbyville, Ind., in showing his aunt how to use a pistol, shot her in the neck causing instant death.

Two persons were injured by the running down of an express wagon in which they were riding by a Fort Wayne passenger train.

While a party of men were bathing at Benton Harbor, two were caught by the undertow, and in the effort to save them, which was unsuccessful, two others lost their lives.

A carpenter of Grand Rapids while working on the Brewing company's new building, being overcome by the heat, fell from the scaffolding to the ground, a distance of four and a half stories, and was instantly killed.

The Pacific Coast Steamship company's steamer St. Paul went ashore at Point Penos, and will probably be a total wreck. There were about fifty passengers on board, but all were landed safely, and no lives were lost.

Five persons were drowned in the Delaware river, opposite Bridesburg, a suburb of Philadelphia, by the capsizing of a small row boat. The victims are: Amelia Holman and the Misses Breininger of Philadelphia; Charles Minnick, Cincinnati, Ohio; John Trexter, address unknown.

Charles Lange, a Chicago printer, is supposed to have succumbed to the heat beside the St. Paul railroad track, near Waukegan. The dead body of a man was found there, and on it was a card issued to Charles Lange by the Chicago Typographical union, paid to July, 1896.

Three persons were instantly killed and fifteen injured, some probably fatally, by the derailment of a trolley car on the Columbia & Donegal Electric railway, just outside the borough limits of Columbia, Pa. The dead are: Adam Foehlinger, motorman, Henry Smith and an unknown person.

Prairie fires are raging in the Comanche Indian country, southwest of Perry, O. T. Thousands of acres of grain have been swept by the flames, which are aided by the dry condition of vegetation. The fires follow a term of hot winds which have parched vegetation and caused cattle to suffer. The thermometer registered 108 degrees.

While running to a fire at Kansas City, Kas., a heavy hook and ladder truck ran into a pile of rock that had been heaped in the middle of the street and left without a danger signal. The truck was overturned, and Andy McDonald, the driver, was instantly killed his neck being broken, and Assistant Chief James Beggs, Truckman Bert Dill and Hoseman William Clark were all painfully injured.

Crimes and Criminals.

Miss Jennie Shipley, who has for some years been living at Baltimore with Richard Lyons, a carbuilder, as his wife, was brained by the man, who had been made a maniac by the heat.

Two men were shot and killed at a convention of the National party in the Cherokee nation. The victims were Eli Wofford, chief of the police of Tahlequah, and Charles Proctor, a deputy sheriff.

It has developed that Harry K. Brown, exchange clerk of the Bullion and Exchange bank of Carson, Nev., who left San Francisco suddenly about two months ago, is a defaulter to a large extent.

The train containing a portion of the Democratic state canvassing party, headed by ex-Gov. Bloxham, candidate for governor, and prominent candidates for state officers, was fired upon by unknown parties at a point between Welborn and Houston, Tex.

O. H. Winthrop, who is charged with abducting James Campbell, the Honolulu millionaire, and confining him in a house at San Francisco for several days in an attempt to extort $20,000 from him, was captured by the police at Oakland.

Policeman L. O. James routed a crowd of boys from a swimming pool in West Newark, Ohio, and placed the youngsters under arrest. While standing near the bank the officer's attention was diverted and the boys threw him into the creek. Every lad escaped.

Harvey Allender shot and killed Miss Wally Fiehner and V. Crossette at San Jose, Cal., and then attempted to kill himself, but failed. The shooting occurred in a crowded street and created intense excitement. Allender was in love with the woman.

Over in Douglas county, Mo., not far from where the Sawyer family was butchered by Ed Peary recently, Anna Harris, the eighteen-year-old daughter of a farmer, was knocked senseless by some unknown person, who had secreted himself in the house. Her assailant then undertook to cover up his villainous act by setting fire to the bed, but the fire was discovered in time to save the building. The young woman is in a precarious condition.

Foreign Gossip.

News has been received from Spitzbergen that Prof. S. Andree has discovered four rents in his balloon.

St. Cloud, Sevres and Ville d'Avray are suffering from the effects of the police raids on the Bois de Boulogne, the vagrants who are driven out of it taking refuge in the St. Cloud forest across the river.

On the second day of the Birmingham August meeting Pierre Lorillard succeeded in landing another first, his horse Draco winning the Doddington stakes of 150 sovereigns for two-year-olds from a field of seven starters.

Owing to the increased importance of the commercial relations between Germany and Venezuela the German government has promoted Count von Rex, the diplomatic representative at Caracas, to the rank of minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary.

A rebellion has broken out in the center of the Island of Formosa. Hoonim, the camphor center, was attacked on the 27th of June. It is supposed the few Japanese there, numbering about a dozen, including the gendarmes, were killed and it is feared that D. D. Ollia, a European, has also fallen a victim.

Mrs. Gladstone, writing to a teacher of elocution, says: "I trust that in all your efforts you will lay the foundation particularly in careful and distinct articulation. However, I fear the English are behind all the nations of Europe. The Scotch and Irish are, I believe, somewhat better."

Sir George and Lady Boden-Powell will soon start for the Arctic region in their yacht. Their first intention was to follow in the track of Nansen; but they have altered their plans, and will first take some eminent astronomers to Nova Zembla to observe the coming eclipse of the sun.

Joseph Chamberlain, since he has become secretary of state for the colonies, has scandalized the bureaucrats by habitually giving news to the press, and early one morning actually sent out cigars and whisky to the reporters waiting for official news announcing Jameson's capture at Johannesburg.

Adjoining the president's house in Pretoria is the austre little church where Oom Paul is on Sundays accustomed to pray. He is the most regular member of the congregation; he often leads the service, and preaches when he is in the mood. He draws very large audiences.

Reforms are being pushed through the Transvaal legislature, now that the danger from British aggression is past. The lower house has repealed the law that disqualified Catholics from holding office, while the upper house has passed a liquor law forbidding the sale of spirits to natives in the Rand gold fields.

A piece of Gobelin tapestry, 15x10, originally ordered by President Carnot, has just been completed on President Faure's order. M. Carnot, who was extremely sensitive to draughts, had the tapestry made to protect his back at public ceremonies. The design represents a lion bound by chains of flowers by two Cupids, with two large figures of Truth and Justice.

Otherwise.

Mrs. Friedman, who was prostrated by heat at Peoria, was found dead in bed.

The National Shoe and Leather Exchange reports the failure of E. S. Sanborn & Co. of Lynn, Mass., manufacturers of ladies' shoes.

L. D. Apsley, congressman from the Fourth Massachusetts district, has absolutely refused to accept a renomination.

A forty-four-year-old chancery case has just been decided by Justice Chitty, and there was a little money left for the contestants.

A schoolboy eleven years of age, of Bay City, Mich., died in the horrible agonies of hydrophobia, as the result of being bitten by a mad cat last June.

Ex-President Benjamin Harrison is an avowed candidate for the seat in the United States senate, which is now occupied by the "Tall Sycamore of the Wabash," Daniel W. Voorhees.

A dispatch from Chattanooga, Tenn., reports that H. Clay Evans declines to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the Nashville convention.

In New York City the knee-breeches makers the socialist tailors and the sailor-jacket makers, 5,100 strong, threaten to go on strike in sympathy with the trousers and vest-makers now on strike.

The past week in St. Louis has been the hottest known in that city for many years and from the resulting prostration twenty-seven corpses lie in the morgue and the hospital is crowded.

Five hundred of the operatives of the T. G. Plant works, at Lynn, Mass., at the close of their day's work gave up their places to join a strike in sympathy with the lasters, who left several days ago.

Matt Brand, an aged German living at Sioux City, Iowa, has aroused the sympathy of the officers of the Humane society by the harrowing tale of the ill treatment to which he claims his daughter has subjected him for many months.

District Attorney Foote of San Francisco has received instructions from Attorney General Harmon to dismiss the eight suits brought by the government several months ago to recover 60,000 acres of agricultural and timber lands in California, Oregon and Arizona. This land is valued at $500,000.

KEYNOTE SOUNDED

BRYAN AND SEWALL NOTIFIED OF THEIR NOMINATION.

The Ceremonies Occur in Madison Square Garden in the Presence of an Immense Audience — The Nominees Make Speeches in Reply to Notification Speechs and Sound the Keynote of the Campaign.

New York, Aug. 14. — A vast assemblage of people which gathered to witness the notification of William Jennings Bryan and Arthur Sewall, respectively, as nominees for president and vice president on the Democratic ticket, was called to order last night in Madison Square Garden by Chairman Jones, of the national committee. Senator Jones said: "I am directed by the national committee to name for your chairman Hon. Elliott Danforth of New York. Those in favor will say aye." There was a chorus of ayes and the motion was declared carried. Mr. Danforth said:

"It becomes my agreeable duty, by direction of the Democratic committee, to act as presiding officer of this meeting. As a member of the notification committee from the State of New York I am glad to extend to all our visiting brethren from every portion of this broad land who have come to witness this ceremony to-night, a cordial and hearty welcome. This gathering is for the purpose of affording an opportunity for the formal notification of the Democratic nominees for president and vice president of the United states of their nomination. You did not expect from me a speech, and in that you will not be disappointed. I have pleasure in presenting to you as chairman of the notification committee, the distinguished governor of Missouri, the Hon. William J. Stone. Gov. Stone stepped to the front of the platform, and when the outburst of appause had subsided, delivered the notification.

Mr. Bryan Notified.

Gov. Stone began by reviewing the progress of the free silver movement. He upheld the chicago platform and denounced those who declared that the convention was composed of Populists, socialists and anarchists. He said that the delegates were senators, governors, congressmen, merchants, professional men, farmers and mechanics, and represented the patriotic people of the country. In conclusion he paid a high compliment to the personal character of Mr. Bryan.

At the conclusion of Gov. Stone's remarks, he handed to Mr. Bryan an engrossed copy of the resolution of notification adopted by the committee on notification.

When Mr. Bryan took the parchment there was a wild outburst of applause, and while it was still filling the hall, Chairman Danforth said: "The next speaker needs no introduction at my hands, for his name is a household word throughout the land. I have the pleasure of presenting to you the Democratic nominee for president of the United States, Hon. William J. Bryan."

The applause continued for some minutes and was renewed again and again, Mr. Bryan standing and waiting for an opportunity to begin his speech. Finally National Chairman Jones said: "I appeal to this crowd to be in order. Please be in order." No attention was paid to the appeal. Mr. Danforth in turn said: "Will the audience be in order? Let the audience be in order." Finally Mr. Bryan himself managed to still the applause, and began his speech amidst comparative silence.

Bryan's Speech.

The nominee was given an ovation. He began by saying:

"We do not under-estimate the forces arrayed against us, neither are we unmindful of the importance of the struggle in which we are engaged; but relying for success upon the righteousness of our cause, we shall defend with all possible vigor the positions taken by our party. We are not surprised that some of our opponents, in the absence of better argument, resort to abusive epithets, but they may rest assured that no language, however violent, no invectives, however vehement, will lead us to depart a single hair's breadth from the course marked out by the national convention. The citizen, either public or private, who assails the character and questions the patriotism of the delegates assembled at the Chicago convention, assails the character and questions the patriotism of millions who have arrayed themselves under the banner there raised."

He denied that the platform attempted to dispute the authority of the supreme court, and said that he offered no apology for the income tax plank. Touching the money question, he said, in part:

"It is scarcely necessary to defend the principle of bimetallism. No national party during the entire history of the United States has ever declared against it, and no party in this campaign has had the temerity to oppose it. Three parties — the Democratic, Populist and Silver parties—have not only declared for bimetallism, but have outlined the specific legislation necessary to restore silver to its ancient position by the side of gold. The Republican platform expressly declares that bimetallism is desirable when it pledges the Republican party to aid in securing it as soon as the assistance of certain foreign nations can be obtained, and the minority in the Democratic convention only oppose free coinage by independent action because of the fear that it would prevent international bimetallism. The gold standard has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. Take from it the powerful support of the money-owning and money-changing classes and it cannot stand for one day in any nation of the world. It was fastened upon the United States without discussion before the people, and its friends have never yet been willing to risk a verdict by the voters upon that issue. There can be no sympathy or co-operation between the advocates of a universal gold standard and the advocates of bimetallism. Between bimetallism—whether independent or international, and the gold standard there is an impassable gulf.

"Farmers know that their condition is worse under the gold standard. Wage-earners have been injured by a gold standard. While a gold standard raises the purchasing power of a dollar it also makes it more difficult to obtain possession of the dollar; they know that employment is less permanent, loss of work more probable and re-employment less certain. It is only necessary to note the increasing number of failures in order to know that a gold standard is ruinous to merchants and manufacturers. The professional classes in the main receive their support from the producing class, and can only enjoy prosperity when there is prosperity among those who create wealth.

"It is not strange that those who have made a profit by furnishing gold to the government in the hour of its extremity favor a financial policy which will keep the government dependent upon them. I believe that I speak the sentiment of the vast majority of the people of the United States when I say that a wise financial policy administered in behalf of all the people would make our government independent of financiers, foreign or domestic.

"What shall it profit us to have a dollar which grows more valuable every day if such dollar lowers the standard of civilization and brings distress to the people? What shall it profit us if, in trying to raise our credit by increasing the purchasing power of our dollar, we destroy our ability to pay debts already contracted by lowering the purchasing power of the products with which these debts must be paid? If the holders of fixed investments will not listen to arguments based upon justice and equity; I appeal to them to consider the interests of posterity. We are not asking that a new experiment be tried. We are insisting upon a return to a financial policy approved by the experience of history and supported by all the prominent statesmen of our nation from the days of the first president down to 1873.

"We contend that free and unlimited coinage by the United States alone will raise the bullion value of silver to its coinage value and thus make silver bullion worth $1.29 per ounce in gold throughout the world. This proposition is in keeping with natural laws, not in defiance of them.

International Bimetallism.

"In conclusion permit me to say a word in regard to international bimetallism. We are not opposed to an international agreement looking to the restoration of bimetallism throughout the world. The advocates of free coinage have on all occasions shown their willingness to co-operate with other nations in the reinstatement of silver, but they are not willing to await the pleasure of other governments when immediate relief is needed by the people of the United States, and they further believe that independent action offers better assurance of international bimetallism than servile dependence upon foreign aid. For more than twenty years we have invited the assistance of European nations, but all progress in the direction of international bimetallism has been blocked by the opposition of these who derive a pecuniary benefit from the appreciation of gold. How long must we wait for bimetallism to be brought to us by those who profit by monometallism? If the double standard will bring benefits to our people who will deny them the right to enjoy those benefits?

"If our opponents would admit the right, the ability and the duty of our people to act for themselves on all public questions without the assistance and regardless of the wishes of other nations, and then propose the remedial legislation which they consider sufficient, we could meet them in the field of honorable debate; but when they assert that this nation is helpless to protect the rights of its own citizens we challenge them to submit the result to a people whose patriotism has never been appealed to in vain. We shall not offend other nations when we declare the right of the American people to govern themselves, and without let or hindrance from without, decide upon every question presented for their consideration. In taking this position we simply maintain the dignity of seventy million citizens who are second to none in their capacity for self-government."

The delivery of Mr. Bryan's speech consumed nearly two hours, and its finish was greeted with hearty applause. The chairman introduced Vice Presidential Nominee Arthur Sewall and Gov. Stone presented him with the formal notification document. Mr. Sewall, amid much disorder, delivered a brief speech advocating free coinage.

Upon the conclusion of Mr. Sewall's address the meeting was declared adjourned.

NOT FOR ARMENIA.

Report of Anglo-Russian Agreement Is Denied — Discord Among the Powers.

London, Aug. 14.—It is semi-officially stated that there is no truth in a report published by the Daily Chronicle of this city that Great Britain and Russia are on the point of reaching an agreement "to save both Armenia and Crete from Turkish oppression, without disturbing the peace of Europe," which agreement, it was added, would involve the presence of a Russian army in Armenia and of a British fleet at Crete "to guarantee Turkish compliance with the terms of the agreement." It is stated, on the other hand, that there is great discord among the powers as to the measures which should be adopted in regard to Crete and Russia, it is further asserted, is showing marked disinclination to allow great pressure to be brought to bear upon the sultan.

The Spanish government is inviting tenders in England for the construction of a floating dock at Havana.

Farmer Breaks His Neck.

Dell Rapids, S. D., Aug. 14. — I. O. Brennie is dead. He was stacking grain on his farm when he lost his footing and fell to the ground, breaking his neck. He lived only two hours.

Mollah Reza Hanged.

Teheran, Aug. 14.—Mollah Reza, who assassinated the late shah of Persia in May last, was hanged here this morning in the presence of an immense concourse of people.

BAD FOR SAMOANS

THE POOR NATIVES ARE BEING GOVERNED TO DEATH.

Consul General Mulligan, in a Report to the State Department, Says That Under the Tripartite Government of the United States Great Britain and Germany, the Condition of the Natives Grows Worse.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Consul General James L. Mulligan, at Apia, Samoa, has made a voluminous report to the state department upon the conditions of the islands. A portion of the report is devoted to a review of the government of the islands by the United States, Great Britain and Germany, under the Berlin treaty. This treaty, Mr. Mulligan concludes, was a mistake, and to maintain it is to persist in a mistake. "The present status," he says, "is an injustice to the people of the United States and a grave wrong to those of Samoa. If it be said that the treaty, so far as it concerns Samoa, has made matters no worse, it can be claimed with equal truth that it has failed to make them better in any particular. The admission of either postulate is to confess a failure."

As to the present government of Samoa, he says:

"A recognized and reigning king is dependent for his support on the voluntary contributions—the charity, in fact—of that portion of his family or tribe who adhere to him, while foreign officers of his government enjoy salaries from his revenues far in excess of the value of services performed. When a pittance of his nominal salary, long in arrears, is doled out to him, it comes through the hands of the foreign official, who exercises his pleasure to pay or withhold; his lawful wife is in no sense queen, nor no more entitled to consideration than the half-clad women who file back and forth along the beaches. A straggling village, within and part of the kingdom, levies import and export duties on every dollar's worth of merchandise brought into or shipped out of the kingdom, lending out of its revenues to the kingdom barely enough to pay the most meager expenses and the salaries of foreign officials.

"All the machinery of government—perhaps it is not too much to say of several governments—is in active operation within the precincts of this little town. The guns of great men-of-war, year in and year out, frown officiously upon the shore in support of the government and the law which does not exist within their effective range; and yet an offender within half a dozen miles of the seat of so many authorities defies the processes of the court and rebuffs the power of the invalided government. In the midst of all, white clad messengers of the crown and consul flit to and fro along the blazing beach, the bearers of imposing envelopes in which are covered the stately communications that round out the measures of time in this kindergarten of diplomacy.

In the meantime no clearing is made, no plantation is extended. The country which, at best, under its many disadvantages, needs all the stimulus of peace, all the security that government can secure, visibly languishes. There is no immigration, influx of capital or suggestion of enterprise. All wait for that undefined something—that change which is to come; wait as they have waited for thirty years; wait for the abrogation of the treaty, as they and their fathers waited for its coming."

Only a small part of the islands, he says, are under control of this government. Back from the shore and the town, the people do as they please. The treaty made by three governments for the government of a third is not considered a success.

McKinley Will Not Speak.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 18.—Maj. McKinley and Chairman Hanna met at the latter's home in this city last night and talked over the campaign. Mr. Hanna said he was very much pleased with the progress of affairs. More than 15,000,000 documents had been mailed from the Chicago headquarters within the past two weeks. Mr. Hanna said the speaking campaign would probably be well under way within the next ten days. When asked if Maj. McKinley would take the stump, Mr. Hanna replied: "Maj. McKinley has made no change in his plans. He will not take the stump in this campaign. It has been hinted that he might go to Milwaukee to address the convention of the Republican League. He will not do so."

Spain Would Make Us Pay.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The Spanish government is preparing a big bill of damages to be presented to the United States on account of the numerous expeditions alleged to have gone from our shores to the relief of the Cuban insurgents. In support of its claim it intends to invoke the precedent established against Great Britain in the celebrated Alabama claim awards made by the Geneva arbitration tribunal.

Tragedy in a Convention.

Wagoner, Ind. T., Aug. 18. — Two men were shot and killed and another mortally wounded at the annual convention of the National party in the Cherokee Nation, ten miles north of Tablequan, to-day.

Planing Mill Burned.

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 18.—The plant of the Green Bay Planing Mill company burned to-day. The cause of the fire is unknown. Loss, $60,000; insurance, $13,000.

Painters Will Strike.

New York, Aug. 18. — A general strike of painters has been ordered to take place to-morrow, which will include men in other trades who will quit work in sympathy with them in the shops of the contractors who are paying wages less than the union scale of $3.50 for eight hours' work a day. It is said that nearly 1,000 workmen will go on strike.

The filibustering tug Three Friends has been seized by United States officials at Jacksonville, Fla.

LABOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

Gov. Clough Declares Monday, Sept. 7 a General Holiday.

St. Paul, Aug. 18.—Gov. Clough has issued the following Labor day proclamation:

"Whereas, by a legislative enactment of this state, the first Monday of September in each year has been set apart as Labor day, to be observed as a general holiday;

"Now, therefore, I, D. M. Clough, governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby recommend and request that on Monday, Sept. 7, 1896, all places where labor is employed be closed and that every possible opportunity be given all who labor to celebrate the day in a manner befitting the purpose to which it is dedicated.

"The interests and happiness of all are inseparably connected with the interests and happiness of labor, and it it fitting and proper that all men, employers and employes, should lay aside their usual avocations for the day and, joining hands in one common brotherhood, seek to teach all men the dignity of labor and to foster among them a spirit of mutual confidence and respect. Therefore, let all good citizens gather together in public assemblies and seek to promote harmony and cooperation between employers and employes, and by other fitting ways seek to recognize the worth of honest toil and consider ways and means for elevating and improving the condition of the wage earners in our midst."

COL. KIEFER WITHDRAWS

From the Republican Congressional Contest.

St. Paul, Aug. 18. — For some time the rumor that Col. Kiefer was contemplating withdrawing from the contest for the Republican nomination for congress in this district has been current. To-day Col. Kiefer broke his silence and verified the rumor by giving out for publication an open letter to his friends, in which he formally withdraws his name from their consideration. He takes occasion at the same time to put a quietus upon another rumor that he intended to make an independent run for the place. Col. Kiefer renews his vows of loyalty to the Republican party, and expresses his earnest desire that a Republican may be chosen to the office he now holds. This action on Col. Kiefer's part gives Hon. F. C. Stevens a clear field for the nomination, as no other candidate has been mentioned. The nomination is likely to be tendered him by acclamation.

TRIP OF MINNESOTA EDITORS.

Arrangements Are Completed for the Annual Excursion.

St. Paul, Aug. 18. — The executive committee of the Minnesota Editors and Publishers' association has completed arrangements for the annual excursion of the association. The excursion will leave St. Paul on the morning of Tuesday, Sept. 8, visit Mackinac island, by way of the lakes, and return to St. Paul Saturday morning, Sept. 12. The members will meet at the Windsor hotel Tuesday morning. They will go directly to Duluth, where they will take the steamer Northwest for Mackinac island, making a short stop at Sault Ste. Marie. They will reach Mackinac Wednesday evening, and they will leave Thursday morning. On their return trip they will be entertained at Duluth, and an entertainment will be given for the association Friday evening.

PRESS DAY AT THE FAIR.

Newspaper Men Will Prepare the Programme for Saturday.

St. Paul, Aug. 18. — The newspaper men are to have charge of the programme at the state fair Saturday, Sept. 5. The fair management will give the entire receipts of the grand stand that day to the state editorial association and the St. Paul and Minneapolis Press clubs, the members of which are expected to furnish the entertainment.

Leaps Into the River.

St. Paul, Aug. 18.—An unknown man jumped from the west railing of the Robert street bridge at 9:30 o'clock last evening. He presumably met death in the waters of the river, as the body has not been recovered. The plunge was made from the middle span of the bridge, ninety feet above the water. The suicide's leap to death was witnessed by Miss Kate Casey and her brother Joseph, children of William Casey, of No. 117 East Fairfield avenue. They saw a man mount the rail on the west side and in a twinkling disappear from view.

Bonesteele Held for Murder.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 18. — Developments at the inquest take from J. L. Bonesteel, slayer of Frank H. Cole, the claim of an "outraged husband," and makes the killing a cold-blooded and deliberate murder. Bonesteel has been a brutal husband and lived off the earnings of his wife for years, and a few days before the murder deserted her and told her he would not live with her again. On the night of the murder he broke into the house and proceeded to Cole's room, where he found his wife, and shot her companion dead. Bonesteele has been held for murder in the first degree.

Horses Burned.

St. Paul, Aug. 18—Thirty-four horses were roasted to death at 1 o'clock this morning by the burning of a barn on Armstrong street. They were owned by Horejs Bros., the bakers. Besides the horses, it contained twelve wagons and four carriages, all of which were consumed. The Horejs brothers say that 3,000 bushels of oats were stored in the building, and they estimate the loss at between $7,000 and $9,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

Accused of Assault.

Madelia, Minn., Aug. 18. — John W. Anderson, a butcher charged with assaulting the eight-year-old daughter of John W. Miller, was by the court commissioner bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Anderson has been a respected member of society.

Theosophist Crusaders.

Paris, Aug. 18.—The American crusaders who are here in the interest of theosophy opened a theosophical mission for the benefit of the members of the English-speaking colony to-day.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Philo S. Whiteman, a switchman, was run over and killed at St. Paul.

An unknown man committed suicide at Wildwood, White Bear lake.

The state fair this year promises to be of great value to the entire Northwest.

Two young people eloped from Northfield on a tandem, but were arrested at Hastings.

The residence of Tom Langlay, at Delano, was totally destroyed by fire. Loss, $500; fully insured.

Joseph Gross and Caddie Buttrick, while getting from a row boat to a sail boat, near the dock at Pine City, were drowned. The bodies were recovered.

A body was found at Wells, supposed to be that of a newsboy who disappeared in March, 1894. He was evidently murdered.

Amos Shallman, a young man of eighteen years, was drowned in the Root river about six miles from Chatfield.

Peter and Nicholas Everling, aged thirteen and eleven, were drowned while bathing. One body has been recovered.

The house of Joseph Mahany, three and a half miles southeast of Byron, was destroyed by fire, together with its contents. Insured for a small sum.

Col. George Healy, a pioneer of Olmsted county and state, died at Rochester. He was born in Cayuga county, N. Y., in 1812. He accumulated a large fortune, considerable of which has been left to charitable institutions.

James Thompson, aged about fifty years, an employe of the Brainerd Lumber company, was killed on the landing at Brainerd while unloading logs. Five logs rolled over him, crushing him into a unrecognizable mass.

Stephen O'Donovan, a well-to-do farmer living a few miles east of Graceville, was kicked in the stomach by a horse and died from the effect of the injury an hour later, before medical assistance could be had.

A sneak thief named Samuel Wright of Minneapolis was sentenced to 210 days in the county jail by Justice Newell of Hastings upon three charges of larceny. At the time he was arrested he had with him for protection a vicious canine.

Lamberton is now having erected an eight-room brick school house at a cost of $15,000, to be completed for occupancy after the holidays. Erick, Lund & Co., Minneapolis, have the contract. The Smead system of heating will be used.

A fatal accident occurred at Crookston whereby W. C. Talleda, a brakeman on the Great Northern railway, and a highly respected citizen, was instantly killed. While making a coupling his foot was caught between the rails and his body ground to pieces.

Erick Anderson, a Swedish laborer, whose home is at Iron River, Wis., was drowned in the Mississippi river at St. Cloud. He was playing on a plank and, being unable to swim, fell off and drowned in about ten feet of water. The man had no family.

Lightning struck two large barns west of Princeton, totally destroying them, together with several head of horses, 100 tons of hay and a lot of farm machinery. G. McFarland and L. Rochfort were the owners. Small insurance.

William Soure, a man about fifty years of age, at Lakefield, took a dose of laudanum, and died. He was supposed to be a little off in his mind. He was an old soldier, was not a drinking man and was a good citizen. He leaves a wife and three children in moderate circumstances.

A threshing machine exploded at Elgin, north of Rochester, injuring two men seriously. Schuyler Bigelow, the engineer, was blown from the engine, breaking an arm in two places and one leg. The other man was badly scalded. The engine had been condemned, and the men knew the chances they were taking.

The house ocupied by Mr. Williams and family, at Park Rapids, was struck by lightning, the bolt entering the bed room, injuring the bedstead on which Mrs. Williams was sleeping and singeing her hair and clothing, but leaving her uninjured. Lightning also knocked the end out of a granary for S. L. Doran, and caused about 2,000 bushels of wheat to run out on the ground.

Judge David Wilcox, of the municipal court of Sauk Center, has commenced action in the Stearns county district court against the city council of Sauk Center for an alleged libelous resolution adopted by that body Jan. 6, asking him to resign. The resolution was the result of a row over Wilcox's salary. The suit is brought against Alex Moore, W. V. Whipple, J. F. Cooper and A. E. Ewin, all members of the city council.

James Willis, an old employe of the Northern Pacific, fell backwards from a stepladder at Brainerd, while trying to tighten a bolt in the shafting, striking on his head and fracturing his skull. The injured man is about forty-two years of age, has a family of four, and has been at work for the Northern Pacific for twenty years. At the time of his injury he was foreman of the car department. The doctors pronounce the case fatal.

George W. Brandt, aged forty, and Louis Page, aged fourteen, were drowned in the bay at Duluth. Page was in swimming, and got beyond his depth. While he was struggling in the water, near the Northern Pacific bridge, Brandt, who was engineer on the bridge, saw him, and jumped to his rescue. Both soon sank. Brandt's body was recovered soon after, but Page's body has not been found. Mr. Brandt leaves a family.

A party of three registered at the Commercial hotel at Anoka, as Charles Barker, Mary Barker and John Ratcliff, entered the rooms of Hotelkeepwatch and a quantity of other jewwantch and a quantity of oaher jewelry, and left without paying their bills. The theft was not discovered until the following night. They were arrested at Jackson's hotel on suspicion, and all but the watch recovered. They will have a hearing soon, and will be bound over to the grand jury on the charge of grand larceny.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture,
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY.

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday....$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone....................$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year.......... $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—

HELENA	PULLMAN
BUTTE	SLEEPING CARS
SPOKAND	ELEGANT
TACOMA	DINING CARS
SEATTLE	TOURIST
PORTLAND	SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnikeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.
2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.
3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.
4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN,
of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON,
of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives { S. J. LEE, Norman Co.
W. A. MARIN, Polk Co

OUGHT SILVER BE REMONETISED?

I was in Winnipeg a few days ago and while there I met an English gentleman who had lived in the United States and Canada for many years. He was a bright observing man and seemed to have a keen appreciation of the condition of our monetary affairs. Pulling out of his pocket a handful of silver change he selected several pieces from the sixpence up to the crown and said: "The British Empire for the last ten years has been coining these pieces for use in trade in all British Dominion; they are most the exclusive medium of exchange on the street, in the shop and at provision stalls all over the country, I might say it is the only money of the people. While the sovereign, the five pound bank note, and other forms of currency are the money of the wealthy the great importing house and the banks. England gets all the silver from the United States and from Latin American States in form of bullion at fifty-eight to sixty-eight cents per ounce, adds ten per cent. alloy and coins it into these subsidiary coins and pays it out for all purposes at an advance of more than one hundred per cent. Give her forty years more of this favoriteism wrung from you by bribing and corrupting your congressmen and the national debt of the "Tight Little Island" will be extinguished at America's expense; yes, at the expense of the toil and sweat of your suffering millions. Are your people so far reduced by partisianism and love of greed that you can not, dare not rebel?" I did not answer him, to tell the truth I was too exasperated, not at the gentle Britain but at the Noble Scion of Purianism, to permit of speech. But this is only half, indeed not half told. The Lombard and Wall Street bankers purchase our bar silver at the same price before stated and take it to British India and have it coined into Rupees by the Imperial Government mint and the ounce of silver, purchased here for fifty-eight cents to sixty-eight cents realizes to them, when minted, one dollar and thirty-seven cents worth of silver rupees, which will pay for just as much wheat and cotton as it did twenty years ago. Wheat and cotton are bought there on a silver basis, here on a gold basis, and our producers are suffering because of the want of that and fostering care that a great government like ours should exercise for their interest. The restoration of silver to its former monetary value by remonetization will relieve us; the placing of an export duty upon that commodity equal with the current price to its monetary value will practically effect the same purpose. One or the other must be demanded and had or our nation will speedily become bankrupt.

FRANK IVES.

WHY ENGLAND IS FOR GOLD.

The reason why England favors the single gold standard and is so much alarmed by the prospect of the United States abandoning this system and returning to the policy of bimetallism is very plain. The present gold standard tends to benefit her at the expense of this country. An exchange shows very clearly that the greatest possible inducement for Great Britain to have the gold standard at home and the silver standard in India, consists in the fact that by this policy she is enabled to buy our American silver at the ratio of thirty-one pounds of silver for one pound of gold; and then coin it for India at the ratio of fifteen pounds of silver for one pound of gold. By this shrewd dealing between a silver producing country and a silver using colony England more than doubles her gold dollars.

The commercial ratio of silver to gold in the United States is 31 to 1 and the legal ratio between silver and gold in India is 15 to 1. It is, therefore, as plain as anything can be, that for every dollar invested in American silver, England has a clear gain of more than 100 per cent by coining it into the silver money of India. India is called a bimetallistic country and lately gold standard; but the fact is, there is no gold in circulation there among the people. All of the gold that is received by the government and the people of India is drained into England. There are over $950,000,000 of silver in circulation in India, or $3.21 per capita.

All of the duties and taxes of the people of India payable to England must be paid in gold; and thus every gold dollar invested by the English in American silver brings back two dollars from this oppressed colony. Why should England not favor a cheap market to buy silver and a dear one to sell it? Thirty-one to one is for England and 16 to 1 is for America.

Chicago dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer: Mark Hanna is making desperate efforts to induce Chicago merchants to enter upon what he calls a business man's campaign in the interests of Mr. McKinley. Hanna's idea is that business men should "instruct" their employes how to vote. He also hopes through the heads of the great business houses in Chicago to reach the heads of business houses in smaller cities and ultimately to get at the workingmen where they will have no chance to resist.

Thus a man who may not care to attend a McKinley meeting will be compelled to do so if the meeting is held at a shop or store during business hours. When the men assemble weekly for their pay the boss will be on hand with a political orator and after the proprietor has remarked that his business would be ruined by the election of Bryan the politician will enlarge upon the glories of McKinleyism and the gold standard.

P. D. Armour, the packer, is pleased with the idea, and his pigstickers will soon take their first easy lessons in finance. Gold mottoes on pay envelopes have been suggested by Mr. Hanna, and will probably make their appearance shortly in many of the business places controlled by Republicans. It will be a campaign of bulldozing.

A Struggle for Liberty.

S. M. Owen gives a few pertinent remarks on the situation:

"The struggle that is now on is more than a 'free silver' struggle, more than elevating this man or that to office, high or low, more than the distribution of patronage, more than the breaking of rings and combines, even more than the fate of political parties! It is a gigantic struggle for the political and even personal liberty of the American citizen! It has now reached a point where no man can be politically independent unless he is financially independent, or possesses the willingness and courage to wear a martyr's crown. Every day we see more and more evidences of the determination of corporate and monopolistic wealth to frighten, intimidate and coerce men to its uses. Argument and persuasion are not to be the enemy's weapons of offense or defense, but the almost if not quite invincible power of money, most brutally used, is to be invoked to crush the people into obedience to its despotic and devastating rule!"

The prophet who is honored in his own country is one whom the people can trust and tie to, John Lind is such a man. The New Ulm News says of him: Ten years ago Mr. Lind was chosen a member of congress to represent this district, and after having been thrice elected at the end of six years he voluntarily refused another nomination and returned his commission to the people as clean as he had received it. He was one of the youngest members of congress, but took rank with many of the older members. During his last term Wm. J. Bryan, who now leads the bimetallic hosts, was a member of the house, and two young men, who agreed upon the money question, became devoted friends. Mr. Lind is an intelligent gentleman of sincere opinions on public questions, and he has the courage of his convictions. That he retired from public life when his party was in the full tide of its strength, and that he seperated from his life-long political association because he preferred to follow his own conscience in what he believes to be for the public welfare, is sufficient proof of the sound metal that is within him; and that he will make an honest and capable governor of the state of Minnesota, admits of no doubt.

The railroad companies over in Dakota don't seem to be worried over the $1,000,000 increased valuation that was put on them a short time ago. They could stand twice that amount.

Most of the republican papers in Northwestern Minnesota size up Mark Hanna's gold-bug supplements as being too course and refuse to send them out among their readers. Much credit to the republican newspaper boys.

Large manufacturing concerns in the east are carrying out their threats to a certain extent by closing down factories in order to starve their employees and make them vote for McKinley. Mark Hanna is at the bottom of it.

At the peoples party convention held in Roseau county last week it was resolved that no county officer be nominated unless he adhere strictly to the principles of the party and favor total prohibition. They broke the "resolved" at the tail end of the ticket and put in one republican.

Senator Thurston of Nebraska was advertised good and plenty at Duluth for several weeks, but when it came to parade only 308 republican heads were counted and some of these were boys! He (the senator) ought to have known better than to talk gold in one of the best union cities in the United States.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

SOUTH AFRICAN RUINS.

Buildings at Zimbabwe That May Be of King Solomon's Time.

It would seem that at some far distant date a people more civilized than any of the present Kaffir tribes had penetrated into the region we now call Mashonaland and had maintained itself there for a considerable period. Remains of gold workings are found in many parts of that country, and even as far as the southwestern part of Matabeleland—remains which show that mining must have been carried on, by primitive methods no doubt, but still upon a scale larger than we can well deem within the capabilities of the Kaffir tribes as we now see them. There are, moreover, in these regions, and usually not far from some old gold working, pieces of ancient buildings executed with a neatness and finish, as well as with an attempt at artistic effect, which are entirely absent from the rough walls, sometimes of loose stones, sometimes plastered with mud, which the Kaffirs build today.

These old buildings are, with one exception, bits of wall inclosing forts or residences. They are constructed of small blocks of granite of the country, carefully trimmed to be of one size, and are usually ornamented with a simple pattern, such as the so called "herringbone" pattern. The one exception is to be found in the ruins of Zimbabwe, in southern Mashonaland. Here a wall 30 feet high and from 6 to 12 or 14 feet thick incloses a large elliptical space, filled with other buildings, some of which apparently were intended for the purposes of worship.

There are no inscriptions of any kind and few objects, except some rudely carved heads of birds, to supply any indication as to the ethnological affinities of the people who erected this building or as to the nature of their worship. Such indications as we have, however, suggest that it was some form of nature worship, including the worship of the sun. We know from other sources, including the Egyptian monuments and the Old Testament, that there was from very early times a trade between the Red sea and some part of east Africa, and as we know also that the worship of natural forces and of the sun prevailed among the early Semites the view that the builders of Zimbabwe were of Arab or some other Semitic stock is at least highly plausible.

Two things are quite clear to every one who examines the ruins and compares them with the smaller fragments of ancient buildings already mentioned. Those who built Zimbabwe were a race much superior to the Bantu tribes, whose mud huts are now to be found not far from these still strong and solid walls, and those other remains scattered through the country were either the work of that same superior race or, at any rate, were built in imitation of their style and under the influence they had left. But whether this race was driven out or peaceably withdrew or became by degrees absorbed and lost in the surrounding Bantu population we have no data for conjecture. If they came from Arabia, they must have come more than 12 centuries ago, before the days of Mohammed, for they were evidently not Mussulmans, and it is just as easy to suppose that they came in the days of Solomon, 15 centuries earlier.—James Bryce, M. P., in Century.

Drawbacks on High Art.

"I told that lady that in order to get a good photograph she must forget where she was."

"Well?"

"She did it so thoroughly that she went away without making the required deposit."—Chicago Record.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:
IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $8 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties' in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.10
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.01
NE NF and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	6.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 8.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
3 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROOKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 21	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For furthe information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

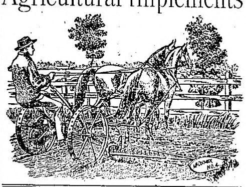
Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞ Warehouse on railroad track. : : : : : : : : : : :

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE
Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M.D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,
Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST..

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	44c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	11c	Eggs	6c
Bar'ey	12c	Beans... (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	57c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Pike fishing is at its best.

As a fisherman—Doc is a failure.

WANTED:—A good new milk cow. See W. A. Arthur.

The carpenter work on the school house was finished last Friday.

Thief River Falls will organize a silver club with a good membership.

No. 1 hard wheat jumped two cents yesterday, and No. 1 Northern one cent.

O. W. Brink set up a new binder Monday in the Black River district.

J. Q. Adams, the jeweler of Red Lake Falls was doing business in the village to-day.

M. Z. Epperson still continues to ship hay in car load lots to eastern markets.

W. H. Higham drove over from Grand Forks to-day. He was accompanied by Bill Browel.

A dice box was the only thing that was saved in a building recently burned at Roseau.

Postmaster Hoff is the first one in the village to have possession of a Mexican dollar.

Col. Stranahan put the last coat of trimming paint on his residence the first of the week.

Mrs. W. A. Arthur and baby, were visiting friends at Thief River Falls a few days last week.

S. M. Dainard has a large crew of men and teams putting up hay—and he will put up lots of it.

St. Hilaire can boast of a 16 to 1 shot—missed 16 and hit 1. It is useless to say what his politics are.

Messrs. Shevlin, Hixon, Arpin and Kelly, all interested in saw mill interests will be here this afternoon.

O. F. Post and Wm. Stranahan walked off with first and second prize at the gun shoot last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Savage will speak in the M. E. church on next Sunday afternoon representing the Homeless Children's home

Deputy game warden Johnson of Crookston went up and down the line Monday with his weather eye open for business.

Mrs. Aslak Olson had the misfortune to break her fore arm the first of the week. Dr. Francis was called and set the fracture.

A basket social will be given at the Norwegian Lutheran church next Friday evening (Aug. 21st.) All are cordially invited.

J. H. Pemo, Emil Brink, Cora Harris and Postmistress Hoff made a pleasure trip to Thief River Falls Sunday afternoon.

H. M. Novotny of the Argyle Banner did the square thing in last week's issue by giving the convention proceedings of all three parties.

The Thirteen Towns fair will be held at Fosston September 10th 11th and 12th. A. W. Foss, the secretary, will give you any information wanted.

Charley Rapp took an early start last Friday and drove over into Marshall county viewing the crop prospects and looking after other matters of importance.

Billy Porter, one of the townsite boomers of Thief River Falls was down the first of the week renewing acquaintances—and he has a host of them.

W. A. Arthur and son Earle drove to Thief River Falls Sunday and were accompanied home by Mrs. Arthur and baby who were visiting friends at that place for a few days.

M. P. DeWolf and son of East Grand Forks, who have been having an outing at Red lake returned home Monday. While stopping over between trains he spent a few hours fishing for wall-eyed pike.

Farmer Hines and the directors are having a little trouble over the proposed road and they came to the conclusion that they can get along with him in building the road. It looks like quits.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Brief But Expressive.

Two dealers trading side by side,
One for his trade on ads. relied;
One to old fogy methods trusted;
The first one's rich, the other's busted.
—L.A.W. Bulletin.

Dan Patterson's new residence will be ready for occupancy by the first of next week. It is one of the best and most complete houses in the Northwest without exception.

The power plow used for getting the streets in shape for paving at Grand Forks don't seem to work in North Dakota gumbo and in consequence broke down several times.

The 300 barrel Standard Oil tank was placed in position last week and everything is now in first-class running order. Dan Patterson will look after the company's interests at this point.

L. T. Bergh returned home Monday from a collecting trip in around Grand Forks. He reports the army worm doing great damage over there and says they clean up a 160 acre tract in less than a day.

The Great Northern on this branch must have changed their time card, as they get in regular an hour later than the old card calls for. Jim should advertise and not disappoint the public by several hours.

Mrs. H. J. Freeman, and two children, who have been visiting friends and relatives at Fon du Lac, Wis., for the past two months returned home Friday very much benefited in health by the change of climate and scenery.

A new steamer will be built at Thief River Falls to draw but nine inches of water. It will be used to carry freight and passengers as far as Highlanding and from there everything will be transferred to larger steamers.

Chas. Howard, superintendent of constructing Standard Oil houses in the northwest completed the house at this point last Friday and left the same day for Crookston where he will make repairs on the house at that place.

St. Cloud Times: Congressman Eddy of the Seventh district is in a Fletcherian fix, judging from the following remark to a Minneapolis Times reporter: "My impression is that I've got a h—ll of a fight on hand in the Seventh district.

The new steamer "Martin Lally" was driven ashore by the heavy wind last week. There is something wrong in the construction of the boat as she is uncontrollable in a heavy breeze. There is talk of remodeling the boat into a side wheeler.

The passengers that were left four miles down the track today with nothing to eat but peanuts, apples and figs, speak real nice words of Jim Hill. Cause of delay:—Heavy loaded with gravel—cut in two and run into town in two sections—that's all.

Frank F. Cook, the practical painter and paper hanger finished his work on the new Patterson residence and left to-day for Thief River Falls where he has several like jobs on hand. Mr. Cook is a first-class workman and thoroughly understands his business.

Mike Willmas of Red Lake Falls, accompanied by his brother Nick, a cigar manufacturer of Osseo, were visiting old time friends of Mike's in this village Friday. Although this was Nick's first trip to St. Hilaire, he secured several orders and promises to call again.

The Arab peddlers are making a tour through this country again. This time they take in exchange for goods; butter, eggs and poultry, etc. These peddlers look a little foolish, but they manage to get the best end of the deal for their inferior goods right along. "Pass them up."

The Plaindealer says the commercial travelers of Grand Forks have been receiving letters from their houses warning them that it will cost them their position if they talk for silver. That is just about as honest as the gold bug party man can be—even a clean conscience is not allowed to its slaves.

Chas. Rapp and Chas. Brink went to Black River yesterday. On their return home they met with a mishap, breaking the buggy pole in such a manner so that it could not even be temporarily repared, and in consequence Charley Brink hitched himself to the buggy and pulled it home—three miles—some say.

According to the abstract of the county auditor, Polk county has 18,000 horses, 15,000 cows, 8,800 sheep, 9,400 hogs, 3,061 dogs, 7,465 wagons and carriages, 2,456 sewing machines, 166 pianos, $280 worth of diamonds and jewelry, and real estate to the assessed value of $5,000,000, of which $597,796 is credited to Crookston.

Items of news this week so far as East Grand Forks is concerned are like money—gol darned scarce. People are becoming so alarmed over the condition of things that even cupid has quit doing business, and as for births—bless you, people are becoming wise. There has not been any this week.—East Grand Forks Courier.

Al. Jewett and Wm. Barragy, who gave the very best of satisfaction as carpenter and painter on the Standard Oil building here, accompanied Chas. Howard to Crookston where they will complete that job and go to Larimore and other points in North Dakota. Mr. Howard says for all around fast and good workers the boys can knock the spots off of any men he has had in his employ.

In the language of the Minto (N.D.) Journal man "there is nothing like a fully developed, ring-tailed, loaded-to-the-mussle hail storm to do a quick job of cutting and threshing." The storm that passed through that section of North Dakota August 7th completely destroyed 100 sections of land with a crop prospect of 640,000 bushels of grain. 250 farms were completely ruined of their crops.

P. H. McPherson, the contracter and builder, who has just completed one of the finest residences in the Northwest, left for his home at Marquette, Manitoba, Monday. Mac, as he is familiarly called is an A No. 1 carpenter, and talks strongly of moving his family here next spring and make this his future home. We always welcome such men among us.

The following is taken from the "Dakota" the leading Scandinavian paper in North Dakota.

"Ole E. Hagen, editor of the Rodhuggeren, has done much good work for the peoples party in Northern Minnesota, and the populists of Polk county honored themselves by nominating him as their candidate for Judge of Probate. He is well qualified for the office, and we expect to see him elected by a big majority."

The following is supposed to be the prayer that the Jewish Rabbi opened up the St. Louis convention with:

"Our father who are in England, hallowed by thy gold, thy kingdom come, thy will be done in America as it is in Britain, give us this day thy wasted crumbs, and forgive us our begging as we forgive those who make beggars of us; lead us not into prosperity, but deliver us from all wealth, for thine is the earth, the bonds and all creation, for ever. Amen."

The Democrats in 1892 acceded to the Populist demand for tariff reform. In 1896 they have acceded to the Populist demand for restoration of the dollar of the daddies. In 1900 they must accede to the Populist demand for government ownership of railroads and telegraphs. The mills of the gods grind slowly, and reforms come one at a time, but already the integrity and advancement of this government rest upon the Populist party.—Sound Money.

What do the common, every day people think of the fact that Senator Thurston, the leading counsellor and attorney of the Gould-Huntington Union Pacific railway system, is stumping the Northwest for McKinleyism? He was president of the republican national convention that nominated McKinley, and now he is stumping the country in the interests (?) of the dear people! How many voters can he fool into the support of the gold-bug and corporation combine that nominated McKinley?—Waseca Herald.

A Free State School for the Deaf.

The school for the education of the deaf children of the state is located at Faribault, Minn.

Board, books, tuition, lights, washing and medical attention are FREE TO ALL deaf children of sound body and mind in the state between eight and twenty five years of age.

Parents are expected to pay clothing and traveling expenses only.

The Probate Judge will furnish information to those who may desire to send their children to school. If further information is desired, apply to the superintendant of the School for the Deaf, Faribault, Minnesota.

If anyone knows of a deaf child, who has not attended school, send the name, and the name and address of the parents to the superintendant or this school.

Next sessions opens September 9th 1896.

When the gold bug stump speaker comes around next fall and tells you that silver has declined in value on account of the increased production ask him why it is that gold has not declined for the same reason. If he says the production of gold has not increased in the same ratio with silver you might show him the following figures devoting the world's production of gold for the years indicated. The figures are from the report of the director of the United States mint and ought to be reliable:

Year.	Ounces.
1886	5,135,679
1887	5,117,861
1888	5,330,875
1889	5,973,790
1890	5,749,306
1891	6,320,194
1892	7,102,180
1893	7,608,787
1894	8,737,788

The production in 1895 rose to nearly 10,000,000 ounces or nearly double the output of 10 years ago.—Ada Herald.

Berry Beds.

Keep the new strawberry beds free from weeds. The hotter and dryer the weather the faster the purslane grows. Keep it hoed out and pull to rot or feed to pigs. When the raspberry and blackberry crops are off cut away the canes that have borne fruit, and thin out the canes or suckers of the blackberries and red raspberries to a sufficient number for next year's fruiting and keep out the grass and weeds, that the canes may get well matured by the end of the season. The work should be so well done that hoeing and cultivating may not be necessary later than the last of the month. No more pinching back of the canes should be done later than the first of the month, lest next year's fruiting buds be forced into growth and the late growth fail to ripen up before severe frosts occur.

Fall Examinations.

The examinations of candidates for teacher's certificates will be held as follows:

August 18th and 19th, Fisher, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls.

August 21st and 22nd, Fosston and Crookston.

September 24th and 25th, East Grand Forks and Fertile.

EXAMINATIONS FOR FIRST GRADE CERTIFICATES.

Crookston, August 20th, 21st, and 22d.

East Grand Forks, September 24th, 25th, and 26th.

Examinations begin promptly at 9 a. m.

1-3 O. McCRILLIS, Co. Supt.

A Borrowing Nation.

I'm nothin' but a hayseed,
An' I work the livelong day
In the barn, the field or medder,
An' I don't see much to say,
An' I don't see menny people—
An' fewer still see me;
But b'gosh I know I'm livin'
In the lan' o' the free.

Squire Jenkin's got a muggige,
On all the lan' I hold;
An' it takes my crops for taxes
An' intres' on his gold,
An' arter I have paid 'em,
Ther aint much left for me,
But b'gosh I know I'm livin'
In the lan' o' the free.

I dunno what's the matter—
Things wasn't allus so;—
Thet muggige didn't seem heavy;
Wheat wasn't half so low,
But no matter what's the matter,
'Tis all the same to me,
For b'gosh I know I'm livin'
In the lan' o' the free.

I hear them silver fellows,
They say in times gone by,
When silver was good money,
My wheat was twice as high,
My intres' an' my taxes
Were as nothin' then to me,
But b'gosh I then was livin'
In a lan' o' the free.

"This is a borrowin' nation,"
So Squire Jenkins said,
An' that's the very reason
I haven't got ahead,
But what's the thing we borrow—
That's what I can not see,
But still b'gosh we're livin'
In the land o' the free.

Can it be wheat we borrow,
Or things that people eat,
Like corn, or oats or barley, like
Butter, eggs or meat;
Of those we have a plenty
And so it cannot be,
'Tis something else we've borrowed,
In this lan' o' the free.

An' do we borrow cotton,
Or wood or sich like stuff;
To make the people clothing
To keep the winter off?
Oh no! The wise uns tell us
Of such things, don't you see?
Thar's great OVER-production
In this land o' the free.

Then iron, steel or labor,
Say, do we borrow those?
Or lumber, brick or plaster,
Or anything that grows.
Now I am greatly bothered—
But have a shrewd idee—
All wants are filled by natur
In this land o' the free.

If we're a borrowin' nation,—
Then we are fools indeed;—
For we raise every blessed thing
Than any people need,
An' what we got from nature,
Is not a debt—for she Asks nothin' back she gives us
In this land o' the free.
—Francis H. Clark.

Minnesota Game Laws.

It is lawful to kill the following game at the times hereafter specified.

Woodcock and bertrams, or upland plover, between July 4 and Oct. 31.

Prairie chicken, white breasted and sharp tailed grouse between Sept. 1 and Nov. 1.

Quail, partridge, ruffled grouse and pheasant, between Sept. 1 and Dec. 1.

Wild duck and any variety of wild geese or brant or any variety of snipe, or aquatic fowl between between April 25 and Sept. 1st. Decoys may be used in hunting wild ducks, geese or brant. (The last dates are as passed by the legislature, but evidently are turned around.)

Unlawful to enter upon any land without consent of owner for purpose of killing or taking any of above game.

Unlawful to take or kill any harmless bird, except blackbirds and sparrows.

Deer, Nov. 1 to Nov. 20.

It is unlawful to kill or have in possession moose, caribou, fawn, elk or antelope, before Jan. 1, 1898.

(Unlawful to ship any of above birds or animals out of state unless accompanied by person killing them, or to hunt above game with dogs, or trap, snare, or attract with artificial light, or to kill except with gun held from shoulder, or to kill more than twenty-five of the above birds in one day.

H. E. Hoard, in Montevideo Leader: Where is the cheap and nasty money that the gold bugs fear they may be compelled to take, in settlement of their claims? All the silver this government has ever coined would not give us American citizens ten dollars apiece. There are not enough green backs in existence to give us each a five dollar bill. If all the gold this nation ever coined could be gathered from the four corners of the earth and distributed equally among us as we would have less than half an ounce apiece. Think of that you farmers who are asked to cast your votes in the interests of Wall Street and the Rothschilds syndicate! Half an ounce of gold apiece for American liberty and prosperity and no other money of payment and redemption! Half an ounce of gold apiece provided we could call it all in, and your farm, your name, your goods and chattels mortgaged, and pledged to make payment of a hundred such ounces not in honest silver coin, not in legal tender, not in lawful money of the United States but in gold and gold alone at whatever high price the dear generous-hearted Shylocks may conclude to compel you to pay for it when the time comes to settle. Republicans who believe in honest money and honest payment, are you satisfied that it is for your interest to do this costly thing? Democrats, are you believers in the sophistries of Cleveland and Carlisle rather than in the traditions of your own party? Is it not a fact that both these great parties have been and are being ruled and controlled by the monied interests of the East and of Europe rather than by the plain principles of justice, equity and right? and if so, what say you, farmers and laborers and business men who believe in honest standards of weight and measure and value? Will you consent to aid the vicious schemes of these designing men or will you stand by justice—and impartial justice,—and help to save this nation in this her hour of extremest peril!

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will, sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

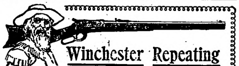
Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

First

Last and always advertised as a true blood purifier, the most wonderful cures on record are made and the greatest sales are won by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Be sure to get Hood's, only Hood's

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, biliousness.

Some Beresford Stories.

A laborer once wrote to Lord Charles Beresford saying that his wife had just had twins—a boy and a girl—and he wanted to call one "Lord Charles Beresford Brown." Lord Charles gave his permission and obtained that of the princess. Four months later the man wrote again: "I am happy to inform you that 'Lord Charles Beresford Brown' is well and strong, but the 'Princess of Wales Brown' died this morning."

Lord Charles is a man of few words, and these very much to the point. Speaking in the house of commons one day, in reference to the Arab slave dealers, he said, with great emphasis: "Mr. Speaker, we ought to catch these men, give 'em a fair trial, and then hang 'em."

Unconventional Lord Charles has always been. Receiving an invitation to dinner at Marlborough house one evening, he replied by wire: "Sorry can't come. Lie follows by post."—Strand Magazine.

A Rank Sceptic.

Spirit (at Lily Dale seance)—Don't you know me? I am the spirit of your mother-in-law.

Investigator—You can't fool me. My mother-in-law always brought her trunk with her.—Buffalo Times.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Amenities of the Future.

Caller—Present my compliments to Miss Ariadne, and ask her if it will be convenient for her to be my wife.

Servant (a moment later)—Miss Ariadne sends her regards, and regrets to say that she will be engaged until 3 o'clock.—Detroit Tribune.

How to Grow 40c Wheat.

Salzer's Fall Seed Catalogue tells you. It's worth thousands to the wide-awake farmer. Send 4-cent stamp for catalogue and free samples of grains and grasses for fall sowing. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Cause for Rejoicing.

"After all, I don't think she is so awfully homely. She has one of those faces that grow on you."

"I'm glad it didn't grow on me."—Life.

Personal.

ANY ONE who has been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, will receive information of much value and interest by writing to Pink Pills, P. O. Box 1592 Philadelphia, Pa.

How It Happened.

Mrs. Graymare—Do you remember the night you asked me to marry you? The moon was full.

Mr. Graymare—So was I.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Correct.

Stranger—What's the quickest way to get to the Emergency hospital?

Policeman—Try to cross Broadway alone.—Truth.

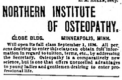
At various times during the existence of the Roman empire loyal subjects wore in their rings portraits of the reigning emperor.

E. C. Pickler, D. O., Prest.
F. D. Parker, D. O., Vice-Prest.
L. M. Rheem, Secy.

NORTHERN INSTITUTE OF OSTEOPATHY.

GLOBE BLDG. MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Will open its fall class September 1, 1896. All persons desiring to enter this class can obtain full information in regard to tuition, terms, etc., by addressing the Secretary. Osteopathy is a comparatively new science, but is one that offers unexcelled advantages to young ladies and gentlemen desiring to enter professional life.



OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
WE LOAN MONEY ON WHEAT AT 6½
SEND US YOUR WHEAT AND WE WILL
LOAN YOU 90 PER CENT OF ITS VALUE
AND ALLOW THIRTY DAYS STORAGE
FREE

DROPSY

TREATED FREE.

Positively Cured with Vegetable Remedies

Have cured thousands of cases. Cure cases pronounced hopeless by best physicians. From first dose symptoms disappear; in ten days at least two-thirds all symptoms removed. Send for free book testimonials of miraculous cures. Ten day's treatment free by mail. If you order trial send 10c in stamps to pay postage. Dr. H. H. Green & Sons, Atlanta, Ga. If you order trial return this advertisement to us.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS.

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.

J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist, ST. PAUL, MINN.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat.Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

THE ART BICYCLE STEALING.

How It Is Practiced in Great Britain—By Luke Sharp.

Every new craze brings in its train a number of hitherto unknown trades and professions, to which a number of enterprising persons are indebted for more or less lavish livelihood. The bicycle boom has done much to stimulate the industry of bicycle theft. A bicycle leads itself to stealing in a way that no other object on earth does; that is, no other inanimate object, unless it be a railway engine with steam up, and even a locomotive, although it is a good runner, is restricted to the railway, which is almost invariably bordered by a telegraph line, therefore no man has yet risen to eminence as an engine thief. Then a locomotive is not a very salable article, even though a man gets safely away with it. Few of us need a locomotive in our daily life, and when we do, we are content to buy a railway ticket and enjoy our engine with some one else driving it. A horse may be stolen, and the animal will do its best to aid the thief in getting away, but although you paint a horse green or blue, it is hard to disguise the animal so that the owner won't know it, and thus difficulties arise, to the discomfiture of the horsethief, leading to prison in some countries and to a hempen rope in others.

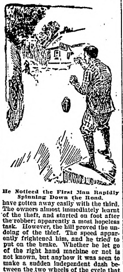
But a bicycle is a different thing. It is speedier than the average horse, and almost as speedy as a locomotive, while it is more salable, at the present moment, than either. An energetic man, with a paint brush, a soldering iron, and a file, can in ten minutes so disguise a bike that its next of kin would not recognize it, and it does not possess the faculty of the horse for knowing its real master. A bicycle has never been known to neigh at the wrong moment and thus betray a hidden thief, who trusted to its good sense. So, all in all, a bike is a simply ideal subject for successful theft.

Many of us who have hitherto led reasonably honest lives will, I fear, be led astray if this bicycle boom continues.

The machine itself actually seems to be an accessory both before and after the act. The riding of it along a dusty road makes a man thirstier than any other occupation he can undertake. He therefore adjourns frequently to the wayside inn, there to partake of cooling drinks, ginger beer and such. There is usually no one in sight, and he leaves the machine resting against the outside of the pub. When he comes out, wiping his mouth, the machine is gone. There is not the slightest use in asking the wayfarer if he has seen a man passing that way on a cycle, for the wayfarer has; dozens of him. Now, with a horse, one can give a rough description of the animal stolen, but to the ordinary man on a country road all cycles are alike, and once a thief gets away with a machine it is an impossible task to attempt to recover it.

There are in London at least three, possibly many more, receiving depots for stolen cycles. They bear the guise of repairing shops and salesrooms. They have most of the paraphernalia for enamelling and plating, and once a cycle spends a few hours in the shop its own maker would not recognize it. The first thing done is to interchange the parts of the cycles as much as possible. From a dozen stolen cycles a dozen others are made, one machine being made up of various parts of various other machines. The handle bar of a pneumatic-tired machine changes places with the handle bar of a cushion-tired cycle, and so on. Then no description a man can give to the police regarding his machine fits any particular cycle. The numbers are obliterated by soldering and plating, and new numbers are put on. If a machine is not interchangeable with any other machine it is painted up and sent over to France or Germany to be sold at the continental agencies. The others that have been made unrecognizable under any circumstances are easily sold at the London depots or by way of an advertisement in the papers. The daily papers are full of advertisements of bicycles that have been made up in this way.

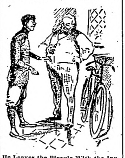
Generally when a thief takes a machine away from the outside of a tavern, where he picks the best of several, he rips the tires of those he leaves behind so that pursuit is delayed until it is too late. One thief, the other week, wanted the earth and so got left. There were three machines standing together and he took the lot, ridding off with one empty machine trundling along on each side of him. He had a clear way down a long hill, and if he had disabled the two cycles he could have gotten away easily with the third. The owners almost immediately learnt of the theft, and started on foot after the robber; apparently a most hopeless task. However, the hill proved the undoing of the thief. The speed apparently frightened him, and he tried to put on the brake. Whether he let go of the right hand machine or not is not known, but anyhow it was seen to make a sudden independent dash between the two wheels of the cycle that bore the man, and next instant there was an indistinguishable mass composed of three cycles, one thief and several ear-piercing yells, rolling down to the foot of the hill.



He Noticed the First Man Rapidly Spinning Down the Road.

A friend of mine who cycles, told me a most involved story of a cycle theft that I am not sure I quite understand. He said he was at a country bar at which stood five men—strangers to him, and apparently strangers to each other; in fact it turned out that no one of them had ever before met any of the others. When the teller of the story, who was the second man out, looked for his machine, he saw that it was gone, and he noticed the first man out rapidly sprinting down the road with it. It was no time for protracted conversation or explanations, so my friend immediately sprang on the best remaining machine and started in pursuit. The next fellow who came out saw his machine tearing down the road with a stranger on top of it, and away he goes on the fourth man's machine. In less time than it takes to tell what I thoroughly believe to be a fabrication, the whole six were chasing each other, making the terrified inhabitants of that part of the country believe there was a road race on. It turned out, so my friend says, that no bicycle was stolen at all. As I understand the situation, the first man merely made a mistake and mounted the wrong bicycle, leaving his own machine in place of the one he took. It seems to me this is a most unlikely thing to have happened. Anyhow, that is the story as it was told to me.

There is one man (name at present unknown) who is having a rattling good time stealing bicycles, and who is seeing a good deal of the country. He does not seem to be in the profession for profit, so perhaps he is merely learning the trade. He resembles one of those distant planets, invisible even to the most powerful telescope, only known to exist by its effects on other heavenly bodies. This perambulating thief takes a bike wherever he finds it and jogs along to a tavern anywhere from twenty to fifty miles away from the stealing point. Here he fares sumptuously, and drinks the best champagne, if there is any. He leaves the bicycle in charge of the innkeeper, especially impressing upon him that it is a most valuable instrument, and that he wouldn't have anything happen to it for a small fortune. Then he goes for a stroll round the village leaving his bill unpaid, but the innkeeper feels no anxiety as he has in his possession this most valuable bike. The thief meanwhile has picked up another machine and is off into the next county. There he will stay all night, and in the morning make off with a third machine. When anyone who is robbed finds his machine uninjured in the hands of an innkeeper, he is usually so overjoyed at its recovery that he gladly pays the hotel bill and takes away his machine. The amount is so comparatively small that he rarely gives the case into the hands of the police or bothers any more about it. Thus the thief travels unmolested from one end of the country to the other, and back again by another route, faring sumptuously every day on the fat of the land without paying a penny for board and lodging or for transport either. The plan has much to recommend it, and we cordially commend it to the attention of amateurs in the gentle art of robbery.—Detroit Free Press.



He Leaves the Bicycle With the Innkeeper.

Dusty Carpets.

To those who know the true inwardness of things the sight of a housemaid brushing a dusty carpet is suggestive, a medical contemporary says, of many evils. The death of Pasteur has reminded the world of what is constantly present in the minds of medical men, namely, that, while micro-organisms are the great producers of disease, dust is the great carrier of micro-organisms. Now that we know these things, now that we understand that in the quiet hours of the night the germ-laden dust settles down upon the floor, it is distressing to find how little our knowledge is put to practical use, and to see old customs still unchanged, old habits, which we know to be destructive, carried on, and to find the housemaid on her knees, with her brush and dustpan, stirring up dust to the detriment of every one, and breathing germ-laden particles to her own possible destruction.

It needs but a small amount of common sense to see that, if the carpets must continue—a thing greatly to be deprecated—they should be rubbed with a damp cloth rather than brushed; and that, if, in deference to prejudice, they must be brushed, this should be done by a covered American sweeper, with plenty of damp tea leaves. Of all ways of removing dirt from a carpet, the worst is by the use of the ordinary short brush, which involves the housemaid's kneeling down in the midst of the dust which she so needlessly creates, and drawing it into her lungs with every breath. For ordinary household use something like linoleum—something which can be washed with a wet cloth every morning—would seem to be the best covering for floors. But, if carpets must be, and if it is impossible to teach the present generation the evils of seeking present comfort at the expense of future risks, at least let us remember that carpets may be washed even where they lie—that, till the day of washing comes, a closed sweeper is far better than a brush, and that the worst form of brush is one with a short handle.—New York Ledger.

The Army Headquarters.

"The headquarters of the army," said an army officer, "are where Gen. Miles is located, or at least where he keeps his headquarters flag. Should he take his flag up in a balloon the headquarters would be up in the air. He seldom takes his flag with him when he leaves the city, but should he do so, headquarters would be exactly where the flag is, whether he was in the cars or at a hotel. The law has never designated an official headquarters. When Gen. Sherman moved his residence from this city some years ago to St. Louis the headquarters flag went with him and the war department found it was no longer headquarters. Neither was there any way by which the department could find where headquarters were except by telegraphing for the whereabouts of Gen. Sherman and his flag."—Washington Star.

Almost Beyond Relief.

"Do you see that woman there?"

"Yes, what about her?"

"Most remarkable case I ever heard of. She got on a street car yesterday, and, seeing a vacant seat near the center, went and took it without standing in the door and waiting for the other passengers to shove along."—Cleveland Leader.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

To Burn Charcoal for Hogs.

Prof. W. F. Massey in Practical Farmer gives the following plan of burning a small kiln of charcoal to feed hogs:

Begin by laying two stout logs parallel to each other, each about four feet long. Lay the cordwood sticks across these so as to make a sort of grate to start the fire on. From one side of this grate lay large sticks parallel to each other and about a foot apart, to make the main draft hole, and cover with short pieces of wood. This draft must extend to the outside of the pile. Now set the wood on end, beginning on the middle of the grate first made and leaning together at the top, so as to form a sort of chimney, and then continue to pile the wod on end around these, so as to make a rounded conical pile as large as you want. Now cover the whole with sods, except the draft opening, and some smaller openings around the sides of the base, leaving the chimney open. Now, by stuffing straw and inflammable matter down the chimney and dropping coals on it, you can start it to burning. Keep the sides well covered with earth, and watch it day and night. So long as smoke comes thick and white it is burning all right, but if it gets clear and blue, the wood is burning too fast, and some of the draft holes must be stopped, and some ashes thrown down in the chimney. When the combustion is complete, cover the whole tightly with earth, and let it stand for a day or so. Then pull it to pieces and wet the hot mass to prevent it taking fire again.

Napoleon in Love.

When Napoleon was in love with Josephine he wrote to her from Italy that he lived in perfect anguish because he had not heard from her for nearly a week. When, afterwards, he was in love with Maria Louisa, he had a coat made so heavily-embroidered with gold that he could not wear it; ordered new boots so tight that they could not be drawn over his feet, and devoted himself so assiduously to learning the waltz of which she was said to be fond, that it brought on an attack of heart trouble. He was cured of his love for Josephine by her innumerable frivolities and infidelities. He never doubted the fidelity of Maria Louisa, and when the plainest proof of her intrigue with Count Von Neipperg was laid before him he refused to believe it.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Unkind.

"No, sir," said the physician pompously, "I never lost more than half a dozen patients in my life."

"Well, I'm surprised," replied the cynical man.

"Surprised at what?"

"At your ability to make a living on so small a practice."—Washington Times.

In the Good Old Times.

Captain of the National Guards (a shoemaker by trade)—I say, Butcher, I must ask you to step out properly.

Man in the Ranks—Yes, if you hadn't made my boots too tight, you duffer.—Lustige Blatter.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

A Real New Woman.

"That's what I call an up-to-date woman," said the livery stable keeper.

"Why?"

"She wanted a horse that a man could drive."—Woonsocket Reporter.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Experienced.

"Is there anything certain in this uncertain world?"

"Yes, if you cut anything out of a newspaper there is always something more valuable on the other side."—Chicago Record.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

A Slander.

Galwagy—Jagson is very loose in his habits, isn't he?

Chadwick—When I saw him last night he was very tight.—Washington Times.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is the only cough medicine used in my house.—D. C. Albright, Midlinburg, Pa., Dec. 11, '95.

Drawing It Very Fine.

She—Is young Mr. Elmore so very particular regarding style?

He—Is he? Why, he will even turn up his trousers whenever his coffee is muddy.—Buffalo Times.

To Cleanse the System.

Effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently overcome habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

In the Fowl World.

Mr. Roostieanna—Why in the deuce don't you go to sleep, Henrietta?

Mrs. Roostieanna—I'm sure there's a rooster under the roost this time.

Mr. Roostieanna—Oh, chestnuts!—New York World.

If Pestered Day and Night.

With nervousness, take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which invigorates and tranquilizes the nervous system. The basis of recovery is a reform in errors of digestion. The epigastric nerve and brain are united in the closest bond of sympathy, so that dyspeptic symptoms in the gastric region are always accompanied by hurtful reflex nervous action. Both are remedied by the Bitters, which also cures malaria, biliousness, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

Loved and Lost.

"Did Mabel promise to marry her photographer lover?"

"No. She developed a negative."—Detroit Free Press.

MAYOR MUST BE A GOOD BOY.

Mount Vernon's Chief Magistrate Ruled by his Father.

There was silence in the Mount Vernon city hall while the mayor thought. Care sat upon his brow, and ever and anon from his chest there escaped a tremulous sigh. Stern duty stared the mayor in the face. It was not the duty itself, perhaps, which made him so sad and thoughtful, but rather the doubt as to what his duty really was. On the one hand was fealty to his party, on the other was fear of his father.

Now, the mayor of Mount Vernon—young Edwin W. Fiske—is a Democrat, while his father, Samuel Fiske, is a Republican. The two Fiskes were elected last May. It was a curious election that put them in office, the Democrats sweeping the town for mayor, while the Republicans elected eight out of ten aldermen. The mayor swept every ward except the one in which his father ran, and he would have carried this one, too, if the old gentleman hadn't fought him.

The fight between father and son did not end at the polls. As president of the board of aldermen, the mayor's father started in to make trouble. It's this way: The mayor, as usual, expected to name the city clerk. He sent his choice to the board of aldermen, and the president said: "Oh, no," in the same way an indulgent father would talk when trying to prevent his first-born from sucking the green paint off a Noah's ark. When the mayor insisted his father voted, with seven other aldermen, to lay the nomination on the table. It was laid there.

Then the mayor tried again. He nominated a prominent contractor as commissioner of public works. When the nomination was sent to the board the mayor's father put on his glasses and read the paper.

"Oh, I don't think so," he said, slowly. Then he clucked his tongue. "To think," he mused, "that I could not teach my child obedience."

Then he went out and voted against the nomination of his son. A little while after this the customary resolution that gas lights be placed in front of the mayor's house was offered.

"Now, I don't see why there should be any lights in front of the house," the father said, and when the resolution was handed down it bore the amendment, "To be continued during the pleasure of the board." Perhaps Mr. Fiske, Sr., thought the lights would keep his boy out late o' nights. At any rate, the lights have not been set out.

Mr. Fiske, the city father, says he's going to teach his son something. "I am a Republican," he says, "and what is good enough for me is good enough for Edwin. He's got to mind me—that's all."—Troy Times.

HOW'S THIS SNAKE STORY?

Sagacious Reptile Was Trained to Fan His Master.

"About five years ago," said C. T. Buckman, a well known resident of Visalia, "while I was spending the summer in the mountain districts of Visalia, I captured a large bullsnake.

"Being alone in the mountains and having lots of spare time on my hands, I was able to teach Slippery Dick tricks. I taught him to come at call; to coil up; to dance and many other tricks. He would coil up on the table, his head in the center of the coil, elevated about six inches in the air. I would place the handle of a small fan in his mouth, and then Dick would gently wave the fan to and fro, and thus keep the flies and insects away from my face when I slept.

"He was as good as a cat to keep the house free from mice. I often saw him bring in ten or twelve in a day. His fondness for mice was his ruin. It happened this way: One day I missed Dick, and though I hunted and called all day, I could not find any trace of my pet. One day, about a week after his disappearance, having occasion to explore the loft of the cabin in which I was residing, I came across the remains of my old friend. Apparently he had been more than ordinarily mouse-hungry, and in his haste to satiate his appetite, had swallowed a live mouse, and the mouse had done the rest. Poor Dick! I can imagine his surprise at the strange commotion on his inside; but it was a case of reward for gluttony. No doubt he repented when it was too late."—San Francisco Call.

Diligence and Skill Needed.

In the domain of the dairy industry, there is a continual complaint that the dairy does not pay, and when we come to see the produce that is sent into the market by the thousands of tons, that at the best can only be rated with the ordinary, there is much to warrant the claim of depression, but no excuse can be made for this inferior class of produce. If dairy produce is selling low for the best, it is clear the inferior must sell still lower, and without profit, either on the food consumed in its production or in labor involved in its manufacture. Then there is all the more reason, in this state of affairs, that only the best should be made, and secure all there is in the raw material, and in the transforming it into food; secure in the skill the reward for the labor, by making this so fine that it transcends the domain of food and sells as a luxury. This inferior produce is not all the produce of the farms, but the creameries send their share of the poor butter and cheese to the market, and so add to an already too large offering of inferior goods, and a clog and menace to the better class of butter and cheese. In this there is no valid excuse. The milk as it is drawn has no such a variation in quality as the produce sent to market would indicate. Quality in produce is the exhibition of care and intelligence, combined with skill. Variations of quality are the exhibitions of neglect, indifference and refusing to be skillful. The dirty stable, the half washed "milk things," counterpart in creameries old and rotten with the decaying washings for years; cream gathered twice a week, and of all ages and conditions, so to speak, and the dirty factory, run by dirty men, often smoking pipes, and cream churned any time it is handy to do so, and salted with barrel salt in the buttermilk; the butter white and salvy, and destitute of aroma, has its the product shipped to market in actually repulsive looking return packages. How can any dairyman who is in partnership with such customs and practices expect that he can make the dairy pay? It is time that the real at the front dairymen and creameries took this matter up, and made more than a protest against it. Tons of this poor butter every week hurt sight and left as do tons of oleo, and carloads of pure skim cheese put upon the market every month "kill" the trade fully as bad as "filled cheese."—Practical Farmer.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

John C. Barber, St. Paul, Minn., car truck; Walter J. Bowles, E. Campbell and O. Reder, Custer, S. D., fire kindler; George W. Buck, St. Paul, Minn., speaking tube; Edward T. Gibson, Minneapolis, Minn., toy; Henry Hoffman, Minneapolis, Minn., fire escape; Alexander Peck, Armour, S. D., car coupling; William P. Shattuck, Minneapolis, Minn., syringe; Thomas Willing, Astoria, Oreg., centrifugal cream separator and purifier. T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Wedded to a Tree.

A curious custom prevails in certain parts of India, which may be called a symbolical marriage. In families containing several daughters the younger sisters may only marry after the elder sister is married. That, of course, is not always the case, but the obstacle can easily be surmounted if the elder sister declares herself ready to marry some tree or a large flower or some other lifeless object. In this way the disagreeable consequence of disregarding the time-honored custom may be avoided and the younger sister can safely be wedded to her living choice. The elder sister must, however, take care not to choose a poplar tree, an elm or a pipe; if she chooses a plum, apple or apricot tree, she may get a divorce—that is to say, shake it off as soon as a real man will ask for her hand—while if she marries one of the first three-named trees she can not easily shake her marital bonds, for these trees are sacred, and must not be trifled with.

How Should She Know.

Mr. Flagg—Ah, that young man who has been calling on you so much of late—what does he do for a living?

Laura—Indeed, I do not know. Do you think I would have anyone calling on me who would talk shop?—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Overwhelming Arguments.

Two well-dressed boys had come out on the street to play horse. They had a gay little harness, hung with bells that tinkled softly. There was a dispute as to which one should drive. One of the boys was less strong than, the other, but he won his point by diplomacy.

"You must be the horse, Tom," he said, "because we are going to play truck-horse, and you are very strong. I must be the driver, because your father is a minister, and you can't swear."

The minister's son put on the harness.—Strand Magazine.

Disqualified.

Mrs. McCarty—An' phwat's you son Teddy doin' now, Mrs. Flynn?

Mrs. Flynn—He's doin' toime, Mrs. McCarty; but it's not his fault that he's a pickpocket, poor bye! They won't let him on th' perleece foorce on account of his lungs.—Puck.

Blood... Bubbles.

Those pimples or blotches that disfigure your skin, are blood bubbles. They mark the unhealthy condition of the blood-current that throws them up. You must get down to the blood, before you can be rid of them. Local treatment is useless. It suppresses, but does not heal. The best remedy for eruptions, scrofula, sores, and all blood diseases, is

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Kickapoo Indian Worm Killer

Is what you should give the children. Half their sickness is CAUSED BY WORMS.

When Visiting the State Fair, the G. A. R. or K. P. Encampments, Do Not Fail to Visit

GOODFELLOW'S,

The Largest Minneapolis Exclusive Dry Goods, Cloaks, Furs and Upholstery Store.—The Store, where, if you want the Best, you get the Best.

247, 249, 251 Nicollet Avenue, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

ALL STREET CARS PASS WITHIN A BLOCK OF THE STORE.

Out-of-town buyers, who cannot visit us in person, may deal with us by mail with the same assurance of attention and reliability as though they came in person.

A geared Aermotor on a barn is a POWER for good and a powerful good thing.

Address: AERMOTOR COMPANY. Chicago; San Francisco, Cal.; Ft. Worth, San Antonio, Tex.; Lincoln, Neb.; Kansas City, Saint Louis, Mo.; Sioux City, Dubuque, Davenport, Des Moines, Ia.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Toledo, O.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Peoria, Ill.; Detroit Mich.; Buffalo, N.Y.; New York City; Boston, Mass.; Baltimore, Md.

IF SILVER WINS and if farm produce, labor and labor products double in price, then metals must also double in price, as they are 9/10 labor. If labor doubles in cost and the product of the mine doubles in cost, Aermotors, Pumps, Spiral Pipe, Fittings, Cylinders, Tanks and Substructures, being the product of the mine and labor, must also double in cost and price; therefore, your $1 now will buy as much as $2 of the same dollars if silver wins, or if people think it will win. IT IS 2 TO 1 in favor of buying now. The advance may come in a month or in a week. Aermotor prices will not advance unless compelled by an advance in labor and material. Our prices on Brass Cylinders are 40% below anything ever quoted, and our other goods are as low as they can be produced, even with our splendid facilities. A general rush to cover future needs, while $1 buys so much, may quickly exhaust our immense stock and compel the advance. Great saving can be assured and advance avoided IF YOU BUY NOW

EVERY FARMER IN THE NORTH

CAN MAKE MORE MONEY IN THE MIDDLE SOUTH.

He can make twice as much. He can sell his Northern farm and get twice as many acres for his money down here. We sell improved farms for $8 to $20 an acre. Plenty of railroads—four of them. No droughts. Neither too hot nor too cold—climate just right. Northern farmers are coming every week. If you are interested write for FREE pamphlets and ask all the questions you want to. It is a pleasure to us to answer them.

SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' LAND COMPANY. Somerville, Tenn.

BATTLE AX
10 CENTS

"It's a Good Thing. Push it Along."

Battle Ax PLUG

Why buy a newspaper unless you can profit by the expense? For 5 cents you can get almost as much "BATTLE AX" as you can of other high grade brands for 10 cents. Here's news that will repay you for the cost of your newspaper to-day.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 26, 1896. NUMBER 4.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The postmaster-general has issued a fraud order against the Creditors' Beneficial association at Rockford, Ill.

The battleship Indiana will be presented a magnificent silver service, contributed by citizens of Indiana at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, on Sept. 21.

Judge Bethene of Tucson, Ariz., associate judge of the supreme court of Arizona, has received notice from the department of justice of a request for the appointment of his successor, on the grounds of his inability to perform the duties of the court.

The president of Argentina has issued a decree, a copy of which has been forwarded to the state department, remitting all duties on articles sent from the United States for the purpose of showing the manufacturing and commercial industries of this country.

People in Print.

It is said that Aubrey Beardsley now has an income of $20,000.

Li Hung Chang announces that the most beautiful and most attractive women in the world, in his opinion, are the American women.

Mrs. C. A. Washington, whose death is reported from Mowequa, Ill., was the widow of a second cousin of the Father of his Country.

William Brown, general freight agent of the Canadian-Australian line at Portland, Ore., is dead. He was a well known railroad man.

Col. W. M. Hooper died at Cape May, N. J., aged eighty years. He was proprietor of the Old Mansion House in 1847, and entertained Henry Clay and other distinguished men.

Disraeli once said that to be young, to be in love and to be in Paris was to reach the height of human felicity; and that to be in Paris without the other two adjuncts was an unsurpassable pleasure in itself.

Ex-Premier Crispi is undergoing a course of mud baths near Padua. Besides suffering from gout, he is afflicted with weakness of the spine, and is likewise almost entirely blind, being unable to make up his mind to undergo an operation for cataract, which alone can restore his sight.

Accidental Happenings.

Fire ruined the Woodruff block at Rockford, Ill., causing a loss of over $100,000.

Engineers Fred Rumpf and William Johnson and Fireman Huffman were killed in a head-end collision on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, near Torch Hill, Ohio.

According to private advices received in Philadelphia, ten men of the crew of twenty-one men of the British bark Flora Stafford, which was burned at sea several weeks ago, perished.

A skiff in which were three men was capsized in the Ohio river, near Pittsburg, by the waves of a passing steamer, and two of the men drowned. Their names were William Hickman and Thomas Shaughnessy.

Fire, which originated in the second floor of the wholesale wine and liquor house of John Emmons, 103 West street, New York, caused damage to the extent of $30,000 on the building, and about as much on the stock.

Fire destroyed the magnificent residence of Millionaire Frederick Faulkner in Belvidere, Mass. The loss is $100,000; insurance, about $50,000. It is believed incendiaries are responsible, as the family is absent.

During a terrific electric storm at Champaign, Ill., lightning struck the chemical laboratory building, one of the six main buildings of the University of Illinois, and caused a loss to the state of $40,000.

A disturbance described as an electric cloudburst, struck a church where a meeting was being held at Bera, Ark., totally demolishing the building. Rev. W. W. Cochran was instantly killed, and Rev. J. W. Van Trease and Rev. J. J. Colson fatally injured.

Pete Ryan, foreman of the St. Lawrence mine, the property of the Anaconda company, and Jack Campbell and John Manning, two miners, were killed by a fall of the cage from the top of the mine to the bottom of the shaft, 1,200 feet below.

A fire at the Montpelier Industrial exhibition destroyed the most valuable pictures and some of the most important papers in the archives. Montpelier university was also burned, the damage being estimated at 120,000. Anarchists are supposed to have started the conflagration.

Spreading rails, caused by the intense heat, wrecked the second section of the California express on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, eight miles west of Pueblo, Col. The dead are C. E. Vauport, engineer; W. F. Reppert, fireman.

Frank Jacobs, an aeronaut traveling with a circus, met with a terrible death in Quincy, Ill., in the presence of his wife and young child, and an assembled throng. He was having a balloon race at Baldwin Park with Prof. Dudley, and his balloon burst 200 feet from the ground. His parachute failed to open, and he was dashed to the earth.

Fire Truck No. 6, with a crew consisting of Lieut. Hedden and seven firemen, while responding to an alarm at Buffalo, collided with a trolley car. The truck was crossing the street car tracks when the trolley, which was running at full speed, struck it. Every fireman on the truck was injured. J. F. Clark was pinned under the wreck and crushed to death.

Crimes and Criminals.

At Mount Vernon, Ill., a young girl of fourteen years, committed suicide by hanging.

Hon. S. D. Razee, editor of the Curtis (Neb.) Courier, was shot and fatally injured by J. J. Carney, a farmer with whom he had a dispute over a trivial matter.

Carlos Govin, a reporter for a Key West (Fla.) paper, who was captured by Spaniards in Cuba, was executed.

There appears to be no immediate prospect of a settlement of the strike of the employes of the Adams Express company in New York.

W. F. Eyeter, a capitalist of Chambersburg, Pa., was mysteriously murdered at Lincoln, Neb., where he was en route to Cripple Creek to invest in mines.

Mrs. Minick, wife of a farmer residing four miles west of Pena, attempted suicide by drinking a quantity of poison. Dr. Miller was summoned from Pana and succeeded in rescuing her.

Overwrought from religious reading, Annie Rutledge, the thirteen-year-old daughter of John T. Rutledge, a farmer living near Crawford, Ala., committed suicide.

Frank Biles, a half-breed Indian from the Nez Perces reservation, was taken from the Asotn (Idaho) jail and hanged by a mob of indignant citizens. His crime was the outrage of Miss Mary Richardson.

J. C. Williams, a visitor from Montana, stabbed himself in the breast four times with a knife at Hot Springs, Ark. Failing to end his life in that manner he jumped head first into a deep well and broke his neck.

An autopsy was performed on the body of the Chambersburg man found murdered at Lincoln, Neb., and the doctors have decided that there was morphine poisoning, although the blows on the scalp might have caused death.

Elmer Ferguson, a super at the production of the "Fall of Pompeii" at Fort Wayne, Ind., was struck by a club in the hands of Charles Saunders, a sceneshifter, and died in a short time. Ferguson was fighting with Oscar Cook, and Saunders went to Cook's assistance.

William Mazick Miles, a well-known club and society man at Seattle, Wash., committed suicide at his rooms at the Ranier club. Miles came of a prominent South Carolina family and his father was for two terms attorney general of the state. Despondency over his ill health is believed to have prompted his suicide.

From Foreign Shores.

Lieut. Dan Godfrey, the celebrated bandmaster of the British Grenadier Guards, will retire under the age limit next month.

Mr. Thompson, a son of the late archbishop of York, has just been appointed deputy governor of the Liverpool jail.

David N. Burke, who succeeded J. Judson Barclay as United States consul at Tangiers, Morocco, has arrived there.

Spain is about to present a big bill of damages to the United States because we allowed filibusters to go to Cuba's aid.

The government of the Cape of Good Hope and one of the recent acquisitions of the Universal Postal union, is taking prompt steps to organize a well equipped postal system in its domains.

Baron de Hannis, commanding a strong force, has taken the offensive against the Mahdists in the upper Congo. It is said the situation causes the greatest anxiety regarding the security of the Congo Free State.

The agitators for Sunday street cars in Toronto have been very active during the past few days and claim that they have 11,000 names enrolled on their petition. This will be presented to Mayor Fleming within a day or two.

Judgment was delivered by the chief justice in the admiralty court at Halifax, N. S., in the case of the seized American fishing schooner, Frederick Gering, sustaining the seizure and ordering the vessel forfeited to the Canadian government. The Gering was seized for fishing within the three-mile limit.

Prince Louis of Savoy and some of the crew of the Italian steamship Christofero Colombo, were attacked in the streets of Valparaiso on July 16 by a Chilian mob. The mob vented its rage on the prince because of the Italian unpopularity since Italy sold the two second-hand cruisers to the Argentine Republic during the difficulty between the latter country and Chili.

Otherwise.

The City National Bank of San Antonio, Texas, has failed. It was capitalized for $100,000.

Miani Feldman, an anarchist, was arrested in New York for having explosive materials in his possession.

News from New Orleans reports a horrible murder of a woman and child by the whitecaps at Natchitoches Parish, Louisiana.

In a conflict between the strikers of the Brown company and the non-union men at Cleveland three men were shot and another badly hurt.

A fight occurred at the annual convention of the national party of the Cherokees near Tahlequah, I. T., in which two men were killed and several wounded.

While in the midst of service at Manito, Ill., Rev. B. E. O'Mahony, pastor of the Catholic church in that city, became suddenly insane, and created the utmost consternation among the congregation.

The Elgin (Ill.) Sewing machine and Bicycle factory has closed indefinitely, because it could not borrow money on good security with which to pay its hands. One hundred and fifty men are thrown out of employment.

Judge Caldwell, of the United States circuit court, has made an order, upon application of the Midland Terminal Railroad company, whose line is the connecting link between the Colorado Midland and Cripple Creek, directing Receiver Ristina, of the Colorado Midland, to resume traffic relations with the Terminal at once.

E. M. Pettit, a well known business man of Hicksville, Ohio, and a stockholder in the wholesale drug house of Lewis & Co., Defiance, Ohio, as well as the Defiance Grocery company, has been taken to the Toledo insane asylum. Mr. Pettit left Hicksville more than a week ago on his bicycle for Brookston, Ind., on a visit to his mother. It was one of the hottest days of the season, and he was overcome with heat, the result of which was congestion of the brain.

THE WAR IS OVER

REBEL MATABELES IN RHODESIA HAVE SURRENDERED.

Hon. Cecil Rhodes Inspires the Confidence of the Native Chiefs by Going Among Them Totally Unarmed, and It Is Believed That the Surrender of the Matabeles Is Practically Unconditional.

Buluwayo, Aug. 25.—The mission of Hon. Cecil Rhodes to the Matabeles is reported to be a pronounced success. The natives have yielded and the war is considered at an end. Cecil Rhodes inspired the confidence of the Matabele chiefs by going among them unarmed. The chiefs complained that ill usage by the native police provoked the rebellion, and Rhodes promised them that reforms in this respect would be inaugurated at once. Earl Gray, who was appointed to administer the affairs within the jurisdiction of the British South African company, believes that the surrender of the natives was practically unconditional.

The war with the Matabeles, which began in South Africa early in 1896, in many respects resembled the early Indian wars in America. Several hundred settlers in the more sparcely settled portions of Matabeleland were murdered by the natives. Survivors in the country districts quickly gathered in the larger towns and lines of defense were thrown up, while the existing fortifications were garrisoned as strongly as possible. The natives were at first commanded by a son of the late King Lobengula.

To the number of 20,000 they gathered on the hills around Buluwayo, the principal town. To a considerable extent they were actuated by a sort of religious frenzy, but other causes are said to have combined to bring about the trouble. Chief among these were the wrong-doings of the native police and the imposition by the South African Chartered company of a hut tax on the 43,000 huts of the natives of Matabeleland. This tax the natives sternly resisted for many months, but the company insisted upon this revenue being collected and refused to make any exceptions. It was not until Cecil Rhodes, at this late time, to some extent under a cloud because of his alleged connection with the raid into the Transvaal republic, conducted by Dr. Jameson, came to the rescue, and started from Rhodesia with an armed force, that the backbone of the rebellion was broken. Buluwayo, itself, was for a time threatened with annihilation by the blacks, but owing to the brave defence made by its citizens, and the timely advance of the column headed by Cecil Rhodes, the state of siege which practically existed, was broken and the Matabeles were gradually forced back from the hills surrounding the metropolis of Matabeleland to their old resorts and finally surrendered.

PLATT FOR GOVERNOR.

A Movement in New York in Favor of the ex-Senator.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Thomas C. Platt will probably the the nominee of the Republican state convention for governor of New York. Unless he can successfully combat a great and growing sentiment that has almost ceased to be a matter that Mr. Platt can control, his name will be presented to the convention. Every other candidate will withdraw and he will be nominated without debate. The Associated Press correspondent showed this statement to Mr. Platt. He thought for a few minutes, ran his thin, almost effeminate hand through his beard, and said slowly and distinctly: "I am not a candidate and I do not want the office."

There was a story afloat that Mr. Platt would allow the agitation in his behalf to proceed until to-night in order to demonstrate his popularity among the delegates, and that then he would call upon his lieutenants to withdraw his name There are many who believe that this is so, and that his name will not go before the convention. The state convention promises to be full of interesting incidents, verile and even vicious personal attacks and allusions and a breach in the party that will probably lead to a third ticket. If reports be true, the state organizations will place Warner Miller on the outside of the convention.

MANITOBA SCHOOLS.

No Settlement Unless It Is Satisfactory to the Province.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Attorney General Sifton, who has been in Ottawa negotiating with the new Laurier government for a settlement of the Manitoba school difficulty, returned home to-day. Asked if a satisfactory settlement to the people of Manitoba would be reached, the attorney general replied that there could be no settlement unless it was satisfactory to Manitoba. The dominion government had made an offer and it would be submitted to the Manitoba government. He did not think an extra session of the legislature would be necessary, and as far as he was aware there would be no commission of inquiry, as had been suggested. Premier Greenway has arrived from his farm to consult with the attorney general on the results of his trip to Ottawa.

Bank of Mapleton Closed.

Mapleton, Minn., Aug. 25.—The Bank of Mapleton has closed its doors on account of the difficulty of making collections and pending reorganization under state or national laws. Depositors will be paid in full.

Republican League.

Milwaukee, Aug. 25. — Delegations from several states to attend the convention of the National League of Republican clubs have arrived to-day. Although the convention does not open for two days, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan already has representatives on the ground. Charles U. Gordan of Chicago, who will probably be elected president of the National League, arrived and is quartered at Hotel Pfister with a part of the steering committee of the Illinois delegation.

TO SUPPORT BRYAN.

Senator Hill Virtually States His Position.

Upper Red Hook, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The fact that William J. Bryan will lunch with Senator Hill, the leader of the party organization in this state, became known to-day to the little party of politicians inhabiting the Red Hook hotel and inspired more anticipatory discussion among them than any other incident of the candidate's Eastern trip.

Every one assumes that Senator Hill has resolved to support the nominee of the party, else, they argue, he would hardly invite him to sit at his table. And the lunch is taken as a practical announcement of Hill's determination, which is expected to be followed by a more formal declaration of the senator's attitude. When Mr. Bryan arrives in Albany he will have two hours for refreshment before the speech which he is billed to make. He will spend two hours, according to the programme which has been arranged for him, at Wolfert's Roost, the handsome residence which Senator Hill bought of Fritz Emmett, the actor.

This visit having been arranged that the Democratic candidate and the senator may come to an understanding, if they have not already done so, will mark a distinct epoch in the campaign.

The fact of the invitation from Senator Hill, which message comes, it is understood, through Chairman Hinkley, of the state committee, is taken by the politicians here as an answer to the question which has stirred the state since the day of the Chicago convention, whether Senator Hill will support the ticket.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Former Senator Norton Chase, chairman of the Democratic city committee, was asked whether he knew anything about the story that Mr. Bryan was to be entertained by Senator Hill at Wolfert's Roost while in Albany. Mr. Chase said: "Yes. As a matter of personal courtesy to the distinguished visitor to Albany, Senator Hill, through the committee, has invited Mr. Bryan and his wife and a few personal friends to dine with him at Wolfert's Roost and Mr. Bryan has accepted the invitation."

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Wheat — August, 57 1-8c; September, 57 5-8c; December, 61 1-4c. Corn—August, 23c; September, 23c; May, 27c. Oats — August, 16 1-2c; September, 16 7-8c; May, 19 7-8c. Pork — August and September, $5.97; January, $7. Lard — August, $3.42; September, $3.40; January, $3.80. Ribs—August and September, $3.27; January, $3.50. Flax — Cash, N. W., 67c; September, 67c; December, 70 1-2c. Timothy—Cash, $2.75; September, $2.57 1-2. Rye — Cash, 31c; September, 31 1-2c; December, 34c.

Milwaukee, Aug. 25.—Flour is firm. Wheat higher: No. 2 spring, 57 1-4c; No. 1 Northern, 59c; September, 57 1-2 a58c. Corn steady: No. 3, 22 1-2c. Oats lower; No. 2 white, 21 1-4c; No. 3 white, 18a21 1-2c. Barley nominal; No. 2, 30 1-2c; sample, 24a32 1-2c. Rye steady; No. 1, 32c. Provisions firm.

Minneapolis, Aug. 25.—Wheat — August closed at 54 1-2c; September opened at 53 3-8c and closed at 54 1-4c; December opened at 56 1-4c and closed at 57 1-4c. On track—No. 1 hard, 57c; No. 1 Northern, 56c; No. 2 Northern, 55 1-4c.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Hogs—Light are steady, others weak to 5c lower; light, $3.30a3.65; mixed, $2.95a3.50; heavy, $2.70a3.30; rough, $2.70a2.85. Cattle quiet and barely steady.

South St. Paul, Aug. 25—Hogs about steady; no many here; sales at $2.60a 3.15. Cattle strong; not many offered; good demand for everything; sales at $2.50a4.

Talks to Workingmen.

Canton, Ohio, Aug. 25.—Two thousand farmers, mechanics and other citizens of Newcastle, Elwood and other parts of Lawrence county, Pa., started for Canton this morning in special trains over the Baltimore & Ohio to call on Maj. McKinley. They reached Canton early in the forenoon. All along their journey they had many recruits. When they had paraded to the McKinley home, 6,000 people crowded over the bare lawn and surged into the streets round about. The presentation was made by ex-Congressman Oscar L. Jackson. When Maj. McKinley mounted a chair on his stoop to respond, calliopes, cannon, bands and myriads of human voices repeated their first ovation.

Suicide of an Educator.

Marshalltown, Iowa, Aug. 25.—C. P. Rogers, superintendent of the Marshalltown schools for twenty-two years, suicided here to-day by hanging in his barn. He was one of the most prominent educators in the state, but had enemies here who controlled the school election last spring and practically forced him to resign. This preyed upon his mind greatly, and, with grief for his only son, who was drowned a number of years ago, doubtless caused the deed. He was fifty-three years old and leaves a wife and daughter.

Bryan Speaks.

Tivoli-on-Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Democratic candidate for the presidency, William J. Bryan, spoke to 1,500 people assembled around a platform in the village square at Madalin, and for forty minutes discussed the financial issue from the bimetallic point of view. He was seconded by Senator Stewart of Nevada, but he was cut short by a relentless shower which had been threatening for some time.

John Chamberlain Dying.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 25. — John Chamberlain of Washington, D. C., is dying at the Grand Union hotel. He has been in a comatose condition for the past thirty hours.

Child's Last Ride.

Chamberlain, S. D., Aug. 25.—While riding with her father down a steep incline in the road, the five-year-old daughter of George Harmon, a Lyman county farmer, was almost instantly killed. The dash board, against which she was leaning, gave way, letting her fall beneath the wheels.

BAD TRAIN WRECK

SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON THE PITTSBURG & WESTERN.

Two Freight Trains Collide and a Passenger Train Runs Into Some of the Wrecked Cars—Twenty-Five Passengers Are Injured, Five of Whom Will Probably Die—Brakes Failed to Work.

Pittsburg, Aug. 26.—A wreck on the Pittsburg & Western railroad at Valencia, twenty-two miles west of here, resulted in the destruction of three passenger coaches, eighteen freight cars and the injury of twenty-five passengers, five of whom will probably die.

The names of the seriously injured who may die are Mrs. W. B. Marsh, Talmadge, Ohio, frontal bone crushed, injured internally; John Curry, Pleasantville, Pa., jaw broken and body badly mangled; Mrs. J. W. Morse, Lodi, Ohio, collar bone fractured, injured internally; Maud Bennett, Allegheny, skull fractured; Mary J. L. Smith, Verona, Pa., skull fractured.

The following were badly injured but will recover: Mary Bennett, Allegheny; Walter Smith, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. E. M. Cramer, Appollo, Pa.; Jennie Cramer, Belle Cramer, Appollo, Pa.; Garret Culbert, Allegheny; D. B. Schantz, Harmony, Pa.; G. B. Houston, Newcastle, Pa.; E. J. Smith, Beaver Falls; J. H. Weaverling, Newcastle, Pa.; O. W. Crooks, Carnegie, Pa.; A. J. Vaughn, Buffalo, N. Y.; J. C. Miller, Hazlewood, Pa.; L. L. Gray, Allegheny, Pa.; William Muehlbronner, J. Edward Carill, Allegheny; Alex Jones, Carnegie, Pa.; Dr. J. L. Tierney, Sharpsburg, Pa.; J. W. Morse, Lodi, Ohio; Mrs. C. W. Hyle, Evans City, Pa.

The injured were all brought to the Allegheny general hospital. The serious cases are still there, while the others were either removed to their homes in Allegheny or continued on their journey. The wreck was a peculiar one and involved three trains—the local freight, No. 27, the through freight, No. 25, and the east-bound passenger, No. 14, from Chicago.

The local was standing at Valencia station unloading freight when the through freight came to the top of the grade just east of Valencia. The engineer, who was on the look-out for No. 25, put on the air brakes, but they refused to work, and his train went crashing into the local. Just as the two freights collided the passenger came along on the east-bound track and was struck by the freight cars which were derailed at that moment. The engine and baggage car of the passenger train got through safely and broke away from the balance of the train. The first passenger coach, in which were a great many ladies, was crushed by a car load of oil well tubing. The tubing was thrown with terrific force in every direction, causing most of the wounds received by the passengers. The wreckage was piled twenty-five or thirty feet high in places. The railroad people say the whole trouble was caused by the failure of the brakes to work while the through freight was on the hill.

K. P. ENCAMPMENT.

Biennial Meeting of the Pythians Begins in Earnest.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Hundreds of Knights of Pythias marched into town to-day to attend the eighteenth biennial session of the supreme lodge and the national encampment of the organizations. Reception of brigades, regiments and visitors occupied the forenoon. In the afternoon troops assembled in full dress uniform in front of the headquarters. There the dedicatory exercises took place. The address of the centennial committee, by Wilson M. Day, director general of the commission, the presentation of Camp Perry Payne by Mayor McKisson, acceptance of the camp by Maj. Gen. Carnahan, and the raising of the camp flag occupied the afternoon session.

The report of the officers of the grand lodge show a remarkable growth and development of the order.

In his report Thomas G. Sample, supreme master of the exchequer, congratulated the order upon the healthy condition of its finances. The receipts for the biennial term ending March 31, including a balance of $20,059, were $183,600, and the expenditures $147,703, leaving a balance of $35,897.

The report of Maj. Gen. James R. Carnahan, commanding the uniform rank, showed that the revenues had been sufficient to meet all the expenses of the management. The income for the biennial term was $18,935 and the outlay $7,893.

The rank has made a steady and substantial growth. Some of the divisions had not been able to hold together on account of the hard times, but the new divisions organized during the financial depression were great proofs of the strong hold the rank had upon the Knights of Pythias in general. Warrants had been granted to 104 new divisions

The report of R. L. C. White, supreme keeper of records and seals, showed that in 1864 there were 3 subordinate lodges and 70 members, and in 1896 6,504 subordinate lodges and 464,339 members. The states in which the greatest gains were made were: Ohio, 3,959; Illinois, 3,317; Indiana, 2,757; Iowa, 2,265; Massachusetts, 1,914; Missouri, 1,612; North Carolina, 1,404; Maine, 1,314; Texas, 1,219. There was a loss of 2,807 in Kansas and 4,166 in Pennsylvania. There were gains in 38 states and territories, and a loss in 16.

The session of the supreme lodge is likely to be very interesting. The chief question for consideration, it is said, will be the German ritual. Interviews with a number of supreme lodge representatives published to-day, show that opinion is pretty unanimous in opposition to restoring the German ritual. Supreme Keeper of Records White said: "In my opinion the Germans have either got to obey the law or get out." The general sentiment is that the English ritual ought to be used in this country, where English is the language almost universally spoken.

TO SUCCEED SMITH.

Ex-Gov. Francis Becomes Secretary of the Interior.

Washington, Aug. 26. — Announcement was made by President Cleveland at Gray Gables to-day of the appointment of David R. Francis, ex-governor of Missouri, as secretary of the interior, vice Hon. Hoke Smith, who recently resigned because of his financial views. Mr. Francis will probably assume office Sept. 1, as that is the date named in Secretary Smith's resignation.

The announcement rather surprised Washington, more because of the suddenness with which it followed on the heels of the announcement of Mr. Smith's retirement than because of the selection. The reasons for Secretary Smith's voluntary withdrawal from the cabinet were understood as soon as the announcement was made, and it was naturally expected that as he had retired because he felt obliged to support the nominees of his party at Chicago that his successor would be in full harmony with Mr. Cleveland on the money question. There was feeling also that the president would probably select Mr. Smith's successor from the middle West, as the South was already well represented in his official family. Speculation therefore went to Missouri, Indiana and Illinois and the names of ex-Gov. Francis, ex-Congressman Bynum and others naturally suggested themselves. Gov. Francis took a strong stand in favor of the gold standard in the preliminary battle for delegates to the Chicago convention, but he and his associates were disastrously beaten in his state. During the convention he was also very active. Since the convention he has, it is said by his friends here, given no public utterance as to his position with regard to the Chicago ticket, and so far as known, has not, at least actively, allied himself with the movement for the Indianapolis convention. Gov. Francis throughout his political career has been a strong Cleveland supporter and a warm friend of Mr. Cleveland and the administration. It is recalled that when Mr. Cleveland was at Lakewood making up his cabinet prior to entering upon his second term, ex-Gov. Francis was summoned there and there was a strong impression for a time that he would be given a portfolio. He had been mayor of St. Louis and twice governor of Missouri, and before Mr. Cleveland's nomination became a certainty was pressed for the presidential nomination. Despite the high honors he has already achieved, he is still a comparatively young man, in the neighborhood of fifty, strong, vigorous, of sunny temperament and genial disposition.

The New Secretary.

Ex-Gov. David Rowland Francis was born in Richmond, Madison county, Ky., Oct. 1, 1850. His education was received in Washington university, St. Louis, his family having moved to St. Louis. In 1870 he graduated, receiving the degree B. A. His first employment was with a grain commission house, continuing until 1877, when he began business for himself. In 1884 the D. R. Francis & Bro. Commission company was established as a result of the growth of the firm. The same year he became president of the Merchants' exchange. His first political position was that of delegate to the national convention in 1884. In April, 1885, he was elected mayor of St. Louis, having been nominated as a dark horse on the 185th ballot. In 1888 Mr. Francis was elected governor of Missouri. At the expiration of his term in 1892 he resumed the active business management of his old firm, which had been kept up by the other members of the house, with occasional supervision by the governor himself. His connection with politics since 1892 has been that of a simple citizen with an active interest in the welfare of his party and country. He has always been a consistent Democrat. Mrs. Francis is a leader in St. Louis society. They have four children.

TURNS HIS FACE WESTWARD.

Starting for Lincoln—Mr. Bryan Is Feeling Well Physically and Mentally.

Upper Red Hook, N. Y., Aug. 26 — William J. Bryan, accompanied by Mrs. Bryan and Private Secretary Cutright, left Red Hook to-day to begin their homeward journey to Lincoln. Mr. Bryan has gained flesh during his week's sojourn, and is in high spirits, inspired particularly by an approaching meeting with Senator Hill, Chairman Hinckley and other Democratic leaders, which he expects will result in assurances of the politically solid support of the state organization. The party drove to Rhinecliff, where they crossed the river to continue their journey to Winnisook Lodge, where they will spend the night with Mr. Hinckley. Much of the time of the past three or four days has been spent by Mr. Bryan working on his letter of acceptance. The document will not be so long as his Madison Square Garden speech, nor will it be given to the public until Mr. McKinley's acceptance has been published.

At various points along the line Mr. Bryan was cheered by crowds and he was compelled to make several short speeches.

Murdered by Tramps.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 26. — Two tramps went to a section house on the Fort Worth & Denver railway, near Texline, and murdered Mrs. John Halloran, wife of the section foreman, robbed the house of $80 and $1,500 in pay checks of the Fort Worth & Denver, fired the section house, partially cremating Mrs. Halloran's body.

Prof. Andree Gives It Up.

Tromsoe, Norway, Aug. 26. — Prof. Andree has arrived here from Dane's island on board the Virgo, having apparently abandoned for this year his attempt to cross the Arctic regions in a balloon.

Blew Off His Face.

Aberdeen, S. D., Aug. 26. -- Charles Eichler of Sand Lake attempted to remove a cap yesterday from the shell of a shotgun. The shell exploded and Eichler's left eye and a large part of that side of his face were blown away. It is not thought he can recover.

A Wealthy Farmer Dies.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Aug. 26.—John Railsback, a wealthy young farmer, living ten miles from here, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. No reason is known.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Mrs. O'Toole, who was run over by a buggy at St. Paul, died of her injuries.

Col. Kiefer has withdrawn from the contest for the Republican congressional nomination in the Fourth district.

The newspaper men will have charge of the programme at the state fair Saturday.

Musgrove and Cingmars, murderers of Sheriff Rogers of Glencoe, have been indicted for murder in the first degree.

The veterans of Minnesota regiments will hold a joint reunion at Fort Snelling Sept. 1.

Burlars ransacked the residence of President Wallace, of Macalester college, St. Paul.

State officers decide to make a test case to determine the title of a purchaser of state lands on which the first purchaser has defaulted.

Michael Ryan of St. Paul has been declared insane because of his peculiar affection for a woman who did not know him.

Richard Hammett, for many years a resident of Mankato, seventy-two years old, died. Among surviving heirs is Mrs. Streeter of Minneapolis.

Gov. Clough of Minnesota has appointed delegates to the annual convention of the National Prison association, which meets in Milwaukee Sept. 26.

Stratton Bros.' drug store, at Belle Plaine, was burglarized recently. Jewelry and money amounting to $125 was taken.

Attorney General Childs renders an opinion holding that clerks of courts must be elected this year in counties in which the term of office expired in January, 1896.

Two men arrived on horseback at Mrs. Underwood's house, near Madison lake, during the absence of her husband, and one assaulted her while the other chased her younger sister to a neighbor's.

Mankato was visited the other night by burglars, several houses being entered. Little plunder, however, less than $50, was secured. P. A. Gunder, county auditor, was visited twice during the night.

Frank Zeigeblem was run over by his team at Tileston's mills, St. Cloud. The team got frightened and knocked him down, and he lost one eye and broke his collar bone and nose. He is a prominent St. Cloud town farmer, and is in a critical condition.

A very heavy rain visited Ellsworth recently, accompanied by sharp lightning. Lightning struck the barn of F. J. Ash, setting fire to it and burning it to the ground. Two boys were sleeping upstairs in the hay, but they escaped uninjured.

John W. Anderson, a butcher of Madelia, charged with assaulting the eight-year-old daughter of John W. Miller, was by the court commissioner bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Anderson has been a respected member of society.

Patrick Carroll, an aged citizen of Houston county, committed suicide yesterday. He deliberately walked into a small pond on the farm of Dan Flynn, two miles west of Caledonia, and drowned himself in water not over a foot deep.

Another obstruction suit has been filed at Duluth to delay the building of the city water works, presumably by the gas and water company. R. D. Mallet sues to have the council enjoined from selling the issue of $1,100,000 bonds to A. C. Jones company, successful bidders, on the ground that it impairs the city's credit and raises the bonded indebtedness above the legal limit of 5 per cent.

J. L. Sanderson, the brakeman sent out to flag trains and protect the wrecker at the scene of the Great Northern freight wreck on the Hinckley branch, went to sleep on the edge of the ties after twenty-seven hours' watch. The red light was by his side, but a freight train from Superior struck him, and he was knocked over an embankment. He was badly injured, but may recover. His home is at Melrose, where he was taken.

A heavy storm passed over Luverne. Many stacks of grain were burned and the wind leveled the corn to the ground. The barn of Christ Bourchest was struck by lightning and six head of horses burned, together with the structure and a large quantity of hay and grain and farm machinery. The loss will reach nearly $4,000. Thomas Colby lost five stacks of wheat, Will Thompson four stacks and several others were losers to a greater or less amount. About an inch of water fell.

After his arrest for hitting his wife in the head with an ax, J. M. Anderson hanged himself in jail at Biwabik. He was a Swedish-Finlander, about fifty years old, and had a large family. He had had trouble with his wife and grown sons for three years, and frequently threatened to kill them and himself. He was a hard-working man and it is thought was somewhat unbalanced mentally, although his family made home life unpleasant. He evidently thought he had killed his wife, though she was not seriously injured.

George Thompson, an inmate of the state reformatory at St. Cloud, sent up from Faribault on the charge of assault in the second degree last June, took French leave the other morning. He was engaged in farming on the state farm, about a mile from the institution. The guard is understood to have had more men than he could well handle, as they were spread over the field. When Thompson had worked out of range of a Winchester, he started and ran. He is still at large, though officers are on his track.

From an isolated portion of Polk county comes the story of a fatality during the heavy hail-storm of last week. The seven-year-old daughter of a farmer named Rosseland, living in the town of Chester, was the victim. The little girl went outside the house for some purpose unknown to her parents and she was not missed for several minutes, during which time the worst of the hail storm was in progress. On discovering that their daughter was not in the house a search was made, and the body found lying in the yard. Several large hail stones were lying near and it was supposed that she had been struck by some of them on the head and instantly killed.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday.$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone.......$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year.......$4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year.......$1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:51 am	To and from Winnipeg, St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China, via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN,
of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON,
of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives { S. J. LEE Norman Co.
W. A. MARIN, Polk Co

THEY MUST ADMIT THIS.

Why has silver "depreciated to 50 cents in the dollar?" and how can the law restore it to a 100-cent dollar?

A witty Jew once said in my presence that Moses got up the first corner on beef of which history gives an account. "He bought up all the beef cattle and then passed a law forbidding the people to use swine's flesh, and made millions out of the rise of beef." Even a 10-year-old boy ought to see that under such a law beef would go up and bacon go down. Not that the law directly fixes the value of either, but by destroying the demand for one and increasing the demand for the other. While law cannot fix values it can create or destroy either demand or supply.

For untold ages prior to 1873 all the great commercial nations used two metals as redemption money (except England for a short time). One was gold and one was silver. In 1873 and 1874 the great nations destroyed silver as a redemption money. Thus was destroyed the almost unlimited demand for silver for this purpose, and increasing the demand for gold. Of course and inevitably, under the law of demand and supply, silver went down and gold went up, and now gold-standard men take advantage of this necessary result of their own wrong to discredit silver. And during all the ages that both metals were used as redemption or real money their relative values, no matter what their relative supplies, did not vary more than three points, while during the twenty-three years since the demand for silver was cut down their ratio has changed from 15½ to 1 to 31 to 1.

All that is necessary to restore their ancient ratio is to restore the ancient demand for silver as redemption money.

This historical test proves another thing. It shows that a standard composed of any one metal cannot possibly be as stable as a standard composed of two metals. The reason is obvious. When we have a standard composed of only one metal every fluctuation in the supply of that metal, whether resulting from the output of the miners or from the cornering processes of bankers and brokers, necessarily provides a corresponding fluctuation in prices, and the burdens of debtors and taxpayers and producers, as is the case now.

On the other hand, when we had a standard composed of two metals and the supply of either increased or diminished people who needed money to pay debts or embark in enterprises or for any other of the many uses for which money is needed naturally sought for the cheaper and most easily obtained. This increased the demand for this metal and lessened the demand for the other. Thus under the simple law of demand and supply the values of the two were brought to an equilibrium about a fixed point or ratio, which history proves to have been about 15½ to 1, which was the ratio established by France.

But in the face of history it is claimed that this country could not maintain any ratio by itself unaided by other countries.

Let us see.

We must not forget that the demand for money is largely dependent upon the amount of business to be transacted through its instrumentality.

According to our census reports the United States manufactured in 1880 $9,380,000,000 worth of goods, or nearly as much as Great Britain, Germany and France combined. According to the mint reports there are only about $7,500,000,000 of gold and silver both used as money and bullion in the whole world. So if all the gold and silver in the world were dumped into the United States it would not pay cash for one year's output of our factories by nearly $2,000,000,000.

But this is not all. We transport by rail alone 60,000,000 tons of freight more than all the rest of the world combined transports by rail and by water both.

We produce $800,000,000 more of agricultural products than any other nation on the globe.

Now, if you add to our manufactures, our transportation business by rail and water, our agricultural products, our real-estate transfers, our mineral products and all of our other vast, varied and rapidly increasing business, all the gold and silver in the world used as money and bullion would not pay cash for 10 per cent of the business of this one country. Any share of these metals which this country can possibly obtain will not pay 1 per cent.

Yet France, which is only a second rate power, that manufactures less than half as much as Great Britain and less than one-fourth as much as our country, a nation which could be carved out of the single state of Texas and leave territory enough to make nearly eight states as large as Massachusetts—this comparatively little France for thirty-nine years, from 1831 to 1873, controlled the price of silver all over the civilized world by opening her mints to the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at 15½ to 1. And this, too, while the two greatest nations of the globe—the United States and Great Britain—had different monetary systems from France. England had silver demonetized, while the United States had a ratio of 16 to 1.

No man who had silver in London or New York would take less than he could get at the French mint minus cost of transport. This is the reason that at the time silver was demonetized in 1873 it was worth 3 per cent more than gold, because the French mint gave this much more for it than we did at our ratio of 16 to 1.

Notwithstanding this conclusive experience, some of our "business men" are frightened out of their wits lest this country may not be able to accomplish what little France did so successfully and for so many years.

Besides, to wait for England to help us to restore silver is as idle nonsense as it would have been for our fathers to have waited for her to consent to our independence.

We must force her, as we easily can, to an international agreement, by making it her interest. The United States government and its people owe England and Europe several thousand millions. If we make these debts payable in gold or silver, at our option, as prior to 1873, and open our mints to the free and unlimited coinage of both metals, it will be the interest of our creditors to have the silver, in which we would pay the greater part of them, as valuable as any other money in the world. This could be done by an international agreement to restore the unlimited demand, which they destroyed in 1873 and 1874. It would not be twelve months after we began to pay in silver before England would be organizing an international congress for this purpose.

To force Europe and England is much more becoming the greatest nation on earth than to be occupying the attitude of a suppliant, as the republican platform proposes.

Yet, if this letter were not already too long, it would be easy to show that it would be to our interest for England, France and Germany not to enter into an international agreement after we have opened our mints and restored silver to its corruptly lost monetary functions. It would be better for us that they continue the gold standard for many years.

W. M. FISHBACK.

McKinley and Hobart will be a back number after election. Stick this up in a conspicious place. Mark Hanna will be to blame for it too.

I don't believe that a candidate for office has any right to ask the people to vote for him as a personal favor, but has a right to claim the vote of all who believe that through his election they can best protect their own interest and serve the country. That is the only theory upon which a man can obtain support. Your votes are your own to use according to your own judgement. I can simply appeal to you to take the issues and study them as citizens upon whom rest grave responsibilities, and when you have decided, all I can ask of you is that you allow your vote to register your own wish. Let your ballots register a free man's will, and then no matter who is elected, we will be satisfied.—W. J. Bryan.

"We have no war, no pestilence, no visible calamity of any kind. Our national resources are rich as ever, the earth has yielded abundantly of its fruits and our people are skillful and enterprising as of old, and yet a blight seems to have settled over the land—factories and mills are at a standstill, labor only partially employed, and a general depression everywhere in the United States. All this has been caused" by the conspiracy of the money power to fasten the gold standard on the country and to coerce the people to vote for the protection of the multimillionaire manufacturers and trusts. But the people will take charge of the government again, this year.—Jasper (Ind.) Herald.

Mark Hanna—lets see—Oh yes, he is the professional "sincher".

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

THE CARNIVAL

at Minneapolis will be at its height during the G. A. R. Encampment. You do not want to miss it, and the rates are lower than you will probably be able to get again soon. Drop everything and spend a few days in the Twin Cities. Use the old reliable Northern Pacific.

A Paregoric Tippler.

One often hears of the subterfuges resorted to by persons addicted to the use of drugs in order to secure what their morbid appetite craves, and one of the clerks in a North Broad street drug store is a perfect mine of information on such matters. He knows the Jamaica ginger drunkard and the morphine fiend, but the most interesting character to come under his observation is a paregoric drinker. This fellow is a laboring man, and promptly at 6:30 every morning he enters the store on his way to work, with his dinner pail hanging from his arm. He orders a pint bottle of paregoric, which he drinks during the course of the day. Paregoric contains a certain percentage of opium, and presumably this is what the man drinks it for.—Philadelphia Record.

Unpleasant Proof.

Young Softleigh (who is going to take his best girl out for a ride, with the intention of proposing on the road, and will want the free use of both arms)—I suppose the horse is gentle—one of those horses you can drive with—er—your—er—feet if necessary?

Stable Keeper—You can do anything with him. Just ask your young lady. She has been out behind him with half the young men in the town.—Pick Me Up.

Poisonous Earth.

Some curious facts have been brought to light by M. Danteo in his investigations and experiments relating to the arrow poison employed by the natives of the New Hebrides. The most remarkable, it would seem, of these facts is that the substance contains neither vegetable poison nor serpent virus, but consists of a peculiar kind of earth impregnated with vegetable matter taken from certain marshy places and containing Pasteur's vibrion septique, or bacillus of malignant œdema and also the bacillus of tetanus. If the arrows have been kept a long time or have been much exposed to the sun, the vibrion septique may have been destroyed, the danger being then from tetanus. M. Danteo states that when the arrows have been freshly prepared and the vibrion septique is still active a wound from them causes death in a guinea pig from septicæmia in from 12 to 15 hours. Tetanus, which takes longer than that period to develop, does not under the circumstances named show itself.

Ready Made Mortar.

Lighterage business about the harbor of New York has been considerably damaged by a new labor saving device in the building trade. It used to be that many lighters were employed in transporting from point to point the sand and lime that go to the making of mortar. A new concern, however, is now sending down scowloads of ready mixed mortar from Cow bay. This mortar, of three qualties, is ladled out into iron carts and sent to all parts of the city where building operations are going on, and the lighters are less and less employed for carrying the materials that go to the making of mortar.—New York Sun.

Light and Sleeping.

Don't sleep with eyes facing the light is a caution given by all oculists. A test by closing the eyes when facing the light quickly shows that the strain is only lessened, not removed, and the interposition of an adequate shade is as grateful to the shut eyes as when they are open. It is sometimes necessary in a small room to have the bed face the window, but even then, by means of shades rolling from the bottom instead of from the top, the window may be covered to the few inches left free for the passage of air.—New York Times.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know: Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:
IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn.
41-52

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.

	Price per Acre.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00

RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.

9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.10 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00

BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00

ROOKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	5.10 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

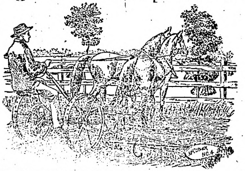
Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



The Spectator.

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite sayins with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department.

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞ Warehouse on railroad track. : : : : : : : : : :

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE
Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale, Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,
Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forgot the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	46c	Butter	8@8½
Oats	12c	Eggs	6c
Barley	14c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	52c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

School term opens August 31st.

Drummers were thick last week.

The weather nearly reached the frost line last night.

S. M. Dainard returned from Crookston last evening.

H. E. Ives made a trip to Crookston the first of the week.

Rapp & Post's barn is receiving a nice blue coat of paint.

Judge Ives of Crookston spent a few hours in St. Hilaire Friday.

Prof. O'Brien and Miss Mary Kyle are expected to arrive this week.

Col. Naff of Crookston passed through here the first of the week.

S. M. Dainard received a car load of flour from Larimore, N. D., last week.

Will Sorsoleil is lathing and otherwise fixing up the interior of his house.

Carl Johnson shipped another pointer dog to Clearmont, South Dakota Monday.

Chicken season opens next Tuesday. They are reported as being few and far between.

The strong wind of yesterday broke one of the windows in the Brink Bros. building.

Wild plums are good and ripe and there is plenty of them outside of the hail district.

Six days more and then you are allowed to shoot chickens according to law—not before.

Mrs. R. H. Aimer and children, who have been visiting at Keystone, returned home Saturday.

Thief River Falls bicyclists, four in number, made a run down here for exercises last Friday.

Dan Patterson is no nicely located in his fine new residence. The moving took place Monday.

M. Z. Epperson has bought out Col. Stranahan's interest in the feed mill located at this point.

The spoon hook season is at its best. One consultation they all have "It was a big un that took it."

It is reported that a wolf attacked a child east of town lately. We are unable to get particulars.

A man with a fur coat and a straw hat drove into town Saturday forenoon. It was a black straw hat.

E. M. Hoff and Carl Johnson drove the saw mill magnates down to Red Lake Falls last Thursday.

Yesterday was a disagreeable day to say the least. Sand was distributed freely and free gratis at that.

G. S. Lord, representing the St. Paul Dispatch was here yesterday working up a circulation for that paper.

Chas. Tedford and Chris Amandson drove down from the upper Falls last Friday behind a pair of steppers.

Miss Mary Kyle has been engaged to teach the primary department of the St. Hilaire schools for another term.

August Swenson commenced harvesting Monday. He was in the hail district and expects to get back his seed.

Mrs. J. O. Matthews of Crookston who has been visiting with her sister Mrs. A. R. Jones for a few days returned home to-day.

The school board put their O. K. on the painting and repairing of the school house last Monday. It was a much needed improvement.

A. R. Jones is building a new tank which will be placed under the fountain of the flowing well for the accommodation of the public.

We will be pleased to publish any notices pertaining to churches free of charge. Notices should be handed in not later than Wednesday noon.

Parents should warn their children from going down to the race as the steep banks keep continually caving in and is very dangerous to say the least.

Ole Loe, a farmer west of here came in early this morning after a load of men to help him do his threshing.

Mr. and Mrs. Pirath and daughter Katie of Red Lake Falls were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Will Peters last Sunday.

W. A. Sorsoleil left to-day for Langdon, N. D., in response to a letter stating one of his little girls was down with the fever.

—Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a specialty from now until after election.

The Standard Oil wagon arrived last week. Its a daisy, fitted out with a cusion seat and a fine top cover. Dan says there is nothing too good for this point of delivery.

H. Sarasin, manager of the Meehan lumber yard and W. W. Brown, both of Red Lake Falls spent Sunday in the village. Both are nice gentlemen abroad as well as at home.

St. Hilaire has extended its borders, taking in more territory, by a vote of 46 to 1. We expect the vote on the silver question will be at the same ratio.—Thief River Falls News.

The Meehan Lumber company have sold their yards at Warren, Stephen and Hallock to the Robertson Lumber company, the latter having competitive yards at each of these places prior to this deal.

Sanderson & Johnson's threshing outfit pulled out of town yesterday afternoon for the ridge west of town where they will commence threshing at once. The crops there will yield a fair average.

M. Z. Epperson will put in three of his threshing rigs south of Red Lake Falls where he will separate the "golden" for the farmers in that vicinity. He expects at least thirty days run with all three machines.

L. J. Stranahan expects his Winchester repeater this coming Friday. He has located some geese already and is waiting for the season to open. L. J. has a faculty of getting geese when he goes after them.

Day F. Stacy, the civil engineer, surveyor and typo of Thief River Falls spent several hours in the village last Friday on his way to Crookston where his presence was required as a witness in a government timber deal.

L. T. Bergh and Martin Bjerk spent a few days visiting the parents of the latter north of Thief River Falls last week. Martin left his faithful friend "McKinley" there where he can gorge himself with milk for a year or so.

Halvorson and Peterson will not move their threshing outfit to Dakota as they intended, but instead will move their rig out in the Black River district where they will separate the grain so none will be found in the straw stacks.

Geo. Fricker, a former resident of St. Hilaire, but now running a flour mill at Larrimore, N. Dak., shook hands with his numerous friends here Saturday and left for Thief River Falls the same evening where he will visit his brother.

Dan Patterson made his initial trip to Thief River Falls yesterday with his Standard Oil wagon. Dan started out from here in proper shape as he was accompanied by a St. Paul newspaper representative who held down his end of the cushion seat.

The Repository, a daily paper published at Canton, Ohio, (McKinley's home) is being sent broadcast all over the country free of charge. Ten chances to one its a "rat" sheet, hiring men at low wages and paying them off in Mexican dollars.

Carl Johnson, proprietor of the Red River Kennels, shipped one of his dogs to Crystal, N. D., last week. He has about a dozen more and any one wishing a fine English setter will do well by writing to him at once and get the benefit of this season's chicken shooting.

Vol. 1, No. 1 of the "Kennedy Screwdriver" is before us. It is well filled with good reading matter, and plenty of it. From the looks of the advertising columns it will be a financial success. We wish the youngest editor and newest paper in the state well in his undertaking.

Charley Brink is waiting patiently for the chicken season to open as he has been shooting at a barn long enough to know just where she shoots and figured the thing out whereby he gets 18 out of 20 birds. His gun arrived new from the shop last Monday. He will put new boards on the barn.

Now is the time to plow your fire breaks, and make them good and safe. With this year's heavy growth of grass it is impossible to avoid prairie fires being started somewhere. Once started it will be impossible to tell where it will end. Don't put it off too long—go at it now and be on the safe side.

The income of John D. Rockefeller, the Standard oil man who is kind enough to let us have 2½ gallons of kerosine for the price of a bushel of wheat, is estimated at $1,500,000,000 a year. This would give him $4,109 a day, $171 an hour, or $29 a minute. No other business except that of a country editor could bring more satisfactory returns.—Ex.

Halvor and Ike Halvorson returned Sunday evening from a two weeks trip on their pine claims near the Black Duck lake. The Indians took Halvor for a native and nothing but "Ba-shoo neche" etc., would satisfy them. The whites refused to give him a drink of "fire-water" and Halvor was put in a rather embarrasing position. The natives gave a dance in honor of the departing pine claim holders.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Pays More Than Her Share.

The county treasurer has just paid the state tax for Polk county; the apportionment being very nearly twenty thousand dollars, which compared with the other counties, is proportionately too high, and while even this large state tax makes the rate of taxation low in Polk county, it is nevertheless unjust that this county should pay the state taxes on a proportionately unfair assessment as compared with other counties. At the next meeting of the State Board of Equalization which will be held next month, steps should be taken to see that a fair equalization is made.

Judge Christianson, who is a member from this district has a large territory to look after, and in addition thereto has now the badly tangled affairs of the judge of probate office to unravel and put into shape. It would therefore seem wise for the taxpayers of this county, even if they had to pay by private subscription, to get a man well posted on values, to meet with the Board of Equalization September first, and assist Judge Christianson to place the matter in its proper light before the state board.

While Polk county has some of the best land in the world, yet it is a large county and in it there is considerable low grade and unsettled land, so that the general average valuation should not be high. The fact that several townships (within a short distance of so large and thriving a city as Crookston) are still unorganized ought to convince the board that the real estate in such townships, should not rate anywhere near the same as real estate in the thickly settled portions of the southern part of the state.

The state board raised the Polk county assessment last time and this should not be allowed this year without a strenuous effort to prevent it.—Crookston Times.

The Republican campaign this year will be replete with buldozing tactics. Men like P. D. Armour for instance are being induced by Mark Hanna to "instruct" their employes how to vote. These "instructions" were printed upon the envelopes handed them one day in addition to which they will be treated with a gold ration at regular intervals.—Crookston Times.

O. A. Wiste a former St. Hilaireite but for the past three years engaged in the tinsmith business at Hallock arrived Monday and will visit parents and friends for a week or so. Mr. Wiste made the trip overland with his bike and did not reach here on schedule time owing to a break down of part of the gearing. The wheel was sent to Crookston for repairs. O. A. Wiste renewed his subscription to the SPECTATOR and keeps well posted on St. Hilaire affairs.

In the days of prosperity—when we had greenbacks and free silver—the tramp was unknown. But after the Republican party under the lead of old John Sherman destroyed our greenbacks—and demonetized silver, "hard times" came upon the people, the tramp put in an appearance, and today the nation is flooded with idle men roaming about the country, who long since ceased being consumers, in the full sense of the word. The "present gold basis" has produced a criminal condition in this country and we may well tremble for the result.—Mandan Independent.

$7.80

From Crookston to St. Paul and Minneapolis for the Encampment, State Fair and Minneapolis Carnival. Tickets on sale August 31st, September 1st and 2nd. Final limit September 15th. Extension to Sept. 30th granted on depositing ticket with joint agent on or before September 15th. See Northern Pacific ticket agent for further information.

A professional man who recently came down from Roseau informed us that Roseau was an excellent point to engage in the newspaper business, as one man there would guarantee a paper $25 a month. Roseau is a good frontier town and has now two of as good local papers as there is in the state. This $25 a month man proved to be no other than a "doctor" who brought a libel suit against Bro. Bell and Bro. Pearson for $7,500 apiece—and now he wants a paper—a $25 a month paper.

Hits and Mrs.

A man ordered a temperance hair cut at a Grafton barber shop the other day and in just three hours and thirty minutes the barber found out that he didn't want any bay rum rubbed on to his cocoanut.

* * *

A man got off of the Cavalier train last Monday evening, whose face was all tied up in thought; one eye was closed entirely and the other looked as if it wanted to go out of business, while his left ear and nose was bleeding freely. He was followed by a dog of a brindle hue, spotted with blood. It seems that at Hoople, where the accident happened, a dog fight took place and this particular dog got the worst of it; then the man whose face seemed to be troubled with sin, picked up a club to assist his dog, who seemed to be bothered. This annoyed the man who owned the top dog and he let go of a few shoulder jolts and the man's face was fixed for photographing.—Grafton (N. D.) Record.

The State Fair,
The Carnival,
The G. A. R. Encampment—
These are great inducements and you should not miss them. Old and young, boys and girls, wives and sweethearts, don't miss this great opportunity.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

A Letter From Uncle Efrum.

BUSHY CREK, Aug., 22, 1896.

MR. EDETUR: It has been so long sense I ret or seed you that I dont no wher to begin. Times have been so hard and I hav been so bizy in gettin well and fiten flees and stray republerkins that it seemed as tho I'd never find a menit to rite you; but now the old woman and the boys is all out and nobody round but the stillness of farm life, with no one in the house but me an the flees, I kin find a leetle time to give you a few of my vues.

A few nites ago I waked doun to the hog pastur to see if them pigs, the mates of the ones the doktor took, was groin and wood make pork enuf to pay my taxes, and jest as I got to the gate the postmaster of Peterson's Corners cum along, ridin a big white mule. When I furst seed him I thot of the holy man who rode the ansester of the mule into the grate city and who driv the munny changers out of the tempul and I respeckfully ast our beluved postmaster if he was goin doun to the tempul to drive out them collecturs and theeves that have giv us so much trubul? If he'd ben a bull an I a greaser with a red rag and a spear he wudent have been madder. "What you tockin about you old foole sed he, d'yu think becose I'm ridin a mule I'm a fool poperlis?" I tride to quiet him but he got madder and madder, and when I told him he'd git over nex spring when Grover Cleveland was turned out he slid off his mule to leek me, but I lened agin the fence an kep him off with my cane, I then went to work to cool him doun. I told him it was a good sine for him to get mad at such leetle things, it shode that his mind was waverin and that in a little time he'd be with us. Yes just as soon as Jim Rankin is appinted postmaster. He stormed round sum more and sed I orter be licked, but that I was so old he was ashamed to do it. I told him I was thar for biznes and if he intended to do it, to begin soon, but he had begun to cool doun and stood in the rode and cust me a spel and turned to look for his mule and the animal was gone. He cust me agin and all the poperlis for fools and started to walk home ten miles. I cald him back and we sot down on an old log and tocked the siteration over for several hours and when he got up to leve I sed to him, go up to the house with me and I'll hav Jim's boy ketch the old mare and take you home in the cart. We went up and the old woman got us a bite to ete and Jim's kid took the postmaster home. We parted as frends and he'll vote for Bryan and Lind shure and take his chances on reopintment. Everybuddy is plesed about Bryan bein nominated for president; even the three Swedes that leve over the Brusby on the sand rege say, "Ai ben republecan twenty yar, dank ai skal vote for Bryan and John Lind, Lind be good swede man, at lak him better as Knut Nelson, Lind he onest and not cheat swede man lak Nelson." Crops is pore and times hard. We have plenty of pertaters and turnips—we wont starve.

Yourn for Bryan and Lind,
EFRUM PRISE.

G. A. R.

Encampment week at St. Paul, Carnival week at Minneapolis, and State Fair week at both points. This is a rare combination for sight seeing. Rates are as low as you can ask. Take it all in and go via Northern Pacific.

Old Comrades—you will be able to meet and grasp by the hand once more. You want to come. This may be your last chance, so make a special effort.

"The farmer who goes forth in the morning and toils all day, begins in the spring and toils all summer, and, by application of brain and muscle to the natural resources of the country, creates wealth, is as much a business man as the man who goes upon the board of trade and bets upon the price of grain." —William J. Bryan.

A man stopped us on the street the other day and called us a —— —— liar. Now to an ordinary, every-day man such a salutation would not jar his feelings to any great extent. But to a man whose whole life has been spent in educating the masses, whose early youth was inspired with truthfulness from a fond parent (made more inspiring by frequent applications of a harness tug) and from a man whose whole life has been spent in other peoples chicken coops, such a vile epitaph was more than our generous mind could stand. The coroner is now holding an inquest over his remains.—Roseau Region.

G. A. R. Encampment
Minnesota State Fair
Minneapolis Carnival

Here you will see old comrades and renew old acquaintances. See the great review, the exhibits at the State Fair, the Parade of the Militia of the entire State, and the many attractions of the Carnival. Make your trip via the Northern Pacific R. R.

Dates of sale August 31st, Sept. 1st and 2nd. Final limit Sept. 15th. Extension to Sept. 30th granted on depositing ticket with joint agent on or before Sept. 15th. For information call or address

C. A. SHARKEY,
Ticket Agt. N. P. R. R., Crookston.

$7.80 from Crookston.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.
SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, Hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Feed

Your nerves upon rich, red blood and you will not be nervous. Blood is made rich and pure by

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are always reliable. 25 cents.

Girding Her Waist.

Closely folded belts, as deep as a corselet and fitting the wearer like a glove, look best in satin or silk with toilettes of silk, fine mohair and grass lawn over silk, loosely draped sashes are charming with muslin gowns on youthful, slender figures, says Myra's Journal. Folded belts crossed in front are very becoming in some cases, and the plainest dress can be converted into a toilette fit for any special occasion if only the belt or sash and the collar and bows on collar or shoulder to correspond be well chosen, and made up with just the right taste and elegance. A novel idea in making up wide belts is to finish off the top of a colored belt with a fold of white silk or satin tacked inside the belt and forming a kind of hem. If the belt is black or dark in color, the top fold may be in a light contrasting shade. These hemmed belts are effective above the fashionable full skirts that are mounted with several rows of gathers.

Easily Explained.

"You say this is the diamond stud stolen from you. Do you swear to it, sir?" sternly asked the lawyer for the defense.

"I do, positively."

"Yet it is not the only stud of the kind in the world; I have one identical with it in my pocket."

"No doubt. I had two stolen."—Detroit Free Press.

How to Grow 40c Wheat.

Salzer's Fall Seed Catalogue tells you. It's worth thousands to the wide-awake farmer. Send 4-cent stamp for catalogue and free samples of grains and grasses for fall sowing. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse. Wis.

What He Meant.

He—Yes, it is a hot night; and yet there is a good deal of air stirring.

She—I hadn't noticed any breeze.

He—No, I meant the air in the bicycle tires.—Washington Times.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Delicate Point.

"What sort of a crowd is this I am to address to-night?" asked the orator, anxiously. "Is it inclined to religion, or somewhat sporty?"

"Darn if I can say," said the member of the reception committee.

"I wish you would find out. I would like to know whether to use the expression 'a new dispensation' or 'a new deal.'"—Indianapolis Journal.

The Comte de Montgomery, escaping from the massacres in Paris in 1572, covered ninety miles, without halting, on one horse, according to a manuscript of the time.

London manufactures more than 2,000 pianos each week.

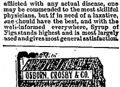
Nearly a million telegrams pass through the postoffice of London each week.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
WE LOAN MONEY ON WHEAT AT 6%
SEND US YOUR WHEAT AND WE WILL
LOAN YOU 90 PER CENT OF ITS VALUE
AND ALLOW TWENTY DAYS STORAGE
FREE

"THE MIDDLE SOUTH"

A handsomely illustrated 16 page Monthly Journal describing the development of the Middle South, the farmer's paradise. Price 50 cents per year. Send 25 cts. at once mentioning this paper and you will receive "The Middle South," for one year, postage free, or if you secure four subscribers and send us $1.00 we will send your paper one year free of charge. Address Middle South Pub. Co., Somerville, Tenn.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

GRAND ARMY CAMP

CITIZENS OF ST PAUL READY TO RECEIVE THE VETERANS.

Arrangements Are Practically Completed for the Encampment Next Week — New Features of Entertainment Are Provided—Carnival of Ceres and Knights of Pythias in Minneapolis—The State Fair.

St. Paul, Aug. 25. — Arrangements have practically been completed for the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which will begin next Monday, and only minor details now remain to be perfected. So thoroughly has the work been accomplished by the general citizens' committee and the numerous subcommittees that should the encampment be held now the city would be ready to entertain the many thousands of veterans and visitors who are expected to attend the encampment.

The work of decorating the streets, business houses and private residences has already begun, and it is safe to say that there will be few buildings in St. Paul which will not display at least one flag. The piece de resistance of the decorations will be Summit avenue, the principal residence street of the city. From Summit Park to Western avenue, a distance of about half a mile, the avenue will be resplendent in light and decorations. The ladies' encampment committee has devised this feature of the entertainment. Receptions will be held every night in the open air, beginning at 8:30 o'clock, all along this part of the avenue. Thirty additional arc lights will be placed at equal distances on both sides of the avenue. At each end gas light arches will mark the limit of the reception area. In addition to the arc lights many of the residents along this part of Summit avenue are arranging for lights of their own, so that night will be practically turned into the brightest day. Bunting, flags and all manner of decorations will add to the festiveness of the scene. Every facility will be provided to entertain at least 100,000 people. Platforms will be erected at intervals, and short speeches will be made by notable visitors. It will form a distinctively new feature for an encampment, as nothing like it has ever been attempted heretofore.

To Care for the Visitors.

Every detail is being perfected for the care and entertainment of the city's guests. Escort duty will be performed by various local drum corps, and the special trains will be met and the various departments and posts escorted to their quarters. Several bands will also be engaged for this service. A corps of surgeons and physicians will care for visitors who may need their services. A guiding star has been prepared for those who have never before visited St. Paul. The guiding star will be the High School Cadets. This organization will, in many respects, be to the Grand Army encampment what the Columbian Guards were to the world's fair at Chicago. The cadets will be a feature altogether unknown to previous encampments. They will be organized as a corps on military lines, with a view to affording prompt and varied information to any inquiring stranger. During Monday and Tuesday of encampment week, when the crowd is pouring into the city, a cadet is to be posted at each corner in the business district of the city. This will make four cadets at each street intersection, so that inquirers will not be obliged to search long to find the young men with the white caps. Outside of the business center the cadets will be stationed only at the principal points and where the crowd is likely to assemble. A cadet will be known at once by his trim military cap of white duck, trimmed with white silk cord, and bearing in gold letters the words "High School Cadet — Bureau of Information." Besides the cap, an artistic badge of red, white and blue silk will be worn by the information corps.

One of the unique features of the encampment will be the great flag chorus, which is to be stationed beside the line of march to symbolize a living, singing American banner. The flag will be composed of several thousand school children. Some of the girls will be dressed in red and some of the boys in blue, while others will wear pure white. As the veterans march past the chorus will sing patriotic songs.

The Indian display arranged for by the committee will be one of the great features for Eastern visitors. Fifty Chippewas will be on exhibition day and evening in war dances, etc., to which no admission will be charged.

Work of the Ladies.

All the prominent ladies of the city have been enlisted in the work of preparing for the encampment, especially as regards the reception of ladies, and nothing has been left undone which would make the visit of the wives and daughters of the veterans a pleasant one. The refreshment committee has completed its arrangements and no caller at the ladies' headquarters at any hour of encampment week will fail to obtain ample and palatable refreshment. Thursday, Sept. 3, from 2 to 6 o'clock, there will be at the ladies' headquarters a general reception for the entertainment of all ladies visiting St. Paul who are the members of any patriotic society, the wives and daughters of all veterans or of members of men's patriotic societies, and the wives and daughters of all citizens. During the evening of Tuesday, Sept. 1, Summit avenue, from Summit Park to Western avenue, will be closed to vehicles. It will be transformed into an immense promenade, upon which four simultaneous receptions will be held.

The music of the encampment week will be a most important means of entertainment. The ladies' music committee will supply two daily concerts at Headquarters. It will furnish the music for the various receptions and has arranged a special series of church concerts. Each church will be open every afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, when visitors to the churches may hear organ recitals by accomplished musicians. The committee on drives will provide for all the ladies desiring a two hours' drive about the city. The emergency hospital committee will fit up one of the best rooms at headquarters with every hospital appliance. Nurses and physicians will be in attendance, and any woman falling ill or meeting with an accident during the parade or at any other time will be promptly cared for at the emergency hospital.

Minneapolis Will Celebrate.

The people of Minneapolis are also preparing for a week of pleasure during the time of the G. A. R. encampment is being held in St. Paul. This celebration has been christened the "Carnival of Ceres," and will occur in connection with the encampment of the Knights of Pythias. Arches, which will be decorated with fruit and grain, are being erected, and many buildings will be decorated in like manner. The celebration will include parades, receptions and various athletic events. The first royal social function will occur at the exposition building Monday evening, Aug. 31. All of the leading society people of Minneapolis and St. Paul will act as patrons. Mayor Pratt, in a magnificent gown, will conduct the coronation ceremonies and place upon the head of the queen of the carnival the emblazoned diadem of supreme authority.

A flagstaff, that will be one of the largest in Minnesota, will hold the flag that will float over Camp Yale during the Pythian encampment, and it will be raised over the city of white tents Sept. 1 with due ceremony. The dedication of the camp will occur on Tuesday, Sept. 2. The competitive drills will take place on the forenoon of each day at the ball park, with the exception of Wednesday. On that day the programme will be left entirely vacant in Minneapolis and the greater portion of the residents of Minneapolis and the guests will spend the day in St. Paul to witness the Grand Army parade.

Tuesday night will be the merriest night of all. There is to be that evening a bicycle carnival, all riders being in costume and masks. On Wednesday evening will be the big parade. The celebration will continue throughout the week.

In addition to the Grand Army encampment in St. Paul and the carnival of Ceres and Knights of Pythias encampment in Minneapolis, the Minnesota State fair will be held at Hamline, located half-way between the two cities. As a result, the week beginning Aug. 31 promises to be a lively one for the Twin Cities of Minnesota.

MURDERED BY BURGLARS.

Thomas Curlin of Lake Elmo, Minn., Is Killed.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—The quiet little village of Lake Elmo was aroused this morning by a number of shots in rapid succession, followed by a woman's screams for help. The disturbance came from the saloon of Thomas Curlin & Co., and when the villagers hastened to the scene they were startled to find Thomas Curlin dead upon the floor of his bed room. His wife was still in bed crying for help. The murder was the work of burglars. They secured only about $2 in small change from the money drawer. They fled immediately after the murder and they have not been caught. The murderers effected an entrance to the place in an easy manner, and at once rifled the money drawer. But in moving about the bar room the men stumbled over some cuspedors which had been piled up near the end of the counter and the noise aroused Mrs. Curlin. She awoke her husband and asked him to get up and investigate. Listening for a moment and hearing the movements of the men, Mr. Curlin got up and reached under his pillow for a revolver. At that moment a voice commanded him to keep quiet and shots followed. Who first fired is not known, but Curlin sank upon the edge of the bed, and, crying out, "Oh, Gussie," fell upon the floor, dead. The murderers then escaped.

NEWSPAPERMEN'S DAY.

It Is Certain to Be a Lively One at the Minnesota State Fair.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—Representatives of the press clubs of St. Paul and Minneapolis and of the state editorial association, met to-day at the press club rooms to make arrangements for newspaper men's day at the state fair. The programme outlined for the day is extensive and it will contain many novel and amusing features. The newspaper men will have full charge of the entertainment in front of the grand stand. Among the features decided on will be a gigantic cake walk, on entirely new lines. There will be bicycle races of "quads, quints and sexts." A race between mounted police officers of St. Paul and Minneapolis is scheduled and the firemen of Minneapolis will challenge the St. Paul firemen to a bicycle contest. H. N. Leeby's horse Albatross will contest with a cyclist for a quarter-mile dash. The horse's record for that distance is :27, so that a lively race may be anticipated. Many other good things are under preparation, including a bicycle band, a mounted military corps and a competitive drill. The committee decided not to accept the offer of a Minneapolis newspaper man to make a balloon ascension. A professional balloonist may take his place.

Incendiarism Suspected.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 25.—The Davenport house, owned by E. Kellerman, was damaged by fire last night and a large barn totally destroyed. Several horses were cremated. The origin is said to have been incendiary.

Mrs. Thomas O. Selfridge, wife of Rear Admiral Selfridge, of the United States navy, died in San Francisco Friday night. She was eighty-six years old.

Cycle Companies Assign.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—William A. Hall and William N. Couch, doing business as the Twin City Cycle company, made a general assignment to-day for the benefit of their creditors. John W. Lane is assignee. The Cuddy Cycle company also made an assignment to Charles D. McLaren.

Panic at a Circus.

Huntington, Ind., Aug. 25.—A panic was caused at the Wallace circus here to-day by a storm which wrecked the tents and did considerable property damage. The menagerie and horses were stampeded and some of the animals injured. None of the spectators were hurt.

Enjoyed Themselves.

Chicago, Special.—A number of army recruits from Columbus Barracks, bound for various posts in the West, made things lively this afternoon on the fast Pennsylvania express which arrived in Chicago this afternoon. All of the men were drunk, it is said, and they fought all the time. The windows in the car were smashed, the water cooler was demolished by way of exhibiting contempt for the contents, and the cushions of the car were torn up, thrown on the floor and pitched out of the windows. There were twenty-six men in the muss, and the train hands were utterly unable to keep the recruits quiet. At Valparaiso, Ind., the train was stopped and a message sent to Chicago, saying that the train was loaded down with a full-sized riot, and asking for police assistance. Lieut. Preston was sent to the depot with enough men to capture the entire United States army, but the soldiers had fought so much among themselves that they had no heart for fighting anybody else, and the police had no trouble with them. The detachment was broken up into small squads here and went by different railroads to the various posts to which they were consigned. Nearly all of the men were badly pounded up, and the car in which they came looked as though a cyclone had been penned up in it.

A WOLF STORY.

In the county of Welland, Ont, is a place called Wildcat swamp. Although many attempts have been made to reclaim this wild land, it has baffled the skill of the engineer and still remains a primeval spot in the Niagara peninsula. Among the good story tellers was old Tom Brett, the hero of many an exciting adventure, the possessor of a fair education and an iron nerve.

"Yes," said old Tom, "I had a close call from the last wolf of that jungle. Old Jim Long killed the last bear in 1864, and a few days before that the last wolf nearly killed me. In the month of January, 1857, I lived a few miles north of the point, and used to spend a good part of my time winters 'tip-up' fishing on Point Abino bay. I had a very small hut near the shore, where I kept my fishing sleigh, 'tip-ups' and tackle. Saturday morning early found me on the ice and opening up the holes frozen over during the night. I had the best day's luck of the week, and Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock lacked but three of one hundred fish! I had been attending four holes in front of my wind-break, and you will readily believe I was very tired. Yet so eager was I to get the even hundred that the shadows were long ere I realized the prudence of returning to shore. Just then the end of a 'tip-up' flew with a jerk that told me I had something heavy, and in less time than it takes to tell it, forty feet of line came up, hand-over-hand, and an eight-pound salmon trout lay on the ice.

"Just then I thought I heard a faint cry over the point. My first thought was that it was someone trying to imitate the cry of a wolf, an accomplishment at which I was an adept, and an answer from me was not long in coming. A little more distinctly came the cry from beyond the shore. It struck me as being a much better attempt. Not to be beaten, and using all the skill at my command, I sent the answer back. A few moments passed, and again the cry rang out, nearer, clearer, sharp and terribly in earnest, no mistake about that. It was the cry of a wolf, of a famishing wolf. No, it could not be possible. There certainly were no wolves left in any part of the Niagara district. But what was that, stealing around the point, so sharply-defined in the moonlight? Could it possibly be my dog Rouse, come all the way to see why his master did not return? No; it was the way of the wolf. Stealing from rock to rock, and now, crouching in the shadow, three other forms, smaller but bolder, joined the other one. 'A wolf and three cubs!' I exclaimed, under my breath, 'and nothing with which to defend myself but my fishing-knife!' What would I not give for my old rifle? A wolf, under ordinary circumstances, is a coward; but a wolf, desperate with hunger and with a family crying for food—ah! that's another matter! I realized at once that I had a fight before me or a race for life. Boldly now out on the ice, and with a cry that will stay with me as long as life lasts, like the wind came the mother wolf with her famishing brood.

"The old hunter thinks quickly when it is life or death. Off came my leather apron, and swinging it once over my head I brought it down on the ice with all my force, the report, in the clear, frosty air sounding like the crack of a rifle. A wolf is always cautious, and an attempt at a sudden stop was followed by a slide on the ice to within a few yards of my feet. Down came my apron again, and again went the wolves in the opposite direction. As fast as possible I made for the shore. I realized that this performance, while it afforded temporary safety, could not save me. Wolves have tireless legs, my own would ere long fail, and then—or, I must reach my hut—but how? Once on the shore it was but three hundred yards' run, but even with a good start, the odds were in favor of my enemies.

"I at once decided to get as near as possible to the shore, bring my apron down with a good loud whack, and make a run for it. The apron had hardly struck before I was on the race of my life. I dare not look behind me, but in a few moments I knew that I was being followed. I could almost feel the distance between me and my pursuer lessening, and realizing that I could not reach my hut in time to save my life, I had about decided to turn on my enemy and fight her with my knife, when directly in front of me, over the bank and taking great leaps, came something that I at once decided was the mate of my pursuer.

"Scarcely knowing what I was doing, I still ran on until near the bank, and, jumping to one side, was drawing my only weapon, when something happened that seemed to send my heart with a bound into my throat. The two brutes met in a mad charge, and were engaged in a fight to the death. Could it be possible? Yes, it was my grand old Rouse, half mastiff and half wolfhound, a terror to all the dogs in the neighborhood. He had heard the cry of the wolf, and came down to save my life. Oh, I wish I could describe that fight! It was awful. The savage brute was making great gashes in the dog's side with her razor-like claws, but old Rouse had her by the throat, and soon, with a hole in her windpipe, she lay helpless on the yellow sand. That night, nearly covered with bandages and lying on feather pillows, my preserver slept in front of my fireplace. The next Monday I went back to the fishing—in fact, I try my hand occasionally now; but," quaintly added old Tom, "I don't call any more wolves."—J. F. Dunn, in Buffalo Express.

To Prevent Rust.

A practical machinist says he has found the following mixture very effectual in preventing machinery from gathering rust: Melt together one pound of lard and one pound of gum camphor; skim the mixture carefully, and stir in a sufficient quantity of fine black lead to give it a color like iron. After cleaning the machinery thoroughly, smear it with the mixture, and allow it to remain thus for twenty-four hours. Then go over it with a soft cloth, rubbing it clean. Treated thus, machinery often retains it brightness for several months. Bicycle riders would find this preparation of value.

Too Much to Ask.

"Yes," said Miss Bellefield, dolefully, "it is all over between George—I mean Mr. Homewood—and myself."

"Whatever was the matter?" asked Miss Bloomfield. "I thought you loved each other devotedly."

"Oh, we do, or rather, did. But it was this way: When he asked me to marry him I said I would if he would give up smoking. He replied that he would give up smoking if I would give up my pug dog; but, of course, I could not think of such a thing as parting with my dear Fido, and so it ended."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,
DR.
PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

A Hint to Hostesses.

"If there is anything that I dislike," exclaimed a much-enduring young man, "it is rice pudding. One unlucky day I was dining at the M.'s, and they had it for dessert. As it was the only sweet, I thought it rude to refuse, and manfully swallowed the dose. 'I am so glad that you like my pudding, Mr. A.,' said Mrs. M., evidently flattered; 'it is made after a recipe that has been in the family for generations.'

"'It is delicious!' I exclaimed mendaciously. 'Do take some more?' she urged. 'In for a penny in for a pound,' I said to myself; and I actually swallowed another helping. As I saw it pleased Mrs. M. I thought I had purchased her good opinion rather cheaply; but changed my opinion when, upon being asked to dine there a short time afterward, I was told as soon as we were seated that I was to have 'my' pudding! And, by Jove! they have given it to me ever since, and they always give me two helpings."—New York Tribune.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Puzzled.

Willie—Papa, has Mr. Wigley got a throat disease?

Papa—Why, no! What makes you think so?

Willie—Well, if he hasn't, why does he make such strange noises whenever he picks up a sheet of music?—Roxbury Gazette.

Just as He Said.

Custom House Officer—Aha! here we have it. You told me there was nothing but wearing apparel in this trunk, and here's a gallon of brandy.

Tourist—That's correct, and every drink in it is a nightcap.—Detroit Free Press.

Not Flattering.

"When I grow up," said little Jack to his father, "I'm going to be just like you, papa."

"Good boy to say so," said his father.

"Well, I mean it," said Jack. "What a jolly time you do have with mamma always about to wait on you!"—Answers.

Is Young Yet.

A four-year-old girl in California is said to repeat from memory anything she has ever heard. She will improve in time. When she is old enough to join a church sewing circle she will doubtless be able to repeat things she never heard.—Buffalo Express.

A Wonderful Phenomenon.

The man who should pass through life without experiencing a twinge of indigestion, might be fitly regarded as a wonderful phenomenon. We doubt if such a privileged mortal has ever existed. If so, we have never seen him. But thousands are known to be daily relieved of dyspepsia by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the popular remedy for that truly national complaint, as well as for fever and ague, debility, constipation, rheumatism and kidney troubles.

An Awful Predicament.

"You are now," said the North Carolina landlord, in solemn tones, "over 3,000 feet above the level of the sea."

"Heavens!" cried the guest, "what a fall, and I can't swim a lick!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Preparing to Star.

They met at the seashore.

"Do you intend to star next season?" he asked.

"I hope so," she replied. "If I can work a big enough scandal this summer I see no reason why I shouldn't.—Chicago Dispatch.

I believe my prompt use of Piso's Cure prevented quick consumption—Mrs. Lucy Wallace, Marquette, Kans., Dec. 12, '95.

A Futile Search.

"Bacherly, why don't you find some good woman and form a matrimonial alliance?"

"What I want in that line is a silent partner, and I've been seeking in vain for the last ten years."—Detroit Free Press.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

An Irish gentleman, named Wilde, rode horseback 127 miles on the course of Kildare, in 6 hours and 20 minutes, for a wager of 1,000 guineas, in the year 1820.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Wise Butcher.

"Why did the butcher put up that large mirror near the door?"

"To prevent the servant girls from watching the scales."—Tit Bits.

Three thousand one hundred and fifty-four persons emigrate to all parts from the British Isles weekly.

Brazil is utterly unsuited to emigrants, and the authorities are still warning people against going there.

July 20, 1892, was a terribly hot day in New York. Forty-two people and 200 horses were prostrated on that day by the heat.

Bread as a daily article of food is used by only about one-third of the 1,500,000,000 people that constitute the present population of the earth.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Walter P. Burke, St. Paul, Minn., banana crate; William K. Flatt, Duluth, Minn., bicycle support; Edward P. Follett, Duluth, Minn., tailors' measure; Erick Johnson, Seattle, Wash., milling machine; Thomas Kerker, St. Paul, Minn., propelling mechanism for bicycles or similar machines; Otto C. Macklett, St. Paul, Minn., fish scraper; Nels H. Nelson, St. John's, Minn., draft equalizer; John L. Nichols, St. Paul, Minn., perforating or scoring attachment for printing machines; August C. Schaefer and H. C. Gray, St. Paul, Minn., drive chain and chain wheel; George W. Weber, St. Paul, Minn., collapsable lunch box; Christensen & Henderson, Madelia, Minn., (trademark) wheat flour.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Bldg., St. Paul. Minn.

A Really Wonderful Flower.

The most wonderful flower in the world, as well as one of the very largest "blossoms" known, is a native of the Malay peninsula. It is simply a gigantic flower without either stem or leaves, and has more the appearance of a fungus than anything else. It is about three feet in diameter and has a globular central cup which has a capacity of nearly two gallons. The cup is always filled with fetid liquor which attracts an immense swarm of flies and other insects. The pistils of this queer flower distill the liquid, and it is believed that the rank odor attracts the flies in order that the flower may be fertilized.

The Distinction

Tom—Then you disapprove of whiskers, Miss Gushingly?

Miss Gushingly—Oh, no; not at all.

Tom—But didn't you say as much?

Miss Gushingly—I only said it was a fashion I invariably set my face against.—Washington Times.

Caught a Tartar.

"Mourning goods, please," she said to the floor-walker.

"Yes, madam; this way if you will," and then added, feelingly, "death is a sad thing, madam."

"It is, indeed," she responded. "I'll not make any purchases this morning. I only wanted to see the latest things you have in the mourning line. My husband is a very sick man."—Texas Sifter.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

A Fine Distinction.

"Did you marry your husband for love or money, Edith?"

"Both. I married him for love of his money."—Detroit Free Press.

A Mother's Maneuver.

"Dress my baby in silk? Yes, I do, and I dare say it seems a vanity," said a mother when criticised for her apparent extravagance. "It is, however, something of a warm weather economy when away from home. It avoids laundering. You see, I have watched the silk sales from the early spring right up to midsummer and I have managed to secure some real bargains in white China silk.

"These frocks my baby wears didn't cost any more than would fine nainsooks or linens. And the main point is they don't mash and rumple.

"Baby can wear a silk slip until it is soiled and in the end it won't look as if it had just come out of a beggar's press. Starched gowns look mussy after a single wearing, but the China silk being limp in the beginning has no crispness to lose. So you see it's not a luxury but merely a mother's maneuver," and the critical one admitted that the plan was tip-top.

Not Up to Date.

Daughter—I think I ought to go to cooking school, mama, don't you?

Mother—I can teach you to cook, my dear.

Daughter—Oh, but you wouldn't do, mamma; you only cook the ordinary things that people eat.—Roxbury Gazette.

"Pretty Pill" says Pretty Poll

She's just "poll parroting." There's no prettiness in pills, except on the theory of "pretty is that pretty does." In that case she's right.

Ayer's Pills

do cure biliousness, constipation, and all liver troubles.

E. C. Pickler, D. O., Prest.
F. D. Parker, D. O., Vice-Prest.
L. M. Rheem, Secy.

NORTHERN INSTITUTE OF OSTEOPATHY.

GLOBE BLDG. MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Will open its fall class September 1, 1896. All persons desiring to enter this class can obtain full information in regard to tuition, terms, etc., by addressing the Secretary. Osteopathy is a comparatively new science, but is one that offers unexcelled advantages to young ladies and gentlemen desiring to enter professional life.

Kickapoo Indian
Makes marvelous cures. Purely vegetable and absolutely harmless.
Sagwa.
The Great Blood Purifier.

A. T. Co's BATTLE AX

BIG AND GOOD.

Battle Ax PLUG

Sometimes quality is sacrificed in the effort to give big quantity for little money. No doubt about that.
But once in a while it isn't.
For instance, there's "BATTLE AX."
The piece is bigger than you ever saw before for 5 cents. And the quality is, as many a man has said, "mighty good."
There's no guess work in this statement.
It is just a plain fact.
You can prove it by investing 5 cents in "BATTLE AX."

Ship your grain to us in CAR LOADS. We will treat you right. Send us the freight receipt as soon as it starts. As soon as it reaches us we will have it weighed by the State weighmaster, and inspected and graded by the State inspector, and will send you their certificates, as well as a bill of sale, with the money at once. Send us the names and P. O. addresses of 17 Farmers, and we will send you free, every two weeks, our latest Grocery List, giving latest prices on groceries and other goods. Our Prices are Right. Send 15 cents and we will send our 640-page Catalogue, express paid. T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, 508, 510, 717, 719, 721 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

ESTABLISHED 1879.

WOODWARD & Co

Minneapolis. GRAIN COMMISSION. Duluth.

BRANCH—CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE.

☞ Orders for Future Delivery Executed in All Markets. ☜

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 2, 1896. NUMBER 5.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The annual report of the United States shipping commissioners for the year ending June 30, 1896, show total shipments and discharges of seamen for American seagoing vessels to have been 120,485, compared with 118,493 for the previous year.

The state department at Washington has received a copy of the new French law annexing Madagascar to France. It provides that French goods shall be admitted to Madagascar free of duty, while other foreign goods shall pay a duty of 10 per cent ad valorem. This rate is the same that the United States paid under the treaty with the Hova government.

People in Print.

M. Ribot, ex-premier of France, has sailed for America.

Charles Frederick Ashley Cooper Ponsonby, second Baron de Manley, is dead at London.

The death of Leopold Herz of New York, the father of Dr. Cornelius Herz, of Panama canal fame, occurred at Bournemouth, Eng., where Mr. Herz was visiting his son.

It is reported that Dr. Nansen intends to conduct an expedition to the Anarctic ocean in search of the south pole before returning to the Arctic regions.

John L. Waller, the Iowa consul to Madagascar, who was thrown in a prison for eleven months by the French government, is in Cedar Rapids. He was formerly a resident of Cedar Rapids.

John C. Merine, a portrait painter of reputation, died at Kansas City, Mo., aged seventy-five years. Among his canvases are portriats of Abraham Lincoln, to whom he was related; Henry Clay and other old-time statesmen. He had lived in Kansas City since 1869.

Accidental Happenings.

A $300,000 fire occurs at Sault Ste. Marie.

Ontonagon, Mich., is entirely burned. Loss, $1,500,000.

Near Rome City, Ind., a farm barn was struck by lightning and a young man who had taken refuge there from the rain was instantly killed.

By a freight wreck on the Northern Pacific near Horse Plains, Mont., four men were killed, including the engineer of the freight.

Charles Potter, one of the best known guides of Northern Maine, was accidentally shot and killed near Old Town by Charles T. Russell, who mistook him for a bear.

The Sconeman house in the Yosemite valley, with its entire contents, was burned. The Sconeman was built in 1886. It cost $40,000 and belonged to the State of California.

The through Chicago mail train on the Pittsburg & Western road was wrecked at Valencia by running into a freight train. Many persons were hurt the extent of the injury done is not known.

Mrs. Lillian Graves Parsons of Chicago, who is visiting in Syracuse, N. Y., was struck by an electric car while riding a bicycle and thrown to the pavement, receiving a deep scalp wound and severe bruises. She will recover.

A lamp, filled by mistake with gasoline, exploded at the home of Dr. McGregor at Atlantic, Iowa, while the doctor and his wife were at church. Little Helen McGregor, aged eight, heroically rushed into the room where everything was on fire and dragged down stairs and saved the twin babies.

Herbert B. Cook of New York, aged twenty-five, only son of George Harvey Cook, president of the Brigantine Railroad and Transit company, was drowned at Briggantine beach. Cook was bathing with Joseph E. Snyder of Philadelphia and Miss Elma Steahle of Pittsburg. They were caught by the undertow. Snyder and Miss Steahle were rescued.

Crimes and Criminals.

At Guthrie, O. T., Mrs. Dell Manning, wife of the farmer who was murdered recently, has been arrested on a charge of complicity in the murder of her husband.

On the night of July 7 last, Mrs. Richards, living on a farm in Kendall county, Illinois, was attacked and robbed by three ruffians. The men were tracked, and, it is reported, have just been arrested in Kansas.

Six miles west of Tonganoxie, Jefferson county, Kansas, two farmers engaged in battle mounted on traction engines. As a result, one man was mortally wounded and both engines were wrecked.

At Van Buren, Ark., while sparring, Emsle Williams was hit on the left breast by Will Clark and sank down and died immediately. Clark was examined by the coroner, who acquitted him, the verdict being accidental homicide.

W. A. Faulk, who says he is from Valley Falls, Kan., has been arrested in Colorado Springs on a charge of having written letters to W. S. Stratton, themillionaire mine-owner, threatening him with death and the destruction of his property unless he should give him $1,200.

During the festival following a colored wedding in Pittsburg, Robert Scott, a former lover, insulted the bride, and the groom, George Hall, at once shot him dead. A general fight was then precipitated, in which the bride was dangerously stabbed twice and the groom injured.

Word has been received at Silver City, N. M., that nine of the gang of desperadoes who robbed the Separ stage and wounded several members of the party which pursued them, are surrounded in the Skeleton canyon, Cochin county, Ariz., by a posse of United States marshals.

At a negro dance about four miles from Lebanon, Ky., Charles Warner accidentally stepped on the dress of George Mays' partner. Warner apologized, but Mays became enraged and opened fire, killing Warner and Chas. Pipes instantly and fatally wounding Bud Hardin. Mays escaped and is still at large.

From Foreign Shores.

Sims Reeves will start on his seventy-ninth year by singing in South Africa, where he has gone with his wife and baby.

When Linton, the professional bicyclist, was buried the other day, his bicycle, draped in black, was led behind the hearse.

Some one has discovered that there are 682,191 Muellers in Germany; that is, that one German in seventy-three is called by that name.

Sir Edward Clarke's retainer on receiving the Jameson brief was 500 guineas, while every day he had a "refresher" of 100 guineas.

Hampton Court's great goldfish is dead. It lived in the central fountain, weighed four pounds, and was probably the largest and oldest specimen of its kind in England.

Ludwig Barnay has given the 1700 marks he received for his performances at the German embassy in Moscow during the coronation festivities to the relief fund for German actors and actresses.

A French colonel at Pamiers is teaching his officers and men to crawl on their stomachs, and has invented a leather glove to help the process. The regiment can now travel a hundred yards in this manner without fatigue.

Though there are 10,500 civilian members of the Legion of Honor, the French government proposes to increase their number to 12,000 knights, 2,000 officers, 300 commanders, and 50 grand officers. When it was found in 1873 that there were over 20,000 civilians in the order, a law was passed that there should be only one new appointment for every two deaths.

A captive balloon at Monipelier, France, provided the town with excitement one evening recently. While five persons, two of them women, were in the car, the rope became wound around a factory chimney which it brought down. The balloon fell with it, but no sooner had the passengers been taken out than it rose again about 150 feet and blew up with a loud report.

A queer strike is threatened in England. The government inspectors of factories, being dissatisfied with the way they are treated have formulated their complaints and declare that unless they are heeded "a public protest will be made and a cessation of their duties will follow." They complain of too little salary and too hard work, of not having power enough over the factory employes, of having their reports to the chief inspector ignored and not published as they are sent in.

Otherwise.

Requittal won the Twin City handicap at Sheepshead Bay.

The union in California between silver forces on presidential electors is complete.

The Sixth Karsas congressional Democratic convention nominated Dr. J. C. Burton for congress.

The Republicans of the Fouth Mississippi congressional district nominated W. D. Frazee for congress.

W. H. McDoel has been appointed receiver of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago (Monon) railroad.

The National Democratic party of California has selected delegates to the gold-standard convention, which will meet at Indianapolis.

All departments of the Spang Steel and Iron company's works at Sharpsburg, Pa., have been shut down indefinitely, throwing idle about 700 men.

The Republican congressional committee of the Sixth Missouri district named Frank V. Hamilton of Adran as the party's candidate for congressman.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. A. P. Riddle, editor of the Minneapolis (Kan.) Messenger, has been appointed state insurance commissioner, to succeed Anthony, deceased.

At the Democratic convention of the Fifteenth Ohio congressional district, Gen. A. J. Warner, president of the Bimetallic League of America, presided. F. H. Southard was nominated for congress and the Chicago platform was indirsed.

By the closing down of the Brilliant Tube and Pipe company, at Brilliant, Ohio, D. H. Browder & Co. of Atlanta, Ga., are losers to the extent of $40,000, and are involved in an embarrassing situation. Browder & Co. charge the closing of the mill to the cotton tie trust.

An old fashioned camp meeting has been going on near Pawnee, I. T., with hundreds of Indians in attendance. The religious fever has grown high, and the Indians shout and dance all night, becoming so exhausted they have to be hauled from the camp grounds.

C. M. Schilling, the one-armed athlete, who has undertaken to walk from Pittsburg to San Francisco and back within ten months, and to return with $1,000 in cash, although restricted from begging or purchasing supplies en route, has arrived at San Francisco twenty-six days ahead of time, but $200 behind his schedule.

It has just been learned that Clark Fielder, whose aged mother resides at Selma, six miles east of Muncie, Ind., was one of the victims of the St. Louis cyclone. He has been missing since the great storm, and after a careful description of him was sent to the authorities it was learned that he was among the unidentified dead. A tattoo on one of his arms was the means of identification.

Hyrez Kozak, his wife and four bright-eyed children, Austrian immigrants, can now go to Texas to get a farm. For a week they had been gazing wistfully from Ellis island, where they were detained as pauper immigrants, because they lacked $70. Joe Rickey of St. Louis, the inventor of the celebrated drink known as "Whisky-Rickey," read the plaintive story of the Kozaks' hard luck, and advanced the money to send the family to Texas.

CLEVELAND AND LI

FORMAL MEETING BETWEEN THE DISTINGUISHED PERSONAGES.

The Chinese Ambassador Is Driven to Ex-Secretary Whitney's Residence, Where He Is Introduced to Mr. Cleveland—The President and Ambassador Shak Hands and Make Formal Addresses.

New York, Sept. 1.—The meeting between President Cleveland and Li Hung Chang was a formal one and lasted but a few minutes. Secretary Olney accompanied Earl Li from the hotel to Secretary Whitney's residence. The ball room, in which the president received the Chinese ambassador, was decorated with American and Chinese flags. When Earl Li entered he seemed to recognize President Cleveland at once, and kept his eyes upon him as he advanced. Secretary Olney formally presented the distinguished visitor to the president. The latter bowed and extended his hand, which was grasped by Earl Li, who then began his address, saying:

"Your Excellency: It affords me great pleasure to have the honor to be presented to your excellency. The reputation of your highly esteemed virtues is widely known throughout the world, and in you the citizens of the United States of America have invariably placed their confidence. Consequently, both the interior administration and the exterior relations of this great republic are in a state of prosperity. It will always be the desire of my august master, the emperor of China, to maintain the most cordial relations with America, whose friendly assistance rendered to the government of China after the Chino-Japanese war, and whose care for the safety of the Chinese inhabitants of America are always to be highly appreciated. I am now specially appointed by my master, the emperor of China, to present to your excellency the assurances of his most friendly feelings toward the United States of America, in the hope that your excellency will reciprocate his sentiments and co-operate with him to promote the friendly intercourse between our two countries for the cause of human kind. I trust that your excellency's government will continue to afford protection and kind treatment to the Chinese immigrants in America, and to render friendly assistance to the Chinese government when required. May the people of our two nations enjoy the benefits of perpetual peace."

When the speech was ended the ambassador turned to one of his suite and received from him a package wrapped in silk, which, when opened, was seen to be a huge sheet of parchment with gilt and gold seals. It was Earl Li's letter of credentials, and was given to the president, who turned it over to Secretary Olney.

President Cleveland's Reply.

The president in reply to Li Hung Chang said:

"Your excellency, it gives me great pleasure to receive from your hand the personal letter from your august sovereign and to greet you as his personal representative. Since our two countries became better acquainted many incidents have occurred calculated to increase our friendly relations, and not the least gratifying of these are the friendly expressions contained in the letter of your emperor and the visit to our country of his most distinguished subject, who has been so honorably and prominently connected with public affairs in his own country and with all that has been attempted in the direction of its advancement and improvement. Your visit to us at this time is made more impressive by the thought that it serves to join in one the most ancient civilization of the East and the best type of a new civilization in the Western world. Notwithstanding the widely different characteristics of the two countries, the welcome which is tendered you by the government and citizens of the United States illustrates in the strongest possible manner the kinship of nations. We feel that in the arrangement of your tour you have not allotted to your sojourn among us sufficient time to gain an adequate observation of all we have accomplished as a nation. It will not, however, escape your notice that a rich and fertile domain has here been quickly created by those who were assured that they would reap where they had sown; that a strong and beneficent government has been here established by those who loved freedom, and that we have a generous and patriotic people who love their government because it is theirs—controlled by them, administered for them, and protected and saved from harm by them. We heartily wish that your stay with us may be most pleasant, and that at its close you may enjoy a safe and agreeable return to your home and your field of duty and usefulness."

At the conclusion of his speech the president presented to Earl Li the members of his cabinet and others present and a general conversation followed for a short time. When it was ended Earl Li and his suite were escorted back to the Waldorf, where his excellency spent the rest of the day. Shortly after the reception President Cleveland started for Buzzard's Bay on the yacht Sapphire.

Li Hung Chang was later the guest of honor at a banquet in the Waldorf given by former United States ministers to China. At the table he barely nibbled the delicate dishes set before him and would not touch the wines. This was noticed by his hosts, and in a few moments chop souey and chop sticks were placed before him and he ate with a relish. Toasts to the honored guests, to the president, to the emperor of China and others were drunk.

Tall Corn.

Mitchell, S. D., Sept. 1.—A car load of farm productions gathered by the Corn Belt Real Estate association was shipped to St. Paul to be put on exhibition during the G. A. R. encampment. The exhibition includes the finest varieties of corn, wheat, oats, apples, peaches and other fruit. The exhibit will probably be shown at the Minnesota State fair. Some of the corn stands nearly fifteen feet high, while the other productions are the best raised within the corn belt district.

BLOODY RIOTS.

Over Four Thousand People Killed in the Riots in Constantinople.

London, Sept. 1.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Constantinople gives a personal interview with Frank Barker, who was left in the place of Sir Edgar Vincent as a hostage during the negotiations between the Armenian leaders in the Ottoman bank raid and the Turkish officials. The dispatch says: Mr. Frank Barker stated that the invaders told him that they intended to seize the Credit Loyannaise office and explode a bomb there. It was part of their plan to raid the Yolvolda police station at the same time. The bombs were to be exploded at the police station simultaneously with the attack upon the Credit Lyonnaise. However, the men detailed for the attack on the Credit Lyonnaise at Constantinople of Turks had nothing to do with the killing of the Armenians. The mobs consisted entirely of the lowest classes of Constantinople and its suburbs, Lazzaroni, the Kurds and the men who work along the wharves of the city. It is now estimated that over 4,000 persons were killed. Stamboul has been covered with revolutionary placards, evidently posted by the young Turkey party.

A dispatch to the Times from Constantinople says that the joint note of the ambassadors of the powers asking the sublime porte to suppress the disorders in Constantinople without delay failing to have the desired effect, the representatives of the powers dispatched a joint telegram warning the sultan that he endangered the Turkish empire by suffering the continuance of anarchy by the connivance of the imperial troops and the police. Neither the members of the diplomatic circles nor rational observers doubt that an armed mob of Turks had been previously organized for possible riots. It was noticed that less than two hours after the insane attack on the Ottoman bank by the Armenians the mob that filled the streets at Galata overspread the whole city and Turks in parties from 120 to 150 strong, apparently well organized and acting in concert, crossed in lighters from Stamboul.

In commenting upon the rapidity with which the mob overspread Constantinople after the attack upon the Ottomon bank the Constantinople correspondent of the London Times says that all of the mischief could not have been done without organization and without connivance of the authorities.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Wheat — August, 56 1-2c; September, 56 5-8c; December, 60 1-8c. Corn—August, 20 7-8c; September, 20 7-8c; May, 25 5-8c. Oats—August, 16c; September, 16 1-8c; May, 19 1-8c. Pork—August and September, $5.62; January, $6.87. Lard—August and September, $3.35; January, $3.75. Ribs—August and September, $3.20; January, $3.35. Rye — Cash, 31 1-2c; September, 31 1-4c; December, 31 1-2c. Flax—Cash, N. W., 64a65c; September, 65c; December, 68 1-2c. Timothy — Cash, $2.75; September, $2.50.

Minneapolis, Sept. 1.—Wheat — August closed at 53 7-8c; September opened at 53 3-4c and closed at 53 5-8c; December opened at 56 3-4c and closed at 56 1-2c. On track — No. 1 hard, 56 3-8c; No. 1 Northern, 55 3-8c; No. 2 Northern, 54 7-8c.

Milwaukee, Sept. 1.—Flour steady. Wheat lower; No. 2 spring, 56 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 59c; December, 60c. Corn very dull; No. 3, 22 1-2c. Oats easier; No. 2 white, 19 1-4c; No. 3 white, 18 1-4a19 1-4c. Barley steady; No. 2, 30c; sample, 22a30c. Rye active; No. 1, 33a33 1-2c. Provisions higher.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Hogs—Market is steady to strong; light, $3.20a3.45; mixed, $2.90a3.40; heavy, $2.90a3.25; rough, $2.55a2.75. Cattle—Market unchanged.

South St. Paul, Sept. 1.—Hogs—Market dull and about 5c lower; quality poor; sales at $2.50a3. Cattle—Market steady and demand good; sales at $1.25a2.40.

THE CUBAN WAR.

Insurgents Fire Into a Spanish Military Hospital.

Havana, Sept. 1. — Guerrillas from Vergor, Spain, connected with the Lusitania division, overtook recently at Luisa, the bands of Castillo and Banderas. After sharp fighting the insurgents were dislodged from the trenches. They left four dead on the field behind them as they retreated with their wounded. Seven of the troops are said to have been wounded in the engagement. Insurgents lurking in the outskirts of San Antonio de Los Banos, province of Havana, recently fired into the Spanish military hospital occupied by yellow fever patients. A temporary panic resulted among the patients and the excitement in consequence of this attack by the insurgents was with difficulty suppressed.

Federation of Brotherhoods.

Indianapolis, Sept. 1.—A meeting of the representatives of the different railroad brotherhoods was held in this city to-day to consider the advisability of a federation among the brotherhoods. The result of the meeting was the adoption of the following resolution: "That it is the sense of the members of the five brotherhoods of railroad organizations in union meeting at Indianapolis assembled, that we are in favor of federation and that it be accomplished as soon as possible."

Rumpus in Sight.

Colon, Colombia, Sept. 1.—As a consequence of the serious aspect of the conflict between the Carthagena Railroad company and the government, the manager of the company, who has been threatened with imprisonment, asks for the presence of English warships. All traffic will probably be suspended.

Stevens Nominated.

Taylors Falls, Minn., Sept. 1.—The Fourth district Republican convention nominated Senator F. C. Stevens of St. Paul for congress by acclamation. The platform indorsed the St. Louis platform and nominees and commended the congressional career of Col. Kiefer.

The Catholic clergy of the Minnesota diocese presented J. J. Hill a token of gratitude for his gift of $500,000 to erect and to endow the diocesan seminary.

ENCAMPMENT IS ON

GRAND ARMY FESTIVITIES AT ST. PAUL BEGIN.

Commander-in-Chief Walker and Staff Arrive and Are Escorted to Their Headquarters, Where They Will Be Tendered a Reception—The Carnival of Ceres and the K. P. Encampment Begin at Minneapolis—State Fair On.

St. Paul, Sept. 1.—The national G. A. R. encampment is now on. Bands are parading up and down the streets, directing old soldiers to their headquarters, and martial music fills the air. The visitors are arriving in force, but the rush will not occur until tomorrow.

Every day this week has its own special attraction, and many of these will be magnificent in their character. Military parades of various kinds have been arranged for nearly every day, and, of course, most important among these will be the grand parade of the G. A. R. Receptions and social gatherings of all kinds will also be frequent.

The first event of importance was the arrival of Commander-in-Chief I. N. Walker and his staff in the city this morning at 8 o'clock, and this was fittingly observed. The party was met at the union depot by an escort consisting of the G. A. R. posts of St. Paul, under command of Department commander J. J. McCardy. The national officers were escorted to the national headquarters at the Ryan hotel with all military ceremony. The line of march was up Sibley street to Sixth street and thence directly to the hotel. In the evening at 8:30 a reception will be given to the commander-in-chief and Mrs. Walker at the Ryan hotel by the citizens' committee and citizens of St. Paul. There will also be a general illumination of the city and band concerts at national headquarters, ladies' headquarters and Summit and Rice Parks.

The Decorations.

Sixth street, the honored pathway of the veterans in their grand parade, is lined with columns thirty-two feet in height. The square base is comparatively simple, and is made of wood covered with canvas and calsomined into the counterpart of stone. The fluted column above, with its richly decorated capital, exhibits all the abundant beauties of its most ornate architectural order. The column is surmounted by a tapering, slender staff, from which beneath a gilded ball flies a large national flag. Streamers connect the many columns. These streamers are loaded down with thousands of incandescent lights, and at night the street will be illuminated. The buildings on each side of Sixth street are profusely decorated.

Along Fifth, Seventh, Eighth, Jackson, Robert and Wabasha streets, between the Seven Corners on the one hand, and the Seventh street bridge on the other, and extending out approximately from the river to Eighth street, are the lines of the electric railways, over which will travel the body of the week's visitors. So these streets, on either side of the central Sixth street, the pivotal point of the grand parade, are embellished with a diminished richness, yet a richness sufficient to honor any event but a Grand Army encampment. The trolley poles and wires along the various streets are also decorated. The decoration of private houses is general and profuse.

Minneapolis' Celebration.

Minneapolis, Aug. 31.—The Carnival of Ceres and the Knights of Pythias encampment began to-day, but they will not be on in full force until tomorrow. The ball, however, will be rolling this evening, when the coronation concert is to take place at the exposition building. The king and queen of the carnival will then be installed. The members of Company B, under command of his majesty's minister of war, the Duke de Diggles, have kindly consented to act as ushers. A chorus of 300 voices and an orchestra of sixty pieces will render a programme of music, and several hundred people will participate in the coronation of the king of the carnival (John F. Calderwood) and the queen (Miss Helen Clare Pratt.) A great programme has been arranged for the balance of the week.

The Minnesota State fair and Northwestern exhibit at Hamline, half-way between St. Paul and Minneapolis, also opened to-day with a good attendance.

DOUBLE SUICIDE.

Peculiar Case in Which a Man and Young Woman Figure.

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 1.—Last night a man about thirty years of age and a young woman probably twenty years of age secured lodging at the National hotel, registering as "John Hartig and lady." No further attention was paid to them until to-day, when, owing to their non-appearance, the door of the room was forced. The hotel people found the dead body of the man, and unconscious was found the young woman, whose death was only a matter of a few hours. Both had been shot in the left side of the head. A revolver was still clutched in the hands of the man. A note was found written in a neat hand, evidently by the young woman, addressed to "Dear Mother," and reading:

"John and I have decided to die together. We want the same preacher to preach our funeral and we want to be buried together. I tried to to commit suicide but the medicine failed to act."

This note was signed "Mary." The man had left a note directing that the hotel people notify his brother, Charles Hartig, at Kansas City.

Cooked to Death.

Minneapolis, Sept. 1.—A post mortem examination was held at the county morgue yesterday upon the remains of James Cullen, found dead in a bath parlor at the Guaranty Loan bath rooms. The examination was conducted by Doctors Nye, Ringnell and Vanderhorck, and the opinion, unofficially expressed, was that death had been caused by suffocation. An examination of the heart showed it to be in good condition, and death could not have been caused by heart disease, as at first reported.

MINNESOTA CROPS.

Report of the Weather Bureau for Week Ending Monday, Aug. 24.

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—The weather over the state was clear till the middle of the week, after which time cloudy or partly cloudy weather prevailed, with showers, which are not evenly distributed. They were generally light except for a rain of 1.60 inches in Nobles county on Friday. In portions of the southwestern section rain is badly needed, especially in Watonwan and Cottonwood counties, and even where there have been showers more is generally needed for the fall plowing. The day temperatures were probably below the normal maximum till Friday, when they became higher, going down again on Saturday. Although the night temperatures were low during the early part of the week, they did not reach the frost line, and during the latter part of the week were higher. Northern Section—Wheat harvest is still in progress, but many have finished. Oats and barley will hardly be ready for cutting for two weeks. A very light frost occurred on the mornings of the 16th and 17th in Kittson county, but no damage resulted. West Central—Stacking is nearly finished and threshing is in progress. The yields so far are disappointing both in amount and grade. Late corn has gained considerably during the week. A little early corn has been cut, but most of it needs two weeks of good weather for its maturing. The ground is very dry for plowing, but in some places it is begun. East Central — Stacking is generally done and threshing is in progress. The corn is generally a good crop, part of which is ripe enough to cut now or next week. Apples are a splendid crop. Southwest Section—Nearly all the wheat is stacked and threshing is in progress. Corn is doing well. Second crop flax is poor and is not ripening well. The rains of Friday night were beneficial to corn and pastures and helped plowing in some counties, especially Lincoln, Murry, Nobles and Jackson, but the long drouth in Watonwan and Cottonwood counties continues with resulting damage to corn. Southeast Section—Threshing in progress; wheat is said to be shriveled. Corn is maturing slowly and will be a good crop with two weeks of good weather. Showers fell on Friday, but more rain is needed for plowing, which is being pushed as rapidly as possible. Late clover seed has been injured by the midge, but very early ripened clover is well seeded. Grapes are exceptionally fine.

FIRES ARE RAGING.

Another Town in Michigan in Danger of Destruction.

Milwaukee, Aug. 30.—Dispatches received from Ontonagon, Mich., state that fires broke out to-day and, fanned by high winds, threatened to destroy the temporary building and tents as well as the few structures that escaped the conflagration of Tuesday night. Several men battled with the flames for several hours and finally fought them back. The situation at Ontonagon, outside of the destitution and suffering, is described as serious. In digging in the ruins of burned saloons large quantities of liquor was found and scores of men became intoxicated. To-day this element has ruled affairs with a high hand and other citizens are in terror of life and property. The hoodlum element has interfered with the distribution of relief supplies, and so serious has the situation become that the relief committee determined on calling on the governor for troops to do guard duty. The confusion is so great that there is no possibility that the disorganized local authorities can restore order or guarantee protection to the thousands who are homeless and unprotected.

A telegram has been received saying that Rockland, the village south of Ontonagon, from which relief work at the burned town has been directed, is threatened with destruction by forest fires. The woods are in flames near the town, and, driven by a high wind, are approaching the suburbs. A large force of men is fighting the fire.

DIVORCE IS OFF.

Judge Pond Reunites a Couple Separated Years Ago.

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—A romantic sequel to a divorce suit came to the court records in the clerk's office this morning, it being an order granted by Judge Pond annulling a decree for divorce secured by Augusta B. Easthagen, and signed by Judge Pond Feb. 13, 1891. The order filed this morning was upon a stipulation, signed by both parties, and was to the effect that after the decree had been granted the husband and wife, then divorced, concluded to think better of their animosities and again resume their marital relations. That state of affairs has continued all these five years, and this morning the legal separation was, by order of the court, dissolved and they are once more in law as well as in fact, married.

Polk County Division.

St. Paul, Aug. 30. — There was a hearing to-day before Gov. Clough, Secretary of State Berg and Auditor Dunn in relation to a petition for the division of Polk county into three couties. The question was raised whether the commission should take action on the petition before the courts had decided the pending case, which arose out of the petition for a division into five counties. Attorneys Miller and Watts of Crookston represented the second petitioners, and Gen. Sanborn the first. The commission referred the matter to Attorney General Childs for advice.

The world's bicycle record for triplets was broken in Philadelphia by George Pierce, Owen O'Neill and Archie Grace.

Seized by the Sheriff.

Milwaukee, Aug. 30.—The Roth Manufacturing company's vinegar plant was seized by the sheriff to-day on claims for $12,000 in favor of the Marshall & Isley bank. The company later assigned. Assets and liabilities $50,000 each.

The newspapers in Rome make vigorous demands that the Italian government insist upon reparation from Brazil for the outrages upon Italian subjects at Sao Paulo and elsewhere in Brazil.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Mrs. M. Wolhart of Royalton has received $4,500 back pension.

W. H. Morgan has been selected for superintendent of the state fish hatchery at St. Paul.

The Great Northern returns to State Auditor Dunn $111,903.74 as gross earnings tax.

In a lively runaway at St. James Garth Baxton had an arm and his nose broken.

While trying to steal a ride on a freight train at Ellsworth a tramp fell under a car, crushing one of his feet badly. He was intoxicated.

A bicycle was stolen from the feed mill of Voss Bros. of Albert Lea, and investigation traced the thief to Waseca, where he was captured.

Lyman D. Baird has made a gift to the city of Austin of a piece of ground 80x300 feet for a location for the new city hall.

Jeweler Rietzen of St. Cloud was robbed of a dozen watches recently by a man claiming to be an agent of the McCormick company.

Dana Hewitt, who stole about $12 in money and a supply of barber's tools from Green's barber shop at Anoka was captured in St. Cloud.

S. Pepgrass was arrested at Faribault on the charge of stealing a guitar from the Faribault Book and Music store.

The Staples-Atlee saw mill at Stillwater shut down because of the poor demand for lumber. There is little prospect of resuming this fall.

Mrs. A. Bryant, one of the oldest settlers of Wright county, having lived there nearly forty years, died, aged eighty-two years.

Fire consumed the milling plant and power house of Everett Aughenlaugh & Co. at Waseca. The loss is estimated at $75,000. It was insured for $25,000. The plant will be rebuilt.

George Bell, a traveling chiropodist, was sentenced at Hastings by Justice Newell to thirty days in the county jail for beating a board bill at the Gardner house.

W. J. Farrell's dry goods store at Fergus Falls was partially burned the other night. The stock was damaged $10, and is insured for $18,000. The fire caught from a lamp.

The wife of Mark Richards of Winona is much agitated at his mysterious disappearance. They had been married but a short time, and his spouse is at a loss to know why he should so suddenly leave her.

While the fast mail on the Milwaukee road was passing through Winona some miscreant threw a stone through a window of the rapidly-moving train. The flying glass struck a lady in the car, and she was quite badly cut.

Frank Truesdell, a farmer of Redwood Falls, has begun suit against Asa Carkhuff, a carpenter, for $5,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affection. Mrs. Truesdell left town while Truesdell was working on the farm, leaving her children. Carkhuff denies the charges.

John Pell, separator tender for Thomas Lewis' steam thresher, near Grand Meadow, while climbing over the cylinder, made a misstep and his foot was drawn into the cylinder and concaves, tearing it to shreds and cutting it off close below the knee.

The machinery warehouse of Bertleson & Hille and an adjoining building, at Fergus Falls, burned to the ground. Two imported stallions and four other horses were burned. The total loss is about $13,500; insurance, $5,000. The fire was set by tramps.

J. P. Mallinger & Co.s elevator and custom mill at Crookston burned. The fire originated in the engine house. Two Northern Pacific cars were destroyed. The elevator was empty of wheat, but considerable oats and barley was consumed. Loss, $10,000.

An unknown man was found near the Minneapolis & St. Louis tracks, five miles west of Dawson, with his head badly crushed and one leg cut off. He died soon after being found. It is supposed the man was stealing a ride on a freight train and fell off.

E. B. Benedict of Wadena was arrested by the game warden of that district for illegally killing prairie chickens. He was brought before Justice Wiswell and pleaded guilty to killing three birds. He was fined $30 and costs.

Mike Spriser was found dead three miles from Glencoe, near the Hutchinson road. He called at a farm house near the place where he was found, Monday, and said he would die soon. He then went into the woods, a few rods away, where he was found dead soon after. Indications point to suicide.

A shooting affray took place at Castle Rock, near Hastings. A hide man, representive for a Chicago firm, shot a bicyclist from Iowa, en route for the state fair, in the shoulder. It seems the bicyclist had accidentally fell from his bike and yelled whoa, and the traveling man imagined he was going to hold him up.

The body of an unknown laborer was found tied to the rushes near the foot of the lake at Ortonville. The man was five feet four inches high; sandy complexion, age about fifty. It is a clear case of murder. Two hundred dollars was found in an inside pocket, probably overlooked. The body was badly decomposed.

T. D. Morrill, a farmer living two miles south of St. Charles, while cutting grass with a mower, seriously injured his two-and-one-half-year old son, cutting one leg off entirely and nearly severing the other. The little fellow was playing in some tall weeds and was not seen until the sickle struck him. The doctor thinks that one leg can be saved and that the child will live.

A Boyd advice says: Eling Tufte, one of the best farmers in this vicinity, was found dead in his barn. It is supposed to be from heart failure. He complained in the morning about 10 o'clock that he did not feel well, but he went out to the barn and when called for dinner was found dead. He was thirty-eight years old and looked well. He leaves a wife and two children.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday....$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone....................$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not car for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year........ $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year.................. $1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN,

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

TO—
HELENA — PULLMAN
BUTTE — SLEEPING CARS
SPOKAND — ELEGANT
TACOMA — DINING CARS
SEATTLE — TOURIST
PORTLAND — SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7 10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 2, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN,
of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON,
of Georgia.

For Congressman 7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.

For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.

For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Ramsey.

For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON: Polk.

For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES St. Louis.

Presidential Electors—
T. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H. B. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kellher; Charles D'autrement; Hans B. Bjorge; James Dillon

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT ECKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
J. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives { S. J. LEE, Norman Co.
W. A. MARIN, Polk Co

HOW IT WAS DONE.

Earnest Seyd, of London, sent here in 1872, accompanied by $500,000 of London bankers' money, for the purpose of inducing the United States congress to demonetize silver, told the following to a friend. He said:

"If you pledge me your honor as a gentlemen not to divulge what I am about to tell you while I live, I will convince you that what I said about the corruption of the American congress is true." I gave my promise and he then continued: "I went to America in 1872-3 authorized to secure, if I could, the passage of a bill to demonetize silver. It was to the interest of those whom I represented—the governors of the Bank of England—to have it done. I took with me $500,000, and had instructions to draw $500,000 or as much more as was necessary. I saw the committee of the House and Senate and paid the money and stayed in America until I knew the measure was safe. Your people will not now comprehend the far reaching extent of that measure, but they will in after years. Whatever you may think of corruption in the English parliment, I assure you I would not have dared to make such an attempt there as I did in your country."

How They Love Us.

The following illustrates how the "bosses" love the "common herd."

The people be damned.—Vanderbilt.

The best meal to give a tramp is a leaden one.—N. Y. Herald.

The capital of this country is organized at last.—N. Y. Tribune.

The battle with socialism will be brief but it will be hot.—Rev. D. Hitchcock.

There is too much freedom in this country rather than too little.—Indianapolis Journal.

If the workingman had no vote they might be made more amendable to the hard times.—Indianapolis News.

Give them a rifle diet for a few days and see how they like that kind of bread.—Tom Scott (railroad King.)

These brutal creatures (strikers) can understand no other law than that of force. What they need is force, and enough of it to be remembered among them for a generation.—N. Y. Tribune.

The old English system of imprisonment for debt would be preferable to our present bankrupt law.—Chicago Times.

The capitalists have bought and are buying largely the Associated Press, and are controlling the avenues of intelligence.—William Windon.

The simplest plan, probably, when one is not a member of the Humane Society, is to put a little strychnine or arsenic in the meat or other supplies furnished tramps.—Chicago Tribune.

There seems to be but one remedy and it must come—a change to land owners on one hand and tenant farmers on the other, something similar to what has existed in the old countries of Europe.—N.Y. Times.

Hand grenades should be thrown among those who are striving to obtain higher wages, as by such treatment they would be taught a valuable lesson, and other strikers would take warning by their fate.—Chicago Times.

Scribner's Monthly said of the man who is compelled to travel in search of work. "He has no rights but those which society may see fit to bestow. He has no more right than the sow that wallows in the gutter or the lost dogs that hover around the city squares.

The American laborer must make up his mind henceforth not to be so much better off than the European laborer, Men must be contented to work for less wages. In this way the workingman will be nearer to that station of life to which it has pleased God to call him.—N. Y. World.

Is not a dollar a day enough to buy bread? Water costs nothing, and a man who cannot live on bread is not fit to live. A family may live, laugh, love and be happy that eats bread in the morning with good water, and good bread at noon, and water and bread at night.—Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.

THOSE MEXICAN DOLLARS.

Gen. Standish Talks About the Mexican Dollar as Change.

"They are paying out Mexican dollars in change for fifty cents at Platky's department store. Mr. Standish, what do you think of that as an object lesson?" was the manner in which a Plaindealer man greeted W. H. Standish this morning.

"That is only the gold side of the question," said Mr. Standish. "A man down in Michigan has recently been buying wheat of the farmers and giving them a Mexican dollar a bushel. The only cause of hard times now, and for years past has been low prices. The object of this Mexican dollar business is to prove that prices will aproximately double by restoring free coinage of silver. Last year, in North Dakota, we paid in freight, taxes and interest approximately 23,000,000 bushels of wheat to buy the necessary money to pay the three items of freight, taxes and interest; but had we been able to sell our wheat at double price these sums would have been paid with 11,500,000 bushels of wheat, making a saving of that amount to our North Dakota people on these three items alone, and a great saving in many other respects. All our taxes and public debts are payable in silver money, and will be after the free coinage of silver is restored; hence they are all doubled on us, when by the gold standard we are forced to sell our products and property at half price to get the money to pay them. When the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railways were built through this country wheat was double the price it is now, and a payment to them of freight and passenger rates on a free coinage basis would be an honest payment; but each dollar that we have to pay them now while selling our product at half price on a gold standard basis makes the payment doubly oppressive on the people; and most of our mortgages in North Dakota were made when prices were nearly double what they are now and the farm and what the farm produces. Those countries that have retained silver as money, that is free coinage of silver, have maintained a comparitive steadiness of prices, as measured by coin money since 1873 to this date, and thereby maintained equity between debtor and creditor, and between the investor in monopolies and the people who have to use those monopolies, preventing them and the creditor from obtaining a cinch from the people, as has been obtained in all those countries that have gone to the gold standard. The people are now in a vice, and have been put there and squeezed down by the gold standard. We must elect W. J. Bryan for President, who will turn that vise back and so loosen the people from it that they can get out and live and move.—Grand Forks Plaindealer.

In his speech at Buffalo, N. Y., W. J. Bryan said: "The arguments in favor of bimetallism are directed toward the intellect of the man who thinks and to the heart of the man who feels. The gold standard argument is directed to the pocket-book of the man who wants to live while others die. (Great applause.) If we would despise the foreigner who would attempt or desire to let the United States control his nation, what contempt must foreigners feel for those Americans who are willing to surrender the right to govern themselves.

"My friends, there is no way of taking the government out of the clutches of those who have been bleeding it, except for the government to resume its legal rights and use its silver or its gold, whichever it pleases, whenever it has a dollar to pay. I do not want to be called extreme, but I want to state my position with such emphasis that it will not be mistaken. I believe the American people have a right to have the treasury department administered in behalf of all the people instead of in the behalf of syndicates, foreign and domestic. Instead of permitting the financiers of Wall street to call before them the officials of the government and tell them what they must do, I believe the time has come when the officials of the government should call them up and tell them what they are to do and make them do it. If this government is not greater than the bankers of Wall street it is not a government at all."

--Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a specialty from now until after election.

The Exclusive Pamunky.

The Forest and Stream tells of a club that exists down in Currituck sound for the purpose of accommodating the duck shooting members. There are four members, and four shares constitute the stock, each share being valued at $25,000. Only one of the members has visited the clubhouse during late years. The head of the club is a New York railroad man, and the others are millionaires several times over. The clubhouse is situated on an oyster shell island, supposed to have been built up by Indians. It is a place where antiquarians would find something rich to study.

This club is probably the most exclusive one in the world, and the shares are not for sale. It is called Pamunky club, and the member who wishes seclusion finds it on the island among the big trees, whose limbs are rough with age.

"They are flanking the brigade and charging the battery."

The words were uttered by an officer who had sufficiently recovered from the stunning a gunshot wound had given him to raise his head and reply to the salutation of his brigade commander. It took place on the field of Antietam early in the day, and the man who spoke was Edward S. Bragg, then lieutenant colonel, commanding a regiment. A bullet had struck his arm, inflicting a painful wound, paralyzing it.

General John Gibbon, the brigade commander, was riding rapidly to give directions to the battery when he saw Colonel Bragg lift up his head. "Old man, are you hurt? You are very white," said Gibbon.

"No. They are flanking the brigade and charging the battery."

It was one of those occasions when a lieutenant colonel presumed to give directions to his general.

In a few minutes the colonel was able to walk to the field hospital. Surgeon Bartlett and Bragg had often bantered each other. When Bartlett saw the colonel, he said: "So you have come to see me. Have been expecting all the morning to be called upon to amputate your head. What is the matter, colonel?"

"I don't know. If I did, I wouldn't come here. I want to find out."

"Where are you hit?"

"In the arm. Can't you see?"

"Is it broken?"

"You are paid to tell me if it is broken."

The doctor took the limp, helpless, hurt arm, felt of it hurriedly and said, "Bragg, if any other man in the army had been hit as you were, he would have had a broken arm, but your arm isn't broken."

"Thank you. Tie this handkerchief around my neck and hitch it to my hurt arm, doctor."

"What are you going to do?"

"I am going back to the regiment."

"Better let me dress your wound first."

"Never mind the wound. You can dress that tomorrow." And the plucky little warrior, who more than earned all of his ranks from private to brigadier, rejoined his fighting and dreadfully decimated regiment.

On his way back the colonel saw a man of his old company. "Hello, Nick! What's the matter?"

"I am shot, colonel. I'm going to die."

"No, Gaffney, you are not going to die. Let me see your wound."

The boy pointed to a blue spot on his breast. "You're all right, chicken." Then the colonel put his hand over the wound and said:

"Take a long breath."

Poor Nick took a long breath, but it hurt him like the cut of a knife, and the colonel's hand was covered with blood. The shot had struck him in the breast and gone clear through.

In telling of the incident years afterward General Bragg said: "I told the poor fellow he was all right, but I didn't believe it. I didn't see then how a fellow shot through the lung could survive.

"Nick Gaffney is still living and apparently a strong man. The surgeon drew a silk handkerchief through his body soon after he went to the hospital. It makes you shudder, doesn't it? It made poor Nick Gaffney wince, but he uttered no sound."

Colonel Bragg remained with his regiment the balance of the day, but when the battle was over the reaction came, and he had to give up for a time.—Chicago Times-Herald.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarten training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teacher's certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 21	5.0
SESE of 21	4.50
NENE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 3	5.0
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5. 0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.0
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.10 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.10
9 " 7	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5. 0
5 " 35	5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 20	5.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

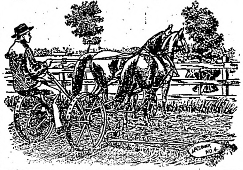
Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞ Warehouse on railroad track. : : : : : : : : : : :

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL
M. Z. EPPERSON
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	44c	Butter	6@8
Oats	12c	Eggs	6
Barley	14c	Beans... pr bu)	$1 0
Flax	48c	Potatoes	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Thief River Falls held an election yesterday.

The three county proposition will be voted upon this fall.

P. G. Paradis got back from Red Lake Falls last evening.

O. W. Brink shipped a car load of stock to St. Paul to-day.

S. M. Harris and family visited Red Lake Falls Sunday last.

O. W. Brink shipped an ox that weighed over 2,400 pounds.

Billy Stranahan is now possessor of a horse of the "Nancy Hanks" strain.

All these 1896 Mexican dollars you hear so much about are counterfeit.

O. W. Brink lost his valuable eighteen hundred pound horse this morning.

Two fine looking deer were seen a few miles east of here on the prairie last week.

M. Hanson of Black River was treated to all the honors of Woodcraft Friday evening.

Charley Brink made a trip to Marshall county yesterday looking after his cattle interests.

J. W. Wheeler, cashier of the First National Bank of Crookston went up the line Friday.

Rev. A. F. Herzberg will preach every Tuesday evening in M. E. Church at eight o'clock.

The chicken season opened yesterday. The game is the scarcest known for years in these parts.

Dr. Watson and Prof. Casey of Red Lake Falls were in the village last Friday greeting friends.

C. G. Rapp left on Monday's train for Duluth; and expects to take in the State Fair on his return.

Ole Loe has traded off his farm for some property at McIntosh and will move there in the near future.

A new line of goods received last week at Miss Mary Quandy's millinery establishment. Call and see them.

Henry and George Olson left to-day for Manvel, N. Dak., where they will put in the season threshing in that vicinity.

Messrs. Mork and Peterson, two Thief River Fallites, stopped off here between trains Monday on their way to St. Paul.

The special game wardens are out of a job—as far as chickens are concerned. No danger of shooting any more than the law allows.

Prof. O'Brien arrived last Friday looking hale and hearty after spending his ten weeks vacation in the southern part of the state.

Chris Sandmoen left Friday for North Dakota where he will asume his old position as feeder on one of the machines in that state.

A strayed water spaniel—afraid of water has been laying around town for the past week. No doubt he is highly prized by the owner.

O. A. Wiste, who has been visiting relatives and friends in this vicinity for the past ten days returned yesterday to his home at Hallock.

Charles Adolphson of Black River township was in the village last Thursday and purchased two loads of fine furniture from Rapp & Post.

Misses Flora and Ellen Wallen of Thief River Falls who have been visiting relatives in the village for the past week returned home Monday.

J. H. Penno has the interior of his barber shop nicely painted and arranged in first-class order. J. H. will put in another chair in the near future.

W. I. Bassett, a former resident of this vicinity, greeted his old acquaintances here Monday. W. I. begins a ten month term of school next Monday.

Miss Mary Kyle returned from Crookston Friday to resume her much appreciated services in our schools, this being Miss Kyle's third term with us.

The local board of health of Fosston are about to issue an order to the effect that all scholars attending the public schools at that place should be vaccinated.

The republicans propose to carry Indiana with the aid of one million dollars. They bought Indiana once but they cannot do it again—that state is for Bryan.

W. A. Sorsoleil and one of his daughters returned to-day from Langdon, N. Dak. The other girl who is staying with her grand parents is still down with the fever.

A meeting of the republican club was held last Thursday evening at Crookston, when and where they changed the name of the club for the third time. Three times is usually out.

The household goods of Dr. Francis arrived to-day and is being placed in the residence lately vacated by Daniel Patterson. Mrs. Francis and the two children are expected Friday.

Miss Mary Quandy moved her stock of millinery last week into the Gistie building, on the west side of Broadway, where she will be pleased to have her customers call and inspect goods.

County Commissioner Norland was in the village Friday, the first time for several moons. By the way Henry had his whiskers with him and says they will be the regulation lenght by election time.

W. W. Brown, the great free silver expounder of Red Lake Falls, shook hands with his many friends here between trains Monday on his return from a week's sojourn in McIntosh and Fosston.

"Free coinage of silver will drive all the gold out of the country" say the gold bugs. Their system has driven all prosperity out of the country, and if either must migrate we vote that gold be the fellow.

C. Kretzschmar of Thief River Falls has leased the O. K. mill to Michael Fricker and John Meier for a period of five years. Mr. Fricker is well and favorably known here and we bespeak for them the best of success.

The bank of Steele, N. Dak., ordered the advertisement out of the Ozone and the paper stopped because that paper favored free silver. That bank is liable to go into the hands of a receiver as this is evidence of poor management. Its very, very small business.

September started in with a thunder storm which prohibited many of our nimrods from taking advantage of the opening of the chicken season. Nevertheless its just what the farmers want, as the ground is too dry for good plowing.

"Give more time and thought to your fields and less to politics," is the vilest advise that can be given to farmers. Study the question well, as it means the farmers salvation or destruction. You cannot devote too much time or thought upon this great question of the day.

P. V. Malm, principal of the Crookston Normal School and Business Institute passed through here Monday on his bicycle. While here he distributed a few annual catalogues to prospective students. The fall term of this school opens September 15th and continues eight weeks.

A hunting party consisting of H. E Ives, L. T. Bergh, M. E. Bjerk and Dan Patterson left early yesterday morning for Marshall county where chickens are reported as being more plentiful than around here. They expect to return late this evening.

The Crookston Times says the Great Northern on the Fosston line forget itself, and started off on time one day last week. Several traveling men came near being left. They didn't know the old thing was loaded. We publish this as a warning to patrons on this branch as its a tri-weekly run.

A newspaper in a neighboring town recently said: "The prettiest girl in this town does'nt carry herself straight enough when promenading." For a month afterwards all the young ladies of the town stalked about like so many bean poles, and every girl said. "That horrid old paper; ma, don't I walk straight?"

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dahl and three children, who have been visiting relatives at Thompson N. Dak. for a few days returned home Tuesday with the exception of Mrs. Dahl and baby who remained a day longer on account of the threatening weather. The trip was made by team and Mrs. Dahl and baby returned on to-days Great Northern.

You come to us and tell us that the great cities are in favor of the gold standard. I tell you that the great cities rest upon these broad and fertile prairies. Burn down your cities and leave our farms and your cities will spring up again as if by magic. But destroy our farms and the grass will grow in the streets of every city in this country.—William J. Bryan.

The Republican platform wants to consult the queen and the king and the rulers of Europe and the Rothschilds and the brokers of Lombard street in regard to establishing a financial system. The Democratic party with gallant Wm. J. Bryan as its leader declares that our independence was won by the Revolutionary war 120 years ago and the only people to consult in making laws for this country are the citizens of the United States.—Tell City News.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that there will be preaching service in the M. E. Church every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, (to the end of Conference year, or until other arrangements are made).

REV. A. F. HERZBERG,
Thief River Falls.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Council Proceedings.

Special meeting of the council Wednesday Aug. 26th, 1896.

All members present except Epperson and Sorsoleil.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

On motion the following bills were allowed.

Christ Sandmoen street work etc.	$7 50
Wm. Harris " "	8 62
L. E. Gossman making out election notices	10 00
C. G. Rapp, work as per bill	16 00
H. E. Adams, work on muskeg	10 50
Andrew Berg, " "	4 50
Henry O. Jackson, marshal salary work, etc	16 75
J. L. Johnson, 1 day clerk election	2 00
D. Patterson, work on muskeg	3 50
Ed. Whaley, " "	8 62
Rapp & Post, merchandise as per bill rendered	31 05
L. J. Stranahan, running ferry 20 days	20 00
Andrew Hall, work on muskeg	11 62
C. B. Alexander, " "	8 62
G. A. Chelin, " "	5 87
O. H. Peters, clerk of election	2 00
Albert Wickstrom recording election papers	1 50
Christ Hall work on muskeg	10 62
Geo. Coogan " " "	5 62
L. Holmes " " "	15 00

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

School opened Monday and work was resumed immediately, following out the graded system introduced last year. Teachers and pupils each knew where they belonged; and no time was lost getting grades in order as is usually so where a change of teachers is instituted each school-year. The opening enrollment this year is nearly twice that of last year although the school opened a month earlier. Under such favorable circumstances and also having the building and surroundings in much better condition than formerly we predict a very successful school-year for those who will attend regularly and apply themselves diligently.

There should be co-operative beef-killing in the country, so that fresh beef would be common on the farmer's table. This can be done by combining a given number of families, enough to consume a beef in a few days, or say, a week, and let each contribute one until each has made his contribution. This would insure fresh beef in each family for from twelve to twenty weeks, or the number of families in the pool. Beef is too cheap for farmers to be deprived of it.

The above suggestion from the Farm Stock and Home is a good one and should be carried out by farmers.

Free Rights.

The attempt of some over-officious policeman to stop political discussions on the streets in Indianapolis has resulted in a decision by Judge Cox, of that city, in which he says "The right of free speech is fundamental in our constitution and must not be denied. No police force can stop it. It is the right of American citizens. This is a time when perplexing questions are puzzling the people. They are questoins of vital importance to the common people. It is only by ample discussions of the questions that confront them that they can learn properly to exercise their right of franchise. They have the right to discuss these questions, and the court will protect them." The court held that the ordinance against obstructing sidewalks could not be used as a pretence to shut off street discussions of an orderly character.

A free coinage catechism, published in the New York Evening Post, a gold standard organ, contains the following:

"Q. Why would free coinage harm those with fixed incomes or who draw interest?

"A. Because their income would remain unchanged as expressed in money, while their living expenses would increase enormously.

"Q. Why would their expenses increase under free coinage?

"A. Because of the violent, general and permanent rise of prices.

"Q. Would such a rise of prices be inevitable?

"A. It would necessarily follow the remonetization of silver."

Farmers, the above was not intended for you to read, it is only for the benefit of those who have money out at interest.

Indians at Fosston.

Fosston, Aug. 31.—W. R. Spears, the Red Lake trader, was in the city Saturday and closed a deal with the fair managers, whereby he will exhibit the two wonderful Indian dwarfs, and give two games of lacrosse, four Indian war and two ghost dances with a band of forty Indians, during the fair. The first dance will take place on Friday afternoon, Sept. 11th.

A mad dog scare has taken possession of our people, and apparently with good reason. The hunting dog of E. E. Fletcher, that had been acting surly, Thursday gave unmistakable signs of the rabies. Mr. Fletcher works at the Gooding dam and Thursday morning the dog accompanied him and bit several other dogs on the way down, and one of the pigs at the Gooding Mill. On the return Wm. Findeisen's pet dog was attacked and fairly shaken to pieces. In tying the dog Freeman Fletcher was bitten but luckily the incision did not penetrate to his flesh. The board of health have taken the matter in charge and have eight dogs on the list of those bitten by the Fletcher dog. This dog died on Tuesday, and the head packed in ice, has been sent to Winona for analysis by the state board of health. All dogs of the city will be required to be either tied or muzzled for some time.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

What They Say.

They say, "That free coinage of silver will ruin the country."

"That the single gold standard is the only true basis of sound money."

"That a double standard of money is all right if backed by international agreement."

"That a silver dollar will only purchase a value of labor or goods equal to 53 cents."

"That the silver dollar of to-day is worth a dollar in gold because it is backed by gold."

"That h—l and misery prevails in Mexico because a silver dollar is worth but 50 cents."

"That American prosperity is now due to the present single gold standard."

"That the farmer with free coinage of silver can pay off his mortgage at 50 cents on the dollar."

"That the farmer with a 50 cent dollar will get but 25 cents for his wheat."

"That the laborer will receive in value for his wages money depreciated 50 per cent."

"That the laborer will have to pay for his breadstuffs double the present prices."

"That gold is sound money and free coinage of silver means repudiation of debts."

"That this country is dependent upon foreign nations for its financial policy."

"That with a sound financial policy, with gold as the standard money, capital will be employed, industry prevail and the country prosper."

"That gold is the only security of wealth, is kept in strong boxes and only employed as exchange in purchasing bonds on foreign goods."

Who says this? Why the gold bugs. Are they consistent, honest or sincere? The American people are about to register another declaration of independence and convince the world that the United States government is great enough to manage its own financial affairs, and that it will not be the subservient tool of any nation on earth upon any question affecting the welfare of the people. Anything less than this admits of our dependency. To be a free and independent nation we must be free and independent in matters which concern this country alone. Down with plutocracy! Let the plain people rule.—Roseau Times.

The Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. Ed. Gistie Thursday afternoon. All members expected to be present.

EDITH DAINARD, Sec.

We object to McKinleyism because it would make gold the only money of redemption, (give it a monopoly) and because the gold men now have entire control of Mr. McKinley's party. By making gold the only legal tender for the payment of our bonds, we give bondocracy a "corner" on all the "money" of this nation, aye! of the world, and with that power of money monopoly, joined to the other corporation powers of monopoly, we believe that our liberties as a people will disappear, anarchy will follow, and a monarchy must take the place of the republic. Every true American should refuse to place the power of the national purse in the hands of the Rothschild syndicate.

* * *

The statement of the Pioneer Press, in black-faced type, that "all our bonds were sold for gold," is a blacker falsehood than the type in which it was printed, and the editor of that paper knows it. The bonds of the United States issued and "sold" during the war and after the war, until the close of 1869, were "sold" or exchanged for greenbacks and treasury notes, or for other bonds. In other words, the floating debts of the United States were "funded" into bonds. Nothing could be more untruthful than the statement that "all our bonds were sold for gold." In 1865 the government had sold (issued) $1,109,568,191 in bonds. If they were sold for gold, whence came it, and whither did it go? The nonsense and utter falsity of the statement is apparent when we recall the fact that in 1865 there was only $180,000,000 of gold in all the United States, according to the treasury estimate. It is dreadful to think that great daily papers are guilty of such false statements almost every day in the year.—Waseca Herald.

Maud—Heigho! It's strange how marriage changes a man! Will used to say when we were lovers that my cheeks were the color of a rose.

Mabel—And now?

Maud—Now he says, "Your face is red as a beet."—Detroit Free Press.

The Good Natured Man's Fault.

"De only trouble 'bout er man's being good natured all de time," said Uncle Eben, "is dat he's li'ble ter git sorter easy and satisfied wif himself, same ez he is wif ev'body else."

Change of Northern Pacific Depot in Minneapolis.

On and after September 1st all Northern Pacific passenger trains will arrive at and depart from the C. M. & St. P. Ry. passenger station, Washington and Fourth Avenue South, Minneapolis. Passengers alight from trains on a level with the street and will not have steps to climb in order to get out of depot. This change will land the passenger nearer the business part of the city. Street car lines are immediately in front of the depot entrance, thus giving quick and easy access to any part of the city. When you want to take the Northern Pacific to or from Minneapolis, remember the change of depots.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & Co., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Something

RAPP & POST,
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS,
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

The American Hotel....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

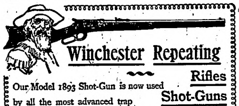
Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.
☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Good

Blood is what gives strong nerves, vigor, vitality. Good blood and good health come by taking

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Be sure to get Hood's and only HOOD'S.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic.

The Speaking Gown.

The latest creation of the modiste is known as the "speaking" gown, but as far as can be learned the name does not imply either hidden mechanism or any fresh achievement on the part of the magician. The prosaic truth, stated in prosaic English, reveals only the fact that the dressmaker who prepares her patron for the platform has a doubly difficult task. Women who make up audiences have not ceased as yet to indulge in criticisms concerning the costume of the lecturer, and as the gown in question is liable to be under inspection for a considerable period of time, it behooves the artist to make it ideally perfect.

Dishonored Drafts.

When the stomach dishonors the drafts made upon it by the rest of the system, it is necessarily because its fund of strength is very low. Toned with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, it soon begins to pay out vigor in the shape of pure, rich blood, containing the elements of muscle, bone and brain. As a sequence of the new vigor afforded the stomach, the bowels perform their functions regularly, and the liver works like clock work. Malaria has no effect upon a system thus reinforced.

A Clear Case.

Mr. Timms—The framers of the constitution must have been right under the thumbs of the women.

Mr. Vance—How so?

Mr. Timms—Why, look what they did for a free press and free speech.—Cleveland Leader.

Bicycle Cover Caprice.

An odd whim of one spoiled beauty is to have her wheel painted to match her gowns: in summer it appears dazzlingly white, and all her dresses are more or less white; in the early autumn she goes in for a blue wheel, followed, a little later, by one a chestnut-brown; and so she rings the changes on all her pet colors.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is the best of all cough cures.—George W. Lotz, Fabucher, La., Aug. 26, 1895.

The human windpipe is composed of sixteen or eighteen cartilaginous rings, united by exceedingly flexible ligaments.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Within the limits of the United States in 1801 there were 5,250,000 English speaking people; now there are 70,000,000.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

It is estimated by Grove that the idea of the pipe organ was borrowed from the human chest, mouth and larynx.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.
Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

At the beginning of this century the Russian language was used by 30,770,000 people; now it is spoken by 75,000,000.

Where It Wouldn't Work.

"The president of our health club has been taken away to a sanitarium."

"What ailed her?"

"The doctors think she broke down her constitution keeping flies out of her house."—Chicago Record.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Company, printed near the bottom of the package. For sale by all responsible druggists.

A Serious Charge.

Justice—What is the prisoner charged with, officer?

O'Hoolihan—Nothin', now, sor; but ye ought to 'av seen 'im when O'i ran 'im in? He was charged wid whisky till he couldn't spake.—Chicago Dispatch.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

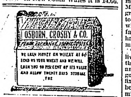
Ran in the Family.

"Going to get married? What for?"

"Well, why shouldn't I? My father did so, and my grandfather before me."

"I see; one of those hereditary misfortunes, I suppose?"—Philadelphia Press.

In New South Wales the annual death rate is less than one-half that in Spain, Austria and Hungary, and far below that in the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. The average of all these countries is 23.15 per 1,000. In New South Wales it is 14.66.



OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
WE LOAN MONEY ON WHEAT AT 6%
SEND US YOUR WHEAT AND WE WILL
LOAN YOU 90 PER CENT OF ITS VALUE
AND ALLOW TWENTY DAYS STORAGE
FREE

E. C. PICKLER, D. O., Prest.
F. D. PARKER, D. O., Vice-Prest.
L. M. RHEEM, Secy.

NORTHERN INSTITUTE OF OSTEOPATHY.

GLOBE BLDG. MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Will open its fall class September 1, 1896. All persons desiring to enter this class can obtain full information in regard to tuition, terms, etc., by addressing the Secretary. Osteopathy is a comparatively new science, but is one that offers unexcelled advantages to young ladies and gentlemen desiring to enter professional life.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver. McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

N. W. N. U. No. 30—1896

A NEW LILY.

It Seems to Be a Cross Between the Common Garden Lily and Jimson Weed.

From two big black seeds planted two months ago in the garden of Mr. E. B. DuVal have sprung plants which are blossoming into curious flowers that puzzle those familiar with horticulture.

The flower will probably be named the "DuVal Lily," as it is a new one in Maryland.

Mr. DuVal's garden is in the rear of his home, "Whitmere Heights," on Second street, Walbrook, across the way from the handsome residence of Mr. Julian LeRoy White. It has become a curiosity shop of flowers from the use of seeds and cuttings which are sent to Mr. DuVal by horticulturists all over the country, in order that he may try them in Maryland soil.

When the two black seeds arrived in May from a New York seed house, Mr. DuVal had them planted in a choice place in his garden. He became interested in the two shoots which soon sprang up from the seeds. The tender stalks were tightly curled in a knob, like that on a growing Lima bean stalk, until the stems were nearly a foot high. Then the curl straightened, and a bushy plant developed, from which soon rose a flower stalk.

Another thing which aroused Mr. DuVal's curiosity about the new plants was the information he received with the seeds that they came from a cross of a jimson weed with the common white lily, which abounds in old-fashioned gardens and about all country places. The jimson weed, or Jamestown weed, as it is more properly known, receives its name from Jamestown, Va., where it was first known in refuse heaps. It is of Asiatic origin, is a variety of stramonium and has a distinctive odor from its growth about this country from its growth about agreeable odor from the leaves. Its flower is a deep purple in color.

From this strange admixture of plant life Mr. DuVal yesterday brought the first bloom. The flower is about eight inches long and measures six inches across the bell-shaped corolla, which is indented like both the parent flowers, the points ending in tendril-like twists, as do the jimson weed flowers. The corolla is purple on the outside, while the inside is of cream color. Three layers of fleshy petals make up the blossom, the petals being joined with what tailors would call a lap seam. A green calyx cup supports the flower, which grows on a stout stem.

The deep-purple color is continued in the stamens and pistil, which form a group deep down in the lily cup. The leaves of the plant are like magnified oak leaves, and when pressed emit the true jimson weed odor.

Mr. DuVal will report on his strange lily to the seedsmen, and will retain some of the seeds for future experiments in his garden.—Baltimore Sun.

THOUGHT HURTS THE TEETH.

Brain Workers Have More Trouble With Molars Than Do Laborers.

A prominent New York dentist made the statement the other day, which he said was backed by the highest scientific authority, that intellectual pursuits play havoc with the teeth, and that the more a man toils with his brain the more likely are his teeth to disappear or become diseased before he reaches middle life.

The reason why people in this country have poorer teeth than those of any other country in the world is because they live at the highest possible pitch of nervous pressure. Savage races generally have teeth superior to those of civilized races.

There are many unusual occupations too, that have a bad effect on teeth. Quicksilver miners, bleachers who use chloride of lime, people employed in soda factories, are some of those who suffer. But the most harmful trade of all, not only in its effect upon the general health, but also upon the teeth, is that of making matches. The phosphorus used in their manufacture affects in some way the health of the teeth of those who handle it.

Artificial teeth are made of all sorts of strange substances nowadays, but probably the most curious of all materials used for this purpose is compressed paper. A dentist in Germany has been making them in this way for many years past. False teeth were never so cheap as they are to-day, and at the same time never so dear. They can be purchased as low as $3 per set, or they may cost as high as $1,500. There are expensive dentists, as well as expensive doctors, and it is not an uncommon thing for $500 to be paid for a new outfit of molars.

When it comes to expensive teeth—or, rather, an expensive tooth—probably the costliest and most highly prized in the world is that of the sacred monkey. It is in one of the temples of Siam, preserved in a gold box. The value the natives put upon it may be judged by the fact that they paid $3,750,000 to Portugal for its ransom when the fortunes of war placed it in the possession of that nation. The Cingalese also venerate as sacred a monkey's molar, while the people of Malabar worship one of the elephant's grinders. In the Tonga Islands a tooth from a shark's jaw is regarded with great reverence, and in India the faithful adore a tooth that is said to have been once in active service in the mouth of Buddha himself.

The first dentist, in fact, must have lived long before Buddha. At any rate there were dentists in plenty in Egypt and Greece 500 years, B. C., who used gold filling teeth and golden wire for fixing artificial ones. Gold has ever been been discovered in the teeth of mummies known to be many thousands of years old.—New York Times.

Crabs Foretell Earthquakes.

For some time previous to the day upon which the great earthquake of August, 1857, occurred, great swarms of crabs of an unknown variety were seen in the Bay of Payta, Chili. They all appeared to be greatly excited, and were literally climbing over each other in their efforts to escape the impending calamity. How they knew that the earthquake was collecting its strength to desolate the coast is more than man can say; but that they knew something unusual was about to happen there is no doubt whatever. That there were millions of them, may be inferred from the report of Dr. Forbes, who says that "ten days after the earthquake the dead crabs were thrown upon the beach in a wall-like line three to four feet wide along the whole extent of the bay."

A False Contention.

Husband—There's one thing I can say for myself, anyway; I have risen by my own efforts.

Wife—Never in the morning, John. I notice that it takes two alarm clocks and all the members of the household to get you up then.—Boston Courier.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

A HINT FROM INDIA.

A Novel Solution of the Currency Question Suggested by the LOWELL MORNING TIMES.

The Times says: It recently happened that a resident of Lowell desired to pay a bill due to a friend who is a medical missionary in British India. The friend from that far-away country suggested that it be paid in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which he said is reckoned

"As Good as Gold!"

On application to the J. C. Ayer Co., they readily gave an order on their Bombay agents for a quantity of Sarsaparilla to an amount equivalent to the face of the bill. A letter dated Rahuri, India, Oct. 18, has just been received in Lowell, which says: "The Sarsaparilla was duly received and as it has a regular market quotation price was converted into cash with the utmost facility. Whatever may be said about other sarsaparillas and the medicinal value of their contents, this fact remains, that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is so well known in India that it has a market value, depending upon the fluctuation in the value of

The Silver Rupee,

as much as cotton or other staples. This is not the case with any other sarsaparilla of American makers. The natives of this country are very conservative, and unless an article is well known they are shy about using it. A native will take a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla from my dispensary and walk off with it without raising a question as to its purity or curative qualities. This is the truth, and I do not scruple to let you make whatever use of the statement you may choose. The success of this remedy in this country shows what judicious advertising of a meritorious article has accomplished. If I had in quantities of any medicine I would prefer Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any other twenty times over, for I know that I could get my money back in the former case, while in the other I should have to retail it bottle by bottle in order to realize my money." As a currency Ayer's Sarsaparilla might be cumbersome, but one thing would be sure—you'd always get the value of the dollar invested in the remedy.

Money Locked Up

Mammoth Clover.

A correspondent inquires about English clover. On looking the subject up in our authorities, encyclopedias, reports of the department of agriculture, etc., we are surprised to find that no mention is made of English clover. It seems that clover of no kind is native to that island. The common red variety was introduced there from continental Europe about 1640, and soon became popular and has been so ever since. They grow a variety called the Mammoth, or sapling clover, and we think this is sometimes incorrectly called English clover. This large variety is excellent for fertilizing the soil, but unless cut quite green is not worth much as forage. The stalks become quite large and very tough, and stock will not eat them, so that a large part of the plant is wasted.

Mr. Wallace, in his book on Clover Culture, says of it: "While the Mammoth is far inferior to the medium red as a hay crop, and, therefore, we do not advise its cultivation where a hay crop is the main object, it has very important advantages to the farmer who has exhausted the fertility of his land by long years of cultivation in wheat, corn, oats and flax and who is not in shape either to buy live stock or to provide the shelter necessary to keep them at a profit. In such cases as this we advise the sowing of Mammoth clover with every crop of spring grain, even though it be the intention to plow it up the succeeding year. It comes in bloom two or three weeks later than red clover, and on this account is often sown with the red, when intended for pasture, as it prolongs the season considerably."—Indiana Farmer.

Blown From a Train.

"I do not suppose that once in a hundred times we ever learn the real cause of a railroad accident," said a man who is well posted on such matters, "when any one of the principals concerned is killed. In individual cases, where a man is lost from a train, and his body is found later beside the track, suicide is the first thing suggested; but you can never tell. A peculiar accident happened to a friend of mine. He was traveling Eastward with some friends. He left them for a few minutes to go to the smoking car. As he crossed from one car to the other—that was before the time of the vestibule trains—a strong wind that was blowing struck him and blew him to the ground. He was wearing a large circular coat, which acted as a balloon inflated with wind, and it was responsible for his being blown off the train, as well as for the fact that he landed on his feet unhurt. He walked some distance to the nearest station and telegraphed ahead to his friends that he was all right, and would come on by the next train. If he had been killed every one would have said 'suicide,' for the possibility of a man being blown from a train would seem to be an absurd idea."

Wheat From the Start.

The best lot of chickens we ever raised were fed on dry grain feed from the very start. They were in a brooder house and side by side with other broods fed on mashes and mixtures of all kinds. This particular lot had the end brooder and were allowed full liberty to roam over a large patch of woodland. The feed was placed in covered troughs, and consisted of a mixture of cracked corn and rice and whole wheat, and this the only food given. The chickens, having unlimited range and plenty of shade, picked up all the animal and vegetable feed they required and "tackled" the grain feed when they felt inclined that way. They grew like weeds and beat the other pens decisively, although the first three weeks little or no difference could be detected in the different broods. The unnatural system of feeding and yarding them began to tell and the natural method triumphed.

Washing White Silk.

To prevent white silk handkerchiefs turning yellow when washed, no soap should be rubbed on the silk, no soda should be mixed with the water, and the handkerchief should, on no account, be boiled. A hot, thick, soapy lather should be used for cleaning the handkerchief, which should afterward be freed of all soap by rinsing in plenty of cold water. It should be dried, if possible, in the sun.

Scientific Discussion.

"Weight," said the summer lecturer, "is in direct proportion to density."

"My!" said the summer girl, "what a weighty mind Chollie Spindletop must have!"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Antioch in the beginning of the fourth century discovered the importance, as a matter of safety, of lighting the streets; but the discovery lapsed. In the middle of the sixteenth century Paris lighted up her streets with fires, made by pitch and rosin.

A WELL STOCKED STREAM.

The Old Farmer Charged a Big Fee for the Right to Fish, If You Could.

I had just gotten my rod together and was hooking on a worm when the owner of the brook, a sturdy and somewhat ill-looking farmer, appeared on the bank beside me. I offered a short salutation, and received one in return considerably shorter than my own.

"Any trout in this brook?" I asked.

"Chock full on 'um."

"You allow fishing here, of course?"

"Yaas, of the pay is all right."

"How much?"

"Five dollars a trip, now she's stocked."

"Oh, she's stocked, is she? Well, I'll give you $5; in advance, too."

He pocketed the money, and I washed down the brook, a basketful of half-pounders swimming before my dazzled vision. In the first three miles the only bite had was from my coat pocket. I spent an hour casting in "the pool," and another one through "the cut," and finished out the afternoon skirmishing around the shores of "the pond." Then night came on, and I was glad. If ever I have an evil deed to perform, anything like murdering an able-bodied farmer, I perfer to do it after dark. On my way to the station I stopped at the house of the farmer and inquired for him.

"Pa's gone tur the village," said the boy; "he got some money turday, so he's gone over tur git some groceries."

"Your father told me the brook was stocked," I said fiercely.

"So 'tis."

"I don't believe there's a trout in it over an inch long."

"I don't nuther," said the boy; "pa didn't stock it tell las summer."—Lewiston Journal.

The Full Moon of Coconauts.

In Bombay, when the rainy season is over the fishermen and their wives and children gather by hundreds to keep a festival which they call "the full moon of the coconaut."

The feast occupies two whole days. The idea that inspires it is that the sea is very powerful. The simple-minded people think they ought to praise it because it gives them their bread, and so, as they stand upon the shore, they beg it to be good to them. They ask it, in caressing words, not to be angry or stormy when their little boats shall go out, and they tell it they hope it will give them plenty of fish.

Not only the fishermen, but owners of boats and shipbuilders, and sometimes rich merchants go to the seaside to court the favor of old Neptune. Every person carries a gift of coconauts. Wading out into the surf as far as possible, he flings the rough, brown fruit into the waves. After the coconaut has been received by the billows, the devout finish by offering a crown of flowers. The waters are covered with beautiful wreaths and garlands, which are given in thankfulness for past favors.

Little does the ocean care for the flowers and the fruit which are poured into its depths. But the festival makes the grave men and women as eager and happy as children; and when they go home, at the end of the second day, they carry with them memories which will make them joyful as long as they think of the "full moon of the coconauts."

Lord Tennyson's Biography.

While no formal announcement has been made that this work is to be published this fall, it is known that the work is practically completed, and it is only awaiting a favorable moment for publication. It will be undoubtedly the most important literary biography of the century, and will deal with events and persons to an extent that is almost without a parallel in modern times. While Tennyson was for a large part of his life a recluse, and did not like to be in the forefront of everything, he was always in the center of what was going on in his own day, and his life was spent in directing and controlling many of the chief movements of his time, without seeming to be at the head of them. The publication of "Talks With Tennyson," by Mr. Wilfrid Ward, in the "New Review," and republished in "Littell's Living Age" for August 8, shows in a remarkable way what may be anticipated when this biography is given to the public. It will be read with intense interest and enjoyment, and if it fails to show how and why Tennyson maintained his supremacy as a poet and as a leader of English thought, so strong is his hold upon English literature to-day that it will have to be rewritten to meet the demand of the hour.—Boston Herald.

Jay That Lighted Matches.

A dangerous acquirement of a pet blue jay is told about in the American Naturalist by James Newton Basket of Mexico, Mo. The blue jay referred to somehow learned that parlor or popping matches would make a delightful splutter and flame if properly manipulated. The bird was in the habit of beating much of its food against some hard substance, perhaps for the purpose of breaking or softening it. It probably treated one of the parlor matches in this way one day, and so learned that they made a noise. When a match was given to it he would hop on a chair round and strike the fulminate against the wood, end on, repeating it rapidly until the head was ignited. Then it would throw it away and watch the flame.

Move Your Eyes If You Can.

A curious and slightly-known fact is that it is impossible to move the eye while looking at its reflection in a mirror. The eye is the most movable part of the face, yet if you try to look at it and move it the thousandth part of an inch you will be balked in your purpose. The moment you endeavor to perceive the motion of the eye it becomes fixed. That is why a person's expression as he sees himself in the glass is entirely different from the one by which his friends recognize him, says the Atlanta Constitution.

Pretty Fair Proof.

Dick—But how do you know he is a sign painter?

Harry—Because he wrote a sentence in which there were six apostrophes, and he got every single one of them in the wrong position.—Boston Transcript.

Lilienthal's tragic death will not permanently retard the final realization of aerial navigation. Its possibility is now a demonstrated fact; but there are some mechanical details to be arranged that may delay this realization for a number of years. Yet it is probable that many people who are now alive will live long enough to ride through the air on the perfect flying machine.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,
DR.
PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

MAKING THE CLYDE.

It Took Ten Years and Cost the City of Glasgow $350,000.

"Glasgow made the Clyde, and the Clyde made Glasgow." Toward the close of the last century the true trading spirit had been aroused among the inhabitants of the building city, and it was not long before they perceived that if the community were ever to rise to eminence in that direction the city must become a port open to the commerce of the world. The task was one of herculean dimensions, but they set themselves to it with a determination of purpose which was not to be daunted by any degree of difficulty.

Much of the best engineering enterprise and skill of the world have been devoted to the altering, widening, narrowing and deepening of the channel, according to the requirements at different parts of the course. As a specimen of changes that have been made during the progress of the work, it may be mentioned that when, in 1839, the act of parliament was passed which defined the boundaries of the river, one of the most extensive textile factories in the country stood in the line of what was considered to be the best course for the river to take, and the water is now deep enough over the site to allow ocean liners to sail.

Many experiments were resorted to ere success was achieved in the deepening at particular places, and the confinement of the water within the desired limits. Several of the obstacles encountered might well have deterred the authorities from proceeding further, had that been possible. The chief of these was Elderslie rock, a mass of dolerite or whinstone, which was found to occupy the bed of the stream over an area of 925 feet by 320, and which came within ten feet of the surface of the water. The discovery of this was a shock to all concerned, but the breaking up and removal of it was at once proceeded with in the ordinary course. It took ten years to do it, however, and during that time 110,000 tons of rock and clay were raised by dredging at the place, while a sum of $350,000 was found to have been expended in the operations.—Scottish American.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Make Your Workmen Comfortable.

A manufacturer, in gossiping about the best ways of handling workmen, says that the nature of the floor of the shop has a great deal to do with the amount of work that is got out of the operative staff. He was once struck by the difference in the apparent activity of two sets of men working on like jobs at the vise in two roms of a large shop. One was in an old building and the other was in one of recent construction. In the former, the men stood easily and naturally at their work, and showed no symptoms of a hankering after a seat on the bench; while in the latter the men were shifting their weight from one foot to the other, throwing one leg upon the bench at every opportunity, and showing every evidence of foot-fatigue. The superintendent guessed that the difference was due to the floors upon which the two gangs of men were standing. In the old shop the floor was of wood, springy to a certain extent and a poor conductor of heat. In the new shop it was of the most beautiful concrete, an excellent conductor of heat from the feet of the workmen, and as unyielding as a granite rock. So the benches in the new shop were raised a couple of inches, and each man was given a platform of wood that rested on two cross-pieces at the end, and had a slight spring to it. The fot-weariness disappeared almost at once, and no further trouble was experienced. Which shows that the prettiest floor is not always the best for workmen.

Prints Its Own Notes.

The notes of the Bank of England, great square pieces of thick white paper which do not look like money to the American eye, are all printed by bank officials on the premises. The plates are also engraved on the premises. An automatic device records each impression made by a plate, and in this way fraud is impossible.

Too Suggestive.

"Prof. Zoozlebaum has given up teaching astronomy to those young women."

"I wonder why?"

"Every time he mentioned the Big Dipper he would have to take the whole crowd out and treat them to ice-cream soda."—Chicago Record.

The fastest ship in the world is the French torpedo catcher Forban, which, it is said, can steam at the tremendous rate of about thirty-six miles an hour.

All the sons of kings and queens are princes by birth. The are created dukes to give them a rank in the peerage.

At the beginning of this century the Portugese language was in use by 7,480,000; in 1800 it was spoken by 13,000,000.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

George C. Christensen, Newberg, Ore., landside for plows; Bradley W. Fisk and W. M. Clapp, Sedro, Wash., rotary engine; Elmer E. Horner, Faribault, Minn., wheat steamer; John Klopp, Hopkins, Minn., tire bolter; Albert G. Kretschmar, Duluth, Minn., bow for stringed instruments; Alfrede C. Lamar, St. Paul, Minn., flax puller; Charles A. Magnuson, St. Paul, Minn., fish hook and snell protector; Robert Miller, Redfield, S. D., hot water heater; Hans C. Olson, Two Harbors, Minn., swing; James B. Vanderwort, Winona, Minn., register for counter.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Eggplant With Nuts.

Cook a large eggplant ten minutes; cut into halves, scoop out the center, leaving a wall about one inch thick. Chop the pulp and mix with it four tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, twelve chopped almonds or one-half cupful of peanuts. Season with salt and pepper and fill in the shells. Stand them in a baking pan, cover with a piece of greased paper and cook slowly in the oven until soft.

Royalty and Bloomers.

Princess Maud and Princess Victoria are having bloomers made of crepon and silk. They have a lining foundation in four sections and a deep round yoke of silk, which is redraped with finely tucked chiffon. The blouses are made on a yoke, being drawn in at the waist, where the lining is secured, forming a puff below the waist. The upright collar is draped with white chiffon.

The line "Pride hath no other glass to show itself but pride," is from Shakespeare's Troilus and Cressida, Act III.

Sour Meal Kills Chicks.

The common custom is to keep a dish of Indian meal mixed up, and two or three times a day a lot is thrown down to the chickens. If they eat it, well and good; if not, and the chances are they will not, they having become tired of one single article of diet, set before them day after day, it stands and sours. If a quantity is thus found uneaten, the next feed is likely to be a light one, and the chickens, driven by hunger, finally devour the sour stuff; the result is cholera, or some other fatal disease, sets in and their owners wonders "Why my chickens are dying off." In our own practice we find that small quantities of varied food, if given to the chickens often, produce vastly better results than any other method of feeding.

Blood Pure?

Is it? Then take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep it so. Isn't it? Then take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and make it so. One fact is positively established and that is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla will purify the blood more perfectly, more economically and more speedily than any other remedy in the market. There are fifty years of cures behind this statement; a record no other remedy can show. You waste time and money when you take anything to purify the blood except

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Kickapoo Indian Oil
QUICK CURE FOR ALL PAIN.

Look Out

For Imitations of Walter Baker & Co.'s Premium No. 1 Chocolate. Always ask for, and see that you get, the article made by

WALTER BAKER & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

EVERY FARMER IN THE NORTH
CAN MAKE MORE MONEY IN THE MIDDLE SOUTH.

He can make twice as much. He can sell his Northern farm and get twice as many acres for his money down here. We sell improved farms for $8 to $20 an acre. Plenty of railroads—four of them. No droughts. Neither too hot nor too cold—climate just right. Northern farmers are coming every week. If you are interested write for FREE pamphlets and ask all the questions you want to. It is a pleasure to us to answer them.

SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' LAND COMPANY. Somerville, Tenn.

"It Bridges You Over."

Battle Ax PLUG

"Battle Ax" bridges a man over many a tight place when his pocket-book is lean. A 5-cent piece of "Battle Ax" will last about as long as a 10-cent piece of other good tobaccos. This thing of getting double value for your money is a great help. Try it and save money.

ESTABLISHED 1879.
WOODWARD & Co
Minneapolis. GRAIN COMMISSION. Duluth
BRANCH—CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE.
Orders for Future Delivery Executed in All Markets.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 9, 1896. NUMBER 6.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

People in Print.

While weeping over the grave of her husband in St. Boniface cemetery, Chicago, Mrs. Frankie Alkobsei, an aged woman, fell dead.

The X rays have shown that the tibia and femur in Justice Stephen J. Field's knee have almost grown together, and that the hinge has partially solidified.

Gov. Levi P. Moton of New York has determined to reside in New York City after the expiration of his tenure of the governorship on the 1st of January. It is said he will reside on the east side of Central park, in what is known as the millionaire colony.

Daniel Spraker, president of the Mohawk River bank, died of pneumonia at Fonda, N. Y., aged ninety-eight. Mr. Spraker was probably the oldest bank president in the United States. He was the last of six brothers of the old historic Spraker family of Sprakers, N. Y.

A great lady of the second empire has just died in Paris, the widow of the Duc de Morny, Napoleon III.'s foreign minister. She was a Russian princess, Trobetzkoi, and after Morny's death married the Spanish Duke de Sesto. She was the mother of the present Duc de Morny, who married Guzman Blanco's daughter.

Casualties.

Ivy Baldwin, the well known balloonist, was seriously if not fatally hurt by falling from his balloon at Denver.

While playing Indian at Meriden, Conn., William Benizger, Jr., 16 years old, of 366 Pratt street, was shot in the breast with an arrow, and may die as a result.

Lightning struck the house of Richard Tunney at Cadillac, Mich., instantly killing two children and wrecking the house. The children, a boy and girl, aged 7 and 10, were sleeping near a chimney.

A fatal wreck to passenger train No. 1 on the Atlantic & Pacific occurred at Williams, N. M. Fred Downs, the engineer, was badly scalded and Frank Flickinger, the fireman, was caught under the engine and killed almost instantly.

Joseph Ballard, aged 54, and head sawyer at Moody & Sons' saw mill at Muncie, Ind., had his brains crushed out while at his post of duty. His head was caught between the carriage and a heavy timber.

Joseph Futka was instantly killed and another fatally injured in a runaway at Shenandoah, Pa. Six others were hurt, one seriously. They were all in a double carriage, which was descending a steep mountain road when the runaway occurred. The party was returning from a funeral.

The Jack Crawford who was killed in the Swank mining district in the Cascade mountains is not the "poet scout." The dead miner had been a scout, but was not the famous poet scout, although Swank camp miners generally did not distinguish him from the poet, as he resembled him.

Evil Doings.

Norman Allen, known as the "cattle king" of Florida, was ambushed and killed.

At Detroit, Mich., Frank Beaubien, aged forty, shot and mortally wounded his wife, attempted to kill his two children, and then blew his brains out.

Reports from Camp Hill, Ala., indicate that a miniature race was is in progress there. Some officers arrested several negroes and started with them to jail. A large body of negro sympathizers attacked the officers.

Prince Augustine Yturbide of Mexico was the defendant in police court at Washington, D. C., on a charge of assault preferred by his valet, Thomas Carney, who claimed that for wages due him he received blows instead of cash.

Eddie Lee, the twelve-year-old son of William Lee of Saginaw, Mich., committed suicide recently by hanging himself. The unfortunate lad was a victim of the cigarette habit, and the act was performed while he was laboring under a fit of despondency.

H. H. Jewell of Mount Hope, Kan., committed suicide by shooting himself with a shotgun. He placed the muzzle of the gun against his abdomen, leaned over it and pulled the trigger with a stick. He leaves a wife and three children.

A state warrant has been issued for the arrest of "Paddy" Purtell, the pugilist who vanquished Jimmy Ryan of Cincinnati. He is charged with abandonment of his wife and baby, who are in destitute circumstances in Kansas City, Mo.

Elmer Buisson of Traverse City, Mich., went home, and, finding dinner not ready, spoke harshly to his sister. A young brother seized a large pair of shears and threw them at Elmer, piercing his abdomen and causing a would from which he died.

Reliable information has just been received at Sargent, Ky., from a remote section in Magoffin county, west of Salliersville, of a terrible hand-to-hand battle between two desperate factions, in which four men were killed outright, and two others seriously if not fatally injured.

One hundred and fifty squaw men and 300 full-blooded Indians and half-breeds had a battle in the streets of Wewoka, in the Seminole reservation, in the Indian Territory. In the fight two full-bloods and two half-breeds were killed and several were wounded on both sides.

Foreign Gossip.

The Armenians are determined to continue the agitation.

King Humbert of Italy, it is again reported, will abdicate.

The Spanish warship Isla de Cuba has been ordered to proceed to the Phillippine islands immediately.

The Bank of Montreal has ordered $500,000 in gold from Europe, making the total amount ordered, including gold arrived, $14,350,000.

An American is burned to death in Cuba by order of Weyler, because he had a Cuban newspaper in his possession.

According to Japanese advices Formosa continues in a state of rebellion against Japanese rule. Japanese forces are kept constantly busy in an endeavor to subdue the rebels.

The Turkish government is charged with full responsibility for the recent massacre of Armenians in Constantinople, and the time for the obliteration of the Turkish empire is thought to be near.

M. Alexander Felix Joseph Ribot, former premier of France, who for a number of years has been one of the most prominent figures in French politics, has arrived in New York from Paris.

Following the death of Prince Lobanoff-Rostovsky, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, the czar has summoned the deputy of the Russian minister for foreign affairs, M. Chickine, to Kief.

Edwin Harlan, a son of the former American consul of that name, who is residing at Dresden, has been serving as first lieutenant in the Seventh Uhlan regiment. After winning a long distance ride he was thrown from his horse near Saarburg, and died shortly afterward.

A brilliant military review in honor of the czar and czarina was given at Vienna. Emperor Francis Joseph led his own dragoon regiment before the czar and the latter then led the infantry regiment before the emperor. After the review the czar and czarina left for Kief.

A box containing ten pounds' worth of coppers fell off a dray in Northumberland avenue in London the other day when the street was crowded, scattering the coins in every direction. There was a rush made for the coins, but when a policeman asked for the money to be delivered up there was a general compliance, and, on counting it, the whole £10 was found without a copper missing.

London young women posing for the altogether do not meet with the approval of the examiners at South Kensington. In their last report they say: "The examiners regret to say that the standard of former years has not been maintained this year in the drawings from the life, especially when the female figure has been the subject. They continue urgently to recommend that better shaped and proportioned models should be set before the students."

Miscellaneous.

Seattle banks will retaliate on Canadian banks for discounting the money of the United States.

Two more foreign insurance companies have announced their withdrawal from the Pacific coast owing to poor business.

The Turner Worsted company's mills of Cleveland, which have been closed down for some time past and which usually employed between 400 and 500 hands, have resumed operations.

A disease closely resembling and supposed to be Texas fever is rapidly killing the cattle at Wilton Junction, Iowa. It is confined to a region near the stock yards. A rigid quarantine has been established.

The 1,000 or more ex-railroad employes of Cincinnati who have been on the black list for participation in the Debs strike and who have been unable since to secure employment have been called to take action to induce the railroad companies to reinstate them.

The annual report of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad company for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1896, has just been issued. The gross earnings were $7,551,186.59, an increase of $634,346.03 over the preceding year.

The state department has received the report of the governor of Louisiana on the recent lynchings in that state. The report will not be given out for publication, but will be transmitted to the Italian authorities.

The chamber of commerce, board of trade and Mayor Sutro of San Francisco have sent an official invitation to Li Hung Chang through the Chinese consul general here to a reception at the hall of the chamber of commerce should he pass through San Francisco.

At Cleveland, Ohio, the Knights of Pythias' supreme lodge refused the request for the restoration of the German ritual by a vote of 106 to 8. The request was only made by a few lodges. At the morning session to-day a new ritual for the uniform rank was finally adopted.

C. A. Kink & Co.'s annual crop report says clover seed in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan will be about two-thirds of a full crop, with quality nearly an average. The majority of farmers are disposed to sell freely early. One-third of the wheat left will be unfit for milling.

Li Hung Chang, the Chinese statesman, and suite, visited Grant's tomb in Riverside Park. He deposited a wreath of white, purple, and yellow flowers, which signify death and fame, on the stone coffin which holds Gen. Grant's remains. Earl Li was profoundly touched, and stood for twenty minutes reverently by the sarcophagus.

Joseph H. C. Swan, "the sage of the Whitewater," in Kansas, widely known for his correct forecast of the St. Louis cyclone and other meteorological phenomena, makes the following prediction: "The winter of 1896-97 will be very long and cold, with much snow in all localities where snow is a factor."

Gov. Altgeld opened the political campaign at Girard, Ill. Delegations were present from many other cities, and farmers for twenty miles around. A processions of marching clubs, 5,000 strong, escorted him to the public square, where he addressed an audience of between 15,000 and 20,000 people.

Another method of preserving timber has recently been tried. It consists in dissolving in naphtha the heavy oils and waxes left after the distillation of petroleum and forcing the solution into the seasoned timber in the same manner as in creosoting. The timber is then heated, when the naphtha evaporates and is recovered in a cooling chamber, while the waxes, etc., remain behind in the wood, waterproofing it

TO BURN KEY WEST

AN ALLEGED SPANISH PLOT IS BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Gen. Weyler Is Said to Have Countenanced a Plot to Burn Key West, Fla., the Hotbed of the Insurgents, and Thus End the War—The Town of Coscarre, Cuba, Is Burned by Insurgents.

New ork, Sept. 9.—A special from Key West to the World says: A letter was received from Havana last night by the steamer Mascotte containing information that the Spanish authorities are plotting the destruction of Key West. A similar report reached here several days ago, but at the time it was not generally believed. The letter was written by a Cuban in Havana to a friend in this city. The writer says that a few days ago he went to the government office in Havana and was informed by a friend employed there that Spanish authorities had determined "to burn Key West and annihilate that nest of insurgent snakes." The plan of the Spaniards is to send emissaries to Key West in the guise of Cuban sympathizers who are to fire the city in as many places as possible when opportunity arrives. It is said that Capt. Gen. Weyler is cognizant of the plan and approves of it. He is reported to have said that if Key West and Tampa were laid in ashes he would soon be able to settle the rebellion. It is said that in the event of the success of the plot Weyler has ordered that the emissaries be paid $10,000.

The people are so wrought up that it is feared that an attack may be made on Senor Cruz, the Spanish consul, and his assistant, Senor Fernandez. It was reported to-day that these gentlemen, becoming alarmed for their safety, had gone on board the United States revenue cutter Winona and demanded protection and that they were told to remain on the vessel until the excitement died out. The citizens have determined to form a vigilance committee and every person who cannot give a good account of himself will be forced to leave the city.

Coscorre Destroyed.

New York, Sept. 8.—The Herald this morning publishes the following special correspondence from Palmarita, Cuba, under date of Aug. 30: Coscorre is in ruins and another step has been taken toward the ultimate expulsion of Spanish troops from Cuba. The forces of Rose and Pena have laid waste the entire heart of the town, leaving the occupants homeless. The inmates of Coscorre's fort are now in a pretty bad way, no food of any kind being allowed to enter the place. Coscorre is a small place, but important from the fact that it was a relay for troops marching between the cities of Puerto Principe and Guaymare.

ELECTION IN ARK.

The Entire State Democratic Ticket Is Elected.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 9.—Gen. Daniel W. Jones of Little Rock was elected governor of Arkansas and the entire state ticket has been successful at the polls. There were but two full tickets in the field, the Democratic and the Republican, the Populists contenting themselves with a candidate for governor. Gen. Jones and Mr. Remmel, the Republican candidate, made an active canvass of the state, but Files, the Populist nominee, made no speeches. The Democrats put forth special efforts to roll up a large majority in this election for its moral effect on the free silver cause in other states in November, and ante-election estimates have placed Jones' majority as high as 50,000 over combined opposition.

In Little Rock interest in the election centered on the liquor license question. Never before in the history of the city had there been such a campaign against license. The religious element, the W. C. T. U. and the ministers especially have been busily engaged for more than a month in the effort to down license and were joined in the movement by the Republicans who hoped in defeating license to break up the so-called Pulaski county Democratic ring. Two big mass meetings were held by the Prohibitionists the day before election and prayer meetings were held every hour during the election in all the city churches.

Enough returns have been received to indicate that license has carried by a small majority and that the regular Democratic ticket in this county has carried by about the usual majority.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 9.—The Commercial-Appeal's Little Rock correspondent telegraphs that the Democratic majority in Arkansas will reach 60,000. This is a Democratic gain of more than 35,000 as compared with the gubernatorial election two years ago, and the largest majority ever given in the state.

Through a Trestle.

Clinton, Mo., Sept. 9.—A locomotive on the Kansas City, Osceola & Southern railroad crashed through a burning trestle across Town creek this morning, instantly killing Engineer Ed Smith and Richard Barter, a farmer. Four other men escaped by jumping. Farmer Barter had discovered the fire, ran to the round house and gave the alarm and boarded the locomotive that started for the fire. Engineer Smith lost control of his engine and ran onto the trestle that was on fire.

Attache Dead.

London, Sept. 9.—Sir Joeeph Archer Crowe, the commercial attache of Great Britain at Paris, is dead. He was born in 1840 and was formerly consul general at Leipsic and Dusseldorf and commercial attache at Berlin and Vienna.

Shot by a Jealous Coachman.

New York, Sept. 9.—The World this morning says: William Moran, coachman for Judge Wandell, at his summer home in Saddle Rock, N. J., shot and killed Mr. Dowling of New York, a guest of the Wandells and then committed suicide yesterday afternoon. It is said that Mr. Dowling was the favorite suitor of one of Judge Wandell's daughters. The coachman, who had long been in the family and who was not treated like other servants, is said to have gone mad in love for the same young woman.

LABOR DAY OFF.

Workmen Throughout the United States Celebrate.

Chicago, Sept. 9—The labor organizations of Chicago celebrated Labor day with a parade in which probably 40,000 men participated, practically every trades union in the city being represented. The weather was ideal, and the streets were thronged at an early hour by the sons of toil and their families. Shops and factories were generally closed in recognition of the workingman's holiday, and all public offices, the board of trade and many down town stores remained closed all day. The chief attraction of the day was the speech of William J. Bryan at Sharpshooters' Park. There was also speaking at Ogden's Grove by prominent labor leaders.

Cleveland Is Loyal.

Cleveland, Sept. 9.—Labor day in this city was celebrated by a monster parade of working men in which it was estimated that from 10,000 to 15,000 persons took part. A feature of the demonstration was a number of marchers representing colored slaves and tramps, illustrating their views of the present condition of the workingman. Among the transparencies carried was one which reads: "When Will Capital and Labor Get Togther?" and another "We Still Live." An immense float carried a big picture of William J. Bryan, which was festooned with American flags.

At Kansas City.

Kansas City, Sept. 9.—The Labor day parade in Kansas City exceeded that of past days in number and merit. The parade, with over 5,000 workingmen in line, marched through the streets in the morning, beautiful weather aiding in making it successful. All business was suspended and the streets were lined with people. At two of the parks games and political speechmaking completed the programme. Among the speakers were Gov. Morrill of Kansas, State Labor Commissioner Bird, R. E. Lewis, Republican candidate for governor of Missouri, and several minor candidates.

Milwaukee in Line.

Milwaukee, Sept. 9. — The workingmen of Milwaukee laid aside their tools of trade and appeared in gala attire. The weather was favorable for marching and the parade in the forenoon was voted a success. Grand Marshal Frank Miller stated that he thought he had about 7,000 or 8,000 men in line. Not a single banner of a political nature was displayed and there were none bearing upon the special rights or demands of workingmen except two or three.

At the Nation's Capital.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Labor day was celebrated here with the usual street parade and picnics and excursions by the several union organizations. The weather was perfect and an unusual number of sporting and other events served to bring out large crowds. Two games of base ball with the St. Louis team, a number of bicycle races at the International Park and two circus performances furnished entertainment for many thousands.

McKinley Decorates.

Canton, Sept. 9.—There was no formal Labor day demonstration in Canton, although there was a general cessation of work. Organized labor of Canton joined in the demonstrations in nearby cities. Many buildings about the city are decorated. About the first and most notable decoration in honor of the day was made at the McKinley home. It was a magnificent American flag set flying to the breeze with the earliest morning sunbeams. A telephone message received at the McKinley home from the Chicago national Republican headquarters announced that when the Labor day parade passed the Auditorium there was great cheering for McKinley. The Ohio Republican editors will visit Canton to-morrow and pay their respects to Maj. McKinley.

Listen to Speeches.

St. Paul, Sept. 9.—St. Paul and Minneapolis union laborers had a picnic at White Bear. The most interesting event was the speech of Labor Commissioner L. G. Powers for the gold standard, and Sidney M. Owen for silver. Both gentlemen delivered magnificent addresses and received the very closest attention from those assembled.

New York, Sept. 9. — Business was generally suspended and workshops and factories were closed, but there was no procession to mark the recurrence of Labor day in this city. Those who were released from their customary toil spent the day for the most part in the parks, in excursions, or as spectators at the ball games, rowing regattas, horse races or athletic contests which took place in or near the city. Practically the same conditions existed in Brooklyn. In Yonkers the day was made notable by the laying of the corner stone of the Holywood Inn building, a structure which is to cost about $120,000, and which is designed to supply the workingmen a place of resort which shall be more attractive than the saloons.

Dog Show in Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 9.—The dog show at the industrial exposition this year excels that of former years not only in point of numbers, but in quality of animals. The show of St. Bernards is very good, the Belle Isle kennels of Detroit being well represented. A number of handsome toy spaniels are shown by Mrs. Lee of Alto kennels, Detroit.

Coming to America.

Cork, Sept. 9.—At a meeting of the local amnesty committee here it was arranged to send Albert G. Whitehead to America in charge of his brother on the Majestic which sails Thursday. The committee opened a fund to raise 100 pounds with which to meet Mr. Whitehead's expenses. There were many donations. Whitehead is quiet to-day.

Veteran Is Found.

St. Paul, Sept. 9. — Casper Ulmer, who came up with the Missouri delegation to the encampment and who disappeared from the Metropolitan hotel Sept. 2, was heard from last night. A telegram received by a gentleman living at 284 West Seventh street, stated that he was in Madison, Wis., with friends. Mr. Ulmer is seventy years of age and his disappearance had caused much anxiety to his friends and trouble to the police, who have searched every part of the city to find him.

DOUBLE LYNCHING

SHERIFF ROGERS' MURDERERS ARE HANGED AT GLENCOE, MINN.

A Mob of Masked Men Breaks Into the Jail, Bind the Jailor and Guard and Secure Musgrove and Cingmars—The Prisoners Plead for Their Lives, but Are Hustled to the Edge of Town and Hanged From a Bridge on the Road to the Scene of Their Crime.

Glencoe, Minn., Sept. 8.—The murder of Joseph Rogers has been avenged and the perpetrators of that horrible crime last June have been made to suffer the extreme penalty. Their bodies are now lying at the city hall, cold in death, and their lives were taken by a revengful mob of friends of the murdered man.

Between the hours of 12 and 1 Saturday night Jailer Waddell was aroused from his slumbers by a gentle rap at his door, and, opening it, a crowd of masked men, probably thirty in number, confronted him and forced their way into the residence portion of the jail. They then demanded the keys and were refused, but in order to avoid serious consequences the keys to the corridor were finally turned over to the determined mob. The jailer refused to obey the demand to open the doors and was finally tied down to a chair while the mob proceeded to break the locks to the cages. After accomplishing this they seized the prisoners, ordered them to dress hastily, and in spite of their pitiful requests to be given an opportunity to say a few words, were gagged and taken away. The jailer immediately gave the alarm by notifying Sheriff Sandman, who in turn notified Coroner Miles, and a search was immediately begun. A short time later the bodies were found crossing Buffalo creek, on the road which leads to the scene of the crime. The bodies were not yet entirely stiff, having apparently been hanging less than an hour. The body of Cingmars was hanging on the east side and that of Musgrove on the west, exactly as they stood when the murder was committed. The bodies were raised to the bridge by the sheriff and coroner and taken to the city hall, where they were prepared for burial. The rope used was an inch rope and the drop was something like fifteen feet. Their necks were broken by the fall. When found their feet were hanging in the water about a foot. No marks of violence were found on the bodies.

Hanging From the Bridge

The two men, Jailor Waddell and Guard Hopps, who were overpowered, are in a terrible state of mind over their experience, and were so excited at the time that they were unable to give any description of the men who comprised the mob. All wore black masks and none but the leader spoke. The locks were broken off the cages with a sledge hammer. The best people in the city are loud in their denunciation of the act, and while all agree that the men should have been made to suffer the extreme penalty, they were in favor of letting the law take its course. The action of the mob is being severely criticised by the residents and the feeling against mob law is severe. An inquest will be held over the remains to-morrow. The mother of Cingmars is here and the relatives of both men have been notified, but have not yet been heard from. Musgrove was found guilty of murder in the second degree, while Cingmars had had no trial.

Jailor Waddell's Story.

Jailor Edward Waddell told his story to a reporter as follows:

"I heard a knock at the door of my living rooms between 12 and 1 o'clock. I went and opened the door, and in walked a lot of big, strong men with black cloth masks on their faces. They demanded me to open the door leading into the jail corridor, and when I refused the leader of the party, a large, heavy man, proceeded to break down the iron door with a sledge hammer. I told him not to break the door, as I was afraid the night watch on the inside would shoot when the door gave way. He then took me by the shoulder and told me to get the keys at once, and I started after them, the leader pushing me along with one hand and holding the sledge in the other hand. After I got the keys they tied my hands behind me and then proceeded to unlock the cage, but when the cells were reached the keys could not be found that fitted the large locks, and the leader smashed them with his sledge. The night watch, Adolph Hopps, was pushed into one corner of the jail and held there by several of the party. I said to the mob: 'Men, think over what you are going to do. The day will come when you will regret your actions here to-night. Let the law take its course,' but no pleadings of mine could stop the determined mob. After the mob reached the cell the prisoners were told to dress hurriedly, and I hope I may never live to witness such a terrible sight again. The two men prayed and begged piteously, but they were not allowed to open their mouths, and were gagged, and a cloth tied over their heads. In leading the prisoners out, as they passed me, they tried to tell me something, but the only word I could hear was 'Mother,' from Cingmars. After the mob passed out, and as soon as I was untied by the night watch I gave the alarm to the sheriff."

June 25 Dorman Musgrove of Kentucky and C. A. Cingmars of Rhinelander, Wis., killed Sheriff Joseph Rogers while he was attempting to arrest them for assaulting a farmer. An attempt was made to lynch them and a company of militia was sent from St. Paul to protect them. The men were taken to St. Paul for safe keeping until the trial last week. They were granted separate trials and Musgrove was Saturday convicted of murder in the second degree.

Elevator and Cars Burned.

Springfield, Minn., Sept. 8. — The Sleepy Eye Milling company's elevator at Cobden has been burned. Several freight cars belonging to the Chicago & Northwestern road, standing on the siding near the elevator, were also burned. The origin of the fire is thought to have been incendiary. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

FATAL TO FIREMEN.

Disastrous and Fatal Fire at Benton Harbor, Mich.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 8.—The most horrible holocaust with great loss of life that has ever occurred in this part of the state occurred last night at midnight when Yore's opera house took fire and in the fight to save the building and other blocks adjoining eleven firemen, one a volunteer, met their fate at one fell swoop, the death being instantaneous with five of them; six lived only a few hours in awful agony while several others met with severe bruises and burns. During the evening the play "A Factory Girl" had been given by local talent and had closed but half an hour before fire was discovered. St. Joseph was called on for assistance at the outset, they approaching the building through an alley, unloading ladders in the rear of the building, and while hoisting them the upper walls fell over without a second's warning, covering the men, which was witnessed by hundreds of spectators.

The following were killed: Frank Watson of St. Joe, legs broken, skull crushed; leaves a widow. John Hoffman, Benton Harbor, crushed; leaves widow and five children. Thomas Kidd, Benton Harbor, unmarried; was killed by live wires. Frank Woodley, Benton Harbor, killed by live wires; leaves a widow and three children. Ed H. Gange, St. Joe, drayman, head crushed, legs broken. Scott Rice, bell boy at the Benton hotel, skull fractured, internal injuries; lived but few minutes. Will I. Mitten, Benton Harbor, both legs fractured, internal injuries, lived two hours; leaves widow and seven children. Louis Hoffman, Benton Harbor, head smashed, thigh crushed; widower, leaves two small children. Arthur C. Hill, St. Joe, foreman St. Joe Hose company, legs broken, terribly burned; lived one hour. Frank S. Eaver, St. Joe, leg broken, badly cut and burned; lived three hours. Robert L. Rofe, St. Joe, compound fracture left leg, burned; lived one hour.

The injured: John A. Crawford, ex-chief Benton Harbor fire department, overcome by heat and smoke, burned about head; will recover. Will Freund, St. Joe, cut about head. Frank Paget, St. Joe, leg bruised by falling brick.

Frank Woodley and Thomas Kidd were on top of adjoining buildings with hose when they encountered live electric wires, on which they were hanging when found. Policeman Charles Johnson narrowly escaped, as falling bricks tore half his coat off, while another was protected by a telephone pole.

An Arrest Made.

The cause of the fire is a mystery: several theories from a cigar stub to a lamp explosion, are given. Guy Prescott is under arrest as being one who knows of the origin, but when asked by a reporter of the cause, remarked that "he was not going to give anybody away," assuming that he was in possession of facts that caused his detention.

The building was comparatively new, having been erected seven years ago at a cost of $40,000 by Patrick Yore, a wealthy farmer, who had since leased it to J. A. Simon, who has had charge for six years. A two-story brick block owned by Joseph Frisk, which stood adjoining, was demolished by the opera house walls falling on top and crashing through to the basement without apparent resistance. The Opera block was occupied by the Evening News, S. M. Austin's bakery, J. Bernstein's clothing store, John Holmes' barber shop and fruit packing in the basement. The Frisk block was used for retail boot and shoe business and dwelling. The buildings and stocks destroyed, with losses, are as follows:

Opera house block, loss $40,000, insurance $19,000; Evening News plant $4,000, insurance $2,500; J. Bernstein $3,000, no insurance; S. M. Austin $300, no insurance; Holmes $100, no insurance; J. M. Frisk, loss $7,000, insurance $3,000; J. N. Herr, grocery store across the alley, damage to building and stock, $1,200; fully insured. A large quantity of stage scenery belonging to Harry Emery, of the Katie Putnam company, J. Simon and W. C. Hocks, was destroyed, with no insurance.

TRAIN WRECKED.

A Number of People Injured, Two Fatally.

English, Ind., Sept. 8.—An excursion train from St. Louis was wrecked at Taswell this morning, either from a worn rail at a curve or from the spreading of the rails. The baggage car and three coaches jumped the track and rolled down an embankment. The fatally injured are John Gibson and William Kane, St. Louis.

Seriously Injured—J. W. Connogpey, Chris Hendrick, William Thomas Murray, Jacob Miller, John L. Tassie, W. J. White, St. Louis; Mrs. F. B. Jordan, East St. Louis; W. J. Porter, Louisville, Ky.

A great many others were hurt. E. A. Allen, a farmer passing at the moment on horseback, was thrown by the frightened animal which jumped on his breast with probable fatal results.

Sons of Veterans.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 8. The encampment of Sons of Veterans, which begins in this city this week, is expected to be one of the most successful ever held by that organization. Unusually low rates from all directions have been secured, and as these rates apply to visitors as well as the actual participants, a large attendance is assured.

Interview With Bryan.

London, Sept. 8.—The Chronicle publishes a dispatch from Milwaukee containing an interview with Mr. Bryan in which he says: "I feel certain of carrying New York State, and have never had a doubt about my election."

Missing Man Found.

Cork, Sept. 8.—Alfred George Whitehead, the recently released political prisoner who mysteriously disappeared from his home at Skibbereen on Aug. 25, the day after his release from prison, has been found here.

Pettigrew Called.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota was among the callers at Democratic headquarters today. He left for Springfield where he speaks to-day.

THE FUN IS OVER

VISITORS TO THE TWIN CITIES ARE RETURNING HOME.

The G. A. R. Encampment at St. Paul, the K. P. Encampment and Carnival of Ceres at Minneapolis and the State Fair Were a Success—Gen. T. S. Clarkson of Omaha Chosen Commander-in-Chief.

St. Paul, Sept. 6. — The week of pleasure in the Twin Cities is over and nearly all of the visitors have departed. Many of the visitors who came from a distance and expect to remain some time are now making excursions to different points of interest around St. Paul and Minneapolis. The G. A. R. encampment at St. Paul, the Knights of Pythias encampment and Carnival of Ceres at Minneapolis and the state fair have been a great success, and the 250,000 or 300,000 visitors to the Twin Cities were sent away happy.

The last session of the G. A. R. convention was called to order at 10 a. m. After the preliminary business was disposed of the chair declared nominations for the several officers to be in order.

The candidates were then presented. Delegate Coggswell of North Dakota presented the name of Mr. Linehan in a strong speech, and the nomination was seconded by a New York delegate. Brown of North Dakota nominated Rear Admiral Meade. Col. Spooner of Rhode Island made the nominating speech for Mr. Ballou. Clarkson's name was presented by Judge M. L. Hayward of Nebraska. The name of Judge Given of Iowa was withdrawn by his delegation. Senior Vice Commander Hobson's name was also presented by one of the delegates from Kentucky. When the nominating speeches were finished and preparations were being made for a ballot there was general surprise when the announcement was made that Mr. Linehan's name would be withdrawn. Then, as it appeared that a concerted movement had been decided upon for the withdrawal of all candidates except Mr. Clarkson, there was general applause.

The chairman announced that the only candidate before the convention was Comrade Clarkson of Nebraska. A motion was at once made that Mr. Clarkson be elected by acclamation. This was done with a whoop and Mr. Clarkson was declared unanimously elected.

Gen. Mullen Senior Vice.

The next business in order was the selection of a senior vice commander-in-chief. On motion, there being no other candidates, Gen. John H. Mullen of, Wabasha, Minn., was declared unanimously elected. The convention went into the nominations for junior vice commander, surgeon general and chaplain-in-chief, and after the ballots had been cast and counted the result was declared as follows:

Junior vice commander, C. W. Buckley, Alabama; surgeon general, Rev. A. E. Johnson, Washington, D. C.; chaplain-in-chief, Rev. Mark A. Taylor, Massachusetts. The commander-in-chief announced the appointment of C. E. Burmester of Omaha as adjutant general.

The committee on resolutions reported, and the convention indorsed, as a substitute for various resolutions offered in regard to the utterances of President Elliott, of Harvard college, that while they emphatically condemned his unworthy and untruthful statements, they would not dignify them by formal resolution.

It was favorably reported and the convention indorsed a resolution asking a preference to capable ex-soldies in government appointment; also one urging on congress the justice and propriety of conferring on Gen. Miles the rank of lieutenant general; also a resolution indorsing a proposed park at Vicksburg; also a national park at the battlefield of Fredericksburg; recommending the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address as a part of the exercises on Memorial day. The encampment then adjourned.

The New Commander.

Thaddeus Stevens Clarkson of Omaha was born at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1840. He was educated three miles from the great battlefield of Antietam. He enlisted April 16, 1861, within two hours after President Lincoln's call for 75,000 men for three months, in Company A, First Illinois artillery. He went to Cairo, served under Gen. Grant there; re-enlisted for the war July 16, 1861; was promoted Dec. 1, 1861, to adjutant of the Thirteenth Illinois cavalry; served with that regiment and on the staff of Gen. John W. Davidson, participating in battles with that commander on the march to Helena and Little Rock, Ark. He was assigned to command it during the Arkansas campaign. In August, 1863, he assisted in raising the Third Arkansas cavalry of Union white men of that state, was promoted to major, and commanded the regiment until nearly the close of the war, participating in nearly all of the battles in Arkansas under Gen. Steele.

The W. R. C.

At the W. R. C. convention Mrs. Smith of Indiana, in an eloquent speech, nominated Mrs. Hitt of Indianapolis for the office of national president. Delegations arose so rapidly in all directions to second the nomination that the convention was thrown into confusion. Mrs. Martin of Missouri was named as a candidate, but she withdrew in favor of Mrs. Hitt, and moved that the nominations close. It was a graceful thing to do, and met with ready appreciation. Her motion to make the election unanimous was carried by a rising vote, and after the ballot was cast Mrs. Martin presented Mrs. Hitt to the convention amid thunderous applause, and Mrs. Hitt responded in a feeling manner. Mrs. Cummings of Pennsylvania nominated Mrs. Marie Hazenwinkle of St. Paul for senior vice president, and she was elected by acclamation.

The ladies of the G. A. R. elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Mrs. C. E. Hirst, Louisville, Ky., reelected president; senior vice president, Mrs. A. T. Anderson, Minnesota; junior vice president, Mrs. Mason, Nebraska; treasurer, Mrs. Flora George, Washington; chaplain, Mrs. Thankful, Massachusetts.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday. $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

TO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:51 am
6:51 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pas. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 9, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON, of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.

For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.

For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Hennepin

For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON, Polk.

For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES. St. Louis.

Presidential Electors—
T. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H. H. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kelliher; Charles D'Autrement; Hans B. Bjorge; James Dillon.

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives—
S. J. LEE........ Norman County
G. O. GILBERTSON,
W. A. MARIN........ Polk County

PROSPERITY IN MEXICO.

The following letter was written to the New York World by Otto Heckelman, a resident of Mexico City, and will be of interest to those who are desirous of comparing Mexico's condition fairly with that of the United States:

"The writer is a resident and engaged in business in the City of Mexico. He was driven out of the great west of his native country—the United States—on account of the depression and misery brought about by the demonetization of silver. He cannot refrain, therefore, from furnishing a few facts and figures to show that the great New York World has been misled about the effect of silver monometallism in Mexico.

"True, Mexico is today on a free silver basis, but instead of misery and depression she presents to the world a condition of conspicuous prosperity unprecedented in her history.

"Her silver dollar is worth but 53 cents in gold countries, but that same silver dollar is worth 100 cents at home, and buys as much of the native products of her soil as it ever did.

What has been the effect of the gold standard countries treating Mexico's dollar as bullion and refusing to receive it except at bullion value [fifty-three cents] to-day? It has increased her exports and decreased her imports. It has placed her on a basis of industrial independence. It has resulted in an influx of foreign capital to develope her immense interior resources. It has caused manufacturing, mercantile and other industrial enterprises to spring up all over the country, which have given employment to thousands of hitherto idle workmen and afforded them an opportunity to raise themselves from the level of a common Mexican peon and make mechanics, machinists, engineers and skilled artisans out of themselves, and it has afforded Mexico an opportunity to produce on her own soil such articles as these gold standard countries refuse to sell her, except at an enormous premium of 85 to 100 per cent, and she is silently taking advantage of it.

"Has Mexico been clamorint for a recognition of an international metal ratio with other countries? No. She quitely goes on in her march of progress and sells these gold standard countries more of her products than ever and buys less of theirs, and all this on a silver basis. Her mines are being opened, smelters and mills are being erected to market her lead, iron, copper, silver and gold and her already great railroad system is being expanded to connect the Atlantic with the Pacific. Even such wealthy and shrewd American corporations as the great "Calumet" and Hecla Mining Co., with their forty-five millions controlled by an English syndicate, after paying dividends of a like amount, are now seeking to invest the bulk of this enormous capital in Mexico.

"Does the New York World call this a picture of misery and despair?

"Now, as to prices of living, rent, etc., under the silver standard. A first-class hotel room can be had at the Jardin, Iturbide or Guardiola, three of the leading hotels in the city, at $1.50 per day and meals at their respective restaurants at $1.50 per day, or $1 per day by the month.

"Sugar, flour, corn, milk, eggs, meat, coffee and all similar articles produced in Mexico costs about the same as in New York, dollar for dollar. Sugar, for instance, costs eight cents a pound. On canned goods and all staples imported from the states and other gold standard countries, if people here prefer them to home products, of course they have got to pay the freight, duty and gold premium.

"In another question the World says that it costs the Mexican laborer more to live than it costs the laborer in the states. His wages on an average are lower, but I will prove to you that it costs him less and that he lives better.

"The bread in Mexico is the 'tortilla,' made of corn. For one cent the laborer can get three fine hot tortillas the size of a big American pan cake, enough for a meal. This tortilla is by no means to be found on the table of the poor alone, but the rich and President Diaz have them served regularly. The bean comes next. The good, wholesome, nutritious, brown 'frijole,' cooked in any style, the laborer can get all he can eat for two cents. This is the potato of Mexico, and everybody eats them, including foreigners, and they wind up the meal at every hotel and restaurant in the city. For three cents the laborer gets enough meat to cook a fine sopa (soup) seasoned with vegetables and rice (caldo) and after he has consumed that and wishes to be extravagent, two cents worth of fruit will fill him up.

"Coffee and milk are as cheap as in the states, but the laborer prefers and drinks pulque, the national drink of the country, and found on the table of the poor and rich alike. It is a medicinal beverage of inestimable value in kidney diseases. For one cent a large glass, and if the laborer feels like getting on a spree, five glasses will put him to sleep for twenty-four hours. Put three glasses in front of a Mexican, one of pulque at 1 cent, one of beer at 10 cents and one of champaign at $1 and ask him to help himself and take his choice and he will jump at the pulque every time. He needs no luxuries imported from gold standard countries at 85 per cent premium and wants none. Thus for 13 cents the laborer in Mexico can get a good wholesome meal and a jag thrown, which the laborer couldn't get in the states for $13.

"Will the New York World volunteer to publish this for the benefit of American laborers? Will it take facts and figures from American business men in Mexico, who are on the ground and know whereof they speak, or do they prefer articles from the Minister to Columbia, who holds his tenure under a gold standard administration at Washington; and dare not speak the truth and uphold the silver cause? Let us hope not. The greatest American newspaper says it is open to argument and invites discussion from the people of the common ranks on this great question of the day, and must and will publish the truth, and we firmly believe and predict that before the campaign has progressed much further. The World will be found on the side of the people, pulling for Bryan and the platform he represents, not only in support of the silver doctrine, but demanding as does that platform that the wealthy as well as the poor shall bear the just burdens of our great government by paying an income tax on a basis of equity and equality.

Counterfeit Dollars.

And it has come to this. The Daily Financial News of New York in its issue of August 26th, makes this broad charge:

"It now turns out that the Mexican dollars which have been so generously distributed as "object lessons" against silver are counterfeit dollars, made by British machinery and shipped to Florida, where they were bought up for political purposes. The Mexican government is after the counterfeiters. John Bull is a very shifty campaigner in America, and backs his interests."

It has been noticeable that all the so called Mexican dollars in circulation are bran new, but nobody for a moment supposed that the gold cause required the use of counterfeit money. If this be true, it must be in very shaky condition indeed.

John Bull's object lesson in counterfeit dollars is an insult to the intelligence and honesty of the American people. It is proof that British greed is back of McKinley's campaign.—The Winona Herald.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

How Is This?

The following is an extract from an English paper, the Newcastle Chronicle, Newcastle England:

"The American Eagle is dead. Independence is dead. England rules the United States with a firmer grip then she did a century and a quarter ago. Monometallism does the business. You Yankees dare not demonetize until England says so. Brittania rules the U. S. and the rest of the world. Where now is American freedom? The Yankees are afraid to say their souls are their own. Without Englands consent. Squirm ye Yankees! Squirm and bear it. John Bull has got you where he wants you, and on a monometallic basis does the business."

—Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a specialty from now until after election.

Smallpox Disseminated Among Indians by a White Man.

"Cracker" John Ferris, the veteran stagedriver, who in the early fifties drove the stage on the overland route between Independence, Mo., and Santa Fe, in relating some of his interesting experiences to a group of friends the other day, told this story, says a Fort Bliss (Tex.) correspondent of the New York World:

"The smallpox outbreak among the Comanche Indians in the year 1855," he said, "caused a great stir throughout the western country. I carried the first news of that devastating plague to the outside world. I was making one of my trips when I stopped at a small trading post on the Neosho river. Great excitement prevailed because of an outbreak of smallpox among the Indians, who thickly populated that section. Hundreds of the redskins had died.

"Smallpox had up to that time been an unknown disease among these Indians, and the outbreak was the result of one of the most terrible schemes of revenge I have ever seen recorded. In the spring of 1855 two young men, whose names I have forgotten, went out to the plains for the purpose of spending a few months. The object of the trip was for the benefit of the health of one of them. They reached Council Grove and resolved to remain there a short time. They decided to get a taste of buffalo hunting. They left Council Grove early one morning on a two weeks' hunt. They were mounted on good horses, which soon attracted the covetous eyes of straggling bands of Indians.

"On the third day they came upon a large herd of buffalo and had an exciting chase. The invalid young man killed one of the animals and had dismounted to view his prize when a big, strapping Indian rode out of a clump of trees, shot the white man and scalped him. The companion of the murdered man saw the horrible crime, and thinking that a similar fate awaited him put spurs to his horse and headed for Council Grove. He was closely pursued by the Indian. The white man escaped and reached Council Grove in an exhausted condition. The companion of the murdered man vowed to have revenge upon the whole tribe for the foul deed which one of the members had committed, and he kept his vow.

"He returned to his home and learned that the hospital there contained several cases of smallpox. He made the acquaintance of one of the attendants of the hospital and induced the latter to sell him a number of blankets which had been used to cover the smallpox patients. He then boxed the blankets and shipped them to Council Grove. He went out and distributed them among the Indians. The disease spread rapidly, and they died by the score.

"The young man who brought out and distributed the blankets remained at Council Grove until he saw the outbreak of smallpox fairly started and then returned to his home. The United States government set on foot an investigation as to the cause of the outbreak, and it was discovered to lie in the blankets brought from the east. A large reward was offered for the arrest of the young man, but he left the country as soon as he found that he was wanted. He never returned, so far as I know."

Had His Picture Taken.

I have had my picture taken. It was my second offense, my first sin having gone out of print. Mr. Ball took my picture, and Mr. Rindahl cured it. They did the best they could by me. Mr. Ball has the reputation of being very good in difficult cases. He worked hard with me, and I feel grateful to him for his kind attention during the critical period. He arranged me in front of a pair of lace curtains that were painted on the wall with a whitewash brush and parted on the same side as my hair. This, Mr. Ball said, would give the picture a homelike appearance and would perhaps help to divide up the gaze of the person who might be examining the picture with an idea of keeping it. Thus assured that there might be a likelihood of giving one away, I told Mr. Ball to take an impression, and I would be around and read the proof. He then took up the rubber ball and told me to watch the hair wave on the top of his head, and the business clicked, and my picture was taken.—Grafton Record.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—[c] A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—[d] A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows;

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn.
41-52

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile, sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.10
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.0 to 6.00

☞ For furthe information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anythieg in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

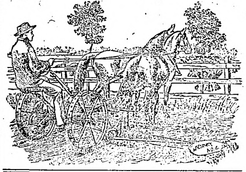
Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



Weekly Spectator....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞ Warehouse on railroad track. : : : : : : : : : :

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP.....President
J. L. JOHNSON.....Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN, W. A. SORSOLEIL, M. Z. EPPERSON.....Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES.....Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	41c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	9c	Eggs	6c
Barley	10c	Beans... (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	48c	Potatoes .. "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Light frosts.

Plow your firebreaks.

The leaves are beginning to fall.

Wood is selling at $1.75 per cord.

Monday resembled Indian summer.

Dogfish are biting good below the race.

Labor Day was duly observed by the schools.

Wild grapes taste as good as they ever will.

September 9th and not a fish-hunting story yet told!!!?

What flax there is in the country will yield a good crop.

Supper at the M. E. Church tomorrow evening from 6 to 9.

Have you your firebreaks plowed yet? If not, why not.

O. W. Brink went out east of here yesterday to repair a binder.

C. G. Rapp returned Monday from his week's sojourn in Duluth and the Twin Cities.

Veterinary Johnson has a sick horse on his hands and is doing nicely under his treatment.

Nearly four hundred hunting permits have been taken out in Grand Forks county.

McKinley clubs are going out of existence. They are now known as "sound (?) money" etc.

O. F. Post and E. Hoff were at Thief River Falls Monday attending to matters of importance.

Mrs. Dr. Francis and two children arrived Friday and are now nicely located in their new home.

The farmers are very busy now days turning the earth over and a large acreage will be put in next year.

Li Hung Chang is being royally entertained in the east by the head mogul —Mark Hanna and his tribe.

Chris Bjerk came down from Holt last Friday and returned home with an invoice of goods for his new store.

Mrs. Hennings of Red Lake Falls was a guest at the American Hotel Monday on her return from the State Fair.

The Boltocrats have a party of their own, with Palmer and Buckner at the head.

The Fosston fair will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. There are numerous attractions to take place.

Miss Bertha Salter of Red Lake Falls came up on Wednesdays train and met her classes in music, returning home Friday.

This is the way Li Hung Chang puts the question to a millionaire: "How much are you worth." "How did you make it."

P. S. Ware, editor of the Thief River Falls Press was a north bound passenger to-day.

Dr. Watson, of Red Lake Falls, returned to-day from a weeks trip, sight seeing at the twin cities.

The heavy clap of thunder had a tendency to wake up most of the St. Hilaire people early yesterday.

John Hannawault, of Walsh county, N. D., is looking over the lands in this immediate vicinity in view of buying an improved farm.

Have you heard of any Wall street magnate who will support Bryan? or who is not perfectly satisfied with McKinley? Guess not.

Palmer of Illinois and Buckner of Kentucky will head the National ticket of the gold democrats, so it was decided last week at Indianapolis.

O. W. Brink returned from St. Paul Monday where he disposed of a carload of cattle. Mr. Brink intends making more shipments in the near future.

The village of Roseau has bought the electric light plant of L. H. Johnson of Minneapolis for $1,150. The power will be furnished from the mill engine.

Supper
Tomorrow night.
At the M. E. Church.
Fail not to attend.

If your hay stacks are not well guarded there will be hundreds of tons of hay burned this fall in this vicinity. Now is the time to look after this matter.

C. H. Bjorne is booked to speak for the republicans at this point next Tuesday. He will tell you what he knows about sound money, protection and reciprocity.

Bernard Koke of Red Lake Falls was a caller in the village late Sunday evening returning the buggy furnished to his sister, Mrs. Holtznecht, early in the afternoon.

Messrs. LaBissoniere, Paullot, McHenry, and Borchers of Red Lake Falls, met old acquaintances here between trains, Monday on their return from the State Fair.

Hon. John Lind, the peoples party candidate for governor will address the people at Crookston Saturday Sept. 12. All persons regardless of party affiliation invited to attend.

Miss Mary Quandy is now nicely located in new quarters on the west side of Broadway where she will be pleased to show her customers a new and complete stock of millinery.

Jack rabbits are reported as being very numerous out west a few miles from here. With two hounds you would enjoy this kind of sport and forget all about hunting chickens.

Miss Eugenie LaFraniere of Red Lake Falls teacher of the Grammar Department in Thief River Falls came up on Friday's train and proceeded overland to the field of her labors.

Miss Edith Dainard has accepted a position in Miss Quandy's Millinery Parlors. Miss Edith's many friends are pleased to see her taken to so worthy a vocation from competant hands.

H. J. Freeman is authority for the statement, that a flock of wild geese flew as low as to tackle the insulators of the telegraph poles early Monday morning while he was operating the key at the depot.

That old moral reprobate, Breckenridge of Kentucky, has joined Herr Most and the gold standard. The idea of Breckenridge criticising Bryan is like the devil casting slurs at virtue.—Labor Journal.

The Ladies Aid Society will give a supper at the M. E. Church tomorrow evening which will be served from 6 to 9 o'clock. All should turn out and encourage the society by their presence. Supper 25 cents.

Hunting parties accompanied by ladies seem to be all the go. J. H. Penno, Emil Brink and ladies were out yesterday. The ladies are supposed to do the cooking and driving. C. G. Rapp acted as chaplain.

Out of sixteen Methodist Episcopal Bishops in the United States, fourteen are for gold, and there is some talk of using their influence where they have no right to—in the pulpit. Politics and religion should not go hand in hand.

Miss Ella Corcoran, a former resident of St. Hilaire now connected with the public schools of Red Lake Falls, called on friends between trains Friday on her return from the Coast where she was enjoying the summer vacation.

Miss Lydia Fletcher, one of the popular teachers of Red Lake Falls, dined at the American Hotel Friday on her return from a few days sojourn in Crookston among relatives and friends. Miss Lydia felt quite at home in St. Hilaire.

Farmer Hines writes his "Saints and Sinners" page, of the Farmers Railroad, the last issue at Ottawa, Ontario. He is desirous to know how Messrs. Kellog and Munger are getting along in regard to raising that $300,000 which they spoke of to push the road.

To get an idea of how the hunting is in this neck of the woods, a party of two started out bright and early the first of the week and after being out six hours they bagged: One chicken, one hawk, one crow, one blackbird, one jacksnipe and one skunk. Verily the hunting is very poor.

Mrs. Fred Holtznecht of Thief River Falls while passing through here Sunday on a visit to her parental home in Red Lake Falls met with a mishap in the breaking of the buggy wheel. Willing hands and kind friends soon furnished her with another buggy to continue her journey homeward.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

Hunters, beware of investing in red "sweaters." One of St. Hilaire nimrods had a run for his life last week while in the middle of a pasture. He got on the other side of the fence with no time to spare to catch his second wind. A crimson flag and one of these "sweaters" answers the same purpose in presence of a herd of cattle—little inclined to be of the Mexico kind. This is written as a warning to you hunters.

Change of Northern Pacific Depot in Minneapolis.

On and after September 1st all Northern Pacific passenger trains will arrive at and depart from the C. M. & St. P. Ry. passenger station, Washington and Fourth Avenue South, Minneapolis. Passengers alight from trains on a level with the street and will not have steps to climb in order to get out of depot. This change will land the passenger nearer the business part of the city. Street car lines are immediately in front of the depot entrance, thus giving quick and easy access to any part of the city. When you want to take the Northern Pacific to or from Minneapolis, remember the change of depots.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council Monday Sept. 7th 1896.

All members present except Epperson.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

On motion the following bills were allowed:

J. L. Johnson ½ year salary as recorder	$12 50
Chr. Hall 1 day work on bridge	1 50
Johnson & Marshall lumber etc. as per bill	47 40
L. J. Stranahan running ferry 10 days	10 00
August Peterson work on muskeg	1 12
S. M. Dainard work on muskeg etc. as per bill	64 50
St. Hilaire Spectator publishing and printing	25 75
W. A. Sorsoleil work on muskeg	7 50
" 1 day equalization	2 00
" 1 day Judge of election	2 00
W. A. Sorsoleil ½ year salary as councilman	5 00
S. Harris work on muskeg etc. as per bill	18 37
C. G. Rapp ½ year salary as president of council	5 00
C. G. Rapp 1 day judge of equalization	2 00

On motion J. L. Johnson's receipt from the village treasurer for $57.00 for dray license and dog license was accepted.

On motion the village recorder was instructed to take an inventory of all tools and implements belonging to the village and have the same charged to the street commissioner.

On motion the street commissioner was instructed to pick up all tools and implements belonging to the village that can be found and place the same in the village hall and have the same under his care and be responsible for the same and account for the same at the end of the year.

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

We are in receipt of a letter from the Republican National Committee of Chicago, asking us to publish "gold money" doctrine, which we figured up amounts to $139.90, in lieu thereof they offer us a book—the retail selling price of which is $3.75. Mark Hanna! substitute a word for "gall."

Conductor Murray is as foxey as ever. A couple of successful hunting parties were on his train a day or two ago and he sorted out of their game the youngest and tenderest birds in the lot, to the number of 16, which he hid in a gunny sack behind the stove. Nearing Grand Forks he dropped the sack alongside the track, and after registering in and putting on some old clothes he borrowed a Newfoundland pup and an old "Zulu" gun and sauntered out of town towards the chicken pasture. Just to keep up appearances he blazed away with the old howitzer a few times, and kicked the pup into a run once or twice. Then he fastened the birds to his suspender buttons with pieces of string, and proudly marched back to town, telling his acquaintances how tired it made him to see the trouble some folks went to kill a few birds, when with just no dog at all he had got 16 within two miles of Grand Forks.—Crookston Times.

This Kennel Gives Satisfaction.

CRYSTAL, N. D., Sept. 2, 1896.

CARL JOHNSON,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

DEAR SIR:—Enclosed find $25.00 in payment for dog "Dick." His first trial proved so unsatisfactory that I delayed him here, but he is working grand now. Shot 23 birds over him yesterday and no dog could have worked better. Money could not buy him to-day. Send his pedigree.

Truly yours,
G. W. MARSHAL.

The above speaks for itself, which shows the kind of dogs turned out from the Red River Kennels for the nominal sum of $25. All hunters can well afford to have a dog of their own instead of borrowing or "swiping" one when going out hunting.

Gave The Firemen no Chance.

Twin Valley has a new fire engine, and the Times of that place tells the experience of their first fire.

We had a fire and our fire department demonstrated beyond a doubt that our village is perfectly safe (?) from the ravages of the destroying flames. When the alarm was sent in, every fire laddie made a rush for the engine stable and after drawing out a buggy and a few sulky plows and a drag we came to the engine which was drawn with all speed to the city reservoir. In less than half an hour material was furnished and put in the fire box, but a canvass of the crowd showed that there was not a single match to be found. Some one volunteered to wake up Finley and borrow a match which was generously provided. The next move was to climb the barn and get down the hose which had been placed there to dry. In just one hour from the time the alarm was given we were ready for work, but at that time some one came up and told us that the fire was out and the building torn down. Now we would like to know what wretch was mean enough to go and put out that fire without giving us a chance with the new engine. Every one is hereby given notice that the department will in the future take charge of all fires and positively guarantee to be on the spot in 42 minutes from the time any alarm is sent in.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

PRETTY PLAIN POINTERS.

The man or men, who, after talking with a few enemies, say that Mr. Lind cannot carry New Ulm and Brown county, will find themselves greatly mistaken early in November. He will carry this city, and will have the largest majority in the county ever given to any candidate for office.—New Ulm News.

When Wm. McKinley spoke at Winchester, Ohio, a few years ago, he announced himself in favor of the free coinage of silver, and in emphasizing his position, held up a silver dollar as an object lesson, saying: "This money is good enough for me; why should it not be good enough for the bondholder?"—Hancock (Ind.) Democrat.

The other day a traveling man was talking silver in a store and the proprietor spoke up, saying: "Say, Mr. Drummer, do you have and silver bullion to sell?" "No, I have not." Then said the merchant, "how are you going to be benefited by the free coinage of silver, which will simply result in advancing the price of silver bullion?" The traveling man said: "Mr. Merchant have you any wheat or corn or oats to sell?" "No, I have not." "Would it make your business any better if farmers got higher prices for their products?" asked the drummer. "Why yes, of course." "Well, then, your question needs no further answer."

A great many people seem to think that bimetallism is a new thing. This is a mistake. Monometallism is the new thing. From 1792 to 1873 we were a bimetallic country, and no one ever uttered a complaint about it. In 1873 we changed our system, and have been having trouble ever since. All we want is to restore things to the condition they were in prior to 1873. We had the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver then, and no one ever heard of a gold and silver scale of prices at that time. Neither would we have them if we went back to the original American monetary system. The gold men are always getting up scarecrows, but when you investigate them you find they are wooden frames with a bondholder's hat and coat on them.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The brass in the cheek of the national banker is the basis on which he does business. When it comes to a gold basis he closes up and keeps what he can belonging to depositors.

The republicans at Lincoln, Neb., during a parade last week, set fire to a large portrait of W. J. Bryan, suspended on South Eleventh street. The occurrance caused a number of personal encounters feeling ran high among the friends of Mr. Bryan and the republicans are expressing great regret now that it happened.

The goldbug press has quit telling savings bank depositors about the danger of being paid in 53 cent dollars, but the howl that they so thoughtlessly took up is having its effect and depositors are hurrying to draw out their money. It is all helping to demonstrate the infamy of the bankers' conspiracy and educate the people on the rottenness of the whole system.

The failure of the Sioux City National bank at Sioux City, Iowa, last Friday indicates plainly the rotteness of our banking system. The concern closed up owing the depositors $313,407.00, almost one-third of a million, and the amount of cash on hand was $5,765, being less than one per cent of the amount of cash actually deposited by the patrons of the bank. Yet that outfit of bankers were only a week before howling for McKinley and the gold standard and whooping it up for Hanna's great scarecrow about depositors only getting 53 cents on the dollar for their deposits if silver was restored. Some of our Sioux City friends would be glad to see even the 53 cents now.—Chicago Express.

North Dakota Permit.

Minto, N. Dak., July 18, '96.—To the Honorable Oliver M. Fraser, Auditor of the County of Walsh, North Dakota: —Sir:—I, the undersigned, Andy Jones, being a resident of the said County of Walsh and State of North Dakota, and a person of good moral character, all of which more fully appears by the annexed affidavit, do hereby make application for a resident hunter's permit, authorizing the undersigned to hunt with a dog or dogs, kill, wound, slaughter or otherwise destroy within the boundaries of this state prairie chicken, pinnated grouse, sharp tailed grouse, ruffed grouse, woodcock, plover, wild duck, wild goose and brant, buffalo, elk, deer, antelope, caribou, mountain sheep, mocking birds, flickertails, skunks, rabbits, cats, rats, squirrels, prairie dogs, stink birds, muskrats, gorillas, bears, lions and elephants, and also to take, catch, kill and destroy with or without a hook and line North Dakota suckers, with or without a summons or execution, provided that applicant agrees not to do more than twenty-five dollars worth in any one day, and not by means of spearing, seines, nets or other devices snare, entrap, or kidnap from the fold any honest Free Silver Democrat or Budge Prohibitionists. Yours most respectfully,

ANDY JONES.

State of North Dak. County of Walsh, ss.

Andy Jones, being first by me duly sworn, upon his oath deposes and says that he is a person of good moral character, which statement is doubted by some Walsh county "residents" and that he is a collector of the county of Walsh in the state of North Dakota.

ANDY JONES.

Subscribed and sworn to before us this 18th day of July A. D. 1896.

VILLAGE OF MINTO,
Walsh Co., N. Dak.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible. We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere. We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.
WILD LANDS.
HAY LANDS.
BUSINESS LOTS.
RESIDENCE LOTS.
MILL SITES.

☞Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

※

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

※

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

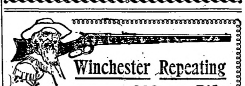
Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Health
Is impossible without pure, healthy blood. Purified and vitalized blood result from taking
Hood's
Sarsaparilla
The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.
Hood's Pills for the liver and bowels. 25c.

A Mocking Bird's Dance.

The power of the mocking bird to amuse folks is not confined to its abilities as a rich-voiced singer. The more birds are studied the more students wonder what they can't do. Birds with some marked characteristics are sometimes neglected in other respects than their peculiarity and so it happens that the mocking bird is better known as an imitative singer than as an original one, and that it was a dancer as much almost as a heron or crane few were aware.

The mocking birds dance methodically, like woodmen in a square dance, rather than with the wild gyrations of a darkey hoe-down. They keep their bodies stiff, with heads and tails erect, their wings drooping and feathers flattened out, something like the English sparrow when hopping about before its sweetheart; but the sparrow's feathers are thrown out usually instead of being flattened against the body.

Two of the mocking birds make a set, and they bound along, jumping rather high, but not far, going from one end of the playground to the other, one behind the other about a foot, and each one at the end of the playground turns in a circle slowly and with dignity, and goes back again. Sometimes they stop and look at some distant object, day dreaming, apparently, they away they go again.

Mr. Blake tells about a hen that was disturbed by the actions of a pair of mocking birds in their dance, whereupon she left her brood of chickens and charged the couple with clucks and fluttering feathers. Up went the mocking birds with true mocking bird talk, scolding and sputtering at the hen until they finally drove her away.—Popular Science Monthly.

Agents Wanted.

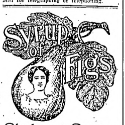
The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Street Awnings in Seville.

The busiest streets and squares kept cool and dim under the awnings. On the whole, I think it was these awnings that made Seville so charming in August. There had been a few in Cordova. I have been to more than one town which raises a similar protection against Provencal sunlight; but I have never come across them when they were as elaborate, as general, and as effective as in Seville. In the narrow streets they stretched from housetop to housetop at each end, dropping in a great inclosing wall of canvas so low as just to escape the heads of the high-saddled horsemen who pranced under them. In the large squares they extended in a checkerboard arrangement, with intricate ropes and pulleys which I never tried to understand, content to enjoy the result of black shadows alternating with great splotches of sunlight. Even the town hall spread out an awning all across the wide sidewak in front of it, and not a hotel or bank or palace or big house did we enter that had not its court as well protected.—Century.

Great stretches of the Venetian lagoons are being drained and cultivated. The soil redeemed is extraordinary productive.

The electric wires of the French railways are so arranged that they can be used for telegraphing or telephoning.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

SALESMEN WANTED

To sell for Spring delivery the largest stock of HARDY FRUITS, SHADE TREES, FOREST TREE SEEDLINGS, SEED CORN and POTATOES in the West. We grow our own goods and give three plans of work. PAY WEEKLY. An early start is half the battle. Write for terms at once. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minn.

"THE MIDDLE SOUTH"

A handsomely illustrated 16 page Monthly Journal describing the development of the Middle South, the farmer's paradise. Price 50 cents per year. Send 25 cts. at once mentioning this paper and you will receive "The Middle South," for one year, postage free, or if you secure four subscribers and send us $1.00 we will send your paper one year free of charge. Address Middle South Pub. Co., Somerville, Tenn.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

A TRAINED WHALE.

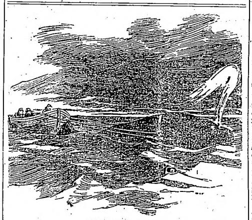
EDUCATED TO TOW A BOAT FOR ITS CAPTORS.

It Was Caught While Only a Baby and Carefully Raised on a Monster Bottle—Now It Works Very Gently in a Harness Rig.

COL. F. W. BLACK, of the customs department at Sand Point, Poploff Island, situated in Shunagin group of islands off the Alaskan Peninsula, is authority for a remarkable story of a captive whale, which, if the plans have not miscarried, is now being driven to San Francisco, harnessed to a boat and driven by his captors down the coast through the waters of the ocean.

The whale, named Bulshoy, an Aleut word for immense, was captured in the spring of 1894, when a calf of some 18 or 20 months old. It was then about 15 or 16 feet long, and, though so young and small, was possessed of considerable strength.

During a chase for whales by whites and Indians, it was driven into Pirate Cove, the entrance to which is not over 100 feet wide, though it is fully twenty fathoms deep. John C. Whiley, storekeeper at the island, immediately stretched across the mouth of the cove a strong wire net. Shortly afterward Whiley and his native servant attempted to feed the animal, and were successful. Whiley rigged up a walrus bladder, to which was attached six or seven feet of rubber tube. About half a gallon of cow's milk was put in this improvised nursing bottle, and Whiley and Efteha put it in a bidarka, or canoe, and paddled alongside the pup, which by this time would allow them to come alongside him with their boats. After several hours of patient coaxing the Indian succeeded in getting Bulshoy to drink from the rubber tube. When the bidarka turned for the shore Bulshoy followed close behind it. More milk was obtained, and this time Bulshoy needed no coaxing to drink it.



THE WHALE AT WORK.

For the next six weeks Whiley and the Indian fed the pup twice every day. The pup would stick his head out of the water, close to the landing, and look out for his nurses long before the feeding time. It was not until the following spring that the actual training of Bulshoy began to take definite form. Whiley one day said: "I am going to train that pup so that I can drive him to San Francisco."

He and Efteka were constantly to be seen on the bay playing with Bulshoy, who, by this time, had become so accustomed to his owner and nurse that he would come to them whenever they called him from any part of the bay, and allow them to handle him at their pleasure. While this process of taming was going on Whiley had taken the pup's measure for a set of harness, and both he and his native spent the nights for several weeks in making it.

The climax was reached on Friday, September 20, 1895, when, for the first time probably in the history of the world, a four-year-old, twenty-five foot whale was successfully put in harness. When Whiley and Efteha, after putting on his harness, started for the shore, Bulshoy as usual started after the bidarka, and in doing so made the discovery that everything was not as it should be, and then he reared and plunged around at a lively rate, lashing the quiet waters of the bay into foam in his efforts to free himself of the offending harness. But the harness was well and strongly made and there was no shake-off to it.

Bulshoy kept up his antics for two whole days. Next morning he refused to come to the call of either Whiley or the Aleut. Hunger, however, soon brought him to his senses, and on the morning of the third day, as the native was out on the bay in his bidarka, Bulshoy came meekly alongside and seemed to beg for his breakfast, which was given him. From that day Bulshoy made no trouble.

On October 1 Whiley and the native took the long boat belonging to the station and attaching a tow line to the harness band immediately ahead of the fore flipper, began to cruise around the bay, and in a surprisingly short time, according to Colonel Black, Bulshoy would pull the boat in any desired direction.

During the rest of the year the pup was daily exercised. On May 21 of this year Whiley and his Aleut took the net away from the mouth of the cove, and, according to the programme laid out, struck out in deep water for the island of Onga, 16 miles away. The voyage was made without mishap. They afterward made a voyage from Popoff to Karluk Island.

It is the plan of Whiley and his Aleut, according to Col. Black, to leave for San Francisco, going in easy stages. It will probably be September 1 before they reach San Francisco.

THE COLD SPONGE BATH.

Not Only Delightful but in Every Way Beneficial.

Bathing is chiefly for cleanliness, but it should be practiced also for its good effect upon the skin, the circulation and nutrition.

It affords an excellent stimulus for the skin, improving the tone of its minute net-work of vessels, increasing the excretion that is carried on by its glands, and thus relieves the kidneys and liver of much of their work.

It acts as an additional stimulus to the circulation by causing the blood to flow more thoroughly through all the organs of the body as well as through the minute blood vessels of the skin itself.

It improves nutrition by causing a more rapid removal of the waste products from the system.

One of the most invigorating forms of bathing is the cold sponge bath taken in the morning before breakfast. Persons who do not react readily after such a bath, such as the very young, the very old, or those who are seriously weakened by disease, should not practice it. For a person of average health, however, the cold bath is an excellent tonic.

After a cold sponge bath of short duration there is a feeling of well-being and exhilaration. The whole man is refreshed. The mental faculties are cleared, the muscles seem strengthened and there is a desire for both muscular and mental work. There is also a feeling of warmth due to the dilatation of the blood vessels of the skin after the contraction caused by the cold water.

The exhilaration and warmth of the cold sponge bath may be increased by drying and rubbing the body with a rough towel.

Care should always be taken not to have the bath too prolonged, or of a temperature so low as to prevent the reactionary dilatation of the vessels of the skin.

If the cold sponge bath be taken regularly the blood vessels of the skin are trained to contract and relax easily, and therefore habitual bathers are comparatively little liable to catch cold. The number of red blood-corpuscles and the amount of coloring matter in them is increased by cold baths.

An excellent way of becoming accustomed to the cold sponge bath is to begin with water that is tepid, and gradually reduce its temperature until absolutely cold water may be borne and enjoyed.—Youth's Companion.

Wholesome and Delicious.

"One of the most wholesome, delicious and convenient ways of using Lima or other shelled beans while in the green state is in a puree," said a matron whose dinners are always delightful. "Cook the beans in boiling water for ten minutes, then drain, rinse and put again into boiling water, plenty of it, and cook until very tender. Turn into a puree strainer and press all the pulp through. Put on to boil again and add milk or cream sufficient to make it the usual puree consistency. For each quart of the mixture cook one tablespoon each of butter and flour together as for white sauce and stir it into the boiling liquid. Season with salt and pepper. Serve with wafers. It is convenient to cook a large quantity of the beans at once and sift them, then add milk and thickening only to whatever portion may be needed for that meal, as the pulp will keep longer without the milk and butter. Then it is but a few minutes' work to prepare a puree for the next day's dinner, or a nourishing portion if one of the family comes in faint and hungry and does not care for or cannot wait for solid food. I learned the value of this easily prepared dish one summer when I had a guest who could not eat solid food, and again when friends came in after mealtime, faint and exhausted from long fasting and severe exertion at a railroad accident. There was nothing else that I could prepare and they thought it the best lunch they ever tasted."

A Puzzling Phenomenon.

"I'll give it up," said the scientist. "The action of sunlight is too much of a mystery for me to solve."

"Have you been trying to account for some of the changes that take place in photography?"

"No. That's hard enough to understand. But it's easy compared to the problem that I have undertaken to solve. I've been trying to find out why it is that on Saturday afternoon a man'll sit down under an electric fan with his shirt collar open and say the heat won't let him do a stroke of work, and the next day put on a sweater and ride his bicycle thirty-seven miles between the hours of 10 and 4, and never say a word about the weather."—Washington Star.

Mrs. De Pencil—How does it happen you are never accused of misrepresenting eminent men in your reports of speeches and interviews? Mr. De Pencil (an experienced reporter)—I don't print what they say, but what they ought to say.—New York Weekly.

ON THE CABLE CAR.

Mrs. Lofter Condescends to Patronize It and Then Wishes She Hadn't.

From Scribner's: The car started forward, slowly, but with that rapidly increasing speed so misleading to the upright traveler. Mrs. Lofter leaned deferentially toward her showy vis-a-vis, and laid her hands caressingly upon his shoulders. Then they bounded gracefully toward the door, with a step that was neither a waltz nor a polka, but which was executed in such perfect time that the ordinary observer would have suspected a previous rehearsal. Although differing widely in color and in social standing these two travelers were, for the time being, certainly one in movement. This movement was perhaps more of a galop than a polka, and although harmoniously executed became a little too hasty at the finish. The exhibition was brought to a close by her partner's back coming in violent contact with the jamb of the door. Although the dance itself was practically over, Mrs. Lofter continued for a moment to press heavily against her dusky partner, and to one unaccustomed to these conveyances her action, might appear of questionable taste even if prompted by the warmest affection; but to those familiar with the Broadway cable cars there was nothing unusual in this performance, except, perhaps, the costly attire of the leading lady, and this added a certain novelty and richness to the general effect. As Mrs. Lofter, hot with indignation, released herself and stepped away from the grinning object of her caresses, a seat was offered which she gladly accepted. Once in it she had leisure to look about.

Although inwardly revolting against the sickening episode in which, to her everlasting humiliation, she had just taken so conspicuous a part, her glance swept the row of opposite faces with haughty composure. She bit her lips and there was defiance in her eyes as she noticed a general smile throughout the car. Having no sense of humor herself, this cheerfulness seemed the acme of human insolence.

LENGTH OF LIFE.

Comparative Longevity of Men in Different Lines of Business.

Some interesting facts and figures in regard to the comparative length of life of men in different lines of business have been prepared by Dr. George W. Wells, A. M., M. D., one of the best known medical directors for one of the largest life insurance companies in the world, says an exchange. Dr. Wells, who is about to publish in book form the results of his many years' experience as a medical director, has arranged the following table, showing the comparative mortality of men between the ages of 25 and 65 years. The table represents many thousands of deaths which have been tabulated and the percentages are based upon every hundred deaths among clergymen, the longest lived individuals, as a class, of which there is any record. There is twice as good a chance that a minister will reach the age of 65 as that a doctor will.

Clergymen, priests, ministers	100
Lawyers	152
Medical men	202
Farmers	114
Agricultural laborers	122
Gardeners	108
Fishermen	143
Commercial clerks	179
Commercial travelers	171
Innkeepers, liquor dealers	274
Inn hotel service	397
Brewers	254
Butchers	211
Bakers	172
Corn millers	172
Grocers	139
Drapers	159
Shopkeepers generally	158
Tailors	187
Shoemakers	160
Hatters	192
Printers	193
Bookbinders	210

The Wrong Man.

Bill the Biffer—What's d' object of dis organization uv yours, mister? Mission Worker—To rescue the fallen, my man. Bill the Biffer—Well, don't talk ter me; I'm no bicyclist.—Roxbury Gazette.

JOSH BILLINGS' PHILOSOPHY.

Comik writers are allwuss expected to be phunny when they talk, and, in the effort to be so, are often very silly.

Book-larning iz good, but too mutch ov it konkokts kruditys, which have been known to sour on the intelektual stummuk.

What little I kno I hav larnt bi mixing with the medium and lower klasses; dimonds and fine gold are oftenest found clus to the bed-rock.

Mi natur prompts me to make fust advances. I hav often been snubbed krewelly for this, but I kan't help it, kan I? I shall fite it out on this line.

Yu kan't allwuss judge bi appearances. I hav often known a whole shirt to be compozed entirely ov a paper collar and a pair ov cotton wristbands.

I hav allwuss notissed that thoze circles which are the most exklusive hav but little individual strength; mutual admirashun iz the pap that sustains them.

I hav generally notissed that the old bachelors who giv themselfs up entirely to the service ov the ladys are allwus ov the nuter gender. The wimmin never fall in luv with theze phellows; they are too safe.

The saddest sight in all the world to me iz a broken-hearted manly man—a proud and robust oak riven bi litening from Heaven.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

For forty-three years Dr. C. F. Wilgohs, of Doylestown, Ohio, has been an habitual smoker. His age is ninety-three, he is hale and hearty, and he reads without glasses.

Mrs. Francis Bergmeyer, of Canton, Ohio, is in luck. She is ninety years of age, and is cutting her third set of teeth.

An industrious old lady in Richmond, Ind., Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, whose age is eighty-five years, still manages to maintain herself by taking in washing.

A Boy's Obedience.

Much is said in these days about the want of obedience to parental authority displayed by the rising generation, but an incident in which the contrary spirit was manifested is narrated by a prominent Western lawyer.

His twelve-year-old son, a boy of great spirit, but with no overabundance of strength, went to pass a vacation with a cousin who lived on the banks of a broad river. His father, in his parting instructions, placed one restriction upon the boy's amusement during his visit.

"I don't want you to go out in your cousin's canoe," he said firmly. "They are used to the water, but you are not, and you haven't learned to sit still anywhere as yet. You'll be there only a week, and with all the other amusements the boys have and the horses and dogs, you can afford to let the canoe alone for this time and keep your mother from worrying all the while you're away."

The boy readily gave the desired promise. On his return he was enthusiastic over the pleasures he had enjoyed.

"And I didn't mind canoeing a bit, pa," he said, addressing his careful parent with a beaming smile. "The boys taught me how to swim, and the only time they used the canoe was the last day, to go over to the other shore. But I remembered my promise, and I wasn't going to break it the last day. So I swam across."—Chicago News.

Pumping Air from Upper Currents.

An ingenious apparatus to procure air from very high altitudes has been devised by MM. Geoges Besancon and Gustave Hermitte, the meteorologists. A vacuum is made in a receptacle holding about six litres, and the tap is attached to clockwork that will open at the end of an hour, leave it open for a minute and then close it. This is sent up in a balloon, together with other self-registering instruments, to heights at which human beings can not live.—New York Sun.

Practical.

A man one morning at family prayers prayed for a good neighbor in great destitution. After the prayer his boy said to him: "Papa, give me your pocketbook and I will go over to Mr. Thompson's and answer your prayer myself."—Philadelphia North American.

Too Late to Mend.

There is a point beyond which medication cannot go. Before it is too late to mend, persons of a rheumatic tendency, inherited or acquired, should use that benignant defense against the further progress of the super-tenacious malady—rheumatism. The name of this proven rescuer is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, it should also be recollected, cures dyspepsia, liver complaint, fever and ague, debility and nervousness.

What For?

"I'm going to join a club," said young Mr. Frankstown to young Mr. Homewood.

"What for?"

"To kill time."

"I don't approve of killing time by clubbing it to death."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

No Place for Him.

"Mrs. Dash, is there any etiquette to be observed in divorces?"

"Yes; you ought never to invite your first husband to your second marriage."—Chicago News.

In the Final Stage.

"No," he said decidedly, "I have no use for bicycle girls. They have too many clicks." He dismounted to re-oil his bearings.

It was evident that his was a hopeless case.—New York Press.

Two bottles of Piso's Cure for Consumption cured me of a bad lung trouble.—Mrs. J. Nichols, Princeton, Ind., March 26, 1895.

Corrected.

The Master—Say, are you deaf? I rang for you twenty-five times.

The Valet—Twenty-five times! I'm sure I only heard you ring four times!—Amusing Journal.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Next Year.

Customer—What is this document for?

Vendor (of picnic ice cream)—That's your life insurance policy. The law compels us to furnish one now with every dish.—Chicago Tribune.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

True Enough.

Mrs. Henry Peck—John, I remember perfectly well that it was on New Year's eve that we were married.

Henry Peck—Oh, yes; I always said it would be a cold day when I'd get left.—Exchange.

Wanted—Men to learn barber trade. Only 8 weeks required. Wages Saturdays while learning. Tools donated. Catalogue free. Moler Barber College, 223 Washington av S., Minneapolis, Minn.

A Trimetallic Household.

Watts—How is politics up your way?

Potts—At the house we are on a trimetallic basis. My wife leans toward silver, I favor gold and the hired girl is dead in love with the copper.—Indianapolis Journal.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Torridity's Chestnut.

"No," remarked Satan, "although the humidity is a trifle less to-day—"

He grinned sardonically—

"There is no relief in sight."—New York Press.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.

The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Not Up to Date.

Orator—In the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as fail.

Isaacs—Den vat use is der lexicon?—New York Herald.

During the last fifty years Great Britain has been at war more frequently than any other nation. The total number is forty wars for fifty years.

The Chinese language has 40,000 simple words and only 40 roots.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Henry L. Day, Minneapolis, Minn., separator; Milton Forder, Litchfield, Minn., hand baling press; William T. Foster, Bozeman, Mont., gate; Karl A. Klose, Richfield, Minn., bottle; William McIntosh, Winona, Minn., lubricator; John Morrish, Mayville, N. D., saw; Benjamin Porter, Ellendale, N. D., bicycle handle bar; John H. Smith and E. P. Wagner, Sheldon, N. D., furrow opener for seed drills; Owatonna Manufacturing company, Owatonna, Minn., (trade-mark) combined churns and butter workers; Charles F. Potter, Minneapolis, Minn. (trade-mark) antiseptics and disinfectants.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn., and Washington, D. C.

Curious Case of Manslaughter.

The bad habit that is of almost universal prevalence of not opening the doors until a few minutes before the performance, thus indirectly inducing a dangerous headlong rush of the crowd that has been collecting outside for an hour or more, has had a fatal result in Sydney. The most popular music hall in that city is the Tivoli. On the Saturday evening prior to the departure of the last Austrian mail, the rush into the top gallery was so great that a man named Gill was precipitated over the railings. He fell into the stalls right on the head of a Mr. Alfred Neander, who was promptly removed to the Sydney hospital, where it was found that he had received a fracture of the spine. Gill escaped with a few slight bruises, but the coroner's jury found him guilty of manslaughter and he has been committed for trial. The verdict was opposed to the charge of the coroner, who said that Gill could not possibly have foreseen that he would have fallen over the railings of the gallery into the stalls.—Westminster Gazette.

His One Drawback.

"Really, Mr. Graduate," said the broker to his new clerk, a this-year graduate of Yale, "I am very sorry, but after Saturday I shall have to dispense with your services. I, of course, admire your enthusiasm, but I really can't stand having you give your college yell every time the market rises a few points."—Harper's Bazar.

The most industrious male employes of the Unremberg (Germany) horn comb factories make as high as $7 per week. Females earn as high as $3.62.

As high as 4,000 pearl shells have been taken without finding a single pearl, though the fishing is carried on chiefly for the shells.

In 1895 France produced over 5,500,000 pounds of linseed oil. A great deal of this product is used in parts of the country as a table oil.

Experience With Antitoxine.

After an experience of two years in the use of antitoxine, Dr. John H. McCollum, city physician of Boston and resident physician at the Boston city hospital, gives many statistics to show the value of the agent in the treatment of diphtheria. "As a rule," says Dr. McCollom, "patients are not sent to a hospital unless they are seriously ill, and for this reason statistics based on hospital cases give a much better idea of the benefit of any prescribed method of treatment than can be obtained from cases in private practice." In Boston, from 1878 to 1894, the average death rate in diphtheria cases was 30.7. As this comprises 24,813 cases, the average fatality of the disease can readily be seen. In the Boston city hospital, from Sept. 1, 1895, to May 1, 1896, when every case was treated with antitoxine, there were 1,359 cases of diphtheria treated, with 170 deaths, giving a percentage of 12.50. The importance of the early administration of antitoxine is shown by the statistics of the hospital. Of the 1,359 cases admitted, 53 died within twenty-four hours of admission, and of these quite a large number died within two or three hours. Dr. McCollom says that in no instance has any serious effect followed the use of antitoxine in the hospital. In a few instances abscesses have appeared at the point of injection, but it is believed that the injection of antitoxine was only an exciting cause of a predisposing condition of the system. Severe joint pains have been noticed in five instances, lasting from twenty-four to forty-eight hours, but in no instance have they been an element of danger.—New York Post.

Philologists agree that all languages are developed from one root.

Poor Pilgarlic,

there is no need for you to contemplate a wig when you can enjoy the pleasure of sitting again under your own "thatch." You can begin to get your hair back as soon as you begin to use

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Kickapoo Indian Worm Killer

Is what you should give the children . . Half their sickness is CAUSED BY WORMS.

CONSIGN YOUR GRAIN TO US AND WE WILL STORE IT FREE FOR 20 DAYS AND LOAN YOU 00% OF ITS VALUE AT 6% INTEREST.
WHEAT
RYE
CORN
OATS

MNSYLVANIA R.R

"Check it!"

Battle Ax PLUG

If he had bought a 5 cent piece he would have been able to take it with him. There is no use buying more than a 5 cent piece of "Battle Ax." A 10 cent piece is most too big to carry, and the 5 cent piece is nearly as large as the 10 cent piece of other high grade tobaccos.

ESTABLISHED 1879.

WOODWARD & Co

Minneapolis. GRAIN COMMISSION. Duluth.

BRANCH—CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE.

Orders for Future Delivery Executed in All Markets.

Minn Hist Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 16, 1896. NUMBER 7.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The following additional candidates have been admitted to the naval academy as cadets: D. W. Fowler, Iowa; Edwin H. Dodd, Illinois.

The comptroller of the currency has appointed Charles A. Dailey receiver of the Citizens' National Bank of Sangelo, Texas, and John A. Brown receiver of the Sioux National Bank of Sioux City, Iowa.

People in Print.

Louise Imogene Guiney and Stephen Crane are becoming known in France through recent translations.

Millais was once glad to turn out portraits at $15 apiece. He lived to receive $15,000 for a portrait.

Sir John Pauncefote, the British ambassador to the United States, is still in England on leave of absence.

King Menelik of Abyssinia has certainly collected a large army, and it is said that he has 70,000 fighting men at his call.

All of Queen Victoria's children have married, and all the unions except that of the Marchioness of Lorne have been blessed with children.

The board of trustees of the new university of Indianapolis offered the presidency of the university to ex-President Harrison, but he has refused.

Mrs. James Salmons, wife of C. H. Salmons, second grand engineer and editor of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' Journal, died at Aurora, Ill.

George Sherman, formerly of Chicago, one of the best-known railroad freight agents in the United States, died at Buffalo of cerebral meningitis, the result of a runaway accident two weeks ago.

A steady, hard-working man is the Duke of Devonshire, his sole relaxation being a gallop in the morning, shooting twice a week, a couple of rubbers of whist in the evening for shilling points, and the rest of the day devoted to official duties and looking after his vast estates.

In 1865 four lads occupied the same room on the ground floor of the first division of Cadet Barracks at West Point. Since then they have made their names more or less well known in current American literature. They are Capt. Charles King, Arthur Sherburne Hardy, John Brisben Walker and Richard Henry Savage.

Experimental chemistry is the shrine at which Lord Salisbury worships, his laboratories at Hatfield and Arlington street being the wonder and envy of all lovers of natural science. When greatly worried the marquis finds solace in trying to perfect a new typewriter, which is said to be instinct with new possibilities.

Capt. A. P. Cook, U. S. N., died in Paris, aged sixty years. He served with distinction during the war, under Admirals Farragut and Porter. In 1869 he was at the head of the department of ordnance at the naval academy, and his text book was used for cadet naval instruction. He was made a commander in 1870 and captain in 1881. Cooperstown, N. Y., was his birthplace.

Accidental Happenings.

The fishing schooner Harry Belden of Gloucester went ashore on the rocks off Cape Pogue and is badly stove.

The Mechanicsburg wheel works, formerly known as the Ringnose net works, one of the largest industrial establishments in Carlisle, Pa., has been destroyed by fire. Loss, $30,000.

The body of W. Mack, salesman for Gordon & Morrison, wholesale jewelers of Chicago, was found in the suburbs of Seattle, Wash., yesterday, he having been run down and killed by a Northern Pacific passenger train.

The saw and shingle mills of Fenelon Falls, Ont., owned by J. W. Howey & Son of Saginaw, Mich., were destroyed by fire. The fire is supposed to have been started by a spark from the burner. Loss $40,000, insurance $22,000.

The Marsden cellulose works, occupying a block of ground in Owensboro, Ky., a new industry which attracted a great deal of interest when it started recently, burned. The plant was working on some large naval contracts in which the Sewalls, Cramps and Eastern capitalists were interested.

A fire occurred on the United States cruiser Bancroft, which is lying in the dry dock of the Brooklyn navy yard preparatory to setting sail for Constantinople. It broke out in the forward port bunkers, where coal is stored, but the cause is unknown. The crew went down in the hold and extinguished the fire. There were only four or five tons of coal in the bunker and no material damage was done.

Crimes and Criminals.

Dr. J. A. Ames, colored, was arrested on suspicion that he was implicated in causing the death of Miss Ada De Selms, a dressmaker twenty-eight years of age, at Detroit, Mich.

A peculiar suit was begun at Cedar Rapids, one J. B. Farnsworth bringing action to compel the chief of police of Clinton, Iowa, to pay over to him a reward offered for the capture of escaped convict Casey from Anamosa penitentiary.

An attempt was made to hold up the Overland express eight miles west of Sacramento. The engineer killed one of the robbers and then pulled out the train and reached Sacramento. Sheriff Johnson and a posse have gone to the scene on a special train.

Charles W. Bryan, cashier of the Detroit custom house, was taken into custody, charged with embezzlement of government money. The shortage, to which he confesses, is about $8,600.

Warren D. Whitehead and Mrs. Patrick Kearney died in Denver, under circumstances which caused the arrest of Whitehead's wife on suspicion of murder.

John McCarthy, alias Bigelow, was arrested in San Francisco for complicity in the attempt to tunnel into the vaults of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, some five months ago.

During a political discussion on the streets of Bushnell, Ill., Frank Hillyer was killed by Frank Black. Both went to Bushnell from Macomb with marching clubs.

B. S. Pusey, who lived alone near Webster City, Iowa, committed suicide by blowing himself to atoms with dynamite. He was a widower and leaves four grown sons.

Leo Oberwarth, a cloak dealer and maker, and a member of the wholesale firm of Lowenstein & Oberwarth, was found dead in a room in the Vanderbilt hotel, New York. He had committed suicide.

A man named White, a plasterer by trade, beat his wife's brains out at Andover, Ohio. He then mounted a bicycle, rode into the country a mile and a half and cut his throat with a razor, dying shortly afterward.

Edgar W. Tomlinson, who testified before the Lexow committee in New York that he had paid a bribe to William S. Andrews, formerly street cleaning and excise commissioner, to influence his action as a commissioner of excise, has confessed that the charge was not true, and that he committed perjury in making it.

Jessie Crozier of Dougherty, O. T., a domestic, while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, carried the three children of John Strong, a farmer, to the top of a forty-foot tree, one at a time, and hurled them violently to the ground. Two were killed outright and one will die. The children were under seven years. The woman had been jilted by her lover.

From Foreign Shores.

The advance upon Dongola is begun by British troops.

The powers are considering the deposition of the sultan of Turkey.

A cyclone occurred in Paris with fatal results.

Dr. Nansen's ship Fram arrives at Christiana.

Jacob Gaudaur of Toronto becomes champion oarsman of the world by defeating Stansbury, the Australian.

Germany and Russia are said to have affected an agreement upon all political questions.

The police force of the City of Mexico is to be reorganized and placed on a metropolitan basis. Several important reforms have been already introduced.

An Odessa dispatch to the London Daily News says that a Moscow electrician named Kildeschewsky is coming to London to test a new telephone discovery he has made, with the Atlantic cable.

A London dispatch says that a man who left several books behind him inscribed with the name of "H. Egerton, Valparaiso," committed suicide by jumping overboard from the Dienne steamer.

A monster petition praying the federal government to restrict Japanese immigration and raise the Chinese tax to $500 has been in circulation at Vancouver, B. C., for three days and is signed by many British subjects.

Negotiations in the City of Mexico between the government and representatives of the Japanese Colonization have been concluded for a concession of 300,000 acres of land in Chiapas.

Otherwise.

Fotte & Knevalls, heavy importers of sugar, spices, coffee and tea, of Wall street, New York, have failed. The firm was one of the oldest in the city.

Charles King Fairchild, a traveling salesman for several San Francisco jewelry houses, who had $5,000 worth of samples with him, is missing at Butte Mont.

The meeting of the sewer pipe manufacturers, called in Pittsburg for the purpose of forming a trust, has adjourned without accomplishing anything.

The Lockwood Manufacturing company, manufacturers of tin plate feeding boxes, has made an assignment at Philadelphia to James S. Freeland, secretary of the company.

At the annual meeting of the Toledo, Peoria & Wabash road John E. Davidson of Pittsburg and W. W. Baldwin of Burlington, Iowa, were elected directors. The annual report shows that the gross earnings were $1,010,269 and the net earnings $220,788.

Edwin Gould's Continental Match company has bought the carpet mills near Matteawan, N. Y., and will begin to make matches there. It has a contract for supplying Austria with matches, and the Glenham girls who used to make carpets will be taught the match industry.

John J. Shipherd, the well known capitalist of Cleveland, and formerly president of the Consolidated Electric Railway company of Fort Wayne, Ind., positively denies that he diverted $1,300,000 in bonds belonging to the company, as alleged in a petition praying for a receiver.

Frank Chandler, son of the assistant chief of police of Rockford, Ill., and Miss Nettie Sherman eloped to Beloit and were married. Mrs. S. A. Lake, the stepmother of the bride, objected to the marriage, and the girl lost half of her dress while leaving her home to take the trip, Mrs. Lake having hold of one portion of the garment and the groom the other.

The Salt Springs National Bank and the Bank of Syracuse, N. Y., have possession of the carriage works of Harvey A. Meyer of Syracuse, and will run them until Mr. Meyer's indebtedness to the institutions is paid. His liabilities to the two banks include $100,00 in personal paper, $120,000 in customers' paper and $100,000 due to the creditors.

H. Du Mois & Co., among the large[illegible] importers of West India fruit in A[illegible]ica, assigned at New York w[illegible]hout preference. Their last state[illegible]ent to Bradstreet's in November, [illegible]895, indicated assets of $060,000 [illegible] liabilities, $238,000. Gen. Weyler's [illegible] edict prohibiting the exporting of [illegible]ruit from Cuba, where the firm own[illegible] vast estates, is given as the cause [illegible] the failure.

BRYAN AND WATSON

NOMINEES OF THE POPULIST PARTY ARE NOTIFIED.

Chairman Allen, of the Populist National Committee, Sends a Letter to Mr. Bryan, While Chairman Butler, of the National Executive Committee, Informs Mr. Watson by Letter of His Nomination.

Madison, Neb., Sept. 15.—Hon. H. V. Allen, chairman of the Populist national committee, mailed to William J. Bryan to-day the following letter officially notifying him of his nomination by that body:

To Hon. William J. Bryan, Lincoln, Neb.—Dear Sir: At a convention of the People's party held at St. Louis from July 22 to 25 of the current year, you were unanimously nominated for president of the United States, to be voted for at the approaching general election. It was known at the time that you had been nominated by the Democratic party at its convention held at Chicago a few days before that time, and that you would in all probability accept the same in a formal manner. Your nomination by the People's party was not, therefore, made with any thought that you were a Populist, or that you accepted all the doctrines declared by the St. Louis platform. It was largely due to the fact that the money question is the overshadowing political issue of the age, and because you have at all times been an unswerving, able and fearless advocate of the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold on terms of equality at the mints of the United States, at the ratio of 16 to 1. It was thought, also, that the observance of a patriotic duty required a union of all reform forces, and the convention took the liberty, without soliciting or consulting you, of placing your name before the people as its standard bearer. The convention was, in doing so, guided by deep solicitude for the common welfare, and acting on its own motion and prompted alone by a desire to bring about the best attainable results. So much has been said respecting the rehabilitation of silver by again placing it in our coinage acts in the position it occupied when stealthily demonetized by the act of 1873, that it would be idle for us to discuss the question.

You will observe by the closing language of the St. Louis platform that the convention recognized the money question as the great issue of the day, and because the Populists believe that you are in accord with them on this question, you will receive their ballots in November. It has at no time been expected, nor is it now, that you will abandon your adhesion to the Chicago platform, however gratifying the latter would be to all Populists. It must be understood that the party does not abate one jot or tittle of Loyalty to Principles.

We have declared ourselves in favor of many important reforms, in our judgment essential to the liberation of the people from the present unjust and iniquitous industrial bondage. In accordance with precedent of our party we take this method of notifying you of your nomination. We shall not send a committee according to old party custom. In sending this letter of notification of the great honor that has so justly been conferred upon you by our party it is needless for us to assure you that you have the confidence and esteem of all. Your splendid abilities, known integrity, competency and eminent fitness for the position justly entitle you to a high rank among the great statesmen of the nation. We feel that in the event of your election which now seems certain, that you will carry into the executive the principles of monetary reform, to the end that the people shall enjoy better industrial conditions. It is not anticipated that this can be done with undue haste or so suddenly as to wrench or disjoint the business interests of the country, but that it would be done gradually and in a way to infuse confidence and hope of better conditions for all. The People's party will exact of you no promises further than those made in your public utterances and exemplified in a life devoted to the welfare of the race, nor will it ask you to abandon the party of which you are an honored member. In your nomination our party has risen above mere partisan surroundings, and adopted a high plan of patriotism, believing that a division of forces would result in the election of William McKinley, the foremost advocate of a deeply burdensome and unnatural taxation and the criminal policy of the single gold standard, resulting ultimately, if not in some manner checked, in the complete destruction and disintegration of our form of government. Your elevation to the chief magistracy of the nation would be regarded as a vindication of the right of the people to govern and, we entertain no doubt, that you will prove a worthy successor of the immortal Jefferson and Lincoln and that your public life, like theirs, will illustrate the purity and loftiness of American statesmanship. Your extensive and intimate knowledge of public affairs and the duties the office will impose, gained in a life that has been devoted to upholding the cause of the people, as well as your keen insight into the condition of our country, in our judgment highly qualified you to bring about a change in a way that will work injury to none and justice to all, thus making our government in fact, as it is now in form only, a government "of, by and for the people."

The letter is signed by members of the Populist national committee.

WATSON, TOO.

Senator Butler Notifies the Vice Presidential Nominee.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The following is the letter sent by Senator Butler of North Carolina, the chairman of the Populist executive committee, to Hon. Thomas Watson of Georgia notifying him of his nomination as candidate for vice president by the Populist national convention:

Headquarters, Populist Party, National Executive Committee, Washington, D. C., Sept. 15, 1896.—Hon. Thomas E. Watson, Thompson, Ga. Dear Sir: Such is our form of government that the citizens of the United States must shape its course for good or evil through the agency of political parties. When there is no political party which represents the principles of good government, no party that stands for the right and interest of the laborers, wealth producers and all who strive to make an honest living by fair and legitimate means, then it is impossible for the majority of the voters to express their will at the ballot box. When all the political parti[illegible] stand for the selfish interest and pers[illegible] greed of money changers, corpor[illegible] trusts and monopolies, as do[illegible] publican party under the [illegible] the Re- John Sherman and the D[illegible]ership of under the leadership of G[illegible]cratic party great producing masses [illegible] over Cleveland, out the alternative [illegible] are victims without votes will furnish t[illegible] no relief, while to cast their votes [illegible] either party is to sanction their own spoliation and to strengthen the power t[illegible] oppresses them. This wa[illegible] the political situation in 1892 when [illegible] stern necessity forced organized labor, [illegible] the organized wealth producers and [illegible]ers who believe in good government to meet and form a new political organization known as the People's party. The Democratic and Republican parties no longer represented the principles upon which they were founded. Both have betrayed the people and have legislated in the interest of bankers, speculators, bondholders and monopolists, thus enabling the favored few to absorb the millions of property earned and created by the toiling masses.

The People's party was the first political organization in twenty-three years that made an honest demand for the free and unrestricted coinage of silver. The People's party was the first political organization to make definite and specific what is meant by opposition to monopolies instead of indulging in glimmering generalities. So successfully has it exposed the shortcomings of the two old parties that one of these old parties has been forced to retrace its erring steps and cast off, for the time being, at least, its base and treacherous leaders. It was the People's party that brought all the important and overshadowing questions of financial reform to the front.

Thus the Democratic party, so long debauched and now divided, a party beset from without and within by the gold and monopoly Democrats who are plotting to again control it—cannot be relied upon to carry out these reforms of the People's party and to restore prosperity to the American people. Therefore, there was never greater need for the continued existence and vigorous growth of our party than now.

The letter then refers to the nomination of Mr. Bryan by the Democrats and says the People's party at its second national convention recognized in him a man who stands in the broadest and truest sense for American institutions and American principles. It then continues:

"If the Democratic party had been true to the people and its own platform in its selection of a candidate for vice president we would not now have the honor of addressing you, one of the worthiest and most beloved sons of the People's party, in this official capacity, for in that event the People's party would have nominated the whole Democratic ticket by even a larger majority than it nominated Mr. Bryan. But such was not the case. It seems that the party was not able at one effort to purge itself of its modern heresies, cut off its plutocratic leaders and at the same time it nominated Mr. Bryan, give him a running mate who had earned in the arena of action, contending against the foes of the republic the affection, confidence and trust of the masses of our people as had Mr. Bryan himself. Had it nominated a man for the vice presidency who was known to America as a chieftain and a leader in defence of the toilers and producers of the land; one who, by the use of voice, pen and means, had endeared himself to the American pople; one with a past not obscured in silence suggestive of either ignorance or indifference to the struggles of the people with the money power, the occasion of this communication to your worthy self would not have occurred.

The People's party true to its principles and teachings, nominated for the high office of vice president a man worthy to have headed the ticket; a man who represents what Mr. Bryan represents, and therefore presents to the people to-day in the persons of Bryan and Watson the best silver ticket in the field—a ticket more representative of American interests than any other, a ticket that stands for just the opposite to that for which the Republican ticket stands.

If the people win this fight for financial reform it must be accomplished by the co-operation of the silver forces of all political parties. To secure such co-operation of the different parties it is necessary to have a co-operative ticket. Therefore, Bryan and Watson is not only the best silver ticket but it is also the true co-operative ticket.

We have the honor, representing the second national convention of the People's party, to formally notify you of your nomination for vice president of the United States, and hope you will accept the high trust, and carry our banner of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none" to victory against the combined millions of special privileges, aggregated capital and organized greed. We have the honor to be, yours most respectfully,

—Marion Butler,

Chairman ex-officio for notification committee.

It Is a Great Consultation.

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—The twenty-second annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Medical association began in St. Paul to-day and will continue for four days. Doctors from the far East, and from the far West are here in great numbers, about 400 physicians and about 200 members of their families being present. The members of the association are not convening for business only, but the programme includes many events of a social nature which will interest the ladies of the party. The programmes for the forenoons and afternoons will for the most part be given up to the reading of papers of interest to the profession; but the evenings have practically been given into the charge of the ladies.

Surprising Indictment.

Le Sueur, Minn., Sept. 15. — Fred Wommer's friends were much surprised to learn that the grand jury had indicted him for embezzlement from his former employer, W. H. Segelbaum. Mr. Wommer had charge of the store and it is claimed that when he quit he overdrew his account $175. Mr. Wommer talks freely on the matter and says that there is still due him from Mr. Segelbaum several times that amount.

New York Democrats.

Buffalo, Sept. 15.—It seems probable that the ticket to be named by the Democratic state convention will be as follows: Governor, John Boyd Thatcher, Albany; lieutenant governor, Charles F. McClelland, Westchester; judge court of appeals, Robert C. Titus, Buffalo. The platform will be brief if the wishes of those present are carried out. It will indorse the Chicago platform and ticket.

Used the Kerosene Can.

Minneapolis, Sept. 15.—H. F. Trask, of 2809 Chicago avenue, in order to hasten a wood fire in the kitchen stove yesterday noon, poured kerosene oil from a can on the flames. An explosion followed, and his mother, Mrs. Sarah Trask, was fatally burned. Trask and his wife were seriously burned, and the little son had to be thrown out of the window to escape a similar fate.

Preparing for Another Raid.

Havana, Sept. 15.—Maximo Gomez is understood to be camped at Guasimas de Agramonte, about thirty-six miles from Puerto Principe. He is organizing a strong cavalry force and is credited with the intention of making a second raid westward.

They Will Keep Shady.

Pierre, S. D., Sept. 15. — William Benoist of Moreau River is in the city to look up a party of hunters who, he alleges, started a prairie fire which burned $13,000 feet of lumber for him, while only a change of wind saved 400,000 feet more.

Justice Scorched on His Trail.

West Superior, Wis., Sept. 15.—G. L. Clark pleaded guilty this morning to the charge of forging a $10 check last December and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. He was captured at La Crosse eight months after the commission of the crime.

Bank Wrecker Arrested.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 15.—Lawrence A. Culver, who was indicted at Logan, Ohio, June 30, 1892, for wrecking the People's bank, of which he was president, was captured here to-day by the local police.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

The state board of equalization has added 15 per cent to Hennepin county's assessment on "merchandise."

The state fuel commission rejected all bids to furnish anthracite coal to state institutions.

Louis Quinnel was killed near Spring Grove by being run over by a traction engine.

The Nicollet county fair was a great success. An interesting programme of sports added quality to the attractions.

The state auditor has prepared a statement of the valuation of real property in the state, which shows a decrease of $60,076,683.

W. S. Geer of Kandiyohi county secured a writ of habeas corpus in St. Paul in order to get his six-year-old daughter.

Ed Cousander of Mankato is out $55 as a result of cashing a check for a man giving the name of William Johnson. It proves to be a forgery.

Fire at Northfield destroyed the house owned by James Conan, valued at $1,000. All the household effects of the occupants were also consumed.

Frank Haseldenze of Lakeville was adjudged insane at Hastings by Judge T. P. Moran, and committed to the Rochester asylum.

The firm of H. C. Barrott & Co., wagon manufacturers of St. Charles, has assigned to George Pfefferkorn, cashier of the Citizens' State Bank.

A fresh young man of Winona was recently knocked out by one of two young ladies, whom he had annoyed with his attentions.

Leonard, younger son of O. F. Hilligoss of Alexandria, drank some Paris green which had been prepared for fly poison, and the physician had lively work saving his life.

While threshing on the Carhart farm near Warren the engine exploded and instantly killed the engineer, Mat Main, of Warren. Nobody else was hurt.

August Picklum, for several years agent for the John Paul Lumber company at Wells, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver at his home in the north part of the city.

The assignment figures of the failure of D. H. Morrison, retail shoe dealer of Winona, have been made public. The liabilities are $18,412.55; assets, $15,107.50.

Judge F. M. Crosby filed his petition for renomination as judge of the district court, First district, at the county auditor's office, at Hastings. It contained over 1,200 names.

Frank Bresland, a painter of Hastings, beat his wife rather severely about the face recently, and was sentenced by Justice Newell to sixty days in the county jail.

The grade of the Mantorville Railway and Transfer company is completed, and the Great Northern has a crew of men laying ties ready for the iron, which will be put on next week.

While Mr. Noah Piper of Perham was sitting on the floor with a coal oil lamp beside him reading, he fell asleep and while in that condition upset the lamp, which exploded, burning him seriously.

The Great Northern hotel barn at Mora was burned, with contents, including ten head of horses, seven belonging to Mulvey & Carmichael of Stillwater. No insurance. Cause unknown.

Judge Williston of Stillwater made an order directing the resale of the Stillwater Street railway, to satisfy creditors, bondholders who were former purchasers of the road having failed to pay off the indebtedness.

Alex Cameron, a highly respected citizen of Brainerd, has been missing from his home since Sunday. No trace of him can be found. It is feared he has wandered away or committed suicide in a fit of temporary insanity. He is about 60 years old.

The dead body of Ed Ryan, a lake fireman, was found in the St. Paul & Duluth yards at Duluth. His head was cut nearly from the trunk and the body was badly mangled. No one knows anything about the man or how he came to his death.

A bold attempt was made at St. Paul to destroy an entire family by setting fire to the building in which they were sleeping in Merriam Park. The family was of Patrick Christie. He feels sure that he knows who the miscreant is and has given his information to the police authorities.

The city of Le Sueur has been presented with an aerolite, weighing over 1,000 pounds, which will be placed in Stewart park. The meteoric stone was presented by C. H. Kinsey. It fell in the fall of 1868 on the farm of George W. Smith, four miles south of Le Sueur.

The state has intervened in the case of the Republic Iron company against the Moon and Kerr Lumber company, involving the highly important question of whether the state tracts in the mineral lands includes the lumber therein. Plaintiffs claim timber on lands in 53-18, leased from the state, and the state has sold the lumber to defendant.

A Winnebago City special to the Minneapolis Tribune says: "The swine plague has again struck this county. The losses to the county last year from that cause were estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000. Many farmers went to work at once to replace their herds, believing that the danger was past. Probably nearly as many hogs could have been counted in this county the 1st of August as a year ago. About that time the plague was reported in a few herds. Since then it has spread rapidly, until to-day it is reported to be working its ravages on every side of town. The disease is much more fatal than last year. Already about one-third of the hogs in the vicinity are dead from the plague. Farmers have found corn-raising to feed to cattle and hogs run together during feeding season to be much more profitable than wheat-growing. An excellent crop is already mature enough to feed, and will be of little value in the market at present prices. These conditions, together with the fact that the plague is still rapidly spreading, make the losses for this county very great."

TYNAN IS ARRESTED

"Number One" Is Captured After Many Years Search

Boulogne, Sept. 15.—Tynan, the notorious "Number One," has been arrested here on a Scotland Yard warrant which was issued in 1882. Tynan arrived in Europe by landing in Genoa in August. He proceeded from there to Paris, where he remained for some days consorting with a number of the members of the dynamite faction of the Irish party. He had been traveling under the name of George Gordon and other aliases when he arrived in Boulogne on Friday evening and put up at the Hotel Folkestone, where he did not hesitate to expound his Fenian views in the bar of the hotel.

His movements had been watched from the time he had arrived on the French territory. The local commissary of police, together with an English detective, burst into his room at 4 o'clock in the morning. The detective held a loaded revolver to his head and threatened to shoot him if he resisted. Tynan was secured and admitted his identity. Incriminating papers and a large sum of money were found in his possession.

The prisoner was lodged in a cell in the Boulogne police station and he will be arraigned in the morning with a view to his extradition to England. The warrant on which the arrest is made charges that the prisoner was concerned in the murders of Lord Frederick Cavendish, chief secretary, and Mr. Burke, under secretary, in Phoenix Park, adjoining the Vice Regal lodge in Dublin, on May 6, 1882, and with the manufacture of dynamite bombs for use in England.

Detective Inspector Walsh has arrived here from Scotland Yard to conduct the case. He said that there would be some connection between Tynan's arrest and the arrest of a man named Bell yesterday at Glasgow and of J. Wallace at Rotterdam.

Daly Not a Dynamiter.

Dublin, Sept. 15. — John Daly, who was recently released from Portland prison, after serving several years on conviction of complicity in a dynamite plot together with his brother, arrived at Queenstown, on Saturday evening. He was met by John Redmond, Patrick O'Brien, Timothy Harrington and others. In replying to an address, Daly declared that he was not a dynamiter; and that he never believed in dynamite to terrorize the English government. The dream of his life, he said, was to fight for Ireland like a soldier and a patriot. There was also a demonstration here in honor of Daly by the Amnesty association. It presented an address to the released dynamiter and Daly, in replying, again repudiated the dynamite policy. He said that he thought that Irishmen were too brave and generous to advocate such principles. He concluded by declaring that he would be identified with no party or faction.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

They Will Endorse the Chicago Ticket and Platform.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 15.—All within forty-eight hours the prospect of a state Democratic convention, enlivened by a sharp contest for supremacy between those who advocate strict party regularity by the indorsement of the Chicago ticket and platform, and those who are inclined to believe that what they called heresies are not binding upon the party, has vanished, and in its place has appeared a brass band, red fire, ratification meeting with little or no friction and possibly placing its indorsement almost unanimously upon the work of the Chicago convention.

Senator Hill will probably not attend the convention. That will remove one element of the anticipated discord. Chairman Hinkley, of the state committee, whose place is wanted by those who favor the Chicago ticket, will decline to be a candidate for re-election, and that eliminates another chance for friction. Senator Hill said to an Associated Press representative in Albany to-day—and this is the first definite statement he has made upon the subject—"I will probably remain away from the Buffalo convention. The statement emanating from Buffalo, that I had telegraphed in response to a query that I would be there Tuesday, is without foundation. Mr. Mack, the state committeeman from that section, telegraphed me on Friday asking when I would arrive in Buffalo, and whether it was definite or not that I would be there. I have not answered the telegram. As I said, I shall probably not attend the convention; but a great many thing might happen between now and convention day."

In addition to the removal of these elements which it was supposed would lead to serious complication, heated controversy and a prolonged and bitter convention, the fact is patent that seven-ninths of the membership of the convention is composed of delegates who come instructed from their localities to vote for the Chicago ticket and platform. This places the control of the convention and all its actions in the hands of those who have assured Mr. Bryan and the national committee of active support.

Cotton Mills Shut Down.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 15. — To-day the Nashville cotton mills shut down for six weeks. The present high price of cotton is assigned as the cause.

Conspirators Shot.

Manilla, Philippine Islands, Sept. 15. —The leaders of the conspiracy against the Spanish government in the Province of Cavite have been shot.

Killed by a Train.

Tomah, Wis., Sept. 15. — Henry Byard, a resident of Greenfield, was run over by a train here this morning and died shortly afterward.

He Indorses Notes.

Cincinnati, Sept. 15. — Ar[illegible]bald H. Warren, cotton manu[illegible]urer and commission merchant, [illegible]ssigned to-day to C. K. Shunk. [illegible]arren was an indorser for $40,000 [illegible]or Pearce, Atkins & Co., who assigne[illegible] Saturday.

Sho[illegible] the Kaiser.

Bautzen, [illegible]axony, Sept. 15.—As Emperor Wi[illegible]iam entered his special train at Loe[illegible] the Dresden express collided w[illegible]h his train. No one was injured b[illegible] the emperor was delayed forty [illegible]inutes.

SULTAN MUST GO

There Will Evidently be a Change in Rulers.

(Copyright, 1896, Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 15. — The dominant note of the moment is that the time to take action in regard to Turkey has arrived, and the disposition of the sultan is openly talked of in quarters where heretofore the slightest infraction of Turkish authority has been viewed with disfavor. Everywhere on the continent, in Great Britain and in Constantinople itself, plans are being discussed to supersede the sultan, and there is no doubt that Great Britain will be the leading spirit in the new move. She is even prepared to act alone if the powers are too slow in co-operating with her. There is no fear, it is said, but so soon as the British fleets are cleared for action, the fleets of other powers will follow the example, if for no other reason than the apprehension that some one of them will gain a point of vantage in the long-looked-for settlement of the affairs of the Turkish empire. Apart from the violent agitation against the action or inaction of the sultan, the protest from all classes in Great Britain, resulting in the summoning of mass meetings in all parts of the country, which are apparently fomented with the object of strengthening the hand of the marquis of Salisbury, there are other indications that both the queen and marquis of Salisbury approve of aggressive action. Probably the best indication that the British premier has got the bit in his teeth is found in the outspoken editorials in the Conservative press, evidently inspired from high quarters, demanding a change in the occupancy of the throne of the Turkish empire.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that the method of the change should be left to the Turks themselves, as there is no doubt that the working chiefs of the army, government offices and church, if once convinced that Europe insists upon it, can supersede the sultan if they please; and they know from experience exactly how to do it. The British fleet in the Mediterranean is about to be enforced by a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers. They have passed Gibraltar and will join the British fleet now anchored in Kavala Bay, Salonica, within easy steaming distance of the Dardanelles.

(Copyright, 1896, Associated Press.)

Nearing a Crisis.

Constantinople, Sept. 15.—To those who have eyes to see, there is more and more evident the approach of a crisis in the affairs of the decrepit Ottoman empire. But the Turk himself offers no signs of an appreciation of the fate that is impending over him in the limit that has apparently been reached in the patience of the European powers with the process of extermination of the Armenians that has been steadily and relentlessly pursued by the Turks. There is no diminution in the rancor displayed by the Mussulmans toward the Armenians and no sign of the relinquishment of the Turks contention that the Armenians are persistent and determined revolutionists and agitators against the sovereignty of the sultan and, as such, invite the stringent repressive measures that have been used against them.

Some color has been admitted to this contention of the Turks from the fact that some of the envoys of the powers have received a circular note from the Hintchak revolutionary committee declaring that if the reforms demanded by the Armenians at the time of the raid by them upon the Ottoman bank are not granted there will be a more serious outbreak against the Turkish authorities and over a much wider area than was the last, which resulted in the apparently indiscriminate slaughter of Armenians in this city.

Since Friday there has been a large increase of the patrols of cavalry in the Rapia the suburb of Constantinople, in which are situated the French and English ambassadors' residences, and in Buyukdere and Pera. This is the sultan's precautionary measure against future outrages, in compliance with the warning contained in the note from the powers. These troops, it is understood, come under the authority of those who are warned that they will be responsible if outbreaks involving the destruction of property and loss of life occur.

Maine's Election.

Portland, Me., Sept. 15.—The state and congressional election is taking place to-day. From the outset national issues have been kept to the fore. Democrats concede that the Republicans will win, the only question being that of the size of the plurality, and they profess that they will be content if it does not exceed 20,000. Republicans predict a falling off of the Democratic vote owing to dissatisfaction with the declaration of the state convention on the money question, which induced the first nominee of the convention for governor to decline, his place on the ticket being filled by M. P. Frank. It is believed by Republican leaders that most of the gold standard Democrats will vote for Clifford, while the remainder will stay away from the polls. However, with this claim, few estimate the Republican plurality as high as 25,000. Speaker Reed's re-election by the largest majority he has ever received is predicted by his partisans.

Mother and Daughter Drowned.

Dubuque, Iowa, Sept. 15.—Mrs. William Vyverberg and daughter, twenty years old, were drowned above town to-day, while attempting to drive across a swollen creek.

Elevator Burned at Grafton.

Grafton, N. D., Sept. 15.—The Minneapolis & Northern elevator, situated four miles south of Grafton on the Great Northern road, burned to the ground to-day.

Miss Barton Home.

New York, Sept. 15.—Among the passengers arriving this morning per steamer Umbria, from Liverpool, was Miss Clara Barton, the representative of the Red Cross society, who has returned from the scene of the Armenian troubles. At Quarantine it was said that Miss Barton was well, had enjoyed the voyage and was intensely enthusiastic about her work.

Bourke Cochran addressed an immense Chicago audience in advocacy of the gold standard.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST
—DEALERS IN—
Hardware, Furniture,
—AND—
BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.
—0—
Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing
Razors honed and put in first-class order.
J. H. PENNO, Prop.
ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.
FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.
West side Broadway.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

DO YOU NEED
WOOLEN GOODS!
OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.-

C. A. SKEIE.
ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
RUNS
THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA — PULLMAN
BUTTE — SLEEPING CARS
SPOKANE — ELEGANT
TACOMA — DINING CARS
SEATTLE — TOURIST
PORTLAND — SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg, St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets. call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
CHAS. S. FEE, Crookston, Minn.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.
For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON, of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.
For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.
For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Hennepin
For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON, Polk.
For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES. St. Louis.
Presidential Electors—
T. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H. H. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kellilher; Charles D' Autrement; Hans B. Bjorge; James Dillon.

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON
For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY
For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE
For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM
For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN
For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN
For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY
For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS
For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE
For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA
For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY
For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER
For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives—
S. J. LEE.......Norman County
G. O. GILBERTSON, "
W. A. MARIN,......Polk County

SILVER IN MEXICO.

Inasmuch as some of the free coinage of silver people think the following article is great argument in their favor, we publish it for their benefit. We do not know whether it is a forgery or not, but here it is:

J. H. Kennedy, a former resident of Iowa, has attacked the statement so generally made regarding Mexico and silver by making the following affidavit before E. H. English, a notary public at Valley Junction, Iowa.

"I, James H. Kennedy, now a resident of the town of Sinalva, in the state of Sinaloa, Mexico, do solemnly swear that I am an American by birth: that I served three years in the 7th Iowa during the late civil war; that I have always been a Republican, that I have resided in Mexico for twenty-five years; that I speak the Spanish language as well or better than I now do the English. I have traveled through twenty-four of the twenty-seven states in Mexico in an official capacity and as interpreter for numerous syndicates. I have had access to almost all the archives of that country. I am better acquainted with the customs and usages of that country than I am of my mother country. I left Mexico on the 2nd day of March, 1896, coming to this country to visit my friends, relatives and old comrades. During the last month in Iowa I have heard more absurd and utterly false statements made in regard to Mexico than I ever thought could be conjured up by mortal man, all to deceive the voter.

"One most heard is that you can take one American silver dollar into Mexico and get two Mexican silver dollars for it, or that you can get a 50-cent meal and throw down an American dollar and they will give you back in change a Mexican dollar. I brand this as utterly false in every respect, a lie manufactured out of whole cloth. I assert that a Mexican will not accept an American dollar, either gold, silver, or paper, for any amount, but will refer you to a broker where you can sell your silver dollars as bullion for Mexican money, then they will trade with you. The largest hotel in the city of Mexico will not accept American money under any circumstances but will invariably refer you to a broker.

"By paying the mintage, any one can take silver bullion to either of the mints in Mexico and get Mexican silver dollars for it, and for 250 years silver bullion has never fluctuated up or down to exceed 2 cents. I hear it asserted that the national debt is payable in gold. I brand this as utterly false. Every dollar of the debt, $146,000,000, is and always has been payable in the lawful money of that country, and we are now paying our debt in Mexican silver dollars, the money of the contract.

"I assert that Mexico in the present decade is making strides of advancement greater than any other nation on earth. Twenty-five years ago we had eighty miles of railroad, now we have near 8,000 miles of railroad. We are building factories on every hand. Twenty-eight years ago, when the French army was driven out, the Mexican government was left penniless, not a dollar in the treasury. We can now pay our entire national debt, any day a demand would be made for it. I am now on my way to Mexico to spend the rest of my life. Anyone can find me by addressing a letter to James H. Kennedy, Sinaloa, Mexico.

"In conclusion I invite an honest and thorough investigation into the facts of my statement and I defy successful contradiction. I am not the owner of mining stocks and no personal interest has caused me to make this statement, but have given it by request of an old comrade.'

James H. Kennedy."

THE GOLD MEN'S CURE.

In a pamphlet just issued by the gold men, and extensively circulated, we find this, among many other things equally ridiculous:

"What then is the cause of hard times?"

"Overproduction and overspeculation," etc.

"What is the remedy?"

"Be industrious, saving and as cheerful as you can."

Is not that enough to crack a smile on the face of a mud pond? Would not that kind of logic split the sides of a brass monkey with laughter?

The cause of hard times is overproduction. That is to say the people have produced so much food that they are starving; they have manufactured so much clothing that they must go ragged; they have made so many shoes that they must go barefoot; they have built so many houses that they are without shelter!

And the remedy for overproduction is to be "industrious and saving." Shades of Aristotle! What reasoning! We have already created so much wealth by our great industry that there is an overproduction, and the way to cure this evil is to be more industrious in order that we may produce a still greater supply, and to be saving so that this supply will not be diminished! In the language of the street we are tempted to exclaim, "Wouldn't that kill you!"

And we must be "cheerful," too! Why of course. How can we help it? What mortal could be otherwise than cheerful with such a pleasing prospect before him? What soul is not thrilled with joy at this masterly diagnosis of our social disease and the unfailing remedy that has been prescribed? Cheerful? Yes, indeed! Forty cent wheat, 12 cent oats, 10 cent potatoes, with the prospect of a winter of starvation staring hundreds of thousands of idle workingmen in the face, the American people are just bubbling over with cheerfulness. So let the gold cure doctors be satisfied on that score.

It is a rare thing to find any kind of argument in defense of the present gold standard; but here indeed is an argument which must carry conviction to every logical mind, so let the voters of our country mark it well. Let them realize that the cause of want is overproduction, and that the remedy for overproduction is to be industrious, saving and cheerful.—Reform-Advocate.

A Nut To Crack.

Saginaw, Mich., News: A Grass Lake farmer sends the following to the Evening News, which is pretty near the meat of the nut he is cracking: "Gen. Alger is right. The price of everything else has gone down with silver, I know this, because I can take 50 cents worth of silver today and buy as much horse, as much cow, as much hog, as much grain, as much wool, as much butter, as much egg, and in fact as much of any farm produce as I could with $1 worth of silver when I bought my farm in 1870. But when I come to make a payment on my mortgage, which is not yet altogether wiped out, I still have to put up $1 worth of silver (a gold dollar) to pay $1 worth of mortgage. In other words, everything my farm produces, except the mortgage, has gone down half in value. That is why I am a silver Republican, and why the man who holds a mortgage is a gold Republican. Hurrah for Teller!"

The gold standard men are fond of rushing into object lessons. Here is one they might contemplate with profit: When Gen. Grant was president in 1873 his salary of $50,000 was the equivalent of 40,000 bushels of wheat per year. The people, still paying $50,000 give Grover Cleveland the equivalent of 90,000 bushels of wheat. This is a condition, not a theory, and yet the president has the magnificent nerve to talk of dishonesty and repudiation.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Silver to The Front.

The first campaign gun, from Oregon told how in that republican state the 15,000 republican plurality had been swept away and a judicial inquiry was necessary to decide whether populist or republican congressmen were elected.

Alabama fired the second gun, which increased the democratic free silver coinage plurality of that state 20,000 votes.

In Vermont, where the democrats ran a gold platform and received no support from the national committee even to the extent of a single free coinage speech, the republicans are elected as usual, although the democrats add 350 votes to their ballot of 1894.

Now comes Arkansas with 60,000 plurality, an increase of 12,000 over 1894 and 20,000 over 1892, the republicans being a poor third party in the field with less than 25 per cent of the vote of the state.

In the four states all told, the free coinage cause has gained 75,000 votes, and the republicans have lost fully 50,000. The gold craze is on the wane.

The following testimony to Lincoln's unfailing kindness is borne by Mr. C. A. Dana, who had abundant opportunities to see the president under circumstances that would be sore trials to any man's temper:

He was kind at heart, not from mere politeness. I never heard him say an unkind thing about anybody. Now and then he would laugh at something jocose or satirical that somebody had done or said, but it was always pleasant humor.

I noticed his sweetness of nature, particularly with his little son, a child at that time perhaps 6 or 8 years old, who used to roam the departments and whom everybody called Tad. He had a defective palate and couldn't speak very plainly. Often I have sat by his father reporting to him about some important matter that I had been ordered to inquire into, and he would have this boy on his knee, and while he would perfectly understand the report the striking thing about him was his affection for the child.

He was good to everybody. Once there was a great gathering at the White House on New Year's day, and all the diplomats came in their uniforms, and all the officers of the army and navy in Washington were in full costume. A little girl of mine said:

"Papa, couldn't you take me over to see that?"

I said yes. So I took her over and put her in a corner, where she beheld this gorgeous show. When it was finished, I went up to Mr. Lincoln and said:

"I have a little girl here who wants to shake hands with you." He went over to her and took her up and kissed her and talked to her. She will never forget it if she lives to be a thousand years old. That was the nature of the man.

At the Peabody library is an old map of Maryland and Virginia, which is believed to date back to the seventeenth century. The map has a description of Maryland on one leaf of the back and a description of Virginia on the other leaf. It is bound with a few blank pages, to give it stability, and was evidently part of a larger work describing the American colonies, as the pages are numbered. "Baltimore town" is situated between the "Susquesabanough" and Bush rivers. No especial mention is made of it in the description of the colony, in which "St. Maries" figures as the chief place. In addition to the Susquehanna, with its queer spelling, the principal rivers are named as the Patowmoo, Patuxent, Ann Arundel, alias Severn, Choptank, Nantoocke and Pocomoke. Tobacco raising is named as the principal source of revenue in the colony, and it is stated that trade was carried on chiefly by barter and exchange. The map was published in London.—Baltimore Sun.

A Great Deal to Know.

A rather fine looking young man once applied to Disraeli for a position.

"I know, sir," said the applicant wistfully, "how little I know."

"Dear me," said the great statesman, "as much as that? I haven't got half that distance yet!"

But he secured him a position then and there.—London Answers.

PLATFORM IN A NUTSHELL.

The Populist Platform says that through executive power and patronage, the will of the people has been thwarted and plutocracy has been enthroned on the ruins of democracy. It demands:—

Increase in the volume of the currency.

Free coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1.

That postal saving banks shall be established.

That the Pacific railroad liens shall be forclosed.

That the graduated income tax shall be levied.

That demonetization of lawful money by contract shall be prohibited.

That no more bonds shall be issued except by specific act of congress.

That the government shall own and operate the railroad and telegraph lines.

Thats grants of railroad lands not needed by the roads shall be reclaimed and held for settlers.

That the president, vice-president and senators shall be elected by direct vote of the people.

That the government shall exercise its option in paying its obligations in either gold or silver.

That the initative and referendum (by which the people can vote on the enactment of laws) shall be inaugurated.

The platform expresses sympathy for Cubans; favors home rule in the District of Columbia and the early admission of the territories to statehood; favors just pensions, denounces rule by contempt proceedings and denounces ballot box frauds.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

MINNESOTA
State Normal Schools
—AT—
Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD. Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY
THE ST. LOUIS
DAILY JOURNAL
SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.
EVENING AND SUNDAY.
—o—
PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday	$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone	$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year	$4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year	$1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application. Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW¼ of SE¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NENE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties, in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 13	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NENE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 5.50
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
3 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE¼ of SE¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
3 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.
Dray in Connection.
First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.
☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!
Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.
J. C. DAHL.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
ALL KINDS OF Hardware
HEADQUARTERS FOR
Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.
BRINK BROTHERS
DEALERS IN
Wines & Liquors
Minneapolis Beer.
Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF Agricultural Implements

McCORMICK NO. 4.

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR
STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department.....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS
The SPECTATOR,
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,
North Side Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily
Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.
W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

Chas. G. Rapp .... President
J. L. Johnson .... Recorder
H. J. Freeman ....
W. A. Sorsoleil .... Councilmen
M. Z. Epperson ....
Leonard Holmes .... Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	45c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	10c	Eggs	7c
Barley	10c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	49c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

The flax crop is No. 1.

Our merchants are putting in a stock of fall goods.

Fred Eikhoff received a fine lot of heaters Monday.

S. Harris is building an addition to to his work-shop.

Another invoice of campaign buttons arrived last week.

The sauer kraut season on hand. Place your orders.

M. E. Bjerk spent a few days at Crookston last week.

The rain of last week delayed threshing operations for several days.

Occasionally the whistle of a threshing engine is heard in this vicinity.

E. M. Hoff took the Monday south bound passenger train for Crookston.

Miss Bertha Salter made her regular trip last week meeting her classes in music.

J. H. Penno and Will Harris started out for the duck ponds early Monday morning.

J. W. Wheeler, cashier of the First National Bank of Crookston was in the village to-day.

If you are thinking about proving up on your homestead, drop in and have a talk with us.

Mrs. Fred Eikhoff, and daughter, left Friday for Crookston where they remained until Monday visiting friends.

The gold wing of the democratic party has been christened the McKinley Aid Society. Very appropriate indeed.

M. P. Satterlee, editor of the Red Lake Falls Journal, passed through here last Friday on his way to the twin cities.

Gust Sandberg, a prosperous young farmer of Black River township, was in the village yesterday after repairs for his binder.

There is something radically wrong with the express system of the northwest when you pay 75 cents express for a 50 cent article.

Scarcely a day passes but what hunting parties go out and bring back game of every description, while others bring back varied stories.

Wm. Peters of this village has been engaged to teach an eight months term of school at Angus. The term to begin the first part of October.

A baloon ascention and a parachute jump will occur every day during the fair at Fertile. The dates for the fair is set for Sept. 23rd to 25th.

Hon. J. L. Erickson of Crookston will deliver a free silver lecture at St. Hilaire this evening at 8 o'clock. Turn out and here both sides of the question.

A farmer who would vote for gold standard and dear money has as little business sense as the bondholder who would vote for the free coinage of silver.

We are in receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Third Annual Fair which will be held at Fertile, Sept. 23, 24 and 25. The managers are confident that it will eclipse all former fairs.

Mr. L. C. Simons, the bookkeeper in the North Side Roller Mill, of Red Lake Falls came up on Friday's train, remained over night and went to Thief River Falls by team Saturday.

Mark Hanna is reported to have bled one of the Vanderbilts out of $1,000,000 which will be applied for campaign purposes. That would be enough to buy several states like Vermont.

S. M. Dainard was out feeling the pulse of the farmers in the northern tier of townships of Polk county last week. Sam acknowledges a few cases where he received the marble heart.

Hon. C. H. Bjorne, who was advertised to make a republican campaign speech here yesterday afternoon in the Norwegian language failed to make connections and his place was filled by B. J. Montague of Crookston.

THAT BIG SAW MILL.

Arpin Brothers Here And Work on The Race and Clearing the Site Will Begin at Once.

A. L. and E. P. Arpin, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, both practical saw mill men, and Julian Biron, of Merrill, Wisconsin, who is a practical race and dam builder have been here sine Monday making arrangements to build the race and also to clear up a fifty-nine acre tract for the saw mill and lumber yard. There will be a demand for a number of cords of stone and anyone having any on hand, or can get any, will do well by calling at once and make arrangements for delivering the same. Work will commence immediately after the necessary transfer is made which will be soon as possible.

Through this medium we will inform the Thief River Falls lady that the corked bottle with a note in was picked up in the river at this point yesterday. For further particulars write Drayman Peterson.

The fine "Canadian Honker" (goose) that was killed the first of the week proved to be a turkey when it was served at the American hotel tables. We supposed the season for shooting geese opened Sept. 1st.

There is some talk of drafting a "curfew" ordinance in this village. Quite a few are of the opinion that children should be kept off of the streets after eight o'clock, especially those of the age between 8 and 15.

Some of the republican papers in order to get their readers attention brought to a certain editorial have adopted the old time funeral notice style, viz: Framed, inside of turned column rules of 6 to 8 point in size.

The second annual house cleaning is in progress. The gold and silver bug is being passed up while much attention is paid to the bed bug. The Standard Oil trust is its worst enemy, and in some cases the application of a match is necessary.

A man by the name of Torgeson, living west of Thief River Falls, accompanied by a good sized "jag" engineered a deal whereby two mules came to their death last week by being run into a ditch. The man died inside of twenty-four hours also.

Mrs. Ware, wife of the editor of the Thief River Falls Press, is one of the heirs to a $400,000,000 fortune. All that is required now is to produce proof of relationship. Mrs. Ware's share will be something over one million dollars.

County Commissioner Norland was in the village Monday to see how they were progressing on the new steele bridge. Has the coming election anything to do with the non-arrival of the material? This proposed bridge was to be completed by the first of this month.

James E. Wiley of Thief River Falls made his first trip to St. Hilaire last Friday with his new "Hamm's" delivery wagon. Jim is putting on metropolitan airs, but then as is always the case, good goods, good turnout. Look for his ad. elsewhere in the columns of this paper.

Why, all the republican papers of this country are in favor of free silver, but they want it by "international agreement." That is, if John Bull says so, they are perfectly willing. We are aware of the fact that J. B. has been running this country for the past few years to our sorrow.

The presence of an Indian is seldom seen in St. Hilaire, but Saturday, one was spied by two little girls coming out of the American hotel and screams went up that would put to shame a house full of women in the presence of a little innocent mouse. Evidently the children had been reading Indian history lately.

Carl Johnson and family left Saturday afternoon for an outing in the vicinity of Black River where Carl put in most of his time training dogs and shooting the festive prairie chickens. They returney Sunday evening much pleased with the trip and beautiful scenery of autumn, which is the prettiest of all seasons of the year.

A meeting will be called in the near future by the hunters of this village for the purpose of talking over the matter of purchasing a quantity of wild rice which is to be sowed in the several lakes and sloughs in this vicinity. This is a move in the right direction. Wild rice sown this fall would insure the very best of hunting next year and would be inducement enough to keep the ducks around until freezing up time. By all means call the meeting at once and send for the rice.

Taking it all in all, this has been a wonderful year, and now we are reminded of the sunny south where they harvest two and three crops a year. H. J. Freeman was around Monday showing his many friends apple blossoms which he plucked from the apple trees in his garden. He claims when they blossomed last spring the wind raised havoc with the buds, but now he is calculating on picking winter apples. This is no josh as it can be verified by several of the St. Hilaireites where truth and veracity abound. We have eight blossoms placed betweed the pages of an American Type Foundry catalogue undergoing petrification with a thirty-three pound type metal weight.

Hopeful—Pa, Johnny Higgins is a bigger fool than people think. Oh, but I soaked him last evening.

Great Politician—Bully for you! How did you do it?

Hopeful—Why, you know you said yesterday morning that a dollar was worth only 50 cents, I had fourteen of them and sold the whole mess to the blamed sucker for 65 cents apiece.—Ex.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Young People Entertained.

Saturday evening about 7:30 two loads of Black River young people arrived in the village to enjoy the hospitality of Mr. Rapp. With the inclemency of the weather it was with much exertion on his part that the society going people of the town were induced to repair to his living apartments. When all had gathered and exchanged greetings with the visitors, Mr. Rapp asked that the roof be allowed to remain (as it was raining) but for the remainder of the building he cared naught. The first wish expressed was to have the Black River Choir sing; it is needless to say the wish was granted. Albert Anderson pressed the keys of the piano, in a masterly manner and Misses Selma and Anna Sandberg, Miss Hedda Anderson and Mr. Gust Sandberg formed the choir. When the last note echoed through the halls the audience, never having an opportunity to such a treat before, requested that the choir render another selection which was done. In return Misses Minnie Olson and Mary Quandy favored the visitors with a few choice selections. After the singing games were in order and all enjoyed themselves immensely when the sports were cut short by Mr. Rapp announcing that Miss Anna Hagan had prepared supper and it was now ready. The doors of the dining room were opened and the beautiful repast was enjoyed and relished by the merry group. Supper over, a variety of games were indulged in, time passing so pleasantly that the earliness of the hour wasn't thought of until the "fruit basket" was most empty having its variety called out so often. The villagers then took their departure feeling that the evening would last in memory for many moons. Besides those already mentioned from Black River were: Misses Teckla, Anna and Mr. Oscar Erickson, and from the village, Misses Cora Harris and Edith Dainard, Messrs. Ives, Post, Penno, O'Brien, W. Stranahan and E. Brink. The visitors remained until Sunday afternoon viewing the surrounding then took their departure for home. Their coming will long be remembered with pleasure.

A traveling man stopped off here last Friday and while taking dinner at the American hotel was talking about straw the vote on trains, etc., when all at once the idea struck him that he had a "free silver pocket book" and was so anxious to show it to his friends (?) that he made a mistake and got down in the wrong pocket and pulled out a long woman's stocking. He tried to explain—but it would not go down. He said there was only one man in this United States, and that was Mc-Hanna. This man that was doing all the talking for McKinley wore a hook nose and said he was a near relative of the Rothschild's. He should be traveling around with a hand-organ instead of taking straw votes.

Republican Rally.

The political Montague Gold Bug meeting was a tame affair; it is very doubtful if the public will see it mentioned in any of the Big Daily's so we propose to be liberal and give it a small space in the SPECTATOR.

After racing around town for about an hour they managed to get quite a few silver people to go over and hear the Wall Street advocate. By actual count, 28 including several school boys were found to be there.

Mr. Montague laid great weight on what the republican party had done for this country among other things the demonetization of silver in 1873 he claimed was one of the best acts as he claimed it was only by this act that we were able to keep silver at home because before this time silver was always at a premium and in consequence it would always go to Europe and other countrys and we poor people would have nothing but gold to depend upon.

So according to Mr. Montague's theory if we wish to keep any article of value the only safe and sure way in doing so is to ruin the same by legislation.

Mr. Montague did not mention the fact that all the silver that left this country prior to 1873 was paid for at the rate of $1.30 per ounce while under the present gold standard we are selling it to Europe for 68 cts. per ounce which alone gave us a loss of about $38,000,000 besides using this same silver to reduce the price of our wheat in the European markets during the last year.

Mr. Montague pointed with pride to our great national banks as the greatest blessings of our country and stated that as long as the poorer people were arrayed against the wealthy we will never have prosperity. Confidence is what we should have whether we have any money or not. So we understand from this that we have no right to think, speak or act because we have not got the money to back us. We had better leave it all to Mark Hanna and Wall Street and we will have prosperity and everything in abundance, especially of real estate and chattel mortgages on our property and if the government is out of money we can sell a few bonds, John Bull is always willing to buy.

He ended his arguments by saying we should by all means vote for McKinley and a protective tariff as he claimed these blessed banks and corporations are not sufficiently protected but by a mistake. He forgot to say any thing about protecting the American farmer and laborer.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

A country editor in the Rocky Mountain region is credited with having said that in his section of country they have mountains so high that you can tickle the feet of the silver angels in heaven, and gorges so deep that you can descend to their base and hand down ice to the gold bugs in the infernal regions.

PRETTY PLAIN POINTERS.

Can any one say why the gold bugs in this election are preparing to weep for the laboring men in case of Bryne's election, rather than for themselves? When did capital become so sympathetic? They protest too much.—Duluth Citizen.

In Mexico, farmers receive $1.40 per bushel for their wheat. They can bring their money to this country, which is said to be only 50 cent dollars and yet they would have 70 cents per bushel for their wheat. This is an object lesson.—Ex.

Free Silver is denounced by a class of self-constituted preservers of our country who claim that it would be the ruination of commerce to attempt it. And yet all the pauper immigration we hear so much about, and see so much of, comes from gold standard countries. —St. Louis Journal.

A gold standard means dear money. So dear that the average mortal will know it only by reputation, not by sight. The farmer on the western prairies would fail to see any of it, except in rare instances. The gold standard is the standard of the money loaners and bond broker.—Crookston Times.

There is no such thing as a 50-cent dollar. Law creates money and the material from which it is made has nothing to do with it. The Government could take 2 cents worth of silver and stamp it a dollar and it would be worth a dollar and pass for a dollar. Such silly twaddle as gold bugs advance is nonsense.

The bugs are pretty bad this season and the farmer is having a tough time, according to an exchange. The 16 to 1 men are silver bugs, the prohibitionists are water bugs, the women suffragists are lady bugs, the sound money men are gold bugs, the mugwumps are humbugs—and the potato bugs are eating up all the Paris green.

All the opposition forces to the Clough administration in Minnesota have united in the nomination of ex Congressman John Lind for governor. The people of Minnesota are getting practical in politics and are confident of winning a victory this fall. The old pine land railroad ring of the state is beginning to feel shaky.—Jamestown (N. D.) Alert.

The most amusing feature of the present campaign is the delimna in which the banks have been placed by the republican press. A few weeks ago a great cry went up about how depositors would be swindled by having to accept 50-cent dollars in case Bryan and free silver should win. This has caused a run on many of the banks and as there are but few of them but what are tottering on the verge of bankruptcy, some of them are likely to have an interesting time between now and election if this style of campaign ing is continued.—McIntosh Times.

If the great republican party wishes to have an unshackled man in the Presidential chair, if it does not wish to have its candidate owned by two millionaires, it should raise a fund to pay off that McKinley note held by Mark Hanna and H. H. Kohlsaat. It is not Mr. McKinley's fault that he is a poor man, but it would be a very creditable thing for the people of the United States to have two millionaires putting the screws to their president. The only chance that Hanna and Kohlsaat have for getting their money is to induce the people to elect McKinley.—Helena Independent.

Gen. Standish has in his office The Chicago Tribune of August 25, 1896, which we have examined and from it copy this editorial:

Free silver would raise the prices of the farmers products, and make it impossible for anybody to buy them.

This is the entire editorial. Any one who will call at the General's office in the Herald block can see the paper and the editorial. This claim is being made in the east against free silver, that more money will have to be paid for the food they eat which the farmers grow.—Grand Forks Plaindealer.

—Subscribe for the SPECTATOR. ☜

Change of Northern Pacific Depot in Minneapolis.

On and after September 1st all Northern Pacific passenger trains will arrive at and depart from the C. M. & St. P. Ry. passenger station, Washington and Fourth Avenue South, Minneapolis. Passengers alight from trains on a level with the street and will not have steps to climb in order to get out of depot. This change will land the passenger nearer the business part of the city. Street car lines are immediately in front of the depot entrance, thus giving quick and easy access to any part of the city. When you want to take the Northern Pacific to or from Minneapolis, remember the change of depots.

The BEER

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale! —The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

The American Hotel. . . .

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - - MINNESOTA

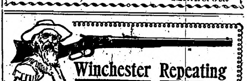
Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THE GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Take

The best when you need medicine. For blood, appetite, nerves, stomach, liver, nothing equals

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

EXCESSIVE USE OF COFFEE.

Blindness Is Often One of the Final Results.

Do you want to be blind? Drink coffee. Drink lots of it. Drink it with breakfast, lunch and dinner, and drink it between meals. Drink it when you get up in the morning, and drink it before you go to bed at night. Drink it long and strong, and keep it up, and by and by you will be sightless as the proverbial bat.

This is what the celebrated physician, St. Arnaud, says, and there are New York doctors who indorse the declaration.

It is well known that the Moors are inveterate coffee-drinkers, especially the merchants, who sit in their bazars and drink coffee continually during the day. It has been noticed that almost invariably when these coffee-drinkers reach about the age of forty their eyesight begins to fail, and by the time they get to be fifty years old they become blind. One is forcibly impressed by the number of blind men that are seen about the streets of the city of Fez, the capital of Morocco. It is invariably attributed to the excessive use of coffee. This opinion has been confirmed by the opinion of European physicians living there.

The noted chieftain, Mohammed Ben Zaed, the most powerful vassal of the Moorish sultan, is a striking example of the effect of the excessive indulgence in the use of the bean. He is fifty-two years old. When he was forty-four his eyesight began to fail, and by the time he reached his fiftieth year he was utterly sightless. He visited Fez to consult the European physicians there. They could do nothing for him. Then he was advised to visit Madrid and consult the famous oculist, Don Hanuel de Escobedo.

This expert, though he had gained a wide reputation as a specialist in eye diseases, was puzzled with this case, which was not capable of pathological solution upon the basis of his past experience. He knew that the effect of coffee was of a decidedly stimulating nature, and to a great extent tonic; thus the excessive use of it would severely affect the nervous system and bring about conjunctivitis and keltitis; but in the practice of the various specialists in nervous diseases no other effect of coffee-use was to be found, except in some very rare cases, and these were medical curiosities. Mohammed Ben Zaed was obliged to return home without having received any relief.—Atlanta Constitution.

Coconnut Hanging Baskets.

Pretty little hanging baskets for tiny vines can be made of cocoanut shells. Split a cocoanut as nearly in half as possible, and with a piece of red-hot wire bore three holes in the upper part, from which to fasten the trails of wire by which it will hang; also bore one or two tiny holes at the bottom, so that when you have planted your greenery in the soil there will be a means of drainage. Gild the edges of the nut with liquid gold, fill the shells with mould and plant in them some of the pretty wild ferns that flourish in abundance in the country, and add some fertile creeping vine.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

And Several Cases of Beer.

"I thought Wibble was such a good rider, and here he goes and smashes his wheel against a brewery wagon."

"That wasn't awkwardness. It was a case of fascination."—Indianapolis Journal.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has been a God-send to me.—William B. McClellan, Chester, Florida, Sept. 17, 1895.

An Indispensable Personage.

"I guess we'd better fix up a flag of truce and show it to those Cubans," said the Spanish general.

"Is it absolutely necessary?"

"I'm afraid so. My stenographer wants a vacation."—Washington Star.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Company, printed near the bottom of the package. For sale by all responsible druggists.

A Self-Evident Truth.

Mrs. Wellment (bestowing a dime.) Poor fellow! You say your wife and family are starving—where are they?

Weary Willy—Dey are boardin' at a summer hotel, lady.—Harper's Bazar.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Oh, Yes, They Are Quite Expert.

"Did you know that mosquitoes are ravenously fond of Boston girls?"

"No; why is it?"

"The girls can't slap at them without smashing their spectacles."—Chicago Record.

"THE MIDDLE SOUTH"

A handsomely illustrated 16 page Monthly Journal describing the development of the Middle South, the farmer's paradise. Price 50 cents per year. Send 25 cts. at once mentioning this paper and you will receive "The Middle South," for one year, postage free, or if you secure four subscribers and send us $1.00 we will send your paper one year free of charge. Address Middle South Pub. Co., Somerville, Tenn.

SALESMEN WANTED

To sell for Spring delivery the largest stock of HARDY FRUITS, SHADE TREES, FOREST TREE SEEDLINGS, SEED CORN, and POTATOES in the West. We grow our own goods and give three plans of work. PAY WEEKLY. An early start is half the battle. Write for terms at once. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minn.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS.

CATCHING A SHARK.

A Monster Fifteen Feet Long Pulled on Deck—Its Thirteen Sharklets.

"On a recent trip," said a Pittsburg traveling man, "that I made to Central America, the crew and passengers had quite an experience with a shark. We were on board the Andes, one of the Atlas line of steamers. She broke some important part of her machinery and was entirely unseaworthy. It required twenty-four hours to put her in condition to proceed on our way. The accident happened before daybreak, when we were within two days of New York. During all that time we were floating about on the ocean, and, fortunately for us, the ocean was perfectly calm. When the first daylight came we discovered that we were completely surrounded by sharks. Someone suggested that we catch a shark.

"The idea was no more than hatched before the captain, who was a young man making his first trip, took the matter up and proceeded to work. He secured a large hook, attached it to the end of several plies of telegraph wire, and then fastened it to the end of a rope, leaving about five feet of wire to prevent the shark from biting it off. On the hook he placed a huge piece of bacon, then he dropped the line. It had hardly struck the water when he got a bite. The captain made a desperate jerk. So did the shark, and the hook was bent perfectly straight. A number of such attempts were made, but each time with the same result. An old tar who had been a witness to the attempts to hook the monster, produced an old-fashioned half-round steel file, and proceeded to make a hook that he said would hold. After quite a long wait the hook was finished and attached to the line, but before going any further the old sailor gave instructions as to how he wanted the work done. He made a loop on the end of another rope, passed the hook and line through the loop, and the latter was held on deck. The hook was baited and thrown into the water, and in an instant a mighty rush of sharks was made to get the bacon. The crowd of sailors pulled on the rope and fastened the hook in the upper jaw of what proved to be a fifteen-foot shark. The old tar yelled 'drop your loop!' It dropped down the line and passed over the shark's head, when it was tightened up.

"Then began the most desperate struggle I ever saw for freedom. It took all on board to pull the marine monster on deck. After much time and patience, as it required both, to give it time to exhaust itself, the shark was landed. The passengers made themselves conspicuous by absence. The shark lashed the deck with its tail and body until the ship almost trembled. It was the most exciting scene I ever witnessed. The shark would open its mouth, showing a cavity that a man could easily crawl into, and teeth as sharp as needles. One of the sailors, after a long wait, succeeded in getting close enough to cut the monster's throat with an ax. After a postmortem examination it was discovered to be a female, and the mother of thirteen young sharklets. An effort was made to bring some of the young ones to New York, but they all died in a short time. Each of them was about three feet long. As they were thrown overboard they were gobbled up by other larger ones."—Pittsburg Leader.

COWCATCHER VS. COUGAR.

A Belligerent Mountain Lion Knocked Out by a Locomotive.

Cougars must be thick in the vicinity of Lowell, Wash., for on Wednesday morning at 2:40 o'clock a large one was run down and killed by the east-bound Great Northern passenger train at a point a mile and a half east of Lowell. The engine, No. 210, was in charge of Engineer E. Depew, and behind it was train No. 4. At the hour mentioned the train was behind time, and was making up for it by getting over the metals at the rate of fifty miles an hour. When passing over a trestle a slight shock was felt. That was when the cougar was struck.

The west-bound passenger came along shortly afterwards and saw the huge cat lying alongside the track, with his left hind leg cut off. The engineer reported the matter to the train crew of the east-bound freight, No. 16, and the animal was picked up. It was found that its left hind leg had been cut off close to the body by the wheels of train No. 4.

An examination of the vicinity disclosed that the panther was evidently on the track when the train came along and started to run ahead of the train in order to keep out of the way. Finding that the train was gaining on it, the animal turned and jumped toward the engine. The fore feet struck the cowcatcher, but the force of the collision must have knocked all the fight out of the cougar. Its claws failed to hold it, and it rolled to the right side and fell to the track, with the result that the wheels amputated the leg, and the cougar soon bled to death.

The animal weighed about 250 pounds, measured seven feet in length, was armed with huge claws and teeth, and would have been a fierce customer for a man to encounter unless well armed.

The dead beast was taken to Skyhomish, where it attracted much admiring attention. After the people of Skyhomish had satisfied their curiosity the body was taken to Leavenworth, where it is lying in state at present. The claws have been cut off and will be preserved as souvenirs by Engineer Depew and others. The head is badly scarred, and the animal has evidently participated in many a hard-fought battle.

Engineer Depew said that there was a chance for some mighty hunter to distinguish himself by killing a huge cougar that frequents the vicinity of Gold Bar, on the line of the Great Northern railway. He has seen the cougar a number of times, and the animal pays but little attention to the train when it comes along, although it seems to have sense enough to get off the track when the train gets too close. Cougars are usually sneaky and cowardly in their habits, but this one seems to be afraid of nothing.—Minneapolis Journal.

Life of a Locomotive.

Some careful experiments which have been made in England prove that the life of a locomotive is about 500,000 "train miles." In other words, that a locomotive of the latest pattern will run 500,000 miles before wearing out so as to be useless. In making this run of 500,000 miles the fire box will have to be renewed three times, the wheel tires five or six times and the crank axles from three to five times.

An Infallible Guesser.

When Thomas was compiling one of his first almanacs his clerk asked him what forecast he should enter opposite a certain week in July.

"Thunder, hail and snow," promptly replied Thomas—and, lo! the prediction proved to be true! Thomas' almanac was thereafter considered well-nigh infallible.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

RISKY HOARDING.

Old-Fashioned Methods of Hiding Valuables in the House.

The stocking bank of our grandmothers is not yet obsolete in the country districts, and the daily papers give frequent accounts of its insecurity. Safes are not burglar-proof, either, and the occasional bank robberies and the failures, too, keep alive the fondness of women for searching for queer hiding places for their savings. Some of the old-time "banks" showed considerable ingenuity in their construction or covering.

An old lady living in a New Hampshire town had a set of large stationary drawers, topped by cupboards built into one of her huge closets. The lower drawer, instead of resting directly on the floor, ran on grooves perhaps two inches above it. She would pull out the lower drawer, place her jewel cases in the space left below, and then push in the drawer, which she kept well filled with linen.

Equally shrewd was an Ohio woman who, whenever she went out, put her money and jewelry in the coal scuttle, covering them up carefully with several layers of coal. This might have proved a rather risky experiment in the winter months when the fire had to be fed; but their owner felt no burglar would never think of looking there.

A favorite hiding place for money, especially for bills of large denominations, has always been the big family Bible and the unabridged dictionary. This is still common in rural places. So is the practice of sticking money snugly away under a corner of the carpet, particularly under some large piece of furniture. This is a method that has much to commend it.

Tea caddies and sugar bowls make excellent temporary safes. Another hiding place is the old-fashioned country clock, which is almost historic as a spot for tucking away little bundles of valuables.

It is safe to say that the number of women who put away jewelry in pocket books under a mattress for safekeeping, afterward carefully smoothing the bed down, can be numbered by the thousands.

The pocket of an old dress that hangs in an unconcealed way in a closet is regarded by many women as one of the safest places imaginable for spare rings, brooches and bracelets, and even for a pocketbook. Old shoes, standing in their proper place beside new ones, are likewise much esteemed, for a great deal can be put down in their toes without giving the slightest evidence of the value therein.—Boston Traveler.

ABOUT STAGE FALLS.

An English Actor Tells How Experts Make Them Without Injury.

"There are certain stage secrets which the public are never allowed to know," said an actor lately. "So jealously are these guarded that dramatic tutors absolutely refuse to teach them to their own pupils, unless such are 'bona fide' members of the theatrical profession. Among these wrinkles are the methods of preventing concussion in stage falls.

"The chief secret, quite unknown to amateurs, lies in the trick known as 'inflating,' i. e., inhaling, while falling, a deep inspiration of air, which enormously decreases the body's weight. Sarah Bernhardt, Sir Henry Irving and Mr. Beerbohm Tree all inflate; and, no artist could otherwise fall nightly for hundreds of performances without serious injury. So essential is this inflation that in a forthcoming drama, in which an actor has to fall from a house top to the solid stage floor, he will wear under his costume a complete suit of rubber, inflated with hydrogen gas, a contrivance recently invented. Few people, by the way, are aware that here are several London actors who have actually had opportunities of studying 'falls' from soldiers shot through the heart or head upon the battlefield. One is especially prominent, whose realistic 'death falls' are the result of his observations in hot action in the Soudan and Zululand.

"Mr. Charles Wyndham, too, when acting as a surgeon with one of the Confederate armies during the American war of secession, and Mr. Charles Collette, who held a commission in the Prince of Wales' Third ragoon Guards, have witnessed many impressive scenes, while Mr. Pennington, a hero of the famous Balaklava charge, Mr. Charles Benningham, who went through the Ashantee and Afghan wars, and M. Coquelin, the elder, who, with the late M. Marius, fought for France in the Franco-Prussian war, have since utilized their experience on the stage."—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

Veranda Fancy Work.

The black satin brocades with large and effective patterns, which are intended for dresses, are also being used for covering sofa pillows, when a dark pillow is desired to put among many bright colored ones. A very handsome pillow is covered with satin, the design being a ribbon effect a little more than an inch in width and arranged in twists and scrolls.

This ribbon was worked in outline stitch in the seven rainbow colors—namely, red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet, and was a striking as well as handsome cover. This fancy work would be proper for a veranda, and would make desirable and not expensive sofa pillows for Christmas gifts to men.

Warner's Safe Cure

Has for a Fifth of a Century Cured all forms of . . .

KIDNEY and LIVER DISEASES.

THE DREAD BRIGHT'S DISEASE

is but incipient Kidney Disease. Either are Dangerous. Both can be Cured if treated in time with Warner's Safe Cure.

Large bottle or new style smaller one at your druggist's. Ask for either and accept no substitute.

THIS GHOST WAS A REAL ONE.

"Capt. Steve" Turned Pale at the Apparition in the Fog.

Many years ago, before Mr. Grummond had become the owner of a fleet and controlled it from an office in this city, he was a navigator of the waters of the great lakes and was known all the way from Buffalo to Duluth as "Capt. Steve," says the Detroit Journal.

Steamboats burned wood in those days and up near Sarnia, on the Canadian side, there was a wood station known as Corona and the proprietor of the dock was a man named Baxter—a man as small as Grummond was large. The two were warm personal friends and for years the captain had made it a point to be short of wood whenever he neared Baxter's dock.

One day the captain was upward bound, had a hold full of fuel and went steaming by without stopping. On his previous downward trip he had found Baxter quite ill and was on the lookout for him. He hugged the Canadian shore, but when he came abreast the dock could not descry the figure of his friend among the piles of wood. Others were there and the captain made a trumpet of his hands and hailed:

"Where's Baxter?"

The reply came but indistinctly to his ears, but he heard the unwelcome words:

"Dead. Buried yesterday."

The captain was shocked by the intelligence and was remarkably quiet for a sailor on that trip. When he neared Corona on his return he whistled for a landing and remarked that while the crew was getting a hold of wood aboard he would go up to the house, learn the circumstances of Baxter's death and speak a few consoling words to the widow.

It was dark when the steamer reached the dock, and it was also foggy. Even the outlines of a pile of wood could not be discerned six feet away, and when the captain stepped ashore to make a selection he called for a lantern.

Everybody knows the peculiar shapes objects take on when swathed in fog, weird and grotesque, even though indistinct. The captain walked along a pile to its far end and then raised the lantern above his head to see the height of the pile and estimate the number of cords it contained. As he did so there appeared beneath his upraised arm the dim outlines of a male figure, the features ghastly pale in the gray of the fog, but beyond question the features of the dead Baxter.

Capt. Grummond used to say that he was never so frightened in his life. He dropped the lantern, staggered backward, caught a heel against an obstruction and fell. Somebody picked up both him and the light. It was Baxter.

The mystery lay in the fact that the man upon the dock had announced the death and burial of Mrs. Baxter as a sufficient reply to the hail of Capt. Grummond as he was upward bound.

A Witty Prelate.

The stories that are told of Archbishop Ryan's wit would fill a small volume. A well-known priest called upon him one day to ask for a vacation on the ground that his health required it. As he was noted for his frequent absences from his parish, the prelate could not let slip the opportunity. He granted the leave of absence promptly, with a recommendation: "The physicians say that you need a change of air, father?" "They do, your grace." "How would it do, then, to try the air of your parish for a month or two as a change?" He remonstrated with a priest whose silk hat had seen its best days before the war. "I would not give up that hat for twenty new ones," said the priest. "It belonged to my father, who fell in the rising of '48." "And evidently fell on the hat," said the archbishop.

Few Sunstrokes in Japan.

"This is my first visit to America, and I am delighted with everything but the weather," said Mr. T. K. Date, a bright young Japanese gentleman. "I am greatly astonished to read in your papers of the numbers of people who die from excessive heat. In Tokyo we have three months of very hot weather, just about the sort that you have in Washington, but it is a rare thing for any of my countrymen to expire from sunstroke. I think one reason that such deaths are infrequent in Japan is that the people dress in much lighter clothing than they do in the United States. They also are more temperate in the matter of food and drink, eating no meats and drinking no very ardent spirits. The rice beer that the natives make contains some percentage of alcohol, but it isn't strong enough to do much hurt."—Washington Post.

X Rays Proved Him Sane.

A Hamburg young man has just had his sanity proved by the Roentgen rays. He declared ten years ago that he had a bullet in his head, which he had fired into it in trying to commit suicide. He complained of pain, and, as he attacked his keepers and the doctors could find no trace of a wound, was locked up as a dangerous lunatic. The Roentgen rays have now shown the exact place of the bullet.

The Cocoa Tree.

The plant producing the cocoa of commerce is a tree seldom grown to a height greater than seventeen or eighteen feet, but is sometimes known to reach a height of thirty feet. It is known to botanists as theobroma cacao. It bears an oblong fruit, ribbed longitudinally, measuring from six to ten inches.

Good Excuse for Escaping Service.

A London coroner the other day excused a juryman who said he was a railway servant and had been on duty all night.

English-Speaking Americans.

Within the limits of the United States in 1801 there were 5,250,000 English-speaking people; now there are 70,000,000.

Portuguese Widely Spoken.

At the beginning of this century the Portuguese language was in use by 7,480,000; in 1890 it was spoken by 13,000,000.

Uniform Game Laws.

The September issue of the Western Field and Stream, published at St. Paul, Minn., is noteworthy as presenting a practicable scheme for the protection of the game of the country, which we are inclined to believe offers a complete solution of this much vexed problem, and its senior editor, Mr. Charles Hallock, who devised and formulated the scheme, has also the fullest endorsement of all leading naturalists and sportsmen who have had an opportunity to examine it. Briefly, it contemplates dividing the entire territory of the United States, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, into two concessions along the line of the fortieth parallel of latitude, or near it, for each of which there shall be uniform laws and uniform close time, the whole to be under the police surveillance of the National Association for the Protection of Game and Fish through its multifarious state auxiliaries. The close time for the Northern concession will be from Jan. 1 to Sept. 1, and in the Southern concession from Feb. 1 to Sept. 1, during which no shooting shall be allowed on any kind of game whatever, excepting that woodcock and shore birds of the order Limicolae may be shot in August. The general close time for all kinds of inland fishes, recognized as game fishes, to extend from Oct. 1 to June 1, excepting that fishes of the order Salmonidae, including the trouts, may be caught in April and May. These close seasons conform very nearly to the distribution, habitat, and breeding seasons of the various fauna which are sought to be protected; and where they do not, especial exceptions may be made, if deemed expedient. The laws which are to dominate will inhere by legislative enactment; uniform in all the states, and cooperative throughout. Emergencies and bodily stress will always stand in plea for exemption from penalty for violation of the laws, when well proven.

Mr. Hallock presents his arguments in a very logical and convincing manner, and he believes that it cannot be long before this salutary code will be in successful operation.

A Hundred Miles an Hour by Electric Car.

An electrical engineer has been exhibiting in London the model of his proposed single-rail electric line for speeds of 150 miles an hour. The rail is fixed on a V-shaped trestle, and runs up into the body of the car, which, as it were, runs astride on it. The car runs on twelve bearing wheels and seats 135 passengers with space for their baggage. One of the difficulties met with in schemes for excessive high-speed travel is the tendency of the car to run off the track. By running the rail within the car the lateral tendency of the train is overcome. But in this late scheme the great difficulty seems to be the passenger. What would happen to the passenger when the train took a sharp curve while going at 150 miles an hour is not explained.

You Are Not "Shaken Before Taken."

With malarial disease, but with prodigious violence afterwards, if you neglect immediate measure of relief. The surest preventive and remedial form of medication is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the potency of which as an antidote to miasmatic poison has been demonstrated for over forty years past. The liver, when disordered and congested, the bowels if constipated, and the kidneys if inactive, are promptly aided by it, and it is invaluable for dyspepsia, nervous debility and rheumatism.

Merely an Insinuation.

"I've a great story to tell you, boys," said a drummer to a group in the corridor of the Iroquois, last night. "I don't think any of you ever heard me tell it before."

"Is it really a good story?" asked one of the party, doubtingly.

"It certainly is."

"Then you have never told it before."

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

They Help Their Husbands.

Mrs. Haggard and Mrs. Hardy give much literary help to their husbands. The latter urged Mr. Hardy to forsake architecture for literature as a profession. When he had written his first novel, "Desperate Remedies," his wife copied out the entire work from his manuscript and sent it to the publisher. As part of her work, she keeps herself well posted up on the literature of the day, and her husband constantly draws from her knowledge. The works of Max O'Rell (M. Paul Blouet) were translated into English by his wife, who is the daughter of a Devonshire shipowner. When a girl Mme. Blouet learned French with great care, little thinking how useful the language would be to her afterwards. She is an excellent cook and a model hostess.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 800-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Re-Enameling a Bath Tub.

A bath tub from which the enamel has worn may be easily and successfully renovated by the aid of bath enamel. Before using the paint scrape off as much of the old enamel as is possible, rubbing the inside of the bath with sandpaper until smooth. Then apply a thin coating of the fresh paint, leave it for twelve hours, and go over the bath again—even a third time, if you like, always waiting until the previous coating is dry. When finished let the bath remain for a day before pouring in water. Then turn on the cold tap before letting in the hot water. It is a good plan to let the bath remain filled with cold water for a day before using it. In the painting care must be taken that no hairs escape from the brush and stick to the enamel.

Unfitted.

"A great, big, overgrown fellow like you ought to be at work instead of begging," said the censorious citizen.

"I'm willing to work," replied Dismal Dawson, "but I'm too blamed clumsy. I've tried the shells and I've tried three-card monte, but the Rubes got onto me the very first time."—Indianapolis Journal.

Vauxhall Gardens, as a place of amusement, was finally closed July 25, 1859.

English and Spanish in Mexico.

It is my observation that Americans have not the lingual faculty. A German or Frenchman will pick up more Spanish in a month than an American will in a year. I have met countrymen of mine who have lived most of their lives here without acquiring it, but I have never come across a foreigner who could not make a good showing in a fortnight. Spanish, however, is a beautiful language, musical and easy to learn. Its construction is simple, and, what is of no small moment to the student, it is pronounced precisely as written. An hour a day for six months should give a fair command of it to any young person of average intelligence.

The statesmen now directing the affairs of Mexico are alive to the importance of languages. They have to deal with a people who love their language and are tenacious of custom, yet seeing its importance to the nation's commerce, they have introduced the study of English into their schools, and English is displacing French as the fashionable language at the capital.—Mexican Herald.

Grounds for Complaint.

"Mrs. Smithers," said the new boarder, "you ought to build a house."

"Where shall I build it?" asked the unaware landlady.

"On the grounds in your coffee, Mrs. Smithers," was the response. "There's a half-acre in my cup."—Harper's Bazar.

Their Failing.

"Our statesmen," yelled the orator, "are about to take steps——"

"You bet they'll take 'em," cried the professional cynic, "if they ain't nailed down."Chicago Record.

Insulted.

"Mabel is dreadfully vexed."

"What is the matter?"

"Somebody asked her to read a paper at an old settlers' meeting."—Indianapolis News.

Geiger says that "all words are developed from a few simple sounds."

Last year the Argentine Republic produced 5,000 tons of olive oil.

Sarsaparilla Sense.

Any sarsaparilla is sarsaparilla. True. So any tea is tea. So any flour is flour. But grades differ. You want the best. It's so with sarsaparilla. There are grades. You want the best. If you understood sarsaparilla as well as you do tea and flour it would be easy to determine. But you don't. How should you? When you are going to buy a commodity whose value you don't know, you pick out an old established house to trade with, and trust their experience and reputation. Do so when buying sarsaparilla.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been on the market 50 years. Your grandfather used Ayer's. It is a reputable medicine. There are many Sarsaparillas—but only one Ayer's. It cures.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

Makes marvelous cures. Purely vegetable and absolutely harmless.

The Great Blood Purifier.

One Cup One Cent

Less than a cent in fact — and all Cocoa — pure Cocoa — no chemicals. — That describes Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa.

WALTER BAKER & CO., Limited, Dorchester, Mass.

"A Good Foundation."

Battle Ax PLUG

Lay your foundation with "Battle Ax." It is the corner stone of economy. It is the one tobacco that is both BIG and GOOD. There is no better. There is no other 5-cent plug as large. Try it and see for yourself.

WHITE LEAD. ST. LOUIS STRICTLY PURE WHITE LEAD, $2.07 per 100 lbs.; Strictly Pure Linseed Oil, raw, 31½ cents per gallon; boiled, 33½ cents per gallon. New Road Carts for $7.10 each. Repairing Outfit No. 2, 99 cents; No. 1 Root's Outfit, $1.69. New Harness, $1.47. Buggy and Harness catalogue. Bicycle cat. Agricultural Implements cat. Drug cat., free: say which you want. American Road Washers, $1.80 each. Glidden Barb Wire, $1.90 per hundred pounds for painted, and galvanized, $1.90 per hundred pounds. Send us the names and addresses of seventeen farmers and we will send you our Grocery Price List every two weeks and this will keep you posted on the lowest prices of groceries in the market. 22 pounds of Granulated Sugar for $1.00.
T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, 808, 810, 717, 719, 721 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

ESTABLISHED 1879.

WOODWARD & Co

Minneapolis. GRAIN COMMISSION. Duluth.

BRANCH—CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE.

Orders for Future Delivery Executed in All Markets.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI | ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 23, 1896. | NUMBER 8.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

The Nation's Capital.

Consul Julius Muth, reporting to the department of state from Magdeburg but also in food products.

The secretary of war has announced in a general order that the campaign against the Utes in Colorado and Utah, September, 1879 to November, 1880; against the Apaches in Arizona, 1885 to 1886, and against the Sioux in South Dakota, November, 1890, to January, 1891, were of sufficient magnitude to entitle enlisted men who served therein to wear the "service in war" chevron.

People in Print.

R. B. Gemmel, superintendent of telegraph of the Santa Fe Railway company, died at Topeka, Kan., from pneumonia, aged 57 years.

Miss Helene Scott, a young comic opera singer, who was with the "Princess Bonnie" company, died at Pittsburg.

Joseph Nawahl, one of the most prominent natives in the Hawaiian islands, died at a hospital in San Francisco of consumption.

Katherine Kidder, the actress, has written a play. Beyond the fact that it is just chock full of love and has been christened "Love at War," the authoress has little to say about it.

Charles L. Chapin, ex-president of the New York & Lake Erie railroad, and the man who introduced the Morse system of telegraph in Europe, died at Philadelphia.

Dr. J. Sidney Hunt, an eminent physician of Queensland, has been sent here by the Queensland government to investigate and find the remedy for Texas fever, which has broken out among the cattle on the big ranches in Northern Queensland.

The steamship Lucania, on board of which is Alfred G. Whitehead, recently liberated from Portland prison, to which he had been sentenced for life for alleged complicity in an Irish dynamite plot, arrived at New York today.

The continued absence of Prof. L. L. Dyche, of the Kansas State university, who accompanied Peary on his former trip north, leads to the belief that he is in search of a route to the North Pole by way of Alaska and the western passage.

Chester Allan Arthur, son of the late President Arthur, arrived in New York from London after several years' absence and is at the Fifth Avenue hotel. He tells his friends that his chief reason for remaining abroad is that he can maintain a position there in keeping with the dignity of the son of an ex-president inside his income, while to live in the same style here would be at least twice as expensive.

Casualties.

At Mills, Pa., an explosion of firedamp in the old Hawnest coal mine, killed one man.

By the collision of a street railway dummy engine with a horse car in Valencia, Spain, thirty persons were injured. The wounds of nineteen are serious.

The plant of the Union Compress company at Little Rock, Ark., one of the largest in the South, was completely destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is $275,000.

Owing to the collapse of a gangway landing at Buesinger, Germany, forty-five persons were thrown into the Rhine, three of whom were drowned. Five were pulled out of the water in a critical condition. It is feared that others are missing.

Thomas Cullen, a trolley repairer of the stret railway company at Cleveland, met a horrible death. He was up on a ladder, when he was caught by a live wire, drawn up and instantly killed. A large crowd witnessed his death as he was hanging on the wires.

Evil Doings.

Smith Culbertson, 80 years old, of Birmingham, Iowa, a prominent man in that town, committed suicide by jumping into a deep well. The cause was despondency and ill health.

Walter Leach, who is accused of the embezzlement of $2,300 from George Browning Wilber, stock and bond broker of Boston, Mass., by whom he was employed as bookkeeper previous to last May, is in custody in Denver.

Albert Frantz had his preliminary hearing at Dayton, Ohio, for the murder of Bessie Little, whom he is charged with betraying. He was bound over for murder in the first degree.

By the arrest of Harry Larroway, a railroad porter in the Grand Trunk depot, Detroit, Mich., the postoffice authorities claim to have succeeded in stopping one of the most troublesome cases of mail robbery that has been handled for a long time.

Miss Ida Buchanan, aged 20, committed suicide in Hannibal, Mo., by shooting. She dressed herself for burial and then went out in the front yard, lay down on the grass and blew out her brains. She was engaged to be married and her lover was in the house at the time. Ill health was the cause.

John Daly, who was recently released from Portland prison, after serving several years on conviction of complicity in a dynamite plot, together with his brother, has arrived at Queenstown. In reply to an address Daly declared that he was not a dynamiter, and that he never believed in dynamite to terrorize the English government. The dream of his life, he said, was to fight for Ireland like a soldier and a patriot.

Foreign Gossip.

The leaders of the conspiracy against the Spanish government in the province of Cavite, Philippine islands, have been shot.

Additional reinforcements of 2,000 troops have embarked at Barcelona for the island of Cuba.

This month Queen Victoria's reign will have surpassed that of George III., which extended to fifty-nine years, two months and twenty-six days.

A Blackpool, England, minister said in a sermon recently that "in comparison with Blackpool, Paris was sweet and Sodom a Paradise."

The duke of Abercorn is the only peer, with the exception of Lord Verulam, who enjoys distinct peerage in the three kingdoms.

The London Star to-day says that it is rumored that the horses of Enoch Wishard, the American sportsman, will be sold.

Mrs. Delia Stewart Parnell denies that she has any knowledge of the identity of the men who attacked her at Bordentown, N. J., in April of last year.

A serum cure for the bubonic plague has been discovered by Dr. Gersin of the Paris Pasteur institute. He made his first experiments at Amoy just after the plague at Hong Kong in 1894.

The pope in an apostolic letter proclaims that the Anglican ordinations are absolutely invaid, and he invites the Anglicans to return to Catholic unity.

An English motor car manufacturer is building a two-story steel house to run on wheels, propelled by a motor under it. The top story is collapsible so as to enable the house to pass under bridges.

The Kansas City (Mo.) packing house of Armour & Co. has received an order direct from the Japanese government for eighteen car loads of corned beef. The order is the biggest ever received here and will be ready for shipment within about ten days.

A submarine mountain range has been discovered in the southern part of Davis strait by the Danish steamer Ingolf, which has been carrying on deep-sea explorations on the Iceland and Greenland coasts for the past two years.

The British ships Ditton and Cedar Bank sailed out of San Francisco for a race in distance more than half way around the world. Each is laden with wheat, the Ditton, Capt. Moody, being bound for Queenstown and the Cedar Bank for Hull.

Henry Warford and his four sons of Green Bay, N. F., drowned in the straits of Belle isle while on their way home in a small schooner from a fishing cruise. Henry Turner and his 14-year-old son were with them. The former was bruised so badly that he will die and the boy's leg is broken.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland has conferred upon John Steketee of Grand Rapids, Mich., the rank of knight of Orange, Nassau, and it is claimed that he is the only citizen of the United States to whom the honor has ever been given. He is the Holland vice-consul for Michigan.

The Cuban insurgents have dynamited a military train at Rambiazo. The engineer, fireman and a brakeman were wounded and severely burned. One of the men will die. One officer and several soldiers on board the train were wounded and the escort killed four of the attacking party.

Miscellaneous.

Laurens Gueken and Peter B. Krumlich, composing the Union Bottling company, bottlers of beer and beverages, New York, have assigned.

The dispensary investigation began at Columbia, S. C., recently, but nothing startling was developed beyond what is already known.

About sixty delegates to the tenth annual convention of American cemetery superintendents met lately in St. Louis for a three-days' session.

The Great Northern's seventh annual report, just issued, is the most complete and one of the most gratifying the company has ever issued.

Michael Mackey, an extensive property owner, was found dead upon the floor of his house at Centerville, Iowa. He leaves considerable property heavily encumbered.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Tilson of Athens, Ill., died of cholera morbus. The child was a prodigy. Though but fifteen months old, it was three feet in height, weighed fifty-seven pounds and was able to talk.

Paxton & Burgess, managers of the Kreighton theater, Omaha, have leased the Tabor Grand theater of Denver, which recently changed owners, and will take charge of the place at once. The two theaters will run in conjunction.

That delay is excusable when caused by strikers intimidating those who would take their places, is the conclusion of the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Paul, in the case of the Empire Transportation company, appellants vs. the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company, appellee.

Julius C. Gottlieb, eighteen years of age, was taken to Mount Sinai hospital in New York, suffering from a constant bleeding from the nose, and died three days later. Death was due, according to the certificate, to pernicious anaemia. This was the first case of the sort known in the records of the hospitals of this city.

Word just received from the Richmond insane asylum is to the effect that Prof. Layne, well known over the Central states, is dying. He has been an inmate of the institution for years. He has recently been the victim of a paralytic stroke. Mr. Layne was at one time one of the most noted educational men in the Central states.

Charles McGovern, Charles O'Toole and George Stevens were found dead recently in a miner's cabin a mile from Victor, Col. The men, with Harry Doyle and John McDermott, had been occupyin the cabin for some time, and all had been drinking heavily. The two latter have been arrested on suspicion of poisoning their companions.

The trades league of Philadelphia has invited Marshall Stevens, manager of the Manchester (England) ship canal, now in New York city, to visit Philadelphia and address a meeting of the trades leagues and explain the operation of the ship canal and the advantages that have been enjoyed in England's manufacturing inland cities in having a waterway to the sea.

WAR IN LEADVILLE

A Serious Outbreak Among the Striking Miners.

After Burning One Mine the Strikers Visit Other Mines.

Leadville, Colo., Sept. 22.—At 1 o'clock this morning three heavy explosions aroused sleepers in the eastern part of the city for blocks around the Coronado mine, which is the one which first resumed operations, and which was heavily barricaded and well stocked with provisions and arms.

The explosions were followed by a fusillade of rifle shots, apparently from within the barricade and rapid, but irregular shots from outside, apparently from a widely scattered attacking force who were on hand to protect the retreat of the dynamiters. The shooting lasted for ten minutes, and all was silent for five minutes, when desultory firing was renewed and has been kept up ever since.

At this writing (1:50 a. m.) another explosion was heard, sounding like dynamite. Ten minutes after the first explosion a telephone message from the Coronado stated that nobody inside the barricade had been hurt. Since then it has been impossible to reach the coronado by telephone. The Hearld-Democrat is now being watched by several bands of men, grouped in dark corners and alleys and this may mean that they propose to prevent any communication with the telegraph offices, the watchers not knowing that the Herald-Democrat has the Associated Press leased wire and a long distance telephone.

The city is in a panic of fear. County and city officials are out looking after the work of the police and sheriff.

Bullets frequently whiz over the Herald-Democrat office, and altogether the situation is war-like.

1:55 a. m.—A bright blaze has just broken out at the Coronado mine in the immediate vicinity, and shots are still being exchanged.

The local militia companies have beeh called out, and are now at their armories getting ready for instant action. All the whistles in town are blowing.

2 a. m.—The fire is believed to be the oil tanks inside the barricade at the Coronado shaft house. A telephone message just received from the mine says that none of the defenders have been hurt as yet.

2:15 a. m.—The sights and sounds beggars description. All the whistles in the city are blowing and two or three steam sirens add discord to the dark night's alarming chorus. The sharp crack of rifles punctuate the tooting at irregular intervals.

Citizens have gone to the scene with whatever arms they can gather, and a militia company quartered across the street has just marched toward the Coronado under arms. The whistle which calls out all citizens in a case of emergency has just sounded and the streets are full of rushing men, crying women and children.

2:18 a. m.—Another heavy explosion has just occurred. Five minutes ago the Coronado telephone bore the message that the defenders were too busy to answer qustions.

Fireman Shot.

2:40 a. m.—It is reported that a fireman named O'Keefe, when he started to turn on water at the fire, was shot. Shots are still heard at infrequent intervals. An employe of the Herald-Democrat, just back from a rather close inspection of the battlefield, says he saw the dead body of a striker on the sidewalk near the mine. He says that most of the shots fired for the last half hour have been from inside the barricade.

2:50 a. m.—Everything is on fire at the Coronado and the fire department is now working to save the houses which are thickly clustered about the fated shaft house. Women and children are rushing to the spot, looking for relatives and are mingling with those who are being driven from their homes by flames, creating a scene, the pathos of which is beyond description. The firemen hope to save the houses and are helped by a heavy rain which began falling a few minutes ago.

More Shooting.

2:55 a. m.—Another heavy explosion has just occurred. Forty or fifty shots have just been heard in the direction of the Emmett and Marian mines, located about a mile and a half from the city. These mines were recently fenced in and work resumed by a small force of men which was being augmented every day. It would seem from this that having finished their work at the Coronado, where the buildings are now a mass of smoking embers, the merciless gang has gone to wipe out the Emmett and Marian.

3:00 a. m.—The first Herald-Democrat reporter to return from the fire states that Fireman O'Keefe and two unknown men are dead. He cannot tell as yet how many have been injured and is not sure that this covers the list of dead.

The Fire at the Coronado mine is now under control and the strikers are dispersing.

WEDS A CONVICT.

Strange Scene Is Enacted in a Des Moines Court Room.

Des Moines, Sept. 22. — Ed Bragg, aged twenty-one, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Holmes to six years in the penitentiary for burglary. As soon as the sentence was passed Bragg asked the court if he could be married before taken to the penitentiary. The court assented, and Miss Mary A. Cooney, the intended bride, came forward. She had been engaged to Bragg, and was not willing to desert him, even when he went to prison.

Jenkins' Opponent.

Hudson, Wis., Sept. 22.—A committee representing the Democrats, Populists and free silverites of the Tenth district met and places Frederick H. Remington of West Superior in nomination for congress against Hon. John J. Jenkins, the Republican candidate.

Off for England.

Copenhagen, Sept. 22.—The czar and czarina embarked on the imperial yacht Standard which sailed from here for Leith and was escorted by the Pole Star.

WRECK IN MONTANA.

"Lap Orders" Are the Cause of a Serious Collision.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 22.—A frightful wreck on the Union Pacific by a collision of two passenger trains occurred at Silver Bow junction, seven miles west of here to-day, but by what seems almost a miracle no one was killed, though a dozen or more passengers were seriously injured. The collision was caused by "lap orders." The south-bound mixed train, consisting of freight and passenger cars, had orders to meet in-coming Union Pacific at Silver bow, and the latter, a passenger of five coaches, had orders to meet the other train at Rocker, five miles from Butte. The south-bound was running about forty miles an hour but the other train had slowed up to fifteen miles. The collision occurred at a curve. Both engines were reversed when the danger was seen and both train crews jumped and escaped unhurt, otherwise all would have been killed. The two engines and the baggage, mail and smoker of the north-bound were piled on top of each other and reduced to a mass of wreckage. There were a number of men in the smoker and many supposed to have been killed, but after hard work all were taken out with comparatively slight injuries. Aside from a bad shaking up the passengers in the other coaches were uninjured. The injured are A. B. Jones of Ogden, mail agent, Union Pacific, head cut by jumping; Matthew M. Burdick, Ogden, news agent, face and legs cut; John Murray, Leadville, both legs badly injured; Dunn Green, Leadville, leg broken; Quinn Murphy, Leadville, left leg broken; James A. O'Brien, Ureka, Utah, right foot and left leg lacerated; Julius Jacobs, Butte, leg broken; Charles Z. Justin, Salt Lake, leg broken; J. C. Kelly, Cripple Creek, bruised about body.

BRYAN SPEAKS.

Addresses Delivered in Washington and Baltimore.

Washington, Sept. 22. — A heavy wind and rain storm seriously interfered with the arrangements which had been made by the local committee for a grand reception to Candidate Bryan at the old Capitol Base Ball park. The crowd was considerably below the expectations of those having the arrangements in charge. For some time before Mr. Bryan's arrival dark rain and wind-laden clouds from the west gave certain promise of a downpour, and he had not spoken more than forty minutes when the rain came down in torrents, drenching every one exposed to it. Still the great crowd kept their places and cheered and called to the speaker to go on. The scene was a remarkable one. After waiting some time, however, Mr. Bryan left the platform and drove to his hotel.

Baltimore, Sept. 22. — Mr. Bryan spoke here to two of the largest crowds ever present at a political meeting in this city. The first speech was made in the open air, and conservative estimates place the number who heard it at 30,000. The second was held in Music hall, the largest auditorium in Baltimore, and the house was packed until women fainted and many had to be removed before the speaking could proceed. This arose from the fact that the local committee had issued tickets to the number of almost 15,000, when the capacity of the house is scant 3,500. At the conclusion of his speech in Music hall Mr. Bryan returned to Washington, although he had previously announced his intention of remaining here and rooms had been engaged for him at the Carrollton.

SAY NOTHING OR FIGHT.

This Is the Condition Now Confronting England.

(Copyright, 1896, Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 22.—The events of the week have demonstrated beyond any possibility of doubt that unless Great Britain is prepared to face a general European war nothing is left for her to do but as stated in the semi-official communication from the foreign office on Thursday evening, furnished exclusively to the Associated Press by Reuter's Telegraph company, to stand aside and to hope for a more satisfactory state of affairs.

This backdown on the part of Great Britain is due to the fact that the cabinets of the continental powers have concluded that it is more prudent to condone the recent massacres at Constantinople than to raise the Eastern question in the most forcible manner, and as the marquis of Salisbury recognizes, it is strength and not sentiment which rules the world. Great Britain cannot face the combined fleets of Russia, France, Germany and Austria, even with the assistance of Italy. Therefore, Great Britain must stand aside, and, unless Russia prevents it, the Turk will have a free hand in the settlement of the Armenian difficulty by the sword and torch, or by any other means which the porte may think fit to adopt.

Judge Amidon Qualifies.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 22.—Judge Amidon qualified to-day as United States judge for North Dakota before Clerk of Court Montgomery. He had just returned from a business trip to New York. There is quite an accumulation of business before the court which will be attended to at an early date. Prominent Democrats have concluded that there will be little opposition to Judge Amidon's confirmation by the senate.

Big Saw Mill Stops Work.

Minneapolis, Sept. 22. — The Northwestern Lumber company, one of the largest lumber manufacturing companies in the country, has decided to close its large saw mill at Stanley, Wis., next Saturday. The company has mills at Eau Claire and Proctor's Mills, Wis., but these latter mills have been closed for some time.

Another Plot.

Madrid, Sept. 22.—Advices from Manila, in the Philippine islands, report the discovery of a fresh plot to surprise the garrison there, to seize the headquarters and to murder Capt. Gen. Blanco. A hundred persons have been arrested for complicity in the plot.

Fred Mehemert, proprietor of the Improved Extension Shoe Company of Cincinnati, and a prominent real estate man, assigned to-day. Liabilities, $60,000; assets, $100,000.

DONGOLA IS TAKEN

THE ANGLO-EGYPTIAN EXPEDITION AGAIN SUCCESSFUL.

After Defeating the Dervishes and Taking Hafir the Forces March to Dongola, Which They Occupy Before the Retreating Dervishes Reach That Point—Maxim Guns Kill Many Dervishes.

(Copyright, 1896, Associated Press.)

Kerma-on-the-Nile, Sept. 22. — Dongola has fallen and the nominal objective point of the British-Egyptian expedition has been reached. The river forces of the British-Egyptian expedition, pushing up the Nile from El Hafir, landed a force at Dongola and occupied that place before the dervish forces retreating from El Hafir reached that point. El Hafir and Dongola are therefore in the hands of the expedition, while the dervish forces are somewhere between seeking a refuge.

Yesterday afternoon the long range firing continued between the dervishes on the west bank of the Nile and the expeditionary force on this side. The Maxim guns, with their sweeping hail of fire, did great execution in the dervish ranks, while the field and horse batteries never allowed the enemy to do anything with their batteries. Darkness put an end to the artillery duel across the Nile water and stillness fell upon both camps; the Nile was one of waiting, though the silence of the desert was once broken by a discharge from the Maxim guns from this side of the river.

In the morning every one was up at daybreak, anxious to know what change in the situation had developed during the night, and what would be the next move, and eagerly scanning the enemy's camp across the river. There was no sign of life in the dervish works, but soon a commotion was perceived among the boats along the bank and a native in one of them was discerned in the act of waving something, as though for a signal to this side of the river. The steamer Dal, of the expeditionary force, thereupon proceeded to the West shore of the river, where it was found that El Hafir had been under cover of the night and that not a dervish fighting man was left in sight. The detachment on the Dal sent back to the camp on this side of the river twenty-seven boats which had been manned by the native residents of El Hafir and loaded with a great quantity of grain.

Evacuated by the Enemy

The natives announced that the enemy had departed and that Wadbisharn, the young emir of Dongola, who commanded the dervishes, was wounded in the fight. A shell from an Egyptian battery burst in his tent, inflicting wounds in his breast and head, the former being a severe hurt.

After the gunboats of the expedition had forced their way through past the forts at El Hafir and had proceeded southward toward Dongola the dervishes apparently perceived that El Hafir was no longer the place for them and they proceeded to depart. They buried as many of their dead as they had time for. The rest were prepared with a stone tied around the neck and thrown into the Nile.

News has arrived here that the steamers and gunboats of the expedition had reached Dongola and landed a force, which immediately occupied the treasury and the grainstore, the principal stronghold of the town. This news was received here with delight, as it is supposed that the enemy is now marching between here and Dongola in a much hampered condition by the reason of the number of their wounded and their retreat along the river bank threatened by the steamers, which can destroy at any moment the food supplies stored at Dongola, if they cannot hold that place against the retreating forces of dervishes until land forces of the expedition have advanced to co-operate with them.

The British loss was but five injured.

FIRES ARE RAGING.

Serious State of Affairs in the Vicinity of Superior.

West Superior, Sept. 22.—Forest and brush fires have crept alarmingly near to this city and all last night and today the fire department has been at work saving outlying property. Sidewalks are being damaged and residences are threatened. The fire ignited the residences of Ald. Heule and Louis Nelson of South Superior, but were extinguished. The department has not yet gotten the flames under control, and in the sod it will smoulder for weeks unless there is rain. The entire water pressure is being kept on in case of sudden emergency. Fires are burning all around the city and reports from the towns say that they are burning through the county. Fires are burning for thirty miles down the South Shore road and along the Northern Pacific.

KILLING FROSTS.

Unusually Low Temperature Prevails in the Northwest.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The weather bureau has furnished the following bulletin to the press:

"A decided fall of 20 to 22 deg. in the past twenty-four hours has given the lowest temperatures ever reported in this decade in the upper Missouri valley and at Duluth. A temperature of 22 deg. is reported at Bismarck and of 24 deg. at Huron. Killing frosts are reported at Miles City, Moorhead, Huron and Valentine, Neb. Heavy frosts at North Platte and Duluth. Light frosts at St. Paul and Des Moines."

Pioneer Physician Dead.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 22.—Dr. P. S. McArthur died last evening after an illness of some weeks. He was one of the pioneer physicians of Wisconsin, a resident of La Crosse since 1855. He was born in Erie county, N. Y., in 1822. His family consists of his wife and two children, Dr. Dan S. McArthur and Mrs. F. P. Cook.

Three world's records were broken at the initial athletic games of the Knickerbocker Athletic club at Columbia oval.

DR. SHEPARD'S CASE.

The Complainant Is the Star Witness of the First Day.

Minneapolis, Sept. 19.—The case of the state against Bertha Shepard is now on trial and has so far progressed in a surprisingly rapid way. It was called by Judge Smith in the criminal branch of the district court this morning, and before the adjournment of court a jury had been secured, the preliminary formalities of the trial disposed of, and a considerable amount of evidence secured.

The defendent in the case is Dr. Bertha Shepard of this city, since many years a practicing physician. She is charged with having performed a criminal operation on the person of Sarah Dunning for the purpose of bringing about a premature childbirth. The operation was performed during the latter part of April last, with the consequence that its victim became ill and had to be brought to the hospital, where the facts of the case were brought to light.

Sarah Dunning, the complainant, was the star witness of the day. The evidence given by her brought out the fact that she is 24 years of age; has lived in this city for two years, during which time, however, she has been visiting in Iowa for a few months; that she has been married to a ranner in South Dakota by the name of Ralph Ford; that she lived with him for four years and a half, leaving him two years ago and securing a decree of divorce last year. She gave in detail her visits to Dr. Shepard, the arrangements to pay her $40 for the operation and her subsequent illness. Attorneys for the defense tried to show that she had been indicted for murder.

TOO LATE.

A Fortune of $1,500,000 Left to E. J. Mattson and a Sister.

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—E. J. Matson, day clerk at the National hotel, died this morning. A few moments after his death word was received at the hotel that Mattson's uncle in the East had died, leaving a fortune of $1,500,000 to Mattson and his sister, who lives in the East. The uncle was known as an eccentric man with anarchistic beliefs, but who always had a great affection for his nephew. The news that he had left him a fortune by his will was therefore no surprise. Mattson was able to attend to his duties until Wednesday noon. That evening he took to his bed, and, despite the efforts of the best medical attention, failed to rally. He was thirty-eight years of age and leaves a widow and one child residing in Buffalo. Prior to his employment at the hotel he was engaged as an advance agent for a theatrical combination, traveling throughout the West.

Kentucky Feud in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Sept. 19.—Joseph C. Williams, a farmer of Cass county, Minn., was arrested in Motley, Minn., yesterday by Deputy Sheriff J. F. Harris of Estill county, Kentucky, and lodged in the central police station last night. He will be taken to Kentucky this morning, where Williams is charged with shooting and wounding his brother-in-law, John Cole, in November, 1893. The charge against Williams, while apparently a grave one, caused very little harm, and was the result of a quarrel between the Williams and Cole families. Mr. Williams owns a farm of 293 acres in Estill county, and had resided there until he came to Minnesota.

National Democratic Electors.

St. Paul, Sept. 20.—The presidential electors for the State of Minnesota of the National Democratic party are: First district, John Van Rohr, Winona; Second, Anthony Schaefer, Rushmore; Third, T. N. Simmons, Red Wing; Fourth, Dr. E. Schrader, St. Paul; Fifth, A. Weland, Minneapolis; Sixth, Wilson G. Crosby, Duluth; Seventh, L. B. Everdell, Breckinridge; at large, B. W. How, Sauk Center; James S. O'Brien, Stillwater.

A Bold, Bad Burglar.

Waseca, Minn., Sept. 20.—A burglary occurred at the residence of George Tallon of this city at 10 o'clock this morning, that in point of daring and audacity outshines anything ever attempted here in that line. Entering the front door, while the ladies of the family were in the house, the burglar managed to avoid them and, ascending to the second floor, he completely looted the place of jewelry. He was seen to enter the house by different persons, but it being broad daylight no suspicions were aroused. There is no clue.

Tramps With Razors.

Morton, Minn., Sept. 20. — As John McIntosh was closing his saloon last night two toughs drew razors on him and attempted to rob the saloon. They were prevented from doing so by Marshal Murphy, who received a bad cut in the neck from one of them while attempting to secure the razors. The men were placed in jail after a fierce resistance. The tramps will likely be bound over to the grand jury.

Stabbed by a Hobo.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 20. — Word was received here last night of a stabbing affray which occurred at Glyndon yesterday afternoon, in which it is said one Mike Rider, an employe of James Shea, a prominent merchant of that place, became involved in a quarrel with a gang of hobos and hoodlums on the street, and one of the latter, drawing a knife, plunged it into Rider's back. He is seriously injured.

Hanson Is Dead.

Canby, Minn., Sept. 20. — Thomas Hanson of Minneapolis, who was stabbed by Devere Monday night, died last night. Devere will now answer to the charge of murder. Mr. Hanson had an uncle in Minneapolis.

Bookkeepers in Session.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—The National Federation of Accountants and Bookkeepers was formally organized to-day by the representatives of the craft which assembled here yesterday for that purpose. The meeting ended with the first annual banquet of the federation served at the Cadillac hotel, which was attended by some forty members.

E. P. Graf was to-day appointed receiver of the Ohio Southern road, vice J. E. Megrue, resigned.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Public Examiner Kenyon reports the condition of 239 banking institutions.

Lyman Brown, one of Ft. Douglas' oldest settlers, died aged 80 years.

T. J. Johnson, colored, of Minneapolis, shoots his wife and kills himself at St. Paul.

A purse stolen from A. Wohnholzer, containing $2,007, has been recovered by the St. Paul police department.

The personal property valuations of the state aggregate more than $100,000,000, an increase over last year.

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Medical association was held at St. Paul.

Three Minneapolitans were burned, one perhaps fatally, by a kerosene explosion.

The Great Northern begins Minnesota inspection of wheat at Sandkono for its West Superior elevators.

A great Northern brakeman named McKnight was killed at Freeport. Two trains passed over his body.

The Chatfield schools show a total enrollment of nearly 300 for the first week of the new school year.

John Foell, a butcher of Stockton, was held up by foot pads at Winona, and relieved of $70.

At a special election at St. Peter the proposition to levy a five-mill tax to build a new school house carried, 258 for, 37 against.

Earl Pierce, a young man of Balaton, Lyon county, shot and killed himself while hunting. He carelessly drew his gun from the buggy.

Mrs. Peter Porten of St. Paul was probably fatally burned by a fire at her home caused by an explosion of a lamp.

Willie Arrigan and S. J. McMahon were shot in the head by the accidental discharge of a pistol at a fire at St. Paul.

The second annual meeting of the Minnesota Liquor Dealers' association was held at Duluth, about 250 delegates being present.

At Butterfield, in a drunken brawl, Theodore A. Thun, a farm hand, cut the throat of a fellow employe from ear to ear. Thun was taken to the county jail.

across the St. German street bridge at St. Cloud, a wagon wheel broke through the planking, and the big block went through the structure to the ground below, sixty feet. The damage to the bridge is probably $500.

The home of John Wanons, four miles from Owatonna, was struck by lightning and burned. Nine valuable horses besides much other valuable property were burned. Loss, $1,700; no insurance.

John Connelly, living on a farm in Fountain township, near Preston, was stung by a bee between the eyes, and died from the effects in a few minutes. He was a man weighing 200 pounds and of very strong constitution.

A boy named John Bailey of St. Paul was sentenced to ten days in the county jail at Hastings by Justice Newell upon a charge of petit larceny preferred by M. F. Woodruff of Empire.

A bad stabbing affair occurred about eight miles east of Canby. Thomas Hanson engaged in a quarrel with Harry Devere and in the fight received four cuts from the effects of which he lies in a very precarious condition.

The swine plague is still depopulating the herds of Freeborn county, and there seems to be no evidence of abatement. The disease is of a more virulent character than when there a year ago, and thousands of dollars' worth of hogs have died.

A cow belonging to Mathias Renter of Hastings gave birth to a calf on the bottoms recently having a bull dog head and hair, but with the teeth and ears of a calf and split hoofs. The legs were rather short and out of shape. It was alive when born, but died during the storm.

Ignatz Ahrentz, a farmer, while driving to Alexandria with a load of wood, accompanied by his two daughters, was killed by the front stake breaking, letting him down between the horses and wagon, the wheels passing over him. He lived a few hours after the accident. He leaves a widow and five children.

Carl Weick, while hunting near Detroit, came upon the remains of an apparently young man, who had doubtless been murdered and the body dragged twenty rods from the road and covered with brush. There was a bullet hole through the skull. The condition of the body and clothing would date the crime back eighteen months, at least. Nothing was found upon the body or clothing except some matches.

William Fisher, a hardware dealer of Wells, was accidentally shot in the right arm while hunting about five miles from home. The whole charge of shot lodged in the arm above the elbow, severing a main artery, and he would have bled to death, but his companion bandaged it with a handkerchief until he could get him home, where he afterwards died. The gun was accidentally discharged while he was getting out of a buggy.

Frank Peltz, manager of the lumber yard of the Lampert Lumber company at Le Sueur, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart with a revolver. He had been drinking heavily and was about $400 short in his accounts with the company. He was last seen alive at his rooms in the Taylor-Parker block, where his employers were consulting with him. He was found dead in bed with the revolver lying at his hand. He was a member of several lodges and carried $4,000 life insurance.

The offer of E. H. Gay & Co to take the water bonds of the city of Duluth, amounting to $1,100,000, at par and a premium of $8,000, was accepted by the council. Gay & Co., however, revised their bid later, making it $3,300, and may not accept. Their position is somewhat odd, as they represent the bondholders of the water company, which the city is fighting and whose plant it intends to parallel, and they, in reality, propose to furnish the city with the money to do it. Their idea is, probably, that if they take a liberal course, their chance of selling the plant to the city will be better.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anythieg in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 23, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON, of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.

For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.

For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Hennepin

For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON, Polk.

For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES, St. Louis.

Presidential Electors—
T. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H.H. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kelliher; Charles D'Autremont; Hans B. Bjorge; James Dillon.

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives—
S. J. LEE .... Norman County
G. O. GILBERTSON, "
W. A. MARIN .... Polk County

THE BEST INSURANCE.

The amounts paid in premiums to insurance companies largely exceed the losses, or payments to policy holders. This is true or the companies would not be in existence. The money that has become locked up in insurance policies, the enormous holdings of real estate and property by the companies, constitutes one of the greatest drains on the nation's cash. The hard times and consequent fears of adversity to a man's family, force men to deny their family many things for the sake of the future. This is all well enough and a provident course; but the officers of insurance companies now engaged in systematic reflections on the money that this nation may see fit to issue or coin, are naturally interested in retaining a dollar like the present gold dollar that will buy twice as much as before, and in which kind of a dollar premiums are now paid. Their course is selfish and the object of it plain.

Give an industrious man an opportunity to earn more than a livelihood and the assurance that a competency for a family will be the result of effort and industry and many men who are now struggling to meet insurance premiums would not do so. The necessity would not be so apparent nor real. The coffers of life insurance companies have become greatly swelled of late years by lapses. The hard times are responsible, yet these officers are making a partisan and ignorant appeal to the policy holders to keep up the same hard times. They are talking about premiums being paid in 50-cent dollars after a man is dead. Prejudice and the fear for a family is being played upon. But the "scare" is too childish to frighten sensible people who have a grounded confidence that any money guaranteed and made legal by this government will always be good enough for them.

The best insurance a man can get is a profit in money, from his labor and products, made in dealing directly with his fellow citizens, and not in waiting for death to bring the returns, while millionaire insurance men and wealthy corporations enjoy the benefits of the premium money during his life time.—Jamestown (N. D.) Alert.

IN A HORNET'S NEST.

B. A. Plummer, the well known North western banker, has issued the following reply to the political circular of President Ives of the Burlington.

Laborer? Do you know it is a burning shame for a corporation to try to intimidate its employes regarding their suffrage?

Do you know that it is also a burning shame for the railroad to try to perpetuate a system that makes the price of farm produce low?

Do you know that neither the railroad nor yourself would have employment 24 hours only for the farmer?

Do you know that when the farmer (producer) is prosperous there is a demand for labor and he is prosperous, too?

Do you know that when the farmer suffers that the labores and all other industries suffer?

Do you know that you never saw a tramp in this country during the free coinage period 1792 to 1873.

Are you going to be slaves and allow any incorporation to dictate to how you shall vote?

Do you know that although hard coal can be laid down in Iowa at a good profit for $3 per ton, that the combine is going to make you, every widow, and all pay about $10?

Do you know that the English, the Rothchilds, Wall street, the millionaires Mark Hanna, Grover Cleveland, nearly all the banks and bankers, the press of this county and England, Herr Most, the chief of anarchists, all are arrayed on the side of gold against the laborers, miners, farmers and producers of the country?

Do you know that President Stickney of the Great Western railway, said: "that it is enough to make anarchists, when the railroads charge the farmer 13 cents for shipping 200 miles, the same amount of freight they ship 400 miles for the combine for 6 cents.

Are you more interested in railway corporations (mostly English capital) than the producers of this country?

Do you know that W. J. Bryan, that young champion of liberty from the prairies of Nebraska stands for free coinage of both gold and silver the same as we had it previous to 1873?

Farmers?—Are you going to vote in the interest of England, Wall street, the banks and bankers, gold and for low prices for your produce?

Don't every gold bug paper and republican orator from John Sherman down admit that produce will be higher with free coinage of both gold and silver?

Do you know that the cry of a 50 cent dollar is all rot?

Do you know that you can't bring prosperity of both gold and silver in this country for more than 80 years and a silver dollar during all that time was worth as much as a gold dollar in any market of the world?

Do you know that John Sherman in opening the republican campaign, said: "the best dollar was the one that would purchase the most food?

Is that the kind of a dollar the producers of this country want?

Do you know that the "honest gold dollar" they tell about is a robber and a thief in that one-half of the primary money (silver) being destroyed increases the purchasing power of the gold dollar, so that it has cost the producers of this country more in depreciating values than all the wars from the earliest history of the country?

Are you going to vote for the bankers and millionaires' gold and lower the price of your products?

Do you know that the one thing that will bring prosperity to this country is more money, a larger circulating medium?

Do you know that you can't bring prosperity to a nation by increasing their taxes by additional tariff or any other mode of taxation?

Do you know that the threat that loan companies will draw in their loans is all a bluff? Don't it hold to reason that they are not going to let this money be idle, and draw it in and put in a pillow and set on it?

Don't you know it will be easier to borrow money when we open our silver mines and make money more plentiful?

I have negotiated more than $50,000 "gold clause mortgages that I will take my pay in silver dollars at their face if we have free silver."

$100.00 will be paid if this letter is not a correct copy.

B. A. PLUMMER.

Read And Reflect.

The Salt Lake City Tribune is one of the leading Republican papers of the far West, but it refuses to follow its party in its anti-American declaration for the single gold standard. The Tribune says:

First—There is not one free coinage country in the world today that is not enjoying unexampled prosperity, the only drawback being a foreign debt contracted on the gold basis.

Second—There is not a gold standard country in the world today the property of which has not shrunken from 35 to 60 per cent during the last twenty-one years, not one in which there is not unexampled depression and sorrow.

Third—There is not a silver standard country in the world today that has any need of gold money except to settle foreign balances, and there is not a gold standard country in all the world today that the bulk of all the gold is not locked up in the treasury or in the banks and the people are suffering from "sound money" asphyxia.

Fourth—There is not a silver standard country in the world today where there are idle deposits lying in the banks, all the money being in active circulation and drawing large interest, and the circulation per capita in the United States of real money is just about what it is in Mexico, nearly all the money of ultimate redemption being hid away in the vaults of the treasury and national banks.

Fifth—There is not a silver standard country in the world today where the laboring man is not receiving full pay and more regular work than he ever received before. There is not a gold country in the world today where a vast proportion of the people are not idle, and where wages are above the rates of 1894, except where they have been maintained by the stubborn persistence of the labor unions.

Noah was the first man to advertise. He advertised the flood and it came through all right. The fellows who laughed at the advertising got drowned and it served them right. Ever since Noah's time the advertiser has been prospering, while the other fellow is being swallowed up in disaster.—Ex.

In Japan most of the horses are shod with straw. Even the clumsiest of cart horses wear straw shoes, which, in their cases, are tied round the ankles with straw rope and are made of the ordinary rice straw, braided so as to form a sole for the foot about half an inch thick. These soles cost about a halfpenny a pair. In Iceland horses are shod with sheeps' horn. In the valley of the upper Oxus the antlers of the mountain deer are used for the same purpose, the shoes being fastened with horn pins. In the Sudan the horses are shod with stocks made of camels' skin. In Australia horseshoes are often made of cowhide. A German not long ago invented a horseshoe of paper, prepared by saturating with oil, turpentine and other ingredients. Thin layers of such paper are glued on to the hoof till the requisite thickness is attained, and the shoes thus made are durable and impenetrable to moisture.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

If the Earth and Moon Should Meet.

The scientists have been discussing the question, What would be the result if the earth and the moon should come in collision? The general opinion seems to be that it would result in the temperature of the earth rising several thousands of degrees and its whole surface being converted into a boiling ocean by the waters being thrown out of place.—St. Louis Republic.

Oh, welcome, calm of heart and mind! As falls yon fir tree's loosened rind to leave a tenderer growth behind, so fall the weary years away. A child again, my head I lay upon the lap of this sweet day.—Whittier.

The small waists of Frenchwomen are believed by some scientists to be the result of heredity. Ages of tight lacing, they say, has produced a physical peculiarity in the nation.

All applications for issuance of letters patent must be made in writing to the commissioner of patents at Washington.

In the treatment of nervous cases he is the best physician who is the most ingenious inspirer of hope.—Coleridge.

The Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein has an annual allowance from the British people of £6,000.

Some of the results arrived at by tests made by the government authorities at the arsenal in Watertown, Mass., may be regarded as of special importance in relation to the endurance of rotating shafts. Thus, while it has been found that great improvements in tensile strength and elastic limit have been obtained, it has not been shown whether the limit of endurance under repeated strains has been increased. In the rotating tests of cylindrical shafts alternate tensile and compressive strains are successfully applied, and under these conditions of loading no steel has yet been experimented with which will endure a fiber stress of 40,000 per square inch without rupturing, and this result has been reached after a total number of repetitions of from 4,000,000 to 7,000,000 for steel of high elastic limit and tensile strength.

PLATFORM IN A NUTSHELL.

The Populist Platform says that through executive power and patronage, the will of the people has been thwarted and plutocracy has been enthrowned on the ruins of democracy. It demands:—

Increase in the volume of the currency.

Free coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1.

That postal saving banks shall be established.

That the Pacific railroad liens shall be forclosed.

That the graduated income tax shall be levied.

That demonetization of lawful money by contract shall be prohibited.

That no more bonds shall be issued except by specific act of congress.

That the government shall own and operate the railroad and telegraph lines.

That grants of railroad lands not needed by the roads shall be reclaimed and held for settlers.

That the president, vice-president and senators shall be elected by direct vote of the people.

That the government shall exercise its option in paying its obligations in either gold or silver.

That the initative and referendum (by which the people can vote on the enactment of laws) shall be inaugurated.

The platform expresses sympathy for Cubans; favors home rule in the District of Columbia and the early admission of the territories to statehood; favors just pensions, denounces rule by contempt proceedings and denounces ballot box frauds.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows;

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—0—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday	$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone	$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year	$4.00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year	$1.75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application. Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP,
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NENE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NENE and SENE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NESE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NENE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NESE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " [illegible]	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For furthe information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

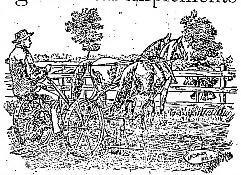
Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. | St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,

St. Hilaire, Minn. J. HOGQUIST.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder.
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	49c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	10c	Eggs	7c
Barley	15c	Beans... (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	55c	Potatoes	15

LOCAL NEWS.

No bridge material here yet.

Billy Bramsness is back from North Dakota.

Commissioner Harris is mowing down the weeds to-day.

Sam Dainard is out with his bustling clothes on after votes.

Emil Brink left to-day for St. Paul with a car load of stock.

Charley Rapp will leave to-day for Fertile and take in the fair.

No doubt but what all have their fire-breaks plowed by this time.

Queer, isn't it, that the cheaper things get the harder it is to buy them.

You don't hear a word about county division in this neck of the woods.

Uncle Ephriam says he just finished harvesting. His letter next week.

Leonard Holmes made a business trip to Thief River Falls yesterday.

The heavy frost on Saturday morning did untold damage to standing flax.

E. M. Hoff and family visited relatives at Thief River Falls yesterday.

Machine collectors have put in appearance. No introduction necessary.

Miss Bertha Salter made her regular trip to meet her classes in music last week.

Ice to the thickness of a quarter of an inch was formed in rain barrels Friday night.

H. E. Ives left Monday for Minneapolis where he will remain a day or two on business.

The democrats endorsed E. E. Lommen, the peoples party nominee for congress in this district.

S. M. Dainard left to-day for Fertile where he will act as one of the judges of cattle at the county fair.

J. A. Dainard will ship a car load of stock from Red Lake Falls next Monday over the Northern Pacific.

We want a correspondent from Wylie, Black River and Rocksburry. Who will volunteer to send us items?

Messrs. James Brady and Moses Rose of Red Lake Falls made Prof. O'Brien a pleasant call Sunday afternoon.

E. M. Hoff has a large lot of watermelons on hand and is selling them out awfully cheap. Call and get one.

Wm. Peters attended the teacher's examination at Crookston last week and secured a second grade certificate.

The rule which seems to prevail this year among hunters is, the further away from home the less game is bagged.

150 men wanted at Stephen is the way an item in the Crookston Tribune reads. The wages paid being $1.50 per day.

Chas. Rapp, Emil Brink and H. E. Ives were visitors at the Sandberg residence in Black River township Sunday last.

Now and then you hear of someone describing the place where they seen a flock of chicken or a covey of geese and ducks.

A. L. Arpin and M. Kelley arrived Monday from Minneapolis and will look after matters pertaining to the saw mill.

Chris Sandmoen, who has been feeding a thresher over in North Dakota for the past three weeks returned home Saturday.

Wonder what are the sentiments among the people of the corn growing states now that a ton of corn sells for less than a ton of coal?

Henry and George Olson, who have been threshing in the vicinity of Manvel, N. D., for the past three weeks returned home Saturday.

John McNichol, representing the Minneapolis Times was in the village the first of the week working up the circulation of that paper.

That decoy goose you hear so much about sold for 75c. There were few feathers left, but the honker was heavily loaded down with shot.

Nels W. Howkinson, representing Leslie & McAfee, wholesale paper dealers of Minneapolis, was calling on our merchants Monday.

Will someone explain why it is that the price of coal is going up and wheat down—and this election year too? Ain't they getting pretty bold?

M. Z. Epperson reports the grain in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls, turning out five and six bushels per acre where they expected at least 18 and 20.

An old time hunter and trapper predicts a late fall. One of the reasons he gives is that the muskrats have not yet commenced to build their houses.

Our townsman, C. G. Rapp was nominated on the republican legislative ticket last Thursday to represent this district. Charles has not been notified as yet.

J. A. Dainard is now on the road collecting for E. M. Prouty Stock company. Pete is now duly installed and may be found behind the bar wearing a white apron.

Sam Dainard, of St. Hilaire, and Republican nominee for sheriff was in town Thursday. Sam is a purty gud fallar, ba ge, ba ging, if he is a Republican.—Fisher Bulletin.

Messrs. Jas. Meade and Thos. Jameison accompanied by Misses Owen and Willis of Red Lake Falls were sight seeing in the village Sunday afternoon, returning home after supper.

Thos. Lawrence, the Peoples Party candidate for sheriff drove into the village Sunday afternoon. Mr. Dainard showed him about town and introduced his opponent to his many friends.

Rube Allyn, the humorist, who has many friends in St. Hilaire will be glad to learn that he is now connected with the Crookston Tribune and is acting as manager of the business department.

Mrs. Alexander, who has been a resident of this village for the past three months left Monday for her old home near Osage. Mr. Alexander will make an overland trip with stock and household effects.

Farmer-President Hines has given up railroad building and henceforth will devote his time to religious matters. He has attacked the Hornerites and will camp on their trail until he runs them back into Manitoba.

Chris. Lein, formerly section forman on the Great Northern at Red Lake Falls, now running a construction train in Montana was a caller here Monday, between trains, on his way to make a visit to his former home.

Six more weeks the candidates for office will have to hustle and then hold their breath for a day or two waiting for returns. One half of the county candidates will be real sick for two years to come, but it can't be helped.

Ed Gistie, Carl Johnson and H. Jackson made a trip to "Oklahoma" last week in quest of geese. They seen lots of geese, but this being their first trip out in that country they always came onto their game from the wrong side.

In Mexico the senate is elected by a vote of the people and supreme judges hold office only for six years. In the United States the Senate is elected by railroad legislatures and supreme judges hold office for a lifetime.—The Evening Journal St. Louis Minn.

Decoy shooting in the town of Bray was first-class last Sunday—so several of the St. Hilaire nimrods say. The owners of the decoys were hot for a few minutes regardless of the cold, disagreeable weather. The other fellows—well—they haven't realized up to date on which side the joke comes in.

Will the party who was so kind as to come into the SPECTATOR wood shed and help himself to our axe, kindly return the same? We have to split the wood, and another thing, its our only weapon of defense in this—the greatest campaign year. Bring it back some dark night and we wont catch on.

An exchange tells us of a practical joke they are playing on newspaper men. It is worked in this way: Take a sheet of ordinary writing paper, fold carefully and enclose money sufficient to pay all arrearages and one year in advance. Keep an eye on the editor and if a smile adorns his face the trick works like a charm. Now is the time to play the joke.

John L. Erickson of Crookston delivered an address in the Scandinavian language last Wednesday evening to a large and enthusiastic audience. He spoke on the main issues of the day for over two hours and beyond a questionable doubt convinced the audience that free silver was necessary to put this country upon its feet again. Mr. Erickson is doing lots of good for the cause.

Crookston is raising up and fostering a set of rowdies and hoodlums that will make her trouble in the near future, if the actions of about one hundred of the youth of that town Saturday are any criterion to judge by. During the parade they followed the band around, hooting and shouting and throwing chunks of mud at them, while officers of the town stood complacently by and never offered to stop them. It was a disgrace to that city.—Fisher Bulletin.

Last Friday's Crookston Tribune has the following good words to say about our townsman Mr. C. G. Rapp, of the firm of Rapp & Post:

"Chas. G. Rapp, of St. Hilaire, who yesterday received the endorsement of the republican convention for the state legislature, is probably the strongest man that could be nominated to make the run. He came to Polk county away back in the early days, and worked his way from youth by hard work and tenacity, and taking advantage of the great opportunities offered to ambitious young men, is to-day one of the most prosperous men in the county, and honored by all who know him."

SENTENCED.

In a temple of finance on Avenue Four,
A silver and gold dollar met;
The gold one exclaimed, with a glance at the door
"Why, haven't you gone away yet?
I thought you were sentenced in '73
To serve with the poor and distressed
And here you appear in the household with me,
Whose blood is the purest and best.

I mingle with the princes at home and abroad.
And serve the elite of the land;
No workman who carries a pick and a hod
Soils me with a toil begrimmed hand.
While you are not welcome where fashion holds sway,
And don't go to Europe at all,
So with the poor working class you'll have to stay,
The rich folks won't have you at all."

The poor silver dollar retorted with scorn;
'Tis true, I'm the workingman's friend,
I've faithfully served him ere since I was born
And faithfully will to the end.
I've fed and clothed millions and built happy homes,
I'm welcome in workshop and mill,
And when the great era of free coinage comes,
The workingman's pocket I'll fill.

I don't run to Europe at every breeze,
Deserting the land of my birth,
But I circulate freely wherever I please
And stay in the best land on earth.
You bring to your classes silks, laces and wine,
And trample the poor on the street;
While I serve the masses on differ nt lines,
And bring them their clothes, bread and meat."

The average valuation of Polk county real estate as returned by the assessors,—men who live here, and know the conditions which obtain and exist throughout the country has been increased 50 per cent by the state board while in session at St. Paul. This is an unparalled outrage, and one which should be resisted in every possible manner.

The valuation which was put upon the lands was high enough, taking into account the quality of much of the land, and a comparison with Kittson county as it was before Roceau was set off, will prove this to be a fact. A vigorous protest to such action should be made by the citizens and the inhabitants of the county at large while the board is still in session. The injury may be corrected in part at least.—Crookston Times.

Mrs. B. L. Russell of Minneapolis spoke in the M. E. church last evening in the interest of the Children's Home Society of Minnesota. A more extended notice of the meeting will be given next week. Mrs. Russell will speak at Red Lake Falls this evening.

Some Don'ts.

It is not only wicked but it is bad politics to try to deceive the people, therefore in all kindness we submit to gold-bug orators a few don'ts.

Don't tell the people that there was but $8,000,000 of silver coined during a hundred years of coinage. It is not true.

Don't tell the people that the balance of trade is against the United States as those who don't know better will soon find out it is false.

Don't tell that free coinage will make a 50-cent dollar and at the same time that it will double the value of the silver miner's product. They will readily see that it could not do both.

Don't tell them that hard times and the low price of commodities are due to a Democratic tariff. They will not believe it unless you can prove it, and you can't do that.

Don't try to convince the people that what Wall street wants is best for them. It has an appearance of improbability on its face and will not be readily accepted.

Don't say that gold is the money of the world. It is not true. Gold is not the money of any little bit of the world except when it is made so by government, by law, by fiat. In international exchange it is measured by the scales and not by the stamp which is on it.

Don't say that under free silver coinage, foreignes would pay us in silver while we would be compelled to pay them in gold. It's absurd. We are not forced to buy from people who demand

Don't tell the people that the tariff is the main issue in this campaign. It is a waste of time. They will not have it that way.—Topeka State Journal (Rep.)

Sam Dainard has his pantaloons rolled up, his hat well back on his head, and with a gold standard stride is making a great push for sheliff. He is undoubtedly a good man, and should he be favorably considered by the voters of Polk county, will make a good sheriff. He is republican and independent. By independent he means to affirm that he will, in case of necessity, hang a man of either party with a gentle hand and a due regard to duty. Where he is known there is no doubt of his popularity, and his friends are hopeful.—Crookston Tribune.

The republicans of this city have just received half a ton of campaign supplies consisting of uniforms, torches, etc. The express charges on the same amounted to $54. We are glad to see our brethren on the other side of the fence enjoying these luxuries, even though we poor silverites cannot afford to indulge in such extravagance, and have no rich political uncles to help us to be gay. Truly the thought comes home that we are only the plain people with only the justice of our cause to uphold, without frills, ribbons and gaudy display.—Brainerd Journal.

Daniel Webster said: "A disordered currency is the most cunning device ever invented for fertilizing the rich man's field with the sweat of the poor man's brow." Daniel hit the nail on the head that time. If any country ever had a more disordered currency than the goldbugs have inflicted upon the American people history fails to record it. A currency system that requires the sale of government bonds every few months to "keep it going" cannot be considered otherwise than "disordered," and deserves Webster's seathing denunciation.—Duluth Herald.

—Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a specialty from now until after election.

PRETTY PLAIN POINTERS.

That was grand prosperity when wheat in Polk county fell from 95 cents per bushel in 1888 to 60 cents in 1892—and all during the last republican administration with the McKinley tariff. Ah, yes! those were prosperous days, and so the people changed from gold-bug Harrison to gold-bug Cleveland; and now they ask us to change over to gold-bug McKinley.

It has been a somewhat noted habit of republican orators to tell people to vote contrary to what England wants them to. England wants us to vote to continue the gold standard. Now, will the G. O. P's. follow their own advice and vote against it? Why, no. Just now they don't consider their own advice any good. It make a difference whether they talk on tariff—or money.—Lyons County Leader.

"If McKinley is elected," replies the Minneapolis Journal to an inquirer, there will be no change. He is pledged by the platform to the maintainance of the existing standard," which is gold. The Journal is right. McKinley's election would effect no change. It would be another term of Clevelandism and gold-bugism. But the people want a change, and therefore McKinley will be defeated.—Duluth Herald.

Now that Senators Thurston and Sherman have retracted the foul slander that Mr. Bryan is being paid by the silver mine owners, an Ohio voter has the audacity to suggest that it is in order for Senator Sherman to explain how, during 36 years in office at a yearly salary of $5,000 and living at a $10,000 gait, he has managed to save some $8,000,000, which he is credited to be worth. Under the circumstances this is a pertinent question.—Mt. Vernon Democrat.

No use in feeling unfriendly towards those who disagree with you in politics, says an exchange. Its foolish and don't pay. Most men are honest in their opinions; they believe they are right and after all they may be, and you wrong. Therefore read and learn and think and get all the light you can and vote according, but don't get mad; don't deny your neighbor the right to disagree, and don't get the foolish notion into your head that you know it all.—Fertile Journal.

Unborn babies in India are sometimes used as security for debt. When a father is obliged to borrow money to defray the expenses of his daughter's wedding he will pledge her first born son as a collateral. These Indians are heathens and of course don't know any better. But we civilized, Christianized free Americans do things differently. We do things on a gold basis. We borrow gold and pledge all the unborn babies of both sexes, for generations to come, as collateral. Heap big statesman we! Much smart!—Western Home Journal.

Pana, Ill., Sept. 16.—The Rev. Sam Small of Atlanta, Ga., addressed an audience of 1,200 people to-night under the auspices of the Pana Silver Club. The address was said to be the most logical campaign address delivered in Pana this year. Fully 400 people were unable to obtain admittance. At the conclusion of the address a number of McKinley men went forward, shook hands with Mr. Small, tore off their badges and declared for Bryan and the democratic ticket. Mr. Small will speak at Macon to-morrow and Taylorville Saturday.—Chicago Record.

He was from Pennsylvania and he had read of Northern Minnesota prairie chicken pastures. He walked into the Hotel Crookston with a $200 gun in one hand, five chickens, dead and badly wilted in the other, and a $300 dog at his heels. "Been shooting?" Said "Pete" as he handed him a pen with which to register. "Yes" said the eastern man. "Those five chickens have cost me $175. I did get four more which I carried along until they got too loud to neighbor with. Have them cooked and I'll eat them all at one meal. A banquet at $175 a plate comes high, but for one consecutive hour I'll live like a millionaire."—Crookston Times.

Change of Northern Pacific Depot in Minneapolis.

On and after September 1st all Northern Pacific passenger trains will arrive at and depart from the C. M. & St. P. Ry. passenger station, Washington and Fourth Avenue South, Minneapolis. Passengers alight from trains on a level with the street and will not have steps to climb in order to get out of depot. This change will land the passenger nearer the business part of the city. Street car lines are immediately in front of the depot entrance, thus giving quick and easy access to any part of the city. When you want to take the Northern Pacific to or from Minneapolis, remember the change of depots.

The BEER=

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Something . . . . . .

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

The American Hotel. . . .

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Great

Sales naturally result from the great merit which makes the thousands of wonderful cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

Women Buried With Military Honors.

A woman known to have passed her 112th birthday recently died near Douai, France. Her name was Josephine Rostkowski, her maiden name having been Mazurkiewicz, and she was born at Warsaw on March 19, 1784. She had been married to a captain of a Polish regiment, and with him took part in a great number of battles of the Napoleonic wars, during one of which the regiment, on the roll of which she was carried as assistant surgeon, heavily outnumbered by the foe, was almost wiped out of existence. She was herself wounded several times during her arduous duties, but she remained in the hospital service of the French army until after the Crimean war, taking an active part, also, in that campaign. She left the service when 71 years old, and was retired with full pay. She had had fifteen children, twelve boys and three girls, all born in Poland, and all of them dead now. For her valiant service in the army she had been decorated with the military cross of Stanislaus, the Turkish Order of the Medjidie and the Crimean war medal. Mme. Rostkowski was given a military funeral, which was attended by many high military officers.

Do You Want a Fur Coat?

You will find all makes of fur coats in the market, but the North Star Fur Coat will give you the best satisfaction, as they are guaranteed against any defects in workmanship or skins for one year. Lanpher, Finch & Skinner. St. Paul, Minn.

Level the Roadsides.

Roads are difficult to keep free from weeds. This is partly due to the fact that most of them have been graded, leaving deep ditches and irregular excavation between the wagon track and the fence, making it impossible to go over the ground with the mower. The weeds are, consequently, left uncut. This can be remedied now by the use of the plow, harrow and road grader. Plow down the steep bank of the ditches and level them with the harrow and grader. The slopes will be sufficiently reduced to admit of cutting the weeds with a machine. Plow shut all useless ditches or holes made by hauling away the earth for grading at a distance. Seed to grass, and the highways can be cheaply kept in good order.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Not Fully Equipped.

Redhot Pete—Take a han' in this poker game, stranger?

Stranger—Excuse me, please.

Redhot Pete—No money, hey?

Stranger—Yes; but no gun.—Detroit Free Press.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Information that Informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. P. & A. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

SALESMEN WANTED To sell for Spring delivery the largest stock of HARDY FRUITS, SHADE TREES, FOREST TREE SEEDLINGS, SEED CORN and POTATOES in the West. We grow our own goods and give three plans of work. PAY WEEKLY. An early start is half the battle. Write for terms at once. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minn.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

RAIN AND MOSQUITOES.

A Wet Summer Greatly Multiplies the Hungry Insects.

The weather for the past few weeks may be annoying to people whose plans were broken into and whose comfort was spoiled by sudden showers; but it cannot be denied that the mosquito has enjoyed it.

Entomologists like Prof. P. R. Uhler, of the Peabody institute, say that rainy wether such as has visited Baltimore in the past few weeks gives the mosqito every opportunity for breeding in numbers. Mosquitoes breed on water, and the rain, which has fallen almost daily for the past six weeks, has kept the swamps, rain barrels, gutter crevices and other choice places, from running dry, and has thus contributed materially to the hatching forth of billions of mosquito eggs. The female mosquito breeds but once a year, but 700 or 800 eggs are laid in that time.

The hatching of these tiny eggs is interesting. When they are ready to burst open and let loose the young mosquito for an active campaign against humanity, the egg comes up to the top of the water, the surrounding shell or covering splits down the back and the tiny creature floats on the surface in a boat, as it were, until its wings are stiff and dry enough for him to start off in the air. Mosquitoes do not usually make their appearance in numbers in this vicinity until August, but they came early this summer and nets are up everywhere.

Not one, but three, species are represented among those who venture into human habitations. The one whose sting hurts the most is a little, dark-brown creature; but a goodly-sized yellow mosquito and a large-sized yellow variety, with striped legs, are not backward in making their presence known.

Mosquitos are so natural, so cunning in the manner in which they sting and draw their blood, that it will no doubt surprise most people to be told that sucking human blood is only an acquired taste with them. Dr. Uhler says that their natural food is slime and deleterious organic matter that would be the cause of much malaria "Sucking blood is only an acquired taste," says Dr. Uhler, "but they have learned now to do it scientifically. Did you ever notice how quickly they discover and make for places on the exposed parts of your body where arteries full of blood lie near the surface?"

All the mischief of the mosquitoes was inherited by the females. The males neither buzz nor sting, nor do they seem to do anything at all except to stay lazily by and watch a spry and energetic female cavort around a human ear and make merry over the annoyance she is causing to the man or woman with nerves

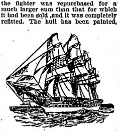
Entomologists say that the male mosquito is even too modest to eat, or, at any rate, nothing has ever been found in the stomach of one. Perhaps there may be a new-woman craze or a sex revolution in mosquitodom some day, and then the male mosquito will get the right of suffrage and the females be told to stop their noise.

The males can't make a noise, because they haven't a pair of sonorous cavities near their wings, as the females have. The air hurled against these cavities by rapidly-moving wings causes the buzz heard when Mr. Mosquito is drawing near.—Baltimore Sun.

NELSON'S FLAGSHIP COMING.

Strange History of the Preservation of the Famous Craft.

Americans who live near Atlantic seaports and who have an interest in the history of the Anglo-Saxon race, will have a chance next fall to see a curious relic of England's history in the eighteenth century. It is the old frigate, the Foudroyant, that is famous as Lord Nelson's flagship. The history of the craft and of its narrow escape from destruction to make firewood for German firesides, reads like a chapter out of a romance. The Foudroyant was built in 1799 to fight against the French in Napoleon's efforts to get possession of Egypt. It was not completed in time for the engagement off the Nile delta, but encountered victoriously many a French vessel afterward in the Mediterranean sea. It was Nelson's flagship, in 1800, when he captured La Generoux, and, later, in conquering the William Tell. When steel ships began to succeed the old fighters of the line, the Foudroyant was put out of commission. Not long ago the admiralty sold the frigate to a firm in Germany; but when the English people learned that it was to be split up into kindling wood they raised a row about the ears of the government officials. The result was that the fighter was repurchased for a much larger sum than that for which it had been sold and it was completely refitted. The hull has been painted, all the masts and rigging replaced, and the eighty old smooth-bore guns, that formerly dominated the Mediterranean have been remounted on the upper and lower gun decks. In short, the Foudroyant looks to-day at Woolwich, England, where she is on exhibition, just as she did when cruising after French frigates. She will touch first at Halifax, then Boston, New York and other Atlantic ports.



Nelson's Flagship, the Foudroyant.

Smallest of Typewriters.

What is thought to be the smallest typewriter is in practical use in Denver. It is thus described by a traveling man: "It is made of aluminum, and is 2 1-8 inches in diameter, 3 1-4 inches deep and weighs complete but 3 1-2 ounces. An ordinary watch is of about the same size and weight. Its mechanism is very simple. Fifty characters are on the watch-face-like keyboard, while the type-bars radiate from the center. A single key, which is placed over the particular letter desired to be printed and then pressed forms the means of operation. A piece of felt is used as the ribbon. The entire machine is attached to a writing pad by means of a clamp when in use. High speed is not claimed, yet it can be operated sufficiently fast for ordinary purposes."—New York Tribune.

Utterly Unsympathetic.

Tramp—Can't you help me to a night's lodging, sir? I haven't seen a bed for three nights.

Hostetter McGinnis—The deuce! If you can afford a spree of that length you are better fixed than I am.—Texas Sifter.

First Sensations in Battle.

What are the first sensations of the battlefield? Zola, Tolstoi and Stephen Crane have imagined them, and combatants have written them. "Something whizzed past me like a big bluebottle on the wing," says Lieut. "Herbert" of Plevna fame, "and the current of air caused by its rapid passage touched my ear. Another—another. All at once I realized that these were the enemy's bullets, and, horrible dictu, the discovery brought on a sudden violent attack of cholera-like disposition." The passage may be compared with Zola's description. "The now constant hissing of the bullets, with their sharp ping or buzz whispering around, and sometimes into us, gave me a sickening feeling and a cold perspiration. I felt weak around my knees, a sort of faintness and lack of strength in the joints of my legs, as if they would sink from under me. These symptoms did not decrease when several of my comrades were hit," says Mr. Lee Goss, a former private in the Army of the Potomac. No one quite knows how he will behave. "No man," I am quoting Wilkeson's stirring narrative, "really enjoys a battle. One has to string up his nerves and take a firm grip on himself morally, and hold himself in the battle-flames for a few moments until warmed to passion. The impulse is to run out of danger."

If the raw soldier is there, and then led forward against the enemy, the trial to his nerves will be less severe than if he has to wait under a heavy shell and shrapnel fire to which he can make no reply. In the one case he will be moving and occupied, in the other case he will only have his danger to think of. This was, perhaps, the reason why, in the war of 1870-1, the German soldier rushed impatiently against the French positions. "The beat of the drum went before the thunder of our guns, and our power was shattered by the fire of the foes' unshaken infantry." He was anxious to end the period of tension, and to come to hand-grips with his enemy. But he paid, and paid very dearly, for his impatience.—Fortnightly Review.

Buy the Best, They Cost No More.

North Star Fur Coats are made of soft, durable skins, with wide collars to protect the face and ears; full skirts to protect the legs, and are guaranteed for one year against any defects. Ask your clothier for them and don't let him talk you into buying any other make. Lanpher, Finch & Skinner St. Paul, Minn.

The Fish of Florida.

When the dweller in the North wants to go fishing in the winter or spring he comes to Florida as the Mecca of all lovers of the sport, and he is never disappointed in his success in angling. Fish of every variety are to be had for the simple trouble of dropping into the water a hook and line provided with the proper bait, and the man who cannot make a success of a fishing trip has not sense enough to carry on any other mission in life.

But the people of Florida do not seem to realize the importance of the opportunity in this particular industry that lies before them. In no waters on earth can the pompano be secured in such quantity and such perfection as on the Florida coast, and the same may be said of the trout, and many other varieties of table fish that are common food to our people, but rare delicacies to other sections of the country. With the growth of refrigerating facilities in transportation, which proves itself day by day, Florida fisheries must become institutions of national importance.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Demand for Dogs Decreasing.

Dealers in dogs say that the demand for their stock has decreased rapidly. They declare that the woman who formerly fondled puppies and terriers for amusement now devotes herself to her bicycle so enthusiastically that she has no leisure for dogs. The demand for large dogs has almost ceased, because the men who used to take them on their walks now ride a wheel, and don't want to be bothered with dogs. Several men who ride regularly on the boulevard are followed by dogs, but this hasn't become a fad. A man who owns a kennell offered to make me a present of a St. Bernard pup the other day. This fact of itself bears out the plaint of the dog dealers, for the breed he asked me to choose from used to be quoted high here and elsewhere.—New York Letter.

Rotation of Crops.

Proper rotation of crops must be observed in truck-growing as in general farming, if the fertility of the soil be maintained and maximum results be desired. Melons, cucumbers and squash belong to one family and should not succeed each other. Egg plants, tomatoes and Irish potatoes form another, and beans and peas another. Always follow a crop by another of a different family. Roots should not follow roots. A top-rotted plant will follow well a fibrous-rooted one. After a heavy manuring, cabbages, onions, Irish potatoes and egg plants should be planted, since these require excessive fertility for best results. Follow these crops with tomatoes, squashes, etc., and these, in turn, by beans, peas, etc.—Farm and Home.

One variety of the cricket has its ears in its hind legs.

Blooming Health . .

secured to every woman by the use of

Warner's Safe Cure

Thousands of afflicted women have been cured by its use.

Why not You?

A Purely Vegetable Preparation.

A Remedy with a Remarkable Record.

Large bottle or new style smaller one at your druggists. Write for Medical Blank free. Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y.

MAN-TRAILING DOGS.

Results of Using Bloodhounds to Catch Criminals in the West.

The use of bloodhounds as an adjunct of the police department is becoming more and more common in various sections of the union. This is particularly the case in the far west, says the San Francisco Examiner. During the days of slavery dogs were used throughout the south to run down fugitive slaves, but for many years after the war man-hunting with hounds was almost unheard of. Now and again it was tried, but lack of training in the dogs and perhaps want of patience in their owners brought about so many failures that the practice was almost forgotten. Ten years ago, when two desperate men held up a train on the Atlantic & Pacific, in the southwest, and secured many thousands of dollars in booty, a ranchman in Arizona offered to trace the highwaymen if a sufficient force for their capture was furnished him and a reward for his trouble offered. These preliminaries being settled he appeared on the scene twenty-four hours after the crime had been committed with a couple of not very dangerous-looking dogs and a rifle. He was ragged in costume and apparently ragged mentally, but, as the result proved, knew what he was about. "Keep your eye on them dogs and your hands on your weepons—there's going to be more or less fun," was all he had to say to his associates in starting. Three days later, after a weary chase of many miles over one of the roughest trails in the world, the dogs came up with and cornered the highwaymen. The latter killed both of the dogs, but before they could escape the pursuing posse was upon them and they surrendered. They afterward confessed their guilt, and told where the booty was hidden. Nearly $50,000 was recovered. The amount of money involved and the satisfactory work of the bloodhounds revived the old practice of trailing man with dogs, and there are now hundreds of the useful animals in the possession of the peace officers of the west. They are carefully bred and trained for the police duties.

Siberia's Great Railway.

There are 7,000,000 workmen, exclusive of engineers and officers, at work upon the great trans-Siberian railway. The proposed length of this great carrier, from Cheliabinsk to Vladivostock on the Japan sea, is 4,547 miles, of which over one-third has been completed. During the season of 1895 918¼ miles were built, thus giving a direct route from St. Petersburg to the Yenessei River, a distance of 3,056 miles. Up to June, 1892, the amount expended was $32,488,000. The engineers have been forced to abandon the original plan of building across and through the mountains and canyons on the south of Lake Baikal, and trains will be ferried twenty miles across the lake by means of transfer steamers.—New York Journal.

Ribald Jesting.

"It all happened from a little joke I tried to get off," the bruised, battered and tattered hobo explained to the citizens who picked him up. "Just fer fun, you know, I proposed to the gang that we organize a party for the advocating of the free coinage of soap. I never dremp they'd take it serious."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Bad Mistake.

"Why has Ashley and Miss Gushington broken off?"

"He thought to compliment her by saying that she reminded him of his mother."—Cleveland Leader.

AIDS TO THE TOILET.

Soft tinted serge gowns with accordion-plaited ruffles are high favorites among fashionable bathers. Stockings striped or embroidered are worn to match the suits.

Soft, fluffy pompadours and a revival of the old-fashioned chatelaine braids, preserving as broad and as flat an effect as possible are quite the reigning fashionable style of hairdressing.

Empire fans are still the most fashionable, even when the night is stifling. Devotees of fashion maintain that they give quite as much air as large ones, and have much more prestige than feather fans.

Skirts of one material and bodices of another will continue in fashion all winter, probably chiefly because of their great convenience. Added to this, however, they are an extremely attractive combination.

The return of short trains is imminent. They will be used chiefly by married women for indoor wear and ceremonious visits, while younger women, even for these purposes, will still cling to skirts that clear the ground.

In the matter of veils cream and white are still much in vogue for seaside wear. Plain women and women who freckle cling to those composed entirely of lace and so closely covered that they act almost as masks. The daintiest of all, however, are those made of silk net with a deep edging of real lace.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Never work for a candidate with a poor memory.

Never vote for a man whose horse stops when he says "Get up."

Never write letters during the campaign. Documentary evidence is hard to lie down.

Never vote for an individual whose wife is president of the local women suffrage club.

Never argue politics with a fool unless you're a fool yourself. It takes a fool to vanquish a fool.

Never bet your money early in the campaign. You may have a chance of losing it at better odds.

Never vote for a candidate who speaks involved sentences. He is sure to have an involved head.

Never follow a leader who is invariably consistent. Consistency may be a jewel, but politicians are not jewels.

Never become too enthusiastic in praise of your rival. It's good christianity, but poor politics. People may take you at your word.

Chicago has 5,400 Johnsons in its directory, and only 4,200 Smiths.

"The Old Salt Doctor."

From the World-Herald, Omaha, Neb

Mr. William C. Hart, favorably known among his friends and acquaintances as "The Old Salt Doctor," is probably the most familiar character in the vicinity of Twenty-fourth and Franklin streets, Omaha, Nebraska. Mr. Hart is now over 80.

An interesting history of his recovery from a common malady follows: A little over five years ago I became afflicted with a malady, the name of which I do not know. My family have been troubled the same when they arrived at my age, and they said I was on the same road and that there was no cure for me. The symptoms were, dizziness, loss of memory, and an utter prostration of the nerves. The most notable trouble was a swimming of the head, when I came in from a walk or was out standing in the sun or doing any kind of exercise at all. When I would sit down, my head would swim and everything would dance before my eyes, and I would become so dizzy that I would have to hold to a chair to keep from falling; or if I were sitting down and got up suddenly, everything would whirl before me, and I would have to hold to the chair for some little time; my memory was so poor that it was difficult for me to remember some of my best friends. This state of things continued for about a year and a half, and kept getting worse and worse; I could not remember anything, and my head was in a constant whirl; everything swam before me so that life was really miserable.

"On the recommendation of some friends, I went to my druggist, Mr. Shrader, on Twenty-fourth and Clark streets, and got a box of Pink Pills for trial, and after taking a few doses I began to feel the effects and found that they were doing me good. When the first box was gone I got another and another until I had taken four boxes and I was entirely relieved. And now, although my memory is not so good as it was forty years ago, it is greatly improved, and is better than many men's memory that are much younger than I; my dizziness is entirely gone, and my nerves are strong as they were ten years ago, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did it too."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are now given to the public as an unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves. The pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

About the House.

Denim coverings are excellent for nursery floors, as they are easily brushed, and rugs look well upon them. Double carpet lining should be used under the denim to give the proper warmth for cold weather.

A medium-sized paper pad with a lead pencil attached hung over a kitchen table will be found of great convenience. If articles needed are written down upon this pad they will not be overlooked. When the housewife starts for market the outside slip can be pulled off and taken with her instead of her trusting to her memory, with the danger of forgetting some simple but most important article.

Do not put fruit jars into a closet where the silver is kept. The rubber bands upon the jars will affect the silver and make it tarnish quickly.

A little kerosene oil is excellent for cleaning a zinc bath tub. Rub the oil on with a woolen cloth, then wash it off with hot water and polish with powdered bath brick. The result is very satisfactory.

All First Class Clothiers Have Them.

If your clothier does not have the celebrated North Star Fur Coats and will not order one for you, write Lanpher, Finch & Skinner, St. Paul, and they will inform you where you can get one. Remember, they are guaranteed; if they prove defective they will be repaired without charge.

Trained Down.

Wickshire—You seem to be pretty well trained since you got your wheel, and yet I never see you riding.

Mudge—I don't have to ride. It keeps me thin worrying about the payments.—Indianapolis Journal.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 806-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Liberal.

Dealer—I want you to understand just what this parrot is; I admit that he will swear.

Customer—That's all right; I don't want a parrot that is any better than I am.—New York Town Topics.

A Singular Form of Monomania.

There is a class of people, rational enough in other respects, who are certainly monomaniacs in dosing themselves. They are constantly trying experiments upon their stomachs, their bowels, their livers and their kidneys with trashy nostrums. When these organs are really out of order, if they would only use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters they would, if not hopelessly insane, perceive its superiority.

A Growing Field.

Brown—I see that over 160 new doctors were added to the profession last night. I wonder what they will all do?

Smith—Get people excused from jury duty.—Brooklyn Life.

In 90 years the Spanish speaking people of the world have increased from 26,190,000 to 42,800,000.

I know that my life was saved by Piso's Cure for Consumption.—John A. Miller, Au Sable, Mich., April 21, 1895.

Some naturalists say that no insects except the silk worm feed upon the leaves of the mulberry.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

A New Haven young lady has a remarkable throat. She has a whistling larynx, and can whistle without the use of her lips. Few cases of this kind are ever known.

The first Roman Catholic camp meeting held in America opened at Atlantic Highlands July 29, 1882.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued this week to Northwestern inventors:

Peter J. Caesar, Duluth, Minn., combined cigar cutter and lighter; James S. Holt and W. W. Eldred, Seattle, Wash., suspenders; William H. Knautz, Blue Earth City, Minn., display device; Homer S. Smythe, Woonsocket S. D., Buggy wrench; William J. Woods, Minneapolis, Minn., dough kneader; John E Paul, Pipestone, Mont., (trade-mark) mineral waters and medicinal preparations containing the same; Chris Knudson, Port Townsend, Wash., (design) guitar.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

For Summer Tan.

The athletic girl can do much to improve the appearance of her tanned skin by submitting it to a thorough scrubbing night and morning. She must scrub well, must be careful to avoid a rubber brush, and must look upon soap and the free use of it with favor. Here are very simple directions which she should follow every night while she is a gay, athletic summer girl: Just before retiring she should take her scrubbing brush, which has been made for this purpose, rub it well with soap, dip it in hot water, and then literally scrub the face and throat with it. She should be careful to use good soap. An opaque soap is to be preferred to a transparent one. After the face has been thoroughly scrubbed it should be rinsed in hot water and dried with a soft towel. Then a cream should be gently rubbed into the skin and allowed to remain over night. In the morning the cream should be washed off with hot water and then the face well rinsed with cold water.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

A False Report.

Birmingham—I hear that young Mr. Hilltop is studying for the ministry.

Manchester—That must be a false report.

"Some one certainly told me that he was a divinity student."

"That may be. The pretty Miss Northside is the divinity, and he is very faithful in his attendance."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

The German and Spanish languages are remarkable for one fact that every letter has a uniform sound.

It is said by Hebrew scholars that the same word in ancient Hebrew signified blessing or cursing.

A Great Torpedo Conflict.

During the visit of the members of parliament to Portsmouth a naval officer told an amusing story of last year's naval maneuvers. While the warships were stationed in Lough Foyle there was an alarm of a torpedo attack at night. Instantly the guns opened fire and blazed away at the torpedo boat. The next morning the admiral requested each captain to send in a report of the number of torpedo boats he had seen and the quantity of ammunition he had expended. The reports were interesting. Some officers had seen six torpedo boats, some four, others three and others two. Only one captain declared that he had seen no torpedo boat and had fired no shot. The others, however, had used an enormous quantity of amunition. It turned out that there had not been a torpedo boat within thirty miles of the lough, and the torpedo boats seen from the ships were in truth a single coal barge.—London World.

Saved the Expenses.

"Did you tip the stewards when you were coming back from Europe, Miserly?"

"No. The vessel did enough tipping for all of us."—Detroit Free Press.

Out of Gear.

First Jerseyite—I'm afraid my lawn mower is ruined.

Second Jerseyite—Why?

First Jerseyite—A mosquito got caught in it.—Detroit Free Press.

An aluminum boat for sportsmen's use has been made. It weighs but thirty pounds, is fourteen feet long and will carry two people.

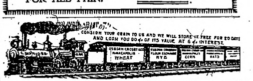
That Pleasing Paralyzing Pie!

How good it looks! How good it is! .... And how it hurts. Why not look into the question of Pill after Pie? Eat your pie and take Ayer's Pills after, and pie will please and not paralyze.

AYER'S
Cathartic Pills
CURE DYSPEPSIA.

Kickapoo Indian Oil

QUICK CURE FOR ALL PAIN.



CONSIGN YOUR GRAIN TO US AND WE WILL STORE IT FREE FOR 20 DAYS AND LOAN YOU 90% OF ITS VALUE AT 6% INTEREST.
OSBORN CROSBY & CO. MINNEAPOLIS WHEAT
RYE
CORN
OATS

Battle Ax
AT·COS
10 CENT CUT

"Everybody Likes It."

Battle Ax PLUG

Everybody likes "Battle Ax" because of its exceedingly fine quality.

Because of the economy there is in buying it.

Because of its low price. It's the kind the rich men chew because of its high grade, and the kind the poor men can afford to chew because of its great size.

A 5-cent piece of "Battle Ax" is almost twice the size of the 10-cent piece of other high grade brands.

ESTABLISHED 1879.

WOODWARD & Co

Minneapolis. GRAIN COMMISSION. Duluth.

BRANCH—CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE.

☞ Orders for Future Delivery Executed in All Markets. ☜

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 30, 1896. NUMBER 9.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The state department has been advised by telegrams from Vice Consul Khouri at Beirut, Syria, that the consul there, Thomas R. Gibson, died from smallpox.

People in Print.

W. S. Rosecrans is elected president of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland.

Princess Olga of Montenegro, niece of Nicholas I., the reigning prince, is dead. She was born at Cettinje on March 19, 1859, and was unmarried.

Charles F. White, aged forty-one, proprietor of the Kentucky Register, published at Richmond, Ky., died suddenly of congestion of the lungs.

Dr. Edward Beckendorff, who for almost half a century practiced medicine at St. Louis, is dead, aged seventy-four.

Alfred Hebard, who made the preliminary survey across Iowa for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, for many years a citizen of Red Oak, died at New London, Conn., from heart disease. He had gone there on a visit.

Judge William P. Wolfe of the Eighteenth Iowa judicial district, is dead at Cedar Rapids, after a long illness. He was among the most widely-known members of the state bench and bar.

Kate Field's effects will be shipped from Honolulu to San Francisco by the next steamer. A check has been received from H. H. Kohlsaat, of the Chicago Times-Herald, to pay all expenses connected with the funeral and the transportation of her effects.

Accidental Happenings.

Nine persons were injured by a collision on the Union Pacific road, near Butte, Mont.

M. E. Garland and Edward Harris, both of Englewood, Ill., were killed in a railway wreck at Meadville, Pa.

The Meridan Flint Glass Works at Anderson, Ind., burned. Loss, $75,000. It was the largest plant in the world.

The American ship Luzon, Capt. Park, has grounded on the bar at Woo Sung, China. It is probable that she will be floated after she is lightered.

David Farmer, a farmer at Busserton, fell in a fit before an approaching train at Vincennes, Ind. and was instantly killed.

W. W. Lord, living four miles northeast of Eagle Grove, Iowa, was killed in his barn. It is supposed that he was kicked by a horse.

By the giving way of a leg of a derrick that was being used to hoist stone at Buffalo, Martin Dudack, aged twenty-one, was instantly killed, and John Kurker was fatally injured.

The Oval Wood Dish company's works at Traverse City, Mich., the largest in the world, were destroyed by fire. The plant was covered by $50,000 insurance.

Manager Mark Davis, who is at Leavenworth with an Eastern theatrical troupe, injured, perhaps fatally, while standing on the railroad platform, by being struck by a trunk.

A collision between an express and an excursion train occurred at the March (Eng.) station of the Great Eastern road. Both trains were wrecked and seventeen persons were injured, many of them seriously.

The South Sea missionary schooner of the Josephites, Evanella, is reported to have foundered at sea in longitude 147 west; latitude 14 degrees 30 minutes south, July 30. All on board were saved.

The tewtny-one-foot catboat Hebe of Dorchester, Mass., with six men on board, started out for a fishing trip, but has not been heard from. It is thought the boat was capsiezd and the men drowned during a severe squall.

Crimes and Criminals.

Arthur Adams, a traveling salesman, took laudanum and died at Peoria, Ill.

N. A. Craig, city marshal of Table Rock, Neb, was shot dead by a tramp.

James McMillan cut his wife's throat at Bedford, Ohio, and then escaped to the woods.

Joel L. Sheppard, aged 40, express agent at Washington, Ill., committed suicide.

Joseph N. Wolfson, a prominent New Orleans lawyer, was arrested for aiding in fleecing the Union National bank out of $36,000.

One hundred sacks of gold ore valued at $30,000 were stolen from the powder magazine of the Tomboy mine at Telluride, Col.

James Haley, a farmer and country merchant of Big Hill, Ky., was victimized out of $300 by a green-goods man, who claimed to be a Cincinnati broker.

Marshal Finley of Morning Sun, Ia., was shot and dangerously wounded by John McPherson, whom he was attempting to arrest on a charge of kidnaping his daughter.

Richard Williams, ex-Chinese customs inspector at San Francisco, convicted of extortion, has been sentenced to six years' imprisonment and fined $100,000.

Miss Emma Ashley, who shot at E. J. Baldwin, the millionaire horse-owner, in court, and narrowly missed killing him, was acquitted on the ground of temporary insanity.

Three members of the Cotton family, living near Tickfaw, La., were murdered by a negro. Another member of the family was seriously wounded. The negro used an ax. Sheriff posses are in pursuit of the murderer.

Lige King, a prominent and prosperous farmer of Crab Orchard, Ky., killed Ab Fish of the same place at a box party at Turkeytown, a few miles east of Crab Orchard. King gave himself up.

George F. Gober, judge of the Blue Ridge circuit of Georgia, was the victim of a sensational assault upon the streets of Atlanta, Ga., and was badly hurt. His assailant was "Steve" Ryan, who was formerly Atlanta's merchant prince.

The California supreme court has ordered a new trial for Alonzo J. Whitman, who was convicted of forgery and sentenced to nine years' imprisonment. Whitman was formerly a wealthy man and stood high socially and politically in Minnesota and Michigan.

Fred Boyden, a member of the commission firm of Davenport, Quick & Goyden, Chicago, committed suicide at Lincoln, Neb. He came there a few days ago, and was worried and fretted over his wife's illness and financial difficulties.

Gov. Hastings of Pennsylvania has pardoned John Bardsley, former city treasurer of Philadelphia, who on July 2, 1891, was sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary for misappropriating over $500,000 of city and state money while occupying his official position.

From Foreign Shores.

The khedive of Egypt has arrived at Vienna from Carlsbad.

It is reported that among Lord Rosebery's guests during the autumn will be Mr. and Mrs. Rudyard Kipling.

The present holder of the Armenian patriarchate, Mgr. Bartolomeos, is said to be a mere creature of the sultan.

One of Queen Victoria's most constant visitors at Osborne has been the ex-empress of the French, who looks younger and better than she has done for some time past.

The marquis of Bute, who has been staying at Cardiff castle for a fortnight, has unearthed the foundation of an old priory called "White Friars," known to have existed some centuries ago.

One of the Swiss papers announces the arrival in the Engadine of Sir Labouchere, member of the chamber of Lords of Great Britain and vice president of the honorable company of the South Africa Indies.

It is understood that United States capitalists are negotiating with the Russian government for the establishment of a rapid steamship service between San Francisco and Vladivostock.

Valentine Gadesden, the San Francisco real estate dealer who was made corespondent in the Yarde-Buller divorce case, died suddenly of heart disease at Pednauheim, Grand Duchy of Hesse.

Prince Lobanoff had one curious bond of sympathy which united him throughout life to Great Britain. He entertained a romantic and passionate admiration for Mary, Queen of Scots. Every relic of that unhappy lady was collected by him with pious devotion.

To remove ground for complaints that have become numerous that raw silks delivered at Japanese ports were not up to the standard in fineness or weight, the Japanese government has established conditioning houses at Yokohama and Kobe, where silks are examined and certified free of charge.

A rumor is circulating in diplomatic circles concerning the mental health of the sultan. It is said that Abdul's mind is giving way under the strain of events, and that this accounts for the "insane manner in which he appears to be challenging the vengeance of civilized Europe," as a correspondent describes it.

The recent journey of the German empress from Berlin to Plceu was due to the fact that the second son, Eitel Fritz, was thrown from his horse while taking riding exercise, and received a kick from the animal. The young prince was able to remount and ride back to the imperial castle, but he is, for the present, confined to his bed.

Otherwise.

Samuel H. Crow, of Lyons, Iowa, is dead at the age of seventy-four years.

Grain-carrying vessels are in demand at San Francisco.

The next convention of the German Catholic societies will be held at Columbus, Ohio.

Rev. M. F. Colburn, pastor of Grace M. E. church, San Francisco, Cal., is dead.

Lieut. Duff, U. S. A., retired, died at Port Huron, Mich., of apoplexy, aged sixty-five years.

The Republicans of the Thirteenth Massachusetts congressional district renominated Congressman John Simpkinson.

The announcement is made that the next meeting of the turf congress will be held in St. Louis Sept. 28, at which time officers will be elected.

The Democratic congressional convention of the Twenty-ninth New York district nominated Henry W. Bowes of Bath.

At the Democratic convention of the Second Connecticut congressional district, Dr. Austin B. Fuller of New Haven was nominated for representative.

George W. Langford, secretary of the Illinois fish commission, died at his home at Havanna, Ill., of cancer of the stomach, after an illness of six weeks.

Timothy J. Campbell was nominated for congress by the Republican convention of the Ninth New York congressional convention. He was nominated by the gold-standard Democrats, Sept. 14.

The twentieth annual convention of the American Humane society was called to order at Cleveland, Ohio, by President John Shortall, with several hundred delegates present, representing the principal cities of the country.

All city prisoners at Bellefontaine, Ohio, have been released for want of money to pay the sheriff for their keeping. The entire police force was discharged for the same reason, and the city is now left without any protection whatever, save that of the mayor and marshal.

What is believed to be a genuine case of leprosy was accidentally discovered in the waiting room at Bellevue hospital, New York. The supposed victim was quickly transferred to the Willard Barker hospital. He is George Fleming, forty years old, a homeless German baker. He has been sleeping in charity houses, and, according to his story, he has been afflicted for ten years.

STILL USING GUNS

SOME MORE SHOOTING OCCURS NEAR LEADVILLE, COLO.

Striking Miners Make Attacks Upon the Reserve of the Water Company and Also Upon Two Mines, and the Rioters and Militia Exchange Shots—The Funeral of Men Killed in the First Fight Occurs.

Leadville, Colo., Sept. 29. — Gen. Brooks has just telephoned the Herald-Democrat that an attack is in progress on the Carbonate Hill reserve of the Leadville Water company and that shots are being exchanged between the militia and rioters. Later a lively fusilade began at the Bohn mine and was continued for ten minutes. The sounds resembled a number of shotguns, seemingly in one place, answered by rifle shots from different points near by.

Lieut. Verdeckberg telephones from the Bon Air mine that four shots were fired at a picket, who returned the fire and called for the corporal of the guard. When the corporal ran out two shots were fired at him and they were returned, after which a squad started in pursuit of the assailants.

The funeral of Jerry O'Keefe, the fireman murdered last Monday morning while turning a hose on the fire at the Coronado mine, occurred yesterday. It was the longest funeral procession ever seen here. The funeral of William Higgins, who was literally filled with buckshot while engaged in the attack on the Coronado, was from the same church and immediately following that of O'Keefe. Almost the entire miners' union, including fully 1,500 people, followed the remains to the cemetery.

COLONISTS RETURN.

Horrible Tales of Suffering of Colored People in Liberia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 29. — The steamship Waesland, which arrived here today from Liverpool, brought back as passengers six of the colored colonists who went out to Liberia early in the spring on board the famous steamship Laurada. They tell horrible tales of sufferings from disease and destitution by the unfortunate people who gave up their homes in this country to journey to that distant republic.

Forty members of the Laurada's expedition, consisting of 315 people, are already dead, while the entire number taken out previously on the Danish steamship Horsa, have been carried off by what is known as John Bull fever.

Among the party returning is Taylor Smith of Forest City, Ark. He says the country is unfit for civilization and that those who went on the Laurada are now penniless and almost naked. They have not sufficient money to get back to the states and certain death awaits them. The fever is carrying them off rapidly. Several times they joined together and called on the president of the state for help, but he gave them none. Strips of land were given them but no houses, and they had no shelter for months after they arrived. Provisions command high prices and they cannot be secured by these poor creatures, and there is absolutely no way to earn a living.

DEADLY EPIDEMIC.

Hundreds of People Ill of Typhoid Fever at Lead, S. D.

Omaha, Sept. 29.—Late advices from Lead City, S. D., are that the epidemic of typhoid continues unabated. Nearly 400 cases are reported, and ten deaths occurred last week. Physicians and nurses are going in from neighboring towns and every possible effort is being made to check the progress of the plague. There is little hope of bettering these conditions, as the population is so dense that everybody is more or less infected. The cases at Deadwood are largely those removed from Lead City, and it is not expected the epidemic will spread in Deadwood, which has a good sewerage system. The doctors of Lead say the epidemic started from polluted well water, there being no sewerage system. Lead has a population of 6,000, all huddled together on one-half square mile, and the well water has become contaminated with seepage from refuse matter. Engineer Andrew Rosewater of Omaha completed plans for a system of sewers for Lead two weeks ago, but owing to the political situation the bonds voted for the purpose could not be sold and the work will have to go over till next year.

Orders Disobeyed.

Milton, Pa., Sept. 29. — A disastrous freight wreck occurred last night on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, eight miles southeast of here. An empty engine and tender collided with a heavily laden coal train, throwing eleven coal cars off the track and burying Engineer Mitchell of the former beneath the ruins. Fireman Kelly, who was on the same engine, jumped, but was so badly injured that died. A man by the name of Burlew, who was riding on the train, was terribly bruised. The wreck, it is said, was due to disobedience of orders.

College Burned.

South Hadley, Mass., Sept. 29. — Mount Holyoke college, the pioneer institution for the higher education of women, received a severe blow to-day in the burning of the main building with a probable loss of over $150,000. The buildings have cost over $300,000 and could not be replaced to-day for less than that amount. Fortunately none of the 400 students or faculty were injured, there being ample time for their escape with part of their personal effects.

Egyptian Independence.

London, Sept. 29.—The Times' correspondent believes that there is some truth in a native report that the khedive is now making a tour of Europe incognito and that he has taken with him a scheme for Egyptian independence drafted by a prominent native official. "This anti-British intrigue," the correspondent continues, "seems the more likely since the khedive, while professing that the journey is non-political, has had an interview with M. Hanotaux, the French minister of foreign affairs."

GOING UP THE NILE.

The Anglo-Egyptian Expedition Does Not Stop at Dongola.

Dongola, Sept. 29.—The second brigade of the Egyptian expedition is now proceeding south and up the Nile to Garrison Merowi, El Debbah and El Khandak. Merowi is between 175 and 200 miles up the river from Dongola and is nearly one-half the distance to Berber by the river. El Debbeh and El Kandak are situated at almost equal intervals on the river between Merowi and Dongola.

Constantinople, Sept. 29.—The sultan has acceded to the request contained in an Armenian address praying for authority to convoke the national assembly to elect a new patriarch in place of Matteo Ismirlian, resigned. It is learned that during the massacre at Eguin 600 houses were pillaged and burned. A gun was fired as a signal for the outrages to commence. The sultan has sent an autograph letter to Emperor William.

A FATAL HOLD-UP.

Daring Robbery on an Engine in West Virginia.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 29.—A daring hold-up occurred on the Short Line railway between Sewall and Cliff Top, eight miles from this city, to-day. Joe Thompson, who came from the West about a year ago, learned that W. L. Wilson, bookkeeper and paymaster of the Logdale Iron company at Cliff Top, was going up the road to pay off the men. Wilson had $2,800 with him and rode on the engine. When the train reached a lonely spot in the mountains Thompson, who had boarded the train, held up all those in the engine at the point of two revolvers. He suddenly grabbed the money from Wilson and jumped from the engine. Wilson shot at Thompson twice and missed him, Thompson returned the fire, shooting Wilson fatally. Thompson made good his escape and Wilson is dying. A posse is in pursuit and a lynching is expected.

ASSAULTED AN OLD WOMAN.

A Man Who Will Be Summarily Dealt With When Caught.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 29.—The woods in and around Marysville are filled with armed men who are looking for Tom Murphy, a married man, who criminally assaulted an old Irish woman named Hannah Flynn. The woman is over seventy and has hardly an ounce of flesh on her bones. Murphy is an ex-convict and all-round bad man. He went to her house while drunk and forcibly assaulted her four or five times. He still continued to drink whisky and fell asleep on the woman's bed. She escaped in her night dress to a neighbor's house a mile away and gave the alarm. In the meantime Murphy awoke and escaped. Scores of armed men are scouring the woods for the man. Once he was seen and shots were fired at him. He is armed and proposes to sell his life as dearly as possible. Besides assaulting the woman he robbed her of $20.

Took Stryshnine.

Westminster, Md., Sept. 28. — Miss Carrie Horner, daughter of Charles Horner of this place, committed suicide by means of strychnine to-day under peculiar circumstances. She was to have been married at 1 o'clock to William Brock a grocer. Brock suggested that they take a walk in the cemetery, and there informed her, according to her father's statement, that he was not in a position to marry her. Upon this she complained of nervousness and said she wished to be alone. She walked to the other end of the cemetery, where she remained for five minutes, at the end of which time Brock heard a scream and rushed over to find her in convulsions. Charles Horner, the father of the dead girl, was so incensed that he started in quest of Brock, swearing to kill him, but the latter had left town.

After a Big Estate.

Cincinnati, Sept. 29—John Lee Spohn a photographer here, claims to be the fifth earl of Ludlow, Viscount Preston and Baron Ludlow of Ardsalla, in the peerage of Ireland, and Baron Ludlow in that of the United Kingdom. Today his brother left here for Shopshire, Wales, to claim the rights and titles for the elder brother. John Lee Spohn is poor, but his brother, W. H. Spohn, who lives in Hamilton, Can., is quite wealthy, and has corresponded with English attorneys until he is satisfied he can establish his elder brother's title by lineal descent. The estate embraces Shopshire, county Wales, and is valued at $20,000,000.

Trouble at a Cake Walk.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 29—Ben Butler, a negro aged twenty-three, shot and killed Thomas Catlier and seriously wounded Edward Mason, both colored, at a cake walk near Buckeye Stone, Frederick county, Sunday morning. About three dozen men and women had congregated at the place and during the evening partook freely of whisky, each man having a bottle with him. Butler, a newcomer, was making a big hit with the female contingent, and aroused the ire of the less favored male associates, who contrived to force a quarrel upon him, knocking him down and beating him with clubs. Upon this he drew a revolver and began firing, with the above result.

Talk With the Sultan.

London, Sept. 29. — The Paris correspondent of the Chronicle learns that M. Cambon, the French ambassador at Constantinople, had a long interview with the sultan yesterday, in the course of which he declared that the Western powers had resolved to insist that the reforms which had already been granted in the Armenian provinces should be extended to the whole of the Turkish empire. The Chronicle's correspondent adds: "This is the first diplomatic move of France and is regarded as a warning."

Dubuque Man in Trouble.

Chicago, Sept. 29. — A. R. Knight, member of a prominent jewelry and diamond firm of Dubuque, Iowa, was arrested last night on charges of impersonating an officer and carrying concealed weapons. Yesterday afternoon Knight walked into the Imperial theater and sat down to hear a rehearsal. When the house officer requested him to leave the building he raised a disturbance, during which it is claimed he drew a revolver and threatened to shoot the officer. He also showed a detective's badge.

TWO BOLD BANDITS

SENSATIONAL ROBBERY AND SHOOTING IN CHICAGO.

Two Men, One in Evening Dress, Enter the Western Foundry Works, Hold Up Five Office Employes and Secure $1,600 — Their Buggy Breaks Down and They Then Shoot a Milkman and Take His Wagon.

Chicago, Sept. 27. — Two men, carefully disguised, one wearing a dress suit, committed a daring robbery at the Union Foundry company's office in Brighton Park and robbed the company of $1,600. They then escaped by means of a buggy, but not before they had shot one man and fired several shots into a crowd of people who were chasing them. A patrol wagon gave chase but did not succeed in capturing the robbers.

The foundry is in a lonesome place at the extreme end of Brighton Park and no other buildings are near it. In the office when the robbers entered were D. F. O'Neill, president of the company; M. A. Rourke, treasurer; C. R. Hope, general superintendent; Charles O'Gorman, clerk, and John O'Neill, clerk. Mr. Rourke was engaged in filling the envelopes of the men preparatory to paying off and the top of his desk was covered with money. The robbers compelled the five men to line up, and while one kept them covered with two big revolvers the other scooped up all the money in sight—about $1,600 — and then both made a dash for the door. They had left a buggy standing near the building, and, springing into it they drove rapidly away north across the prairie.

As soon as the men, one of them was tall, the other short, were out of the office Hope dashed into the shop to give the alarm to the seventy-five workmen employed there, while President O'Neill and Rourke, grabbing revolvers, started in pursuit. Mr. Rourke pointed his revolver at them and pulled the trigger but the weapon failed to explode. O'Neill, however, sent shot after shot at the robbers as he ran along the road behind the buggy, but none of them took effect. The short man, standing up in the buggy, also fired both his revolvers, and when the chambers were empty he reloaded. The long man, who had thrown his revolvers into the bottom of the buggy, paid no attention to the shooting, but kept on driving the horse at a terrific rate of speed. A large crowd was after them in a few minutes, and by the time the robbers turned into Thirty-sixth street they were confronted by a crowd of fully 100 men. The pursuers steadily increased until a crowd of several hundred people followed close behind. Men in wagons and bicycle riders by the score took up the chase but the robbers' horse was a good one and outran all of them. In a short time the patrol wagon from the Brighton Park police station was upon the scene, and, although the thieves had a long start, it kept after them on a full run. At Thirty-sixth street and California avenue the buggy tipped over and threw the robbers into the street. The patrol wagon was not far behind at this time and it was thought they would surely be captured. The thieves, however, quickly picked themselves up. Near the corner stood a milk wagon and the robbers leaped in. The short man drew a revolver and fired one shot at the milkman, the bullet taking effect in his right leg above the knee. The robbers whipped up the horse, and up to the present have not been captured. Later the horse and wagon of the milkman were found standing in an alley. In the bottom of the tipped-over buggy were found two dark false beards, a blonde wig and four big revolvers used by the robbers.

M'KINLEY'S VISITORS.

One Delegation Arrives Before the Family Breakfasts.

Canton, Sept. 27.—Members of the McKinley household had not breakfasted when the first delegation arrived this morning. It was Marion, Ind., and made up of glass workers of Grant county. The introduction was made by Dr. W. R. Francis. Two bands came with the party. Shortly after a special train of twelve coaches brought a delegation to extend the greetings of Crawford county, Pa. It included a club of students from Allegheny college, which McKinley attended in 1860.

Later the third delegation of the day reached the McKinley home. It was made up of farmers and came from Wyandotte county, Ohio, on a special train of nine coaches. It was conspicuous for the number of banners and mottoes carried. Congratulatory addresses were made by Mayor Robert Carr, Gen. J. M. Kirby and Editor P. Cumso, of the Upper Sandusky Tribune, a former subject of Italy.

Retribution Swift and Sure.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 27. — Henry Rohr of Madison, while trying to arouse a sleeping passenger on a Chicago & Northwestern train coming into this city last night was severely handled. Rohr was taking a vote of the passengers on the financial question and attempted to arouse a man asleep in the smoking car by shaking him violently and exclaiming: "Gold or silver." The passenger, thinking he was being robbed, sprang up and attacked Rohr, causing intense excitement. The parties were finally separated, Rohr much the worse for the encounter.

Bank Officials arrested.

New Orleans, Sept. 27.—William P. Nichols, president, and John B. De Blanc, cashier, both of the looted Bank of Commerce, have just been arrested, charged with violating a state law by receiving deposits after they knew the bank was insolvent.

The Wyoming Murderers.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 27. — The trial of George Kelly and Arthur Johnson, the Wyoming murderers, has been set for Oct. 12. J. C. Nethaway was assigned to defend them.

HORSES FOR FOOD.

Scheme for the Disposition of Useless Bronchos.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—S. L. Moore, general freight agent of the Northern Pacific, has in operation a scheme for clearing the ranges of the West of their hundreds of thousands of cheap horses—made cheap by the trolley and the bicycle—within the next year or two. The first experimental train load is now en route. Speaking of his scheme Mr. Moore said to-day:

"Five and ten dollars a head is the price now asked for several hundred thousand horses, branded and roaming the plains, too valuable to be destroyed and too expensive to keep alive. The horses vary in weight from 750 pounds to 1,100 pounds each, and as a rule are branded, on the hip or shoulder, or some other conspicuous place, to prevent loss by theft or going astray in stormy weather. Sometimes these animals drift hundreds of miles from the home ranches, but their owners can always identify their stock with very little difficulty. Large droves of these horses are destined soon to be killed and served by butchers to the trade in Paris and other cities in Europe. A train load is now en route over the Northern Pacific railway from Washington, in cars especially provided with hay racks and water troughs, and will soon be driven aboard ship in New York harbor and sent across the Atlantic ocean. This bunch of cayuses and broncos must pass a rigid health inspection in New York and at the receiving port in Europe. For a year or more past the freight department of the Northern Pacific railway has labored to find a market for the surplus of horses tributary to that line. A plant was established by several men at Portland, Or., to slaughter some of these animals, but it did not succeed for the reason that the European governments passed a prohibitive law against landing horse meat in packages of any kind. This effectually shut out the horse meat pickled and preserved in that city, and cut off an industry that promised to be very profitable to the enterprising proprietor, as well as a lasting benefit to the horse ranchers on the plains in providing a market for stock almost valueless for any other purpose.

"According to the secretary of agriculture there are 1,500,000 horses between the Twin Cities and the North Pacific coast. Several hundred thousand of these animals could be disposed of and not missed; and at an average price of $7.50 per head woul yield over $2,000,000. This large sum distributed among the ranches would improve the condition of many and make them happy. If the government officials at Washington are successful in their negotiations with the European authorities for the removal of restrictions against horse meat in packages from America, parties having plenty of capital are willing to open a large and expensive plant, constructed by the Marquis de Mores several years ago at Medora, N. D., for the purpose of slaughtering cattle, and will add to it a pickling and canning branch for the purpose of slaughtering these horses."

MINNEAPOLIS GETS IT.

The Western League Pennant Goes to the Mill City.

St. Paul, Sept. 25. — The Western league base ball season closed yesterday and Minneapolis wins the pennant. Minneapolis and Indianapolis, which ended the season in second place, will now play a series of games for the Detroit Free Press cup. Following is the result of the season's play:

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Minneapolis	89	47	.651
Indianapolis	78	54	.591
Detroit	80	58	.580
St. Paul	73	63	.537
Kansas City	69	67	.507
Milwaukee	62	78	.443
Columbus	52	88	.371
Grand Rapids	46	94	.328

Was It Arson?

Minneapolis, Sept. 25. — The grand jury took up the consideration of a most sensational case to-day which has to do with one of Minneapolis' well known citizens. A number of witnesses were examined as to their knowledge of the fire which occurred on the night of June 23 in T. Jeffery & Co.'s furniture store, 623-25 Nicollet avenue, and it is claimed that Thomas Jeffery, the senior member of the firm, is responsible for the fire.

Jury Can't Agree.

Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—The jury in the Dr. Bertha Shepard case was brought into court to-day before Judge Smith. The foreman of the jury stated that it was an utter impossibility to reach an agreement. The court realized that such was possibly the case and concluded to discharge them. After the jury had been discharged Mrs. Shepard was ordered to appear for disposition of the case on Oct. 5.

More Bustite Found.

London, Sept. 25.—It transpired today that enough of the explosive known as cordite to blow up a house was discovered on Monday hidden in the hollow of a pillar on Stamford street. The house is inhabited by Russian Hebrews who are suspected of nihilism. The police are now actively searching the premises in that neighborhood.

Tynan Is Safe.

Paris, Sept. 25.—There is good authority for the statement that in the face of the certainty that it would be refused, England has abandoned her demand upon France for the extradition of P. J. P. Tynan, the alleged "No. 1" whom Scotland Yard officers have charged with concocting a dynamite conspiracy.

Two New Comets.

Passadena, Cal., Sept. 25.—Dr. L. W. Swift, of the Mount Lowe observatory, has discovered two new comets, close together, both being about one degree from the sun.

Hacked His Wife to Death.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 25. — August Hilgendorf is guilty of murder in the first degree. So said the jury. The crime was one of the most brutal in the history of this country. On July 4 last he came home intoxicated and proceeded to hack his wife to pieces.

More Trouble in Crete.

Athens, Sept. 25. — Fresh disturbances are reported from the Island of Crete. A bloody conflict has occurred between the Turks and Christians at Malevezy.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Several store buildings were destroyed by fire at Benson.

At New Paynesville fire destroyed an elevator and damaged a warehouse; also, partially destroying the depot.

Attorney General Childs renders an opinion in which he holds that the method of teaching temperance in the public schools is not important.

The decision in the Range 44 case has been made by the supreme court, and these townships will remain in Otter Tail county.

Burglars entered A. W. Stone's hardware store at Bird Island during the night and took over $50 worth of cutlery, knives, etc.

Joseph and William McLaughlin, aged seven and nine years, were run over by a brewery wagon in St. Paul and their injuries may be fatal.

Harry Devere, who murdered Thomas Nelson at Canby was bound over to appear before the grand jury for murder in the second degree.

A barn containing eight heavy horses burned at Duluth. None of the horses were saved. It is believed to have been incendiary, as an attempt was made to burn the barn last week.

Mr. George Muchenbager, an old settler and the father of thirteen sons and daughters, all living, and twelve of them grown up, died suddenly at Barnesville.

R. Winnege, a patient at the St. Peter hospital, while out on the lawn, deliberately threw himself in front of a passing train and was instantly killed. His home is in Renville county.

Maj. W. A. Jones, engineer in charge of the upper Mississippi reservoir system, inspected the dams at Pokegama Falls, Lake Winnibigoshish and Leech Lake recently, and found them in a very satisfactory condition.

Fire at Brainerd destroyed D. E. Slipp's barn and damaged the Congregational church to the extent of $500 gational church to the extent of $500. Boys with matches caused the blaze. The loss is covered by insurance.

John Thomas, one of the pioneers of Olmsted county and an old soldier, died recently from dropsy. He was about sixty-five years old, and had lived in that town about thirty-five years.

A young man from Luverne was injured while handling a thresher engine near Woodstock, the injuries resulting fatally. He was backing the engine toward the separator and was crushed against the self-feeder.

Fred Garmer, a painter, was run over by the westbound Minneapolis & St. Louis passenger train at Northfield. It is supposed that his foot became caught in the crossing and he was run down before he could extricate himself. He may recover.

At Glencoe the residence belonging to William Hendricks, special traveling agent for the Northern Grain company at Minneapolis, was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The piano and some furniture was saved. Loss, $1,800; insurance, $1,000.

Arrangements have been completed at Owatonna whereby a $20,000 opera house will be built immediately. The building is backed by a syndicate of the most prominent business men in the city, and promises to be one of the handsomest in town.

J. C. Morrison's hotel 'bus was struck by the east-bound passenger train on a street crossing at Mora. The driver and team miraculously escaped injury. The 'bus was smashed into kindling wood, and Fred Peters of Lewis, Iowa, who was inside, was almost instantly killed.

A horse was stolen from Frank Hoskins of Eden Valley, by a man giving the name of Tom O'Connor. O'Connor hired the horse, ostensibly to take a trip into the country, and made a detour to St. Cloud, where he was captured by Sheriff McKelvey of Stearns county.

The report of the state examiner of graded schools shows that Barnesville with fifty-four successful candidates stands at the head of the list, equalled by but one other school in the state and surpassed by none. The work of the teachers was so satisfactory last year, that they have all been engaged for another year.

Alfred Johnson, a farmer, living on the Wild Rice river, near Ada, died from exposure. He had been intoxicated for about a week. Johnson is alleged to have obtained his liquor from F. O. Weygant, a druggist, who has been bound over to the grand jury on the charge of selling liquor without license.

The Northwestern passenger depot at Tracy was burned to the ground. All of the contents of the express and ticket offices and baggage rooms, of value, were saved. The wind was blowing hard from the south, and the fire company exerted all its efforts toward protecting the business block opposite the depot. Several tons of coal stored in the building furnished food for the flames.

The twenty-second annual reunion of the Old Settlers' Association of the St. Croix Valley was held in Stillwater recently. At the business meeting which preceded the banquet the following officers were elected: President, Henry L. Maas; vice president, Thomas P. Ramsden; secretary, D. B. Loomis; assistant secretary, Adam Marty; treasurer, E. W. Durand.

The Masaba range was furnished another murder mystery. The dead body of a man was found yesterday near Duluth. It was stripped of flesh and sinew, and nothing remained but the skeleton. There is not a single clue to the murderer, though there was a bullet hole through the head. The absence of firearms about the body precludes the idea of suicide.

Two tramps named J. H. Mahaney and Bob Hawthorne, assaulted and robbed a farm hand by the name of Thomas Fitzpatrick, of $70, near Lamberton. The thieves were almost immediately apprehended and placed in the lock-up, from which place one of their pals made an unsuccessful attempt to liberate them during the night. One of the thieves confessed, and restored the money, which had been secreted in a barn. The two vags were remanded to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury in November.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture,
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

: OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anythieg in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 30, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON, of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.

For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.

For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Hennepin

For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON, Polk.

For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES, St. Louis.

Presidential Electors—
T. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H. H. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kelliher; Charles D'Autrement; Hans B. Bjorge; James Dillon.

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives—
S. J. LEE.......Norman County
G. O. GILBERTSON,
W. A. MARIN.......Polk County

It is gratifying to note how rapidly the free silver sentiment is quieting down. We have known all along that sooner or later reason would prevail. Many of the populists in Minnesota who have really been searching for the truth in the matter are quietly acknowledging the republicans to be correct, on the money question although they still adhere to the fundamental principles of their own party. This independent thought is the nation's savior.

The Crookston Daily Tribune Sept. 18 is the father of the above screed. We were surprised when we saw it and wondered what ill starred fake had gotten into Hammond, but our eyes wandered to the top of the sheet and we at once solved the problem; the "humorous editor" had appeared and launched his craft upon the turbid waters of journalism. We didn't believe it was ever intended for a fact and are glad to be able to say that it is "humor" for no sensible man believes that a "pop" has been searching after TRUTH IN THE REPUBLICAN CAMPS; couldn't do it you know; 'tain't there and has'nt been for twenty years and nobody knows it better than the "pops" of Polk county. But if this new fledgeling in journalism denies our interpretation of his iridescent dream and claims that what he states has an atom of truth in it, we say to him, get an old wool hat on and go out again. Opinions change awfully under peculiar conditions.

The Real Republic says: The farmers and laboring organizations admit that they want free coinage of silver and government paper money because it will help them.

They declare that they want the government ownership of railroads and telegraphs because it will help them. They are honest about it. They do not try to deceive the gold-bugs, the bankers, the railroad corporations nor telegraph corporations into favoring and voting for these things because it will help them.

The farmer says I want these things because it will benefit me. The laborer says I want these things because it will benefit me.

They tell the truth and attempt to deceive no one.

How is it with the bankers and Wall street gamblers? They declare they want the gold standard and bank money because it will benefit the farmers and the laboring men. They lie when they say it. They lie to deceive. They want it because it will benefit them only. When the manufacturing baron declares that he wants a protective tariff to benefit the farmers and to "protect American labor" he lies and lies purposely to deceive. He wants it because it will help him, and him only.

When the railroad magnates and their hirelings tell the people that it would bankrupt the Government to buy the railroads and that they are opposed to Government ownership because it would be bad for the people, and that the best thing for the people is to let the railroads be owned and operated by the great corporations, they lie, and they lie to deceive the people. They want to own and control the railroads because it is a good thing for them. The same way with the telegraph.

These liars and robbers do not dare tell the truth; should they do so it would create a revolution in twenty-four hours. They can continue their policy of rule and robbery so long as they can fool the people and no longer. On the one hand the honest masses are candid and truthful in declaring just what they want, why they want it and for whom they want it. On the other hand the money gamblers, bond sharks, bankers and every great and little corporation, monopoly, trust or combine never admit that what they demand is for them, but always declare that what they want is strictly for the welfare of the dear people, the farmers and laboring men. How long will the people believe and be fooled by these liars.

How long will it take for the people to learn for themselves what they want and why they want it, and not depend upon bankers and monopolists to tell them?

The workers who build the palaces live in hovels.

The workers who build the railroads walk.

The farmer who raises the wool and cotton goes ragged.

The workers who make the wool and cotton into cloth and clothing must themselves go without.

The farmes who furnishes the hides to make the leather and the workers who make the leather and the shoes themselves wear the poorest and cheapest shoes.

The farmer who clothes and feeds all, himself wears the poorest clothes and eats the cheapest food.

Strange, isn't it?

Bryan will be elected president. The Journal regards this as a certain event. The gold campaign has virtually collapsed. The people have too much common sense to believe that higher taxation and less money circulated will benefit them. The people cannot uphold a party that supports the gold standard and a high priced dollar when it measures products and a low priced dollar when it measures debt. They cannot uphold a party that fosters trusts and monopolies. Take the case of coal. In the face of low wheat, cotton, beef, butter, hogs and every article of agricultural production, the coal trust has put up the price of coal nearly $2.00 per ton. The people want a man in the president's chair like Jackson that will tell these fellows that he will hang them higher than Haman if they persist in robbing the people in this way, and we believe Bryan is like Jackson.—Audobon Journal.

Why is not the voice of Robert G. Ingersoll heard in this campaign? Why is he not out stumping for McKinley? In former campaigns there has been no more uncompromising republican than the eloquent colonel. But now his voice is silent. He has been offered $2,000 for a single speech in favor of the gold standard but still he speaks no word. The truth of the matter is that he has always been in favor of the full restoration of silver. In a speech made several years ago he said: "For my part I do not ask any interference on the part of the government except to undo the wrong it has done. I do not ask that money be made out of nothing. I do not ask for the prosperity born out of paper. But I do ask for the remonetization of silver. Silver was demonetized by fraud. It was an imposition upon every solvent man; a fraud upon every honest debtor in the United States. It assassinated labor. It was done in the interest of avarice and greed and should be undone by honest men."

Our republican friends are trying to bait Red Lake Homesteaders with a promise that if Eddy is returned to congress he will secure the passage of a bill to put their lands on the free list and remit the $1.25 per acre now taxed up against them. Possibly he would be willing to do something of this kind now that his chances of election are so slim, but why did he not make an effort in that direction when the Flynn bill for a similar purpose was before the house. Again, if he was so favorable to the project why was not a plank to that effect inserted in his congressional platform. The writer of this article, and all others who are conversant with the workings of that convention, know full well that such a plank was presented to the platform committee of his congressional convention, and that one of Mr. Eddy's staunchest henchmen appeared before the committee and argued against it for the express purpose of getting it thrown out. As a result Mr. Eddy's platform contains no declaration in regard to this matter, while, on the other hand, Mr. Lommen is committed by both his national and congressional platform to the "free land," as well as the "free silver" policy. In the light of the above facts we fail to see how either homesteaders or their friends can consistently support Mr. Eddy for congress. His pretensions of friendship are hardly warranted in the light of past events.—McIntosh Times.

Value of the Book as the Thieves Explained It to Their Lawyer.

When a western lawyer of distinction was once visiting a strange town, he volunteered to defend two men charged with stealing a boat. The men were found in possession of the boat and were suspected of being prisoners recently discharged from a neighboring penitentiary.

They were frank enough with their counsel to own that they were discharged prisoners, and they said that they had taken the boat merely to aid them in their journey. They professed to have no money, and the only things found upon their persons were a child's picture bearing an affectionate inscription, a little arrangement of hooks and wire apparently for hanging up the picture, and a Bible inscribed "From Mother to Harry." One of the prisoners was willing to go upon the stand and swear that they were not discharged prisoners, but the other declared that he was a Catholic and as such had conscientious scruples against perjury. So neither was put upon the witness stand. The defense was mainly an appeal to the jury in the name of the Bible found upon one of the prisoners, and so effective was the lawyer's plea that many of the jurors wept as he pictured these virtuous and penniless young men tempted to borrow the boat in order that they might reach home and kindred. The result was the prompt acquittal of the prisoners.

Soon after the verdict was given the lawyer had a private conference with his clients, and on their confessing that they had $30 between them he asked for $25 for his services. They admitted the obligation, but begged time for payment. They owned that they were burglars and earnestly begged for the return of the property taken from them. The lawyer had it in his possession, and he begged his clients to tell him its special value. They promptly showed him that the queer little device seemingly for hanging up the picture was really a set of skeleton keys. As to the Bible—why, a Bible was an excellent thing to have on hand in case of arrest, and this particular Bible was valuable for other purposes, as one of the lids contained a secret receptacle for a set of delicate burglar's tools.

The lawyer ended by accepting the promise of his burglar friends as to sending him his fee when they could spare the money, but he insisted upon keeping the Bible and the skeleton keys, though they pleaded hard, especially for the former. He had returned home and almost forgotten the burglars, when one day he received a letter inclosing the amount of his fee and saying that this was part of the first money that his late clients had earned. This last word was significantly underscored. When some months after the lawyer and his family were summering away from home, he received a letter saying that his house had been entered by burglars and completely ransacked for valuables. The lawyer returned to find that the house indeed had been turned topsy turvy, but none of the valuables was gone. One thing, however, was missing, the Bible of his burglar clients, and he recognized in the burglary their handiwork.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

PLATFORM IN A NUTSHELL.

The Populist Platform says that through executive power and patronage, the will of the people has been thwarted and plutocracy has been enthroned on the ruins of democracy. It demands:—

Increase in the volume of the currency.

Free coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1.

That postal saving banks shall be established.

That the Pacific railroad liens shall be foreclosed.

That the graduated income tax shall be levied.

That demonetization of lawful money by contract shall be prohibited.

That no more bonds shall be issued except by specific act of congress.

That the government shall own and operate the railroad and telegraph lines.

Thats grants of railroad lands not needed by the roads shall be reclaimed and held for settlers.

That the president, vice-president and senators shall be elected by direct vote of the people.

That the government shall exercise its option in paying its obligations in either gold or silver.

That the initative and referendum (by which the people can vote on the enactment of laws) shall be inaugurated.

The platform expresses sympathy for Cubans; favors home rule in the District of Columbia and the early admission of the territories to statehood; favors just pensions, denounces rule by contempt proceedings and denounces ballot box frauds.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

I, the undersigned, hereby notify each and everyone; and forbid them to have any dealing of any kind with my wife, Mrs. Anna L Johnson, either buy, sell or trust her anything in my name, or for her ccount give or take anything from my home, without my knowledge: and anyone coming to my home visiting or otherwise take warning not to circulate any falsehood of any kind which may hurt the honor of myself and children.

If she says she's tied up, shut in or badly treated, or that I am telling lies about her is not the truth, but a barefaced lie; and anyone who are circulating her lies or trying to draw her away from home or otherwise disturbing the peace of my family will be called upon to answer to same and dealt with according to law.

NELS M. JOHNSON.
Dated at St Hilaire, Minn., Sept. 26, 1896.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Information that informs.

If you are going East or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School. The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday..$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..........$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year........$4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year........$1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 25	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4.	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 13	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

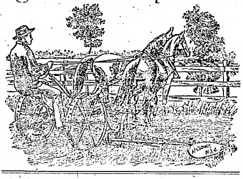
Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



Weekly Spectator....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain; or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,
DEALER IN
Fruits, Confectionery
AND CIGARS.
Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE
Collection Agency.
Improved Farms for sale, Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.
Physician & Surgeon.
Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,
Office in Bank Block.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,
Merchant = Tailor.
I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
☞ Give me a call and be convinced.
Respectfully yours,
St. Hilaire, Minn. J. HOGQUIST.

J. A. DAINARD
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
DAN PATERSON, Prop.
Dray in Connection.
The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place
BIG RED BARN
Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.
ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.
=$ $=
The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.
Apply to H. E. IVES.
WHAT YOU MAKE.
$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL
M. Z. EPPERSON
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	52c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	10c	Eggs	7c
Barley	13c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	58c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Last day of September.

Politicians are getting thick.

H. E. Ives went to Crookston to-day.

From now on St. Hilaire is bound to grow.

County Commissioner Norland is in the village to-day.

Chas. Brink has been relieved of tending shop alone.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

The work of building a Coffer dam commenced Monday.

Our merchants are stocking up with fall and winter goods.

Miss Mary Quandy has a full and complete line of millinery.

The price of wheat has been taking a few jumps the past week.

Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

R. H. Aimer made a business trip to Thief River Falls yesterday.

R. J. Montague will talk republicanism at Thief River to-night.

Keep your eye on St. Hilaire and the thirty million feet saw mill.

Jim Hill is doing the noble act of donating $25 to county fairs.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Five more weeks of this terrible (corrElling of paper bullets) politics.

The Coffer dam will be floated down and placed in position tomorrow.

Dan Patterson was distributing Standard oil at Thief River Falls yesterday.

The high winds of the past ten days has been disagreeable to hunting parties.

S. M. Dainard is in the vicinity of Fertile this week buying cattle and hogs.

Geo. Ralph, the surveyor of Crookston was in the village the first of the week.

Emil Brink returned home Monday after delivering a car load of stock at St. Paul.

Heavy shipments of fall and winter goods received every other day at Rapp & Post's.

L. T. Bergh purchased the old Sandmoen farm yesterday for the neat sum of $1,400.

Several men came down from the upper falls Monday and are now working on mill site.

Mrs. A. Olson, the aged lady that had her arm broken a few weeks ago, died last Tuesday.

The Standard Oil tank at this place was replenished the first of the week by a car load.

The wearers of the red, white and blue predominate—about sixteen to one in this village.

A good attorney, well up in law practice will do well in St. Hilaire—otherwise keep away.

Prof. O'Brien spent Saturday and Sunday visiting relatives and friends at Red Lake Falls.

Rev. Kenniston and family of Thief River Falls were visiting friends in the village yesterday.

The strip of timber and brush near the race has been cleared and now looks business like.

Oscar Olson came over from Fosston Friday and is spending a few days at the home of his parents.

We are informed by settlers that a prairie fire is running over the reservation and is doing some damage.

S. D. Patrick, the pine estimator for the St. Hilaire Lumber company came up from the twin cities Monday.

A county division meeting was held at East Grand Forks yesterday to talk over plans of carrying on the campaign.

Ed Whaley met with a slight accident from a kicking gun last Saturday. The break lever penetrated into his right hand about three-quarters of an inch.

Mrs. Jas. Meehan Jr. and Mrs. K. M. Hanson and daughter were guests at the residence of H. J. Freeman Tuesday.

The reports of prairie fire destroying hay stacks are coming in. Have you your stacks well guarded? If not, why not.

J. W. Wheeler, cashier of the First National Bank of Crookston was doing business in the village the first of the week.

The dates for the street fair at Grand Forks is next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. It promises to be a big affair.

Anyone with capital, looking for a good business location will do well to investigate advantages given at St. Hilaire.

If you have a few cords of stone on your land, dig them up at once. You can find a ready sale for them at St. Hilaire.

Among the expert peavee handlers that are at work building the Coffer dam, our own Halvor Halvorson is one of them.

Have you noticed that the republican "Mexican dollar object lesson" has played out—they were losing money by the deal.

Tony LaPage gets two years in the reformatory for opening register letters while he was assistant postmaster at Crookston.

M. A. Campion, republican candidate for superintendent of schools was in the village last Friday looking after his political fences.

The school rooms are crowded to their utmost capacity. Next year another school house with at least two rooms should be built.

J. A. Dainard shipped a car load of stock from Red Lake Falls last Saturday making connection with the through stock train.

L. T. Bergh leaves to-day for North Dakota where he goes on a collecting tour in the interest of the McCormick Harvester company.

W. A. Sorsoleil returned to-day with his little daughter who has been spending the summer with her grand parents at Langdon, N. Dak.

Everybody busy digging potatoes, and the prospects for a run on the drug store after liniment to take the hump out of your back is good.

The assessment of Polk county property, which was raised 50 per cent by the equalization board, has been reduced to its former assessment.

A party of Crookston hunters passed through here Monday enroute to Mud lake where they will remain a few days in quest of geese and ducks.

Mr. Kelso, the Crookston collector did a stroke of republican talk last evening, beginning where Adam left off, and stopping where he ought to begin.

Thief River Falls is a strong free silver town. They listen to both sides of the question and are more convinced than ever that they are right and silver too.

W. C. Peters and family left to-day for Angus, where Mr. Peters has been engaged to teach the school of that town. School commences next Monday.

The sand burs and nettle crop is first-class judging from the amount people carry on their clothing. And the dogs? well—you can't see hair for "yankee-lice."

George Ralph and T. D. McCall went up to St. Hilaire this morning to re-survey a portion of the town and locate some lost property.—Crookston Tribune.

The square timbers that will be used for building the race were floated down from Thief River Falls. Mr. Biron expects to have the main part of the race built in about six weeks.

The coal barrons that contributed so freely to the republican campaign fund are now getting their money back by a two dollar a ton raise of coal. Liberal lot of fellows these coal barrons.

We have received three letters the past week from parties wishing to locate in a good live town. St. Hilaire will be such in the near future. Come in on the ground floor and be in the "push."

One Johnson was around yesterday distributing a wagon load of republican literature. He is a professional gambler by trade and distributing this literature is merely a side issue. We are informed he did no business here.

H. W. Lee, attorney and editor of the Thief River Falls News was a pleasant caller at this office last Friday. Mr. Lee had a case to attend to at Crookston and from there he goes to the twin cities where he will remain a week or ten days before returning.

If you want to get fair and square treatment send your wool down to the woolen mills at Litchfield, Minn. See their advertisement elsewhere in the columns of this paper. Their work is of the very best and prompt attention is given.

Every railroad corporation, every trust and combine organized to control prices, nearly every national bank, and all the GOLD syndicates OF THE WORLD are at work for McKinley and against Bryan. What do YOU think about it?—you republicans who have been complaining of monopoly.

There are four candidates in the field for auditor in Roseau county. J. Friend Holmes, an old resident of Red Lake Falls is running independently and respectfully solicits the support of the voters during the campaign. Our old friend and newspaper boy, J. C. Spencer, has the pole, and is a likely winner. He is capable in every respect.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

Letter From Mr. Prise.

Harvist is over and we haint got nothin, at least nothin to sell, it is a long time sence I rit yu, but an old man sumtimes gits tired and wants to rest his hed jist the same as he dus his body, so much thinking about politix and the condishun of the country will make ennybuddy tired. We hav had a grate time lately with the polerteshuns and speekers, ther goin about the country howlin about McKinley and prosperety and tellen us what an orful anerkest Bryan is. One staid at Pete Hanson's last Saturday and over Sunday, he was a professer, so tha called him, but I dont no whether of relegon or what, I gess not of relegon for he went out huntin chickins on the Sabbath and killed six chickins befor the lor was off. Hes a strong republercan and when I asked him if he dident beleve this country cood regalate its own munny without England's help he looked at me with contempt and dident anser. He made a speech Saturday nite at the haf wa house but there want any republercans there, but 1, our postmaster and he don't want to say a word for fear G. C. will put him out. Theve got a grate picture on the offes dore marked McKinley, the advance agent of prosperity and rite under it is a notis that there will be speekers at the Haf wa house on the 5th da of September 1896 by imminent speakers from abrod. I'm a goin to that meetin and will tell yu all about it. We'd like a speeker to cheer us up a leetle, but I spose they are needed more sumwhare else. We're all one wa on Brushy, all for country, not one for englund and all the speekers this side of tofet cant change one of us.

I went to the haf wa house last nite to hear the speakers, and when I got there I seed the same feller that was thare last winter establishun McGinley Clubs, but nobody else was thare but a red heded irish boy that lives at the house, doin chores for his bord—tha two was all the audience 'till I came, and then the speaker sed he'd call the boys in, meenin the thrashin cru that was campt on the south side of the timber. He called and called and the noise doun thare gru lowder and lowder, and I went doun and found Steve Radclef maken a free silver speech to the thrashers, and every few minits he and the rest of em wood take a drink from a galon jug cuvered with willers. I ast Pete whar tha got it and he sed he dident no but thot it cum up in the speekers wagin, But Steve had enuf for inspuration and he made a ratlin good speech and the boys all cheered him mor'n twenty times. As I started back to the house I met the reglar speeker, he had been hid in the brush listning to Steve's speech and seein his whisky go doun free silver throtes faster er he liked to see it. I ast him when his meetin was to begin and he mournfully sed I'm not goin to speek, there's nobody to hear me and them durty democrats and poperles have got all my whisky entirly, stole it outin my bugy, dident even leve the bottle I had in my grip to go hum on; I'm goin back, ther's no use tockin to such a lot of fules, tha dont no how to trete a JENTLEMAN.

I moseyed along home chucklin over his defete and had hardly fenished tellin the old woman when the speeker actually waked into the dore and wanted to no if I had enny whisky. I told him we had a pint of alkahol the old woman got for camfire but I dident beleve he wood drink it; he sed, let me have it and when I give to him he took a big drink, enough to strangle two common men ust to it. He give me a 53 cent dollar to get sum more and went out. I told Jim to watch what he did; but in a fu minutes Jim cum back and sed, he's turned in at the ha stack acrost the crick and his horse is tide to the fence eatin from the stack. Next mornin I was up before sun and seed him just pullen out. We've no use fur that feller up here and he dident make enny converts on Brushy.

Yurs til deth,
EFRUM PRISE.

A Local Advisory Board in connection with the Children's Home Society of Minnesota was appointed at St. Hilaire during the visit to that village by Mrs. B. L. Russell Asst. Superintendent in the work.

President—C. G. Rapp.
Vice President—Mrs. S. M. Harris.
Secretary—Mrs. R. H. Aimer.
Treasurer—J. J. Soll.
Legal Advisor—K. O. Gigstad
Medical Examiner—Dr. Francis

The duties of the board are to report on application for children—to keep a watchcare over children taken into the community—and (of principal importance to the town) to report cases of destitution. The society taking charge of entire families of little ones if left orphaned and destitute—thus relieving town and county of all charge. The work is strictly non denominational and all applicants for children who will give Christian training and a permanent home until of age are welcomed. 1015 children cared for in 7 years in Minnesota. At present homes are wanted for 18. Youngest—1 month old; eldest—14 years.

Anyone wishing to apply for children can obtain application papers and all necessary information from officers or members of the local board.

A farm hand was complaining yesterday at the amount of work to be done by one of his calling in this state. He says there is too much push to Minnesota farmers. In Kansas they start to work at about seven in the morning and work till supper time; in Minnesota work begins before five in the morning; and after working all day they milk and do chores till bed time. He is going back to Kansas.—Crookston Times.

—Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a specialty from now until after election.

PRETTY PLAIN POINTERS.

We once knew of a farmer's wife who objected to feeding three or four worthless dogs. We wonder if there are any more farmer's wives with similar tastes. This one quietly got rid of the dogs and substituted a pig which was her own little pig. She fed it what the dogs had been receiving from the kitchen scraps and in the fall it weighed over 800 lbs. Eight hundred pounds of live pork is worth more than half a dozen "yaller dogs." There is a moral to this story longer than a pig's curly tail and louder than a dog's bark. Sick 'em.—Northwestern Agriculturist.

"McKinley spoke volumes when he said it is "better to open the mills of the country than the mints."—Janesville Echo. Exactly! And Bryan uttered a wiser and better sentiment when he said "it is better to remonetize silver because its remonetization will open, not alone the protected mills of the McKinley Protective Tariff Sugar League, but also all the mines, mills and mints of the country." Mr. Bryan believes that both the mills and the mints should be open in this country. One favors all the people, the other a class. One reprents the classes, the other the masses.

Eugene V. Debs says men have been the slaves of corporations, women have been the slaves of men, and the sweet innocent children have been the slaves of all. There must be, there will be, a change of program. Every man upon this earth is entitled to all the fruits of his toil, and as long as he is being deprived of any part of it, he is the victim of not only one greed and rapacity, but of the plunderer. The man who steals a few pennies finds his way to jail. The man who plunders the people by the millions is a great financier and goes to the United States Senate or to the President's cabinet.

The managers of the Republican campaign in this county we understand, are soon to put a combination on the road, that for originality takes the whole bake shop. This is the way a Crookston man told it to me the other day—SUB ROSA, of course, so for goodness sake don't mention it—Hon. Halvor Steenerson the gifted and silver tongued orator and Rube Allyn, the humorist editor, compose the combination. They are to go through the county and Mr. Steenerson will make Republican gold speeches and Allyn will do the buffoon act and under pretense of being a silverite will station himself in the audience and ask questions—which are now being prepared and rehearsed—which Mr. Steenerson will answer in a manner calculated to make the silverite ridiculous.—Fisher Bulletin.

Section 2, chapter 277, laws of 1895, provides that every voter who shall, before or during any election, directly or indirectly, by himself or another, ask, demand, receive, agree or contract for any money, gift, loan or valuable consideration, office, place or employment, public or private, for himself or for any other person, for voting or agreeing to vote, or for refraining or agreeing to refrain from voting at any election, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months. All candidates are liable to punishment and forfeiture of office for offering a bribe of any kind to any voter. Every man better read the whole law, as the penalties are quite severe. The law prohibits all acts of either bribery or intimidation.

Dr. W. Courby, Kirby, Corbet, O'Brian, V. S., C. O. D. and F. O. B., the eminent horse specialist and physiognomist, alleged graduate of the Montreal College of Veterinary Surgery and member of the State Board, has fitted up an office next to the butcher shop and hereafter will dispense horse balls and six syllable words from the small green front.—Roseau Region.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

Change of Northern Pacific Depot in Minneapolis.

On and after September 1st all Northern Pacific passenger trains will arrive at and depart from the C. M. & St. P. Ry. passenger station, Washington and Fourth Avenue South, Minneapolis. Passengers alight from trains on a level with the street and will not have steps to climb in order to get out of depot. This change will land the passenger nearer the business part of the city. Street car lines are immediately in front of the depot entrance, thus giving quick and easy access to any part of the city. When you want to take the Northern Pacific to or from Minneapolis, remember the change of depots.

—Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

The BEER=
THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE
HAMM
Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.
☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.
Something .....
For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every one knows this is impossible. We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.
We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

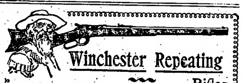
For Sale! —The Earth
IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.
IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.
☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,
DEALER IN
Drugs and Stationery
St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET
ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats.
FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.
Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.
S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

The American Hotel.....
W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.
Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.
Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

Boot and Shoe Store!
L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.
DEALER IN
Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.
St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating Rifles
Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles
ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.
Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.
☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

A Household Necessity.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age; pleasant and refreshing to the taste; acts gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispels colds, cures headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Fall Plowing for Sugar Beets.

The Nebraska Experiment Station, which has done much to promote this industry, has published a special bulletin, explaining how and why preparation of the land for sugar beets should begin in the fall. The sooner the stubble and weeds are plowed under, if only to a depth of three inches, the better, followed by a spike harrow to make a loose layer of soil on top to prevent evaporation. It has been shown that land so prepared lost only one-third as much water by evaporation as land having a firmly packed surface. Unless the land is very rich, spread well-rotted manure after the shallow plowing, which will add to the yield and probably something to the sugar content. Subsoil and surface plow in the fall, or if that cannot be done, plow as deeply as possible. The extreme dryness of the air and soil in most sections where sugar beets are grown, makes it important that manure should be well rotted. If the beets are to follow corn, clear off the stalks and harrow thoroughly. In the fall, the plow can be run twelve or fifteen inches deep, while if not done until spring, it is hardly safe to turn up the soil much below the average depth of previous plowing—four to six inches.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 300-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Wanted to Be Helpful.

Banker (to new cashier)—Look here, if you are ever seized with the desire to run off with the cash, let me know; I'll go with you.—Answers.

Will Attend to It.

"This liver is awful, Maud," said Mr. Newwed.

"I'm very sorry," returned the bride. "I'll tell the cook to speak to the livery man about it."—Tit-Bits.

IT'S CURES THAT COUNT.

Many so-called remedies are pressed on the public attention on account of their claimed large sales. But sales cannot determine values. Sales simply argue good salesmen, shrewd puffery, or enormous advertising. It's cures that count. It is cures that are counted on by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Its sales might be boasted. It has the world for its market. But sales prove nothing. We point only to the record of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, as proof of its merit:

50 YEARS OF CURES.

Breaking Colts.

A well-known Kentucky horseman says:

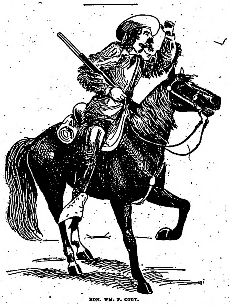
"One thing to teach colts is how to break and catch, and that is something every trainer does differently. With me it is this way: I let them go a little way, then by a sudden shift settle them. You see they will soon learn in this way that it's all right till I signal them by the shift of the bit to go to their gait again, and I gradually shorten their breaks till they are what we all term handy. How often as I have passed a group sitting on the rails watching us work, I've heard some one remark as to how handy my colt is. A thing one has to do is to keep colts interested in their work. As a rule they are apt to cut up some capers on first going out, and I confess I rather like to see them roll, showing that they are right on edge, eating well and ready to work. After their first lessons I seldom put a kick-strap on them. A sharp command or reprimand and they will straighten out and behave. Rarely ever do I use a whip, and then just as with children, to show them they will be punished if they refuse to obey, for I don't believe in fooling them any more than letting them fool me. Many are careless with colts, I think, and think they can stand almost anything while they are young. I have always believed in the old adage as to 'What's worth doing at all is worth doing well.'"

Biddeford, Me., expends $20 annually for snuff for its paupers.

BUFFALO BILL.

A NOTED MAN'S OPINION ON A SUBJECT OF VITAL IMPORTANCE.

He speaks from experience. His life, his knowledge of the Indians and his unimpeachable integrity lend weight to his statements.



HON. WM. F. CODY.

If there is a man in America to-day, whose opinion of that which has to do with the Indians and their habits is of value, it is that of the Hon. Wm. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). The years of his life spent with them as a government scout and his later life of success, combined with the respect and admiration felt for him by the entire world, make his words an unquestionable authority, on anything to do with this subject.

When such a man as this, in times of sickness resorts to medicines and obtains relief by their use, that are of nature's own brewing, made by nature's own children—the Indian—from her all powerful roots, barks and herbs, as they themselves gather them, it would seem that the example he thus gives to the world should be followed and profited by.

Note what he says in his own words concerning the wonderful results to be obtained by the famous Kickapoo Indian Sagwa:—"I have known of its virtue for a long time, and on the frontier this and the other Kickapoo Indian remedies are considered indispensible. I had occasion to use Kickapoo Indian Sagwa for malaria and chills with the best of results, it is far superior to quinine. I have also used Sagwa and Kickapoo Indian Oil for rheumatism and was speedily cured. You may use my name and say that for what they claim to do the Kickapoo Indian Remedies have no equal." Sufferers from these troubles, or in fact from any derangement caused by a disordered condition of the kidneys, liver, stomach or blood, follow this illustrious man's example, get well by a sure method. Where a cure is possible, a cure is certain and that too without danger, as these medicines contain no mineral or other poisonous ingredients. All druggists sell them. Kickapoo Indian Sagwa $1 a bottle, 6 bottles for $5. Kickapoo Indian Oil, 25c., Salve, 25c., Worm Killer, 25c., Cough Cure, 50c., Pills, 25c.

Prof. Babcock, the well-known Chemist, says:—

"I find that Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa is absolutely pure. It contains no trace of any substance foreign to the pure roasted cocoa-bean. The color is that of pure cocoa; the flavor is natural, and not artificial; and the product is in every particular such as must have been produced from the pure cocoa-bean without the addition of any chemical, alkali, acid, or artificial flavoring substance, which are to be detected in cocoas prepared by the so-called 'Dutch process.'"

Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

EVERY FARMER IN THE NORTH

CAN MAKE MORE MONEY IN THE MIDDLE SOUTH.

He can make twice as much. He can sell his Northern farm and get twice as many acres for his money down here. We sell improved farms for $5 to $20 an acre. Plenty of railroads—four of them. No droughts. Neither too hot nor too cold—climate just right. Northern farmers are coming every week. If you are interested write for FREE pamphlets and ask all the questions you want to. It is a pleasure to us to answer them.

SOUTHERN HOMESEEKERS' LAND COMPANY, Somerville, Tenn.

A Night's Work.

"You are a dead man," said the doctor, gazing fixedly at Anatole.

Anatole staggered. He had come to spend the evening with his old friend Dr. Bardais, the illustrious savant whose works on poisonous substances are well known, but whose nobleness of heart and fatherly kindness Anatole more than any one could appreciate. And it was from such a source that the young man had heard the terrible prognostication:

"Unfortunate child, what have you been doing?" said the doctor.

"Nothing, I assure you," stammered Anatole.

"Think well; recall all your actions. What have you eaten, drunk and inhaled?"

This last word startled Anatole. That very morning he had received a letter from a friend who was traveling about India. In this letter was a flower plucked on the borders of the Ganges, a red flower of peculiar shape, whose perfume he now distinctly remembered was strangely penetrating. Drawing the letter from his pocket he showed its contents to the savant.

"No more doubt!" exclaimed the latter; "it is the tyramenesis indica—the flower of death!"

"Is it possible?"

"Alas! I am certain of it!"

"Oh, no, it cannot be. Look, I am full of life and health."

"At what time did you open the fatal letter?" "At 9 o'clock this morning."

"To-morrow morning, then, at the same hour, at the same minute, full of health though you are, as you claim you will feel a certain pain at your heart and in a moment all will be over."

"And do you know no remedy, no means to——?"

"None," said the doctor, sinking in a chair, overcome with grief.

On seeing the emotion of his old friend Anatole realized he was indeed doomed and he rushed out like a mad man. He walked mechanically in the night, his ideas wild and upset, stumbling along like one dazed by a heavy blow; not noticing that the streets were getting more deserted, until he finally sank on some steps thoroughly exhausted. After a little rest he attempted to gather his wandering thoughts.

"My situation is that of one condemned to death—and how long have I to live?"

He looked at his watch.

"Three o'clock. Better go to bed. Go to bed? Spend in sleep the last six hours of my life. I ought to have something to do before I leave. Why, certainly. My will!"

Entering an all-night restaurant Anatole called:

"Waiter, a bottle of champagne and a bottle of ink."

After refreshing himself he said:

"Six thousand pounds income! No father nor mother, happily for them. I see but one person in whom I have an interest—Nicette!"

Nicette was a distant cousin, a charming girl of eighteen, with blonde hair and large black eyes. Like him, she was alone in the world and that had established a bond of sympathy between them. His last will was speedily drawn up; everything was to go to Nicette. Then he drank a second glass of champagne.

"Poor Nicette," he thought, "she was quite sad the last time I saw her. Her guardian, whose knowledge of the world is restricted to his class of wind instruments at the conservatory, had promised her hand to some brute of a clown whom she despised. She hates him all the more since she loves some one else, as far as I could make out from her words full of reticence and shyness. Who can that happy individual be? Worthy he must be or she had not chosen him.

"Beautiful, good, sweet and loving Nicette deserves the best of husbands. Ah! is she not the wife I would have chosen if—. It is an infamy to force her in this marriage—I will be her chevalier and free her from this injustice. To-morrow I will— But to-morrow will be too late. I must ask now, at once. It is somewhat early to call to see people now, but when I think that in five hours I will be a dead man, what do I care for propriety? Come, my life for Nicette!"

It was 4 o'clock in the morning when Anatole rang at the door of Nicette's guardian, M. Bouvard, who, in his night cap, opened the door.

"Is the house on fire?" he growled.

"No, sir, it is only a call."

"At this hour?"

"All hours are the same to me; but go back to bed, sir, you'll take cold."

"That's what I intend to do. What important business brings you here, sir?"

"a very important affair; I want you to desist marrying my cousin to that Capdenac."

"Sir, that marriage is arranged and will take place."

"It will not take place."

"We'll see. And now you have my answer, I will not detain you."

"That is not very kind; but I am indulgent as well as persistent, Mr. Bouvard. I will forgive your rudeness and will remain."

"Remember, if you will, I consider you as gone and have no more to say."

Mr. Bouvard turned his back, but suddenly jumped up roaring at Anatole, who was blowing with all his might in one of the professor's instruments.

"My trombone, sir! Presented by my pupils! Let go, sir!"

"Consider you as departed, sir, and am beguiling the tedious moments waiting for your return."

"Stop, I say! My landlady allows no practicing. She cannot love music as I do."

"I beg of you, stop!"

"Do you consent, then?"

"What do you mean?"

"You must give up this marriage."

"Mr. Capdenac has my word."

"Promise me that if I make him give up my cousin will be free."

"If you can do that, yes."

"Where does he live?"

"No. 100 Rue des Deem-Epees."

"Au revoir," cried Anatole, hastily leaving Bouvard.

It was 6 o'clock when he arrived at M. Capdenac's.

"Who is there?" called a rough voice through the door.

"Open. I have a message from M. Bouvard."

The noise of three different keys in as many locks were heard.

"A very prudent man," thought Anatole. At last the door opened.

Mr. Capdenac's roms were literally hung with arms of all kinds, yataghans, poisoned arrows, pistols and swords, a veritable arsenal. This alone was enough to make a timid soul quail.

"Sir," said Anatole, "you wish to marry Miss Nicette. It must not be!"

"And who will prevent it?"

"I will."

Capdenac looked at Anatole, who, though not very large, seemed a determined man.

"Ah, young man, you are very lucky to find me in a kind mood. Do you know that, out of the twenty duels I boast, five of my adversaries were killed, the rest wounded? I consider your youth, and spare you. Go away while it is yet time."

"I am aware of your great skill, sir, and judge you a worthy adversary. Come, let us take these two swords, or these marine axes or these firearms. What are you thinking about?"

"Your mother and her grief."

"I have no mother. Come, what do you think of this revolver?"

"Don't trifle with firearms!"

"Are you afraid? You are shaking."

"With cold."

"Come, will you fight or give up Nicette?"

"I like your bravery. Let us understand each other. For some time back I have thought of getting out of this marriage. But I must not seem to be threatened out of it. You have threatened me."

"I will take it all back."

"Very well, then."

"Will you write and sign your withdrawal?"

"I see I must do as you wish."

Armed with the precious document, Anatole ran back to Mr. Bouvard's. He handed him the paper and ran to Nicette's door, calling to her to wake up and dress and come down.

"What can be the matter?" she asked, soon after appearing in the drawing room.

"Your cousin is a madman," announced Mr. Bouvard.

"Mad I may be," said Anatole, "but Nicette will thank her stars for what I have accomplished this night. Mr. Capdenac releases you and your guardian consents to your union with the one you love."

"Truly, guardian, I may marry Anatole?"

"What!" exclaimed Anatole.

"Since it is you I love, cousin."

At this moment Anatole felt his heart give a great leap. Was it joy, or anguish, or death?"

"Oh, misery! She loves me. Happiness within reach, and yet I must die!"

Then he laid his fevered hands on Nicette's and told her all.

"Impossible!" she cried. "That doctor is mistaken. Who is he?"

"A man who is never mistaken—Dr. Bardais."

"Bardais!" exclaimed Mr. Bouvard, laughing loud and long. "Bardais! See what the paper says of him:"

"Bardais, the eminent savant, has been stricken with mental aberration. His mania takes a scientific turn. Having long made a study of poisonous substances, he fancies every one he meets poisoned and doomed," etc.

"Nicette!"

"Anatole!" And they fell in each other's arms.

INSECTS ON MOUNT WASHINGTON.

Nine Hundred Species at the Height of Nearly a Mile.

The list of insects found in the Alpine region of Mount Washington contains names of more than 900 species of insects captured on the mountain, all taken above 5,500 feet altitude. Mrs. Slosson has been twice to the summit this season, spending two weeks here in early July and nine days in August. She has captured many additional species, perhaps a hundred in all. These represent all the different orders of insects: Lepidoptera (butterflies and moths), coleoptera (beetles), hymenoptera (bees, ants, wasps, etc), diptera (flies), neuroptera (dragon flies), hemiptera (bugs), and archnidae (spiders and mites). Some of these have been named for the mountain on which they were found, others for their discoverer. Thus, a large fly is Degeeria Dashingtoniae, and an ichneumon is Meniscus Slossonum, Montanus or Borealis, to suggest their cold, mountainous birthplace.

Some of the most common and homely kind of creatures are of interest to the naturalist. A large, red mite, related to what is popularly known as the red spider of house plants, is very common on this summit. But it was never noticed or described until Mrs. Slosson found it, three years ago and sent it to a specialist learned in such matters. He found it was a new species, though nearly related to certain mites found upon the Alps and other European mountains.

But one species of daddy-longlegs has been found upon the summit. This was discovered by Mrs. Slosson two years ago, and named by a specialist Montanum. It is very common, running over the rocks and on the ground, but had somehow escaped the notice of entomologists until Mrs. Slosson's discovery. Spiders are numerous, as every one must notice, and every rock, when turned over, discloses beetles and other insects, while on warm, still days, the air is filled with gauzy wings and gaily-colored slender bodies, hovering, soaring and fluttering about.

The contributions which Mrs. Slosson is making to the science of entomology by her investigations will be most highly appreciated by experts and students. But it is also most interesting to the general public to gain additional information as to the peculiar character of this high region. Its insect and vegetable and floral life, so entirely different from that of any other spot in New England, affords the most prolific subject for study.—Above the Clouds.

Parisian Sleeve Designers.

The elbow sleeve is worn upon all possible occasions by women with pretty arms, and is, moreover, a dainty mode which every one admires. An extra amount of bouffancy is allowed, the elbow sleeve, or the smart effect is spoiled.

A pretty idea of decorating the elbow sleeves of a black gauze evening frock is to scatter glittering gilt sequins as thickly over it as possible, and edge it, top and bottom, with sequin sewn gauze.

A great deal of attention is given to the finishing of the wrist of all new sleeves; they are seldom left plain, but slashed into all sorts of odd fashions, according to the fancy, hollowed out to fit the palm, and allowed to fall over the back of the hand in all sorts of peculiar ways. Narrow puffings of silk matching the linings are crushed in here; and as many lace frills as the hand will admit of. Even the plainest of the points must be neatly faced with silk matching the goods, or the effect is spoiled.

In the great Paris houses there are especial sleeve designers, who never touch any other item of dress than the sleeve, and from these clever brains emanate many of our most telling modes. When the skirt changes in style the sleeves must change or appear outre by contrast.

By the death of Prof. Francis J. Child, Harvard not only loses her oldest professor in active service, but one of her most famous instructors as well. He was a scholar of rare attainments and of remarkable accomplishments in the line of English literature. The whole English-speaking world, in common with Harvard university, will mourn the death of one of the most learned masters of its language and literature.

Early

In the fall there is danger to the health from the sudden changes in temperature, and from disease germs arising from decaying vegetation. The blood must be kept pure and the system must be invigorated if these dangers are to be avoided. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best fall medicine, because it is the best blood purifier and tonic. It wards off colds, bronchitis, pneumonia and fevers.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the Best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Grass for Lowlands.

Sow the grasses on the rye and cover them with a harrow. Do this as soon as possible after the ground is dry in the spring. Sow timothy, red top and alsike clover. Use four pounds of timothy, three pounds of red top, and three pounds alsike clover per acre. These three varieties go nicely together. They all flourish best on low land. The overflow should help rather than harm them, and they mature about the same time. It is somewhat surprising that alsike clover is not more grown when we call to mind its affinity for such situations and the excellence of the hay which it produces.—Prairie Farmer.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklet and sample mailed free. Address, Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Trying to Please Him.

Arizona Pete—Shorty Grizzle shot Dempster full of holes.

Alkali Jack—That's all right. Dempster was always a crank about ventilation.—Judge.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the past 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Testimonials free.

A Distinction.

"What will it cost," asked young Cholly's father, "to give my boy an education?"

"The Lord only knows," replied the professor, eyeing the youth thoughtfully; "but you can put him through college for about $2,000."—Chicago Tribune.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Learning From the Chinese.

The instinct of the plain people has been right in not calling our Oriental visitor "Lee," for, acting out his name as popularly pronounced, this wily diplomat has, in England as well as here, required English to be translated to him, whereas it now appears that for years past he has spoken it fluently. This Chinese device of a needless interpreter is a "first-chop" one to gain time for giving answers without causing the delay to be noticed; the mandarin has the time taken in translation for reflection, and, if further reflection is desired, ambiguity in interpretation may be pretended and a new form of the question required. And yet men tell us that nothing can be learned from the Chinese.—Time and the Hour.

When billious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

The highest altitude in Connecticut is Norfolk, 1,220 feet above the sea.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Clifton, N. J., is to have a big woolen mill erected within its confines.

Trips Undertaken for Health's Sake Will be rendered more beneficial, and the fatigues of travel counteracted, if the voyager will take along with him Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and use that protective and enabling tonic, nerve invigorant and appetizer regularly. Impurities in air and water is neutralized by it, and it is a matchless tranquillizer and regulator of the stomach, liver and bowels. It counteracts malaria, rheumatism, and a tendency to kidney and bladder ailments.

Chicago has 700 miles of electric railroad tracks within its limits.

That Joyful Feeling.

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strenght and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old-time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well-informed.

Addison fell in love with the countess dowager of Warwick, but she did all the courting and gave him no trouble in that regard.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

To date the government has paid nearly $3,000,000 in premiums for speed made by war vessels in excess of the contract requirements.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Kibble R. Ackermann, Rochester, Minn., culinary utensil; Harry O. Ashenfelter, deceased, Spokane, Wash., hanging and sliding door; Frederick W. Bates, Minneapolis, Minn., bottle; Robert W. Chapman, P. Borger, Newark, N. J., and J. H. Linton, Fort Snelling, Minn., bottle; John J. Moore, Lima, Mont., carpet fastener; Ole O. Ovre, Godahl, Minn., planter; Daniel Williams, Wilbur, Wash., poison dropper.

T. D. Merwin, patent lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn.

For Milk Lovers.

To make milk digestible all that is necessary is to shake it well, and to sip it slowly. Shake the milk violently for a few minutes in a covered goblet, and then drink immediately, but not hastily, before it has time to separate again. After standing for some hours, as, for instance, all city milk has done on its way to town, the perfectly homogeneous article that came from the cow is separated, first by the rising of the cream from the gaseous or cheesy milk, and later by the tendency to divide into whey or curd. Although this latter process is perceptible only in souring milk, the fluid undergoes such constant changes that it should always be shaken before drinking it, unless it is taken quite warm from the cow.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has been a family medicine with us since 1865.—J. R. Madison, 2400 42d Ave., Chicago, Ill.

New Style of Canvassers.

The up-to-date canvasser now travels in a bunch. Under the direction of managers and chaperones, companies of lady agents will soon be touring the country, judging from the advent of such an organization here. They hold rehearsals, just like their theatrical sisters, and each girl is thoroughly coached as to what to say and how to say it. Early in the morning they receive their assignments and scatter over the city or town, watched by spotters, who report to the manager any breach of contract on the part of the canvassers. The rules are of the early-to-bed-and-earlyto-rise sort, the hotel bills and traveling expenses are paid by the manager, and the entire outfit is an object lesson of the benefits to be derived from discipline, drill and organization. The female book agent need not be lonely and helpless any longer, unless she proposes to flock by herself.—New York Letter.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe.

A Microbe Story.

"Well, Dicky, did you learn anything new at school to-day?"

"Yes'm; teacher says we mus' bile every drop o' worter we drink, coz there's cyclones in it, an' if we swoller 'em, they'll kill us."—Detroit Free Press.

Warner's Safe Cure

IN LARGE OR SMALL BOTTLES.

Owing to the many requests from its patrons, Warner's Safe Cure Co. have put on the market a smaller size bottle of Safe Cure which can now be obtained at all druggists at half the price of the large bottle.

Warner's Safe Cure is not only a scientific vegetable preparation and does all that is claimed for it, but it is the only Kidney and Liver medicine used by the best people of four continents. A medicine that bears the stamp of the world's approval, and maintains its position for a fifth of a century, must necessarily possess peculiar merit.

DON'T KICK! TAKE Cascarets. ALL DRUGGISTS.

This button with a ten cent box of CASCARETS, CANDY CATHARTIC, the ideal laxative and guaranteed constipation cure, sent FREE on receipt of five 2-cent stamps. Address STERLING REMEDY COMPANY, Chicago; Montreal, Can.; New York.

SALESMEN WANTED

To sell for Spring delivery the largest stock of HARDY FRUITS, SHADE TREES, FOREST TREE SEEDLINGS, SEED CORN and POTATOES in the West. We grow our own goods and give three plans of work. PAY WEEKLY. An early start is half the battle. Write for terms at once. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minn.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

N. W. N. U. No. 40—1893

HOLD YOUR WHEAT

President J. J. Hill says that "if farmers would be in less haste to sell their wheat they would made more money;" but adds that "the majority of them are compelled to sell in order to get money on which to live." Any farmer that wants to hold his wheat can send it to us to store, and we will loan him 90 per cent of its value at 6 per cent interest, and the loan can run as long as the wheat is in store. Our Storage rates are as follows: The first Twenty Days Free; after that ¼ (one-quarter) of a cent a bushel for each ten (10) days.

OSBORN, CROSBY & CO., FLOUR EXCHANGE MINNEAPOLIS

A.T.Co.
Battle Ax

"How happy could I be with either
Were the other dear charmer away."

Battle Ax PLUG

The ripest and sweetest leaf and the purest ingredients are used in the manufacture of "Battle Ax," and no matter how much you pay for a much smaller piece of any other high-grade brand, you cannot buy a better chew than "Battle Ax."

For 5 cents you get a piece of "Battle Ax" almost as large as the other fellow's 10-cent piece.

Ship your grain to us in CAR LOADS. We will treat you right. Send us the freight receipt as soon as it starts. As soon as it reaches us we will have it weighed by the State weighmaster, and inspected and graded by the State inspector, and will send you their certificates, as well as a bill of sale, with the money at once. Send us the names and P. O. addresses of 17 Farmers, and we will send you free, every two weeks, our latest Grocery List, giving latest prices on groceries and other goods. Our Prices are Right. Send 15 cents and we will send our 540-page Catalogue, express paid. T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, 508, 510, 717, 719, 721 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

ESTABLISHED 1879.

WOODWARD & Co

Minneapolis. GRAIN COMMISSION. Duluth.

BRANCH—CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE.

Orders for Future Delivery Executed in All Markets.

WHITE LEAD ST. LOUIS STRICTLY PURE WHITE LEAD, $2.77 per 100 lbs.; Strictly Pure Linseed Oil, raw, 33⅓ cents per gallon; boiled, 35⅓c per gallon. New Road Carts for $7.10 each. Repairing Outfit No. 2, 80c; No. 1 Root's Outfit, $1.49. New Harness, $3.67. Buggy and Harness catalogue, Bicycle cat., Agricultural Implements cat., Drug cat., free; say which you want. American Round Washers, $1.50 each. Glidden Barb Wire, $1.60 per hundred pounds for painted, and galvanized, $1.90 per hundred pounds. Send us the names and addresses of seventeen farmers and we will send you our Grocery List every two weeks, and this will keep you posted on the lowest prices of groceries in the market. 25 pounds of Granulated Sugar for $1.00. T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, 508, 510, 717, 719, 721, Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 7, 1896. NUMBER 10.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The president has appointed Francis F. Clausson assayer of the mint at New Orleans.

President Cleveland has appointed William P. Coleman of Rich Hill, Mo., and Ivan D. Applegate of Klamath Falls, Ore., to be commissioners to investigate and determine as to the correct location of the boundary lines of the Klamath Indian reservation in Oregon, and for such other duties as are provided for in the Indian act of June 10, 1896.

People in Print.

Gen. Euclid Borland, treasurer of the city of New Orleans, died in Norfolk, Va.

Paul Kalligas, a celebrated jurist, and at one time a minister of the Grecian government, is dead.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett earns a larger income than any other woman writer in the world.

James M. Sperry, prominently identified with the business interests of the San Joaquin valley, died at Stockton, Cal.

"Ian Maclaren" says that the Sermon on the Mount "was Christ's manifesto and the constitution of Christianity."

Miss Mary Taylor, who is said to have been the heroine of the poem, "Mary Had a Little Lamb," died recently at Somerville, Mass.

Ex-Commodore E. D. Morgan is reported to have sold his yacht, the May, to Mrs. J. H. Fell of Philadelphia, who this year chartered the Barracouta.

Dr. S. A. Lattimore, of the department of chemistry of the University of Rochester, will be acting president until a president is secured. Prof. Wheeler of Cornell university has been elected, but has not yet signified his acceptance.

John Lee Spohn, a Cincinnati photographer, claims to be the fifth earl of Ludlow, viscount Preston and baron of Ludlow of Ardsalla, in the peerage of Ireland, and baron Ludlow in that of the United Kingdom. His brother has gone to Shropshire, Wales, to claim the rights and titles of the elder brother.

Accidental Happenings.

Four lives were lost by the sinking of a barge at Milwaukee.

At Aurora, Ill., an old building containing 150 tons of wool was burned; loss, $40,000.

A reviewing stand at Burlington, Ia., collapsed, injuring a large number of people, including Vice President Stevenson and Gov. Drake.

Many towns in Florida were swept by the cyclone, and at least a hundred lives are known to have been lost.

John J. Ralya, a machine manufacturer of Indianapolis, while walking on the Big Four track, was struck by an engine and instantly killed.

The Little and postoffice block at Merrimac, Mass., were destroyed by fire. Total loss, $25,000, of which $15,000 is on the buildings. The insurance on the block was $8,000. Two firemen were slightly injured.

A banner across the street at Wakarusa, Ind., was pulled down by boys, and the rope also pulled down a chimney, to which it was fastened. A brick fell on the head of Jesse Kautzman, a merchant, killing him instantly.

Bernice, the little daughter of H. J. Jilbert of Rockford, Ill., while visiting at the home of her grandmother, ate some bread containing rat poison, and, after suffering terrible agony for ten minutes, died.

Mrs. G. Lutz was riding to the second floor at the B. & M. clothing store in Peoria, Ill., with her two boys, when Oliver J., the elder, was caught between the elevator and ceiling and instantly killed.

James Jones, a pioneer resident of Kouts, Ind., in getting off a train on the Panhandle road, was struck on the head by a mail pouch thrown from the train, dying shortly after. He was 70 years old.

The British tramp steamer Sirrus met with a serious accident while off Chester, Pa., and three of her crew and an unknown stowaway lost their lives. The dead are Alfred T. Beche, first mate; Hans Jaggers, and Fred Hillner, sailors, and the unknown stowaway.

Crimes and Criminals.

The Sheboygan, St. Paul & Western Railroad company has been incorporated.

Miss Willard has called upon women of the United States to aid the Armenians.

John Boyd Thacher has declined the nomination for governor of New York because he is opposed to free silver coinage.

Ex-Congressman C. W. Milliken of Franklin has been nominated for congress by the National Democrats of the Third Kentucky district.

A vicious St. Bernard dog attacked a party of school children at Maryville, Mo., and two were so badly injured that they will die.

The controversy in the Fourth Kentucky district between D. H. Smith and David R. Murray has been decided by the Democratic state committee, Mr. Smith being declared the nominee.

A daring robber stopped the pay train on the "Short Line Railway" in the mountains of West Virginia and robbed the paymaster of $2,500.

As the result of a practical joke, a shooting occurred at a boarding house in New Orleans; one young man killed another and then blew out his own brains.

The will of Edson Keith, the prominent Chicago merchant who recently took his life by jumping into the lake, was filed in the probate court. The estate is valued at $1,250,000.

The allied free silver forces have made public the result of a poll of the state, which shows that the Bryan electors will have 50,000 majority in Kansas.

Judge Allen, in the supreme court in Boston, appointed Irvington E. Weller of Boston, receiver of the Citizens' Gaslight Company of Reading and Stoneham.

At a session of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners at Cleveland it was decided by an overwhelming majority that party politics must not be discussed in the local unions.

The United States revenue cutter Grant has arrived at Seattle, nine days out from Onnalaska. She is the first of the Bering sea fleet to come from the north this season, and reports all well.

A man named Fred Nasol, who had hitherto been known as a respectable citizen of Indianapolis, was arrested for plundering a neighbor's house, and investigation shows that he had been in the habit of committing burglary by night for a number of years.

Miss Carrie Horner, daughter of Charles Horner, committed suicide at Westminster, Md., by taking strychnine. She was to have been married at 1 oclock, the day previous to the suicide, to William Brock, a grocer, but he had jilted her.

W. C. Wallace, a young man of many aliases and a graduate of Yale, is in jail at San Francisco, awaiting extradition to Fort Worth, Texas, where he is wanted for forging a draft for $20,000 on the First National Bank at that place.

County Treasurer George H. Morrison, until now one of the most influential men in Troy, N. Y., a man reputed to be worth $300,000, is in jail, charged with the embezzlement of $250,000, or all of the money belonging to the county that is available at the present time, except about $190.

Detectives arrested George Charpentier and wife on their arrival in New York from Paris on La Bretagne, supposing them to be elopers. The man proved himself to be the French consul at Mazatlan, Mexico, and the woman his wife. The Charpentier wanted is a French artist who recently eloped with his model.

Thomas Gorman and Matt Carey were cremated near Lansing, Iowa. Both were single. Carey was living alone in a log hut and Gorman was stopping over night with him. The general impression is that the men quarrelled, fatally wounded each other, and in the scrimmage the lamp was overturned, setting fire to the building.

From Foreign Shores.

Lord Windom is running a model public house on his English estate.

It is rumored that Lord Roberts is to be the new Knight of St. Patrick, in succession to the late Lord Limerick.

The most valuable sword in England is the one presented by the Egyptians to Lord Wolseley. It is valued at $10,000.

The King of Greece receives the smallest income of any European sovereign, his salary only amounting to $200,000.

The Duke of Devonshire's party at Bolton abbey recently in one day shot over the Hazlewood and forest moors, the bag being 163 brace.

James McNeill Whistler, the American artist, who a short time ago decided to spend the rest of his life in Paris, has changed his plans and gone to Rome.

The scientists of France will celebrate on Friday of this week the fifteenth anniversary of the discovery of the planet Neptune by Urbian Le Verrier and John Couch Adams.

In connection with the statement that the Queen of Italy has just learned to ride the bicycle, it may be mentioned that King Humbert was long a determined opponent of the machine.

Leprosy in its worst form exists in Montreal. Lee Tung, a Chinaman who died of a mysterious illness, has been found to have been a victim of it. An inspection of all Chinese boarding and lodging houses and stores has been ordered.

The British warship Wild Swan is ashore somewhere along the Central American coast, according to reports that have just reached Esquimault from the south. The particulars are not obtainable, but it is believed that she is in a very dangerous position.

A Vienna dispatch to the London Daily News says that as an outcome of Emperor Francis Joseph's visit to Bucharest, the King of Roumania has promised to join the dreibund while Austria and Roumania have agreed to hold the Danube as a secured trust.

Otherwise.

The Massachusetts Republicans have nominated Roger Wolcott for governor.

Roelif Brinkerhoff was re-elected president of the National Prison association.

W. F. Porter has accepted the nomination for governor by New York Democrats.

At Galena, Ill., Martin Gordon, supposed to be the oldest man in the state, died at the age of 102 years.

The national prison congress met at Milwaukee, Wis., with 125 members in attendance.

At Huntington, W. Va., Hon. Thomas Hawkins, the oldest member of the West Virginia legislature, died, aged 74 years.

The Republicans of the Third district of Connecticut unanimously renominated Col. Charles A. Russell for congress.

The situation at Leadville, Colo., is very quiet at present, but the greatest precaution is taken to prevent any outbreak of considerable proportions.

Judge F. O. Mason of Geneva, N. Y., was nominated for congress by the National (Gold) Democratic party for the Twenty-eighth New York district.

At Buffalo, Iowa, the school board have passed a resolution to use corn for fuel this winter, as it is much cheaper than coal.

Henry Hawk has filed a petition for a divorce from his wife, Elzoria Hawk, at Hillsboro, Ill. He alleges that she refused to prepare his meals for him, hit him with an iron poker, drove him from the house with a stick of stove wood, pounded him with her fists and carried a revolver with the avowed purpose of killing him.

THE GOLD STANDARD.

SOME ARGUMENTS USED TO UPHOLD IT EXPOSED.

Free Coinage of Silver Would Benefit Others Than Mine Owners, and Instead of Contracting the Money Volume, Will Expand It.

Some of the stock arguments against free coinage of silver are that:

"Such a course would benefit nobody but the millionaire silver mine owner."

And:

"Under free coinage the gold money of the country, amounting to about $600,000,000, would be supplanted by 'cheap silver money' and thus the currency would be contracted to that extent."

Let it be assumed that Senator Stewart is one of the "millionaire mine owners." Under existing conditions the output of his mine is sent to the market just as that much lead, iron, copper or other commodity would be under free coinage; his output would be elevated from the position of a commodity to that of a measure of the value of all commodities. Now instead of being a competitor with other commodity sellers Mr. Stewart becomes a competitor with other commodity buyers.

Suppose the product of one of his mines is sufficient in one year to coin one hundred thousand silver dollars and he carries the output to the mint and receives for it that amount of money. Is he the only man benefited by the transaction? If so, how is he benefited? What good are the hundred thousand dollars to him?

Under the economic conditions which exist the world over and which specifically apply to money, the hundred thousand dollars which the mint director would hand to Mr. Stewart would be, just as that many gold dollars would, utterly valueless intrinsically and could afford him no pleasure or enjoyment until after they had left his hands. Metal may be intrinsically valuable but money cannot be. Money is a creature of law. Metal is a product of nature. Law may transfer but it cannot create value and the thing that happened when Mr. Stewart had his bullion coined was the transfer of the value of the silver as metal for its value as money. Now having his hundred thousand dollars instead of his former silver ore what will he do with them? Until he meets somebody in possession of a "demand" for dollars his money will do him no earthly good but will remain in his hands simply as so much dead matter. The minute that he comes across such a person that minute he finds one whose wants he can supply and who can reciprocally benefit him by employing his money to advantage.

Is it not plain then that instead of free coinage benefiting no one but the millionaire mine owner, it not only benefits others, but it can not benefit the mine owner until it does benefit others. The common mistake of those who argue differently is in the fact that they consider money an end instead of a means to an end. It is not money that people want, it is what money, under the law, will buy that everybody wants. If Mr. Stewart didn't know this he would not have his bullion coined into money, because as money it would be without value, otherwise, while as bullion it would be of value in the arts and sciences. Mr. Stewart's hundred thousand dollars would be worthless to him until he put them into circulation, and then they would benefit others as much as that amount of gold dollars, or diamond dollars, if there was such a thing would, and the chance of others getting dollars in exchange for their products would be increased to the extent to which they increased the amount of money in circulation.

Now consider the other point, that about free coinage contracting the currency through the displacement of gold by silver money.

Let it be granted that the metal in the gold money will be so much more valuable than the money in the silver metal that gold money will not circulate alongside of the silver money, the question is what will become of it? Over what route will it "disappear?" These are plain, practical questions and they deserve a plain, practical answer.

Suppose John Smith is a banker in one of our interior towns, or sea-coast towns for that matter. Mr. Stewart to have among his assets gold money to the value of $10,000. Mr. Smith, being a banker, knows what money is and how to employ it to get other money. He likewise knows the difference between money and commodities and is well posted, as a rule, in the value of commodities, especially such as he comes in contact with in his line of business—bonds, mortgages, etc.

Now suppose free coinage is adopted and the value of his gold money increased thereby from its $10,000 money value to $15,000 bullion value, what will he do about it? If he is like most bankers, which of course he is, he will not particularly and earnestly object to this increase of his capital stock. He may publicly grit his teeth in well-feigned anger and talk glibly about the horrors that is to follow upon this adoption of "cheap money" and the contraction of the currency that will certainly follow in the taking of gold money out of the channels of trade. He may do all this and much more, publicly—bankers are such cute fellows, you know—but secretly he will certainly do something indicating a radically different belief from that which he chooses to express in public.

Bankers, more than any other class of business men, have a holy horror of "dead capital," and that is exactly what Mr. Smith's $15,000 worth of gold bullion would be. More than that he would know at once that the "premium" on his gold would never be higher than it was when the silver policy of the government was first adopted, but, on the contrary, must steadily and rapidly fall as the people realized that it was not needed in their business. What would follow? As naturally as day follows night and harvest follows seed-time it follows that Mr. Smith, even while publicly gritting his teeth and bewailing "cheap money," would secretly be looking for the best market in which to dispose of his "dead capital." And when he had disposed of it, at the premium supposed above, instead of having 10,000 gold dollars or $15,000 worth of gold bullion he would have $15,000 in live capital to use in his business, and his currency, instead of being contracted, would be expanded to the extent of $5,000.

But perhaps some reader may not understand how this "valuable" gold money could ever become "dead capital" and would like to have that point further explained. "Dead capital" is the term usually applied to property which pays no income. Mr. Smith's $10,000 in gold would pay no income because he couldn't afford to lend it to Tom, Dick and Harry at the usual banking rate of interest and Tom, Dick and Harry could not afford to pay any higher rate of interest for the gold money than for silver money because they could not use it in their business so as to recoup themselves for the excess. One of Mr. Smith's $10 gold pieces wouldn't buy an ounce more of sugar, coffee, or tea or a yard more of calico, muslin or denims, or pay a cent more of debt than ten silver dollars would. Hence it follows that Mr. Smith's $10,000 in gold would be "dead" from sheer excess of "fat," as it were. "Their blood would be too rich" to mingle with that of proletariat silver, and however aristocratic and exclusive the banker himself may be you can rest assured that the "dollar" he is after is the one that is not too aristocratic to circulate among the pleblan producers. For this reason Mr. Smith would convert his dead bullion into live money as speedily as possible.

If the $600,000,000 worth of gold said to be in circulation in this country could be disposed of on the same terms, instead of its disappearance contracting our volume of money it would be increased to $900,000,000.

ABOUT "PROTECTION."

McKinley Pleads for It—Sherman Says It Can't Be Accomplished.

"I am glad especially to meet the farmers of Knox county, for the farmers of the United States form the most conservative forces of our citizenship and in our civilization (applause), a force that always has stood for good government, for country, for liberty and for honesty. (Great applause.) Whatever the farmer is suffering today is because his competitors have increased in numbers, and because his best customers are out of work. (Applause and cries of 'You are right.') I do not know that we can decrease the number of your competitors, but with a true protective policy we can set your competitors to work. (Tremendous cheering.)"—McKinley's Speech to the Knox County (O.) Farmers.

New York, Aug. 25.—Senator Sherman said recently:

"The only way in which a republican administration can control the evils of the past is by increasing the revenues by a new tariff law, and this, I fear, is not practicable."

Senator Sherman was asked by telegraph if he made this statement, and to explain more fully his meaning. He sent the following dispatch to the Advertiser in reply:

"Mansfield, O., Aug. 25.—I am, I believe, quoted correctly. I regard deficiency of revenue and consequent impairment of redemption fund as the chief cause of present stringency. What I said had no reference to the election this fall, when I have no doubt of McKinley's election, but only to the refusal, as shown last session, of silver senators to allow any tariff bill to pass unless free coinage was provided.

"JOHN SHERMAN."

Since McKinley and Sherman agree upon the necessity of maintaining the reserve fund, as well as "the existing gold standard," and that it (the reserve fund) can only be maintained through a new tariff law, and since everybody knows that Sherman's "fear" that a new law "is not practicable" is so well founded that it is as certain to materialize as that congress meets again, it would be interesting to know the opinion of these eminent statesmen as to about how much our public debt will be increased during the next four years in the event of McKinley's election, in the purchase of gold to maintain the "reserve." And it would, no doubt, be especially interesting to the Knox county farmers and to farmers everywhere to know Mr. McKinley's opinion, in the present interesting situation of things, as to how long they will have to wait for that "true protective policy" which is to set their "best customers to work."

Western men know more about the east than eastern men know about the west. The western man is cosmopolitan, the eastern man provincial. Most of the western men came originally from the east, they have developed a new empire and grown themselves intellectually—while the man planted in an eastern pot has been dwarfed and deprived of sunshine and rain—yet the east is shocked at the "ignorance" of the west.

THE CZAR IN FRANCE

RUSSIA'S RULER IS GIVEN A DEMONSTRATIVE WELCOME.

His Yacht Is Escorted to Cherbourg by the French Fleet and He Lands Amid the Booming of Guns and the Cheers of a Multitude—The Czar and Czarina Are Entertained by President Faure.

Cherbourg, Oct. 7. — The bad luck which seems to cling to the czar showed itself again to-day. The most elaborate preparations had been made to receive the Russian travelers. The way from the landing stage to the hall of the arsenal had been covered with silk and hangings, shields, bannerettes and flowers; the landing stage itself was beautifully draped; Venetian masts were erected at many points, the floral, bunting and other decorations were displayed everywhere; but when the work was complete, the weather became threatening, and later a terrific squall swept over the city and port, felling the Venetian masts to the ground, scattering the decorations in all directions and inflicting great damage generally. This morning, however, hundreds of men were set to work repairing the damage and every possible effort was directed toward having the arsenal, the landing stage and the approaches made bright with fresh decorations for the coming of the czar and the czarina. The French Northern squadron, consisting of twenty-one vessels and including the Charles Martel, first-class battleship; the Hoche, battleship, with Vice Admiral Regnauet de Premesuil on board; the Jean Bart, Des Cartes, Jemmapse and fifteen cruisers and the torpedo boats, left the harbor at 8 o'clock in single file, a gale of wind blowing. Before the warships were outside the harbor they were almost completely hidden from view by a heavy rain storm, which did further damage to the decorations ashore. The gale also increased in force and a heavy sea began to thunder on the coast.

Shortly after the news was signaled that the Russian imperial yacht Pole Star had joined the French squadron and was proceeding to this port with the French warships on each side of her.

The wind was against the escorting squadron, and as the ships appeared it was seen that the Pole Star was rolling heavily. The French ships in the roadstead were formed up in two lines and the Russian yacht passed between them. The spectacle was a grand one. The bands on the French ships played the Russian anthem and the sailors dressed sides and cheered heartily. The czar stood upon the bridge of the Pole Star and responded with a military salute.

A Warm Welcome.

Every coign of vantage was black with people and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. Hats, handkerchiefs, etc., were waived in the air, and for the first time since the fall of Napoleon III. there arose from an immense French crowd the almost-forgotten shout of "Vive l'Empereur." But it was soon followed by other cries of "Vive la Tsar," "Vive le Russia," during which several baskets of flowers were presented to the czarina. President Faure presented the czarina with a floral offering representing a car filled with roses, pinks and azaleas and drawn by doves.

The czarina was the first to land, holding in her hand a light, unopened umbrella. She was dressed simply in a gray costume with a cape, and wore a straw hat trimmed with roses de France. The czar wore the uniform of a naval captain and displayed the insignia of the grand cross of the Legion of Honor. His majesty stepped forward firmly with his left hand on the hilt of his sword.

President Faure bowed deeply and kissed the czarina's hand, the czar replying to the president's salutation with a military salute. His majesty then took M. Faure's hand while the latter welcomed him. The czar made a brief response, and M. Faure gave his arm to the czarina, while the czar walked on the president's right. As the imperial party ascended the steps leading to the hall of Louis XVI., the premier, the president of the chamber and others followed them and the sunlight burst through the clouds for the first time during the day.

After a banquet the royal party started for Paris.

SATOLLI'S DEPARTURE.

Arrangements Completed—His Successor Inducted Into Office.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Cardinal Satolli is rapidly completing the arrangement of his affairs preparatory to his departure from the United States. He will leave Washington Wednesday, and sail from New York on Saturday, the 17th inst. He will go from this city to Newark, N. J., where he will visit the bishop of Newark and the institutions of that diocese. Saturday he will visit the West Point military academy. On the following Monday he will leave for New York, and will there spend the remainder of the time before sailing in the City of Brooklyn. His plans contemplate no participation in formal functions of any kind.

Archbishop Martinelli has already been inducted into the administration of the Catholic apostolic delegation, and Cardinal Satolli, Mgr. Sbarretti, the auditor, and Dr. Booker, the private secretary of the delegation, have acquainted him with the nature and details of the work of which he has taken charge. It was officially stated at the delegation to-day that the retirement of the cardinal involves no further changes in the headquarters of the church in America so far as information from Rome showed.

Bald Is the Champion.

Washington, Oct. 7.— Washington entered the list of national circuit bicycle cities to-day and upward of 5,000 persons saw the pick of the season's cracks struggle for the title of champion of 1896. The meet was at the International Athletic Park under the auspices of the White Flyer club and closed the national circuit races for 1896. The result of to-day's races gives Eddy Bald the championship for the season of 1896, yet the Laurel wreath graced the head of Tom Cooper by just two points.

GETTING TOGETHER.

America and England on Very Friendly Terms.

Washington, Oct. 7. — Secretary Olney has returned to Washington from his summer home at Falmouth, Mass., and has resumed the duties of his office. He brought with him a mass of papers relating to official business which has engaged his attention during his absence from the city, and spent the morning principally in consultation with the assistant secretaries and other officials of the state department touching the public business.

Matters are said to be in better shape than usual at the department at the beginning of the winter session, there being fewer issues of great importance pending, and these are in less acute stages than is generally the case. The Venezuelan controversy has progressed slowly, but in the main satisfactorily during the past summer, and a couple of notes have been exchanged between Secretary Olney and Lord Salisbury since the publication of the last batch of correspondence. They are understood to be purely argumentative in tone, and, while they do not by any means of themselves bring the negotiations up to the closing point, they mark fair progress toward clearing away mutual misunderstandings, and tend to simplify the efforts making on both sides, not only to adjust the Venezuelan issue itself satisfactorily, but to effect an agreement at least upon a general set of principles that shall govern the settlement of future disputes between the United States and Great Britain by means of arbitration.

The other open issue before the department is the Cuban question, but so far as can be gathered the administration as yet has found no reason to change the attitude it has adopted toward the contestants in the island, though it is admitted that its policy is subject to alteration according to the development of the campaign.

NUTMEG ELECTION.

Local Contests Throughout Connecticut Are Settled.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 7.—Town elections were held all over the state excepting at Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Ansonia, Derby and Naugatuck, and the results show a decided gain in Republican strength and is believed to be an index to the greater political battle which will be waged at the polls four weeks hence, and the extreme satisfaction with the result expressed by Lieut. Gov. Cook, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, found a reiteration at the headquarters of the Republican state central committee, where it was stated that McKinley and Hobart would get upward of 30,000 majority at the national election. Though to-day's elections present many local issues which complicate the efforts to arrive at an intelligent idea of the leading parties' strength in the few towns that had both gold and silver Democratic tickets in the field, the gold men were greatly in the majority. The weather conditions were decidedly unfavorable for a large vote, but the leaders of both parties realized that upon the result of these elections an estimate for the probable majority in Connecticut in November would be formed, and an effort was made in almost every town to get out the fullest possible vote.

JUST AN ACCIDENT.

No Attempt Made to Wreck the Czar's Train.

London, Oct. 7. — A great deal has been made out of little or nothing by the report circulated in the United States that a large block of wood was found lying across the railroad track at Garstang, some distance south of Lancaster, an hour before the czar's train passed there yesterday morning on his way to the Balmoral. The inference evidently intended to be drawn from the message was that an attempt had been made to wreck the imperial train. Such is not the case. The obstruction was quite a natural one in the high wind prevailing. A mile post was blown down by the wind on the opposite railway track to the one upon which the czar traveled, and it was removed half an hour before the imperial train passed by the plate layers whose work it was to watch the tracks during the stormy weather.

In Behalf of Cubans.

Cincinnati, Oct. 7.—A week of carnival for the benefit of the cause of the Cuban patriots began at Music hall last night in a free admission mass meeting. Twenty-five hundred people attended the meeting and for more than two hours listened to patriotic speeches. Gen. Andrew J. Hickenlooper presided and made the opening speech. There were present Thomas Estrada Palma, president; Gen. Gonzalo de Quesada, secretary; Henry Lincol de Zayas, Cuban sociedad; Dr. Saavedra, Red Cross association; Maj. Gen. Carlos Ruloff, secretary of war for Cuba, and Oscar Prunelles, of the Cuban army.

Burlington's Big Blowout.

Burlington, Iowa, Oct. 7.—To-day is Republican day at the semi-centennial celebration, and the crowds are the largest the city has ever known. Many marching clubs from all over the state are present, and bands, drum corps and other clubs make the air ring with patriotic tunes. Senator Foraker addressed 10,000 people in the coliseum at Crapo Park on Republican principles. He made a strong argument for the gold standard and protection to American industries, and was repeatedly cheered. A number of other addresses were made.

Ore Stolen.

Victor, Colo., Oct. 7.—The ore house on the celebrated Maybelle mine on Straub mountain was broken into last night and sixty-five sacks of ore, worth about $60,000, stolen. There is no clue. Every workman about the property was to-day discharged.

Passengers Shaken Up.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 7.—While trying to make a flying switch near here today, a Lehigh Valley passenger train crashed into a locomotive on a siding, smashing in the end of the baggage car and disabling the passenger locomotive. All the passengers were severely shaken up.

Gold for the Reserve.

New York, Oct. 7.—Lazard Freeres & Co. have deposited at the subtreasury $600,000 gold, received on the La Bourgogne.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

The St. Paul school show a large increase and the board is confronted with the problem of insufficient room.

Albert Schufsky was accidentally shot, near St. Paul, while out hunting with a companion.

The state agricultural society has a balance of $16,572.50 as a result of the fair this year.

Victor Bodeen of Mora, Minn., was killed in the railroad yards at Sandstone by being struck by an engine.

The annual meeting of the Southern Minnesota Bee Keepers' association was held at Winona. A number of interesting papers were read.

Rev. W. G. Trower of Minneapolis has accepted a call from the Baptist church of Hastings, and entered upon his pastoral duties.

Fire at Tracy destroyed the livery barn occupied by H. R. Searles, with part of its contents. Loss about $2,000, with small insurance.

Frank Bresland, sentenced at Hastings last month to sixty days in jail for an assault, was pardoned conditionally by Gov. Clough.

Fire was discovered in an outbuilding near the Brunswick hotel, at Faribault, recently. An alarm was given and the flames extinguished with small damage.

Anson Hall, an old resident, living ten miles from Appleton, committed suicide by hanging. Long-continued ill-health is supposed to have been the cause.

The firm of S. Asplund & Son, dealers in groceries and provisions at Lake City, has made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors. Anson Pierce was named as the assignee.

John Wortler's large barn, four miles west of Woodstock, was destroyed by fire. Children and matches are supposed to have been the cause. One of the children narrowly escaped cremation.

The New York Life Insurance company secured foreclosure of the mortgage on the Palladia building, a seven-story office building on Superior street, Duluth. The mortgage was for $142,000.

Burglars entered the postoffice and store at Currie, but only secured a few stamps and small change. They were discovered by means of a burglar alarm in the store, but fled before any one reached the place.

Fire at Little Falls partially destroyed a house belonging to the Home Building company and occupied by Emil Nelson as a dwelling. Part of the contents were saved. There was a small insurance on the building.

J. S. Manton will discontinue the management of the Commercial hotel at Crookston, and the place will probably be closed up. Mr. Manton has leased the Palace hotel and purchased the restaurant owned by D. McKinnon. He will open at once.

At Winona William Wallace was sentenced by Judge Gould to 18 months hard labor in Stillwater for larceny in the second degree. He, as well as his wife, who was present, broke down when the sentence was pronounced.

Creditors of the insolvent Manufacturers' bank, of West Duluth, held a meeting, at which it was stated that C. E. Peaslee, receiver of the bank, was managing its affairs extravagantly. A committee was appointed to draw up a petition for the court to remove him.

While superintending some work on the City Opera House at Sauk Rapids A. O. Schivner fell headlong to the floor below, a distance of 18 feet, and was seriously injured. He is proprietor of the Sauk Center house and a member of the city council.

S. C. Lobdill of Spring Valley was returning from an outing with his wife, three daughters, Elmer Lloyd and Roy Viall. In passing another team, the vehicles collided and Mr. Lobdill's team ran away. The carriage was overturned and Mr. Lobdill and his wife were both seriously injured and two of his daughters slightly hurt.

Caroline Schwartz, aged 18, was drowned in a small lake on the Chippewa river, near Evansville, while out fishing. The body was found next morning in eight feet of water. The position of the arms indicated that she had made a hard struggle, but likely fell out of the boat and the wet clothes dragged her down.

Burglars broke into the Chicago & Northwestern ticket office at Marshall and blew up the safe, but there was nothing in it. They took two grips out of the baggage room and broke open a trunk. They then raised the window screen to Dr. Person's bed room and took the doctor's suit of clothes; $10 in cash and watch, and his wife's pocketbook.

At Little Falls Judge Searle, of the district court, sentenced Erick Eckman, charged with murder in the first degree, to imprisonment for life. Eckman, on Aug. 2 last, shot and instantly killed Daniel Klof in the town of Randall. There was no apparent reason for the deed. Eckman was under the influence of liquor. The prisoner is over 60 years of age, and that is one reason for not inflicting the death penalty.

The Auditorium building in St. Paul has passed into the control of the Commercial club. The building has a seating capacity of 8,000, and has been the scene of many notable gatherings, the last being the Grand Army encampment during the first week in September. In taking control of the building, the Commercial club assumes a gigantic task; but St. Paul is now assured of a permanent auditorium for the many large gatherings held annually in this city. John S. Pinney, secretary of the Commercial club, is manager of the auditorium.

The Halstad extension of the Great Northern line is progressing rapidly toward completion. The track laying crew is now within nine miles of Crookston, and they are laying down the material at the rate of two miles per day. As soon as the crew completes this work they will be taken over on to the Hope extension, and work will begin there. The completion of the Halstad line is welcomed by Crookston business men, as the country opening up is full of rich farmers, who have heretofore shipped their produce and procured their supplies through Moorhead and Fargo, but whose trade will in future be tributary to Crookston.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T/M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER - SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞If you want anythicg in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO☞

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—

HELENA	PULLMAN
BUTTE	SLEEPING CARS
SPOKAND	ELEGANT
TACOMA	DINING CARS
SEATTLE	TOURIST
PORTLAND	SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

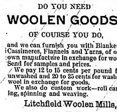
We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,

H. KLAUSER, Prop.

Litchfield, Minn. 41



CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn. as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 7, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.
2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.
3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.
4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON, of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.

For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.

For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Hennepin

For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON, Polk.

For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES, St. Louis.

Presidential Electors—
T. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H. H. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kelliher; Charles D'Autrement; Hans B. Bjerge; James Dillon.

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives—
S. J. LEE ....Norman County
G. O. GILBERTSON, "
W. A. MARIN.......Polk County

From Farm, Stock and Home.

It is safe to mistrust and oppose the gold standard for the friends it has made.

But for an election impending Uncle Sam would now be hustling around to trade bonds for gold to keep up that useless "reserve."

Thirty-nine cents a bushel for flax seed is a farm quotation from North Dakota; it is surprising that trade can be dull when such prices obtain!

Over-production is no longer given as the cause of low prices, but the fellows who used to give it are now contending that low prices are just what we want any way.

Corn is $1.00 a bushel, and timothy hay $20 a ton in Chicago—war prices surely; but they are found only in the stockyards, and farmers who take stock there must pay them.

It is no wonder that bankers think that all the business world needs is "confidence," for it is that which enables them to make loads of money by loaning the cash that belongs to others.

For years and years protectionists have wanted a high tariff to increase prices, and now those of them who have become gold bugs do not want free silver because it will make prices higher, which will be bad for the country.

A few years ago the monopolistic cry was, "a cheap coat makes a cheap man" now the cry is that silver should not be restored because it will cause a "rise in prices." Such jewel; consistency must be pure gold and diamond studded.

It is exasperating to hear public officials advocating the present gold standard because a change will make prices higher and they will not be able to buy so much for their salaries. They should be given to understand most emphatically that prices must go up or public salaries come down, and that right soon too.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

How McKinley is Mortgaged to The Bosses.

New York Sun (gold organ) of May 15, 1896: Most of the minor McKinley bosses who were sent here to protest that McKinley is "all right" on the money question went home yesterday. Their mission was fruitless, like the similar missions of John Sherman and Col. Charles H. Grosvenor. Neither has the calliopean clamor of H. H. Kohlsaat, of Chicago, that McKinley is sound on the currency had any weight here in New York. All that the minor McKinley bosses heard while in this territory was that the Republicans of the great Eastern states want a candidate for president "who will be a safe man." Everywhere the demand for a "safe man" was heard.

The minor McKinley bosses were disheartened over the result of their mission. They were chagrined also by a number of mighty awkward questions put to them as to the story concerning how McCinley's debts were paid.

McKinley, while governor of Ohio, was the silent partner of one Robert L. Walker, of Ohio, and when Walker went to smash, on Feb. 17, 1893, McKinley, it was found, had indorsed $118,000 of Walker's promissory notes. McKinley did this, although he was worth only $10,000 in all this wide world. The Eastern Republicans could not understand such business methods, and they declared to the minor McKinley bosses that it was vitally essential this year to put up "a safe man," and they talked about "a safe man" until things were unpleasant for the minor McKinley bosses.

These minor bosses ascertained also that Eastern Republicans knew how McKinley's debts were paid, and by whom. Here it is in brief;

CHIEF CONTRIBUTORS TO PAY M'KINLEY'S DEBTS.

MARCUS H. HANNA,
H. H. KOHLSAAT,
MYRON T. HERRICK,

CHIEF BOSSES OF M'KINLEY'S CAMPAIGN.

MARCUS H. HANNA,
H. H. KOHLSAAT,
MYRON T. HERRICK,

In other words, the minor McKinley bosses learned on every hand that their candidate was spoken of as "the mortgaged candidate," mortgaged not only in untold promises of federal patronage, but mortgaged in other ways and by every tie of business and friendship to his three chief managers and syndicators, Hanna, Kohlsaat and Herrick and to others. McKinley is the first aspirant for a presidential nomination to stand before the country loaded down with obligations, which after some fashion he is bound to meet. The coterie of manufacturers and others who chipped in to pay his debts; the trio, Hanna, Kohlsaat and Herrick; their satellites, all do not live by bread alone. They must have their pound of flesh in return for past favors, even unto the tiniest grain. McKinley remains silent and docile in their hands; he is their creature, and after all the wanderings of the minor McKinley bosses in New York and elsewhere in the East, solid business republicans said yesterday that they were amazed at the audacity of Hanna, Kohlsaat and Herrick in springing such a candidate upon the country.

A candidate with a fortune of $10,000 to indorse his silent partner's paper for $118,000!

The Eastern Republicans naturally wanted to know what return is McKinley, if nominated and elected, to give Hanna and the others for their aid in paying his debts. It is as well known as anything on earth that Ohio politicians, and especially those in the Republican camp, do not lift their little fingers for a soul without some promise of reward immediate or in the near future. Indeed, McKinley was spoken of as the "mortgaged candidate" for the reason that no candidate for president, not even McKinley, can in honor accept gratuities to the amount of $118,000 from a set of men dependent upon federal legislation for further additions to their fortunes.

The Eastern Republicans declared it to be a detestable situation from beginning to end, and one that to a certain extent reflected on the whole party. But McKinley accepted the $118,000 in gratuities, and there he stands in Canton today loaded down with these and a thousand other obligations which must be met if by accident he should be boosted into the White House chair.

Thousands of business men have met with disaster within the last ten years. They displayed nerve and set to work to repair their fortunes. McKinley put himself in the hands of Hanna, Kohlsaat, Herrick and the others, and they hauled him out of the mire—not gratis. They lugged him to dry land, and with their eyes on the obligations under which he vested to them they set to work to boom him as their candidate for the presidential nomination. One big merchant asked the little bosses;

"Why didn't McKinley get to work and pay his own debts?"

Another wanted to know by what business process McKinley could indorse papers for $118,000 when he knew he was worth only $10,000. And all hands say;

"We want a safe man; not McKinley, mortgaged to his neck and over his mouth."

The inquiry is now heard in all centers;

"Why did Hanna and the others pay McKinley's debts?"

"What are they driving at?"

"What are they to get out of it if McKinley is nominated and elected?"

"Can the Republican party afford to put up a mortgaged candidate?"

It should be remembered that the Sun is now supporting McKinley. Has it joined the syndicate?

A Smooth Trick.

The following letter which is being circulated by the State Democratic Committee tells its own story and in a manner which is undisputable. It discloses another of the shady transactions of Gov. Clough which is in this instance little less than a positive steal. Here are the facts.

Senate File No. 375, which became chapter No. 165, of the laws of 1895, was "a bill for an act to forfeit the rights of the Hastings & Dakota Railway Company to select or acquire title to any of the public lands of this state."

This bill passed the senate on the 25th of March, 1895, by a vote of 33 to 6, as recorded on page 465 of the Senate Journal.

It passed the house on the 11th of April, by a vote of 90 to 1, as recorded on page 742 of the House Journal. On April 18, 1895, the bill was approved, signed and deposited in the office of the secretary of state by Gov. D. M. Clough.

In the records of the state auditor's office, "Railroad Records," Book F, page 493, is recorded a deed, of date April 13, 1895, executed by Gov. D. M. Clough, conveying to Russell Sage, trustee, all, the lands involved and affected by the legislative bill, which lands had been declared forfeited by that act.

So that between the date when that legislative act passed (almost unanimously) both houses of the legislature, and the date when it was returned by his excellency, the governor, with his approval, he had destroyed all beneficial effects of the bill, nullified the will of the people of the state, thus expressed in the legislative act, and insulted the legislature by returning to them a bill which he knew and they did not know, had by his act, been made empty of all results, and this righteous measure of the legislature, was, in this manner, defeated in the interest of the corporation which was contesting with the state for the lands in question. This matter is brought to your attention as a matter of official record. We claim that it is proper that the official actions of this administration should be made public, and condemned if they are worthy of condemnation. It is brought to your attention individually, for your consideration, trusting that your judgment thereon will be expressed by your vote at the polls in November.

MAKING HIS PILE.

Early and late he's a-working,
Says that's his natural style.
He wasn't cut out right for shirking,
And they say he's a-making his pile.

"Married of course," I suggested,
"With babies to climb on his knee?"
"No; too many dollars invested.
He's never had leisure, you see.

"No hand for sports; isn't active,
And ask him to go to the play,
And he'll say it's mighty attractive,
He'd be glad to—on some other day.

"And suppose you suggest that he's losing
The joys that make life worth while,
He declares your ideas are amusing
And asks, 'Ain't I making my pile?'

"'No wife to dispute my dominion,
No children to go to the bad.
Give me cash—in my humble opinion
The best friend a man ever had.'

"If you speak of the pleasures of giving
He puts on a cynical smile
And remarks that 'you'll learn more by living.'
Poor fool! But he's making his pile."

—Frank Putnam in Chicago Times-Herald.

Two Epochs.

In the Honeymoon—Let me sit by you, darling, while you pour the tea. I love to watch your white hands toying with the cups.

Next Season—What does the maid mean by not putting another leaf in the table? We might as well be sitting in each other's laps, etc.

Strayed.

—Six sheep from my farm near St. Hilaire. Will pay a reward to any person who will return the same.

S. M. DAINARD.

—Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a specialty from now until after election.

PLATFORM IN A NUTSHELL.

The Populist Platform says that through executive power and patronage, the will of the people has been thwarted and plutocracy has been enthroned on the ruins of democracy. It demands:—

Increase in the volume of the currency.

Free coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1.

That postal saving banks shall be established.

That the Pacific railroad liens shall be foreclosed.

That the graduated income tax shall be levied.

That demonetization of lawful money by contract shall be prohibited.

That no more bonds shall be issued except by specific act of congress.

That the government shall own and operate the railroad and telegraph lines.

Thats grants of railroad lands not needed by the roads shall be reclaimed and held for settlers.

That the president, vice-president and senators shall be elected by direct vote of the people.

That the government shall exercise its option in paying its obligations in either gold or silver.

That the initative and referendum (by which the people can vote on the enactment of laws) shall be inaugurated.

The platform expresses sympathy for Cubans; favors home rule in the District of Columbia and the early admission of the territories to statehood; favors just pensions, denounces rule by contempt proceedings and denounces ballot box frauds.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

I, the undersigned, hereby notify each and everyone; and forbid them to have any dealing of any kind with my wife, Mrs. Anna L. Johnson, either buy, sell or trust her anything in my name, or for her account give or take anything from my home, without my knowledge; and anyone coming to my home visiting or otherwise, take warning not to circulate any falsehood of any kind which may hurt the honor of myself and children.

If she says she is tied up, shut in or badly treated, or that I am telling lies about her is not the truth, but a barefaced lie; and anyone who are circulating her lies or trying to draw her away from home or otherwise disturbing the peace of my family will be called upon to answer to same and dealt with according to law.

NELS M. JOHNSON.

Dated at St. Hilaire, Minn., Sept. 26, 1896.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

The BEER

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday	$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone	$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year	$4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year	$1 75

☞Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK. }

In Probate Court; Special Term, October 1st 1896.

In the matter of the estate of Arthur Yvernault, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition H. E. Ives representing among other things, that upon the 22nd day of May 1882 the above named Arthur Yvernault was the owner in fee of the following described real property lying, situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The East half of the South-west quarter and lots eight, nine and fourteen in section six, township one hundred fifty-two, range forty-three, and lots number two, three, four, five six, seven and ten, and the South-east quarter of the North-west quarter, all in section number six, township one hundred fifty-two, range forty-three; and other lands, that upon the said 22nd day of May 1882 the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault, who was at that time an unmarried man, sold, bargained and agreed to convey, for a valuable consideration, the property hereinbefore described, to the following described persons, to-wit: An undivided one-half thereof to the Red River & Lake of the Woods Railway Company (a corporation); and an undivided one-sixth thereof to Frank Ives, and an undivided one-sixth thereof to G. F. Copeland; that upon the same day, to-wit: the 22nd day of May 1882 with the intention of conveying the five-sixths interest of the hereinbefore described property to the persons hereinbefore named the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault made, executed and delivered his warrantee deed of the undivided five-sixths interest in and to all of the aforesaid property, excepting lots six and seven in said section six; but that by mistake and inadvertence the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault omitted to include in said deed and conveyance the undivided five-sixths interest of said lots six and seven; that said deed upon being executed was as aforesaid so delivered by Arthur Yvernault to the grantees named therein, who thereupon entered into possession of the property sold and conveyed to them by the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault including lots six and 7 and that ever since said time the aforesaid grantees and their assigns have been in the possession of the aforesaid premises including said lots six and seven and that since the execution and deliver of said deed neither the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault nor his personal representatives have had or claimed to have any right, title or interest in or to the five-sixths of said lots six and seven so sold and intended to be conveyed unto the grantees in said deed; that legally the title of said undivided five-sixths of said lots six and seven is and appears of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for Polk county in the name of the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault; that said Arthur Yvernault has since deceased; that your petitioner is interested in said lots six and seven as part owner thereof and makes this petition for the purpose of procuring an order from this court directed to John Cromb the administrator of the estate of Arthur Yvernault deceased, directing and authorizing him to execute to the grantees named in said deed and undivided five-sixths interest to said lots six and seven conformable to the intention of the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault at the time of the sale thereof.

It is ordered, that the said petition be heard before this Court, on Saturday the 31st day of October 1896, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the Probate office in the City of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the St. Hilaire Spectator, a weekly newspaper printed and published at St. Hilaire, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., the first day of October A. D. 1896.

By the Court.

C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men; hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

..16 to 1..
Silver Army.

Great Campaign Document.

THE "SILVER SUPPLEMENT"— To the FARM, FIELD AND FIRESIDE, the most complete, instructive and convincing discussion of the silver question ever published.

We Print Them FREE and Will Send from

One to Ten Thousand.

Send us your name with stamps to pay postage.

Fifteen cents for 50; Thirty cents for 100.

AGENTS wanted to circulate our literature and solicit subscriptions.

For 10 Cents this paper till Nov. 1.
For 25 Cents this paper till Jan. 1, 1897.

THE FARM, FIELD AND FIRESIDE,
CHICAGO, ILL.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

☞Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE

—OF—

Pendency of Ditch Petition.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss
COUNTY OF POLK.

WHEREAS, A petition signed by L. H. Judson and others, as owners of lands affected thereby, praying for the establishment of public ditch along the route proposed therein, was presented to the board of commissioners of Polk County, at a regular session of said board, held on the 13 day of July, A. D. 1896, for the action of the said board thereon; and

WHEREAS Said board, in conformity with the prayer of said petitioners, and in accordance with law, in such case made and provided, did appoint three viewers, who have completed there duties, and filed there report in the office of the county auditor.

Now, THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given of the pendency of said petition, and that the same will be heard and determined before the said board of county commissioners at a special session of said board to be held at the county auditor's office in the City of Crookston on 5th day of November, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day.

The source of said proposed ditch is 867 feet east of the S¼ corner of section 7 Twp. 148 R 47.

The names of the persons through whose lands the said proposed ditch passes are as follows:

E Ulseth nw¼ nw¼ sec. 17 twp. 148 range 47.

Unknown ne¼ ne¼ sec. 18 twp. 148 range 47.

Minneapolis & St. Cloud R. R. Co. nw¼ ne¼ sec. 18 twp. 148 range 47.

Minneapolis & St. Cloud R. R. Co. ne¼ nw¼ sec. 18 twp. 148 range 47.

Unknown nw¼ nw¼ sec. 18 twp. 148 range. 47.

St. Paul & Pacific R. R. Co. n½ ne¼ sec. 13 twp. 148 range 48.

J. Christianson sw¼ se¼ sec. 13 twp. 148 range 48.

Unknown e½ sw¼ & nw¼ sw¼ sec. 12 twp. 148 range 48.

St Paul & Pacific R. R. Co. ne¼ ne¼ sec. 11 twp. 148 range. 48.

Unknown e½ se¼ sec. 2 twp. 148 range. 48.

J. J. Lunnas ne¼ sec. 2 twp. 148 range 48.

Unknown w½ nw¼ & w½ sw¼ sec. 31 twp. 149 range. 47.

J. Wallerbek ne¼ ne¼ sec. 36 twp. 149 range 48.

J. P. Olson se¼ se¼ sec. 25 twp. 149 range 48.

Rhinehart Johnson ne¼ ne¼ sec. 25 twp. 149 range 48.

The place of termination of said ditch is at a point in sec. 25 twp. 149 range 48 where it joins Roome's Creek.

A branch ditch commences at the nw corner of the ne¼ of section 4 twp. 148 range 47 and runs thence west to the intersection of main ditch.

The names of the persons through whose lands the said proposed branch ditch passes are as follows:

H. C. Scribner n½ nw¼ sec. 4 twp. 148 range 47.

St. Paul M. & M. R. R. Co. n½ nw¼ sec. 5 twp 148 range 47.

H. Gilbraith n½ nw¼ sec. 5 twp. 148 range 47.

First Nat. Bank of Fargo n½ ne¼ sec. 6 twp. 148 range 47.

J. O. Sargent n½ nw¼ sec 6 twp. 148 range 47.

St. Paul M. & M. R. R. Co. n½ n½ sec. 1 twp. 148 range 48.

J. J. Lunnas n½ ne¼ sec. 2 twp. 148 range 48.

The names of the owners of land that will be affected thereby are as follows:

Jen F Aspaas
Tollef Anderson
Hort Aspaas
A K Austin
A Anderson
Erick Anderson
K Anderson
Alex P Arness
Emma Anderson
Edward Anderson
Severt Anderson
Charley Anderson
Hans A Bjornerud
H Bonklud
Oliver O Bones
J Bailey
S M O Bangen
T O Bangen
H B Bjorge
Iver Bjorge
Courtland Babcock
Andr Bremseth
Alex Burnham
Frank Bivins
J F Bell
A Boucher
Peter O Berg
Alex Burnham
Jens P C Beck
Ole F Brunn
Johannes Bakke
Ingebret J Berg
Ole P Bonlud
Jacob T Bjoangsard
Bernt E Bredlie
J Christianson
J H Cromwell
G W Cranston
M P Christianson
J E Clifford
J H Densmore
J Dewar
Anton P Dyrud
Lorenzo Davis
Chas E Dampier
A A Drangseth
Peder Erickson
Esten O Estenson
K Estenson
S O Ellingson
T Evenson
Ole Engbretson
G W Eastman
Olaf Erickson
Edward A Eugen
Annie A Elby
John E Elg
First Nat Bank Fargo
Jens Frederickson
J Fladeland
First Nat Bank Mpls
Martin Finseth
Hans A Faroe
Ole O Fossback
Julius Frederickson
H Gilbraith
E Gregerson
C Gustavson
Erick C Gilbertson
E Gudvangen
Louis K Grove
Paul Halvorson
E Hanna
N H Hanna
T R Hanna
G A Hammel
J E Hanson
Anton Hanson
Olaf Erickson
Wilber C Hall
R Hutchinson
N G Hendrickson
Mathias S Hilde
Thos A Harris
Ole C Hausel
Wm E Harrington
Robert S Innes
J J Ide
Rhinehart Johnson
Jacob Johnson
W T Johnston
A Jordal
T H Judson
Ole Jevning
Nels Johnson
Karl J Jerningson
Hans Johnson
B C Jorjenson
A Jewel
T Knudson
Amelia Kathroy
O Knudson
Knut Klev
Jens Knudson
K O Koppang
Ole P Krogen
Lars O Kverstoen
J J Lunnas
Annie Landsverk
Q A Low

John Locken
Ingeborg Larson
Iver C Lerum
Marit Locken
Anna A Locken
Martin O Leiknees
C J Locken
Jens J Lonne
Frank Lindgren
M W Mason
Lizzie Maley
A McKinnon
J Monroe
Lorenzo Miller
Amund P Moen
J J Maling
Nels Maling
Iver Mjoen
Ole Mathison
Andr Mathison
Amanda Menage
T B McMahon
Jos McMahon
N Marvin
Nils M Malmberg
Alex Morrisso
John & Martin Melang
New Eng Mtg Sec Co
S M Nordhaus
Ole S Nelson
Simon Nelson
G Nerison
Jermmud Nerison
Northwestern Nat Bank Minneapolis
Arne E Ness
Engebret Ness
A O Oftedal
Hans Olson
T Ostby
Ole Osmundson
J P Olson
Simon Olson
G T Olson
Ingolf Ostgaaard
E M Pederson
Edward Peterson
Bertinus L Paulson
Simon N Pederson
Anna Peterson
Aug P peterson
John Peterson
Nels Paulson
Patrick Quigley
Rice & Wolden
O K Rierggaard
Ole O Roune
Thor & Ole Rue
B F Rorick
J B Roome
Knut B Rice
H C Scribner
St. Paul M. & M. Ry. Co.
J O Sargent
L S Sargent
Annie M Sylvester
O Solheim
O Stakke
Erick O Stortroen
Peter O Satermo
Ole O Stortroen
John Sternerson
Sven P Svenson
O P Stakke
F Scribner
E B Scribner
Herrick Scribner
N P Stone
G E Sawyer
H Thompson
P Thoe
Axel Thoreson
C O Thompson
Christian Thorbjornson
Harrison Thayer
G B Twedten
Castor Tylden
Nils P Thune
Alfred Thorson
E Ulseth
Aslak O Vehus
Ole E Vraa
Grabiel O Vignes
Olaus Vignes
A Van Dyke
Hans H Valor
Kornelius H Valor
H O Valor
Engebret J Vengeland
Wisconsin, Minnesota & Pac. R R Co.
W. J. Wallerbek
Joseph E Yates
S Yates
O G Stallimo
Tobias A Scherping.
Hans Thomsden.

Dated at Crookston, Minnesota, this 23d day of September, A. D. 1896.

JOHN GLEASON,
County Auditor.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE

—OF—

Pendency of Ditch Petition.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK.

WHEREAS, A petition signed by F. J. Cernousk and others, as owners of land affected thereby, praying for the establishment of a public ditch along the line described therein, was presented to the board of commissioners of Polk county at an adjourned session of a regular meeting, held on the 22d day of July A. D. 1896 for the action of the board thereon; and

WHEREAS, Said board in conformity with the prayers of said petitioners, and as provided by statute did appoint three viewers who have now completed their duties and filed their reports in the office of the county auditor.

NOW, THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given of the pending of said petition, and that the same will be heard and determined before the said board of county commissioners at a special session to be held at the county auditor's office in the city of Crookston on the 5th day of November A. D. 1896 at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day.

The route of said proposed ditch is as follows:

Commencing at or near the northwest corner of the northwest quarter of Section 25, Twp. 153, Range 48 and thence running west on the line between sections twenty-three (23) and twenty-six (26), twenty-two (22) and twenty-seven (27), twenty-one (21) and twenty-eight (28), twenty 20 and twenty-nine (29) and nineteen (19) and thirty (30) in township 153, range 48 and between sections twenty-four (24) and twenty-five (25), twenty-three (23) and twenty-six (26), twenty-two (22) and twenty-seven (27) twenty-one (21) and twenty-eight (28), twenty (20) and twenty-nine (29), and nineteen (19) and thirty (30) in twp. 153 range 49, and between section twenty-four (24) and twenty-five (25) in township 153 range 50 to where said line intersects a coulee, commonly designated "Grand Marais."

The names of the owners of said lands through which the said proposed ditch passes are as follows:

Mary Judousky sw¼ sec 19 twp 153 range 48.

Frank Slonek sw¼ se¼ sec 19 twp 153 range 48.

se¼ se¼ sec 19 twp 153 range 48.

Frank Vara se¼ section 20 twp 153 range 48.

James Machal sw¼ section 20 twp 153 range 48.

James Dostal sw¼ section 21 twp 153 range 48

se¼ se¼ section 21 twp 153 range 48

sw¼ se¼ section 21 twp 153 range 48

James Klind sw¼ section 22 twp 153 range 48.

Joseph Zak se¼ section 22 twp 153 range 48.

H O Bailey sw¼ and se¼ se¼ section 23 twp 153 range 48.

Peter Johnson ne¼ section 26 twp 153 range 48

James P Schell nw¼ section 26 township 153 range 48.

Frank Madera ne¼ nw¼ section 27 twp 153 range 48.

Joseph Kliner nw¼ nw¼ section 27 twp 153 range 48.

James Kuchel nw¼ ne¼ section 27 twp 153 range 48

Joseph Zak ne¼ ne¼ section 27 twp 153 range 48.

Thos Palya nw¼ section 28 twp 153 range 48.

John Birkholz ne¼ section 28 twp 153 range 48.

Thos Janick nw¼ nw¼ section 29 township 153 range 48.

Thos Palya n½ ne¼ section 29 township 153 range 48.

ne¼ nw¼ section 29 twp 153 range 48

Frank Klusak ne¼ section 30 twp 153 range 48

Edward Dostal nw¼ section 30 township 153 range 48.

Peter Johnson se¼ se¼ section 19 township 153 range 49.

P M Logerquist sw¼ se¼ section 20 township 153 range 49.

A Engstrom sw¼ section 19 twp 153 range 49

Peter A Nyquist se¼ section 20 township 153 range 49.

Amund Christianson sw¼ section 20 twp 153 range 49.

Peter Johnson sw¼ and sw¼ se¼ section 21 twp 153 range 49.

Martin O Haugen se¼ se¼ section 21 twp 153 range 49.

Peter E Swenson sw¼ section 22 township 153 range 49.

M S Merger se¼ section 22 twp 153 range 49.

M Gullickson se¼ and sw¼ sw¼ section 23 twp 153 range 49.

Chas Gullickson se¼ sw¼ section 23 twp 153 range 49.

M Judorsky se¼ section 24 twp 153 range 49.

Elizabeth C. Huggard sw¼ section 24 twp 153 range 49.

Anton Katarba nw¼ nw¼ section 25 twp 153 range 49.

E Staxestig n½ ne¼ and ne¼ nw¼ section 25 twp 153 range 49.

Anders Jensen nw¼ section 26 twp 153 range 49.

E D Schreader ne¼ section 26 twp 153 range 49

F J Duffy n½ ne¼ section 27 twp 153 range 49.

Erick Peterson n½ nw¼ section 27 twp 153 range 49.

Josephine Bolstad ne¼ section 28 twp 153 range 49.

Bretta Erickson nw¼ section 28 twp 153 range 49.

A A Dangerfield nw¼ section 29 twp 153 range 49.

S E Erickson ne¼ section 29 twp 153 range 49

Johannes Rolfson ne¼ section 30 twp 153 range 49.

Erick Pederson nw¼ sec 30 twp 153 range 49.

Carl M Lindgren se¼ sec 24 twp 153 range 49.

Gullick Olson sw¼ sec 24 twp 153 range 49.

M O Erickson ne¼ sec 25 twp 153 range 49.

Chas Anderson nw¼ sec 25 twp 153 range 49.

The names of the owners of the land that will be affected thereby are as follows:

IN KEYSTONE TOWNSHIP.

Geo Easby
First National Bank of East Grand Forks
Cathrine Fienny
James Fleming
Graver Heirs
G H Horn
Chas Lockhart
Messick & McCauley
Chris McDonald

Hugh McDonald
Thos McDonald
Hannah Osterloh
E B & S L Philips
Elsie Stuhr
L Strause
Harry P Smith
B Tiedeman
Fred Teidt

IN TABOR TOWNSHIP.

John Ausak
John Arnold
John Bren
Jos B Bren
S A Bartean
James Besek
Wencelas Besek
H O Bailey
John Birkholz
John Casek
John Cushel
F J Cernousek
Wm Campion
Jos Clifford
D A Christholm
James Dostal
P J Duffy
Martin Dovak
Edward Dostal
J Dunan
George Easby
G H Fargo
J P Foote
John Gaspar
Jacob Gust
Frank Gust
Ludolph Gieso
Peter Gilley
Holmes & Brown
Hack & Callasch
Elizabeth Huggard
John H Hodge
Jacob Holly
Joseph Holly
Mary Judousky
Peter Johnson
Thos Janick
Thos Kerester
Frank Kluzak
Andrew Keuvenk
John Kluzak
Anton Kucera
Jos Kliner
Frank Cobelsky
John Kuchel
Katie Kust
Ingnac Kust

James L Kust
Stasa Maruska
David Miller
James Maruska
James Machal
Frank Madera
Joseph Machal
James Novotney
M H Novotney
Jacob Novak
Albert Novak
New Eng Mtg Sec Co
Jos Neperll
Henry Osterloh
E B & S L Philips
Andrew Palya
Wilber F Pavell
J B Piker
Joseph Phillipi
Thos Palya
Joseph Posterick
John Staska
Waclav Sery
Venell Sery
Dorothea Stengl
Frank Slonek
Michael Staska
James P Schell
Anton Sensky
John Stamick
Michael Sargl
Thos Frefney
G Tokas
Jas Frefney
John Tredeman
Mat Vanek
John Vavra
Frank Vavra
Rose Willard
John Wunder
A H Williams
A A Williams
Elizabeth Zipay
Karl Zeidlik
Frank Zeidlik
Jos Zak
Frank Schrobada

IN NORTHLAND TOWNSHIP.

Robt Anderson
Martin Anderson
A Arahamson
John Anderson
Sigrid Basgaard
C Beccaman
Seephyn Boldizan
J W Bren
Thos Black
G N Bremness
Aug Buseman
John M Bolstad
Josephine Bolstad
A G Bratvold
Mrs James Brown
C M Caro
J E Clifford
Amund Christianson
Jos Duchek
Andrew Dostal
F J Duffy
Aufind A Dale
Jens P Dahl
A A Dangerfield
John Driscoll
Fred Dangerfield
Gustav Engstrom
Mat K Erickson
John Erickson
Jennie Erickson
A Engstorm
F E Engstorm
Chas Erickson
Martin Eckdalo
Brita Erickson
S E Erickson
J O Eggen
Erick Eggen
Torry O Edwards
Gustav J Findanet
Geo Fabula
John Flatten
Ole H Flatten
Thos Frazer
Ellze Flitreau
John Gust
G E Griffith
John N Gulbrandson
M Gullickson
Chas Gullickson

Andrew Jenson
Hans Jacobson
Geo Kinzel
Chas Knudson
Jos Kopecky
Jas Keran
Anna S Kleven
Michael Kocisco
Michael Kust
Jos Kruse
Anton Kotrba
John Krida
Peter O Lundin
John Larson
Andrew E Larson
Carl M Lindgren
Alex Leming
P M Legerquist
L P Larson
Louis E Larson
John Majerciau
Olivia Messenvangen
Lars O Messelt
John Mickulecky
John Mortenson
Bendik Mikkelson
Peter P Moe
Thos Mickulecy
Ole O Miller
Frank Mickulecky
Jos Minerick
John McCoy
T T Morken
James McInchy
Erick J Nicksten
Peter A Nyquist
Ole Olson
Gilbert Olson
John Olson
B H Olson
Paul Pribula
John Pribula
John Peterson
Hans A Pretebak
Thos E Paulson
Erick Peterson
George Rich
Johannes Rolefson
A C Rienhart
Andrew Steel

Jacob Gust
N T Granvold
peter Gilley
Fanny Holub
John Hiker
Andr Hill
Henry Henrickson
Chris Hanstad
Mike Hunt
James H Hardy
Jos Kuderly
Martin O Haugen
Eliz C Huggard
John Hutchins
Iver Hagen
Daniel Johnson
Ole Johnson
peter Johnson
A J Johnson
M Judovsky

Security Imp. Co.
Hans O Stordahl
Peter E Swanson
B A Stordahl
E D Schreeder
E Stoeetig
T A Sullivan
P O Thurin
John O Thurin
Joseph Vorlicky
John Vanyo
Karl Vanek
Torgil Vanek
Ole Vagstvick
Andr Wyda
Karl Zeidlik
Joseph Zeidlik
Frank Zeidlik
John Zipling
Michael Zipling.

IN ESTHER TOWNSHIP.

C C Christianson
Martin Boyle
O M Erickson
H H Flotten
Henry Gruble
Aug Gyllenberg
Henry Henrickson
Nels Hillard
M E Hillard
Mathias Johnson
E O Johnson
Ludrig Larson
Andr E Larson

Carl M Lindgren
caroline F Miller
Engebret Magnuson
Ole Magnuson
Ole Nelson
O A Olson
Wm F pope
patrick Powers
A C Rienhart
Joseph Shaw
Charles Ulrich
Carrie Wolberg.

In Sandsville Township.

O Abrahamson
Lars Anderson
Martin Anderson
J H Amberson
Henry J Beardmore
F J Duffy
Peter J Dahlberg
Ekvold Erickson
Martin Figenskan
A Frogenstein
Henning Flatten
Henry Hegman
John Hendrickson
Paul Hendrickson
Anna O Hendrickson
Jacob Huck
Nels Hendrickson
James M Hendrickson
Henry Henrickson
Mathias Johnson
Oliana Jacobson
Mikal Jacobson
Martin Koldahl
Ole Larson
Lund & Wilson
L R Lakin
Louis Larson
M S Lundin
Martha O Lundin
olaf o Lundin
John Lundin
M J Martinson
Kornelius Mortenson
Ole Mortenson
Lina A Mortenson

Axel Mathison
Theo Myhero
Mary Nelson
Henry A Nyquist
Gerhard Nelson
Nels Nelson
H A Nystrom
Johannes M Norberg
Henry E Nyberg
Thos M Norberg
Stina Nelson
Andrew Paulson
John H Paulson
Geo W Philips
Mathias Peterson
William Pope
Joseph Pribula
J P Riegdal
Francis A Rose
Elliott Rose
Adelaide Rose
Milan B Rose
Simon Rose
Chas S Richards
Casper Sands
Ole O Stavig
Christian O Staury
Ed J Sullivan
Wm Stead
Hugh Sattory
Silas S Trickey
Maria Thompson
Thomas Thomason
Carrie Wolberg

IN HIGDEM TOWNSHIP

Mathias Anderson
Ole H Bang
Nels J Bergman
Michael Brady
John Bergren
P O Bergren
H D Campbell
F J Duffy
Margaret Dallum
John J Dallum
Peter Dahlstorm
B J Dunning
Christina Dunning
Philip Doyle
James Doyle
Herrick K Flatansen
H H Flatansen
Ole Farden
Ingeborg Hendrickson
P J Hedlind
George Himmelbach
John J Hillard
Thos Hendrickson
Ole N Hendrickson
Henry Hendrickson
Andrew Hierstad
Louis Iverson
Lorentz Iversion

John Johnson
Olaf Johnson
Herrick Johnson
Ole Kleven
Magnus O Kleven
John Lindquist
Olaf Larson
Nels P Lind
Andrew Larson
Peter J Lindberg
Ole J Lindberg
Erick J Lindholm
Christine Morberg
J Moren
Arnt Olson
Bernt olson
Henry H Oberg
Robert olson
Henry Peterson
Emil Paulson
Inga Palm
Simon Pederson
Axel Pederson
S P Perhus
Syvert Pederson
Bernt Stavig
P A Stubnel
Anders O Sytad
Ole Westerland

Dated at Crookston, Minn. this 22nd day of Sept. A. D. 1896.

JOHN GLEASON, County Auditor.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the incorporation of that certain territory known as the city of Thief River Falls, and an order of the board of county commissioners of Polk county, Minnesota, an election shall be held in in said city on the 17th day of October, 1896, the polls to remain open from nine o'clock a.m. till five o'clock p.m. for the purpose of electing for said city the following named officers: one mayor, one treasurer, and five aldermen at large. That the territory comprising said city is described as follow: Sec. 33, and lot number five of section 27, and the south-east quarter of the north-west quarter, and the south-west quarter, and the west half of the south east quarter, and lots 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 of section 34, and lot 1 of section 35, all in township 154, range 43, Polk county, Minnesota. That said territory shall be divided into three election districts for the purpose of this election constituted as follows: First election district to comprise all that portion of said city lying north of the center line of Second street and west of the Red Lake river the second election district to comprise that portion of said city lying south of the center line of Second street and west of the Red Lake river; the third election district to comprise all that portion of the city lying east of the Red Lake river. That the polling place in the first election district shall be at P. O. Berg's furniture store, and John Burkee, John Hemmison and H. H. Olson shall be the judges of election in said election district; That the polling place in the second election district shall be at the city hall in said election district, and that William G. Porter, O. Tanberg, and J. W. Wallin shall be the judges of election in said second election district; That the polling place in the third election district shall be at the public school building in said third election district, and that the judges of election shall be Gilbert Gilbetson, Oscar Anderson, and August Brown. That the qualified voters of said city shall each vote in the election district in which each reside.

ANTHON LINDEM,
Chairman, Board of County Commissioners.

Attest
JOHN GLEASON,
County Auditor.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE

—OF—

Pendency of Ditch Petition.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
County of Polk.

Whereas, a petition signed by P. H. Wermager and others, as owners of land affected thereby, praying for the establishment of a public ditch along the route proposed therein, was presented to the board of commissioners of Polk county at an adjourned session of a regular meeting, held on the 22nd day of July A. D. 1896, for the action of the board thereon; and,

Whereas, said board, in conformity with the prayer of said petitioners, and in accordance with law in such case made and provided, did appoint three viewers, who have completed their duties and filed their report in the office of the county auditor.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given of the pendency of said petition, and that the same will be heard and determined before the said board of county commissioners at a special session of said board to be held at the county auditor's office, in the city of Crookston, on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day.

The source of said proposed ditch is in a coulee at a point on the section line 745 feet north of the corner to section 9, 10 and 16, township 148, range 46.

The names of the owners through whose lands the said proposed ditch passes are as follows:

St. P. M. & M. R. R. Co., S½ SE¼, Sec. 9 Town 148, Range 46.

State of Minnesota, NW¼ NE¼ and N½ NW¼ Sec 16, Town 148, Range 46.

A. E. Smith, N½ NE¼ and N½ NW¼ Sec 17, Town. 148, Range 46.

Unknown, NE¼ NE¼, Sec 18, Town 148, Range 46.

Wis. Minn. & Pac. R. R. Co., S½ SE¼, Sec. 7, Town 148, Range 47.

St. P M & M R R Co N½ SE¼ Sec 7, Town 148 Range 47.

St. P. M. M. R.R. Co., NE¼ SW¼, Sec 7 Town 148. Range 47.

Andrew Jordal, NE¼ NW¼ Sec 7, Town 148 Range 47.

St. P. M. & M. R.R Co., NW¼ NW¼ and S½ NW¼, Sec 7, Town 148. Range 47.

Louis Duval, NE¼ NE¼. Sec 12, Town 148, Range 47.

St. P. M. & M. R. R. Co., SE¼, Sec 1, Town 148 Range 47.

St P M & M R R Co, SE¼, Sec 7, Town 148 Range 47.

St P M & M R R Co, S½, NW¼ and NW¼ NW¼, Sec 1, Town 148, Range 47.

T Samson, NE¼, NW¼, Sec 1, Town 148, Range 47.

W Scott, NE¼, NE¼, Sec 2, Town 148, Range, 47.

St Paul M & M R R Co, SW¼, Sec 31, Town 149, Range 46.

A Helmick, NW¼, Sec 31, Town 149, Range 46.

The names of the owners of lands that will be affected thereby are as follows:

J Anderson
J F Aagaard
J Ammundson
C B Aarnes
A J Applequist
Wm Anglim
M Baatz
F Baatz
D Beauchamp
J Baatz
D H Bates
L Bates
J Blake
J L Bailey
L Boucher
Carrie Bailey
Jessie P Bullan
P Cornelius
A Carvo
B Champoux
F Chappuis
L C Couvrette
E D Childs
A B Cleven
M Cornelius
J Cornelius
E B Durdahl
Wm Duval
Louis Duval
T Derosier
J A Densmore
C Duval
James Dewar
L Davis
J P Durdahl
A Desrosier
C O Espe
J & O Espe
E Erskine
Farm Investment Co
B Geroux
J Geroux
A M Grammo
J W Gray
J Gondron
D Grant
Hans Hoff
G O Hauge
A Hasty
O Hillard
J Hasty
C A Haglie
C Hanson
Cornelius Hanson
E R Hamel
G A Hammel
A Himmelsbach
W Himmelsbach.
B Himmelsbach
J L Johnson
O L Johnson
D S B Johnson
S Johnson
Chas Johnson
W P Kroll

A Helmick
Albert Hertwick
P N Hageland
T O Lee
O H Lucken
Elizabeth Lucken
B O Lindberg
M G McGuse
L LaDue
J Lariviere
A Lariviere
P Lachapelle
P Loveland
Minn Loan & Trust Co
J Montague
A McKinnon
C Miller
E Miller
O McKinney
C E Malm
B Menard
E G Marin
Merchants Nat'l Bank
G M Nelson
Peter Noeson
C Norland
Theo Nevue
New Eng Mtg Sec Co
Neth Am Land Co
E T Newhouse
Ole Olson, Jr
C Pulliot
C W Palmer
E H Porter
M E Powell
E J Regan
James Robinson
T Sampson
W Scott
Walter L Sessions
T O Sullivan
E L Stowe
Herman Simonson
N P Stone
St P M & M Ry Co
Ben Shambeau
St Paul & Chicago Ry Co
O Simmons
A E Smith
E C Smith
E H Smith
A Simpson
A Svenning
J Simpson
Philip St George
Thompson & Cowan
John Thompson
Thompson & Stephens
H Thompson
O Urness
Vannet & Marin
R A Wilkinson
William Watts
Thos Wallace
W Wheeler

Dated at Crookston, Minnesota, this 23rd day of September, 1896.

JOHN GLEASON,
County Auditor.

ROSEAU'S TURN.

A Delegation of Twenty-five Farmers Ride Free on the G. N.

Last night's Flyer brought a large delegation of Roseau farmers to the city en route to the state experimental station at St. Anthony Park. Like former delegations from Marshall and Kittson counties, these were guests of J. J. Hill enroute to the state experimental farm, where they will note the results and tests made in scientific farming. Roger J. Bell, editor of the Roseau Times, distributed the invitations and headed the party. The busy season of the year had made it impossible for many to leave, and as a consequence but half the number which was invited, accepted. They will return on Saturday.

52ND DISTRICT.

Its Legislative Conventions Fail to Fuse on Nominees.

Yesterday's conventions at Stephen held for the purpose of nominating candidates for the legislature failed to fuse. Committees were appointed and labored hard to agree, but could not make the riffle. Accordingly a straight nomination was made by each party. R. J Bell, the Roseau county candidate, was offered the Democratic nomination but refused. He aspired to preferment by the Populists and did not care to desert his party. The choice fell upon M. A. Gorr of Kennedy. The People's Party nomination rests upon the same shoulders that it did two years ago, those of P. M. Henricks of Hallock.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS.

Leprosy in its worst form exists in Montreal, Lee Tung, a Chinaman, dying of the disease.

The world's champion, Jupe, reduced the record for 2-year-old trotters at Readville, Mass., to 2:18.

A dispatch to the London Post from Constantinople says that the Turkish marines aided the rabble to loot the Armenian houses in Galatea on Sunday.

The president has denied the application for pardon in the case of Arthur D. Andrews, sentenced in California in 1894 to three years' imprisonment for depositing obscene letters in the mails.

Hiram R. McCullough, formerly general freight agent of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, has been appointed general traffic manager of that company. Marvin Hughit, Jr., will be general freight agent.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS.

Of the Board of County Commissioners Held at a Special Meeting September 15th, 1896.

Proceedings of the board of commissioners of Polk county, September 15th, 1896.

Pursuant to call the board of commissioners of Polk county met in special session September 15th, 1896, with all members present.

The records of regular meeting of July 13th, 1896, and of adjourned meeting of July 22d 1896, were read and on motion approved.

The hearing upon the petition of Mrs. Wm. Rodgers, asking to be detached from school district No. 11 and attached to district No. 129, was on motion postponed until the next meeting of the county board.

A hearing was had upon the petition of Christian Thiss, asking to be set off from school district No. 107 and attached to district No. 210, and on motion the prayer of the petitioner was granted.

A hearing was had upon the petitions of C. A. Brink, Lewis P. Olson, Peter N. Anderson, H. E. Ives, Eberhard Gunderson, St. Hilaire Boom & Water Power Co., Andrew O. Rolstad and K. O. Gigstad, asking to be detached with their lands, one acre of lot 11, Sec. 6, about one and three fourths acres of lot 11, Sec. 6, about one and 50-100 acres of lot 11, Sec. 6, three acres in north end of lot 11, Sec. 6, one acre in lot 11, Sec. 6, about three acres of lot 13, Sec. 6, part of lot 11, Sec. 6, and lots 4 and 5, Sec. 6, and lots 1 and 12, Sec. 6, all in town 152, R. 43, from school district No. 178 and attached to district No. 102, and on motion the prayers of the petitioners were granted and order made accordingly.

Moved by Com. Norland that the hearing upon the petition of Olof Gunderson be postponed until the next meeting of the county board. Moved by Com. Kirsch to amend by rejecting the petition. The amendment was carried, Com's. Kirsch, Norland and Rhinehart voting in the affirmative and Com. Oppegaard in the negative.

On motion the sum of $50 was appropriated to the town of Louisville to aid in payment of the construction of a bridge in section 36 of said town, known as Roux bridge.

A petition was presented by John Peterson et. al., asking that sections 3, 10 and 15, except lots 1 and 2 and sw¼ ne¼ Sec. 3, town of River Falls, be detached from school district Nos. 133 and 154 and attached to district No. 178, and on motion a hearing was granted upon said petition for the next meeting of the county board, provided all expenses for posting notices, etc., shall be borne by said petitioners.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the sum of $2,000 be set aside from the county revenue fund, or so much of said amount as shall be found necessary, for the purpose of defraying the preliminary expenses connected with the construction of the proposed county ditches, known as 3, 4, 5 and 6.

The bills of Anson and Alvern Merrill for services claimed to have been rendered in the construction of a county ditch in 1888, was on motion rejected.

The assessment on e½, ne¼, sw¼, ne¼, and lot 1, (less 5 acres) was reduced to 1,400 dollars for the year 1896.

A clerical error in the assessment of the Scandia-American bank for the year 1896, was ordered corrected.

Moved and carried that a hearing be granted at the next meeting of the Board on the school petition of Cesaire Gervais.

On motion the county auditor was instructed to issue a refunding order in amount of $50 in favor of Erick Dickson, said amount having been paid as taxes on an erroneous assessment on w½, sw¼, Sec 25, Twp 153, R 50.

On motion the sum of $50 was appropriated to the town of Tilden from the road and bridge fund to aid in the construction of roads and culverts in said town.

Moved and carried that $50 be appropriated to the town of Knute from the road and bridge fund to aid in the construction of a bridge between two lakes in section ten of said town.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that the member of the state board of equalization from this district be requested to use his best effort to prevent any attempt to reduce assessments of cities at the expense of the country, as proposed by the boards of trade of certain cities of the state.

The application of Jacob Bechtel for abatement of taxes on lots 13, 14, 15 and 16, block 31, village of Thief River Falls, was on motion referred to Com. Norland for investigation.

A petition was presented by J W Bren, et al, asking for the formation of a school district, to be composed of sections 1, 2, 3, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and the e½ section 15, T 153, R 48, and on motion a hearing was granted upon said petition for the next meeting of the board.

The application of Donald Blue for abatement of taxes on se¼ Sec. 34, T. 148, R 41, was on motion granted, subject to the approval of the state auditor.

Moved and carried that the sum of $75 be appropriated to the towns of Hammond and Fairfax jointly, to be used for the improvement of roads, as asked for in the petition.

The following resolution offered by Com. Norland, was on motion adopted:

Resolved, That the petition of John Clementson et al, asking for the organization of township 147, range 47, be and the same is hereby granted, and it is ordered that said town shall be named "Scandia" and that the first town meeting shall be held at the school house in school district No. 211, on the 6th day of October, 1896, the boundaries of said proposed town to be the same as those of the Congressional township 147, R 47.

The application of John Deforge for abatement of taxes on w½, ne¼, and nw¼, sw¼, Sec 28, and ne¼, ne¼, Sec 29, Twp 151, R 43, was on motion rejected.

The recommendation of Judge C. O. Christianson for the appointment of an assistant to bring up the old files and records in the office of probate judge was unfavorably considered.

Moved and carried that the balance due under contract between the county board and G. Swenson be paid when work is completed and so reported by Com. Oppegaard.

The application of John Vig for an additional allowance for help in the office of clerk of court was on motion reject

2

In the matter of the petition of Bersven Rom and others for a ditch in the county of Polk, state of Minnesota.

Stat of Minnesota, } ss.
County of Polk, }

Whereas, A petition bearing date the 12th day of August, 1896, signed by Bersven Rom, Karenius Rom, Nils O. Negaard, Ole Kastdth Tom Sandem, John A. Eidsmoe, Carl Olson, Tollef Magedal, Lars O. Eidsbakken and others praying for the establishment of a certain ditch in said county, the route of which is more fully described in said petition, and a proper bond accompanying the same, have been filed with the county auditor of said county, as by law required;

And Whereas, It appears, by satisfactory proof to the board of county commissioners of Polk county, that at least thirty (30) days' notice of the pendency of said petition, and the time and place at which the same would be heard, has been given as required by law;

And Whereas, said board has determined that the construction of such ditch as proposed in said petition will be of public benefit or utility, or conducive to the public health, convenience or welfare:

Now, Therefore, We, the board of county commissioners of said county, at a regular session held this day, do hereby accept said petition, do hereby appoint A. M. Hanson, C. C. Ostby and Noe Brosseau, three resident freeholders of said county, and not interested in the construction of said proposed work, and not of kin to any parties interested therein, as viewers, and do specify the 17th day of September, 1896, at the court house in the city of Crookston, as the time and place for said viewers to meet, preparatory to commencing their duties as such viewers, as prescribed by law, and after completing their duties as such viewers to make and file their report with the county auditor of said county on or before the——day of ———, 1896.

Dated September,—1896.

By the Board
Anthon Lindem,
Chairman Board of County Commissioners of Polk County.
Attest, John Gleason,
County Auditor.

Moved and carried that the balance due under contract between the county board and J. H. Saunes be paid when work is completed and so reported by Com. Oppegaard.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

It being found upon investigation by the board of county commissioners that the Scandia-American bank of Crookston, Minn., has had in its possession undivided profits for the years 1891, 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895, and the amount of such funds being on the first day of May of those years as follows: May 1st 1891, $16,166 19; May 1st 1892, $18,268 12; May 1st 1893, $22,513.07; May 1st 1894, $23,730.24; May 1st 1895, $30,327 50; and said amount not having been assessed for taxes during those years nor subsequently. It is hereby,

Resolved, by the board that the county be and he is hereby instructed to list the amounts stated for the years named upon the tax list for 1896 against the said Scandia-American bank.

A canvas of the votes upon the question of the incorporation of the city of Thief River Falls was made and certified as follows:

Certificate of result of special election in Thief River Falls.

At a meeting of the board of county commissioners of Polk county, in the state of Minnesota, duly held on the 5th day of September, A. D. 1896 for the purpose of canvassing the returns of an election held on September 1st, A. D. 1896, pursuant to in accordance and with an order of this board made and filed on the 25th day of July, A. D. 1896, for the purpose of voting upon a proposition to create, organize, and incorporate contiguous territory, which was not organized as a city, and had a population of more than eleven hundred and less than two thousand inhabitants, lying and being in the county of Polk, and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Section numbered thirty-three (33) now incorporated and known as the village of Thief River Falls; Lot numbered five (5) of section twenty-seven (27); the southeast quarter (se¼) of the Northwest quarter (nw¼) and the southwest quarter (sw¼) and west half (w½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) and lots two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5) and six (6) of section number thirty-four (34) and lot one (1) of section thirty-five (35) all in township number one hundred and fifty-four (154) north of range number forty-three (43) west of the fifth principal meridian, as a city under and in pursuance of chapter 8 of the general laws of 1895 of the state of Minnesota, and that the corporate name thereof be Twin Falls or Thief River Falls, we the said board of county commissioners hereby certify that we have fully and fairly canvassed the returns of said election, according to law, and as a result thereof we find one hundred and eighty-eight (188) votes were polled thereat, of which seventy-eight (78) were in favor of the incorporation of said territory by the name of Theif River Falls and fifty two (52) in favor of the incorporation of said territory under the name of Twin Falls, and that forty-seven (47) votes were cast against said incorporation, and that eleven (11) of the ballots at said election were improperly marked and not entitled to be counted for or against either of said propositions: that as a result of said election and our said canvass of said returns, we hereby certify that said territory is created, organized and incorporated as a city by the name of Theif River Falls, with a population of between eleven hundred (1100) and two thousand (2000), and we hereby further certify that we have caused to be made and have attached hereto, a correct map of said territory so incorporated.

Given under our hands and seal this 15th day of September, A. D. 1896.

Anthon Lindem,
A. C. Rhinehart,
M. E. Kirsch,
J. E. Oppegaard.
Commissioners of Polk Co., Minn.
Attest: John Gleason,
County Auditor.

The following claims were audited and allowed:

C T Lanman, stationery and printing	$ 29 18
W E McKenzie do do	23 94
C C Knappen do do	22 45
do do do	3 82
Grand Forks Herald, bal due on insanity record	8 00
A C Rhinehart, Comr.'s fees, mileage and committee work	70 80
H Norland, Comr.'s fees, mileage and committee work	19 00
J E Oppegaard, Comr's fees, mileage and committee work	28 60
Anthon Lindem, Comr's fees, mileage and committee work	25 60
M E Kirsch, Comr's fees, mileage and committee work	30 80
Agnes McLennan, nursing at Co Hospital	14 00
Geo Vine, meat for do	13 10
E E Slater, nursing at do	4 00
Mrs A M Freeman, nursing at do	27 50
Rose Kennedy, do do	56 00
Tillie Stoke, domestic do do	5 00
Johanna Eikhoff, domestic at do	28 00
Julia Ryerson, do do	8 58
Bertha Eikhoff, do do	2 50
Evangeline Laframboise, domestic at Co hospital	7 50
Mrs Schreader, groceries to Co hospital	23 43
J S Dwyer, coroner's fees	27 70
J V E Wyatt, fees as deputy coroner	61 38
Aaron Eck, constable fees	4 25
Fontaine & Anglim, Mdse for county jail	11 05
G Swenson, work on Co road in Lambert township	10 00
Joseph Pigeon, et al, work on Co road in Poplar River Twp	100 00
N G Enstrom, supplies for courthouse	2 15
Julius Jacobson work at county jail	18 35
Albert Wickstrom, postage, register of deeds office	13 25
Emil Johnson, 10 cords soft wood for jail	16 00
J T Beaudry, postage, freight, express	65 11
Mrs A Steenerson, services as matron at Co jail	30 00
Dan McKinnon, meals to jurors	9 73
John Gleason, postage and express	8 25
Albert Wickstrom, recording bonds of judge of probate and clerk	2 00
John Vig, 1 gross pens	1 50
James Creighton, hauling piles to bridge in Roome Twp	3 50
O McCrillis, postage and express	21 34
John Vig, do do	2 80
L E Gossman, clerks fees	6 00
H W Lee, attorney fees	10 00
C W Metz, hardware etc for court house	18 55
Bang & Brandt, hardware for E G Forks bridge	25 00
R R Lumb Co, lumber for Jerome brdg	177 07
do lumber for bridges	203 80
Thos White, piling for bridges	63 75
James Sullivan, hauling piles for bridges	19 50
James McIlrath, contract repairing E G Forks bridge	300 00
James Moore, drift bolts for E G Forks bridge	7 10
James McGee, work on Jerome bridge	6 00
Henry Nolan, repairing do	100 84
O L Hamery, surveyor's fees ditch No 4	111 87
Noe Brosseau, ser as viewers, ditch No 4	50 50
C C Ostby do do do No 4	58 85
A M Hanson do do do No 4	55 70
Geo T Hamery do rodman do No 4	21 00
Maurice Brosseau, team and teamster, ditch No 4	36 00
M D Stoner, work on Russia ditch survey (2 bills)	49 00
O L Hamery, surveyor's fees, ditch No 3	85 00
Louis Rood, chainman do No 3	17 00
Geo Hamery, rodman do No 3	23 75
M D Stoner, assisting county surveyor, Ditch No 3	37 00
A Anderson, mowing grass, ditch No 3	4 00
Erick O Hagen, assisting county surveyor, Ditch No 3	8 00
C C Ostby, ser as viewer, ditch No 3	69 20
Noe Brosseau, ser as viewer, do No 3	56 00
A M Hanson, do do do No 3	61 75
Maurice Brosseau, team and teamster, Ditch No 3	36 00
Paul Forenson, ser as viewer, ditch No 2	70 60
O A Thoreson do do do No 2	72 00
D B Ferguson do do do No 2	58 50
W F Arnold, surveyor's fees, do No 2	106 00
A J Lusian chainman's do do No 2	12 00
Joe McMahon team and teamster, ditch No 2	27 00
Thos A Dougherty, services as axman ditch No 2	12 00
Alex E Arnold, services as chainman, ditch No 2	12 00
W I Bassett, ser as rodman ditch No 2	24 50
Geo Salisbury, livery for viewers ditch No 2	8 50
Adelbert Rhinehart, team with viewers, ditch No 2	86 00
James McKill, witness fees	1 12
August Gustofson do	1 12
Henry Jack do	1 12
Chas Algall do	5 12
Louis Jacobs do	5 12
Mrs Sid Adams do	4 12
Sid Adams do	4 12
William Penzman do corner's court	1 12
Carl Reidesel do	1 12
A O Treten do	1 12
G Bjorgo do	1 12
W J Bryon do	1 12
John Johnson do	1 12
Ernest Brosseau do	1 12
John Remley do	1 12
August Munn do	1 12
Mrs M Losey, Jr do	4 00
M Losey, Jr. do	4 00
Eddie Lessor do	1 38
Sophia Lessor do	1 12
Angus Richards, witness fees	1 36
J H Johnson do	5 12
C L Lasher do	5 12
M Gronvold do	1 06
Leslie Shoduck, jurors fees	1 12
John Larson do	1 12
M O Homme do	1 12
Ole Nelson do	1 12
H Conway do	1 12
Anton Jenson do	1 12
A Kearney do	1 12
Oscar Dahl do	1 12
Andrew Bakken do	1 12
Ole Lee do	1 12
Olof Messelt do	1 12
C Ness do	1 12
L Anderson do	1 12
C Hefford do	1 12
P King do	1 12
John Kearney do	1 12
Ole O Espeland do	1 12
S Hood do	1 12
N S Gervais do	1 00
S J Larson do	1 12
John Peterson do	1 12
Ole Knudeson do	1 12
M S Treten, interpreters fees	1 00
Oscar Lindquist do	1 00
Chas Schilling do	1 12
Angus McLeod, constable fees	8 00
John Sinclair do	1 70
Andrew Larivlere do (2 bills)	2 75
W H Cowing do do	27 80
Gust Holt do	11 13
Wm Bloom do	1 70
Rufus Barker do	1 73
A F Cronquist do	13 30
A G Arneson do (2 bills)	12 95
M S Tweten do	4 65
Stener S Tweten do	6 69
Geo H Barlow do (2 bills)	45 40
Louis Gonyea do (3 bills)	18 70
Andrew Steenerson, sheriff's fees (2 bills)	206 92
E E Abbott, justice fees	3 20
P Bodine do (2 bills)	8 45
T T Drankey do	3 70
G H Holt do (6 bills)	27 40
Geo I Houghtaling do (2 bills)	10 15
W G Hunt do	7 05
P B Hunter do	4 65
John McLean do (3 bills)	5 60
Geo M Swift do	9 30
Dr H Grundy, post-mortem examination	1 50
Mosseth & Lindell, merchandise for jail	6 00
C E Dampier, medical attendance on prisoners	1 50
H Holte, medical attendance on prisoners	16 50
A Chabot, merchandise for jail	2 50
Brown, Treacy & Co. stationery	4 49
Geo D Barnard & Co, marriage license blanks	22 00
Pioneer Press Co, blanks	1 40
The Herald, stationery and books	63 40
Walter S Booth & Son, legal blanks	4 60
S A Wallace, stationery for county Supt	5 40
A Chabot, merchandise for hospital	7 22
W E Siecum, merchandise for hospital	32 53
Crookston Steam Laundry, laundry for hospital	25 31
C H Denniston, medical attendance at hospital	59 00
H Holte, medical attendance at hospital	18 00
John G Hagen, fire warden fees	2 00
S A Wallace, medicines for hospital	22 75
John P Kennedy, livery	2 50
Crookston Telephone Co, rent of telephones for July and August	15 00
August Schrader, witness fees in coroner's court	1 12
S L Collins, livery	2 00
F J Cernousek, witness fees, coroner's court and burial of body	6 92
Andrew Steenerson, board of prisoners for July	140 00

The following claims were laid over: John Burkee, O. F. Tanberg, A. Retallick, S. T. Johnson, P. O. Bergh and Gilbert Gilbertson.

The following claims were referred for correction:

Frank LeDuc, Hugh Quigley, 4 bills, H. A. Stone, Ole Gullickson, Wm. Brumpton, N. J. Anderson.

A bill of Bang and Brandt for $2.00 was disallowed.

On motion Board adjourned sine die.

John Gleason,
Clerk of the Board.

Thos. Lawrence: My opponent for the office of sheriff is a better traveler than I and has made more towns. I believe I could down him however on a proposition to do our campaigning on foot.

The humor of the campaign is furnished by the gentlemen who announce their opposition to free silver and their intention to vote for Bryan.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

What is Going On in Other Parts of the County.

ST. HILAIRE.

George Ralph of Crookston was in town last Monday surveying some property for Mr. Wheeler.

Last Monday the work on the dam and raise commenced.

Emil Brink returned from the Twin Cities last Monday where he had been with a carload of stock.

L. T. Bergh is going to be a farmer now he has bought the Sandmoens land of Mr. Cliffgard and will fix up the house and move in their before the cold weather sets in.

P. N. Bradly has bought the Mikkleson building and will move in there this fall.

Mr. Elmquist of Black River has bought a building place from Real Estate Olson and will erect a building there this fall.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Just, of River Falls, September 23d, a girl.

Wm. Eikhoff left for West Superior, Wis., last Monday, where he will get a job buying wheat.

L. P. Olson was in Thief River Falls last Tuesday on business.

Farmers on the East Side are busy hauling stones for the dam.

Mr. Wheeler, of Crookston, was in town last Monday on business.

WYLIE.

Person Bros. started threshing last Monday and report a very low yield of wheat, two to four bushels per acre.

P. A. Hallstrom had the misfortune to lose another valuable horse last week, which makes two in a month.

John and Aug. Naplin have been busy the past week, fixing up their threshing rig, which they started Tuesday at P. A. Erickson's place.

John Judge visited friends at Euclid last Sunday.

A dance was given at Mike Au t's last Sunday, quite a number of the Bray sports were present and report a good time.

Rev. Theo. Seashore will preach at New Fuldon next Sunday.

Our all around harness and shoe dealer is building an addition to his store. What's next?

A. O. Leivig, our untiring artesian well digger, took his outfit to Regis Huot's place last week, and undoubtedly by this time he has either struck water or China.

A prayer meeting was held at Charles Johnson's last Sunday, which was well attended.

The members of the Swedish Lutheran B. R. congregation had a meeting for the purpose of selecting a place for building a parsonage.

Chas. Peterson, our deputy town clerk, has been wending his way towards the East for some time. Dame gossip is busy, but he says it is only a job of carpenter work.

A. M. Hanson is the happy father of a bouncing baby boy of regular size and weight, all concerned are doing nicely.

MAD DOGS.

Red Lake Falls People Will Test the Question of Rabies.

The mad dog scare at Red Lake Falls has developed considerable feeling, and there are those who are not satisfied that it is genuine rabies. In order to satisfy all parties and at the same time act with the greatest degree of safety for all parties concerned, the citizens sent down the head of one of the dogs to Dr. C. N. Hewitt at Red Wing, president of the state board of health. The head fell into the hands of some officious persons connected with the office of game warden and was held by them until it was unfit for use in testing the question. Yesterday another attempt was made, and the carcass of a dog was sent down, upon which they hoped to get scientific investigation and opinion. The dog which was supposed to be mad, bit several other dogs beside some valuable stock. Some of the dogs have already died with all the symptoms of rabies.

THE GO-BY.

That's What Bemidji Gets at the Hands of the G. N.

The Times statement made a month since that the Fosston extension would pass south of Bemidji is borne out by the facts as they have developed. The surveyors have completed their work at the Mississippi, and they leave the town two miles from the road. Chief Engineer Joseph Till says: "We have made the final survey, and when the road is built it will be on this line. From here we will proceed in a southeasterly direction, and in all probability will pass between Cass lake and Pike bay and intersect the Duluth & Winnipeg at or near Deer river. Our object is to find the shortest and best line direct to Duluth, as this will be the main trunk line of the system when built. The right of way may be cleared this winter, and the indications are that the cars will be running within twelve months." Bemidji feels quite hostile to J. J. Hill, however, for giving the town the go-by. W. L. Hilligoss who has laid out the route from Fosston east ahead of the surveyors is in the city today. He confirms the statement, but says that the distance from the road to Bemidji is a trifle short of two miles. The necessity of obtaining a route which shall avoid heavy grades has made the locating of the line a long and tedious job. At one time the crew was compelled to abandon twenty miles of the route, go back and run an entire new line. They are at present at work on the Leech Lake reservation twenty miles east of Bemidji and will probably remain in the field as long as the weather will permit.

THE GOLD CURE.

MARK HANNA ADVERTISES FOR FARMER VOTERS.

Resorts to the Patent Medicine Dodge to Foist McKinleyism Upon the American People—Wants the Farmers to Take His Gold Cure.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Mark Hanna and his corps of assistants in the management of McKinley's campaign are becoming desperate.

Hanna has a large force of campaign editors writing gold matter in the form of editorials and special articles which he has sought to have published in the press of the country supposed to circulate among the farmers.

Failing in his efforts to bribe and subsidize the great agricultural newspapers and periodicals, this man of money, Hanna, has sought and paid for pages in several weeklies, into which he inserts regular advertisements, detailing the alleged virtues of the gold standard as though it were Paine's Celery Compound or Carter's Little Liver Pills.

In the last issues of the Western Rural appears a full page advertisement labeled—"A Few Common Sense Facts for Agriculturists and Home Owners." Beneath this heading appears in big black type five reasons why the producer should take the Hanna gold cure.

Though the Western Rural prints the advertisement, labeled such, it is true to the masses of the people it represents, and speaks thus editorially of it.

"We invite attention," says The Western Rural, "to an advertisement on another page, paid for by Mark Hanna's syndicate money. It is inserted with pleasure for a number of good reasons, two or three of which we will mention: 1. Because we have confidence in the 'common sense' of our readers, and believe they will apply the test of common sense to this use of money by the millionaire syndicate which is seeking to dominate American voters.

"2. Because we are convinced that those who have read our paper, in its discussions on the money question for four years past, or for four months, or even for four weeks, know the difference between 'facts' and bare assertions, and between facts that are pertinent and mere platitudes. * * *

"A vote for McKinley is a vote to perpetuate the gold standard, and our readers, be they agriculturists or 'home owners' of any kind, recognize this as one of the pertinent 'facts' in this campaign."

The Western Rural at length attacks and destroys in its editorial the paid-for-statements in its advertising columns.

Men advertise quack medicines to float them, but this is the first instance on record where the advertising columns of a newspaper have been resorted to to float a candidate for the great office of president of the United States.

Francis Drake and Cecil Rhodes.

You ignore the fact that there were two Drakes, as there are two Cecil Rhodeses. When Drake's consummate seamanship and audacious courage successfully resisted the armada and sent the Duke of Sidonia "back to St. Mary Port among his orange trees," he became, and will justly remain for all time, an English hero. But eight years previously Drake stole the church plate of Lima, when Spain was at peace with England.

His robbery disgraced England and himself. In the remarkable volume of letters and state papers relating to English affairs edited by Major Sharp Hume, from the archives at Simancas, I have counted 39 instances in which the restitution of Drake's plunder is referred to by Dr. Mendoza in language which might be employed today by the agent general of the Transvaal. There was nothing admirable in the episode of the Lima plate; quite the reverse. Is it not, therefore, a good thing to distinguish between the good and the bad in Drake as in Mr. Rhodes? If Drake had been broken in 1579 for his theft of the Lima chalices and patens, he would never have had the opportunity of winning half the three days' battles in the channel in August, 1588. On the other hand, to condone the piratical expeditions of the earlier part of Drake's career because later on he acted nobly and as a true Englishman is unnecessary.

Should not the same thing hold good about Mr. Rhodes? We may admire and be grateful for his stand against Germany while condemning his plot against a friendly state and the Stock Exchange aroma of the whole transaction.—London Chronicle.

Since the leading nations, including the United States, demonetized silver, there has been a steady fall in the level of prices within their borders. Bitter experience has taught all who are familiar with the facts that the abandonment of bimetallism and the adoption of the single gold standard was a mistake that has cursed by its dire consequences the most civilized portion of mankind. It has been demonstrated that the gold standard means dear money and cheap goods, cheap labor and hard times. A return to bimetallism is inevitable. Industry is throttled by monometallism. Bryan stands for the old and better financial system, which gave us a stable and, therefore, an honest dollar.

Financial Independence.

"I come to proclaim financial independence in a city which saw the declaration of independence signed more than a hundred years ago. (Applause.) You say that this city, in which the forefathers gathered when they were willing to defy the foreign powers and declared their independence, you say this city is afraid to have financial independence. I shall not declare that the descendants of our forefathers of a hundred years ago have sunk so low unless you write it so at the ballot in November. (Great applause.) The issue which is raised now was raised before. There were people then who said that we could not obtain independence unless some foreign nations would help us. There are those who say it today, and those who say it today stand in the same position as those who said it then. (Applause.) The people who a hundred years ago declared in favor of foreign supremacy were the people who had business dealings and acted as the agents of the people who employ them over there. You have no banks in this city today which are not controlled by the influence of London, and I have no more respect for the American who takes his patriotism from Lombard street than I have for the Tory who took his patriotism a hundred years ago from England." (Great applause.)—Mr. Bryan at Philadelphia.

In 1895 we lost over $48,000,000 on our foreign trade as the result of the fall of prices during that single year. And the fall of the prices of our products was due to the rise of the purchasing power of the English gold sovereign—a sovereign which Wall street is trying to make an absolute despot over all America.

OWN THE TWINS.

Claim Laid to a Large Tract of Land by the Carver Heirs.

Napoleon, O., Sept. 30.—The descendants of Captain Jonathan Carver, now known in Northwestern Ohio by the name of Gunn, have engaged an attorney and will commence legal proceedings for a great fortune. Captain Carver was one of the early explorers of the headwaters of the Mississippi river, and being in the employment of the British government as agent to deal with Western Indians, made peace during his tour between several tribes, among which was the Mondowissi Indians, who deeded to him a tract of land 60 miles square on the site of where St. Paul and Minneapolis now stand. This vast estate still remains unsettled, and the heirs will now endeavor to prove their claims.

JEALOUS WOMAN.

Kills Her Husband and Then Suicides at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Harry M. Conway, 21 years of age, was shot and instantly killed by his wife, Grace Clark Conway, who was only 18 years old. The Conways have been living in Chicago but three months, he coming from Lyons, Ia., and the home of his wife before marriage being at Rockford, Ills. The couple had frequent quarrels over the attentions paid by Conway to a young woman in Sterling, Neb., and it was during one of these quarrels that the woman killed her husband. She shot herself through the heart immediately after.

AT FERTILE.

The Fair Concludes With Successful Races.

The closing day of the Fertile fair showed a large attendance, and the sport was fully up to that of any similar event ever held in Polk county. The races were very interesting. Effie W. won the first two heats in the free for all, and Hill's Mistake owned by Chas. Bronson, of Grand Forks, won the next three and the race. The 2:43 trot was won by Petle, a Fosston horse, Veratrum second. Buster won the running race which was mile heats best two in three. Mattson, of Fertile, won the bicycle race against two swift ones who came from Wadena to do him him up.

The balloon ascension was a huge success. The aeronaut went up until he was little more than a speck, and the parachute did the rest.

We have not a word to say against the faith cure, but it is just as well to remind some people that it will require more than blind faith to carry a Presidential election.

Unless we misunderstand him, Dr. Talmage is preaching like a man who intends to be with the winners.

Miss Minnie Murray, "the girl in white," is stumping Iowa in behalf of Bryan. She draws crowded houses, and no wonder most any man would turn out to see a girl in white,—the proper kind of white, of course.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL
M. Z. EPPERSON
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	55c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	12c	Eggs	7c
Barley	15c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.40
Flax	58c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Keep your eye on St. Hilaire.

—"Money talks" so does good advertising.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

Cattle buyers are thick and working the country thoroughly.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Judge Ives was visiting with his son Harry, and friends Friday last.

The material for the new steele bridge is billed at 75,000 pounds.

And not a word heard of county division in this neck of the woods yet?

A large strip of land has been cleared of the underbrush down near the race.

P. G. Paradis drove to Red Lake Falls Saturday returning in the evening.

The Grand Forks street fair is on, beginning to-day and will last until Friday.

Eleven hours a day is what they are putting in since work commenced on the race.

The plans as drawn out for the race is to be 18 feet long, 40 feet wide and 14 feet high.

A great many of the farmers are making a mistake by selling off their young stock.

Miss Cora Harris began a three month term of school in the Cuno district Monday.

Charley Brink and M. E. Bjerk have been putting in over time at the race and dam this week.

S. M. Hoff will open up the Minnesota house to the public somewhere around the 12th inst.

Legal advertisements at legal rates would be a good plan to adopt by the papers of Polk county.

C. G. Rapp and S. D. Patrick returned to-day from Crookston where they have been since Monday.

For the last few weeks there has been hundreds of pounds of shot distributed in the Wicker lake.

A. R. Jones purchased another horse last week and now has a fine pair of roadsters or a working team.

The Crookston hunting party that were camping at Mud lake the past ten days returned home Monday.

Hon. P. M. Ringdal will deliver an address at Brink's hall Saturday evening. Turn out and hear him.

The politician who comes around every other year inquiring after your good health is abroad in the land.

The river has raised somewhere in the neighborhood of three feet in consequence of putting in the Coffer dam.

All the men and teams available were put to work last week putting in the Coffer dam and fixing up the regular one.

Tell the public who you are, where you are and what you are in the columns of this paper by the advertising route.

A large force of men and teams have been at work this week leveling off the flat where logs will be boomed next season.

S. M. Dainard, candidate for sheriff on the republican ticket is electioneering in the vicinity of East Grand Forks this week.

The drizzling rain the first of the week made it disagreeable for the ones working at the dam, but the work goes on rain or shine.

Turn out and hear Hon. P. M. Ringdal speak upon the current political questions in this village Saturday evening October 10th.

C. G. Rapp and Will Bloom were doing the country districts all last week. Politics, hunting and collecting, all received equal attention.

The first man with a gold (yellow) standard hat was seen at St. Hilaire Monday—he also had yellow hair—that is, light red—bleached.

M. Z. Epperson is moving his household effects to-day into the house lately vacated by W. C. Peters.

Ole B. Dahl of East Grand Forks, "Candidate for treasurer of Polk Co.," was in the village Saturday viewing the political situation.

Our hardware merchants both have a fine lot of new patent sheet iron heaters. Call and look them over if you want something nice.

If it is true that the money power can do what is threatened, it is sufficient reason for its overthrow, for treating it as the enemy of the republic.

Some of our exchanges are advertising McKinley and Hobart cigars. Sixteen to one they are scab cigars and only get half-price for advertising them.

Charley Tedford made the trip from Thief River Falls to St. Hilaire; a distance of eight miles in 37 minutes yesterday. Charley has a pair of roadsters.

Secretary of State Berg who was billed to speak here Saturday evening failed to materialize, and what he had to say on the issues of the day remains a blank in St. Hilaire.

Every republican platform since 1886 has been for bimetallism until the gold power of Wall Street and London got hold of the convention at St. Louis. Now their momory is short.

Dr. Thor. Muller of Thief River Falls, an ardent free silverite was present at the political meeting last evening also that of last Saturday evening which was given by the gold side.

Several men left yesterday for Thief River Falls where they go to start a drive of lumber and square timbers for the building of the race and dam. The drive is expected this evening.

Next season will witness a substantial boom for St. Hilaire and don't you forget it. Now is the time to look over the grounds and make arrangements. This will be no boom on paper maps.

Hon. P. M. Ringdal will address the citizens of St. Hilaire on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. He will speak upon the current political questions and eveybody should turn out and hear him.

H. J. Freeman received a letter from The Wrought Iron Bridge Co., saying the iron for the new bridge was shipped from Canton Ohio, Sept. 30th. It should be here this week, perhaps today.

W. M. Eikhoff left Monday for North Dakota where he goes in the interest of the Freeman Milling Company of West Superior. Mr. Eikhoff expects to be on the road at least two months before returning.

Yes, the banker understands the money question— so does the hawk understand the chicken question—but for that reason no one wants to leave the chicken business to the hawks.—Maine Populist.

H. C. Clark, secretary of the Shevlin-Carpenter Lumber company of Minneapolis was doing business at St. Hilaire Monday. Mr. Clark is a very agreeable gentleman to meet and is a thorough business man from the word go.

And now you don't hear a word about Mexico and her silver dollars which occupied so much valuable space in the republican papers a short time ago. The common people got onto their way of deceiving the public.

O. W. Brink left Monday with another car load of stock to the eastern markets. He went away pleased as he made connections with the through stock train at Crookston thus saving a good many hours in making the trip.

Prof. J. S. Carlson, of Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter Minn., spoke in the Swedish language to a fair sized audience in Brink's Hall Saturday evening on the gold side of the money question.

Is the present money standards of this country good policy to follow? Under the present money standards our national debt has increased $262,000,000, during the past three years, while over $300,000,000 silver was and is idle in the treasury.

According to the republican papers one would come to the conclusion that Mark Hanna had the world with a fence around it, and would crown McKinley November 3rd. Their puffs is like a Dakota blizzard—lots of wind behind it.

A fair sized audience listened to the speech on the silver question last evening at Brink's hall. Mr. Skinvick handled the question in a masterly sort of a way and refrained from abuse which is so common with some stump speakers.

E. M. Hoff took the advice of an old Crookston goose hunter—he shot the leader—the old one—the tough one. Of course by killing the first one would confuse the rest of the flock. Mr. Hoff will try the other end of the flock and get the young one—the tender one

Mr. Skinvick, although no sledge hammer orator, delivered a good honest free silver address, giving facts and figures which can be backed up by good authority. Mr. S. is not paid for talking free silver and what is more he is not running for office. Such public men are indeed scarce in this free country.

"In union their is strength" but McKinley's manager, Hanna, don't want any union men in his, in fact he makes it a business to turn off union men and employs nothing but scab labor. Union men should remember this wart of humanity November 3rd. Farmers and union men should go hand in hand—and they will too.

William J. Bryan, candidate for president of the United States, will deliver an address at Fargo, N. Dak., Saturday forenoon of this week. Special trains will be run on all lines running into that city. This will be the only speech made in North Dakota and it will be safe to say that Fargo will witness a crowd that will go on record for numbers.

Incorporated.

The St. Hilaire Lumber company is the name of a new firm that has recently been incorporated under the laws of Wisconsin, the incorporators being Frank P. Hixon of La Crosse, Wis., Daniel G. Arpin and Edmund Arpin, of Grand Rapids, Wis., Thos. H. Shevlin of this city, and others. The capital stock is placed at $200,000, and is divided into 2,000 shares of $100 each. The name is taken from the town of St. Hilaire, Minn., in the Red Lake country, which will be the scene of operations of the company. Frank P. Hixon is a well known lumberman of La Crosse who has been in the business for a number of years. He has various interests in the line of lumber, one of the chief of which is the T. B. Scott Lumber company of Merrill, Wis., of which he is president. The Arpins, Daniel and Edmund, are members of the Arpin Lumber company, of Arpin, Wis. Their holdings of timber about Arpin are about exhausted, and they have been making purchases, along with the other members of the new company, in the Red Lake district. Mr. Shevlin is well known as a member of the Shevlin-Carpenter company, and his long experience and knowledge of the lumber business made the stockholders of the new company put him at its head, as president. He is also the treasurer. Mr. Hixon is the vice-president, and A. J. Arpin is secretary. The new company has large holdings of pine in the vicinity of Red Lake, and all of it is available to the many streams that flow into that body of water. From it the logs will be floated down Red Lake river to the point where they will be manufactured. This will probably be near the town of St. Hilaire, where the company owns the shore rights along the river. They have not decided fully as to when they will begin the erection of a mill, but it is possible that it will be started some time next year.—Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

Whenever any one tells you that farmers' crops are cheap because of overproduction, ask him if he would advise smaller farms and poorer land. His opinion will be valuable to cultivators of the soil.—Cedar Rapids Gazette

Don't Sell Your Vote.

Abraham Lincoln said: "No men living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil up from poverty; none less inclined to take or touch aught which they have not honestly earned. Let them beware of surrendering a power which they already possess and which, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the door of advancement against such as they, and to fix new tasks and burdens upon them, till all of liberty shall be lost."

In a trial recently made to determine how long a time was necessary to convert the wood of a standing tree into a printed newspaper, it appears that the feat was accomplished in two hours and twenty-five minutes. The manufacture of the tree into paper took one hour and fifty-nine minutes, and the remainder of the time was consumed in carrying the paper two and one-half miles to a printing office and printing the same.—Northwestern Printer.

A Lie Nailed.

A report has been circulated to the effect that Thomas Lawrence, the candidate for sheriff on the People's Party ticket, cannot read or write. The preposterous absurdity of this statement is so patent to anyone who knows Mr. Lawrence that it needs no contradiction. The SPECTATOR is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Lawrence which is not only written in a better hand than is most of those written by business men in this city, but it is composed and punctuated with absolute correctness. Mr. Lawrence, if elected will make a thoroughly capable and competent officer, and the faith of Polk county's voters will not be misplaced in any particular if they pin it to him.

A sheep wearing ear rings is one of the unusual sights which was to be seen at the G. N. depot this morning. The animal was one of the pure blooded Shorpshires which F. Bivins and Son have bred, and was being shipped to Wm. Eikhoff, of St. Hilaire. The jewelery was utilized to carry the record of the animal's number as given in the American Sheep Husbandry Registery book.—Crookston Times.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the council Monday Oct. 5, 1896.

All members present except Rapp and Epperson.

Meeting called to order by the recorder.

On motion H. J. Freeman was appointed president pro tem.

On motion minutes of last meeting were read and accepted.

On motion the following bills were allowed:

J. C. Dahl Blacksmithing etc. as per bill	$1 65
A. R. Jones 3 days work on trough	6 00
S. Harris work as per bill 3 days	4 50
L. J. Stranahan running ferry 24 days	24 00

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] H. J. FREEMAN,
Pres. pro tem.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

New Lumber Company Formed.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 28.—The St. Hilaire Lumber company filed articles today. The officers are T. H. Shevlin, Minneapolis, president and treasurer; F. P. Hixon, La Crosse, vice president; A. J. Arpin, Grand Rapids, secretary. These officers, with J. M. Hixon, of La Crosse, and D. J. Arpin, of Grand Rapids, are incorporators and directors. The capital stock is $200,000. The company owns a large tract of pine on the Red Lake reservation.

Twin City Notes.

Bourke Cochran the only Bourke, has come and gone. The parade was a success, but the speech from a vote getting standpoint was a failure. Many of our leading merchants and mill owners distributed badges and made a personal appeal to their men to go out and march. With a desire to have their business represented in the parade, and for the purpose of pleasing their employers thousands turned out, but many of them removed the yellow fever badges as soon as the blow out was over. A Goldite, a banker of Minneapolis, sat next to a friend of mine after Cochran had been speaking fifteen minutes, and nearly one fourth of the audience had filed out, the Western Agent for eastern money, said to my friend, "by gosh its a fizzle."

Who could have believed four years ago that the Republican party would ever be paying their good money to this man Cochran of Tammany Hall erstwhile head of the most corrupt political organization in this country to line up voters in the grounds of "Morality, integrity and honesty." It is doubtful if Cochran would know an honest dollar if he should meet one in the street.

President Ives of the B. C. R. & N. R. R., mailed a circular letter to his employes in Iowa, where in he appealed to the boys to vote against opening the mints to silver as it would double the price of their flour, meat, potatoes etc. This circular is now being sent broadcast to the farmers of Iowa, and the Republican Gold Standard managers are alarmed at the havoc it is working among them. This circular is in the same line, as the Gold arguments printed editorially in the Twin City papers not long ago, the Pioneer Press in editorial said, "The Rail Road man who votes to remonetize silver is casting a vote to double the price of his bread and meat." Is it any wonder that agricultural districts are showing up strongly for Bryan and Lind. There is no question but that the Union ticket has gained ground during the past ten days. John Lind's letter of acceptance was a signal for a second charge all along the line. Every silver meeting is well attended, and at headquarters they are covered up with application for printed matter. There are whole townships which are practically solid against the British Gold Standard Wall Street ticket. A friend of mine went out hunting Saturday, he stopped with a farmer who had on a McKinley button. "How is it," said my friend "will McKinley get a good vote in this precinct?" "No" said the farmer "I think I am the only gold man in this district; neighbors have all gone crazy." I met a traveling man the other day who had just made Michigan, he too wore a yellow fever ribbon on his coat. "How is it in Michigan?" I asked. "Well it looks a little discouraging there. I am afraid the fusion ticket will carry the state," was his reply.

Bismarck's letter dated Aug. 24th states that if the United States takes the initiative in Bimetallism, Europe will find it to their interest to follow. This letter comes at an opportune time, and cannot fail to have great weight with German Americans. Germany has already recognized their mistake in demonetizing silver. H. L. CHAFFE.

Yellow has been chosen as the color of the gold standard advocates. It is the most appropriate color; it is the emblem of pestilence, disease, death; and which in this case signifies pestilence to industry, diseased trade and the death of national prosperity.

For the first seven months of 1896 the imports of foreign merchandise of all kinds into this country were $13,000,000 less than for the corresponding period in 1895, and almost $100,000,000 less than in 1893. Surely it cannot be the "flood of foreign goods" that is closing our factories.

Some of the gold men say "that wheat is going up and silver is going down. How do you account for it?" That is easy enough. The gold monopoly and the transportation and grain monopolies have a "corner" on all the financial movements of the world. They can raise or lower prices at will and they do so for THEIR OWN BENEFIT. They first started in to FRIGHTEN people into support of McKinley. They very soon discovered that the western people weren't built that way, and now they propose to give us "good times" by importing gold, exchanging it for greenbacks with the government (Grover Cleveland being in the deal) so as to make a show of good times, and yet to be in position to withdraw all their gold immediately after election and obtain another issue of bonds. The power of gold, with Grover or McKinley at the helm is supreme over all the markets of the world.—Waseca Herald.

How "Uncle Sam" Got His Name.

The nickname, "Uncle Sam" as applied to the United States Government, is said to have originated as follows; Samuel Wilson, commonly called "Uncle Sam," was a Government inspector of beef and pork at Troy, New York, about 1812. A contractor, Elbert Anderson, purchased a quantity of provisions, and the barrels were marked "E. A.," Anderson's initials, and "U. S.," for United States. The latter initials were not familiar to Wilson's work men, who inquired what they meant. A facetious fellow answered; "I don't know, unless they mean "Uncle Sam." A vast amount of property, afterward passed through Wilson's hands marked in the same manner, and he was often joked upon the extent of his possessions. The joke spread through all the departments of the Government, and before long the United States was popularly referred to as "Uncle Sam."—October Ladie's Home Journal.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something . . . . .

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 29	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.0
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 3.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.10 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 23	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 29	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
DRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
4 " 13	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	5.00
4 " 29	[illegible] to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

MINNESOTA
State Normal Schools
—AT—
Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:
IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR
STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department. . . .

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS
The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Fall Medicine

is fully as important and beneficial as spring medicine, for at this season there is great danger to health in the varying temperature, cold storms, malarial germs and prevalence of fevers and other diseases. Danger may be avoided by taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills assist Digestion and cure Constipation. 25 cents.

A New Hygienic Bicycle Saddle.

English bicyclists are congratulating themselves that they can at last obtain what the world has been waiting for, a bicycle saddle, adaptable to any rider, that is cool, harmless, perfectly comfortable and lasting. Perineal pressure has hitherto been the bane of the cyclist, and where this has been avoided by changing the shape of the seat to that of a pad, the rider has lost the appreciable support of the point of the saddle. In the new saddle, which is in shape very much like the ordinary saddle, with the peak very much narrowed and long-drawn out, two pear-shaped pieces of leather are placed side by side, with a slit between them extending the whole length. The width of the seat, and, therefore, the width of this slit, can be regulated by screws easily manipulated. The leather is made to assume a concave form, and all pressure on the sensitive parts of the seat are avoided, the weight of the rider being placed where it should be—upon the ischium bones, the natural and proper support of the body. This saddle gives the rider the valuable assistance in balancing, which is absent in the peakless saddle. While many saddles are fairly comfortable, the rider having become accustomed to them, great harm is often being unconsciously and insiduously wrought, and the seeds are being sown for serious complications of the local organs. If the new saddle, as is claimed, entirely banishes the possibility of such injury, it has a great future in store.

A well made fur coat that protects the face, ears and limbs is necessary to keep warm in this section. "North Star" fur coats will fill the bill in all respects, and are guaranteed by the makers, Lanpher Finch & Skinner, St. Paul. They are the oldest and largest exclusive fur coat manufacturers.

A Blood-Curdling Set.

She—I wonder why the Kurds persist in murdering the Armenians?

He—Oh, I suppose it is just a whey of theirs.—Washington Times.

Sir Christopher Wren built forty-two churches in London; his greatest work is St. Paul's cathedral.

When billious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

There are 67 county jails in this State a workhouse and a house of correction.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

The only dumb animal is the garaffe It cannot express itself by any sound.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Sunart "Vici" CYCLE CAMERAS

The latest improvements in "CYCLE" CAMERAS. ◆ ◆ ◆

"VENI" "VIDI" "VICI" Folding Cameras, Magazine Cameras, Tripods and Photographic Materials.

First-class double Combination Lenses guaranteed. Latest Safety Shutters. Pneumatic Release Iris Diaphragm. 4x5, 5x7, 6½x8½, 8x10. When in St. Paul ask to see the "Cycle Vici."

ZIMMERMAN BROS.,
375 Minnesota St., St. Paul, Minn.

Send 2-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue.

Sunart Photo Co., Rochester, N. Y., U. S. A.

DON'T KICK! TAKE Cascarets CANDY CATHARTIC
ALL DRUGGISTS.

This button with a ten cent box of CASCARETS, CANDY CATHARTIC, the ideal laxative and guaranteed constipation cure, sent FREE on receipt of five 2-cent stamps. Address STERLING REMEDY COMPANY, Chicago; Montreal, Can.; New York.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

MANY GHOSTS SEEN.

SEVEN OF THEM SAID TO ROAM NEAR WEST ORANGE, N. J.

The Graceful Spook of Phoebe Paulin—Headless Specter of a Dynamite Victim, with Shades of Suicides and Murdered Ones.

THE beautiful piece of country between West Orange, N. J., and the Passaic river has been the scene of several tragedies, horrid spectral reminders of which have been seen repeatedly and under such circumstances which appear to make the idea of imposture or self-deceit improbable, says the New York World.

A reporter has investigated this territory and the evidence gathered from honest and intelligent inhabitants of the neighborhood leaves little doubt that it is the most ghost-infested community in America.

The graceful figure of murdered Phoebe Paulin is often seen by the roadside on moonless midnights. The apparition of William Werner, who hanged himself, still haunts the barn where the deed was committed. The headless ghost of Charles Souder, who exploded a dynamite cartridge in his mouth, many have seen gliding through the woods on warm spring evenings. And so with many others.

Several years ago Phoebe Paulin, an attractive young girl, was mysteriously murdered. Her body was found one Sunday morning near Eagle Rock. Her murderer was never punished. Several persons were placed on trial, but were acquitted through lack of sufficient evidence. Many persons have seen her ghost near the spot where the body was found.

John Beach, a resident of Orange, while returning late one summer evening from a drive with his wife and daughter, noticed an indistinct, luminous body hovering over this spot.

Trusting that his wife and daughter might not notice it, he whipped up his horse. The horse, however, had seen the apparition, and began to back, trembling in every limb and sweating profusely.

The phantom gradually drew nearer to the carriage. When about fifty feet distant Mrs. Beach and her daughter discovered it, screamed and fainted.

Their screams terrified the already frightened horse, for he dashed away and carried them swiftly home. Many attempts have been made to hunt down the ghost, but it suddenly vanishes when pursued.

Half way down the western slope of First mountain is a deserted stone cottage. A German newspaper man committed suicide in it some years ago, and ever since his spirit haunts the decaying walls.

One of the most noted haunts of specters is the small graveyard in the valley between First and Second mountains. Just inside the fence lies the grave of Phoebe Paulin. The residents of Pleasantdale say that the ghost of the murdered Phoebe guards her grave as well as the lonely road where she was murdered.

On the summit of Second mountain is a cottage and a small barn built five years ago by William Werner, an industrious German, a quarryman. The quarry shut down and Werner was thrown out of employment. He became despondent and hanged himself to a rafter in the barn.

His widow married again and the neighbors say that the ghost of the suicide appeared to the couple on their wedding night. The bride sold the property the next week and moved away.

About an ancient house, a relic of revolutionary days, many stories are told by old residents about the strange blue lights which are seen flitting through the crumbling ruin. The history of the house is one of unfortunate love and crime.

A quarter of a mile away is another old-fashioned house, in which Jacob Williams killed himself. Since that time queer things have been seen there of which people do not speak.

A heavily shaded and little frequented cross-road runs from the turnpike to the top of Choctaw hill. Down this road half a mile through dense woods is a comfortable country house occupied about a year ago by Charles Souder, a quarry blaster. He always kept a store of dynamite cartridges. It is supposed his mind became deranged, for one still sunshiny afternoon he put a cartridge in his mouth and lighted the fuse. Parts of a headless trunk were all that could be found of Charles Souder.

Since the tragedy on warm evenings the neighbors see the outlines of a headless corpse wandering through the woods.

Down through the village of Roseland lies the old "Valentine Trunk" house. Weird noises in the night are heard and the horrifying change of pans of milk in the cellar to pans of blood occurs. Years ago an itinerant pack peddler was murdered in the house and buried in the cellar.

"Break, Break, Break."

"A Loving Mother" writes that her only child, a boy of 21, is painfully awkward, and she wants to know how he may learn to be graceful. He is so clumsy he breaks everything he comes in contact with. When a mere child he broke the ten commandments and a water pitcher and his mother fears that he will break his neck. We would advise "A Loving Mother" to allow her son to try a faro bank. If he succeeds in breaking that she is invited to write again.—New York World.

Penetration of Light Through Water.

Photography has lately determined the depths to which the sun's rays can penetrate through water, and the result is that at the depth of 553 feet the darkness was about equal to an exposure on a clear but moonless night. The exposed plates at this depth gave no evidence of light action.

The men of a Mennonite colony in Indiana, hitherto bound by its creed to abstain from voting, have revised their creed and decided to participate in the coming election.

YOU HAVE BACKACHE

Get Rid of It!

It is a sign that you have Kidney Disease; Kidney Disease, if not checked, leads to Bright's Disease, and Bright's Disease Kills!

Because the Kidneys break down and pass away with the urine.

Heed the Danger Signal and begin to cure your Kidneys to-day by taking

Warner's Safe Cure

Large bottle or new style smaller one at your druggist's.

All He Wanted Was a Chance.

"Your father seems to walk a little lame," he said.

"He does," she admitted. "Poor papa says he's had his leg pulled until he has pretty nearly lost the use of it."

"What a shame!" he exclaimed.

"Isn't it?" she asked.

"And it wasn't artistically done, either. Now, if you will only consent to marry me——"

"Oh, Harold-"

"If you'll only marry me," he persisted, "and give me a right to help you, why, between us, we ought to be able to pull his other leg, until things get evened up."—Chicago Post.

Was Evidently a Pessimist Himself.

"Papa," he began, "what's an optimist?"

'It's a fool, replied the father, "whom every one thinks a wise person.'

"And what's a pessimist?"

"A wise person whom everyone thinks a fool."—New York Herald.

What He Would Say.

"What would you say to a good, steady job of work?" asked the kind woman.

"What would I say to a job of work?" repeated Perry Patettic. "Missus, it would be impossible for me to repeat to a lady what I would say to it."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

The Latest X Rays.

She—What does X mean on these six for a quarter tickets?

He—I suppose it's the latest X raise—from three to four cents.—Detroit Free Press.

Of 691 tramps received at Winchester, Eng., workhouse in eight weeks, 163 were discharged soldiers.

RHEUMATISM.

Distorted Limbs, Swollen Joints, Painful Muscles and a Life that is Unbearable.

WHY CONTINUE TO SUFFER? RELIEF WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL. THE FAMOUS KICKAPOO INDIAN REMEDIES ALL POWERFUL FOR THIS MOST PAINFUL OF AFFLICTIONS.

WHEN one considers the exposure and hard life endured by the Indians from birth until old age, and reflects upon the fact that rheumatism is unknown to them it cannot be doubted but that their medicines must contain all powerful properties, which is certainly the case. The Indian preserves his perfect health by paying the greatest possible attention to his body. For years he has studied the art of healing and having become thoroughly conversant with nature's own remedies which she dispenses to him in the form of roots, barks and herbs, and which by experience he has learned to skillfully gather and combine so that at last he has succeeded in obtaining remedies which are recognized throughout the world as the most wonderful specifics for this most dreaded disease.

Kickapoo Indian Oil when applied externally relieves inflammation almost immediately, whereas their famous Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, that great blood, liver, stomach and kidney invigorator, dispels the cause of this trouble in a remarkably short space of time.

Rheumatism, as is a well-known fact, is caused by the accumulation of unhealthy acids in the blood, due to the improper action of some one or more of the great life-giving organs of the body. These when properly treated by such a remedy as Kickapoo Indian Sagwa are easily persuaded to resume their natural functions, and soon dispel from the system these poisons, leaving the patient free from pain, and in every way enjoying health. It should be remembered that none of the Kickapoo Indian preparations contain any poisonous ingredients, and they may be bought of any druggist Kickapoo Indian Oil 25 cts. a bottle. Kickapoo Indian Sagwa $1 a bottle, six bottles for $5.

AN AUSTRALIAN WOMAN.

Writes About Her First Vote Cast in the Box.

An Australian woman, who was the first to vote in her district on the school question, writes to an American friend an interesting letter of the first day of woman's franchise, and how she took to her new privileges—now duties—of placing a cross on a significant piece of paper:

"I started with the intention of making a day of it, and, by 'traveling from poll to poll,' of seeing all I could. Our little township looked quiet and unexcited when I reached it soon after 8 in the morning. At our polling place, the state school, the day's work was just beginning. One end of the room was hidden by a curtain; at the other desks and forms had been removed to give place to a table for the returning officers and scrutineers. I was asked my name in full. I gave it and received two bits of paper—the ordinary voting paper with the names of the seven candidates willing to represent us in parliament, and the referendum paper with its three difficult questions. The latter ran as follows:

"'1. Are you in favor of the continuance of the present system of education in state schools? Yes or no.

"'2. Are you in favor of the introduction of scriptural instruction in the state schools during school hours? Yes or no.

"'3. Are you in favor of the payment of a capitation grant to denominational schools for secular results? Yes or no.'

"Armed with these I retired behind the curtain and recorded my vote with a very blunt pencil I found on my desk. I came out, handed my papers to the returning officer, who poked them into their respective boxes. So I exercised the franchise, and achieved the distinction of being the first woman voter in that district. While I was waiting for my companion trap after trap drove up. The women seemed in the majority, most of them being in a hurry to get their voting done and go back to the Saturday work. I hurried away to catch the coach, so as to see what was going on in Adelaide. All the morning women were in the majority; in the afternoon it was the other way, the stronger sex preponderating. But all day, not only at the polling places, but in the streets, the crowds that passed to and fro were quiet and well behaved, and all over the colony it seems to have been the same. People who know say that never before had there been such a quiet and orderly election—one good result, at any rate, of woman's new political powers."

This Cat Likes Bicycling.

Danville probably has the only bicycle fiend in the shape of a cat in the United States. It is a black cat—as black as the hinges of midnight—and belongs to W. C. Proctor. This cat enjoys a bicycle ride as well as any wheelman in America, and never misses an opportunity of taking one. The route is never too long and the pace never too warm for him. The cat does not, to be sure, sit upon the saddle and do the pedalling, but it rides upon the shoulders of the boys in the neighborhood. In the evening, when the boys start out on their spins, one of them will place this cat upon his shoulder, and there Tom will sit through the entire journey if permitted to do so. The cat never falls from its perch. Sometimes it is partially dislodged by the boys in mounting or by a sudden turn or bump in the road, but its claws are ever ready to catch a new hold. When the cat sees one of the youngsters starting out for a ride it runs after him, and if he does not offer to take him up Tom rubs against his legs and "meows" in a very supplicating manner to be taken along. The cat is about a year old, and has been a victim of the bicycle fever for several months.—Philadelphia Record.

Lighthouse Illumination.

Notwithstanding the great brilliancy of the electric light, it is a well-known fact that its penetrating power, especially in thick and foggy weather, is not equal to gas, and for this reason in many cases it has not been adopted in lighthouses. A new departure is now proposed in the application of the incandescent gaslight to lighthouse illumination, which offers many advantages over ordinary gas or oil, especially in its vastly superior candle power, and it is anticipated that it will compare favorably with the electric light, both as to economy and efficiency.

MISSING LINKS.

Careful scientific observations show that the average speed of the transmission of an earthquake shock is 16,000 feet per second.

A recent estimate places the output of the mines in the Cœur d'Alene country, in northern Idaho, for the current year at $3,000,000.

At the annual sweet pea flower show in Springfield, Mass., recently, no fewer than 116 varieties of this pretty blossom were shown.

Mosquitoes have so preyed upon convicts of an Indiana prison that the warden has taken special measures to drive the pests away.

A bill to give domestic servants a half holiday each week has passed its second reading in the New Zealand house of representatives.

Farmers in Douglas county, Kansas, are educating their horses to eat potatoes, which they can feed at 11 cents; while corn stands for 17 cents.

While at play in a cemetery at Halifax a girl leaned against a tombstone back of which her brother was sitting and it fell on him, breaking his thigh.

At Richmond, Mo., a thorn from a hedge he was trimming flew into the eye of a gardener, and, the point breaking off in the eyeball, sight was destroyed.

Patent needle threaders were sold in considerable numbers by an itinerant huckster who visited Arkansas City, Kan., one day, but men were his only customers.

While descending by means of a parachute an aeronaut at Dallas, Tex., got between the forked limbs of a tree, his head caught in the crotch, and he was hanged.

Cheops' pyramid reproduced on a one-sixth scale in cotton bales or iron duplicates of them is proposed by the commissioners of Shelby county for the Tennessee centennial.

A Gettysburg Survivor.

From the Journal-Press, St. Cloud, Minn.

Each day, each month, each year, the Grand Army of the Republic is growing smaller. Almost each hour is some veteran soldier of the Rebellion responding to the call of the Great Commander and joining the army of the silent majority. At such an alarming rate is the death rate increasing among the army membership that statisticians tell us that it will be but a few years before the Veterans will be but a memory. It is for this reason that the entire public is interested to hear of the recovery from sickness of a comrade.

James M. McKelvy Post G. A. R., of St. Cloud, Minnesota, contains one such, Milton F. Sweet. No man stands higher in the community than does he and through his strict integrity and honesty of conviction he has won the respect of all who know him. Mr. Sweet has for many years been a resident of Minnesota, and for the past ten years has resided in this city, where he is engaged in the manufacture of carpets. He is now fifty-one years of age. He served in the war three years and seven months, with Company G, New York, participating in sixty battles, including Gettysburg.

During the war Mr. Sweet contracted heart disease, which was accompanied by excessive nervousness. As age increased his symptoms grew worse and many were the remedies resorted to by him without the slightest relief.

We will let Mr. Sweet tell the story in his own words:

"Six months ago, at the suggestion of a comrade, who had been benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I began their use, and I very cheerfully state that they have invigorated and built up my nervous system in a wonderful way. They have done me a world of good and I have been greatly benefited by their use, where everything else I took failed to give me the relief I sought for. I have recommended them to a large number of my old comrades and it is a pleasure for me to do so, for I feel that the manufacturers are deserving of any good that I can do them in saying a good word for their product, in return for the good they have done me. I will gladly recommend these pills to any one writing me if they doubt the genuiness of this statement."

When interviewed, Mr. Sweet felt so grateful for the good that he had received through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that he did not have the slightest hesitancy in going on record. His word is considered his bond by all who know him throughout this section. Mr. Sweet is not the only one in Stearns County who is using this celebrated medicine and with equally good results.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of June, 1896.
JAMES R. JERRARD, Notary Public,
Stearns County, Minnesota.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Electric Bottle Filler.

The latest novelty in electric machines is a bottle-filler. The operator places a range of bottles communicating by pipes with the liquid to be bottled, and provided with electrically-controlled valves. The flow of the liquid is established and shut off automatically, the machine being set in operation by the pressure of a button. The operations of opening and closing the valves are accomplished by two sets of electro-magnets, the two circuits of which are easily under the control of the operator. When the bottles are filled the flow is instantly cut off, and they are replaced by empty bottles and corked by an attendant. The machine is in increasing use by beer-bottlers, ink and medicine manufacturers. It is claimed to be more rapid than the old siphon filler, it causes no waste, and it fills every bottle to exactly the same height, without any attention from the operator.

A Household Necessity.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age; pleasant and refreshing to the taste; acts gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispels colds, cures headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Labor's Necessaries of Life.

One of the funny things in the Labor Day procession was two mottoes which closely followed each other.

"Ice cream and dance to-night at —— hall."

"We want more of the necessaries of life."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

"North Star" fur coats are made from selected skins, dressed and cut by first-class workmen, and if they prove defective the manufacturers will repair them without charge. Made by Lanpher, Finch & Skinner, St. Paul.

Reciprocity.

Stranger—What are those men sinking that part of the street away below the rest of it for?

Citizen—They are working for the city. That—aw—that is the way the railway company elevates its tracks.—Chicago Tribune.

Peace on Earth.

This is once more enjoyed by the rheumatic wise enough to counteract their progressive malady with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. No testimony is stronger than that which indicates it as a source of relief in this complaint. It is also eminently effective as a treatment for kidney trouble, dyspepsia, debility, liver complaint and constipation. Use it with persistence for the above.

Differentiated.

"Ostriches swallow rocks to help grind their food."

"Yes. And poor, down-trodden man grinds his own food and gives the rocks to the landlady."—Detroit Free

For lung and chest diseases, Piso's Cure is the best medicine we have used.—Mrs. J. L. Northcott, Windsor, Ont., Canada.

A diver reports that in the depths of Lake Quanapang, Conn., are multitudes of fishes of incredible size.

A London physician has announced the discovery that hard cider is a sure cure for rheumatism.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sickens, weaken or gripe.

He Gave Her Up.

McGinnis—How is the could woman, Pat?

O'Rourke—Worse? She's dead.—Cleveland Leader.

Patents Issued.

list of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Hans Bakke and Ole Nordley, St. Paul, plow; Henry S. Blood, Park Rapids, Minn., planter; Richard D. Cody, Winona, Minn., washer for tool posts; Walter H. Gripman, Sioux Falls, S. D., lathe attachment; Harris K. Harrison, Pomme de Terre, Minn., potato planter; Julius Henning, Minneapolis, Minn., fire proof shutter; Alfred A. Kinne, Minneapolis, Minn., oil stove; Eugene Lemay, Mendota, Minn., potato digger; Philip R. Martin, Buffalo, N. D., tension device for grain binding machine; Thomas H. Williams, Doland, S. D., check row potato planter.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn. and Washington, D. C.

At Casey's Wake.

Mrs. Casey—Shure he wuz a' good mon. He niver wunst raised his hand to me durin' his loifetime—bekase he waz afraid, bad luck to him.

O'Brien—Moi, but he looks well. Thot's the furst toime Oi iver saw him wid a clane shurt an' a clane shave togither in me loife.

Clancy—Oi'm sorry for yer trouble, Mrs. Casey. Jawn wuz wan god mon. Did he tell yez about the tin dollars he owed me before he doied?—Up to Date.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklet and sample mailed free. Address, Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

A Chosen Occupation.

"It is strange," remarked the observant man, "but very few people are content to do what they are best qualified for. Painters long to be musicians and musicians long to be authors and so it goes."

"Yes," replied the business man: "but there are exceptions to every rule. I know a young man who has been doing the same thing for years; and he seems perfectly satisfied with it."

"What has he been doing?"

"Nothing."—Washington Star.

Teacher—What is meant by opaque?

Pupil—There isn't any such thing now, teacher, since the X rays were discovered.—Puck.

Fur coats made by unknown manufacturers are usually poor garments, but every merchant in the Northwest knows the makers of the celebrated "North Star" fur coats, Lampher, Finch & Skinner, St. Paul, Minn.

Unlike the Machines.

"Think we'll have a successful flying machine?"

"Can't tell. The idea has been in the air for a long time."

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

In a Quandary.

There may be some way out of this;
But I cannot discern it;
For if I wish to keep her love
How dare I, then, return it?—Puck.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Over 2,700 children are cared for by twenty-eight orphanages and institutions for children in Philadelphia.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by all druggists, 75c.

A Sleeping Room.

A sleeping room in a new house has its furnishing in a color scheme that though universal is quite charming. The woodwork is a white enamel paint and the walls are covered with a paper in a colonial pattern, the ground of which is deep pinkish lavender, with that pattern which nearly covers it in pure white. The floor is covered with a rug of mossy green. The bedsteads are of brass, and the other pieces of furniture in the room are of white enamel with brass trimmings. The plain muslin curtains made with wide frills are looped with lavender ribbons. The chair cushions are either of lavender chintz with a design in white and olive or of white with the same colors. The dresser cover is sprinkled with pinkish purple violets held by green ribbons.

No Trick at All.

"Yes, sir," said the physician, proudly. "I once removed a bullet from a man's eye without destroying the sight."

"I don't think much of that," ventured the Cheerful Idiot; "I have done that trick with a gun many a time."—Indianapolis Journal.

"De Simbe is very polished."

"Yes, you see, he has rubbed up against the best people."—Philadelphia North American.

"North Star" fur coats are made by the oldest and most experienced manufacturers in the Northwest, and are guaranteed for one year. Lampher, Finch & Skinner, St. Paul, Minn.

"Are you still the walking gent in your company, Thunderly?"

"Oh, yes. I walked from Oshkosh to Chicago last season."—Detroit Free Press.

Naked Pills

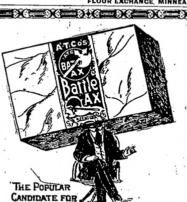
are fit only, for naked savages. Clothes are the marks of civilization—in pills as well as people. A good coat does not make a good pill, any more than good clothes make a good man. But as sure as you'd look on a clotheless man as a mad one, you may look on a coatless pill as a bad one. After fifty years of test no pills stand higher than

AYER'S Cathartic Pills.
SUGAR COATED.

HOLD YOUR WHEAT

President J. J. Hill says that "if farmers would be in less haste to sell their wheat they would make more money;" but adds that "the majority of them are compelled to sell in order to get money on which to live." Any farmer that wants to hold his wheat can send it to us to store, and we will loan him 90 per cent of its value at 6 per cent interest, and the loan can run as long as the wheat is in store. Our storage rates are as follows: The first Twenty Days Free: after that ¼ (one-quarter) of a cent a bushel for each ten (10) days.

OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.,
FLOUR EXCHANGE, MINNEAPOLIS



A. T. Co's Battle Ax

THE POPULAR CANDIDATE FOR ALL PARTIES

Battle Ax PLUG

"Battle Ax" is popular with all parties because of its remarkably fine flavor, its high quality and the low price at which it is sold.

The people of the United States know a good thing when they see it, and they won't pay 10 cents for other high grade tobaccos while they can get "Battle Ax" for 5 cents.

ESTABLISHED 1879.

WOODWARD & Co

Minneapolis. GRAIN COMMISSION. Duluth.

BRANCH—CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE.

Orders for Future Delivery Executed in All Markets.

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 14, 1896. NUMBER 11.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

President Cleveland has refused the petition made for the pardon of Irving A. Pulze, the postmaster of Glen Ellyn, Ill., who has been sentenced to one year and five months imprisonment for the embezzlement of public money.

The controller of the currency has received a telegram announcing the failure of the First National Bank of Mt. Pleasant, Mich. The bank at the date of its last report owed its depositors $67,000.

Vice Consul General Washington, writing to the department of state from Cairo on the prospects of the cotton crop of Egypt, says that the present season's crop promises to surpass all previous years in quality.

Commissioner Lamoreux, of the general land office, has made his annual report to the secretary of the interior for the past fiscal year. Total land selections during the year were 13,200,000 acres, of which 4,839,915 were homestead entries and 6,789,591 railroad selections.

People in Print.

Bishop Henry T. Bacham, a well known Moravian preacher, is dead in Grace Hill, Iowa.

The engagement of Miss Edith Collins and Chauncey Mithell Depew is now practically acknowledged by their friends. The wedding may be looked for in November.

Joseph Burton died at Batavia, Ill., after an illness of four months, aged seventy-nine years. He was one of the oldest and most successful merchants and a highly-esteemed citizen, being in the mercantile trade in Batavia for over forty years. He leaves a wife and eleven children.

Miss Jennie Sealy, the richest girl in the South, was privately married to R. Waverly Smith, city attorney of Galveston. Miss Sealy is twenty-five years old and Mr. Smith thirty. The bride is the only daughter of the late Judge Sealy, the value of whose estate was estimated at more than $3,000,000. The groom is a poor man.

Accidental Happenings.

Mrs. Julia Dudley of Holton, Ind., while riding home, went to sleep. The horses shied, throwing her out, her head striking on the hub, killing her instantly.

While fighting fire in the basement of the Park hotel, in Indianapolis, Fire Chief Webster and Fireman Stahlman were severely burned by an explosion of gas.

The elegant passenger steamer Columbia struck a rock near Red House, on the Ohio river, recently, and sank almost immediately. The passengers escaped in yawls. The steamer was valued at between $14,000 and $15,000.

A heavy freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad parted at Donahue's Station, eight miles east of Pittsburg, came together again and smashed fourteen cars. Two tramps who were stealing a ride, were killed and another fatally injured.

Forest fires are raging on the mountains near Pasadena, Cal., and only strong efforts prevented the fire from crossing Dark canyon and sweeping down the whole front range, on which the Echo Mountain hotel and Mount Howe railroad are situated.

While raising a barn on the farm of Daniel Wile, near West Canaan, Ohio, the framework broke just as the men had the roof timbers in place, letting the heavy mass of oak timber fall on twenty men engaged in the work. All of them received serious injuries, six of them having limbs broken.

Michael's university burned to the ground at Logansport, Ind., entailing a loss of $50,000, with $35,000 insurance. The fire was well under control when a water main burst and stopped the pressure. The 200 students escaped, but lost most of their clothing and valuables. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Crimes and Criminals.

Mary Wicks, aged 16, has confessed to forgery at Wichita, Kan.

The Omaha police are engaged in an effort to discover the whereabouts of E. G. Bowman, a travelling man of Marshalltown, Iowa, who has disappeared under circumstances that are highly sensational and mysterious.

The trouble which has been brewing for some months between the full-bloods and squaw men of the Choctaw Nation has broken out more violently than ever, and, unless indications fail, there will be serious bloodshed.

William Jay Koerner, a newspaper artist formerly of Pittsburg, was held without bail on the recommendation of a coroner's jury on the charge of murdering Rosie A. Redgate, whom he shot in the streets of New York on Sept. 23.

Frank Begee, a notorious bank swindler under sentence to the penitentiary and in jail awaiting an appeal to the supreme court, and John Searna and William Baker, charged with horse stealing, escaped from jail at South Enid, Okla., recently.

For the third time within six months the Sonora stage was held up near the mining town of Cloudman, Cal., and two masked robbers forced the driver to deliver the mail pouches and express box, which were rifled of registered letters and valuable packages. The value of the spoils is unknown. A posse is in pursuit of the robbers.

Charles Miller, a convict in the Jackson, Mich., prison, will be brought before the supreme court on a writ of habeas corpus. He will ask for his release from prison on the ground that the law of 1895, depriving second term convicts of the right to earn what is known as "good time" is unconstitutional. Miller claims that had his proper allowance for good time been made he should now be released.

From Foreign Shores.

The sultan has consented that the Italian newspapers should enter Turkey.

Overland advices received from Mazatlan state that the damage wrought by the recent floods in the State of Sinaloa, Mexico, was much greater than at first estimated.

The speech from the throne at the close of the Dominion parliament, delivered by Lord Aberdeen, was the shortest on record, and only contained the statement that an amicable settlement of the Manitoba school question would shortly be arrived at.

The Berlin correspondent of the Times says that it is semi-officially announced that the treaty powers, the United States, Germany and Great Britain, intend to appoint Dr. Raffel, now the German assessor at Dar-Es-Salaam, in German East Africa, to succeed E. Schaldt, municipal president at Apia, Samoa.

A revolution is fomenting in Honolulu, and is liable to break forth at any moment. For some time past munitions of war have been smuggled into the country. Should affairs reach a climax it is probable that Millionaire Aries, a prominent citizen of Tegucigalpa, the capital, will be proclaimed president by the revolutionists.

Otherwise.

An electric storage battery motor was successfully tested on a street railway in New York, and has begun making reguular trips.

A report has just reached Tacoma, Wash., of new discoveries in Alaska gold fields, along the Yukon river and at Berner's bay. The news is causing great excitement.

Owing to the failure of the rice crop and the damaged state of other grain, India has begun to buy wheat in the San Francisco market. Two cargoes, amounting to 10,000 tons, have already been shipped.

A militia company to be composed of colored men is being organized in Bloomington, Ill., and when mustered in is to be attached to the Ninth battalion of Chicago. Forty men have already signed the muster roll.

Edward S. Stokes has retired from the active management of the Hoffman house at New York. Mr. Stokes has given up the active management in order to attend to his private interests outside, but he still remains president of the hotel company.

The Laconia, N. H., Car company, through its president, Perley Putnam, a large creditor, petitioned for the appointment of a receiver. The entire indebtedness is $330,000, of which $150,000 is mortgaged bonds. The present financial difficulty is attributed to the general depression of business.

George P. Lyman has been appointed general passenger agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and W. J. C. Kenyon, who has been in charge of both freight and passenger business for several years, will be able to devote his entire time to the freight department.

Supt. Jetter has succeeded in getting all the bones and ashes of the four Choctaw boys who were burned in the flames of Spencer academy, Antlers, I. T., and has buried them. It has been ascertained that one of the students set the building on fire so that he could go home.

A swarm of bees took possession of Wells & Beamer's grocery store at Logansport, Ind. After driving the proprietors, clerks and customers into the street, the bees devoured twenty pounds of honey. The bees held the fort three hours, when they were driven out by the fumes of burning sulphur.

At the California State university, tents will be erected on the campus to accommodate classes that have outgrown the regular rooms. There are 1,475 students in the regular and special courses at Berkley, and as the freshmen class numbers 481, the mathematical, modern languages and many of the scientific departments are crowded.

Catching Cold.

A person in good health, with fair play, easily resists cold. But when the health flags a little and liberties are taken with the stomach or the nervous system a chill is easily taken, and according to the weak spot of the individual, assumes the form of a cold or pneumonia, or, it may be, jaundice. Of all causes of "cold" probably fatigue is one of the most efficient. A jaded man coming home at night from a long day's work, a growing youth losing two hours' sleep over evening parties two or three times a week, or a young lady "doing the season," young children overfed and with short allowance of sleep, are common instances of the victims of "cold." Luxury is favorable to chill taking; very hot rooms, feather beds, soft chairs create a sensitiveness that leads to catarrh. It is not, after all, the "cold" that is so much to be feared as the antecedent conditions that give the attack a chance of doing harm. Some of the worst "colds" happen to those who do not leave their house or even their beds, and those who are most invulnerable are often those who are most exposed to changes of temperature, and who by good sleep, cold bathing and regular habits preserve the tone of the nervous system and circulation.—London Lancet.

What Animals Shy At.

Young horses can be led up to a sack lying on the ground and induced to pass it by letting them smell it and find out that it is really a sack and not the Protean thing, whatever it may be, which illusion conjures up for them. Once the writer saw a very quick and pretty instance of experiment by touch made by a frightened pony. It was being driven as leader in a pony tandem and stopped short in front of where the rails of a steam tramway crossed the road. It first smelled the near rail and then quickly gave it two taps with its hoof. After this it was satisfied, and crossed the line. On the other hand, a donkey always tries to jump the shadows of tree trunks on the road, though a similar experiment of touch would have shown that these were as unreal as the tram rail was substantial. Lastly, no horse which has once knocked its head against the top of a stable doorway seems quite able to get rid of the delusion that there sits up in the top of all doorways an invisible something which will hit him again the next time he goes through; hence the troublesome and sometimes incurable habit of horses "jibbing" when taken out of the stable.—London Spectator.

SHOT BY ROBBERS

BANK ROBBERY AND MURDER AT SHERBURN, MINN.

George Thorburn, the Assistant Cashier, and Olaf J. Oestern of Luverne, Traveling Collector of the Wood Harvester Company, Are Murdered by Two Unknown Men, Who Secure From $1,000 to $2,000, and Make Their Escape on Bicycles.

Sherburn, Minn., Oct. 9.—Yesterday afternoon two strange men entered the Bank of Sherburn and without any warning shot down in cold blood George Thorburn, assistant cashier of the bank, and Olof J. Oestern of Luverne, Minn., traveling collector for the Walter A. Wood Harvester company. Mrs. George R. Browning and Mrs. William Masters were eye-witnesses of the tragedy. Mrs. Browning tells the following:

"I was on the sidewalk opposite the bank and saw two young men about twenty-five years of age walk briskly across the street and enter the Bank of Sherburn, which is on the west side of the street. I was standing where I could see through the front window to the back window. I heard two shots in quick succession, and saw the flash of the revolvers, and saw one man fall at the same time. The curtain on the bank door was suddenly drawn down. I saw a man leap through the paying window over the counter and in an instant saw the back window raised and two men jump out the back window. They cut the screen that was on the outside and dropped the knife used to cut it."

Escaped on Bicycles.

Mrs. Browning at once gave the alarm. Mrs. William Masters corroborates the story. The robbers, after securing the cash and leaving the building, mounted bicycles and went west, then northwest from town. O. P. Empey and Max Lacobs were the first to reach the bank, and found Oestern dead. Thorburn was still breathing but past help. Thorburn was shot just back of the left ear, the ball just coming to the skin on the forehead. Oestern was shot just back of the right eye and death was instantaneous. Doctors Neagell and Harnden were summoned at once, but could do nothing. As soon as the alarm was given the citizens armed themselves and commenced the pursuit. At this time reports have reached here that one of the men has been traced to near the Iowa line, south of Alpha, Minn.

It cannot be ascertained how much money the robbers secured, but it is estimated at between $1,000 and $2,000. Over $2,000 in gold that was in the till was not touched, together with some silver. The robbers dropped $2,000 in getting out of the window. Louis Kohler, who was loading grain just back of the bank, saw the men get out of the window, one with a revolver in his hand. He shook the gun at Kohler and told him to keep still. He was too frightened to do anything.

Reward for the Murderers.

St. Paul, Oct. 8.—Information of the tragedy was received by wire in St. Paul by Gov. Clough and Receiver Mackowan, of the Walter A. Wood Harvester company, by which concern Olaf J. Oestern, one of the murdered men, was employed as a collector. Gov. Clough's information was from C. E. Everett, mayor of Sherburn, Martin county, where the murder occurred. The governor immediately wired back to Mayor Everett for particulars and a description of the men, and at the same time he wired to the sheriff of Martin county, whose home is at Fairmount, advising him to wire to all parts of the state and send out posses in search of the murderers.

Sherburne, Minn., Oct. 10.—Sheriff Hill and Deputies Miller and Peddie are in hot pursuit of the robbers. One of the men was traced within three miles of Estherville, Iowa, where the trail was lost. The other went toward Jackson, and then south toward the Iowa line. A report reached here that the two men were seen by a threshing crew eight miles south of Fairmont at about 5 o'clock this morning. They sent for the Fairmont guards, who scoured the entire southeastern part of the county, but without success. All Fairmont and Sherburne and surrounding towns have turned out in force. Sheriff Dunn of Jackson county has a posse of 200 scouring the prairie and timber between Jackson and Estherville, Iowa. A tinner named Walker was one of the first to give pursuit to the murderers. At the first alarm he seized a revolver and mounted a bike and like lightning paced after the desperadoes. When about four miles west of Sherburne he saw about eighty rods ahead of him the two men. They had dismounted, and one was pushing the wheel, while the other seemed to be repairing one of the wheels. On perceiving Walker they at once mounted and rode on, hotly pursued by Mr. Walker. When within two miles of Alpha one of the men was sighted going west toward Jackson, and the other south toward Estherville, Iowa. At this point Walker's bike broke down, and he was forced to abandon the pursuit. It seems that these criminals have been in this county for some time and laid their plans. They stopped at a farm house six miles north of Sherburne and left without paying their bill. A dispatch just received from Superior, Iowa, says that two men had been arrested on suspicion and will be held till identified. A dispatch has just been received from Lake Park, Iowa, that the robbers are working south, and that a large posse in charge of Sheriff Dunn of Jackson is in hot pursuit.

TWO MORE K——ED.

One of the Robbers and a Marshal Are Dead.

Elmore, Minn., Oct. 11.—Sensation follows sensation in the now famous Sherburne double murder and bank robbery. The cruel killing of Cashier George B. Thorburn and Collector Olaf J. Oestern is avenged in part, but at the sacrifice of the life of a brave citizen of Iowa.

At 9:15 one of the men supposed to be implicated in the Sherburne affair was surprised at the home of a farmer fourteen miles east of Elmore. He opened fire on the posse, killing William Gallion, marshal of Bancroft, an Iowa town twenty-three miles south of this place. Carrying at least two bullets in his body, the murderer, still trusting to his bicycle to escape, was brought down by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of Deputy Sheriff E. E. Ward of Martin county. Wounded unto death, but desperate to the last, the fugitive put the muzzle of a thirty-eight-caliber revolver to his head and blew out his brains. The posse that accomplished the capture and death of one of the robbers found in his possession a roll of bank notes estimated to amount to about $700. It has been placed, securely sealed, in the private bank of C. D. Williams & Co. of this place. The body was brought to Elmore by the posse and an inquest is being conducted.

The chase ended right on the border line between Iowa and Minnesota. Marshal Gallion was killed in Iowa and the robber in Minnesota. The body of Marshal Gallion was taken to Bancroft.

The Dead Robber's Accomplice is still at large. A telephone message was received to-day from Twin Lakes, a short distance from Albert Lea, stating that he had been traced in some heavy timber near Twin lakes, and asking for assistance. Posses were sent out from Blue Earth City and other points, but nothing has been heard from the man-hunt indicative of success. In this vicinity it is believed that the robbers separated a short distance from Sherburne and that the remaining robber abandoned his wheel and is now hiding along the west branch of the Des Moines river near Jackson. The man-hunt which ended in the death of one of the men, of whose identity as one of the Sherburne bank robbers there seems little doubt, was conducted by four men—Deputy Sheriff E. E. Ward of Fairmont, Martin county; Milo O. Coffey of Sherburne, Martin county; Lafe Nuller of Bancroft, Kossuth county, Iowa, and Marshal William Gallion, who in the discharge of his duty was shot dead. The history of the chase is one punctured with tireless, unremitting energy and peril. All the men named above had been on the trail of the dead robber since Wednesday, when the tragedy at Sherburne was committed. They began separately, following direct clues, and as the scent became warm, they came together. Deputy Sheriff Ward's version of the case is as follows:

"I began the hunt at once, immediately following the affair at Sherburne, working alone at first. I secured information of the direction one of the men had been seen going on his bicycle, and followed the clue until I had the man located at 3 o'clock this morning, somewhere in the vicinity of Elmore. I arrived in Elmore at 3 o'clock, accompanied by Lafe Fuller of Bancroft and Milo E. Coffey of Sherburne. We arose at daylight and were about leaving Elmore when Marshal Gallion drove up with a team of ponies. We all started together, and when a short distance out of Elmore I got in the buggy with Gallion. Thus we drove on through the country, Fuller and Coffey ahead and Gallion and I following.

Located Their Man.

"About thirteen miles out and due east of Elmore we were informed at a farm house that a man on a bicycle answering the description of one of the robbers had passed his place about 7 o'clock in the evening. We went on a mile further until we came to another house. I got out, the others remaining in the wagon, and knocked on the door. A German woman answered my summons. I asked her if she had seen such a man, describing the fellow we were after. The woman seemed confused and acted in a peculiar manner. She was standing partly in the door, and as I was about to repeat my question, she not having answered, I glanced in past her and saw a revolver pointed at me through the crack of the door of an inner room. I jumped to one side, pulling my revolver at the same time. The woman ran out of the door and I stepped to a window at the left of the door.

"As I showed in front of the window the man shot through at me. I jumped back as I saw the leveled weapon, and the man immediately fired another shot and I saw Marshal Gallion, who was still sitting in the wagon, drop the reins, throw both hands to his breast and pitch forward into the wagon.

"Then I jumped into the door and opened fire on the man with my revolver. He returned the fire, and not being used to a revolver I ran to the wagon and got my Winchester rifle, with which I fired several shots at the robber at a distance of about two rods. He returned my fire twice and then made a break for the rear of the house. I ran around on the west side of the house, arriving there just in time to see the man mounting his bicycle. He shot at me again just before leaping into the saddle and I fired two more bullets at him as he made a detour to get into the road. He was riding very fast and I ceased firing and jumped into the wagon with Fuller and Coffey. We licked the horses into a gallop and started in pursuit. He gained on us, however, and never seemed to mind half a dozen more shots that I pumped out of the rifle after him.

"He was leading us and we felt that we were about to lose our quarry, when he began to slacken his speed and jumped from the wheel. He ran for a fence at the side of the road, climbed it and started on a run across a potato patch. We were about twenty-five rods behind him. I stopped the team, jumped out, and, running to the fence, laid my rifle over the top rail, and taking careful aim, feeling that it was our chance, pulled the trigger. The man stopped and nearly fell. Then he straightened up and, pulling a revolver from his pocket he pointed it to his head and fired it and

Fell Like a Log,

and when we got to him he was dead. We carried the body to the road and put it in the wagon along with the bicycle.

"We went back to the house and found Marshal Gallion dead, shot through the heart. I questioned the woman, who could not speak English very well, but was able to make us understand. She says that the man rode up to her place about 9 o'clock and asked for a night's lodging. She had not heard of the murder at Sherburne and gave the man supper and lodging without for a moment imagining that she was sheltering a criminal with the brand of Cain upon his brow. He had just had breakfast when we arrived and was preparing to depart. He saw us drive up to the door, and surmising our errand stuck a revolver to the woman's head and told her to tell us that no one had stopped at her house and that she had not seen a man of his description. He then hid behind the door of an adjoining room, still threatening the woman, even as I was knocking at the door. She was terribly frightened, and instead of obeying the robber's command seemed to be rendered speechless and said nothing. I asked her name, but do not remember it now. That is about all the part I had in the affair."

In Elmore the scenes almost baffled description. The news spread rapidly and the streets were crowded by a motley crowd gathered from miles around. The people stood on the street corners and discussed the fresh tragedy in low tones, except when the thought of the murdered marshal of Bancroft caused their anger to break forth in fresh invective against the piece of clay that occupied a rough bench in another portion of the town.

There seems little doubt that the men who committed the crime at Sherburne are strangers to this part of the state. No one knows or professes to know the name of the dead murderer. There are many conjectures as to their identity. A stranger in the city said that he thought he had seen the dead man as a bicycle racer last summer at Strawberry Point, Iowa. The general opinion here is that they were the men who boarded with the farmer near Heron Lake several days previous to the Sherburne affair and who gave their names as Sair and Pratt. The dead man is supposed to be Pratt, answering closely his description.

ROBBER IS CAUGHT.

The Other Sherborne Bandit Is Now in Custody.

Lake Mills, Iowa, Oct. 13.—The second Sherburne robber and murderer is under arrest here and will be taken to Minnesota to-morrow. He has made a complete confession and says that the dead robber was his brother.

He was captured by Marshal Ruby. About 3 o'clock the man came up to the depot, which is about half a mile from the business center, and asked where the town was. Upon being told, he started in that direction, but at the first corner turned and passed up a side street, going east to the Methodist church, when he again turned north and started out of town. In the meantime he passed the residence of Marshal Ruby, who spotted his man. Arming himself well, the marshal skipped around a block and came up to his man face to face. The marshal shoved his revolver almost into the fellow's mouth and told him to throw up his hands. Cool and deliberately the man looked into the gun and said: "Well, I guess you have got the drop on me," and complied with the command. The marshal relieved him of three revolvers, one a 38-caliber, one a 32-caliber, and the other an old-fashioned Smith & Wesson four-barreled 22-caliber. He was taken to the mayor's office, where a search was made. His pockets were well filled with cartridges and a small amount of money found. The man told contradicting stories in the afternoon and last evening, but to-day he made a complete confession.

Denies the Shooting.

The confession was secured by his captor, Marshal Ruby, this morning. In it he denies the killing of either of the men in the Sherburne bank, and says that his brother planned the robbery. The confession was not made until the young man had learned that his brother was dead. Marshal Ruby guarded the prisoner in his own home last evening. He was very kind to the young man, treating him more as a friend than the desperate robber he was supposed to be. After breakfast Marshal Ruby and the prisoner had a long conversation in which the marshal gradually turned the subject to the Sherburne affair. The prisoner remarked in a seemingly careless way that he understood one of the men had been caught. Marshal Ruby said yes, and in capturing him he was shot and killed, but shot to death another man before going himself. The marshal's statement half-stunned the prisoner. He bowed his head between his hands and sat thus for several minutes. Finally he looked up and said in low tones:

The Robber's Confession.

"I suppose I might as well make a clean breast of it all. The fellow that was killed was my brother. We robbed the bank at Sherburne, but I am not guilty of killing one of the men. It was agreed that we were not to shoot. My brother came to our home, where I was staying with my parents, and asked me to help him rob the bank. He had the scheme all planned. I consented finally and we went there several days ago, remaining in the neighborhood. We fixed upon Wednesday as the day and rode into town on our wheels about 9 o'clock in the forenoon. We remained on the outside streets some time and when the coast was clear went to the bank. There were two men behind the counter. We thought they were both connected with the bank. I first accosted the banker to draw his attention, when the other fellow drew two revolvers and aiming at the men told them to throw up their hands. Just at that moment he fired, and I said: 'Come, let's get out of this,' and jumped out of a window. He said 'attend to your business,' and so I went to the money drawer and took out the money. I thought there was about $700 in the bunch I had. I put it in a sack that we had for that purpose, and then we cut the screen of a back window and left the town on our bicycles. Just as we got on the bicycles I handed the other fellow the money and he put it in his bicycle bag. We separated about two and a half miles out of Sherburne. My brother, being the best rider, made south for the state line and I took a southwesterly direction until I got south of Jackson, and then I struck out south along the Des Moines river to Algona. Then I crossed the country around by Britt and Forest City to Lake Mills. I had a pretty hard time getting through."

Refuses to Tell His Name.

It will be noticed that the prisoner makes use of the term "the other fellow" when alluding to the man he said was his brother. Marshal Ruby said that he used that expression just as it occurs above and that he also used the words "my brother" where they occur. To a reporter the prisoner refused to make any statement concerning himself or his identity. He also refuses to talk to any one else, and he and the marshal have not alluded again to the Sherburne affair. The prisoner absolutely refuses to tell any one his right name. After making the confession to Marshal Ruby the latter asked the prisoner to tell his right name, but he shook his head and said: "I do not wish my folks to know anything about this. I 'spose I shall plead guilty under an assumed name." The name he first gave upon being taken into custody was Jim McMullen. He now says that it is a fictitious name, but will give no other, so that is the name under which he will probably be arraigned. He will be taken to the Blue Earth county jail, located in Blue Earth City, for safe keeping, as it is considered dangerous to lodge him in the county jail at Fairmount, the county seat of Martin county, in which the Sherburn affair occurred.

The Prisoner Photographed.

Immediately after the prisoner had been identified he was taken to J. C. Olson's gallery where he was photographed. He made no objection to having his picture taken and asked for a mirror so that he could comb his hair, which he did. The pictures were then taken. He was first photographed while sitting down with his hat removed, again with his hat on, and the third time a full length negative was taken. All day he was under Marshal Ruby's care, without being handcuffed or in any manner restrained of his liberty, save by the presence of the marshal. Upon going to bed, however, he was handcuffed and chains were placed about his ankles. Marshal Ruby occupied the same room with the prisoner, and, in fact, has kept a personal watch over him ever since his capture. He has been well behaved, has a good education and talks well on almost any subject. This forenoon he spent reading and playing on an organ in Marshal Ruby's parlor, on which instrument he is a good performer. While reading he asked Mrs. Ruby for some books on scientific subjects.

A hundred or more people in the immediate vicinity drove into town and occupied a portion of the walk in front of Marshal Ruby's residence in the hope of getting a glimpse of the prisoner. In this way they were foiled as long as the prisoner was in the house, as the blinds were kept closed. They accomplished their object later, however, when the prisoner was removed to Justice Denison's office, and again when he was photographed.

There was some idle talk of lynch law being exercised in his case, but it soon proved mere gossip.

PRIMATE IS DEAD.

The Archbishop of Canterbury Passes Away.

London, Oct. 13.—The archbishop of Canterbury was seized with apoplexy after the service commenced at Hawarden church yesterday morning. He was carried to the rectory, where he died at 11:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Archibald Farrar, dean of Canterbury, received a telegram from Stephen Gladstone, rector of Hawarden church, stating that the archbishop of Canterbury passed away peacefully and suddenly at 11:30 o'clock. He attended the early communion. Dean Farrar, in preaching in the cathedral last evening, referred to his forty-five years' intimacy with the deceased prelate.

The archbishop of Canterbury arrived at Hawarden Saturday evening on his return from a visit in the North of Ireland. He appeared then to be in robust health and expressed to Mrs. Gladstone his great gratification over his Irish tour. He arose early on Sunday and attended the early communion with his wife and others. The weather was bitterly cold and Mr. Gladstone did not attend the church, but at 10 o'clock the archbishop and Mrs. Benson, Henry Gladstone, Mrs. Gladstone, Mrs. Drew and Dorothy Drew went to the morning services. The whole party occupied the Gladstone pew near the chancel.

Directly the service began and while the rector, Rev. Stephen Gladstone, was reading the absolution, archbishop Benson, who was kneeling, was seen to twitch in the arm for a few minutes and then he collapsed altogether.

He was carried to the library, where he died in a few minutes. Mrs. Benson was present at the time.

The Dead Prelate.

The Most Rev. Edward Benson, D. D., archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, son of Edward White Benson, Esq., of Birmingham Heath, and formerly of York, was born near Birmingham in 1829. He was educated at King Edward school, Birmingham, and at Trinity college, Cambridge, of which he was successively scholar and fellow, and where he graduated B. A. in 1852, as a first class in classical honors and senior chancellor's medallist, obtaining also the place of a senior optime in the mathematical tripos. He was graduated M. A. in 1855, B. D. in 1862, and D. D. in 1867, Hon. D. C. L. (Oxford) in 1884. He was for some years one of the masters in Rugby school and he held the head mastership of Wellington college from its first opening in 1858 down to 1872. For several years he was examining chaplain to the late bishop of Lincoln, by whom he was appointed chancellor and canon residentiary of Lincoln, having been a prebendary of the same cathedral for three years previous. He was at different times select preacher to the University of Cambridge and to the University of Oxford, honorable chaplain to the queen in 1873 and chaplain in ordinary from 1875 to 1877. In December, 1876, he was nominated by the crown, on the recommendation of the earl of Beaconsfield, to the newly restored bishopric of Truro, and was consecrated in St. Paul's cathedral April 25, 1878. During his occupation of the See he began the building of a new cathedral at Truro, of which the outward shell has cost over 100,000 pounds, much of that sum having been gathered through the energy of the bishop. In December, 1882, Dr. Benson was appointed by the crown, on Mr. Gladstone's recommendation, to the archbishopric of Canterbury, in succession to Dr. Tait. Dr. Benson had published various religious works.

German Artist Shot.

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—A dispatch from Monterey says Count Ballestes, an artist, was shot and killed last night by a man named Anigher, who lived with him. Anigher has been arrested. The shooting was accidental. It is said both men are well known in Berlin.

FUN IN CHICAGO.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the Big Fire Celebrated.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Chicago day, the anniversary of the great fire of twenty-five years ago, and the day of record breaking attendance at the world's fair three years ago, was celebrated chiefly as a political holiday. Republicans and Democrats celebrated separately. Each party had its own street parade, as well as monster gatherings indoors. Practically every factory and store in the city was closed, as also was the board of trade and banks. From early morning the streets were jammed with cheering thousands, struggling to gain some point of vantage. The procession of Republican clubs was the first feature of the day's celebration. After 9 o'clock the street cars or vehicles were not allowed in the down town districts, the streets being entirely given up to sight seers and marchers.

The weather was ideal; not a cloud flecked the sky, and a southeast wind, perhaps a trifle too cool, but very bracing, blew with sufficient force to keep fluttering thousands of flags, hanging from windows and doors and across the streets. Bands of all sorts and conditions played all sorts of music. Scores of uniformed clubs gave color to the scene. Innumerable floats, representing all kinds of trades and business organizations were one of the features of the parade. Thousands of strangers were in town. Every railroad running excursion trains from points within a radius of 100 miles, and these trains, packed with out-of-town sight-seers, kept coming through the night and early morning hours.

For such an immense crowd the procession was admirably handled. Starting from the corner of Michigan avenue and Van Buren street, the procession wound its way through all the streets between Van Buren and Lake, Michigan avenue and Market street, finally disbanding at Market and Jackson streets. One of the unique features of the celebration was the immense transmitters stationed at different parts of the march. These were connected with long-distance telephone wires, and as the shouting, cheering mobs passed their "'rahs" for McKinley and Hobart were heard by these gentlemen in Canton and Paterson.

Later the free silver men had their innings. A procession was formed of free silver clubs, which marched over practically the same route. The two principal celebrations, aside from the parades, were scheduled for the Auditorium and Tattersalls. For the Republicans Chauncey M. Depew spoke at the Auditorium. At Tattersalls the attraction was the famous silver senator, Henry M. Teller of Colorado.

Ex-Gov. Woodson Dead.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 11.—Ex-Gov. Silas Woodson died at his home in this city to-day. His death was the result of the infirmities incident to old age. He was born in Knox county, Ky., May 18, 1810, and when twenty-five years old was elected a member of the legislature of that state, was later circuit attorney for the Twelfth district of that state and was active in framing the state constitution. He located here in 1854 and has been very prominent in the political history of the state ever since. In 1872 he was unanimously nominated for governor of the state and was elected by a large majority, serving four years.

Towne in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—A mass meeting of the silver Democracy was held at Tattersalls last night. The meeting began about half an hour before the head of the parade arrived and as soon as the marchers were on the spot they poured into the building in great numbers. The chief speaker of the evening was Congressman Towne of Minnesota. Col. H. H. Eddy of Colorado followed him, and P. Watt Hardin of Kentucky and Robert Lindblom of Chicago also spoke.

Prairie Fires.

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from Pipestone, Man., says: A prairie fire passed over this vicinity and was the worst ever experienced here for years, sweeping everything in its path, burning acre after acre of grain in stacks, buildings, cattle, horses and farm implements. The fire has been burning several days. Many people in this district are left homeless. Reports from other parts of the province also tell of extensive destruction by prairie fires.

Goes to New Jersey.

St. Paul, Oct. 11.—The following special was received last night from Newark, N. J.: "After a stormy session of the board of education Prof. Gilbert of St. Paul was to-night selected as superintendent of Newark's schools. Mr. Gilbert's troubles in St. Paul entered into the discussion, but he had the most able defenders, who silenced their opponents. He will receive $4,500 and will assume his duties in a few days."

Killed in a Thresher.

New Rockford, S. D., Oct. 11.—Jacob Allmaras, a prominent farmer of Wells county, was caught in the drive belt of his threshing machine to-day and carried over the pulley. His injuries may prove fatal.

Transport Lost.

St. Sebastian, Oct. 11.—The Dutch transport Haramario has been lost off the north coast of Spain. She was last reported off Finisterre.

Banker Arrested.

Rome, Ga., Oct. 11.—Ex-President Jack King, of the Merchants' National bank of this city, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by a United States marshal and taken to Atlanta under a charge of embezzlement.

Jewelry Burglary.

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—George Andrews & Co.'s jewelry store was burglarized last night and goods to the value of $1,000 were carried off. The store, which is always illuminated, is located on the chief of police's beat of the city.

High Water in Georgia.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 11.—High water in Savannah, resulting from the strong northwest wind during the day will cause much loss to planters, many of whom had cut and stacked the crop in the fields.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,

H. KLAUSER, Prop.

Litchfield, Minn. 41

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 14, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON, of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.

For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.

For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Hennepin

For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON, Polk.

For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES, St. Louis.

Presidential Electors—
T. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H. H. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kelliher; Charles D'Autrement; Hans B. Bjorge; James Dillon.

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives—
S. J. LEE.......Norman County
G. O. GILBERTSON, "
W. A. MARIN......Polk County

Bonds Payable In Silver.

In order to settle the question as to what money in which, United States bonds are payable the Congress of the United States passed a concurrent resolution in 1878, known as the Matthews resolution, from the fact that it was introduced by Senator Stanley Matthews, from Ohio. It is a significant fact that Hon. William McKinley Republican candidate for the Presidency, voted for this resolution. In order that the people of the United States may have the exact language of the act, we publish it as follows:

"Resolved, By the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring therein:)

"That all the bonds of the United States issued or authorized to be issued under the said acts of Congres here-in-before recited (act of March 18, 1869, act of July 14, 1878, act of January, 14, 1872,) are payable, principal and interest, at the option of the Government of the United States in silver dollars of the coinage of the United States, containing 412½ grains each of standard silver, and that to restore to its coinage such silver coins as a legal tender in payment of said bonds, principal and interest, is not in violation of the public faith, nor in derogation of the rights of the public creditor."

A greenback is simply a promise to pay so many dollars, and at the time they were issued dollars meant either gold or silver dollars. Section 2 of the Sherman act of 1890 provides a follows:

"That upon demand of the holder of any of the Treasury notes herein provided for, the Secretary of the Treasury shall, under such regulations as he may prescribe, redeem such notes in gold or silver coin, at his discretion."

The discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, of course, gives the option to the Government. From the foregoing it will be seen that all obligations of our Government, except gold certificates and silver certificates, are payable explicitly in gold or silver coin, at the option of the Government. The action of President Harrison and Secretary Foster, and President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle, in transferring this option to the creditor, and paying him in gold alone, and issuing bonds to obtain the gold, was such as to deserve impeachment. When the people at large realize the ruin, misery, suffering and despair caused by this action, they will set the seal of their emphatic condemnation upon it.—New Albany Ledger.

Garfield's Brother Writes a Letter.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 10.—The following letter is published by the Democrat to-day. The writer is a brother of the late James A. Garfield:

Jamestown, Mich., Oct. 9, 1896.—Hon. E. C. Watkins, Chairman Union Silver State Central Committee, Grand Rapids:

Dear Sir:—I am diametrically opposed to allowing England or any European power, or any other power to be consulted or to dictate in any way our financial policy. I am in favor of all the gold and silver produced by this country used equally as money and treated alike at our mints. I am in favor of capital, but am opposed to having capitalists hoarding their money in a national bank vault or investing it in government bonds. I want capital put where it will do work. I was proud to be a Republican when Republican principles were voiced by Abraham Lincoln, President Grant, John A. Logan, and James A. Garfield, but I am opposed to having the principles of the Republican party voiced by the banker bondholders of Lombard and Wall streets, through their agent, Mark Hanna. I am an American, hence I am opposed to consulting any other power in our American policy, and especially in finances.

(Signed) THOMAS GARFIELD.

From St. Louis Journal.

This is certainly a year of strikes, and only lends evidence to the prognostication that something serious will drop in the country soon unless reformation soon takes place.

McKinley in this campaign has so far been simply an unknown character —a pimple on a wart, so to speak. Like the illiterate man when asked to sign up, he simdly makes his Mark.

The New York World's concession that Bryan will be elected is the most destructive bomb that has been exploded in the Hanna camp and is enough to make Mac's throat choke with disappointment.

Mark Hanna in this political drama is not only acting the villain but also plays first lead on the fiddle, and the way the rest of his hangers-on dance when he tunes up is enough to make a disinterested person think they were afflicted with St. Vitus' dance.

The first chilling blasts of a severe winter are a sad reminder of capital's insatiable greed to those starving thousands who are out of work, or have existed through the more congenial months on a pittance barely sufficient to keep them from starving. From this point of view 'tis a sad world indeed; cruel, without mercy, and although willing to work, thousands of honest men, aye, and women, will be driven from the path of righteousness. There is but one remedy—labor must unite and crush this blood-sucking octopus, capital, which in the end would only make of the toilers slaves to their slightest whim.

Isn't it wonderful (?) what a bad, very bad (?) man John Lind has become since the people, in their revolt against the ring rule of the Jim Hill railroad bosses and the "Bill" Merriam bank bosses, nominated him for governor? The railroad, national bank, and pine land rings, with Russel Sage in the lead, have let go their hireling newspaper liars, and from now until election the people will be flooded with displayed and glaring newspaper headlines depicting the most awful calamities, which boodle brain can create out of nothing, is sure to follow the election of Mr. Lind. Here is one of their false assertions: "The election of Lind will mean the converting of the blooming prairies of this state into deserts." Great Scott! Won't that be awful? And just to think that John Lind, as long as he remained with the republican bosses, was such an honest, able man, and that the moment he leaves them it turns out that he has all along been a very bad (?) man? Can it be that the people of Minnesota can be stampeded by such a whirlwind of falsehood?—Waseca Herald.

A Life Long Republican, a Farmer of 64. Out For Bryan.

Pembina, N. D., Oct. 8.—I am an old farmer 64 years of age. Have supported the Republican ticket all my life, but must admit that my faith in the good old party was shaken through a number of statements made by Mr. Monahan in a speech delivered at Pembina on the 5th inst. It was a combination of truth, falsehood, a tirade of abuse and a mocking of God. He said that the Republicans had the brains of the Democratic party and nothing but the legs and tail was left of it and its followers. He also made great capital out of the Pullman car strike that occurred at Chicago, stating that the Populists and anarchists which pleased him to call the farmers by such names, swelled the howling mob from all parts of the country, yet he pleaded to them and heaven for their support at the coming election, and in the same breath insinuated that hell was too good a place for the Pops and their Pop gum-my-sucking candidate. Brother farmers of this broad land, weigh well those vile insinuations, those villifying assertions, alluded to above, and made by the honorable gentleman from Wisconsin.

J. S. IRELAND.

WILLED HIM THE EARTH.

The Last and Most Amusing Joke of Colonel Broadacre of Texas.

Colonel Broadacre of Texas, who was quite a wit in his way, had a bumptious young nephew, of whom he was not overfond, and when the colonel finally died with his boots on—a way they have in Texas—it was found that he had got even with the young man in question by facetiously willing him the earth.

The colonel wanted his sorrowing relatives to enjoy the joke as early in the reading of his last will and testament as possible, so he remembered his conceited nephew in the very first clause of the will, which ran as follows:

"'To my well beloved (by himself) and self opinionated nephew, John Henry Broadacre, who has always wanted the earth, as the saying goes, I hereby give and bequeath said body or planet, for him and his heirs and assigns to have and to hold in fee simple forever, or as long as said planet, known as the earth, shall continue to revolve in its accustomed orbit. And I trust he will live long to enjoy the bequest and pick up a more useful stock of knowledge than he appears to be burdened with at the date this document is drawn.'"

The colonel's estate was worth a couple of millions, invested about equally in land and good sound security, and of course the other heirs had the grand snicker, so to speak, on John Henry.

It was very amusing indeed until John Henry's lawyer came forward and claimed every square inch of the colonel's landed estate for his client, on the ground that it was part of the earth which his uncle had willed him, and he was clearly entitled to it.

The other heirs pointed out the fact that the landed estate had been specifically bequeathed to them in the clauses of the will following that in which John Henry had been so handsomely remembered, but the wide awake lawyer stoutly contended—and said there wasn't a court in the country but would sustain him in so doing—that this portion of the will was null and void, as the testator had already disposed of every acre of his real estate in the first clause of the document, and no last will and testament ever made could give away the same piece of property twice.

In fact, he said, the strict letter of the law would justify his client in also claiming the securities belonging to Colonel Broadacre's estate, as the possessor of the earth was rightly entitled to all it contained.

It didn't look so much like a joke to the rest of the heirs as it did at first, and they finally clubbed together and bought off the colonel's bumptious nephew, who evidently had a bump of enterprise, among the rest, for a good round sum—up in the hundred thousands, it is said—in consideration of which he withdrew his claim to all that portion of the earth formerly owned by Colonel Broadacre.

John Henry rides around in his own carriage nowadays, and when people ask him if he isn't getting rather extravagant he simply closes his left eye for the space of perhaps a second in a thoughtful sort of way and says:

"Not unduly so, I guess, for a young man who is heir to the earth."

The moral of this story seems to be that facetiousness, though it may be the spice of life, is out of place in one's last will and testament, and also that the man who does his laughing after all the returns come in is far wiser than he who goes off at half cock.—Detroit Free Press.

—"Money talks" so does good advertising.

PLATFORM IN A NUTSHELL.

The Populist Platform says that through executive power and patronage, the will of the people has been thwarted and plutocracy has been enthrowned on the ruins of democracy. It demands:—

Increase in the volume of the currency.

Free coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1.

That postal saving banks shall be established.

That the Pacific railroad liens shall be forclosed.

That the graduated income tax shall be levied.

That demonetization of lawful money by contract shall be prohibited.

That no more bonds shall be issued except by specific act of congress.

That the government shall own and operate the railroad and telegraph lines.

Thats grants of railroad lands not needed by the roads shall be reclaimed and held for settlers.

That the president, vice-president and senators shall be elected by direct vote of the people.

That the government shall exercise its option in paying its obligations in either gold or silver.

That the initiative and referendum (by which the people can vote on the enactment of laws) shall be inaugurated.

The platform expresses sympathy for Cubans; favors home rule in the District of Columbia and the early admission of the territories to statehood; favors just pensions, denounces rule by contempt proceedings and denounces ballot box frauds.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN,

I, the undersigned, hereby notify each and everyone; and forbid them to have any dealing of any kind with my wife, Mrs. Anna L Johnson, either buy, sell or trust her anything in my nam., or for her account give or take anything from my home, without my knowledge; and anyone coming to my home visiting or otherwise, take warning not to circulate any falsehoods of any kind which may hurt the honor of myself and children.

If she says she is tied up, shut in or badly treated; or that I am telling lies about her is not the truth, but a barefaced lie; and anyone who are circulating her lies or trying to draw her away from home or otherwise disturbing the peace of my family will be called upon to answer to same and dealt with according to law.

NELS M. JOHNSON.

Dated at St Hilaire, Minn., Sept. 26, 1896.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South —and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

The BEER=

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday.$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..........$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth —something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year......$4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year..........$1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK. }

In Probate Court; Special Term, October 1st 1896.

In the matter of the estate of Arthur Yvernault, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition H. E. Ives representing among other things, that upon the 22nd day of May 182 the above named Arthur Yvernault was the owner in fee of the following described real property lying, situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The East half of the South-west quarter and lots eight, nine and fourteen in section six, township one hundred fifty-two, range forty-three, and lots number two, three, four, five six, seven and ten, and the South-east quarter of the North-west quarter, all in section number six, township one hundred fifty-two, range forty-three; and other lands, that upon the said 22nd day of May 1882 the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault, who was at that time an unmarried man, sold, bargained and agreed to convey, for a valuable consideration, the property hereinbefore described, to the following described persons, to-wit: An undivided one-half thereof to the Red River & Lake of the Woods Railway Company (a corporation); and an undivided one-sixth thereof to Frank Ives, and an undivided one-sixth thereof to G. F. O. peland; that upon the same day, to-wit: the 22nd day of May 182 with the intention of conveying the five-sixths interest of the hereinbefore described property to the persons hereinbefore named the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault made, executed and delivered his warrantee deed of the undivided five-sixths interest in and to all of the aforesaid property, excepting lots six and seven in said section six; but that by mistake and inadvertence the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault omitted to include in said deed and conveyance the undivided five-sixths interest of said lots six and seven; that said deed upon being executed was as aforesaid so delivered by Arthur Yvernault to the grantees named therein, who thereupon entered into possession of the property sold and conveyed to them by the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault including lots six and 7 and that ever since said time the aforesaid grantees and their assigns have been in the possession of the aforesaid premises including said lots six and seven and that since the execution and deliver of said, deed neither the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault nor his personal representatives have had or claimed to have any right, title or interest in or to the five-sixths of said lots six and seven so sold and intended to be conveyed unto the grantees in said deed; that legally the title of said undivided five-sixths of said lots six and seven is and appears of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for Polk county in the name of the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault; that said Arthur Yvernault has since deceased; that your petitioner is interested in said lots six and seven as part owner thereof and makes this petition for the purpose of procuring an order from this court directed to John Cromb. the administrator of the estate of Arthur Yvernault deceased, directing and authorizing him to execute to the grantees named in said deed and undivided five-sixths interest in said lots six and seven conformable to the intention of the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault at the time of the sale thereof.

It is ordered, that the said petition be heard before this Court, on Saturday the 31st day of October 1896, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the Probate office in the City of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the St. Hilaire Spectator, a weekly newspaper printed and published at St. Hilaire, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., the first day of October A. D. 1896.

By the Court.
O. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. MINNESOTA

The American Hotel....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

..16 to 1..
Silver Army.

Great Campaign Document.

THE "SILVER SUPPLEMENT"—

To the FARM, FIELD AND FIRESIDE, the most complete, instructive and convincing discussion of the silver question ever published.

We Print Them FREE and Will Send from

One to Ten Thousand.

Send us your name with stamps to pay postage.

Fifteen cents for 50; Thirty cents for 100.

AGENTS wanted to circulate our literature and solicit subscriptions.

For 10 Cents this paper till Nov. 1.
For 25 Cents this paper till Jan. 1, 1897.

THE FARM, FIELD AND FIRESIDE,
CHICAGO. ILL.

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale, Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.
St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to. H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	55c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	11c	Eggs	7c
Barley	13c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	60c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Register your vote tomorrow.

Emil Brink will leave to-day for St. Paul.

Bryan is gaining thousands of votes daily.

S. D. Patrick went to Crookston Monday.

The river raised another two inches yesterday.

Three more weeks and the election will be over.

The work is progressing nicely at the race and dam.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

The diamond on the pile driver broke yesterday afternoon.

M. Z. Epperson and wife drove to Red Lake Falls to-day.

Several wet goods men were taking orders here on Monday.

The politician will have twenty days more of hustling to do.

A special meeting of the council was held last Friday evening.

Commissioner Norland is head push with the pile-driver crew.

Druggist Johnson is busy unpacking goods that have just arrived.

Ed Smith returned Monday from a trip to the Red Lake Agency.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Wolves are reported as being numerous out east or here a few miles.

Several parties from the upper falls biked it down to St. Hilaire Sunday.

Gust Sandberg is now buying wheat for Johnson & Marshall at Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar drove down from Thief River Falls yesterday.

Get your milk tickets printed at this office. Do away with them old paste boards.

H. E. Ives and E. M. Hoff tried their luck with the Canadian "honkers" yesterday.

Messrs. Rapp and Patrick drove to Thief River Falls and back Sunday afternoon.

The raffle and lunch in the Bodega saloon last Saturday evening drew a large crowd.

When in town drop in and get sample copies of the SPECTATOR it will cost you nothing.

If there is any one thing more you hear of these days than politics—its more politics.

Emil Brink and E. M. Hoff spent Sunday at Thief River Falls returning in the evening.

Hon. S. T. Comstock is billed to speak here sometime today, so the Crookston Tribune says.

St. Hilaire camp No. 3650, Modern Woodmen of America, held their regular meeting Friday evening.

There is not a labor paper in the United States that is not supporting Wm. J. Bryan for president.

Halvor Halvorson had the misfortune to lose a gold watch while working on the race last Monday.

Jas. G. Brady was retained as teacher in Wylie and began an eight months term of school there Monday.

Sam Dainard started out bright and early Monday morning with his working clothes on hustling votes.

W. F. Arnold, the surveyor and his assistant W. I. Basset were laying out roads in the village last week.

Red, white and blue are national colors and the silver men are wearing them—yellow is on the other side.

John Cole, who has been working in the vicinity of Red Lake Falls for the past six weeks returned yesterday.

The nearer election day approaches the more desperate are the methods of coercion adopted by the old parties.

Doc Ames is running as an independent candidate for governor. Pass him up, he is dead to the world in politics.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at Mrs. Harris' Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All ladies invited to be present.

Both of the bicycle bank robbers have been captured One dead the other alive. They proved to be brothers.

How about sending in weekly correspondence from your neighborhood? Come now, don't be bashful, we want the news.

Work has been commenced raising the grade three feet on the road north of the dam, which will be extended to the town line.

A registration of votes will be required in this village, and Thursday, October 15th is the date set. See that your vote is registered.

Hanna is running short on the campaign fund. He drew on the Washington D. C. banks for $50,000, which will probably carry Rhode Island.

Owing to the high water in consequence of daming the river, the ferry boat business is rather dull, but the foot bridge is well patronized.

Several dynamite reports were heard Sunday afternoon which came from near Red Lake Falls where they are clearing the rapids in the river.

E. E. Lommen, the peoples party candidate for congress is doing excellent work in the southern part of this district. He will be an easy winner.

A newspaper called the "Kennedy Screwdriver" after being published eight weeks suspended publication last week—the name evidently killed it.

Jacob Brown, Jacob Lisman, A. F. Bell and Henry Olson all of Thompson N. D. passed through here Tuesday on their way to their timber claims in the Red Lake country.

O. W. Brink will leave for St. Paul to-day with another car load of stock. He expects to ship one more car load next Monday. Otto is a busy man of late to say the least.

Attorney Richardson of Thief River Falls biked it down yesterday. He was taking in the sights at the race and dam and says they are doing the work in the proper manner.

Mr. Knight of county division fame from Red Lake Falls was talking division here Saturday, taking in the lecture during the evening and returning home Sunday morning.

J. A. Dainard shipped another car load of young stock to the eastern markets Monday. They were driven from here to Red Lake Falls and loaded there on the through stock train.

Capt. Lovill of Thief River Falls passed through here last Wednesday on his way to his old home in North Carolina where he will remain for a few weeks visiting relatives and friends.

Twenty-five thousand people were present at Fargo last Saturday to hear Wm. J. Bryan deliver an address. He talked nearly an hour and confined his speech solely to the money question.

Conductor O'Niel who has been running on this branch for the last four months has quit and accepted a passenger run from Breckenridge to Neche. Jimmie is taking promotion right along.

A car load of dimension lumber was shipped up from Crookston Monday for the race. This makes about a dozen car loads that were shipped in and floated down the river for the race and dam.

Several of our citizens had their winters supply of coal shipped in last week and are now fully prepared for the winter with the exception of putting on storm windows. There is plenty of time for that.

Several of the owners of cows are complaining that the city herd broke up too soon—by several weeks. What cows there are running at large are doing considerable damage to hay and grain stacks.

If you have any wool and want it worked up into cloth remember the Litchfield Woolen Mills. They do the very best of work and your orders are promptly attended to. See their ad in another column.

Rev. Herzberg's horse which was taken out of Sam Dainard's barn last Tuesday evening was found Sunday out northeast of town about six miles. It was a dastardly trick played by some party or parties.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa notices were tacked up freely Monday by a man that rode all the way from New Haven, Conn., on a bicycle. He started out the first of April and he is an expert with hammer and tacks.

The loss to the Canadian Pacific railway company on account of the telegraphers strike is estimated at $75,000 a day and still that corporation wont right a wrong. That monopoly is as stubborn as Pullman and Hanna.

K. O. Gigstad has his new residence about completed and will occupy the same this week or next. Fred Eikhoff superintended the mechanical part of the construction and that is a guarantee that it is put up in the best of shape.

Charley Englund was in the village yesterday and as he invariably brings in wild geese he did not fail to do so on this occasion. He brought in four. This makes in the neighborhood of fifty geese that he has killed this fall.

M. E. Bjerk, L. J. Stranahan and Carl Johnson composed a party that went out to Wicker's lake after geese last Thursday and Friday. Ye editor accompanied them to keep official count—we had figures to spare, which we frankly admit.

A large number of people who took up homesteads on the reservation last spring, making necessary improvements and going back to their former homes, are now returning with their families, stock and agricultural implements.

F. E. Hertz, who is connected with the Merchants bank of Crookston was looking after business for that institution in this part of the county yesterday. While here Frank took time to relate his experience of a trip from New York City to South America.

Will Eikhoff was the only one from this place who had the pleasure of hearing our next president, Wm. J. Bryan, speak at Fargo last Saturday. Mr. Eikhoff pronounced him the best speaker he has ever heard in his life, and he has heard some of the very best of them.

Bondocracy to working man: "We are the best of friends, ain't we? We are so afraid that you will be swindled, ain't we?" Worker: "Yes for about three months every four years, just before election; but the rest of the time you're putting on the screw."—National Bimetallist.

Ole Loberg, while wrestling with an associate of his yesterday morning had the misfortune to break his collar bone. Dr. Francis was summoned to set the fracture. Ole is resting as well as can be expected but it will be some time before he will be able to be around to do any work.

The over crowded condition of the primary department was relieved Saturday by the addition of eight new double desks, making it possible for all the pupils to be accomodated with a seat. Our schools are in a thriving condition and great interest is manifested by the pupils in their regular and punctual attendance.

Several parties have asked us why we do not support some of the republican nominees on the county ticket, to which we will say that the county ticket contains men who personally bear good reputations and against whom nothing can be said as individuals, but they represent principles not in accordance with those supported and maintained by the SPECTATOR.

The republicans have found Astrologer Erickson and he cast his horoscope on the political situation and finds the election looking rather blue for Bryan. Wonder how much Erickson pulled Hanna's leg for—try it again Erik; old boy; there is a barrel of money in sight for you there which can be seen with a naked eye. As far as posting up on Jupiter and Saturn, Scorpio and Mars, why we will have plenty of time to post up on them after election.

A fair sized audience was present at Brink's hall Saturday evening to hear Hon. P. M. Ringdal discuss the issues of the present campaign. Mr. H. E. Ives presided and introduced the speaker who addressed the audience in a pleasing and convincing manner. If the facts of his arguments as he presented them could be impressed upon the minds of the people of Polk county there would no doubt be an overwhelmingly vote in favor of free silver. Mr. Ringdal does not deal in abusive language and his speech won many votes for the cause.

The following notice was found in an empty whiskey bottle in the river by one of our townsmen. We publish it ver batim and you can take it for what it is worth:

"Whoever finds this please write my folks, 1800 Butler Ave., West Superior. We are wrecked on Red Lake.

ED STODER
West Superior Wis.
CHAS. SPOSER
Devils Lake.

The following circular is said to be going the rounds of the banks: Your assessment for the single gold standard candidate is $—. Please forward at once. Mark Hanna.—Philadelphia Item.

An Oklahoma newspaper laid in a stock of rooster cuts for the local election but the women carried the town and the editor had to telegraph the supply house at Kansas City for a supply of hens.

"Infamy will pursue your name after you are in your grave;" is what Senator Teller said to John Sherman in the senate a few months ago, and it is now as it was then.—Regiser, Vancover, Wash.

"Why should one kind of legal tender money be redeemed in another kind of legal tender money?" Simply to benefit the bankers who make our laws and run the whole country.—Georgetown Sentinel.

A lady asked us whether etiqutte required one to knock at the door of an editors' sanctum before entering. We hasten to reply. If you are coming to pay your subscription or bring in a nice, juicy item of news, don't stop to knock, but just walk right in as if you owned the place. If, on the other hand, you are out on a collection tour, you should make the fact known through the window, and then knock at the door until the editor opens it. If he don't open it in an hour, call again.—Ex.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

A Lie Nailed.

A report has been circulated to the effect that Thomas Lawrence, the candidate for sheriff on the People's Party ticket, cannot read or write. The preposterous absurdity of this statement is so patent to anyone who knows Mr. Lawrence that it needs no contradiction. The SPECTATOR is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Lawrence which is not only written in a better hand than is most of those written by business men in this city, but it is composed and punctuated with absolute correctness. Mr. Lawrence if elected will make a thoroughly capable and competent officer, and the faith of Polk county's voters will not be misplaced in any particular if they pin it to him.

But "Europe," say the gold bugs, "will not take our silver when we offer to buy its wares." Then to H—alifax with its wares—use those at home.

Grand and Petit Jurors.

The following grand and petit jurors were selected for the December term of court:

GRAND JURY.

August Nelson, Sullivan.
Noe Brosseau, Gentilly.
A. N. Hixson, Lowell.
T. McDonald, Keystone.
Otto Kankel, Fertile.
S. P. Swenson, Vineland.
John W. Bren, Tabor.
F. W. Ricket, Grand Forks.
A. Welo, Sanders.
P. O. Berg, Thief River Falls.
W. M. Carey, Reis.
Ole O. Vattendahl, Fisher.
O. L. Johnson, Russia.
Felix Fournet, Crookston City.
Karl Bakke, Queen.
H. E. Ives, St. Hilaire.
A. P. Frank, Brislet.
Lewis E. Larson, Esther.
Dave Hogan, Wyandotte.
L. J. Dahl, Hill River.
Wm. Deman, Sr., Lake Pleasant.
J. P. Synnes, Chester.
P. A. Brandit, Lessor.

PETIT JURY.

Andrew Jordahl, Hammond.
Einar Nilson, Garfield.
Robert Anderson, Grand Forks.
Daniel Johnson, Northland.
O. J. Tweet, Norden.
Anton Aubol, Rocksbury.
Abraham Newton, Tynsid.
Michael Malone, Crookston City.
Sam C. Hayes, Hubbard.
E. J. Haseltine, Belgium.
C. E. Fulton, Grove Park.
Thos. McDonald, Keystone.
John Demarais, Lake Pleasant.
J. J. Johnson, Winger.
James Sullivan, Sullivan.
Frank Cernousek, Tabor.
C. O. Castle, Crookston City.
F. L. Davis, Andover.
John Shanzten, Crookston.
H. L. Hanson, Hill River.
Peter Erickson, Winger.
F. J. Cernousek, Tabor.
Chas. A. Robbecke, Thief River Falls.
Jens O. Rude, Godfrey.

The importance of supporting the local newspaper is not felt as keenly as it should be by the dwellers in the smaller cities and towns. The newspaper is in reality as important a factor in local prosperity as the church. Its influence is brought to bear for the benefit of its locality in many ways that the church does not compass.

The intelligence and relative position of one town as compared with others is to be accurately guaged by the quality of its newspapers and the amount of confidence they inspire. The newspapers and the amount of confidence they inspire. The newspapers of a town usually present good evidence of the moral standard which governs it; for that newspaper which gives its constituency what that constituency demands is of the only kind which has stability.

A town which can show a well supported newspaper means a town whose inhabitants are quick witted people of keen, active interest in what concerns them and their neighbors, while one in which a newspaper drags out wearily generally argues itself the abode of people with sluggish livers or torpid temperaments, to whom the world presents little interest beyond the limited range of experience immediately bounded by their own senses.

The excuse which is sometimes offered that the local paper is not of sufficient interest to warrant the expenditure of the small price of its subscription, should avail these short-sighted moles nothing. Such people should be told to patronize the home industry and foster its growth into a more potentious affair by their encouragement. Newspaper men are not slow to respond to encouragement; 99 cases out of 100 their hearts are in their work and they need but the sign of a dispositon towards it to call forth their best efforts.

The newspaper's status in a town is an index to most of those qualities by which one judges of its desirability as a place of residence and its commercial prosperity.

It is the positive duty of every man to help make his town known, increase its prestige and add to its reputation of being a live, wide-awake place, by subscribing to the local newspaper.—Newspaper Maker.

The humorist Bob Burdette, gives this recipe for swallowing dirt: "My homeless friend with the chromatic nose, while you are stirring up the sugar in a ten-cent glass of gin, let me give you a fact to wash down with it. You may say you have longed for years for the free, independent life of a farmer but you have never been able to get money enough to buy a farm. But there is where you are mistaken. For some years you have been drinking a good improved farm at the rate of one hundred square feet at a gulp. If you doubt this statement figure it out for yourself. An acre of land contains 43,560 feet; estimating, for convenience, the land at $43.56 an acre, you will see that it brings the land to just one mill per square foot. Now pour down the fiery dose and imagine you are swallowing a strawberry patch. Call in five of your friends and have them help you gulp down that 500 foot garden. Get on a prolonged spree some day and see how long it will take to swallow a pasture land to feed a cow; Put down that glass of gin; there is dirt in it—three hundred feet of good, rich dirt, worth $43.56 per acre."

Council Proceedings.

Special meeting of the village council Friday October 9th, 1896.

All members present except Sorsoleil and Freeman.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp for the purpose of appointing three judges for the general election.

On motion O. F. Post, J. J. Soll and O. H. Peters were appointed judges of the coming general election.

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. Rapp, President.
J. L. Johnson, Village Recorder.

—Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a specialty from now until after election.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something . . . . .

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.10
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 29	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
6 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 10	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	3.00 to 6.00

☞For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows;

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everybody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

And He Isn't Brave.

"Only the brave deserve the fair," whispered the sentimental old maid.

"Only the brave dare live with the fair of this day and generation," replied the crotchety old bachelor.—Detroit Free Press.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

Only three native potentates of British India are entitled to a salute of twenty-one guns, namely, the Maharajah of Baroda (Gaikwar), the Nizam of Hyderabad and the Maharajah of Mysore.

Delmar, Md., had a mad dog scare last week, and thirty-eight dogs were killed by the town authorities.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

An old ruin has been uncovered on the Moqui reservation in Arizona, and nearly 200 pieces of perfect pottery found.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

The guns of the new British battleship Victorious are capable of discharging 30,000 pounds of metal in four minutes.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Each minute space of London's great clock, Big Ben, is a foot, and the figures on the clock face are two feet long.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me large doctor bills.—C. L. Baker, 4228 Regent Sq., Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 8, '95.

The brogue in Belfast is but a weak indication of what Dublin can produce.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO,
LUCAS COUNTY, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists. 75c.

Wished It Would Stop.

They were three days out, and he was not feeling very well.

"As to the cradle of the deep," she said, sadly.

"Yes."

"Well, nothing much, except that I wish it was not an automatic rocker."—Chicago Post.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 206-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Polar Hardships.

Jones—Ever read any of the accounts of the polar expeditions? Their sufferings are terrible.

Robinson—Yes; I believe they even have private theatricals.

Look

Sharply to the condition of your blood. At this season peculiar perils assail the system. There are sudden changes in temperature; fogs and dampness, chilly nights, lowering clouds, drenching rains. These sudden changes bring on colds, fevers, pneumonia, bronchitis and other ailments. Keep the blood pure, rich and full of vitality and you will be well. Remember

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the Best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, aid digestion. 25c.

Knickerbockers.

The clubs are beginning to liven up a bit and shake off their summer air of sleepiness. Their members are coming back with tales of travel to make envious men who have stayed in town. The man who walks into his club now in knickerbockers attracts no particular attention. A year ago such a costume in a metropolitan club would have subjected the wearer to a good deal of guying. In the cafe of a Fifth avenue club one night last week were three middle-aged men seated around a table, and each of them wore knickerbockers. One man had just returned from a trip through Ireland, another had been touring Switzerland, and the third had returned from a long bicycle trip in this country.—New York Letter.

That Joyful Feeling.

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strenght and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old-time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well-informed.

Expense.

"Isn't the perspective of your landscape somewhat at fault?"

The artist shrugged his shoulders.

"That scene," he rejoined, "is laid within ten minutes' walk of the post-office, high and dry and with gas and water. I had to govern myself accordingly. It won't do to make your pictures too expensive in these hard times."—Detroit Tribune.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowles. Never sicken, weaken or gripe.

The Tie That Binds.

Bandit—Throw up your hands and don't move unless you want to lose yer brains.

Traveler—But, stay! You and I are riding the same kind of wheels.

Bandit (after hasty examination)—Pardner, forgive me. Take back your pocketbook and depart in peace.

Is This the Reason?

De Garry—Although it was a summer engagement, our love was as sublime as that of our first parents in the garden of Eden.

Merritt—So that is why it could not survive the fall?—Judge.

FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH!

A Position of Extreme Peril. A Wonderful Rescue. A Joyous Family—and to the Indians They Owe It All.

There is perhaps not a man living in the whole State of Illinois who is so grateful and happy today as T. B. Nolen of Urbana.

Not only does he owe his own life, but that of his wife and children, to the Indian's wonderful skill and sagacity. He, like thousands of others who have passed through similar experiences, realize that their escape from death, or a life of a miserable invalid, has been due to that greatest of medicines—originated and used for centuries by the Indians, to which they, too, owe their proverbial longevity and perfect health, Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

What it did for Mr. Nolen and his family was no more wonderful than if they had been rescued from the most perilous situation, but 'tis best to let him tell his experience in his own words.

URBANA, ILL., Sept. 24, 1892.

"Kickapoo Indian Sagwa has accomplished such great and lasting good in my family that I feel that the world ought to know it. My wife had suffered with a combination of female troubles and indigestion for several years, and for two years had been almost blind, in fact, was blind to such an extent that she had to be led from place to place. From the first bottle of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa she began to improve, the improvement being so rapid as she continued the use of Sagwa as to astonish our neighbors, who had known her condition. After taking but six bottles of Sagwa she was wholly free of her female diseases, could eat and digest her food, and most wonderful of all, her eyesight was completely restored. While in this condition my wife gave birth to a boy, who inherited her weak eyes and he became almost wholly blind. Knowing what Sagwa had done for his mother, I gave him this remedy and he is today a perfect specimen of physical childhood, without a blemish, and his eyes are as good as anyone's.

I had a disease of the kidneys, being so weak the larger portion of the time that I could perform but very little labor. I also took Sagwa, using but two bottles, and am today as sound as a dollar. Kickapoo Indian Sagwa certainly performed wonders in my family."—T. B. NOLEN, Urbana, Champaign Co., Ill.

If today you are suffering from any sickness resulting from a disordered condition of the kidneys, stomach, liver and blood, take Sagwa. It cures when a cure is possible. It is the most wonderful blood purifier known. It cannot injure the most delicate baby, as it is purely vegetable, containing no mineral or other poisonous ingredients. You will feel its benefits with the first dose, and continue to improve until your become one of the multitude who are alive today only through its use, and realize to what they owe their life. If you wish further particulars write us. We employ a regular staff of doctors who will give you medical advice free. Address, Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., New Haven, Conn. All druggists sell our remedies.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

CURE CONSTIPATION

10 25 50 ALL DRUGGISTS

REGULATE THE LIVER

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 316.

SPONGES ARE RISING.

The Cuban War Drew the Fishermen Into the Navy.

One effect of the war in Cuba has been to diminish the export of Cuban sponges by fully one-half. The Cuban sponge fishermen get a license to fish in Cuban waters only upon condition that they shall serve in the navy if required; and so many have been called upon for this service that the harvest of sponges has been materially reduced. Cuba furnishes less than a third of the sponges used abroad, but the curtailment of that supply helps to put up prices that have been advancing for years. The supply of sponges comes from Florida, Cuba, Nassau, Mexico, and the Mediterranean. Ordinarily about two-thirds of the supply, in value, comes from American waters.

The demand for sponges has increased naturally, while the world's supply has not kept pace with it. It has within recent years actually diminished, owing to careless methods of fishing and to overfishing to supply the increased demand. The sponge is of slow growth; it takes two or three years for it to attain a commercial size. In all countries in whose waters sponges grow there are laws against the pulling of little sponges until they have reached a certain growth, just as there are laws against the taking of lobsters and of some fishes under specified sizes.

Caught a Deer in the Locomotive.

"Baltimore railroading has changed considerably in the last 25 years," said a veteran engineer of the Baltimore & Ohio, to a reporter of the American. "Why, I remember a time when passing along through the mountain region between here and Wheeling hardly a mile of the road would be passed without encountering a few wild deer on the tracks. They used to jump along the tracks before the train as playfully as kittens. Talking of deer, I remember a peculiar incident that happened one day near Willet's Run, beyond Hancock. I was firing for an engineer named Dave Dillon. There used to be two firemen to an engine at the time, and we had a funny, frolicsome little Irishman with us named Jimmy Giveney. The old Winans engines used to have an enormous footboard. On the day to which I allude Dillon was driving an express train east and we were making top speed, being long overdue. Just as we came around a bend near Willet's Run, a young deer, pursued by two dogs, rushed down the embankment and leaped, landing on the footboard of the engine. Jimmy Giveney leaned out of the cab and grabbed the deer, holding on to the terror-stricken animal, even at the risk of being pulled off the train. Of course, the hungry dogs were left far behind and missed the feast which they hoped to enjoy. Jimmy Giveney brought his prize to Baltimore and sold it for a handsome sum. In those days all along the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern was alive with game of all species. We used to encounter flocks of wild turkeys and all sorts of fowls at every bend along the line."—American.

Unfriendly to Wheels.

A number of detectives are endeavoring to discover the miscreant who placed tacks on Glenmore avenue in Brooklyn on Sunday morning, and if they find him they will be rewarded from a private subscription. The Pequod wheelmen not only raised the money to offer the reward, but sent out men to sweep up all the tacks, which had punctured more than 200 tires. The men found a trail of galvanized iron tacks extending at least a dozen blocks along the avenue, which has been popular with the bicyclists since it was repaved, and from the amount gathered it is believed that at least twenty pounds were used. The tacks were placed on both sides of the street.—New York Post.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

In Denmark an "old maids" insurance company pays regular weekly benefits.

A London physician has announced the discovery that hard cider is a sure cure for rheumatism.

More than 200 Germans have settled at Missler, Ga., and they are making a great success of the cultivation of small farms.

More gold watches are worn by artisans and laboring men in the United States than in any two other countries in the world.

Many of the so-called "vegetable ivory" buttons used on dresses, cloaks, etc., are made of potatoes treated with sulphuric acid.

To date the government has paid nearly $3,000,000 in premiums for speed made by war vessels in excess of the contract requirements.

The police quarters on Mulberry street, New York, are overrun with white rats. The albino rodents are also numerous in the neighborhood.

Borchgrevink, the Antarctic explorer, has just been married to a young Englishwoman and has abandoned for a time his plans for reaching the south pole.

The confirmation of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands has been definitely fixed for Oct. 24, and it is understood that the announcement of her betrothal will take place immediately afterward.

The new woman seems to have made her appearance in China. The daughter of a magistrate in Shantum acts as treasurer in her father's district, keeps the books, pays the bills and stirs up delinquent debtors.

An educated dog at Louisville almost frustrated justice by allowing a burglar to get out of the yard with a bundle of plunder and attaching himself to the trousers of a policeman who essayed to jump the fence in pursuit.

WHEEL HUMOR.

"I was told you wouldn't insure bicycle girls. Won't you insure me?" "Not on your life!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

She—Do you know this bicycle reminds me so much of you? He—How is that? She—I always have a dickens of a time getting it started.—Cleveland Leader.

"I see they are applying ball bearings to a great many things now." "Yes, they have a ball bearing sign down where I keep my watch."—Washington Times.

SAINT TERESA URREA

A BEAUTIFUL MEXICAN GIRL EDITING A NEWSPAPER.

Banished from the Country Because She Was Charged With Having Instigated Revolution in Her Native Land—Wonderful Power.

TERESA UREA

If, AS Carlyle says, "matter exists only spiritually and to represent some idea and body it forth," then Teresa Urrea, the saint of Cabora, Mexico, embodies charity, love, self-abnegation, and all those cardinal virtues which pulpit orators bepraise. This picturesque "maravillosa sanadora," believing that all aspirations should be utilitarian in their scheme and show forth God's harmonies regardless of man's creeds, moves among her horde of afflicted devotees, giving with a touch and a smile great cheer to the sorrowful.

She is an unlearned Mexican girl, born and bred on an isolated hacienda in Sonora and her chirography has been acquired, as she naively explains, with a piece of charcoal upon a board, yet she is associate editor of El Independiente, a creditable weekly published in El Paso.

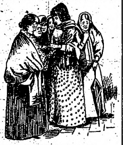
She uses her mesmeric influence with a grand disregard of its power, otherwise than as a measure of relief to her patients. If a nervous subject falls into her arms when she touches her hands she smilingly restores her, not knowing perhaps the danger in this state of coma.

From whence comes her influence? Ask of the maimed and worshipping multitude that flocks about her. There is nothing supernatural about it, any more than all electro-biology is mysterious, and all self-sacrifice and noble purpose hyperphysical as coming from God, the center, love.

The Catholic, the Protestant, the scoffer—who has only nature for religion, the earth for church, sky for dome, and birds for choir—all wish to look upon her face. Serious, but smiling, patient, helpful, she gives freely and without recompense her time, her strength, her pity, her skill. She belongs to no church.

This exiled "saint" seems to be the embodiment of simplicity, and to look into her mysterious dark eyes one would never think her capable of instigating an insurrection. Honest chroniclers say indeed that she was only indirectly responsible for the massacres in Northern Mexico.

When 18 years of age Teresa lay in a trance for three months. In this comatose state she began denouncing sectarianism and performing her wonderful cures, which her family, being at that time orthodox people, looked upon with small sympathy. It was in the succeeding year, when her fame was already abroad and the people were coming to her from within 400 miles thereabouts by wagon, that Governor Carillo of Chihuahua came to the little mountain pueblo of Tomichic to remove certain famous paintings from the church. These paintings were presumably by Murillo, and very dear to the pride and hearts of the people. When the canvases were cut—the frames were imbedded in the walls—the people protested, defying the governor and the jefe politico in defense of their altars. Carillo returned empty handed and indignant, leaving some ill will behind him.



HEALING THE SICK.

This was in August, 1891. The following December Padre Manuel Gastelum came from Urnachic to preach to the Tomochitecos, and denounced Teresa from the pulpit as a heretic and evil worker. But the people were sullen and only praised her good works. Much incensed, the good padre betook himself to Guerrero in high dudgeon and notified the authorities that the Tomochitecos were in revolt.

How meets Mexico any uprising or massing, political, ecclesiastical, or incidental? Soldiers were sent at once from Guerrero. Thirty Tomochitecos, rudely armed, resisted them, but were routed and all prisoners shot. Women and children were shamelessly butchered and Tomochic burned. Before this was accomplished, however, 58 valiant rebels killed 580 perlones—soldiers—in one encounter, and it is not to be wondered at that Diaz laid his sword upon those poor creatures maddened by previous wrongs and oppressions. They fought, not like men, but demons, shouting the names of Maria Santisima and Teresa until they were exterminated. 'Tis no wonder the soldiers dubbed them "tigres de la Sierra."

The Urrea family, abandoning large landed property under pronunciamento, escaped into Arizona, and Santa Teresa, her name still a talisman recklessly flaunted by the defiant Mexicans, innocently bore the responsibility of being a "leader of insurrections" in their campaigns. This gentle girl could never have revelled in bloodshed. Expatriated, but undaunted, she finds on the American side of the Rio Grande at El Paso no armed opposition to her creed, which seems to be: "Be good and love." She leaves science to the wise, theories to investigators, pelf to the avaricious. Her surroundings are poor beyond compare. She sleeps upon a bed woven of rawhide, when, if she chose, she could coin pesos.

When the Trans-Siberian Railway is completed in 1900, it will be possible for a globe trotter to encircle the globe in thirty days. Over the new route he will be able to reach St. Petersburg from London in forty-five hours, and arrive at Port Arthur in 250 hours.

A BURGLAR'S UMBRELLA.

This Ingenious Contrivance Was Used to Conceal a Long Stick.

Among a collection of articles recently used by burglars when engaged in their "work" is one particular contrivance that aroused general interest. In appearance it resembles a huge umbrella that has seen hard service. It was formerly the property of a burglar, and it was by its means that he was able to enter the second story of a building. Removing the cover, a stick, wound with rope, is revealed. The stick opens like a telescope or a jointed fishing rod. Wound around it is a rope ladder, made of strong material, and about thirteen feet in length. The ladder is only wide enough for one foot to be placed on the rungs. The extending stick was used to raise one end of the ladder to the window through which the operator wished to enter, and on the upper end of the ladder are two hooks to be fastened to the sill. This imitation umbrella is regarded as one of the most ingenious affairs ever made use of by a thief.

Animal Illusions.

Birds are perhaps more commonly the victims of illusions than other animals, their stupidity about their eggs being quite remarkable. Last year, for instance, a hen got into the pavilion of a ladies' golf club, and began to sit on a golf ball in a corner, for which it made a nest with a couple of pocket handkerchiefs. But many quadrupeds are not only deceived for the moment by reflections, shadows and such unrealities, but often seem victims to illusions largely developed by the imagination. The horse, for instance, is one of the bravest of animals when face to face with dangers which it can understand, such as the charge of an elephant, or a wild boar at bay. Yet the courageous and devoted horse, so steadfast against the dangers he knows, is a prey to a hundred terrors of the imagination due to illusions—mainly those of sight, for shying, the minor effect of these illusions, and "bolting," in which panic gains complete possession of his soul, are caused as a rule by mistakes as to what the horse sees, and not by misinterpretation of what he hears. It is noticed, for instance, that many horses which shy usually start away from objects on one side more frequently than from objects on the other. This is probably due to defects in the vision of one or the other eye. In nearly all cases of shying the horse takes fright at some unfamiliar object, though it is commonly quite harmless, such as a wheelbarrow upside down, a freshly felled log, or a piece of paper rolling before the wind. This instantly becomes an "illusion," is interpreted as something else, and it is a curious question in equine neuropathy to know what it is that the horse figures these harmless objects to be.

Kashmir Sheep.

A traveler through Kashmir recently found in practice there a novel method of putting fodder up for winter use. The country lies in a valley among the Himalayas. The chief industry of the people consists in raising fine wool and in making this into fabrics which have carried the name of the country all over the world. "A curious custom in some places," he says, "is that of hanging quantities of hay up among the branches of trees. Why it was done was more than I could guess, till my guide informed me that in winter the snow lies five or six yards in depth, and that the supplies of hay, which now look only as if they were meant for giraffes, are then easily reached by the flocks of sheep which abound there."

BITS OF TRUTH.

The Lord's sheep all know their Shepherd.

The devil throws the most darts at a shining mark.

No work is hard to the man who has God for his helper.

The man who is resting in God will be found busy for Christ.

Cares may come, but the Christian may give his all to Christ.

When God looks at a man, the first thing he sees is his heart.

The devil has trouble with the man who minds his own business.

When the world gives treasure, it always sends trouble therewith.

The man who knows Christ well will not look for perfection in anybody else.

To obtain salvation, the sinner needs to take nothing to Christ but his sins.

There are people who would like to do good, if it could be done without effort or sacrifice.

How the devil would like to stone the house when he sees everybody looking happy in church.

God loves to see a man take off his coat, and roll up his sleeves, as though he meant something.

If we give faithful heed to the interests of Christ in this world, ours will be safe in the next.

Whatever we would do if we had the power is what the Lord will give us the credit of having done.

The fact that the devil is against a man ought to be good evidence that he is on the Lord's side.—Ram's Horn.

The devil does a good day's work when he persuades the father of a family that he can save money by not taking a religious paper.—Ram's Horn.

ODD SPOKES.

Charles D. Cramp of Philadelphia is at the head of a company of capitalists of that city to erect a large plant at Norristown, Pa., for the manufacture of steel cycle tubing.

A Missouri girl dressed up in bloomers and went to surprise her grandparents. They, in turn, tore her bloomers off, compelled her to put on a dress, smashed her bicycle and then sent her home.

James Edward Leahan of Boston has patented an ice bicycle. The steering post extends to the ground and terminates in a skate. The rim of the rear or driving wheel has a flat tire fitted with spikes.

Gertrude Vanderbilt brings $5,000,000 into the new Whitney family. It is evident that young Mr. Whitney can afford to take his bicycle to the repair shop whenever he wants to, says the Minneapolis Journal.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

John O. Barber, St. Paul, Minn., car truck; Charles O. Halling, Minneapolis, Minn., device for transporting trees; Karl A. Klose, Richfield, Minn., pump; Sewell M. Parker, Robbinsdale, Minn., cow stable appliance; Casper Zimmerman, Big Stone City, S. D., sleigh; David W. Casseday, Minneapolis, Minn. (design), badge; Charles A. Roach, St. Paul, Minn. (trade mark), remedies for throat and lung affections.

T. D. Merwin, patent lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn.

Horrible Experience.

"Have a little more of the booze?" asked Perry Patetic, after taking a pull at the bottle.

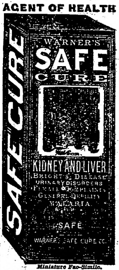
"I—I guess I better not try any more," said Wayworn Watson, with a shudder; "I've been seein' woodsaws floating in the air for near an hour."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklets and sample mailed free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Windsor Castle stands in the civil service estimates for an average of $30,000 for yearly repairs.

THE ADVANCE AGENT OF HEALTH



Miniature Fac-Simile.

Smouldering fires of old disease

lurk in the blood of many a man, who fancies himself in good health. Let a slight sickness seize him, and the old enemy breaks out anew. The fault is the taking of medicines that suppress, instead of curing disease. You can eradicate disease and purify your blood, if you use the standard remedy of the world,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

A Pertinent Query.

"What a silly fellow that young Mr. Smilax is getting to be! See, he has his trousers turned up at the bottom."

"And where would you expect him to have them turned up, my love?"—Washington Times.

No Time Should Be Lost

By those troubled with constipation in seeking relief from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The disease is easily relieved in its earlier stage, and as it is utterly subversive of the general health, postponement of the remedy is unwise. The same holds good in delay in cases of fever and ague, kidney complaints, nervousness, debility and rheumatism, ailments to which the Bitters is particularly adapted.

Egotism.

"Cockrobin is on pretty good terms with himself, isn't he?"

"I should say so. He has such an idea of his own importance that he always pays two fares when he rides on a street car."—Buffalo Courier.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c.

How He Turned Out.

African Explorer—How did that new missionary turn out that was sent here last year?

King Chewbutts—That feller? W'y, that feller turned out to be a regular pudding.—Judge.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

N. W. N. U. No. 42—1896.

SHIP YOUR WHEAT to a responsible firm; one that will cash your draft for a large part of the value of the car and will send you the rest of the money promptly, as soon as the car is sold. If you do not want to sell yet, let us store it for you; we store Free For 20 Days and loan 90 per cent of value at 6 per cent. We give ample references and guarantee the Highest Prices.

OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.,
FLOUR EXCHANGE MINNEAPOLIS.

FOR one hundred and fifteen years Walter Baker & Co. have made Cocoa and Chocolate, and the demand for it increases every year. Try it and you will see why.

Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

"Protection."

Battle Ax PLUG

If you want protection buy "Battle Ax." It is man's ideal tobacco. It protects his purse from high prices. It protects his health from the effects of injurious tobacco. It's the biggest and best there is—nothing less, nothing more. An investment of 5 cents will prove this story.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 21, 1896. NUMBER 12.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The United States supreme court formally opened the October term at Washington, but immediately adjourned to call on the president in accordance with immemorial usage.

People in Print.

Henry William Parnell, third Baron Congleton, is dead. He was born in 1809 and was formerly in the royal navy.

John K. Williams, aged 60 years, burgess of Norristown, Pa., dropped dead recently. Mr. Williams gained a national reputation as the "funny man" of the Norristown Herald.

John Philip Sousa, the distinguished American composer and conductor, who is now in Berlin, was invited to conduct the great Philharmonic orchestra of Berlin at a special concert given in the Exposition building.

William Redman, for nearly twenty years city editor of the New Haven (Conn.) Register, and one of the best known newspaper men in the state, is dead. He was 44 years old and unmarried.

President Jordan of Leland Stanford university, California, is mose prominently mentioned to succeed the late Prof. Goode as assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution and director of the National museum.

The report cabled to the United States that Bishop Spalding of Peoria had been nominated to succeed Bishop Keane of the Catholic university of America at Washington, is pronounced by the authorities at Rome to be premature.

Rev. Crosby H. Wheeler, D. D., the well known missionary of the Ameriboard, died at Auburndale, Mass. In early life Dr. Wheeler was a pastor in Maine. He was founder and president of Euphrates college and through this institution and in other ways he had wrought most successfully for the good of the Armenians.

Accidental Happenings.

Fire burned the major part of the business section of Great Barrington, Mass.

Mrs. Myers, aged seventy-two, of Williamsburg, Iowa, fell into a cellar, completely scalping herself and fracturing the base of her brain. She died twenty-four hours later.

The plant of the Gladstone (Mich.) Electric Light company took fire, and before the flames were checked the building was a total loss and the inside wiring destroyed.

Miss Lizzie Herrold, who lived at Hanfield, Ind., was burned to death. In lifting a vessel from the stove she used her dress skirt to protect her hands, and the goods touched the fire and ignited.

Three men were instantly killed at Wilkesbarre, Pa., by a fall of rock in the Laflin mine. They are: Thomas Mitchell, Mill Creek, aged forty; John Patruz, Mill Creek, aged twenty-five; George Puchuski, Laflin, aged twenty-four.

Crimes and Criminals.

The headquarters of a "directory scheme" fraud have been found in Indianapolis. Apparatus of all kinds for erasing and changing contracts, printing bogus circulars, etc., were found.

George Appo, a noted product of street life in New York, and one of the star witnesses at the Lexow investigation, was ordered to be removed from the Tombs prison to the insane pavilion at Bellevue hospital.

Mrs. John Meyers and her twelve-year-old son are in jail at Atchison, the latter charged with murdering Lester Dyke, the twelve-year-old son of a neighbor, and the former with being accessory to the crime.

After being out several hours the jury in the January murder case at Mexico, Mo., returned a verdict of guilty and assessed the boy's punishment at ten years in the penitentiary. The prisoner, Will January, killed his father.

Judge Taft of the United States court at Cincinnati sentenced William M. Boynton of the Franklin, Ohio National bank to five years in the penitentiary for violations of the United States banking law, to which Boynton had pleaded guilty.

A dispatch from Montery, Cal., says that Count Hallesten, an artist, was shot and killed by a man named Ahlger, who lived with him. Ahlger has been arrested. The shooting was accidental. It is said both men are well known in Berlin.

Charles Pscherhofer, a real estate agent and broker, arrested in San Francisco a month ago charged with swindling numberless victims, has disappeared. His case was continued several times in the police court and he was admitted to bail in bonds of $1,000.

The wife of C. D. Smith, a farmer living thirteen miles east of Nevada, Mo., was found dead in the house with her head crushed. Her husband was digging potatoes in a field some distance away and had left his wife alone in the house. It is supposed she was murdered by a tramp.

An unknown man jumped into the water at Prospect Point, Niagara, N. Y., and was immediately swept over the American falsl. The act was deliberate suicide, for before stepping over the parapet he coolly took off his hat and put into it his money amounting to 40 cents and laid it on the stone wall. The only witnesses were two hackmen.

Helen Forsland, a member of the Salvation army, committed suicide at Boston by taking poison. A few years ago she masqueraded as a man and was implicated in a daring highway robbery in Helena. She and a male accomplice were arrested and her sex discovered. She was acquitted, but her companion was sent up for four years.

From Foreign Shores.

Spain, it is announced, will abandon the struggle in Cuba if the revolution is not suppressed by March 1.

A high English authority, a former cabinet minister, says that the Venezuelan boundary commission will decide against England, and properly, too.

Ojumaic, formerly grand vizier of Egypt, has been confined in prison for two years past on the charge of conspiring in favor of Muley Mohammed. He was found dead in his cell with his clothing stained with blood. It is supposed that he was assassinated.

Emperor William received in audience Grumbkow Pasha, a German officer in the service of the Turkish government, who is the bearer of a letter of thanks from the sultan to his majesty for the latter's portrait, recently presented to Abdul Hamed.

The dispatch of British naval reinforcements to Zanzibar has renewed interest in the situation there, and is universally interpreted in Europe as a demonstration against Germany, as the condition of affairs in Zanzibar does not justify such measures.

The office of minister of foreign relations has been abolished, and the foreign affairs of Honduras will be conducted in the future through the diet of the Greater Republic of Central America, formed by the alliance of Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador.

A Brussels dispatch says that Maj. Lothaire, who was recently acquitted of the charge of illegally executing the English trader Stokes, on the Congo has quitted the service of the Congo State and has engaged in the French service in Madagascar.

Baron Nicholas A. Grebnitsky, governor of the Russian fur seal islands, is on his way to Washington, D. C., where he intends to present to the Russian ambassador the form of a new treaty governing the seal trade between his country and the United States.

German scientists throughout the empire celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of Prof. Rudolph Virchow, one of the greatest medical discoverers of the age. A quarter of a century ago his fiftieth birthday was celebrated by an international gathering of physicians.

George Smith Fraser, an American staying at No. 34 Albemarle street, Piccadilly, London, committed suicide by jumping from a window. At the inquest evidence was given that he had been suffering from illness and had threatened to commit suicide. A verdict of temporary insanity was rendered.

Otherwise.

The New York Recorder has ceased publication.

Republicans of the Seventh Kentucky district nominated W. C. P. Breckinridge for congress.

The National Educational association will hold its next convention in Milwaukee.

The Democrats of the Tenth congressional district (Mo.) nominated Dr. Le Grande Atwood of Farguson, St. Louis, for congress, by acclamation.

The eleventh annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, of the United States opened at Pittsburg, with a quiet service, led by Rev. J. C. Roper of Toronto, Canada.

The Arkansas Populist State Central committee has issued an address announcing that the Populists and Democrats had agreed upon a state fusion electoral ticket, by which the Populists were to have three and the Democrats five votes.

F. P. Schuman, a German engineer, has arrived in San Francisco from Guatemala, where he has been employed for several months in surveying proposed routes for several new railroads. Mr. Schuman reports that matters are booming in railroads in that country.

Dougal D. Crawford, the big dry goods merchant of St. Louis, who discharged a baker's dozen of his men because they announced their intention to vote for Bryan and Sewall, has repented his action, and recently, over his own signature, in a public letter, says he will take the men back.

After a year's anchorage on one side of Mombeshe lake, in New York, a floating island containing about two acres became released, and is now floating in Wind lake, situated eight miles distant, near Monroe. Hunters are having fine sport with the foxes and raccoons thus imprisoned.

Origin of New Styles.

New styles are chosen in quite an odd way. The fashionable dressmakers bring over, twice a year a selection of costumes, from which their customers choose what suits their fancy. They cannot buy the gown they see—that is, not always, but from the model shown there can be ordered a gown made to fit the particular figure. Sometimes the blending of colors does not suit the taste of the purchaser, who then chooses what she prefers, guided, of course, somewhat, by the taste of the dressmaker, who is an acknowledged autocrat, and refuses to allow too much latitude of choice. When a costume has sufficient originality of design to mark it as distinctive, it is certain to be copied, and in this way all new fashions make their debut.—Harper's Bazar.

Bread, Butter and Health.

Many physicians, according to a lecturer on dietetics, are ordering thin bread and butter for delicate patients, especially those suffering from dyspepsia, consumption and anaemia, or any who need to take on flesh. This thin bread and butter insensibly induces persons to eat much more butter than they have any idea of. It is extraordinary, says the lecturer, how short a way a pat of fresh butter will go if spread on a number of thin slices of bread. This is one advantage, and a great one, in the feeding of invalids, excellent form of the fat which is so essential for their nutrition in a way that lures them to take it without rebellion. But the thin bread and butter has another advantage equally as great—it is very digestible and easily assimilated. Fresh butter made from cream is very much more digestible when spread upon thin slices of bread than the same amount of cream eaten as cream, per se, would be.

THE BANK ROBBERY

ONE ROBBER DEAD THE OTHER IN JAIL.

Marshall William Gallion, of Bancroft, Iowa Shot Dead by one of the Robbers—The Robber Wounded in the Chase and While Lying on the Ground Fires a Bullet Into His Own Brain—The Other Robber Captured and in Jail.

Fairmont, Minn., Oct. 14. — Sheriff Wash Hill of Martin county arrived here at 9:45 with the self-confessed accomplice of the man who was killed at Elmore while resisting arrest for the double murder and bank robbery at Sherburne. Sheriff Hill was assisted by Sheriff William Mitchell of Freeborn county, Sheriff Sandy McDonald of Faribault county and Marshal Ruby of Lake Mills, Iowa, who captured the young man. The sheriffs had intended to take their prisoner to Blue Earth City, but received a message on the way that the feeling in Sherburne was dying out and that there would be no danger in taking the prisoner to Fairmont, the seat of Martin county, and so the plan was changed.

It became quite generally known along the line that the prisoner was en-route and the depot platforms were crowded all the way along. No demonstrations were made, however, at any of the stations, the people generally remarking at the prisoner's youth and commenting upon his appearance. At the Fairmont depot the platform was slightly more crowded than at the other points. The sheriffs had prepared for trouble, although they did not anticipate any, and for precaution the prisoner was removed to the rear coach. Sheriff Hill had telephoned for a closed carriage to be at the station in a position to make the distance short from the rear of the last car to the conveyance. The coach was stopped with the rear steps right opposite the carriage. Sheriff Hill and his deputies, with their prisoner, were in the carriage and being driven rapidly toward the jail before more than half a dozen people knew that he had left the train. They had expected that the sheriff would get off the middle coach and pass right through the crowd on the platform.

No Demonstration

was made, however. Sheriff Hill had expected a large crowd from Sherburne, but was happily disappointed. About fifty men and boys came over. But few farmers visited the city, and there appears to exist no cause for alarm. The people seem to be satisfied that the remaining alleged robber has been caught and are perfectly willing to let the law take its course, although they assert that had he been caught in the vicinity of Martin and Faribault counties on the night of the killing of Marshal Gallion and the shooting of his alleged accomplice at Elmore, the consequences might have been very serious for the prisoner. Now that the excitement has cooled down the people are becoming milder in their views of the situation. Sheriff Hill is confident that no attempt will be made to lynch the prisoner; but in order to make assurances doubly sure, the sheriff had five or six deputies scattered through the coach on the train from Sherburne. It was intended to have Deputy Sheriff Dunn of Jackson county drive the prisoner to Worthington and place him in the jail there in case it was apparent that mischief was intended by the citizens. But there were not more than a dozen strangers in Fairmont when the train came in and pulled away, and the services of the deputies were not needed. The prisoner was guarded by the usual jail force with one extra deputy sheriff on watch.

Makes Another Confession.

Inside the jail the prisoner was put through a systematic course of cross-questioning. He told his story of the crime exactly as it was given yesterday, and when being plied with a multitude of questions, admitted that it was himself and companion who set fire to a building at Heron Lake with the object of attracting the attention of the bank officials and drawing them away from the bank by the unusual occurrence of a fire.

"We were successful in getting them out of the bank," the prisoner said, "and our plan would have succeeded had not the bank officials taken the precaution to first lock up all the funds. We got into the bank all right, but got nothing. We made up our minds then that the plan would not work in the future and tackled the Sherburne job, which had been previously planned, but given up because we thought it was too risky. We finally decided to try it, however."

Being asked why he rode boldly through Lake Mills, the prisoner said: "Oh, I had ridden through several places like that and was only stopped twice, and then they asked me if I had encountered the man for whom they were looking, and did not seem to suspect me. When we separated out of Sherburne it was agreed that we should meet in Albert Lea on Oct. 15 to divide the money and plan something else."

In regard to himself, his name or place of residence, the prisoner still refuses to make and statement. He said when questioned closely on this point: "I have a Christian mother and a Christian sister. I will not bring disgrace upon them if I can help it."

In the train coming here the prisoner and a cowboy just in from Montana recognized each other, the recognition being mutual. The cowboy said that he worked on a farm near Watertown, S. D., a year ago with the prisoner. He could not remember the name beyond the fact that he was known as "Jim." The fictitious name given was "Jim McMullen."

Mason City, Iowa, Oct. 14.—People here have no doubt that the bank robber who did the shooting at Sherburne, Minn., and who shot himself rather than be taken alive clerked in this city all the summer. He bore the name here of Jesse Lake, and that was probably his true name.

Fairmont, Minn., Oct. 15.—The Sherburne bank robber, confined in the Martin county jail, made a statement to Sheriff Hill to-day, which has been verified, giving his name, and home. His name is Lew Kellihan, and his home Rock Rapids, Iowa, where his parents reside. He gives his age as twenty-one years, and states that his brother, who was killed, was the younger, being but eighteen.

Sheriff Hill to-day secured a detailed statement from the prisoner, showing the route he followed before being captured, and the manner in which he evaded capture for so long a time. He also made a more detailed statement of the affair in the bank, refusing, however, to go into details concerning the shooting of Cashier Thorburn and Collector Oestern. He said:

"As I said before, my brother planned the robbery and came to our home to have me help him with it. We thought the idea of using bicycles would be an excellent one and that it would thus be very easy to escape. I am a good rider and my brother was an expert. He could ride fifty miles without stopping at pretty near record-breaking time, and it was because he was such a good rider that it was agreed that he should take the money. We believed that we could get a hundred or more miles away from Sherburne before the people would have any idea where we were, even if it was found that we got away on bicycles. We intended to meet at Albert Lea on Thursday, Oct. 15, to divide the money, and then we had planned to ride into Missouri and Texas and probably into Mexico. We figured on relying on our bicycles entirely and never intended to use the trains. In that way we thought it would not be so easy to use the telegraph to head us off.

Planned the Robbery.

"We did not know at first what bank we would rob. We were well acquainted with all the ground in Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota and relied upon that a good deal to help us in getting away. We had our different routes all picked out, where they afforded the best hiding places and where the country was sparsely settled and then principally by Germans and Norwegians, who, not speaking English very well, would not become so soon informed of the robbery. We rode over the ground several times and knew just where we were going. We did not decide, however, which bank to rob for several days, which we spent in riding about the country. We finally determined to try the one at Heron Lake and boarded at a place there for several days. The scheme of setting fire to the building in order to get the people out of the bank, we made up our minds would not work after trying it at Heron Lake, and then we determined to try the Sherburne bank.

"We first agreed not to shoot. I told my brother that I would not go in with him if any shooting was to be done. We thought that the bank officials would be scared to death if we threatened to shoot them, and got big revolvers for that purpose. We got the revolvers at Lakefield. We broke a window in the store and I crawled through and got the revolvers and the big knife. We went to Sherburne Tuesday. I remained outside of town and he went in and bought the overalls. We rode back to Heron Lake, where we stayed all night at the place at which we had been stopping, and Wednesday morning early we started for Sherburne. We rode in very fast so that not many people would see us to recognize us. We first put our wheels in the back alley behind the bank building and watched the bank from a buggy shed across the street. We waited for a couple of men to do some business in the bank, and when we thought there was no one in but the officials we cut across the street and went in. We Walked Right Up to the Counter.

We had agreed that I was to ask the officials the questions to attract their attention, while he was to cover them with his revolvers and command them to throw up their hands. Then I was to get the money, lock the doors and windows and we were to go out the front way and lock the door on the outside so that they could not get out. In that way we expected to be a long way off before the alarm was given. There were two men behind the counter of the bank when we came in. They were talking to each other, and when I approached the counter, as though I wanted something, one of them looked up and I asked him if I could get a draft. While I was asking the question he (the brother) got out his guns and commanded the men to throw up their hands. I started for the money drawer when I heard him (the brother) shooting. I was scared and said: 'Let's get out of here. Let's jump through the window.' He said: 'Attend to your business,' and so then I went around and took a package of money out of the drawer, all there was, with some loose bills.

"There was some gold on the counter, but I did not take it because I thought we would probably have to ride pretty fast and it would be too heavy. He (the brother) cut the screen to the back window with the big knife and we jumped through it and got on our bicycles and rode off. We went about three miles, where I gave him the money and we separated. I rode west about five miles south of Jackson, then south down the Des Moines river and passed near Estherville."

He then gave in detail his wanderings until arrested at Lake Mills.

Upon being questioned further the prisoner said that he had never been engaged in any such undertakings before he went out with his brother. They had made up their minds, however, to make a stake that way and go to Europe to live, thus hoping to escape detection. When asked why he didn't throw away the guns and other evidences of the crime that were in his possession the young man said that he didn't think he would be caught.

Swindlers Sentenced.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 20.—In the federal court here before Judge Phillips the "Mystic Number" swindler G. R. Bell, alias James T. Schwartz, and his four accomplices, Henry T. Wells, M. A. McGinnis, Thomas A. Robbins and Thomas H. Hobson, pleaded guilty to the charges of using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes and were sentenced last evening, Schwartz, Wells and McGinnis being sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and to pay fines of $1,000 each. The others were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to six months in the county jail. These were the swindlers who represented to farmers that they were in league with the treasury department and in a position to give out treasury notes supposed to have been cancelled, to those who became members of their organization. Several farmers paid big fees to become members of the "Mystic Numbers."

A TOWN WIPED OUT

ALTATA, IN THE STATE OF SINALOA MEX., IS DESTROYED.

A Cloudburst Sends Torrents Down the Hills Back of the Town and a Tidal Wave Sweeps in From the Sea, and Every House in the Town Is Demolished—The Town Twice Before Destroyed.

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—On the last trip of the Pacific coast steamship Orizaba up the Gulf of California the officers and crew of the vessel were surprised to find one of the ports they make regularly wiped off the earth. When the ship reached the mouth of the River Culiaca, in the State of Sinaloa, the mining town of Altata, which had stood there on the Orizaba's last trip, was gone. Not a building was left standing. This was one of the results of the terrible storm which played havoc on the mainland coast of the gulf, Sept. 17 and 18. The storm was of a sort of a composite affair, taking the nature of a tidal wave and cloudburst. Torrents rushed down from the hills back of Altata and met the tidal wave carried in from the sea and the town was obliterated. Fortunately the loss of life was slight and the Altatans are now camping in tents or rudely constructed huts a little back of where the town stood.

So far as Altata is concerned it is no new thing for it to find itself off the map. This is the third time that town has been swallowed by the sea. Twice the place has been rebuilt, each time at a point further up the river. This time the residents will build well in from the coast, it is said.

BRYAN'S TOUR.

Another Day Spent by the Nominee in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 20. — After a night's rest William J. Bryan awoke this morning refreshed and in good condition to continue his record-breaking trip through Michigan. He started in with a speech at St. John's. He also spoke at Ovid, Durand and Flint.

There were stops of one hour at Bay City, a half at Vassar, the same time at Lapere, five minutes at Imlay City, thirty minutes at Port Huron and ten minutes at Mount Clemens. At Bay City, while the crowd was one of the largest of the day, it was not so enthusiastic as some of the others. There was a good-sized assemblage at Vassar and others at Lapere and Imlay City, while in Port Huron the nominee spoke to an audience of several thousand. There were no new points in any of his addresses, the same ground having been covered by him before within the last few days.

Mr. Bryan completed his spectacular tour of Michigan by addressing the largest throngs of people ever gathered at a political meeting in Detroit. From a platform erected against the Washington boulevard side of the Hotel Cadillac he talked to a mass of people which filled the wide boulevard and extended far into the adjoining streets. At the auditorium he spoke to an audience which occupied every inch of space, while thousands stood outside waiting for a possible sight of the candidate. Lastly he appeared upon a stand erected at the Woodward avenue front of the city hall before a crowd which was so great that it stopped all street car and other traffic entirely.

FATED FIRM.

Mysterious Destruction of Property of Secklerville, Wis., Men.

Black River Falls, Wis., Oct. 20.—There seems to be something a little mysterious about the way property belonging to J. R. Seckler & Son at Secklerville, in this county, is destroyed. Early in the spring their creamery, the best in the county, was burned after midnight of Sunday, when there had been no fire in the building since Saturday night. The fire was not discovered in time to save anything from the building or warehouse. Tuesday night, or, rather, about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, their large general store was found to be in flames. There had been an explosion of the kerosene oil tank, scattering the oil all over the store, so that it was impossible to save a thing. This was mysterious again, as the weather had been so warm that no fire had been needed for several days. It was at first thought that it was due to burglars, but when cooled off the safe was found to be all right, but the incendiary appearance has not yet been cleared up in any way. This firm is one of the largest and probably does the most business of any in the county, as they are in the flouring, creamery, mercantile, farming and stock raising business on a large scale and employ a large number of men, and there is much indignation felt by the friends of the firm, and should any one be found guilty of the act they would probably get a lesson that would last them the rest of their lives.

Riot at a Ball Game.

Portsmouth, Ohio, Oct. 20. — A riot was caused here by the Sunday Observance league attempting to break up a ball game between the Portsmouth and Chillicothe teams. Constables who tried to serve the warrants were chased off the grounds by a howling mob of spectators, and narrowly escaped alive. The crowd then surrounded the office of Squire Cole, where the ticket seller, Richard Thornton, was held. They threatened to release him and the riot alarm was turned in. The police finally dispersed the crowd. Over 150 arrests were made on the charge of rioting.

Catholic Church Consumed.

Stevens Point, Wis., Oct. 20. — The church and parsonage belonging to St. Peter's Polish congregation were burned to-day. The building was of brick veneer. The buildings were valued at $25,000 and were insured for $12,000.

Judge Richardson Dying.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Chief Justice William A. Richardson, of the court of claims, is lying at the point of death at his home in this city. He is suffer-

TURKS IN EARNEST.

America's Guardship Cannot Pass the Dardanelles.

Athens, Oct. 20.—The Asty publishes a dispatch from Constantinople which states that the United States guardship intends to force the Dardanelles, and that in consequence two Turkish torpedo boats have gone to the Dardanelles and two others to Smyrna.

Constantinople, Oct. 20.—It is stated here that the United States minister, Mr. Terrell, is going to Smyrna to consult Rear Admiral Selfridge, who is in command of the squadron of United States warships which have rendezvoused there.

New York, Oct. 20.—Madji Rahsian is a Christian Turk who was one of the passengers on board the La Gascogne, which arrived to-day. He comes to this country on a business trip. Through an interpreter he told about the massacres of Armenians. He was in Constantinople during the three days' massacre in August last. During the three days 30,000 Armenians, he said, were slaughtered through the empire. Wagons filled with bodies were constantly passing through the streets in Constantinople. Cart load after cart load of these bodies were dumped into the sea. The sight was a sickening one, and what added to its horror was the fact that in these wagons were piled the dead and dying, and the feeble cries of the wounded for release could be heard coming from the carts, but the appeals were utterly unheeded. Whether killed or wounded, all were thrown into the sea. Mr. Rahsian says that the Europeans have not been molested up to date. He added that they are leaving Constantinople, fearing that they may be attacked.

STONES AND LEAD.

An Occurrence of the Blood-and-Thunder Order.

Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 20.—David Pearl was shot and killed at Pondtown, a few miles from here, last night by Harmon Calaman, and John Beidelman, Pearl's companion, was seriously wounded. The details of the shooting, related by Calaman when he was brought to the county prison here to-day, read like a chapter from a blood-and-thunder novel. Pearl and Beidelman went to the home of Otho Calaman, against whom Beidelman had a grudge because of the former's refusal to permit him to marry his daughter, and began stoning it. They broke every window light in the house and inflicted injury on Mrs. Calaman and the infant she was carrying in her arms. In addition many articles of furniture and crockery were broken. One of the missiles hurled through a window was the knuckle-end of the shin of a beef. This made a hole in the stovepipe and lodged there, being seen by the officers when they visited the house to-day. Satisfied with the damage done to the house of the father of Beidelman's sweetheart, the two men loudly proclaimed that they would go to the house of Harmon Calaman, a brother of Otho Calaman, who resids less than one hundred yards away, and would "do him up." Harmon Calaman evidently overheard the threat of the men for he went into the garden a few feet from his house, armed with a shotgun. When the men began the same abuse of his family that they had inflicted upon his brother's household, Harmon Calaman blazed away with his gun, killing Pearl instantly. He then went to his barn, reloaded the weapon and shot Beidelman, who had followed him into the orchard. The shot landed in Biedelman's leg. Both men are in prison. Calaman bears a very good reputation.

RAILROAD MEN PARADE.

Over Ten Thousand of Them in Line in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Oct. 20.—What are known as "railway and money clubs" gave the largest demonstration of the kind ever seen in Cincinnati. Over 10,000 railway employes paraded with presidents, general managers and other officers in line on foot. All the roads entering Cincinnati were represented by divisions in the parade. The clubs came from this and surrounding states and there were many fine floats and transparencies, while lanterns of red, yellow and green were carried by all in brilliant uniforms. There were seven grand marshals, each having several wagon loads of fireworks to illume the line of march. After parading the streets over an hour the railroaders broke ranks at Music hall, where Capt. W. W. Peabody, vice president and general manager of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, presided. Ralph Peters was vice chairman and Charles Fish secretary. Speeches were made by M. E. Ingalls, president of the Big Four and the Chesapeake & Ohio railways; J. T. Brooks, vice president and general counsel of the Pennsylvania and others.

RUSSIAN MOBILIZATION.

In Anticipation of a European Mandate to Occupy Constantinople.

London, Oct. 20.—A special dispatch from Vienna says that the Neue Freie Presse of that city announces that steps to complete the mobilization of the Russian forces are being taken in several districts. All the officers on leave or retired, it is further stated, have been recalled. In conclusion, it is intimated that these military movements are undertaken because it is expected that Russia will receive the European mandate to occupy Constantinople.

To Be Made a Bishop.

London, Oct. 20.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Rome says that Mgr. D. O'Connell, the former rector of the American college there, will shortly be made a bishop.

Speaker Reed's Condition.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Speaker Reed was still confined to his bed to-day. He was scarcely able to speak above a whisper. He is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Kitty Reed. Mr. Reed is scheduled to address two audiences in this city to-night, but will probably be unable to fill the engagements.

Senator Bate Ill.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Senator W. B. Bate is very sick and has been so for a week. He has been forbidden during that time to see visitors.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Ex-Mayor Smith has been appointed postmaster at St Paul, to succeed Capt. H. A. Castle.

An insurance man was arrested in Minneapolis on the charge of obtaining some $30,000 by fraudulent means.

Amelia Wildt secured a divorce from ex-Assistant Secretary of State Peter M. Wildt at St. Paul.

Burglars robbed Roxey Reber's residence at St. Paul of about $1,000 worth of property.

Duke Suplehs of Austria, in an interview at St. Paul, says he finds Minnesota the best place for Austrian peasants, and he will send all he can here.

Family trouble is supposed to have caused George R. Brennan, residing near Grand Rapids, to shoot himself, at his farm on the upper Mississippi.

A man by the name of Mitchell was arrested at Elk River, and taken by officers from Anoka, who want him on a charge of forgery.

The Minnesota Methodist conference has expelled Rev. J. C. Hull, who has been indicted by the grand jury at St. Paul, for attempting to poison his wife.

The state board of corrections and charities estimates the current expenses of state institutions for 1898 at $2,047,000.

The Ramsey County W. C. T. U. has decided to ask the legislature to give women the right to vote at municipal elections.

David Bonner, a former resident of South Stillwater, aged twenty-five, was killed in a railroad accident at Glasgow, Mont.

The large barn of F. R. Grieber, at Brownton, burned to the ground. The barn was full of hay, and several cattle were burned. The fire was caused by a lantern.

A young son of T. W. Hinton of Albert Lea, while out hunting, was accidentally shot in the head while pulling a gun from a wagon. It is believed the wound will prove fatal.

The farm residence of F. G. Douglass at Barodh, a small station five miles west of Alden, was totally destroyed by fire. It was one of the offices of the Blue Earth Valley telephone.

Jacob Fath was shot in the leg at Wells by Mrs. Grunskie. He worked for Grunskie, and they disagreed in settling. Fath drew a dirk and cut the latter's hand, and the woman shot him, inflicting a flesh wound. He has been bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bonds.

The lumber office of Christensen & Somerville of Delhi, was forced and the safe opened, but, fortunately, no money had been left there The only booty secured by the thieves was a new bicycle belonging to F. P Henning. Another wheel was stolen from the farm of Peter McKay, three miles from Delhi, a couple of night ago.

While several boys were hunting in the woods near Camp Lakeview, one of their number, Ernest Bennett, fourteen years of age, was accidentally shot by his brother, Walter. The bullet entered his shoulder and lodged at the base of the brain, the wound being inflicted by a twenty-two-caliber rifle. The lad is now in a precarious condition.

The Faribault police have not been able to get any clue to the clever forger who worked his game on the unsophisticated merchants here Oct. 8. Further developments show that eight checks were forged and passed, and that the same party buncoed a farmer out of a nice fur overcoat that same evening. In all, the fellow secured near $100.

Two men engaged in a quarrel in an open lot at Moorhead, resulting in one of the men nearly losing his nose through being cut with a knife. The nose was almost severed. The injured man is said to be a gambler from Minneapolis and his assailant a resident of Fargo. No complaint has been made as yet, and there is certainly a disposition to hush the matter up.

The Standard Oil company's oil house and stock yards of the Minneapolis & St Louis Railway company, at Hanley Falls, were destroyed by fire. The fire started in the oil house, spreading to the stock yards, which were in close proximity. Two large storage tanks of oil only a few feet from the fire, were the cause of considerable alarm, as there was great danger of an explosion. The origin of the fire is not known. Loss, $3,000; partly insured.

The ministers of the Lutheran church of the Norwegian district, comprising the Red River valley, held their annual conference at Brainerd. Questions of theology and methods of church work took up most of the time. Much interest was manifested in debating the various subjects introduced. Other matters pertaining to the church in general were discussed. It is expected that the local society at Brainerd will build what will be the finest church in the city

A stranger arrived in Lake City recently and secured lodging for the night at the Hotel Ryan. Next morning he was found dead in bed by the landlord The coroner was notified and an inquest held. The jury found that he came to his death through natural causes Nothing about his person could be found to identify him. The sum of 22 cents was found in his pockets. He was about thirty years of age, weighed nearly 160 pounds, and from his appearance it was thought he was a laboring man. No one having called for his remains, he was buried.

About two weeks ago J M U. Thompson of Mathews, a county commissioner, so it is alleged, and as the evidence showed, set a fire near Mathews. He failed to attend to it and allowed it to go unprotected. Everything being in a dry condition, it soon got beyond the control of all the people in and around Mathews, and the state warden was appealed to for help. He ordered assistance from Barnum and Carlton and several other towns, and after several days' hard fighting the fire was subdued; not, however, until it had done great damage to the timber and destroyed several buildings and hundreds of tons of hay. Mr. Thompson, his wife and son were arrested and taken to Carlton. He was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $75 or stand committed for seventy days in the county jail. Mrs. Thompson and the son were discharged.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞ ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA — PULLMAN
BUTTE — SLEEPING CARS
SPOKANE — ELEGANT
TACOMA — DINING CARS
SEATTLE — TOURIST
PORTLAND — SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 21, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON, of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.

For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.

For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Hennepin

For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON, Polk.

For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES, St. Louis.

Presidential Electors—
T. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H. H. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kelliher; Charles D' Autrement; Hans B. Bjorge; James Dillon.

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives—
S. J. LEE ....Norman County
G. O. GILBERTSON, "
W. A. MARIN........Polk County

MORE ABOUT MEXICO.

Zina Goodell, of Barnum, Minn., father of C. L. Goodell, one of the best known citizens of Carlton county, is a "sound money" Republican. Not long ago he wrote to a cousin in Mexico, seeking gold arguments. Below is a copy of the letter which he received, and it bears out in every respect the claims of the silver men:

Hacienda de Guadalupe, Hautla, Estado de Morelos, Mexico, Sept. 20, 1896.—Zina Goodell, Barnum, Minn., My dear Cousin: Yours of Sept. 2, with family record received. Accept my thanks for the trouble you have gone to to fill it up.

I hope to get together a very complete record eventually.

I believe with you in protection, but I can't help but think that the money question is at the bottom of all the trouble in the United States, especially with the agricultural people, and they are the basis of all our prosperity. When they are prosperous the whole community is also, and I question very much if they can compete on a gold basis with other producers of farm products that are on a silver basis, as the price at which your farmer must sell his grain is regulated by the cost of producing it in India and importing it to the markets of the world and that cost is regulated by the price of silver. In this country we are entirely on a silver basis. The only effect that the present high cost of gold or if you prefer the low price of silver is to stop importations of imported articles, which stimulates home production; and as a result this country was never so prosperous as now. Manufactories are springing up everywhere, and Mexico will in a few years be independent of the world. Of course there is no comparison between the two countries, as Mexico is just emerging from centuries of Spanish misrule which was followed by years of civil strife; but the country has gone ahead in the last fifteen years more than it did for a hundred years.

Railroads are building, cotton mills being erected and large profits being made in all lines. The government is stable and is run for the benefit of her own people and not for the money loaners of New York and London. The prosperity of the country is such that the government has been able to pay her interest in gold and promptly and the credit of Mexico is good. As to cost of living here, a Mexican dollar is just as good on the average as a gold dollar is in the states. Imported articles are high, but then we avoid using them as much as possible. Many things are much cheaper than in the states, but take it all together a dollar will go as far here as in the states. Railroad fares and freights are fully as cheap. Now about wages. Mechanics receive better wages here than in the states. Native labor is cheap but then the cost of living is also cheap. There is of course no comparison between these half-breed Indians and American laborers either as to their intelligence or ability to work. Where I am is what is known as the hot country, we pay common labor 50 cents per day, miners, $1 to $1.50; mechanics, $1.50. The above of course are natives and they can live well, including clothing, for 20 cents per day or less. The necessaries of life are so cheap that a man can support a family on 50 cents per day. The climate is such that but little clothing is necessary and the houses they live in do not have to be expensive. The interests of Mexico is that the United States remain on a gold basis as she sells her coffee, fruit, etc., for gold and then sells the gold for $2 for $1. As for the mines we take our silver to our own mints and have it coined and with it we pay all our expenses exactly the same as when silver was at par in the United States. The high cost of exchange acts as a protective tariff of 100 per cent, and as a result our manufacturers are getting rich and the country is being developed fast. Only a few weeks ago a local machine shop received an order for a 200-horse power Corliss engine in competition with American manufactories and this marks the beginning of Mexico's independence of foreign makers, for machinery and the imports of this class of goods will fall off very fast now.

I guess I have written all you will want to read about Mexico, but don't let the politicians make you believe that a Mexican dollar in Mexico is not just as good as a gold dollar in the states as it certainly is. Believe me sincerely your cousin,

WILLARD S. MORSE.
—Duluth Herald.

E. E. LOMMEN.

The People's candidate for congress in the 7th congressional Dist. of Minn. was born in Winneshiek county, Iowa, Feb. 9, 1856. He received his education in the common schools, Breckenridge's Institute of Decorah, Ia. and the Upper Iowa University of Fayette, Ia. He taught school and worked on the farm in order to obtain means to secure education, but did not finish a collegiate course.

In 1878 he settled on a farm near Crookston, Minn. where he resided since, and experienced the ups and downs of a farmer's life.

In 1890 he was elected to the State Senate by the Alliance Party, and in 1894 was the People's Party nominee for Lieut. Gov.

One of the first acts of his legislative career was to introduce and secure the passage of a bill reducing the salaries of county officers in Polk county, thereby saving to the people of said county several thousand dollars each year.

He also introduced the Red River Valley Drainage bill appropriating $100,000 for drainage purposes, and it was largely through his efforts that the bill became a law. Among the important measures introduced by him may be named, a bill for the reduction of the rate of interest and making it a criminal offence to charge usury; but as Mr. Donnelly claimed it was better to amend the present law, as its constitutionality had been passed upon by the supreme court, amendments were offered embracing the charges included in Mr. Lommen's bill. Mr. Lommen supported and voted for the bill as did the other Alliance members; but as the Alliance had less than one-fourth of the membership of the senate they could not be held responsible for its failing to pass.

Among other important bills introduced and championed by Mr. Lommen were S. F. No. 61, a bill for an act to establish a court of railway and warehouses, etc., etc. The intent of this bill was to meet the objections of the supreme court, to the railway and warehouse commission exercising judicial powers; S. F. No. 155 a bill for an act relating to elevators and warehouses at railway stations, public elevators at terminal points, the furnishing of cars, the shipment of grain and other produce in car load lots, and the weighing and inspection of grain and fixing the liability of common carriers.

S. F. No. 156, to amend Sec. 6 and 7, Chap. 10, Gen. Laws of 1887, relating to common carriers.

These bills were intended as a relief to the shippers of grain, but like hundreds of other meritorious measures they were defeated by corporate influence.

Mr. Lommen voted for the Duluth elevator bill, for the taxation of R. R. lands and many others in the interest of the farmers. He voted for the measures demanded by organized labor in favor of the working men.

He voted against the Duluth and Winnepeg land grant and the capitol bill.

The rebublicans have been trying to blame the Alliance for the extravagence of the legislature of 1891, but as they had only 12 members out of 54 in the senate, this charge will not stick, Mr. Lommen fought against the extravagant appropriations and voted against the Gen. appropriation bill of that session. Many of the Republican papers who are now trying to be-little Mr. Lommen, characterized him as one of the able champions of the farmers' interests, when he was in the legislature.

An exchange says; "If men are the salt of the earth, women are unboubtedly the sugar. Salt is a necessity, sugar a luxury. Vicious men are the saltpetre, indifferent men the rock salt, and nice men the table salt. Old maids are the brown sugar, good-natured matrons the loaf sugar, and pretty girls the fine, pulverized, white, clarified sugar. Waiter, pass the pulverized sugar.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

A Secondhand Dealer Ran Across a Will and Caught a Counterfeiter.

In reply to a query from a correspondent of Cassell's Saturday Journal a London secondhand bookseller said: "I frequently make finds in books I buy. It is extraordinary the number of things that are slipped between the pages of books for a moment and afterward entirely forgotten. Letters without number I have found, and flowers, locks of hair, unmounted photographs, bank notes, checks and many other things too.

"I bought a volume of a well known work from a lady some years ago, and after she had gone, while turning over the leaves, came across a will which disposed of some thousands of pounds' worth of property. I put the will carefully away, and the following day the lady returned in a frightful state of excitement and wanted to buy the book back at my own price. I guessed what she really wanted, but thought it rather strange that she should ask to buy the book instead of merely asking to be allowed to examine it, which would have been just as effective. However, I told her I had found the will and supposed that that was what she wanted. She looked confused, but confessed it was, so I handed it to her, and she went away. Up to this time that will has not been filed, so I have learned, and I have not the slightest doubt that it has been suppressed for the purpose of depriving some one of the property which it disposed of. But the most interesting case in which I have been concerned in this way happened not long ago.

"A well dressed, gentlemanly man brought me three bulky volumes and wanted me to purchase them. As they were of a class of books the value of which varies considerably, according to the condition and edition, and I was very busy at the time, I asked him to leave them that I might examine them and call next day. This he consented to do and went away. When I looked at them, I came across a large number of bank notes. They were evidently quite new, and there was something about them which made me doubt their authenticity. I compared them with notes of my own, but could not discover the faintest dissimilarity. However, to make sure of the matter, I sent them, to be paid, to my bank. Naturally, when my messenger came back, having passed the notes without the slightest difficulty, I concluded they were all right.

"The next morning I received a message from the manager of my bank saying he would like me to call upon him. I went round and was not very much surprised when he said that every one of the notes I had banked the day before was a forgery. I explained the matter, and we wired to Scotland Yard. That afternoon I had a new assistant in my shop. Toward the close of the day the owner of the three volumes came sauntering into the shop and asked if I intended to buy them. At a sign from me my new assistant—a detective—pounced upon him and hurried him off. Scotland Yard had been looking for him for a long time, it appeared. I still have the books in my library. I keep them as a memento of the occurrence."

—"Money talks" so does good advertising.

PLATFORM IN A NUTSHELL.

The Populist Platform says that through executive power and patronage, the will of the people has been thwarted and plutocracy has been enthroned on the ruins of democracy. It demands:—

Increase in the volume of the currency.

Free coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1.

That postal saving banks shall be established.

That the Pacific railroad liens shall be foreclosed.

That the graduated income tax shall be levied.

That demonetization of lawful money by contract shall be prohibited.

That no more bonds shall be issued except by specific act of congress.

That the government shall own and operate the railroad and telegraph lines.

That grants of railroad lands not needed by the roads shall be reclaimed and held for settlers.

That the president, vice-president and senators shall be elected by direct vote of the people.

That the government shall exercise its option in paying its obligations in either gold or silver.

That the initiative and referendum (by which the people can vote on the enactment of laws) shall be inaugurated.

The platform expresses sympathy for Cubans; favors home rule in the District of Columbia and the early admission of the territories to statehood; favors just pensions, denounces rule by contempt proceedings and denounces ballot box frauds.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Information that informs.

If you are going East—or South—and want to know what the trip will cost, when you will reach your destination, and why you should take "The Burlington" to Chicago, Peoria, St Louis and Kansas City, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. & P. A., St. Paul, Minn., and you will receive by return mail a letter telling JUST EXACTLY what you want to know. Reclining Chair Cars—seats free; Pullman Compartment and Standard Sleepers; Dining Cars, serving meals from 25 cents up—the combination makes comfort sure, and it will SUIT YOU.

Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

The BEER=

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK,

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday..$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..........$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year........ $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK. }

In Probate Court; Special Term, October 1st 1896.

In the matter of the estate of Arthur Yvernault, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition H. E. Ives representing among other things, that upon the 22nd day of May 1882 the above named Arthur Yvernault was the owner in fee of the following described real property lying, situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The East half of the South-west quarter and lots eight, nine and fourteen in section six, township one hundred fifty-two, range forty-three, and lots number two, three, four, five six, seven and ten, and the South-east quarter of the North-west quarter, all in section number six, township one hundred fifty-two, range forty-three; and other lands, that upon the said 22nd day of May 1882 the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault, who was at that time an unmarried man, sold, bargained and agreed to convey, for a valuable consideration, the property hereinbefore described, to the following described persons, to-wit: An undivided one-half thereof to the Red River & Lake of the Woods Railway Company (a corporation); and an undivided one-sixth thereof to Frank Ives, and an undivided one-sixth thereof to G. F. Copeland; that upon the same day, to-wit: the 22nd day of May 1882 with the intention of conveying the five-sixths interest of the hereinbefore described property to the persons hereinbefore named the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault made, executed and delivered his warrantee deed of the undivided five-sixths interest in and to all of the aforesaid property, excepting lots six and seven in said section six; but that by mistake and inadvetence the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault omitted to include in said deed and conveyance the undivided five-sixths interest of said lots six and seven; that said deed upon being executed was as aforesaid so delivered by Arthur Yvernault to the grantees named therein, who thereupon entered into possession of the property sold and conveyed to them by the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault including lots six and 7 and that ever since said time the aforesaid grantees and their assigns have been in the possession of the aforesaid premises including said lots six and seven and that since the execution and delivery of said deed neither the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault nor his personal representatives have had or claimed to have any right, title or interest in or to the five-sixths of said lots six and seven so sold and intended to be conveyed unto the grantees in said deed; that legally the title of said undivided five-sixths of said lots six and seven is and appears of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for Polk county in the name of the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault; that said Arthur Yvernault has since deceased; that your petitioner is interested in said lots six and seven as part owner thereof and makes this petition for the purpose of procuring an order from this court directed to John Cromb the administrator of the estate of Arthur Yvernault deceased, directing and authorizing him to execute to the grantees named in said deed said undivided five-sixths interest in said lots six and seven conformable to the intention of the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault at the time of the sale thereof.

It is ordered, that the said petition be heard before this Court, on Saturday, the 31st day of October 1896, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the Probate office in the City of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the St. Hilaire Spectator, a weekly newspaper printed and published at St. Hilaire, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., the first day of October A. D. 1896.

By the Court.
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

The American Hotel....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

..16 to 1..
Silver Army.

Great Campaign Document.

THE "SILVER SUPPLEMENT"

To the FARM, FIELD AND FIRESIDE, the most complete, instructive and convincing discussion of the silver question ever published.

We Print Them FREE and Will Send from

One to Ten Thousand.

Send us your name with stamps to pay postage.

Fifteen cents for 50; Thirty cents for 100.

AGENTS wanted to circulate our literature and solicit subscriptions.

For 10 Cents this paper till Nov. 15
For 25 Cents this paper till Jan. 1, 1897.

THE FARM, FIELD AND FIRESIDE,
CHICAGO, ILL.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

HELD UP A TRAIN

Robbers Stop the Union Pacific Express in the Weber Canyon.

Failed to Open the Express Safe, But Rifled the Registered Mail.

They Will Be Relentlessly Pursued by Government Secret Service Officers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—A special from Salt Lake City to a morning paper says: The Union Pacific train due here at 3:15 a. m., was held up a short distance east of Uintah, near the mouth of Weber canyon, and about eight miles from Ogden. It is supposed that two men did the work, but just how much booty they got is not known, and particulars will be late. The engineer who left the train ran ahead to Uintah and telegraphed in the bare facts. He believes, however, from the conversation of the two men as they went through the train that they intended to blow up the baggage car with dynamite. A train was made up at Ogden and dispatched to the scene of the robbery and orders were given to organize a posse and run the robbers down.

PASSENGERS NOT MOLESTED.

All the Robbers Got Was Contained in the Mail Sacks Rifled.

OGDEN, Utah, Oct. 15.—The train held up near Uintah has arrived here. No passengers were molested, the robbers confining operations to the mail and express cars. The robbers, two in number, boarded the train at Patterson, a station in the heart of Weber Canyon. The robbers surprised the engineer by suddenly appearing from behind the tank and covering him with a gun. They ordered the fireman to cover his head with a cotton sack, which they handed him. The engineer was ordered to stop the train and told to indicate the express car, which he did. While the attention of the robbers was distracted, the engineer ran away and escaped to Uintah, where Superintendent O'Neil was notified. Meanwhile the baggage and express cars were uncoupled by the robbers and run ahead of the train a few hundred yards, and both cars broken open. The robbers failed to open the safe in the express car. The railway officials say all the booty secured was a few mail bags, the value of their contents being unknown. A special train in charge of Superintendent O'Neil may catch the robbers, as the latter cannot get out of the canyon except by the eastern route and all station agents have been notified and are awaiting the appearance of the bandits.

GOVERNMENT IS INTERESTED.

Union Pacific Train Robbers Rifled the Registered Mail.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The Union Pacific fast mail train held up at Uintah, Utah, was carrying the Chicago and other Eastern mail from the coast. Superintendent Troy of the railway mail service was wired by the postal messengers on the train that the postal cars were entered by bandits and all of the registered mail thoroughly rifled. The fast mail carries the registered mail from the coast and as a great proportion of such mail is correspondence between banks, enclosing exchanges and remittences and always a good proportion of cash, the loss is supposed by Mr. Troy to be of consequence. "This is the first time in many years that the mail cars have been held up," said Mr. Troy. "The bandits in the past have contented themselves with rifling express boxes, and have left the mail cars alone, fearing the relentlessness with which the government secret service agents pursue mail robbers. It was an exceptionally bold act to attack the fast mail of the Union Pacific railroad, one of the largest carriers of mail in the country. The government cannot afford to leave unfound the men who did the act."

Politics Caused a Murder.

REMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 15.—Frank Holmes, an old resident of this place, visited the home of Charles Bartholomew, where a picture of McKinley hung in the window. Holmes made a remark about it which angered Bartholomew, who seized a baseball bat and struck Holmes over the head, fracturing his skull fatally. Bartholomew has been placed under heavy bonds.

Two Engines Smashed.

BARNESVILLE, Minn., Oct. 15.—Engine No. 61, pulling a stock train, collided with a Northern Pacific freight train at the Glyndon railway crossing. Engineer Mason was badly shaken up, though not seriously hurt. Both engines were considerably damaged.

President Jordan Mentioned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Jordan of Leland Stanford University, California, is most prominently mentioned to succeed the late Professor Goode as assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution and director of the National museum.

Were Playing Soldiers.

MASON CITY, Ia., Oct. 15.—While the 8-year-old sons of E. D. Jenkins and J. B. Price were playing soldier in the yard, the latter carrying an old rusty gun, the weapon was accidentally discharged, blowing the top of young Jenkins' head off. He died instantly.

Sanctions Civil Marriages.

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 15.—The chamber of deputies have sanctioned the Radical project providing for civil marriages. It still requires the approval of the senate.

OFFICIAL STATE BALLOT.

Put a cross-mark (X) opposite the name of each candidate you wish to vote for in the squares indicated by the arrow.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

Presidential Elector—T. B. WALKER—Republican—McKINLEY ☐
Presidential Elector—E. G. HOLMES—Republican—McKINLEY ☐
Presidential Elector—BURDETTE THAYER—Republican—McKINLEY ☐
Presidential Elector—CHARLES H. BUDD—Republican—McKINLEY ☐
Presidential Elector—JAMES QUIRK—Republican—McKINLEY ☐
Presidential Elector—VALORA D. EDDY—Republican—McKINLEY ☐
Presidential Elector—C. A. SMITH—Republican—McKINLEY ☐
Presidential Elector—WARREN POTTER—Republican—McKINLEY ☐
Presidential Elector—M. R. BROWN—Republican—McKINLEY ☐

Presidential Elector—WILSON BORST—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN ☐
Presidential Elector—CHAS. d'AUTREMONT—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN ☐
Presidential Elector—JOHN H. IVES—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN ☐
Presidential Elector—HARLOW H. BONNIWELL—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN ☐
Presidential Elector—JOHN DAY SMITH—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN ☐
Presidential Elector—SYLVESTER KELLIHER—Peoples Democrat—BRYAN ☐
Presidential Elector—T. J. MEIGHEN—Peoples Democrat—BRYAN ☐
Presidential Elector—HANS B. BJORGE—Peoples Democrat—BRYAN ☐
Presidential Elector—JAMES DILLON—Peoples Democrat—BRYAN ☐

VOTE FOR NINE

Presidential Elector—JAMES P. PINKHAM—Prohibition—LEVERING ☐
Presidential Elector—OLE KRON—Prohibition—LEVERING ☐

Presidential Elector—BENJAMIN W. HOW—National Democrat—PALMER ☐
Presidential Elector—JAMES S. O'BRIEN—National Democrat—PALMER ☐
Presidential Elector—JOHN VON ROHR—National Democrat—PALMER ☐
Presidential Elector—ANTON SCHAEFER—National Democrat—PALMER ☐
Presidential Elector—T. N. SIMMONS—National Democrat—PALMER ☐
Presidential Elector—ERNST SCHRADER—National Democrat—PALMER ☐
Presidential Elector—A. UELAND—National Democrat—PALMER ☐
Presidential Elector—WILSON G. CROSBY—National Democrat—PALMER ☐
Presidential Elector—LYMAN B. EVERDELL—National Democrat—PALMER ☐

Presidential Elector—EDWIN E. FISHER—Socialist-Labor—MATCHETT ☐

STATE BALLOT.

Governor—DAVID M. CLOUGH—Republican ☐
Governor—JOHN LIND—Democrat—Peoples ☐
Governor—WM. J. DEAN—Prohibition ☐
Governor—ALBERT A. AMES—Independent ☐
Governor—WM. B. HAMMOND—Socialist-Labor ☐
Governor— ☐

VOTE FOR ONE

Lieutenant Governor—JOHN L. GIBBS—Republican ☐
Lieutenant Governor—J. M. BOWLER—Peoples—Democrat ☐
Lieutenant Governor—CLARENCE WEDGE—Prohibition ☐
Lieutenant Governor— ☐

VOTE FOR ONE

Secretary of State—ALBERT BERG—Republican ☐
Secretary of State—JULIUS J. HEINRICH—Democrat—Peoples ☐
Secretary of State—J. A. McCONKEY—Prohibition ☐
Secretary of State— ☐

VOTE FOR ONE

State Treasurer—AUGUST T. KOERNER—Republican ☐
State Treasurer—ALEXANDER McKINNON—Democrat—Peoples ☐
State Treasurer— ☐

VOTE FOR ONE

Attorney General—HENRY W. CHILDS—Republican ☐
Attorney General—JOHN A. KEYES—Peoples—Democrat ☐
Attorney General— ☐

VOTE FOR ONE

For Taxation of railroad lands. —YES ☐ —NO ☐

For the act appropriating the income from internal improvement land fund to the internal improvement or road and bridge fund. —YES ☐ —NO ☐

Shall there be a Constitutional Convention? —YES ☐ —NO ☐

Amendment to section four (4) of Article five (5) of the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, defining the authority and duties of the Governor in relation to pardons, and creating a board of pardons. —YES ☐ —NO ☐

Amendment to Section one (1), of Article seven (7), of the Constitution of the State of Minnesota which relates to elective franchise. —YES ☐ —NO ☐

Amendment to Article four (4) of the Constitution, allowing cities and villages in this state to frame their own city charters. —YES ☐ —NO ☐

Amendment to Section thirteen (13), of Article one (1), of the Constitution relating to the taking or damaging private property for public use. —YES ☐ —NO ☐

Amendment of Article eight (8) of the Constitution providing for loaning the permanent School and University Fund to cities, villages, towns, counties, and school districts. —YES ☐ —NO ☐

Constitutional Amendment providing for the taxation of sleeping car and other companies and owners, etc. —YES ☐ —NO ☐

COUNTY BALLOT.

Put a cross mark (X) opposite the name of each candidate you wish to vote for in the squares indicated by the arrow.

Member of Congress, 7th Dist. } FRANK M. EDDY—Republican. ☐
Member of Congress, 7th Dist. } EDWIN E. LOMMEN— } Peoples. Democrat. ☐
Member of Congress, 7th Dist. } J. F. HEIBERG—Prohibition. ☐
Member of Congress, 7th Dist. ☐

Vote for One.

Member of Legislature, 51st Dist. } LEWIS LOHN—Republican. ☐
Member of Legislature, 51st Dist. } ANDREW HAWKINS—Republican. ☐
Member of Legislature, 51st. Dist. } CHARLES G. RAPP—Republican. ☐
Member of Legislature, 51st Dist. } W. A. MARIN—Peoples. ☐
Member of Legislature, 51st Dist. } S. J. LEE—Peoples. ☐
Member of Legislature, 51st Dist. } G. O. GILBERTSON—Peoples. ☐
Member of Legislature, 51st Dist. } ☐
Member of Legislature, 51st Dist. } ☐
Member of Legislature, 51 Dist. } ☐

Vote for Three.

County Auditor—ANDREW HANSON—Republican. ☐
County Auditor—JOHN GLEASON—Peoples. ☐
County Auditor— ☐

Vote for One.

County Treasurer—OLE B. DAHL—Republican. ☐
County Treasurer—JOHN T. BEAUDRY—Peoples. ☐
County Treasurer— ☐

Vote for One.

County Ballot--Continued.

Sheriff—SAMUEL M. DAINARD—Republican.		Vote for One.
Sheriff—THOMAS LAWRENCE—Peoples.
Sheriff—
Register of Deeds } ANDREW STURE—Republican.		Vote for One.
Register of Deeds } ALBERT WICKSTROM—Peoples.
Register of Deeds }
Judge of Probate } WILLIAM A. LANCTOT—Republican.		Vote for One.
Judge of Probate } OLE E. HAGEN—Peoples.
Judge of Probate } CHRISTIAN F. PETTERSON—Independent.
Judge of Probate }
County Attorney—IRA C. RICHARDSON—Republican.		Vote for One.
County Attorney—L. E. GOSSMAN—Peoples.
County Attorney—
County Surveyor—OLE L. HAMERY—Peoples.		VOTE FOR ONE.
County Surveyor—
Superintendent of Schools } M. A. CAMPION—Republican		Vote for One.
Superintendent of Schools } I. I. KAASA—Peoples.
Superintendent of Schools }
Coroner—A. M. STEBBINS—Peoples		VOTE FOR ONE.
Coroner—
County Commissioner 1st Dist. } SEVER S. STADSVOLD Republican.		Vote for One.
County Commissioner 1st Dist. } CHARLES McCARTY—Peoples.
County Commissioner 1st Dist. }
County Commissioner 3rd Dist. } MICHAEL E. KIRSCH—Republican		Vote for One.
County Commissioner 3rd Dist. } REMI FORTIER—Peoples
County Commission 3rd Dist. }
County Commissioner 5th Dist. | HUGH THOMPSON—Republican.		Vote for One.
County Commissioner 5th Dist. | ROBERT CASMEY—Peoples.
County Commissioner 5th Dist. | A. C. RHINEHART—Independent
County Commissioner 5th Dist. |

For the creation and organization of the proposed new county of Nelson:	Yes.		Vote Yes or No.
	No.
For the creation and organization of the proposed new county of Garfield:	Yes.
	No.
For the creation and organization of the proposed new county of Hill:	Yes.
	No.
For the creation and organization of the proposed new county of Red Lake	Yes.
	No.
For the creation and organization of the proposed new county of Mills.	Yes.
	No.
For the creation and organization of the proposed new county of Columbia:	Yes.
	No.

The Voter after marking will fold his Ballot to the inside, by successive folds, keeping the initials of Judges to the outside, reducing the ballot to about two inches wide.

Judges will fold the ticket four inches from the bottom, and write their initials on the short fold near the crease.

WATCHES.

Some Facts Concerning the Styles—The Great Number of Watches Used.

In this country almost everybody carries a watch. Probably nine-tenths of the men and great numbers of women and many young people carry watches. In the best trade of the city many more watches of gold are sold than of silver; of all the watches sold throughout the country about 25 per cent are of gold. The percentage of gold watches is increasing.

The fashionable watch of the day is open faced. The sale of open faced watches is increasing, especially in fine watches, but it is increasing also in watches of other grades. Of fine gold watches sold in the city probably two-thirds are now made open faced. Of all the watches sold in the United States, gold and silver, probably from a quarter to a third are now made open faced.

The modern watch has for one of its characteristics thinness. A man's watch, which is now made more especially to wear with evening dress and is all the time growing in favor, is a plain, thin, open faced gold watch, which takes up but little room in the pocket. Perfect in its simplicity, this watch is at the same time of fine workmanship and great beauty. It sells at $100. A gold watch not so thin nor so finely finished, but a very handsome modern watch and an excellent timekeeper, by the same makers and bearing their name, can be bought in open face, the case of 18 carat gold, for $65; in double case for $70.

But gold watches and good watches, too, can be bought for very much less than these prices—in fact, there never was a time when watches generally were made in such tasteful shapes, or when they were so good for the money or so cheap as now.

Taking all the grades together, the American production of watches is about 4,000 daily. The importation of watches amounts to about the same number. One might at first wonder what becomes of all these watches. A great number are taken up annually by the new buyers coming into the market for the first time out of the constant and large increase in the population. Great as the percentage of watch owners now is in this country, that also is increasing. Many immigrants buy watches as soon as they get the money. Some men own more than one watch. Watches wear out or their owners lay them aside for a better watch or for one of newer style. Watches are lost and destroyed, and when one comes to take all these things into consideration it will be seen that the great production of watches may be in large measure easily accounted for.—New York Sun.

Herrick's Love of Music.

It has been remarked by Mr. Gosse that Herrick "is alive as no poet before or since to the picturesqueness of dress." and the statement, though sweeping, is correct. He takes note of each fold in Julia's gown, he writes lines upon the ribbon round her waist, he describes the rustling of her walk and is in fine as quick to perceive the beauty that lies in dress as to comprehend the splendor of a full blown rose.

Music, too, did not go without appreciation from him. It would have been difficult to imagine Herrick dull to the influence of music, although some of our poets have been credited with inability to distinguish one tune from another. But on the other hand there are many musical poets, Milton, Gray, Browning and a host of others. Speaking of Milton reminds us that Herrick addresses one of his poems to Harry Lawes, who was the subject of one of Milton's sonnets. Lawes wrote the music to "Comus" and received from the poet the praise that he

> First taught our English music how to span
> Words with just note and accent, not to scan
> With Midas' ears, committing short and long.

Both Herrick and Milton seem to have been on familiar terms with the musician, as both address him in their verse as Harry. Some of Herrick's songs were set to music by him, and on his death Herrick wrote:

> Some have thee called Amphion; some of us
> Named thee Terpander or sweet Orpheus:
> Some this, some that, but all in this agree—
> Music had both her birth and death in thee.

The difference between Milton's praise and Herrick's is very marked. The greater poet's more considered eulogy was well deserved and discriminately bestowed. Herrick's is spoiled by its extravagance.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Drumtochty.

The locale of the district which Ian Maclaren has immortalized is pretty well known, but Mr. Watson himself was until recently ignorant of the existence of a real Drumtochty. "I thought that I had invented the word," he wrote lately, "but for some time I have known that I am not an inventor, but only a poacher." Drumtochty, situated in Kincardineshire, is a deep, richly wooded valley, about two miles in length. Away to the north opens the valley of Glenbervie, the fatherland of Robert Burns, and a few miles to the south is Fasque, where much of Gladstone's early life was passed and to the early associations with which the veteran statesman likes to revert.—New York Times.

It Is the Unexpected That Happens.

"Did you put a stamp on the letter I gave you this morning?"

"A stamp? Certainly; oh, yes. I couldn't send it, you know, without a stamp."

"And you mailed it, then?"

"Who, me? Why, of course."

"Let me take your coat and dust off the collar."

"My coat? No, thank you. I haven't time."

"You have plenty of time. Hand me the coat."

Unwillingly he removed the garment and reluctantly he handed it to her. There was a flash of triumph in her eyes. She ran her hand into his breast pocket and drew it forth—empty.

There was no letter there.

Then she tossed the coat back to him

IS NOT A CENSURE

Chairman Butler Says a Wrong Impression Is Abroad Regarding a Resolution

Which Was Adopted by the Populist National Committee Meeting.

Address Only Intended to Unite Silver Forces and Help Elect Bryan.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—"There seems to be a wrong impression regarding the action taken by the Populist executive committee," said Senator Marion Butler. "The address issued by the committee does not reflect in any way upon Mr. Watson, and it will undoubtedly be approved by him. Committeeman Reed of Georgia came directly here after spending two days with Mr. Watson in discussing the situation, and the policy indicated by our address is entirely approved by him. Of course, the situation, as regards fusion in several of the states, is not entirely satisfactory to the committee. Since a union of forces is necessary to win, there ought to be a union ticket. That ticket should be Bryan and Watson, but we are Not Going to Divide Our Forces.

"In Kansas and Colorado, where there are no Watson electors, the situation is especially unsatisfactory to the committee and Mr. Watson. But since the electors in these states cannot be redivided and give the Populists representation, we are not going to turn them over to McKinley. Nothing can be done in those states that would not endanger the result, and our address was the best thing that could be done to unite the silver forces, which is our duty above all things. If we could have our way, of course it would be different, but Mr. Watson would much rather put up with the existing conditions than have those states go for McKinley."

"You think, then, that Mr. Watson's Kansas trip will be abandoned?"

"Well, yes; a committee will probably call on Mr. Watson to talk over the situation and communicate to him the reasons that caused the committee to arrive at this unanimous conclusion. I feel sure that when the situation is thoroughly explained to Mr. Watson, that in the interests of harmony he will arrive at the same conclusions that we have."

The members of the Populist executive committee held a conference with Chairman Jones of the Democratic national committee to arrange, if possible, for the completion of fusion arrangement in congressional districts where this has not been brought about. It was positively stated that no further attempt will be made to effect fusion on Kansas and Colorado electoral tickets.

The manifesto issued by the committee calls upon every sincere opponent of the gold standard to support the joint electoral tickets named in the several states and thus prevent the election of McKinley. The manifesto continues:

"The danger lies in the possibility of a certain portion of the rank and file of the People's party being misled by so-called leaders, who for reasons best known to themselves or for want of reason are advising voters to rebel against the joint electoral tickets and put up separate electoral tickets, or to withhold their support from the joint electoral tickets."

NOT THE CORRECT POLICY.

Tom Watson's Personal Representative Expresses Himself.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 15.—In response to a telegram of inquiry from the Atlanta Journal, H. W. Reed, Tom Watson's personal representative in the national Populist committee in session at Chicago, wires as follows:

In reply to your telegram, Mr. Watson will never be satisfied that the fusion policy is the correct one, as he has repeatedly expressed himself, and several members of the national committee agree with him. The committee concluded that it was too late to consider another plan, and do not intend to be held responsible in case a reform president should not be elected.

I do not anticipate any friction between the committee and candidates.

H. W. REED

How to Save Yourself From Death.

Professor Drummond tells in his "Tropical Africa" that on one occasion four of his carriers ran away. There were three of the same tribe in the company, and, though the professor knew nothing of their dialect, he determined, being in danger of losing his life, to teach them a lesson.

Beginning with a few general remarks on the heathen, he briefly sketched the geology of Africa and then broke into an impassioned defense of the British constitution. The three tribesmen trembled like aspen leaves. He concluded his reprimand by solemnly enunciating the forty-seventh proposition of Euclid, and the result of the awful admonition was that the men became the most faithful that he had ever had.—London Answers.

A Natural Inference.

"The most curious thing in the world"—began Bixley.

"Hush," hoarsely whispered the horrified Junkins, with a gesture toward the door, "she's in the next room."—London Tit-Bits.

Heroes in history seem to us poetic because they are there. But if we should tell the simple truth of some of our neighbors it would sound like poetry.—G. W. Curtis.

"NATIONAL DEMOCRAT" GOES

Decision of the Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The appellate division of the supreme court, sitting in Brooklyn, decided that the use of the name "National Democratic Party" on the official ballot is permissable. This reverses the decision of Justice Clements.

Populists Get Three.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 15.—The Populist state central committee has issued an address announcing that the Populists and Democrats had agreed upon a state fusion electoral ticket by which the Populists were to have three and the Democrats five votes.

Hunter Found Dead.

BISMARCK, N. D., Oct. 15.—James H. McBride, a well known citizen and quite wealthy, was found dead in a cabin a few miles north of the city, where he went some days ago for the purpose of hunting. The cause has not been definitely decided.

The Lamp Exploded.

WINONA, Minn., Oct. 15.—The 12-year-old daughter of Denton Tucker of Arcadia is dead, as the result of the explosion of a lamp she was carrying.

Western Union Finances.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The report of the Western Union Telegraph company for the year ending June 30, shows: Net revenue $22,612,736, increase $394,717; expenses $16,714,756, increase $638,126; surplus $169,217, decrease $243,625, and a total surplus of $7,643,693. The increase in expenses was due in part to allowances for reconstruction caused by severe storms, especially the St. Louis cyclone.

Speaker Reed at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Great enthusiasm prevailed here last night when Thomas B. Reed of Maine and Frank S. Black of Troy addressed the voters at Music hall. Preceding the speechmaking at the hall there was a parade of the Republican clubs, in which probably 10,000 men took part.

Bragg Named as Assistant Counsel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The attorney general has appointed General Edward S. Bragg as assistant United States attorney for the Eastern district of Wisconsin to assist in prosecuting the land case of the government against the Manufacturers' Investment company of Wisconsin.

Mounted Police in Pursuit.

McLEOD, N. W. T., Oct. 15.—A serious shooting affray has taken place on the Blood Indian reservation. One Indian shot another dead while in jealous rage, and Farm Instructor McNeil, who interfered, was shot through the body and seriously wounded. The Indian murderer is still at large, with a posse of mounted police in pursuit.

Charged With Intimidation.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—A warrant was secured for the arrest of D. Crawford, of D. Crawford & Co., a leading dry goods merchant of this city, on the charge of intimidation, in that he discharged 12 clerks because they announced their intention to vote for Bryan and free silver.

Killed His Little Brother.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 15.—The 16-year-old son of Ole Whittleson, near Stoughton, shot and killed his 4-year-old brother and then disappeared. Whether it was accident or design is not reported. The country is being searched for the boy.

Chicago Registration.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The total registration for the city, with one precinct missing, was 292,427 against 245,760 for the first day two years ago. It is expected by the election commissioners that the total registration will be 409,000 against 347,574 in 1894.

Duluth Bank Suspends.

DULUTH, Oct. 15.—The Marine National bank has suspended and the bank examiner is in charge. Inability to make collections rapidly enough to meet withdrawals is assigned as the cause.

Kills His Second Squaw.

MORA, Minn., Oct. 15.—Word has come from Knife Lake that John Ogema, an Indian, while on a spree shot his squaw, killing her instantly. This is the second squaw the Indian has killed.

Rev. J. C. Hull Pleads Not Guilty.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 15.—Rev. James C. Hull entered a plea of not guilty to the indictment returned against him by the grand jury, charging him with attempting to poison his wife, before Judge Brill.

Archbishopric for Keane.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Herald says it is rumored that a new Roman Catholic province is to be created in this state, and that the new archbishop will be Rt. Rev. John J. Keane, recently rector of the University of Wisconsin. Incidentally it is reported that Archbishop Corrigan will receive the rank of cardinal at the November consistory. A card to Archbisop Corrigan's secretary elicited the reply that he knew nothing about the plan.

To Settle the Klamath Boundary.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Colonel Henry Brady and R. P. Hammond, Jr., have left for Oregon as members of a government commission to settle the disputed boundary line of the Klamath Indian reservation. The question has been in dispute for many years, and the last congress made an appropriation of $10,000 and appointed a commission to settle it.

Republicans on the Ticket.

DENVER, Oct. 15.—The supreme court has announced a decision requiring the secretary of state to certify the nominations of the McKinley Republicans to the county clerks, to be printed on the official ballot and awarding the regular Republican emblem, the eagle, to the McKinleyites.

IN MICHIGAN NOW

Mr. Bryan Completes His Tour of Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas.

Two Speeches at Duluth, One of Which Was Exclusively to Ladies.

His First Speech in Michigan Made at Bessemer to a Large Audience.

BESSEMER, Mich., Oct. 15.—Candidate Bryan entered Michigan at 9 o'clock a. m., from Duluth. Nearly 5,000 people were on the square near the Ironwood depot, many of them from surrounding towns. The weather was bright and clear, and Mr. Bryan, with his head uncovered, addressed the enthusiastic crowd.

At Duluth Mr. Bryan spoke twice, once at the Lyceum theatre, where he he addressed an enthusiastic meeting of women. Thence he proceeded to the car barn, which was packed to the utmost. Charles A. Towne was chairman of both meetings and at each of them he presented the nominee in a neat little speech.

At the speech in the Lyceum theater Mr. Bryan told the women that a dollar could not be compared to a yard stick, as claimed by the supporters of the gold standard, and in the 10 minutes during which he spoke, devoted himself almost entirely to the discussion of the yard stick proposition along the same lines pursued by him many times before. At the meeting in the car barn Mr. Bryan said in part:

Praise for Lind and Towne.

It gives me great pleasure to advocate our cause anywhere, but it gives me special pleasure to defend that cause among the people who, like the people of Minnesota, have laid aside differences on minor questions and joined in a supreme effort to wrest this government from the hands of those who would make the people hewers of wood and drawers of water. It gives me pleasure to defend that cause in a state where Democrats, Populists and silver Republicans have united on state, congressional and electoral tickets. My friends, too often in the past, those who have labored for a common purpose have counteracted each other's efforts because they have gone in different organizations and supported different candidates, but in this campaign we are welding together those three divisions of one great army, and nowhere has that welding process been more effectual than in the state of Minnesota. I am glad to come into this state. I am glad to be where the reform forces have joined in the nomination of so grand a man as their candididate for governor, John Lind. I am glad to speak in a congressional district where the reform forces have taken up and are following the leadership of so gallant a champion as Charles A. Towne. My friends, when history has recorded, as I believe history will record, the success of this movement in behalf of bimetallism, when upon the roll of honor has been inscribed the names of those who have been most instrumental in carrying this cause to successful victory, I believe that your townsman, your candidate, your congressman, will find his name high up among those to whom honor will be paid.

Appeals to the Workingman.

My friends, I am glad to have the support of laboring men, and I will tell you why. Because if I am elected by their votes all they will ask of me is to do my duty to my country and protect every citizen in the enjoyment of equal rights and give special privileges to no man. If I were elected with the aid of those great syndicates and trusts, when they had elected me they would expect me to employ all my time in aiding them to get back out of the people more than they had contributed to elect me president.

My friends, in this campaign we are fighting in the defense of our homes and our firesides, and if you do not use the ballot to protect that home of yours and that family of yours, remember that there is no one in this country who will use his ballot to do what you neglect to do.

The money question is paramount in this campaign. Other questions can be settled at any time. The money question must be settled now. Whenever a great party does as the Republican party has done, proposes to surrender the right to legislate on a question of domestic concern, just so long as that question is before the people no other question can approach it in importance. The Republican party does not say that we can abandon the gold standard when we get tired of it. The Republican platform because that platform pledges the Republican party to substitute the double standard. The Republican party, however, after admitting that the double standard is better than the gold standard, tells you that you must submit to a gold standard until relief comes from abroad. How long must it be? They set no limit. Until is a long word. Until may mean forever, my friends, and I believe that the man who wrote that platform and put in the word "until" never expected the leading nations to come to our relief, but expected that forever we should have the gold standard in our midst.

Admits the People Are Tired of It Now,

My friends, we have been compelled to wage a warfare against deception. Our opponents have not come out in the open field. If they had declared that the gold standard was desirable their demand for it would have been answered by the protest of a vast majority of our people, who realize what the gold standard has done for them. They understand that they seek to hold out a delusive hope for international aid while they fasten the gold standard more firmly upon the American people. If our present financial policy is good it ought to be maintained. If it is bad it ought to be abandoned, and I am willing to submit to the candid judgment of the people of this country whether the effects of that gold standard have been good.

Ex-Mayor Smith Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The president has appointed Robert A. Smith postmaster at St. Paul, Minn. The appointment ends a long contest over the office. Smith succeeds Henry A. Castle, commission expired.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP.................President
J. L. JOHNSON.................Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN, W. A. SORSOLEIL, M. Z. EPPERSON.........Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES...............Treasurer

M. W. OF A., CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Friday of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	59c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	11c	Eggs	7c
Barley	17c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	57c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

It tried hard to snow yesterday.

Wheat is on the down hill slide again.

H. E. Ives went to Crookston Monday.

Emil Brink returned from St. Paul Monday.

Thirteen more days and election will be over.

The grade to the new county bridge is being built.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

The Kratky ticket won at Thief River Falls last Saturday.

Commissioner Norland is inspecting the grade east of here to-day.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Prof. O'Brien and C. G. Rapp spent Saturday at Thief River Falls.

The fifty-nine acres of under-brush for the mill company has been cleared off.

A nice covering of snow appeared on the frozen pond early Tuesday morning.

Otto Kankle, the Fertile miller was greeting his many friends here last Friday.

Mike Fricker and wife of Thief River Falls were visitors in town over Sunday.

Swen Torgeson rented his farm east of here and is now a resident of the village.

Two hundred loads of stone wanted at once by the St. Hilaire Lumber company.

J. C. Dahl is making improvements in the interior of his residence this week.

M. E. Kirsch, of county commissioner fame, was a visitor in this village last Friday.

Bring in a load of wood and we will apply the same to your account on the SPECTATOR.

E. M. Hoff and Chas. Brink took in the free silver speech at Thief River Falls last evening.

A good second-hand box stove for sale cheap, or will trade for cord wood. Apply at this office.

P. G. Paradis and Sam Dainard made a trip to Terrebonne Sunday last returning in the evening.

Look over the registration list and if your name is not there, put it on Tuesday the 27th day of October.

Perhaps you have time enough yet to plow around your hay stacks and protect them against loss by fire.

St. Hilaire has a straw vote gatherer. We are sorry to say that the figures in this case do lie. Try it again.

O. F. Post went to Red Lake Falls last Friday after a supply of dynamite to be used down near the dam.

Turn out and hear our next congressman, E. E. Lommen, next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Brink's hall.

Wheat took another jump Monday and landed on the sixty two cent notch. The highest point reached this year.

The work on the race and dam is being pushed at a rapid rate, and what is more it is being put there for keeps.

H. J. Freeman and family moved into the depot building last Saturday where they will reside for the winter.

It is estimated that the republicans will not carry ten per cent of the vote in Polk county outside of Crookston.

About fifty head of young stock were driven through here last Thursday. Evidently this is a great stock country.

L. J. Stranahan returned Monday from a trip to the Red Lake Agency. He reports a splendid time on the trip.

Hon. F. M. Eddy, congressman 7th district will deliver a speech at Brink's Hall Friday Oct. 23rd at 2 o'clock P. M.

A pleasant surprise party on Miss Cora Harris was enjoyed Saturday evening and a very enjoyable time was had.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Arpin and child of Grand Rapids, Wis., arrived to-day and will make St. Hilaire their future home.

Another drive consisting of one hundred and fifty pieces of square timbers from Thief River Falls arrived Monday afternoon.

All those who have not registered should do so on the 27th inst. The doors will be open from 9 a. m. until 5 o'clock p. m.

H. E. Adams and family returned Saturday after spending a few months vacation near Park Rapids, Mr. Adams' former home.

Senator Peffer spoke to a full house at Crookston last evening and left a good impression of free silver on the large audience.

A. L. Arpin is making improvements on the Freeman residence and will move his family into the same sometime next week.

A political meeting will be held in the Valhall hall this evening. John Gleason and O. M. Skinvick will address the meeting.

Stop and consider why it is that all the railroad corporations and their attorneys favor McKinley's election. Is there anything behind this?

A. O. Letvig of Wylie has the contract of cleaning out the flowing well in this village. Work commenced on the same yesterday afternoon.

It takes the Great Northern four days to deliver a car load of cattle to the St. Paul stock yards. That is the time Emil Brink made last week.

Chas. G. Rapp left Monday for Norman county where he will feel the pulse of the citizens in regard to the 51st Legislative district for a few days.

"St. Hilaire" was the name of the car that Wm. J. Bryan made his trip in from Fargo to St. Paul. St. Hilaire and Wm. J. Bryan both will be winners.

J. J. Brannum, who has been spending the summer on his farm south-west of here, moved into the village last week and will remain during the winter.

A. C. Wilkinson of Crookston who is doing missionary work for the Great Northern railway company, was looking over the sights at St. Hilaire Friday last.

Voters residing in the unorganized towns on the reservation are entitled to vote in the nearest election precinct within the county and should register there.

In the SPECTATOR supplement this week will be found the official state ballot. Study the ticket over well so you do not make any mistakes marking the ticket on election day.

Your vote will go a long way towards solving the question, whether this country will be run by the people and for the people or by the monopolists for the monopolists. Take your choice.

Do not be deceived by the utterances of the gold-bugs. Read both sides of the question and judge which party is for the masses not for the classes. Your vote means everything in this election.

C. Rapp, C. Brink, H. J. Freeman, J. H. Penno and M. E. Bjerk drove out and took in the "sound money" meeting in the town of Sanders last Thursday evening. Attorney Richardson of Thief River Falls did the speaking.

Thanks, to the kind hearted individual that sent us a list of the gold and silver voters of this precinct. Its something we have been looking for, which now saves us a lot of trouble figuring out election. We have it on file and now we rest easy.

If a government contracted a debt with a certain amount of money in circulation and then contracted the money volume before a debt was paid it is the most heinous crime that a government could commit against the people.—Abraham Lincoln.

From different accounts from our exchanges its a shame that bran is burnt on account of the high price of coal. The coal barons are to blame for all this. Their sound money assessments came due and they had to raise the price of coal $2.00 to play even. See!

Wheat landed at the highest point ever reached this year, Saturday last. It went up three cents in one day and stopped at the sixty cents mark. Flax went up two cents the same day. Some are of the opinion that it is a republican campaign deal. The farmers can stand several raises of this kind and often.

Just as soon as the coal combine was assessed to help on the republican sound money campaign without waiting for an international agreement they (the coal barons) began to rob the American people by advancing the price of coal $2.00 Think this matter over citizens, and you can not fail to vote on the right side.

Don't get scared about "free silver." This country had the free coinage of silver from the time of Washington up to 1873, and no man ever thought of changing the system. Silver was demonetized without the knowledge or consent of the people. The silver men today are simply asking that we return to the money system of Washington, Jackson and Lincoln.

The gold standard organs point to the opening of a few factories as proof that the manufacturers are confident that McKinley will be elected. Well, says The Omaha World-Herald, the manufacturers were confident last spring that McKinley would be nominated and elected. Why, then, did they close down last spring if "confidence" was all they needed to start their mills?

A lot of paid emisaries of the republican party, claiming to be populists are pursuing Ole E. Hagen populist candidate for Judge of Probate, evidently with an intent to drive him from the ticket. In this intent they have failed for Mr. Hagen has been certified as the regular nominee of the party and paid the fee. These human jackalls, still pursuing their prey, thinking perhaps, that they can persuade the voters to scratch his name from the ticket and vote for the republican nominee. Mr. Hagan was regularly nominated for the office at our county convention and unless it can be shown that he is not qualified or is guilty of such acts as would disqualify him IT IS THE DUTY or every peoples party voter to cast his vote for him. In the ordinary affairs of life we are not prone to go to our enemies to get a certificate of good character nor to our friends for one of the contrary feature. These fellows who are hounding Mr. Hagen are the hyenas in politics, and would sacrifice the best men of the country if by doing so they could glut their appetites for revenge and acquire a pettance for the time spent in doing it. It is infamous to speak of Mr. Hagen as a base unprincipled man, we who have known him and his course for years resent it as an insult to virtue and moral uprightness. No man in the country can truthfully charge him with any offense graver than the crime of telling the truth in all cases and under all circumstances. No man in the whole northwest is a better friend of the farmer or the wage earner. No man in the county has done more to protect and defend the rights of these classes, and knowing these facts it would be the rankest ingratitude not to support him because a few unprincipled fellows, in the employ of the republican party are howling: "I AM HOLIER THAN HE. He is a heretic; I am a christian." An honest capable man, even though he disagrees with us in religion or politics will make a much better officer than he who while making loud professions of faith, steals from us and the public at every turn. Elect the honest man and your liberties will be protected.

Hon. E. E. Lommen, the peoples candidate for congress, will deliver an address on the issues of the day at St. Hilaire next Tuesday (Oct. 27th) afternoon at 2 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

The most interesting paper you see now days is the Hines railroad paper The continued story of Hines and the Hornerites is rich and racy reading. Very little of the space is now devoted to building the railroad.

Geo. Ossman, representing Jos. Ullman Fur company was doing business in the village the fore part of the week. Mr. Ossman missed a trip on account of breaking his arm in a street car accident in St. Paul about six weeks ago. They all wait to do business with George.

The people living in the vicinity of Mallory have a large sized kick coming on account of a bridge not being placed across the river near that place. It was to be completed the 15th of September, and up to date there is no material there yet. St. Hilaire is in the same fix, only our bridge was to be finished September 1st. Word was received over two weeks ago that the material was shipped from Canton, (McKinley's home) Ohio on Sept. 30th. Its a Hanna firm we are dealing with—they are busy "saving (?) the country."

Important to Voters.

Every male voter will have to vote two ballots this election. The white ballot will contain the presidential candidates' names and the names of the nine electors representing McKinley and Bryan respectively, and also the other candidates. This ballot also contains the names of the candidates for state officers, and each voter must be careful to make an X mark opposite the name of the man he wishes to have elected, and not mark the ticket in any other way. There is no "scratching" of the ticket to be done. The men who vote for the election of Mr. Bryan and free coinage of both gold and silver should make the X mark in the little square opposite the NINE names with "Bryan" attached to them; and those in favor of Mr. McKinley and the single gold standard should vote for the nine electors with "McKinley" attached to them.

The blue ballot will contain all the names of the candidates for congress, the legislature and the county offices. The free-coinage candidates have the names "Democrat-Peoples" attached to each, while the single gold standard candidates have the name "Republican" attached to each. So far as party designation is concerned, we think this is plain enough.

The following is McKinley's idea of prosperity:—"We are all anxious to get back to the period of 1892, when this country was enjoying its highest prosperity."—Wm. McKinley.

Business Failures in 1892, Bradstreet's	$114,000,000
Strikes in 1892, Wright's U. S. Labor Report	1,298
Lockouts in 1892, Wright's U. S. Labor Report	716

A Lie Nailed.

A report has been circulated to the effect that Thomas Lawrence, the candidate for sheriff on the People's Party ticket, cannot read or write. The preposterous absurdity of this statement is so patent to anyone who knows Mr. Lawrence that it needs no contradiction. The SPECTATOR is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Lawrence which is not only written in a better hand than is most of those written by business men in this city, but it is composed and punctuated with absolute correctness. Mr. Lawrence if elected will make a thoroughly capable and competent officer, and the faith of Polk county's voters will not be misplaced in any particular if they pin it to him.

Twin City Letter.

Jerry J., who contributes a letter to the Journal under the heading "North Star Politics" is always interesting, and although he writes from the standpoint of a hopeful Republican, he has more regard for the facts than the average correspondent. For instance in his last letter he admits that the fusion ticket is gaining ground in the southern part of the state, but he also claims that they have lost ground in the northern part. The writer is more familiar with the situation in the Sixth and Seventh congressional districts than in any of the others, and I know whereof I speak when I say that the silver sentiment is gaining ground in both of these districts. This claim not only holds good in the country districts, but in the larger towns as well. For instance in the Sixth district at Duluth, I have been told by Morris men that Towne is holding his forces pretty well in the Zenith City, but that he is losing ground in St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainard. At those places Morris men tell me that perhaps Towne has gained a little in their counties but that "Duluth will fix 'em plenty." I base my opinion of Towne's election largely upon the admission of his enemies. Then, too, he is making the strongest canvass, and drawing the largest crowds, and in my judgment Mr. Morris is devoting too much of his time in a personal attack upon his antagonist, and not enough to the real issues. If I have any republican friends who are disposed to bank upon the election of Page Morris, to the extent of putting up money, my candid advice is for them to invest it in hard coal. In the Seventh it is only a question as to whether Lommen's majority will be five thousand or seven thousand. Every issue of bonds added several thousand to the Peoples Party in the Seventh; then too, there is a large sprinkling of silver republicans in that district; then add to this unpopularity of Jim Hill's and Russell Sage's agent who heads the republican ticket for Governor. Then take the feeling toward the Great Northern, which gridirons that part of the state among the farmers, and you may put it down that John Lind will come out of the Seventh with not less than seven thousand majority, and Lommen not very far behind.

It would be a refreshing inovation if the republicans could find a speaker to send into Minnesota who had not previous to the St. Louis convention, declared for remonetization. There is Ben Butterworth, a good fellow by the way, who is giving them a lift from Ohio. Six months ago he wrote a letter from which I take the following extract "Is it not folly to suppose that the capitalists of England—and they are the capitalists of the world—will be easily persuaded to agree or consent to bimettalism? Why should they? How is it their interests to do so? While we consent to make it to their advantage to refuse, they have doubled the value of their credits by demonetizing silver."

Now comes Tom Reed of Maine, to help save a state claimed for McKinley by fifty thousand. Yet this plan of claiming everything is nothing new. It was done four years ago by the republicans when Cleveland went in so easily.

The enthusiasm which has developed since Mr. Bryan's recent trip through Minnesota is carrying consternation in the ranks of the British Gold Standardites. At this writing it looks as though the Union ticket would win out in the North Star State. H. L. CHAFFEE.

English service will be held in the Norwegian Lutheran church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All are cordially welcome.

THEO. SEASHORE, pastor.

The republican orators have a good deal to say about McKinley being the "advance agent of prosperity" and things like that, but it is fortunate for their reputation as prophets that the phrase is not likely to be tried by the touchstone of experience. Under the present gold standard neither McKinley or any other man can bring back prosperity to the American people. It is not a change of men, but a change in conditions that is needed. It is a safe bet that in case Mr. Hanna's money should succeed in purchasing McKinley's election, there would be another bond issue within three months of his inauguration. In the last congress the republicans had control of the organization in both branches. They refused to provide by legislation the necessary revenue to run the government, but on the contrary appropriated millions of dollars beyond the estimated revenues. When the river and harbor bill appropriating $80,000,000 was vetoed by the president on the ground that congress had made no provision for the money to pay it, the republicans passed the bill over the veto, and if McKinley is elected he will have to issue bonds to pay for this republican extravagance.—Jamestown Alert.

Vote For E.E. Lommen For Congress.

He stands pledged to support when elected among other reforms.

1st. The free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the consent of foreign nations.

2nd. Such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of lawful money of the United States by private contract.

3rd. A graduated income tax.

4th. That bonafide settlers on all public lands be granted free homes, as provided in the national homestead law, and that no exception be made in the case of Indian reservations when opened for settlement, and that all lands not now patented come under this demand.

—Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a speciality from now until after election.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something .....

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 6. 0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.70 6.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 29	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 22	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 23	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 24	3. 0 to 4.50
13 " 25	4.50 to 5. 0
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	3.00 to 5.00

☞ For furthe information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

MINNESOTA
State Normal Schools
—AT—
Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:
IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR
STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Take

Care of your health at this season. See that your blood is pure, appetite good and all the organs in a healthy condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great building-up and blood purifying medicine and therefore it is the best medicine to take in the fall, when the atmosphere is laden with disease germs from decaying vegetation. Hood's Sarsaparilla prevents colds, pneumonia, bronchitis.

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the Best—In fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills the best family cathartic and liver stimulant. 25c.

Need For Action.

Mrs. Brown—We ought to try and have the minister's salary increased. Why, it isn't enough to supply his large family with the necessaries of life!

Mrs. Jones—No, indeed! I don't see how they manage to keep their wheels in repair.—Puck.

The Top Notch.

"Uncle Simon, what is success in life?"

"It is getting people to think as well of you as you think of yourself."—Chicago Record.

The London Spectator says a thousand of the Irish constabulary with rifles would restore the worst mob of Constantinople to comparative sanity in ten minutes.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklet and sample mailed free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Whe He Looked at the Bill.

He—I wish I had been Noah.

She—Why?

He—I'll bet no seal would have been allowed to board the ark.—Cleveland Leader.

Within the last decade the population of Europe has increased by about 30,000,000, of whom Russia contributed 12,510,000 and France only 67,000.

Friendly Advice.

She—My bicycle has become an old story and I'm tired to death of it. What shall I do next?

He—Learn to ride it.—Detroit Free Press.

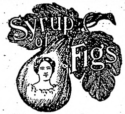
TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

Sixty thousand fire balloons, each costing 3 francs, are to be used in one fete in the Trocadero in honor of the czar's Paris visit.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Harvesting has been taking place by moonlight, in Lincolnshire, England.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Sunart "Vici"
CYCLE CAMERAS

The latest improvements in "CYCLE" CAMERAS.

"VENI" "VIDI" "VICI"	Folding Cameras, Magazine Cameras, Tripods and Photographic Materials.

First-class double Combination Lenses guaranteed. Latest Safety Shutters, Pneumatic Release Iris Diaphragm. 4x5, 5x7, 6½x8½, 8x10.
When in St. Paul ask to see the "Cyclo Vici." ZIMMERMAN BROS., 375 Minnesota St., St. Paul, Minn.
Send 2-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue.
Sunart Photo Co., Rochester, N. Y., U. S. A.

DROPSY

TREATED FREE.
Positively Cured with Vegetable Remedies
Have cured thousands of cases. Cure cases pronounced hopeless by best physicians. From first dose symptoms disappear; in ten days at least two-thirds all symptoms removed. Send for free book testimonials of miraculous cures. Ten day's treatment free by mail. If you order trial send 10c in stamps to pay postage. Dr. H. H. Green & Sons, Atlanta, Ga. If you order trial return this advertisement to us.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Bought and sold for future delivery, 2c to 5c per bu. deposit. Sample sales a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited. MASON BROS., 144 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill.
MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. Free Trial. State case. Dr. Marsh, Quincy, Mich.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

WHY IT NEVER CAME.

Altogether it was a very curious affair. He had been paying her much marked attention for some time, and she had seemed only too pleased to receive it. Wherever she went, he went, too, if possible, and if by any chance he was not there she was dull and restless and found things slow. All the town knew about it and was on the tiptoe of expectation for the announcement. Then, suddenly, without apparent rhyme or reason, he went back to town, and there was no talk of any engagement. Her sisters could not understand it any better than did the gossips of the town, for from hints she had let fall they felt sure that she would not be unwilling to exchange her position of eldest daughter in the large family of a doctor whose practice was greater in dimensions than in lucrativeness for the position of wife to a rising young lawyer with expectations. She was not very young, either; twenty-seven is getting on, and four other grown up sisters did not make one appear any younger. Besides, she "hated helping in household work and always having to tidy up after tiresome children," and openly declared that she would do anything to get away from it all.

The gossips of the town were very impartial in their remarks. They said if he had not proposed to her he ought to have done so, after making such an obvious fuss of her, and therefore he must be very much to blame, for she certainly would not have said "No," but they further stated that if he had proposed to her and she had refused him, then she was also very much to blame for having encouraged him to such an extent. One thing was certainly clear, that there ought to have been an engagement, and they shook their heads and said they had always before thought he was such an honorable young man, and no flirt, while they had also considered her a very sensible girl, who knew on which side her bread was buttered. And there was a good deal of truth in these reflections.

Yet he—Roger Blake—was a young man with right intentions, and he had been very much in love with her, and had wished to marry her, and she—Julia Viccars—was as fond of him as she could be of anybody, and was only waiting, somewhat impatiently, for the momentous question.

And this is how the little town was disappointed of its fashionable wedding.

They had been at the vicarage garden party, and he had resolved to get a quiet half hour with her there, and put the words to her which had lain for days at the tip of his tongue, and yet, somehow, he never got a chance, though both were willing parties. Once they had really escaped from the crowd and were strolling toward a sequestered part of the scrubbery when the vicar's second son, a very obtuse youth, espied them. He was anxiously looking for a fourth to make up a good tennis set, and rushed up.

"I say, Blake, make a fourth in this seat, will you?"

"I'd rather not, thanks. I've just been playing. Find some one else."

"I can't find any one good enough. Jones is playing on the other side, and we have no one his equal but you. Do come, there's a good fellow. I am sure Miss Viccars will spare you."

"Oh, certainly," said Julia; but if a tone could be frigid enough to freeze any mortal, the vicar's son would have been then and there turned into solid ice.

He persisted in his request, and they were obliged to go back to the tennis lawn.

However, that evening, as Roger Blake escorted Julia and her sisters the short distance home, he found opportunity to say:

"I suppose you will take your usual constitutional to-morrow in the park? Perhaps I may see you there."

Just lately Julia, usually so indolent, had given out that she had headaches and required a brisk walk every day, and had carefully chosen time and place so that she might be likely to accidentally meet Roger Blake and have him for a companion.

The next morning she dressed herself with unusual care, chose her most becoming hat and went to the extravagance of putting on her best gloves and shoes—"a lady is always judged by her gloves and shoes"—and borrowed her sister's crimson parasol, for it was of newer fashion than her own, and, moreover, it lent a becoming pink shade to the whole effect. She strolled along toward the park, expecting every moment to hear a manly step behind her, and a morning greeting in the well known voice, and as she strolled visions of her future grandeur occupied her thoughts. She resolved that there should be no unnecessary delay in fixing the wedding day, though, of course, she must show a little girlish hesitation. Her wedding dress should be white satin and—yes—her bridesmaids should certainly wear pink, and the children should come in, too—nothing was so pretty as children at a wedding, and simple little frocks could be easily made at home. Ugh! how glad she would be to get away from the little brats, with their everlasting teasing and noise, and from the endless contriving how to make sixpence do the work of a shilling! The folks should soon see she knew how to do the proper thing!

The town clock struck 12 and then the quarter, and she began to wonder where Roger was and to feel a little apprehension, and she mentally abused the vicar's son for his tiresome interference the day before, for she was certain that Roger would have been brought to the point in the shrubbery. Presently she looked back through the trees in the park and to her great relief saw him coming. He had not seen her, and she walked on unconcernedly, and her little start of surprise when he caught up with her was quite perfect.

"I was half afraid I might miss you this morning," he said. "My aunt kept me talking a long while over her business matters."

He was staying with the aunt, from whom he had "expectations."

John knew that she was very rich, and had ascertained that he was her favorite nephew.

"I know you do so much for her. She has often told me what a clear head you have for business."

Julia threw a glance of admiration at him, and at the same time noticed, with satisfaction that he was hot and flushed and had evidently hurried to meet her.

"A man must not be muddle-headed, these days, if he means to do any good," returned Roger, naturally pleased at her little compliment.

"I don't know what she will do when you have to go away again. I hope it will not be yet. She will be quite lost without you," and Julia gave a little sigh, as if to imply that his aunt would not be the only one to miss him.

"Oh, she will be all right, I hope. Indeed, I had a letter this morning from my firm, saying that urgent business would require me to return this week to town—to-morrow, if possible."

"Not so soon!" Julia's tone of regret and anxiety was wholly genuine.

"I'm afraid so. It's a horrible nuisance. I hate to leave the country, and—the people here." Roger blushed. "I think I have never liked it so much before." Roger paused and went a little deeper crimson under his sunburn.

"I—we shall miss you dreadfully," faltered Julia, casting down her eyes.

They had arrived at the top of the long avenue, and began their walk back in silence. Roger was thinking. He hardly knew how to begin, even with all Julia's help. He was a nervous young man, with great ideas of woman's sweetness and unselfishness, and he indulged in a chivalrous reverence toward the weaker sex, which is fairly rare in these days. To him women were all ministering angels, meet to be enshrined in a secluded home circle, and whose proper vocation was to make home happy and oil the wheels of life for men. He had got his notions from his mother, who was all this and more—a veritable pearl among women, and it was an apt illustration of the blindness of love that he should have selected Julia Vicars as the woman who most nearly approached his ideal.

The minutes passed. Only an odd, desultory remark was interchanged, and the bottom of the avenue was reached, and yet he had not spoken as she had longed to hear, and he, too, strove in vain to find words to speak.

Julia, though inwardly chafing under the delay, was very quiet, too, having a shrewd idea of the purport of his thoughts.

As they turned again he suddenly drew himself up and bent toward her, the very words trembling on his tongue. At that instant the town clock boomed 1—decisive, distinct. Roger started, for the silence had been so deep a moment before, and the words were arrested ere spoken.

"One o'clock. Will they be waiting dinner for you?" he asked.

He knew the doctor's family dined at 1 punctually, for the children had afternoon school, and he remembered—he was the very soul of consideration for others—that the busy mother had often told him how put about the household was if dinner were, by any chance, late. His was one of those well regulated minds which never, under any circumstances, allow feelings of considering them.

Julia was at high tension, and his question made her forget herself for a moment.

"I don't care if they are," she said, sharply, with a little scornful laugh. "Let them wait. I am tired to death of considering them."

The next moment she could have bitten her tongue out, for she saw that she had made a false step.

Roger looked at her amazed. Was this the woman he had endowed with every virtue, who was the unselfish, devoted eldest daughter—a second mother to her younger sister? Like a flash, certain hints he had heard whispered about her, but had disbelieved, came into his mind; certain little actions of hers he had seen, but had overlooked, arranged themselves before his eyes, and she stood there before him in a new light. He felt as if he had received an icy-cold shower bath, and the scales fell from his eyes.

"At any rate, I am sure Mrs. Viccars would not like me to detain you. I had no idea it was so late, and now I think of it, my aunt will be expecting me," was his answer, as he turned homeward decisively.

Julia noticed his change of tone, and tried to smooth over her slip. But it was too late, and though he made no further comment on her remark, he was jarred to the very core. Her true nature was revealed to him, and she had lost her chance.

When they arrived at her father's door he shook hands with her and said:

"I think this is our good-bye, Miss Viccars. I return to town to-morrow."

Long afterward he confided the tale to a friend and ended with: "By Jove! I thought a girl who could speak like that of her home people would not long want to 'consider' a husband. It was a narrow escape, though."

And that is why "it" never came off —Household Words.

Worth Knowing.

Thin glass is less likely to be broken by boiling water than glass which is thicker, since it allows the heat to pass through it more quickly. A teaspoon put into a tumbler before pouring in boiling water will often prevent the glass from cracking, especially if you pour the water in very slowly. Soap should be cut with a wire or twine, and kept out of the air for two or three weeks, for if it dries quickly it will crack and soon break when wet. Soda, by softening the water, saves a great deal of soap. It is said that the oftener carpets are shaken the longer they wear; the dirt that is under them grinds out the threads. Scald your wooden utensils often, and keep your tinware dry. When washing them dampen a cloth, dip it in common soda, rub the ware briskly and wipe dry before setting aside. If copper utensils are used be careful not to let the tin be rubbed off, and to have them repaired when the least defect appears. Again, never put by any soup, gravy, etc., in them, or indeed in any metal vessel; stone and earthenware utensils should be provided for these purposes. Tin vessels, if kept damp, will soon rust, and this causes holes. Suet and lard keep better in tin than in earthenware.

"I'm No Deid Yet."

There has just died in Liverpool John Geddes, who was once the hero of a rather stirring incident. In 1861 a very old building in Edinburgh, containing about twenty tenants, fell. The Geddes family were among the occupants. Although many lives were lost, many of the inmates were rescued in a remarkable manner. The accident occurred on a Saturday, and on Sunday the crowd became so great that the provost sent for and received the assistance of a company of the Cameronians from the castle to aid the police in keeping order. Under great risk, the work of excavation was carried on during the whole of Sunday. For several hours the rescuers had labored to reach the little boy Geddes, guided by his voice. While the men were clearing away the debris, Geddes was heard to shout: "Heave awa, lads, I'm no deid yet." When a new tenement was built on the spot where the house fell, a bust of young Geddes, with these words, was placed above one of the doorways —Westminster Gazette.

Claimed to Be an Exception.

"The poor," said the orator, "are getting poorer every day."

"I wish that fellow would go around and have a talk with my manager," said the living skeleton, thoughtfully. "He pulled the scales on me last week and wanted to cut down my salary 'cause I had gained seven ounces."—Indianapolis Journal.

REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE

In one of his wonderful sermons very truthfully said, "My brother, your trouble is not with the heart; it is a gastric disorder or a rebellious liver. It is not sin that blots out your hope of heaven, but bile that not only yellows your eyeballs and furs your tongue and makes your head ache but swoops upon your soul in dejection and forebodings,"—and Talmage is right! All this trouble can be removed! You can be cured!

How? By using

Warner's Safe Cure

We can give you incontrovertible proof from men and women, former sufferers,

But to-day well, and stay so.

There is no doubt of this. Twenty years experience proves our words true.

Write to-day for free treatment blank. Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N.Y.

His Winning Way.

"Why is it that you politicians are always so tenderly considerate of the workingman?"

"Because he is so numerous."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Reward $100.

The Dominion Express Co. will pay $100 for information leading to the capture of C. C. Condie, who absconded from Oak Lake, Manitoba, on the night of Oct. 13. He is about 5 feet 8 inches, dark sunken eyes, dark brown mustache, lowering eyelids, pale complexion, about thirty-five years old; wore ordinary jockey cap, dark coat and trousers; boil on one eye and one on neck; is a good musician. Arrest for grand larceny and wire G. Ford, superintendent, Winnipeg, or Ronald Stewart, St. Paul, Minn.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 500-3 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

No Doubt of It.

Miss Leftover—There is a saying, "Love me, love my dog." And I believe it is true.

Her Little Brother—Of course it is. Anybody who could love you could love anything.

Reforms Need More Than a Day

To bring them about, and are always more complete and lasting when they proceed with steady regularity to a consummation. Few of the observant among us can have failed to notice that permanently healthful changes in the human system are not wrought by abrupt and violent means, and that those are the most salutary medicines which are progressive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the chief of these. Dyspepsia, a disease of obstinate character, is obliterated by it.

What He Wanted.

"You don't seem to have the sort of folding bed I want," said the customer, after looking through the furniture man's stock.

"What sort of a folding bed are you looking for?" asked the clerk.

"I want one I can use as a bicycle in the daytime."—Harper's Bazar.

Flowers—Cut this out and keep it. Fresh cut roses, carnations, smilax, ferns, palms and violets, flowers for funerals and weddings sent on mail or telegraph orders to all parts of the country, summer or winter, by Mendenhall, the florist, Minneapolis, Minn.

Her Reason.

"Why have you never married, Miss Antique?" he thoughtlessly inquired.

"You never asked me before," she said, coyly, as she gave him her hand. —Detroit Free Press.

A Lincolnshire rector, writing in the London Times, says he has an income of exactly $1,000 a year, and this year he has paid $220 out of it in rates and taxes.

I shall recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption far and wide.—Mrs. Mulligan, Plumstead, Kent, England, Nov. 8, 1895.

The Emperor William is just now taking a great interest in the construction of a new gun at Krupp's works, which will have a range of not less than ten miles effective.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowles. Never sicken, weaken or gripe.

Mr. Wilson Barrett's book, "The Sign of the Cross," will be published early in December. Mr. Barrett gets $5,000 down for the work, with the promise of more to come.

The Baby,

If he's peevish, restless,
Suffers from sleeplessness,
Loss of appetite, loss of flesh
And seems out of sorts
Generally, is undoubtedly Suffering from worms, and
Should be given at once,
Kickapoo Indian
Worm Killer.
Relieves instantly, cures
Speedily, and, being purely Vegetable, is positively Harmless. Remember, many Little ones die from Convulsions, and many
Un-named troubles when
Worms are the cause.
Don't delay, its dangerous.
All druggists, 25c.

WILL PROVE DESTRUCTIVE.

Aerial Gun Designed to Drop Shells Inside a Fort or an Enemy's Vessel.

Experiments are now being tried with a view of combining torpedo boats and aerial machines in hostile operations against ships or forts. A boat has been designed to dive under water and fire a torpedo into a battle-ship hull. The proposed aerial gun will send a shell of explosives through the air and drop it on an enemy's deck or into a fort. If the combination of these two machines should prove successful, the craft will be the most wonderful engine of destruction in modern warfare. The aerial gun is to be placed in the bow and to be operated as follows: The boat, for instance, is moving along the surface at a fifteen-knot speed. At the word of command her petroleum fires are put out, the electric engine started, the smokestack and air-shaft drawn inside the vessel and covered over. She is made to sink by admitting water to her tanks. At the same moment two horizontal rudders at the stern, and inclined upward, cause the eighty-five foot steel cigar-shaped craft to dive like a porpoise. She runs, ordinarily, either three or thirty feet under the surface, but she is built to stand the pressure of a depth of seventy feet. She has a constant tendency to rise, but is kept below by the horizontal rudders on her stern. Should she accidentally sink, there are automatic arrangements, governed by the outside water pressure that empty the water-tanks and compel the vessel to rise to the surface. The effect of the fire of this machine is the more appalling because it can be delivered without giving the slightest sign to the enemy. When approaching an enemy the vessel rises to within three feet of the surface, and a revolving looking-glass is raised above the water. This reflects down into the boat through a tube all the surroundings. When the range of a hostile fort is obtained the bow of the boat is allowed to come on a level with the surface of the water, barely exposing the mouth of the aerial gun. The body of the gun is inside the boat. The pneumatic pressure sends a load of destruction into the air and down into the fort. The boat drops back into the depths of the sea, and the enemy cannot tell whence the shot comes. There is no smoke; nothing in sight but a few ripples on the water.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Pay in Full.

Ram's Horn: There is a great deal of honest wisdom and helpful suggestion in the following from the Religious Telescope: Brother, how about that preacher of ours? The year is almost up; he has toiled and preached faithfully; his salary is small enough, goodness knows, and even of that I am told there are $27 unpaid. Now, how about that? Are we going to let him go off to conference, losing that much of his salary, every cent of which he and his family so badly need? Are we? If we do it, it seems to me that the Lord will trouble us; for he tells us plainly, "The laborer is worthy of his hire." I am free to admit that times are hard, and money scarce; but that only makes him need the $27 that much more. Why, if a man were to sneak into my house tonight and steal the $30 that I have laid up to pay my taxes, I would feel that I was almost bankrupt; and yet I am sure that I could stand that loss a good deal easier than our preacher can go to conference without the remainder of his salary. Then, too, we can raise it for him if we will. Come, take hold with me. I will give a dollar, you give a dollar, and then let us go around and see the brethren, talk to them as I have talked to you, and I know we can raise it. Will you? You will! Good for you. Oh, how much better we can sleep when our preacher goes off to conference happy because his salary is paid up in full!

Costly Bottle of Champagne.

Some years ago Mr. Gladstone had met a possible claimant for a civil list pension whom he believed to be in sufficiently poor circumstances, and had almost decided to grant it, when he received an invitation to dinner with the person in question. This raised some doubt in his mind. On the one hand, should a civil list pensioner be able to afford to entertain? On the other hand, it might only be a dinner of herbs, and it seemed hard to deprive a public benefactor of a pension because he was ready to share his crust and water. Knowing that in any case there would be a feast of reason and a flow of soul, Mr. Gladstone accepted the invitation, and on the way propounded to his companion the following text: "No champagne, pension; champagne, no pension." There was champagne, and the host lost his pension. It was the dearest bottle of wine on record, for it cost the purchaser £100 a year.—London News.

To Make Darioles.

Savory darioles are suitable either for luncheon or supper and may be made with boiled or roast beef, veal or chicken. Mince the meat, season it with salt, pepper and a little nutmeg; add a small quantity of grated ham (potted ham will answer the purpose) and a few shreds of red pickled cabbage chopped up and moistened sufficiently to form into a paste with some liquid aspicadelly. Fill some individual molds with the mixture, and when set turn out and place each on a rather thick slice of tomato; serve around a pile of finely shredded lettuce dressed with mayonnaise. Almost any kind of flaky fish can be used in the same way for filling dariole molds, but when this is done a hard boiled egg should be added in place of the ham and the aspic should be whisked until frothy with a small quantity of mayonnaise, before being mixed with the fish.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Nansen Not Divorced.

Mr. H. Werner writes as follows to the London Spectator: "Allow me through the medium of your esteemed paper to contradict the statement made by the Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail about Dr. Nansen's remarriage. I know for certain that Dr. Nansen, before starting on his polar expedition, did not obtain a legal separation from his wife in order to permit her to marry again in the event of his disappearance or death, without being put to the trouble of proving his decease."

A REMARKABLE CASE.

ILL SINCE GIRLHOOD, NOW A PICTURE OF HEALTH.

From the Star, Valparaiso, Ind.

The attention of the Star having been called to several cases of radical cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, it was determined to investigate some of the more notable of these cases, with a view to disseminating exact information on the subject and benefiting others who were suffering. Prominent among those who had experienced benefits from the use of this remedy was mentioned Mrs. Mary Noren, wife of John Noren, a prosperous farmer, living northeast of Valparaiso, Ind., and to her a reporter was accordingly dispatched.

Mrs. Noren was found busily engaged in household duties, but she found time to detail her experience, and was willing and even anxious that the benefits she had felt should be told for the benefit of those who had suffered as she did.

"I had been ill since girlhood with a complication of complaints," said Mrs. Noren, "never so much as to be confined long in bed, but I suffered intense misery. My chief trouble was with my stomach. I felt a constant gnawing pain that was at times almost distracting, and which had been diagnosed by different physicians as dyspepsia and sympathetic derangement dependent on the condition of the generative organs. I had pains in the back, sometimes so great as to make me unable to work, and frequent bilious attacks. I also suffered greatly from constipation, from which I never could find permanent relief. Then these symptoms were aggravated by rheumatic pains between the shoulder blades, which were most excruciating in damp or cold weather. After my marriage about five years ago, and when my baby was born the trouble seemed to increase, and I was frequently so sick that I could not do my household work. I tried different physicians and used numerous remedies but all in vain, until one day last fall I happened to read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. My husband got three boxes from Mr. C. D. Rushton, the druggist, and I began to use them. From the first I began to feel relief, and before the three boxes were gone I was nearly well. The constipation was cured and the other troubles were so much relieved that I felt better than I had felt for years. As I continued in the use of the pills I grew better and strong, my appetite was more natural, and my flesh increased, until I am in the condition you see me now."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Religion and Politics.

"The church," said the assertive young man, "has always lagged behind the movement of the people."

"Tut, tut," retorted the conservative citizen. "This has been a great season for political bolting, has it not?"

"Certainly."

"Well, the churches had an epidemic of heresy trials two or three years ago."—Indianapolis Journal.

Patriotism Up to Date.

"Sawyer, don't you think a man ought to work for his political principles?"

"No, sir, I think a man's political principles ought to work for him."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Down to Date.

"Anything new on the dramatic stage this season?"

"Yes, we are going to run 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' with the cabin lit by electric lights, and Eliza getting away over the ice on a horseless sled."—Chicago Record.

A theosophical novel by Mrs. Twedale will shortly be published. The author is a grandchild of Dr. Robert Chambers.

Patents Issued.

Ile Anderson, New Sweden, Minn., match deliverer and cigar cutter; Edward P. Caldwell, Minneapolis, Minn., track jack; Wallace Grosvener, Casselton, N. D., transportation system; Walter P. Hitchings, Waubay, S. D., straw-burning stove; Edward W. Jenkins, Durbin, N. D., commode; Hastings H. Johnson, Minneapolis, Minn., listing and computing machine; Benjamin Porter, Ellendale, N. D., adjustable bicycle handle bar.

Mild Coercion.

Mrs. Shrill—So you won't get me that new bonnet?

Mr. S.—No; I won't.

Mrs. S.—Very well, then; I'll go to every temperance meeting that comes along, and people will think the reason I ain't decently dressed is because you've took to drink.—New York Weekly.

Three Balls.

Razzle—I thought you said that a mackintosh was impervious to water.

Dazzle—So they are.

Razzle—Not much! I had mine soaked before I had it a week—Harlem Life.

A summary of the fishing disasters at Gloucester, Mass., for the year just ended shows that 74 lives have been lost, against an average of 99 for the twenty-two years previous. The number of vessels lost was thirteen.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists; price 75c per bottle.

The Austrians are great smokers. The daily consumption of matches in that country is twenty for each inhabitant.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Nobody Blames Her.

"Queer about that woman who sings in her sleep."

"I don't think so; she shows her sense in shirking the responsibility."—Chicago Record.

For Sale—640 acres Lamore Co., N. D. (unimproved), Sec. 23, T. 130, R. 61. Very cheap for spot cash. Unincumbered. Address James G. Kellie, 2510 Bloomington av., Minneapolis.

The New Diversion.

"Baggagemen are getting so that they handle trunks very carefully."

"Yes; they say they have more fun banging bicycles around."—Chicago Record.

A rich discovery of gold has been made near Grahamstown, Cape Colony.

The Bane of Beauty.

Beauty's bane is the fading or falling of the hair. Luxuriant tresses are far more to the matron than to the maid whose casket of charms is yet unrifled by time. Beautiful women will be glad to be reminded that falling or fading hair is unknown to those who use to a responsible firm; one that will cash your draft for a large part of the value of the car and will send you the rest of the money promptly, as soon as the car is sold. If you do not want to sell yet, let us store it for you; we store Free For 20 Days and loan 90 per cent of value at 6 per cent. We give ample references and guarantee the Highest Prices.

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

SHIP YOUR WHEAT

OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.,
FLOUR EXCHANGE MINNEAPOLIS.

"The New Woman."

Battle Ax PLUG

The "new woman" favors economy, and she always buys "Battle Ax" for her sweetheart. She knows that a 5-cent piece of "Battle Ax" is nearly twice as large as a 10-cent piece of other high grade brands. Try it yourself and you will see why "Battle Ax" is such a popular favorite all over the United States.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI | ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 28, 1896. | NUMBER 13.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe; Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

Justice White, of the United States supreme court, has appointed George S. Moore assistant United States attorney for the middle district of Alabama.

The Chinese minister at Washington will be succeeded at the expiration of his term, eight months hence, by Lord Li, nephew and adopted son of Earl Li Hung Chang.

Commenting upon the statement contained in a dispatch from Washington that President Cleveland intends to intervene in Cuba in a manner tantamount to the recognition of the independence of the insurgents, The Imparcial, published at Madrid, declares that Spain ought to demand a full explanation of the Washington government.

Henry D. Clayton, United States attorney for the Middle district of Alabama, at Montgomery, was dismissed from office by order of the attorney-general. Mr. Clayton is a candidate for congress, and there is a well-known rule of the department which makes candidacy inconsistent with the holding of the position of United States attorney.

People in Print.

Dr. William Campbell, president of Queen's college, Cambridge, is dead.

Maj. S. T. Dickinson, the well-known horseman and breeder of horses, died at New York of pneumonia after a brief illness, aged 64.

Jesse R. Howell, for twenty-five years business manager an part owner of the Gate City newspaper, died at Keokuk, Iowa, aged 65.

Herman B. Schnaubelt, a brother of Rudolph Schnaubelt, the man who threw the bomb in Haymarket square, Chicago, died in San Bernardino, Cal., yesterday of consumption.

G. W. Katzung, a wealthy merchant and banker of Fort Scott, Kan., died of heart disease. He was for years vice president of the Citizens' National bank.

Willard Sellers, the 18-year-old son of W. P. Sellers of Kokomo, Ind., died suddenly of heart disease at Michigan university, which he had just entered. He was found dead on the floor of his bathroom.

Philip T. Colgrove of Hastings, Mich., who has just been elected world's supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, is 37 years old, a native of India, a graduate of Olivet college, and a practicing lawyer in Hastings.

Henry Tibbe, a wealthy citizen of this city, aged 77 years, is dead at his home in Washington, Mo., of pneumonia. He was born at Enschede, Holland, and emigrated to this country in 1867.

Accidental Happenings.

Paul Hogue, aged twenty, attempted to kill a calf at St. Joseph, Mich. with the butt of a loaded shotgun, and in striking the calf the gun was discharged, killing him instantly.

The asphalt roof of a one-story room used by the University of Virginia fell in this morning and caught five workmen, two of whom were killed and three injured.

Fears are entertained in Philadelphia for the safety of the barks Argenta, Silicon and Serena, which sailed several months ago from Greenland to load cryolite for Philadelphia.

Miscreants wrecked a passenger train on the Memphis route near Jones' Springs, Mo., placing an iron plate on the rail at a curve. Charles George, the fireman, was badly hurt. The passengers escaped with a shaking up.

Mrs. Andrew Grove's clothing caught fire from some burning brush as she was driving near Jacksonville, Ill., with two children, and while she managed to save them, her own burns were so severe that she died.

Mayer Bros.' pottery at Beaver Falls, Pa., was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $100,000. During the fire a wall fell and five boys were buried in the debris. Two were perhaps fatally injured.

Crimes and Criminals.

A negro dance near Scullyville, Ark., broke up in a row. Two negro men, whose names are not known, were killed. Two others are under arrest, charged with doing the shooting.

At a dance near Huntsville, Kan., Thomas Turner was shot and killed by James H. Stanley, a young man. The young men had been intimate friends. No cause for the shooting is known.

E. F. Clark, son of a wholesale grocer in New York city, is under detention at the city prison in San Francisco waiting for the settlement of a draft of $250 drawn on his father and refused payment by him.

Five outlaws called at the house of R. T. Brooke, a wealthy rancher of Tonkawa, O. T., and tried to break into the house. Mr. Brooke shot two of his visitors dead, wounded the third and chased the other two away at a lively rate.

John Y. McKane, the fomer political boss of Gravesend, is, according to a statement that is regarded as authoritative, to be released from Sing Sing before the expiration of Gov. Morton's term of office, and possibly within a few days.

The body of James Humphrey, the nine-year-old adopted son of John Humphrey, was found in a clump of bushes near Whiting, Ind., with a bullet-hole through his head. The little fellow had undoubtedly committed suicide, as a revolver was found lying near his side.

Albert H. Downen, forty-five years old, was arrested at Denver for highway robbery, and after a search of his room had revealed a large amount of booty, he confessed to fully fifteen hold-ups in that city as well as to the murder of one man, Joel Ashworth, in Colorado, and a man and woman in California.

While attending a political meeting addressed by his father at Rochester, Mich., the little thirteen-year-old son of Congressional Candidate S. W. Smith was arrested and locked up in jail by the village marshal for disturbing the peace with a campaign horn. The boy did not call for his father, but calmly awaited his release.

Dr. Alfred Hoyt of Hayes, Mass., shot and instantly killed Dr. Rhett of Jonesville, La., in the rotunda of the hotel at Natchez, Miss. He fired four times in rapid succession, the shots taking effect in the body of his victim, who fell lifeless to the floor. Hoyt was arrested, but released on $10,000 bail. The killing is the result of an old grudge.

From Foreign Shores.

German capitalists invested heavily in Venezuela.

The rebellion of the Philippines grows more serious for Spain.

Salisbury says England can do nothing with Turkey in connection with the Armenians.

Li Hung Chang has arrived at Pekin and will shortly present his report to the emperor.

Dr. Hager of Zurich has discovered an unpublished concert overture by Wagner.

The Emperor and Empress of Germany will visit the Czar and Czarina of Russia next summer.

Gen. Bolin, the Panama canal director, has returned to Colon, Colombia, from Paris. He brought with him from the West Indies 150 laborers to work upon the canal.

Emperor William and Empress Augusta received an enthusiastic greeting at Port Westphalia, where he went to attend the unveiling of the monument erected in honor of Emperor William I.

Councillor Levy, one of the best known lawyers in Berlin, Germany, was stabbed to death in his bed by two burglars, and his wife was so badly injured that she had to be sent to a hospital. The murderers escaped.

Fire completely wiped out the big drug establishment of Scott & Brown, at Belleville, Ont. L. W. Yoemans, the proprietor, and one of the best known business men in Eastern Ontario, was burned to death.

Mustapha Tahsin Bey, the new Turkish minister, arrived at Washington and was met by Mavroyeni Bey, the retiring minister, and the officials of the legation.

Prince Lobanoff, before he became premier of Russia, it is said, had no great liking for work, but he became consumed with a passion for industry on his appointment, and when he had a great object in view he was tireless.

The marriage of Ugo Biondi, the young Florentine dramatic artist, and Miss Gertrude Bial, niece of Manager Albert Bial of New York, has been postponed for two weeks. Some papers that are to be signed have not yet arrived from Italy.

The Portuguese bark Venus, Capt. Pinto, hailing from Lisbon, foundered in a gale of Oct. 9, off Skomer island. Twenty persons were drowned. The Venus was a bark of 647 tons register and was built in 1862 at Liverpool. Her owners were Rodriguez and Rosa.

The Havana police have arrested three men said to be delegates from the insurgent junta in New York charged with conspiring to blow up buildings by the use of dynamite in order to create a panic and plunder the city. There are said to be thirty-two men engaged in the plot.

The grand jury at London found a true bill against Lady Scott, mother-in-law of Earl Russell, who is charged by the latter with criminal libel, in conjunction with two young men, who were arrested with her on the same charge.

The London Daily News has a Berlin dispatch which says that a batch of Alsation recruits who were traveling on the railway mutinied and wrecked the railroad carriages and shouted "Vive la France." This is supposed to indicate a revival of Chauvinism since the Czar's visit.

Simon Duck of Victoria, B. C., is a seventh son of a seventh son. In 1867 he left London in the seventh month, on the seventh day of the week, and arrived in this country on the 7th of the following month. When seeking election to the colonial parliament he was elected on the 7th of the seventh month by a majority of seven. In the following election he was defeated by the same mythical number.

Otherwise.

Coon Bros, wholesale cheese dealers, doing business in Philadelphia, made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors.

E. F. Clark, son of a wholesale grocer in New York city, is under detention at San Francisco awaiting the settlement of a draft of $250 drawn on his father and refused payment by him.

John H. McNeeley died suddenly at Evanston, Ind. He was proprietor of the Evansville Journal, and was an old newspaper man. An only son survives him, E. T. McNeely of the Journal.

A large school of whales, swimming less than a mile from shore, afforded the residents of Sea Isle City, N. J., and the neighboring resorts a rare treat. The huge mammals were from forty to sixty feet long.

A reduction in wages varying from 5 to 8 per cent went into effect in the mills of the Salmon Falls (N. H.) manufacturing company. The management has promised to restore the cut-down when business improves.

Representatives from local councils of the National League of Musicians are in session in Indianapolis, for the purpose of forming an organization which will affiliate with the American Federation of Labor.

The steamer Monowai, which arrived at San Francisco from Australia, had on board about $2,500,000 worth of English sovereign consigned to Assistant United States Treasurer Berry, to be melted down and minted into double eagles there and stored away in the subtreasury.

The fund being raised by clergymen to erect Asbury Memorial hall at the American university at Washington has received pledges of $100,000. During the last few years the receipts in cash of the university have been $280,000. Of this amount there is $20,000 cash on hand.

EIGHT ARE KILLED

FRIGHTFUL RAILROAD WRECK OCCURS NEAR ST. LOUIS.

Two Passenger Trains on the St. Louis & San Francisco Road Collide — Eight People, All of St. Louis, Are Instantly Killed, and More Than Thirty Others Are Injured, Three of Them Probably Fatally.

St. Louis, Oct. 27.—Two passenger trains on the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, going in opposite directions, collided to-day near Windsor Station, about thirteen miles from this city, instantly killing eight persons and injuring twenty-one others.

The killed are all of St. Louis. Their names are Adolph Hohl, engineer; Charles Mobine, Conrad Kuntz, C. C. Blevins, H. Thall, Barney McKenna, Miss Maud McKenna, John Cartwright.

The collision occurred between the second section of an excursion train bound west and the 'Frisco Valley Park accommodation. The accident was the result of disobedience, or neglect, of orders on the part of the excursion train crew who should have remained at Spring Park for orders and to have let the accommodation through.

The excursion train was the second section of a special bound for St. James, Mo., 100 miles west of St. Louis, where the Missouri home for aged veterans was dedicated under the auspices of the G. A. R. and Woman's Relief Corps. The first section had gone through safely, and the second, which consisted of eleven coaches heavily laden with G. A. R. men, their wives and children, left St. Louis about 9 o'clock. According to J. D. Dishman, the telegraph operator and station agent at Spring Park, it should have stopped at that place. Instead of doing so the second section passed by the station and soon after met the accommodation coming down grade

At Full Speed.

Engineer Hohl, of the accommodation, was not aware that the second section was on the road, and in trying to make the switch at Kirkwood, crashed into the ill-fated train in a cut. There was only one car, a combination baggage and coach, on Engineer Hohl's train, but the collision was terrific, both engines being demolished and a number of cars telescoped. The wreckage was piled high on the track, and above the sound of escapeing steam could be heard the cries of the frightened and injured passengers.

Next to the engine of the excursion train was the commissary car, filled with refreshments. Barney McKenna was in charge of the edibles, and with him was his fourteen-year-old daughter, Maude. Both were instantly killed, being scalded and crushed. A number of passengers, mostly young men, were grouped around the temporary counter, eating and drinking. Almost all were either killed or injured. This and the next car, in which were seventy passengers, suffered the worst damage, and most of the killed and injured were taken from them.

The Injured.

Ferdinand Lange, St. Louis, internal injuries; David Garrity, St. Louis, head cut and legs bruised; J. E. Riblet, St. Louis, hips and legs injured; Charles R. Milentz, St. Louis, scalp wounds; Frank Masler, St. Louis, fireman on excursion train, spinal cord injured and hurt internally; Mrs. J. B. McDonald, St. Louis, slightly injured; George Wulff, Kirkwood, conductor on suburban train, hips injured and body bruised; Robert Mulholland, Spring Park, brakeman, slightly injured; George Atwood, St. Louis, conductor, slightly injured; Joseph A. Dryden, Springfield, Mo., engineer, skull fractured and badly scalded; Frederick Miller, Valley Park, fireman, legs injured and body bruised; A. K. Smith, Valley Park, baggageman, head cut and hand and arms injured; Mrs. A. K. Smith, injured by shock; Matt Waplehorst, Valley Park, slightly injured; Peter Hill, St. Louis, face cut and badly bruised; Robert Langen, William Sulter, Henry Larborg, Louis Hunt, Henry McMichael, Mrs. Rose Hill, all of St. Louis, more or less injured.

It seems from statements made by men employed on the line that the accident was due to the oversight of one of the oldest engineers on this division of the road, Joseph Dryden, who was in charge of the excursion train.

"I cannot see how it could have occurred," said an official of the road, "but Engineer Dryden seems to have entirely forgotten about No. 12, the accommodation train. He is one of the best engineers on the road, and, the overlooking of the train which was traveling toward him is all the more remarkable for the reason that he was for a time its engineer; and was, therefore, perfectly familiar with its schedule. But the train seems to have dropped completely out of his recollection. He failed to take the siding, and his conductor, George Atwood, who was taking tickets, failed to notice the fact."

Identified as Wines.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 27.—The case of Joseph Miller, alias Allen J. Wines, grows more interesting. When he arrived in a deputy sheriff's care it was pronounced a case of mistaken identity, but this morning he was positively identified by his Fargo wife and a half-dozen other responsible witnesses. He still asserts his innocence, and maintains it is a case of mistaken identity. There are some who knew Miller that claim this is not the man, but the word of the wife, who has borne him a child, was taken in the court and the prisoner is in jail.

Woman Protects Herself.

Fessenden, N. D., Oct. 27. — Last night the wife of ex-State Senator Hiltz shot and mortally wounded an unknown intruder, who, while her husband was away, tried to effect an entrance through the chamber window. Mrs. Hiltz quietly passed from her sleeping apartments through the parlor and upstairs, and just as the intruder was crawling through the window put a bullet through his stomach. He died in fifteen minutes. Nothing upon his person gave indication as to his identity.

IN HONOR OF LINCOLN.

St. Paul Has a Big Political Demonstration.

St. Paul, Oct. 27.—What is said to have been the greatest political demonstration that has ever occurred in the Northwest was that in honor of Hon. Robert T. Lincoln in the Capital City. The lowest estimate of the number of men in line is 12,000, and the claim is made that not less than 15,000 men were in parade. The procession was headed by a platoon of police. Following were a score of ministers of various denominations. Directly behind them rode Gen. E. C. Mason, who was in charge of the parade, and was followed by his aides.

Next in the special division came the local railroad men. From figures given by the marshals of each organization or railroad the estimate of the number of railroad men in line was 3,500. The Great Northern had, perhaps, the largest number, estimated at 1,000. The Northern Pacific came a good second with not less than 700 men. The Omaha showed up with 400; Great Western, 300; St. Paul & Duluth, 350; Minnesota Transfer, 200; Milwaukee, 150; Burlington, 150; union depot, 60; Minneapolis & St. Louis, 50. The greater number of men carried colored lanterns, and the effect of the red, green, blue and white lights was extremely pretty. Side by side with the employes were the general managers, presidents, heads of departments and office men. Then followed the various ward and other clubs, all carrying torches. The parade was reviewed by Col. Lincoln from the balcony of the Hotel Ryan, and for an hour and a quarter the cheering was continuous. Eight thousand people were packed into the Auditorium to hear Mr. Lincoln, and there were 3,000 at Market hall to hear Congressman McCleary. Neither hall held half the people who desired admittance.

WITH X RAYS.

Successful Operations at the City Hospital in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Oct. 27.—The use of the Roentgen rays to surgery was demonstrated in the most satisfactory manner this morning in the city and county hospital before a large number of leading physicians and surgeons of the city and residents of the state university. Operations were performed on two men, removing bullets that had been located by X rays. It was the first practical test of the invention made in this city and the unanimous opinion of the medical men that witnessed it is that the photographic process as an aid to surgery is all that has been claimed for it, and that its use will continue to become more general in the profession. The pictures of W. H. Chase and George Davidson were taken by X rays last week at the state university, and the photographs showed the location of the bullets. This work was conducted by Prof. Jones, and at the time it appeared to be satisfactory. The next step was the operation to demonstrate the accuracy of the photographs. This was done this morning and with the best results. William H. Chase had shot himself in the leg while riding in a hack about a month ago. In the case of George Davidson the bullet has been in his body for three years.

Endeavorers Elect.

Minneapolis, Oct. 27.—Following are the officers chosen by the Minnesota State Christian Endeavor convention: President, C. H. Hunt; first vice president, G. E. Soper, Alexandria; second vice president, George S. Tupper, Duluth; third vice president, E. O. Bewsler, Buffalo; fourth vice president, H. B. McBride, Ashton; fifth vice president, Miss Mamie Sterr, Tracy; secretary, Miss Carry Holbrook, St. Paul; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Knapp, Rochester; junior superintendent, Miss Minnie Ellingson, Bloomington Ferry; chairman of transportation, W. N. Carroll, Minneapolis; executive committee, A. G. Braden, Minneapolis; Dr. Jenneatte McLaren, St. Paul; Arthur M. Stevens, Minneapolis; W. G. Fordyce, St. Paul; A. R. Morse, St. Paul.

Causes His Wife's Arrest.

St. Paul, Oct. 27.—Mrs. A. Taunous, for whose arrest a warrant was issued some time ago on complaint of her husband, was arrested yesterday in Moorhead. Mr. Taunous charges his wife with stealing the household goods while he was absent from the city. The property is alleged to be mortgaged to the furniture company from which it was purchased.

Foot Ball Games.

Minnesota 18, Ames 6.
Yale 12, Carlisle (Indians) 6.
University of Wisconsin 54, Grinnell 6.
Harvard 13, Cornell 5.
Northwestern 46, Chicago 6.
West Point 44, Union 0.
Princeton 39, Pennsylvania State 0.
Pennsylvania 4, Lafayette 0.
Ann Arbor 16, Perdue 0.

Gold Men in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Oct. 27.—Generals Palmer and Buckner, the nominees for president and vice president on the gold Democratic ticket, spoke in Exposition hall to an audience of between three and four thousand.

Wilhelmina Confirmed.

The Hague, Oct. 27. — Queen Wilhelmina was confirmed to-day in a salon on the ground floor of the palace in the presence of the court. Dr. D. J. Van der Flyer, the court chaplain, preached the confirmation sermon.

With Poison.

Kansas City, Oct. 27. — Miss Alice Platt, aged twenty-eight years, a servant girl in the household of Charles Mussey, a prominent attorney, is under arrest on suspicion of having poisoned Mrs. Torrence, Mussey's mother-in-law, aged sixty years, and three children. She is believed to be insane.

Sues the Tribune.

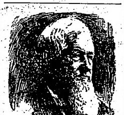
Minneapolis, Oct. 27. — The ubiquitous advance agent is represented by a suit which soon will come before the district court of this county. The plaintiff is the Adam Forepaugh-Sells Brothers' combined show, while the defendant is the Tribune of this city. The paper in question indulged in harsh criticism of the show and chose to couch it in terms which appear to have been especially objectionable to the managers of the show. The harm thus done cannot be repaired by less than $30,000 damages.

THE TWO GENERALS

PALMER AND BUCKNER DELIVER ADDRESSES IN ST. PAUL.

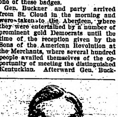
The Gold Democratic Nominees for President and Vice President Are Greeted by a Large Audience and Their Speeches Are Frequently Interrupted by Applause—Reception in Honor of Gen. Buckner.

St. Paul, Oct. 25.—Generals Palmer and Buckner, the gold Democratic candidates for president and vice president, were given a warm reception in St. Paul. They spoke in the Auditorium to a crowd which completely filled the building, and many were unable to gain admission. The crowd was composed almost exclusively of anti-silver men. The committee in charge of the demonstration in honor of Robert Lincoln has thus far distributed over 30,000 badges, and nearly every person in the big auditorium wore one of these badges.



Gen. Palmer.

Gen. Buckner and party arrived from St. Cloud in the morning and were taken to the Aberdeen, where they were entertained by a number of prominent gold Democrats until the time of the reception given by the Sons of the American Revolution at the Merchants, where several hundred people availed themselves of the opportunity of meeting the distinguished Kentuckian. Afterward Gen. Buckner and party were entertained at dinner at the Aberdeen. After dinner several thousand members of various political clubs escorted the party to the Auditorium. The streets were lined with people, who continuously cheered Gen. Buckner, and the Kentuckian was given an ovation when he appeared upon the stage. Cyrus Wellington delivered the opening address and was followed by Gen. Buckner. His speech was frequently interrupted by applause. Daniel W. Lawler made a short address. While he was speaking Gen. Palmer, who had just arrived from Illinois on a special train, appeared, and was greeted with cheers that lasted several minutes. The nominee for the presidency made the closing address.



Gen. Buckner.

BITTER FEELING.

Threats to Hang Rambusch's Corpse to a Tree.

Juneau, Wis., Oct. 21.—It seems as though the sensation in the Rambusch case was never to end. A telegram received from Fredericksburg, stating that the officials there had decided to bury Rambusch's body where it was found, started the story that he had not committed suicide. It was contended here that the body had not been identified and there was no proof that it was the absconding banker. Mrs. Rambusch was afraid that the insurance companies would not accept that identification, and she telegraphed the authorities to forward the body at once. A telegram was received in reply stating that the body had been shipped. Another report which caused some excitement was to the effect that certain people were arranging to get hold of the body when it arrived here, and prevent its burial before it had been strung up to a tree in the court house yard. Not much stock was taken in the story by Mr. Rambusch's friends, but it was feared that trouble might ensue if it was allowed to spread, and the people who were doing the talking were promptly told that any such attempt would be resisted by arms, if necessary. It is not believed that there will be any disturbance, but it is not likely that there will be a regular funeral.

Rev. Frank Vrooman Fired.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 25.—By a vote of 15 to 8 the Presbyterian synod of Illinois expelled Rev. Frank B. Vrooman of Chicago. The charges brought against Rev. Mr. Vrooman were purely questions as to his orthodoxy. They were first brought forward before the Chicago presbytery last spring, the decision then being overwhelmingly in his favor. The case was then brought before the state synod. Rev Mr Vrooman is a son-in-law of Gen. John C. Black, ex-United States commissioner of pensions.

MISSOURI HOLD-UP.

Blue City Where the James Boys Once Robbed a Train.

Kansas City, Oct. 23.—A passenger and express train on the Chicago & Alton railroad, due here from Chicago and St. Louis at 7 o'clock, was held up and robbed by four masked men at Blue Springs cut, between Independence and Glendale, Mo. The scene of the robbery is less than twenty miles distant from Kansas City. The train was flagged at the entrance to the cut. While two of the robbers stood guard over the passenger coaches the other two covered the conductor, engineer and fireman with their pistols and compelled them to go to the express car. There the robbers commanded the messenger to open the door of the car threatening to break in the door should he refuse. The express messenger, however, had surmised what the trouble was. While the bandits had been demanding admission he quickly opened the safe, took out the money packages and tossed them into a chicken coop. When he finally admitted the robbers to the car and opened the safe for them the strong box contained but two or three packets of jewelry. Even at the point of the robbers' pistols and Winchester the messenger insisted that he had carried no currency.

Taking up the very little booty at hand the outlaws uncoupled the express car from the coach following it and then marched their prisoners forward to the locomotive where they compelled them to sit down on the bank alongside the track. The leader climbed into the cab, tried the air and the steam and then called to the men who were back guarding the passenger coaches to come forward. The outlaws pulled out, having held up the train without firing a shot. They ran the locomotive several miles, to within a mile of Independence, where they abandoned it. It was two hours before the robbery became known. The passengers on the train did not know what had caused the delay until nearly two hours afterward, and amused themselves during the long stop by taking a straw presidential ballot. As soon as a party of trainmen could walk to Independence the alarm was sent out. A deputy sheriff and posse left Independence at once, and about the same time a squad of policemen was detailed from here and left for the scene of the robbery on a special train. It is thought, however, that the outlaws are now safely out of the way.

SUN YAT SEN RELEASED.

Lord Salisbury Calls Down the Chinese Minister.

London, Oct. 25.—Sun Yat Sen, the Chinese physician who was kidnaped and kept a prisoner in the Chinese legation on the charge of having been engaged in a conspiracy to overthrow the Manchu dynasty, was liberated to-day after Lord Salisbury had sent the Chinese minister a note demanding the release of the prisoner.

The marquis of Salisbury, after reading a number of affidavits in the case, sent a strongly worded letter to the Chinese envoy, pointing out that the method adopted by the legation in arresting Sun Yat Sen was distinctly not needed, as the courts were open to the Chinese officials to obtain any criminal for legal purposes. The premier said he could not fail to point out that the act savored of unfriendliness, as a seeming violation of the right of asylum to which England was committed by every tradition and belief, and he asked the envoy to immediately release the imprisoned Chinaman, and so avoid further unpleasantness.

Sun Yat Sen's friend, Dr. Cantlie, who first raised the question of the Chinaman's imprisonment, went to the Chinese legation with a letter from the foreign office and not long afterward he emerged from a side door with Sun Yat Sen. They entered a cab and drove to the foreign office, where Sun Yat Sen made a formal statement of his case. His release was witnessed by a large crowd of people. A representative of the Associated Press was informed that in official circles the detention of Sun Yat Sen is regarded "as a monstrous abuse of the privilege of legation which could not be tolerated for a moment."

It appears that Sir Halliday Mac-Cartney, on receiving the marquis of Salisbury's note, went to the bedside of the Chinese minister, who is in ill health, and explained to him that the marquis of Salisbury insisted upon the release of Sun Yat Sen. The Chinese minister thereupon cabled to Pekin for instructions, and on the receipt of an answer Sun Yat Sen was released.

SON OF A KING.

Interesting Character Dies at Fargo, N. D.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 25.—John C. Miller, county auditor, died to-day of pneumonia and Bright's disease, after a short illness. This rather complicates the county election, as the ballots have been prepared and sent out with Miller as a candidate for re-election. The county central committee will nominate a candidate who will be voted for by means of stickers, as the ballots have already been printed and sent out. George W. Wasem, deputy auditor, will probably be the nominee. The death of Mr. Miller revives an oft repeated story that he was an illegitimate son of a deceased king of Sweden. The story is given general credence here, and the deceased is said to have often discussed the matter with his intimate friends. He came to the United States when quite young and was highly educated. He had a distinguished appearance and was a well known leader in Scandinavian circles.

O. W. Peabody Dead.

Boston, Oct. 25.—O. W. Peabody, of the well known Boston banking firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., died to-day.

A Venerable Preacher Dead.

Minneapolis, Oct. 23. — Rev. N. A. Reed died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. B. Murch, 320 Eleventh avenue south, from old age. Mr. Reed was born in 1815 and had been in the Baptist ministry for fifty years, beginning his work at Wakefield, R. I. He had several pastorates in Illinois and Iowa.

The third annual conference of the Federated Metal Trades of America began a three-days' session at Cincinnati to-day.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Bishop Whipple of Minnesota was married recently in New York.

St. Paul wheelmen have started a movement for good roads.

The state Christian Endeavor convention was held in Minneapolis.

James West jumped from a Great Northern passenger train at Anoka station and sustained severe injuries to his head and face.

The handsome new bank building at Barnesville is receiving the finishing touches, and will be opened in a few days for general banking business.

John C. Lindahl committed suicide about three miles northeast of Hartland, by shooting himself in the left breast. Unrequited love was the cause.

The Synod of the Welsh Evangelistic Methodist Church of Minnesota, Iowa and the two Dakotas was held at Mankato recently. The attendance was large. The new Welsh church was dedicated.

While Mrs. O. J. Baker and her seven-year-old son, Jay, were starting for home from Magnolia Jay was run over by a special freight train and instantly killed. The body was horribly mangled.

The house of Henry Louhmen, two miles northeast of Lewiston, was destroyed by fire, supposed to be from a defective chimney. Part of the household goods were saved. The loss is about $1,200; insurance, $600.

A switchman in the yard at Ellsworth by the name of Wible lost his left leg recently while trying to step on the front board of the engine. Dr. McNulty amputated it above the knee, assisted by Dr. Spaulding of Luverne.

George A. Smith, who lost a leg in an accident on the Duluth & Iron Range road a few months ago, and who sued for $25,000 damages, received a verdict for $15,000 from a jury in the United States court at Duluth.

Frau Elizabeth Grelich, who obtained much notoriety in Minneapolis, ahs been stopping at a hotel in New Ulm. She showed her insanity by attempting to commit suicide. She was sent to St. Paul, the county board paying her fare, as she had no money.

Peter Paul made a balloon ascension at Wabasha. In descending the parachute caught on a high tree, throwing him out, breaking one arm; spraining another and breaking some ribs. This was the 200th ascension he had made and he claims he will never make another.

The public schools of Jackson have been reopened, after having been closed for one week on account of diphtheria. Two deaths from the disease and about half a dozen cases were reported, but now all fear of its spread has been allayed. In fact, all cases reported sick are now well.

Rev. L. C. Frost, pastor of the Congregational church at Barnesville, has been suffering for the past few days from impairment of memory. He was unable to attend to his ministerial duties on last Sabbath, and could not even be made to realize that it was Sunday.

The Minneapolis Brewing company's warehouse at East St. Cloud was practically ruined by fire. The value of the stock of beer lost is estimated at $400. The building cost in the neighborhood of $1,000. Insurance unknown. The fire originated from a defective chimney.

Operations at the cane syrup manufactory at Morriston finished for the season. S. H. Kenney, who conducted the manufactory, states that he has ground 747 tons of cane at a cost of about $2,500, and has made 10,000 gallons of syrup. This syrup holds a great deal of sugar.

The board of health of Rochester is taking prompt and timely action to prevent diphtheria from obtaining a foothold there. Three cases have been reported within the past three weeks, one of which, the daughter of Charles Wright of Lower Town, resulted fatally. The other cases are convalescing rapidly, and quarantine will be raised this week on these.

Leo P. Brick, an employe at Pries & Winmer's brewery at St. Cloud, was killed. He had started with a load of beer for Richmond. His team became frightened at an engine, and the wagon was upset, burying Brick under the load. He was wrapped up in his blanket and heavy fur overcoat when the accident occurred, and is supposed to have been smothered to death.

Last spring Alexandria voted "no license" and now it is claimed that instead of seven saloons paying the village $3,500, there are five paying nothing. A few days ago Matt P. Meyers was arrested for selling liquor without license. He waived examination and appears before the grand jury, which does not meet until after the next spring election. This arrest is the first move made by the good order people.

Nils Nilson's new injunction suit against the City of Duluth, to restrain the city clerk from putting the proposition to buy the water plant before the people on Nov. 3, was decided yesterday by Judge Moer, after a two-days' argument. While he said he believed it was bad policy to have the election at this time, he thought the court had no right to enjoin an election, and he dismissed the suit.

The German Evangelical church at Hokah, with its $500 improvements, was dedicated recently. The exercises were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Koch of Brownsville, assisted by Rev. G. Meyer of Minneapolis, Rev. Vegesang of New Albion, Iowa, and Rev. Mr. Nash of Caledonia, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Hokah, who spoke in English, and was assisted by the Presbyterian church choir.

At the Owatonna city council meeting Mr. Otto Stellebacker laid affidavits before the aldermen charging Marshal Stewart with extortion. In attempting to refute the charge Mr. Stewart suggested corruption on the part of Mayor Gauser and other members of the council. The mayor retorted with further charges against the marshal, who then tried to resign. The council refused to accept the resignation, and has appointed a commission to investigate the whole matter. Very lively times are anticipated in consequence of these charges and disclosures.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—

HELENA	PULLMAN
BUTTE	SLEEPING CARS
SPOKANE	ELEGANT
TACOMA	DINING CARS
SEATTLE	TOURIST
PORTLAND	SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.,
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn.

41

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 28, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.
2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.
3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.
4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

National.

For President—
WILLIAM J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.
For Vice-President—
THOMAS E. WATSON, of Georgia.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

State Ticket.

For Governor—
JOHN LIND, Brown.
For Lieut. Governor—
J. M. BOWLER, Renville.
For Secretary of State—
JULIUS J. HEINRICH, Hennepin
For Treasurer—
ALEX. McKINNON, Polk.
For Attorney General—
JOHN A. KEYES, St. Louis.
Presidential Electors—
E. J. Meighen; Wilson Borst; H. H. Bonnewell; John H. Ives; John Day Smith; Sylvester Kelliher; Charles D. Autrement; Hans B. Bjorge; James Dillon.

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON
For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY
For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE
For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM
For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN
For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN
For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY
For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS
For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE
For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA
For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY
For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER
For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives—
S. J. LEE.......Norman County
G. O. GILBERTSON, "
W. A. MARIN.......Polk County

Last Issue Before Election.

This is the last time the SPECTATOR will speak to you before election day. Next Tuesday you will go to the polls to cast your vote for the multitude of candidates for office, the most important among them being the presidential electors, Governor, Liet. Governor and Member of congress; but every candidate on the ticket is a part of the great wheels which makes up the machinery of political civil government. In casting your vote at this election you will elect which you desire to have made permanent: A government by the people or a gouernment by the banker, railroad company or corporation and trusts, and in making such choice do not forget that you are but an agent for future generations. Up to the present time you have enjoyed comparative freedom and we earnestly believe that your desire is, to perpetuate a government pledged to guarantee freedom and equal rights to all alike. If such is your desire, if you expect your children to enjoy the rights of an AMERICAN FREEMAN, cast your ballot for W. J. Bryan, John Lind, Lommen and the others on the fusion ticket. But if you don't care what becomes of the future, don't care whether your children are bond or free, if you rather see this great, hitherto free country controlled and ruled by a foreign syndicate of bankers and railroad magnates, if you want to see all the paper money of the country issued by the National banks for which we can only get it by paying such interest as they demand, want to have the volume of money controlled and limited so that you can only BORROW when they see it for their interest to lend, want to be poor, ragged, half starved and the servant of the rich, if you want to be reduced that your children cannot go to school on account of your poverty and their rags, and finally if you want the republicans shylock who loaned you money to improve your (now his) farm, to hold such an advantage over you that you must leave the old home where you have spent so many years and where your children were born and reared, then vote for Mark Hanna (pardon the slip of the pen) McKinley.

It is time and effort lost to attempt to influence him who is blinded by partisan, prejudice; but all who love their country more than the political party which has held the slaves, seen the "great rebellion" we ask to seriously consider the great question now before us and when you have considered it carefully and dispassionately, go to the polls and vote, not as your friend or party dictates, but as your conscience tells you is right and you will have performed the whole duty of a citizen.

DEBS ROASTS IRELAND.

"Christ never had a dollar in this wide world. If he did history fails to record it, and in this regard he differed very materially from Archbishop Ireland. (Hoots and cries of "hit him again. "I have wondered if this priest had realized that he has taken the hammer of gold and driven another nail into the crucified body of the people. (Renewed howls and hoots.) He is not a true follower of the Man of Sorrow. He does not emulate the example of the lowly Nazarene. When the rabbi pursued and pelted the woman who had commited the unpardonable sin, Jesus said: "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone." That stone has never been cast and I am afraid it will not be while this earth endures. The poor heard Jesus gladly because they knew that he was their friend. Lincoln has said that God must love the poor, he has made so many of them. (Laughter) The haggard truth is that the money power has invaded the Christian pulpit. (Applause and cries of "hit him again; hit him harder.") The money power has tempted the robed minister before the alter and has sent him forth a traitor to his consecrated vows with the price in his pocket. (Prolonged applause.) Of course there are perfectly honest and conscientious ministers of the gospel who preach nothing but the gospel of Jesus Christ and his love for humanity. You know some of them and I know some of them. But I protest against churchianity and not Christianity. I protest against a gigantic corporation like Trinity church in New York, that charges usurious interest on its money and commits other unpardonable sins (applause.) I protest against the million dollar edifice without a bit of Christian spirit in it. I protest against the church where the rich men are permitted to control things simply because they are rich. The modern ministers cast out no devils. The devils object. I want to tell you that I confess great respect for those preachers who teach the sublime truths that Christ taught. I have not the slightest respect for a church that sells its pews to the highest bidder. If Christ should enter such a church in his lowly way with his modest dress and his sandal wood shoes and with his humbleness of heart, he would very promptly be ejected. This is a question of humanity. I believe that humanity ought to be placed far above gold. (Applause.)

LINCOLN AND BRYAN.

Abraham Lincoln was nominated at Chicago, as was William J. Bryan.

Abraham Lincoln was as foully traduced by a section of the press of the country as William J. Bryan is being traduced to-day. Abraham Lincoln went to New York and, like Bryan, he was denounced by the metropolitan newspapers and became the target for all the vile epithets which they could apply to him. Here is what the New York Herald of May 19th, said of Abraham Lincoln:

The Republican convention at Chicago have nominated Abraham Lincoln of Illinois for president of the United States—a third-rate western lawyer, poorer even than poor Pierce. * * * The conduct of the Republican party in this nomination is a remarkable instance of small intellect growing smaller. They pass over Seward, Chase and Banks, who are statesmen and able men, and they take up a fourth-rate lecturer who cannot speak good grammar, and who, to raise the wind, delivers his hackneyed, illiterate compositions at $200 apiece. Our readers will recollect that this peripatetic politician visited New York two or three months ago on his financial tour, when, in return for the most unmitigated trash interlaced with coarse and clumsy jokes, he filled his empty pockets with dollars out of Republican fanaticism." Today the New York Herald and the other goldbug organs are calling William J. Bryan a fanatic, a repudiationist, a man of small intellect and a demagogue.

But Abraham Lincoln was elected in spite of the metropolitan press, which derided and denounced him. And Wm. J. Bryan will be selected by an equally overwhelming majority, in spite of the bitter and unfair denunciations of the goldbug press.

Like Lincoln, he is beloved by the people. In him they recognize a great leader, who has sprung from among themselves to carry on the great battle against the gold syndicates, the trusts, and the combines.—Duluth Herald.

The Terre Haute Railway times published by President Debs, of the American Railway Union, has the following regarding the relation of Mark Hanna to organized labor;

"Today go to Cleveland and talk with the men on his street railroads—the Woodland avenue and the Little Consolidated. Not a labor union man is given employment; not one can stay. The first question put to an applicant for work of any road of Hanna's by Mulhern, his man is:

Do you belong to a labor union? He gets no work if he does. Moreover, he is at once shadowed by one of Hanna's detectives, of which he keeps a horde as some men keep a pack of hounds, to learn if he has told the truth.

"No man who belongs to organized labor in any form can work for Hanna or in any enterprise he fosters; unless one excepts those brotherhoods to shed blood, such as the Pinkertons. Then he may do his black work for Hanna and be roundly rewarded therefor. Pinkerton's, the Mooney-Boland's are the only 'labor' organizations to fatten by the hands of Hanna.

"Labor does not hold a meeting at Cleveland nor near any of Hanna's interests which his detectives do not attend. They take the name of every Hanna employe who comes. Off goes his head with the moment of his report.

"When the vestibule street car act was being agitated in Ohio a measure meant to force such a construction of street cars as might serve to shield the motormen from the piercing cold. Hanna opposed it. His men who signed the petitions favorable to the act were dismissed.

No general plan seems to have been followed by the city authorities in naming the parks of New York. The names of the early presidents have been adopted in some cases, but with no uniformity. There are Washington square, Madison square and Jackson square, but Adams, the second of the presidents, and Jefferson, assuredly more prominent than Madison, are ignored. Tompkins, who was the sixth vice president, has his memory and achievements perpetuated in Tompkins square. The name of the poet Bryant was substituted some years ago for the title "Reservoir" in the name of the Forty-second Street park, and Van Cortlandt is appropriately retained as the official designation of the park which includes the national guard parade grounds and the old Van Cortlandt homestead.

Abingdon square, on the west side of town, traces its name to a general of the Revolutionary war, and Christopher street park, in the same neighborhood, owes its name to Christopher Columbus. Bronx park and East River park derive their names from rivers, but the Hudson river, which is much more important to the commerce of New York city than either, is not so perpetuated, and Harlem River park is a private picnic ground.

The name Central park, when originally given, or rather when originally agreed upon in 1857, was the designation of an undeveloped area of city territory far north of the inhabited portion of the city at that time, but the selection of the word "Central" showed the prescience and sagacity of the projectors of this important public work, for it is now, if not in the central portion of New York, at least in the central portion of that part of the city which is most generally reserved for residential purposes. City Hall park derives its name, of course, from the ancient and historic building in it, though in respect to size the city hall is quite overshadowed by the marble courthouse to the north and the granite postoffice to the south of it.

New York's famous pioneers are not honored in park names. Henry Hudson, the discoverer, is ignored, and so are Thomas Dongan, who gave the city its first charter, and George Clinton, who was the first governor of New York and held that office for six terms consecutively. There is no park named after Thomas Willett (though there is a Willett street), the first mayor of New York, or James Duane (though there is a Duane street), the first mayor after the close of the Revolutionary war. Neither is there any park named after his immediate successor as mayor, Richard Varick (though there is a Varick street), and yet Varick was for 12 years mayor of the city. The new park, to be established on the site of St. John's burying ground at Hudson and Clarkson streets, might appropriately, some think, be called Varick park, but as yet no official action in the matter has been taken. The Battery park continues to bear a name which is no longer a significant designation, having been derived from the fortifications erected on Manhattan Island by the Dutch.—New York Sun.

PLATFORM IN A NUTSHELL.

The Populist Platform says that through executive power and patronage, the will of the people has been thwarted and plutocracy has been enthrowned on the ruins of democracy. It demands:—

Increase in the volume of the currency.

Free coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1.

That postal saving banks shall be established.

That the Pacific railroad liens shall be forclosed.

That the graduated income tax shall be levied.

That demonetization of lawful money by contract shall be prohibited.

That no more bonds shall be issued except by specific act of congress.

That the government shall own and operate the railroad and telegraph lines.

Thats grants of railroad lands not needed by the roads shall be reclaimed and held for settlers.

That the president, vice-president and senators shall be elected by direct vote of the people.

That the government shall exercise its option in paying its obligations in either gold or silver.

That the initative and referendum (by which the people can vote on the enactment of laws) shall be inaugurated.

The platform expresses sympathy for Cubans: favors home rule in the District of Columbia and the early admission of the territories to statehood; favors just pensions, denounces rule by contempt proceedings and denounces ballot box frauds.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

If you are particular

About the accommodations you get when traveling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.

If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.

Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

The BEER

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE
Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday. $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone........$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:
Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year........$4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year........$1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application. Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK.

In Probate Court; Special Term, October 1st 1896.

In the matter of the estate of Arthur Yvernault, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition H. E. Ives representing among other things, that upon the 22nd day of May 1882 the above named Arthur Yvernault was the owner in fee of the following described real property lying, situate and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, to-wit: The East half of the South-west quarter and lots eight, nine and fourteen in section six, township one hundred fifty-two, range forty-three, and lots number two, three, four, five six, seven and ten, and the South-east quarter of the North-west quarter, all in section number six, township one hundred fifty-two, range forty-three; and other lands, that upon the said 22nd day of May 1882 the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault, who was at that time an unmarried man, sold, bargained and agreed to convey, for a valuable consideration, the property hereinbefore described, to the following described persons, to-wit: An undivided one-half thereof to the Red River & Lake of the Woods Railway Company (a corporation); and an undivided one-sixth thereof to Frank Ives, and an undivided one-sixth thereof to G. F. Copeland; that upon the same day, to-wit: the 22nd day of May 1882 with the intention of conveying the five-sixths interest of the hereinbefore described property to the persons hereinbefore named the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault made, executed and delivered his warrantee deed of the undivided five-sixths interest in and to all of the aforesaid property, excepting lots six and seven in said section six; but that by mistake and inadvertence the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault omitted to include in said deed and conveyance the undivided five-sixths interest of said lots six and seven; that said deed upon being executed was as aforesaid so delivered by Arthur Yvernault to the grantees named therein, who thereupon entered into possession of the property sold and conveyed to them by the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault including lots six and 7 and that ever since said time the aforesaid grantees and their assigns have been in the possession of the aforesaid premises including said lots six and seven and that since the execution and deliver of said deed neither the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault nor his personal representatives have had or claimed to have any right, title or interest in or to the five-sixths of said lots six and seven so sold and intended to be conveyed unto the grantees in said deed; that legally the title of said undivided five-sixths of said lots six and seven is and appears of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for Polk county in the name of the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault; that said Arthur Yvernault has since deceased; that your petitioner is interested in said lots six and seven as part owner thereof and makes this petition for the purpose of procuring an order from this court directed to John Cromb the administrator of the estate of Arthur Yvernault deceased, directing and authorizing him to execute to the grantees named in said deed and undivided five-sixths interest in said lots six and seven conformable to the intention of the aforesaid Arthur Yvernault at the time of the sale thereof.

It is ordered, that the said petition be heard before this Court, on Saturday the 31st day of October 1896, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the Probate office in the City of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the St. Hilaire Spectator, a weekly newspaper printed and published at St. Hilaire, in said county.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., the first day of October A. D. 1896.

By the Court.
C. O. CHRISTIANSON,
Judge of Probate.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

..16 to 1..
Silver Army.

Great Campaign Document.

THE "SILVER SUPPLEMENT"——
To the FARM, FIELD AND FIRESIDE, the most complete, instructive and convincing discussion of the silver question ever published.

We Print Them FREE and Will Send from

One to Ten Thousand.

Send us your name with stamps to pay postage.

Fifteen cents for 50; Thirty cents for 100.

AGENTS wanted to circulate our literature and solicit subscriptions.

For 10 Cents this paper till Nov. 1.
For 25 Cents this paper till Jan. 1, 1897.

THE FARM, FIELD AND FIRESIDE,
CHICAGO. ILL.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN W. A. SORSOLEIL M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

M. W. of A., CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Friday of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	55c	Butter	8@8
Oats	10c	Eggs	7c
Barley	14c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	55c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Six more days and election will be over.

Sample ballots can be seen at this office.

—The material for the bridge has arrived at last.

Tracers were sent after the bridge material last week.

Pounds, shillings and pence is what the gold men want.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

Editor Ware of Thief River Falls called on us Monday.

The straw vote gatherer will go out of business in a few days.

A force of men are at work putting up the new county bridge.

Pete Dainard had the misfortune to mash his thumb this forenoon.

Congressman Eddy was passing around the cigars last Friday.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Will Harris has gone to Washington—so they say. He left Monday.

Services every Sunday at 3:00 o'clock and Wednesday evening at 7:30.

K. O. Gigstad will move into his nice cozy new residence in a few days.

Three car loads of square timbers arrived Monday for the race and dam.

St. Hilaire will witness a genuine boom next spring and don't forget it.

About fifty men are employed by the St. Hilaire Lumber company at present.

J. D. Marshall and Dr. Watson of Red Lake Falls are in the village today.

St. Hilaire Camp No. 3650, M. W. of A., held their regular meeting Friday night.

The man that talks about 50 cent dollars don't know what he is talking about.

Archie and Alex. McKinon of Crookston were in the village a short time Thursday.

If you want the times to be a little harder, vote the gold ticket and you will get it.

O. W. Brink returned Monday from the twin cities where he delivered a car load of cattle.

Felix Fournet of Crookston was here Friday talking a line or two about county division.

Every one connected with the St. Hilaire Lumber company are hustlers from the word go.

The hamlet on the east side of the river has been dubbed Wall street. All they lack is Morgan.

Anyond wishing a copy of the "Financial Catechism" can get a copy free of charge by calling at this office.

Mrs. Harris, and daughter Cora, drove to Angus Saturday to visit W. C. Peters and family, returning Sunday.

A building boom has struck the hamlet on the east side of the river. Buildings are springing up mushroom-like.

The flow of the well has been materially increased by the cleaning, and the new tank was placed in position last week.

A Minnesota Code ought to go with every ballot this year to insure voting right on the amendments and county division.

L. R. Bramsness is superintending the road work on the other side of the river from his house down to the new bridge-site.

Be sure and have your pencil in good pointed shape next Tuesday for marking 40 (X) saw-bucks. That is the number to be used.

Out of six different propositions to divide Polk county your are only entitled to mark one. Remember this and take your choice.

A few more days like Sunday and Monday would send the geese on their northward flight again.

Messrs. Berg and Royum of Warren were the guests of Oscar Post and C. G. Rapp Saturday and Sunday.

There is any amount of trouble brewing over family troubles a few miles west of here. Something will drop soon.

A delegation of county divisionists from Thief River Falls were down Monday talking over plans with the St. Hilaire delegation.

With a thirty million feet saw mill that is going to be operated next summer, St. Hilaire will have everything to make a good lively town.

Gold money means that the rich will get richer and the poor will get poorer. Is that what you want too? If not vote for Bryan and free silver.

Messrs. Rapp, Bjerk, Freeman, Patterson, Sorsoleil and Sam Dainard drove to Red Lake Falls Saturday evening and took in the Eddy speech.

At least half a dozen buildings on the east side of the river are nearing completion. They all have been constructed inside of the last thirty days.

The grade from the dam north to the quarter line is now completed and in first-class shape too. As a good road and dyke, it answers the same purpose.

The jury trial at Thief River Falls last week was decided by the jury by rendering a verdict of one cent damages. The defendant paid the costs.

H. P. Hixon bought $3,000 worth of pine last Thursday for the St. Hilaire Lumber company. Like purchases have, and are being made every week.

The price of coal has went up but the wages of the men that produce it remains the same. This is what Hanna and Hobart calls shrewd financeering.

If wheat makes a jump of ten cents or so, a day or two before election don't be surprised. Mark Hanna is about to set another trap to catch the farmers of the Northwest.

The ice on the pond froze to a suitable thickness last Thursday night to make safe and good skating. All the skates came out of their last years hiding place on this occasion.

Albert Wickstrom of Crookston was in the village a few hours last Thursday. Mr. Wickstrom is the peoples party candidate for register of deeds and is a winner by a large majority.

Our hardware merchants witnessed a run on skates last week that almost put them on the verge of bankruptcy in this particular line. Place your orders early as they have a few pair left.

The planks and square timbers for the new county bridge were furnished by the Meehan Lumber company of Thief River Falls. This material is now piled up convenient to the bridge-site.

John Larson who is well known in this vicinity met with a painful accident last week while repairing an engine. In some mysterious way a piece of steele struck John in the eye knocking it out.

Peter Hensel and Jas. Brady drove in from Wylie Monday. The former to meet his old friend, Mr. Frickman, who is here putting up the new steele bridge and the latter to visit his cousin, Prof. O'Brien.

Miss Ella Corcoran, a former resident of St. Hilaire, now connected with the schools in Red Lake Falls, came up on a wheel Saturday to call on friends, returning Sunday evening.

Daniel Arpin of the St. Hilaire Lumber company arrived from the east last Friday and proceeds to the pine land country where he will look after the company's interests in making arrangements for cutting.

The M. E. Church has secured the services of Rev. M. S. Burns, formerly from Iowa, for this year. He comes highly recommended as being an energetic, brilliant young man and well capable of filling the place.

Every American citizen is in duty bound to go to the polls next Tuesday November 3rd and cast their ballots for the good of the country regardless of personal prejudices or party favoriteism. Free silver is for the good of the country.

M. E. Bjerk and L. J. Stranahan made a trip to Marshall county the first of the week after a dog by the name of "McKinley" which was bought for $25. The dog will be shipped to John Stranahan who resides in Nebrask, where Mack will hunt quail.

E. E. Lommen spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience at Brink's hall yesterday afternoon. About thirty farmers from the east side of the river turned out to hear our next congressman. It is needless to say they will cast a heavy vote for him.

The gold bugs say if free silver would carry the silver mine owners would have the whole earth. Why, bless your souls, if that was the case, Rothchilds, Hanna & Co., would have gobbled up the mountains long ago. This republican talk about free silver ruining the country is all rot.

Secretary of the U. S. treasurer Carlisle was rotten egged at Covington, Ky., last week while making a democratic gold speech. It serves him right but the good name of Kentucky has been ruined—so the gold papers say. The Kentucky boys know right well who they tackled.

There is one and one only of the new amendments to the State Constitution that is worthy of support. The first one on the official ballot, "For taxation of rail-road lands." Put your X on yes. On all other amendments to the constitution we believe you should put the X on No. Too much tinkering with the organic law is dangerous and we should be careful not to voluntarily vote our liberties away.

COUNTY DIVISION.

The county division muddle is getting thicker. Yesterday at Crookston Judge Ives was asked for an injunction restraining the county auditor from printing on the county ballots the propositions for Mills and Columbia counties. The injunction was denied but we understand that a similar effort will be made before Judge Willis at St. Paul to-day.

"Don't scratch your vote" was the advice given the voter under the old old style of balloting. Under the present the advice is: First find the name of the candidate of the party representing the principles you believe in, and then vote for every one on the ticket belonging to that party. The question this year is of too much importance to be played with. "VOTE 'EM STRAIGHT" means as much reader to the Australian ballot system as it ever did, and it is the duty of every good peoples party voter to cast a solid vote for the ticket nominated by the party.

John Lind, the peoples party candidate for governor of Minnesota, should receive the solid support of every farmer and workingman in this state. He has always been a friend of the common people, and it is their duty to him and to themselves to stand by him in this contest. Every ring and corporation in the state is fighting him. Let the people therefore use their best influence to secure his election his election, and when he becomes Governor he will be free to act according to the dictates of his conscience. Let us all vote for Honest John Lind.

Sunday morning, bright and early the Red Lake Falls county division delegation consisting of Chairman Knight, Theo. Garceau, N. M. Watson, W. A. Schrieter, H. H. Zaiser and F. E. Hunt, arrived in our village and immediately began soliciting aid in behalf of the proposed county of Red Lake. The delegation was met by our citizens in Brink's hall in the afternoon where they explained to us our advantages in voting with them. They then proceeded to Thief River Falls on a like mission, returning in the evening, they were met by the St. Hilaire committee on county division.

A. A. Miller in Crookston Times:—I think the opinion is clear and to the point and disposes of all the doubts that have clustered around this law. It decides, in the first place, that a majority of the votes cast for any proposition is sufficient to organize the county voted upon if they are in favor thereof. In the second place; it decides that each elector in present Polk county may vote "yes" or "no" on any of the propositions submitted to the voters. No elector can vote upon more than one proposition, if he does his vote is not counted for any proposition. In my opinion the effect of this decision will be to defeat Garfield, Hill and Red Lake counties, provided always that the voters of Crookston and what would remain of Polk county do their duty at the polls on election day in voting against these propositions.

Important to Voters.

Every male voter will have to vote two ballots this election. The white ballot will contain the presidential candidates' names and the names of the nine electors representing McKinley and Bryan respectively, and also the other candidates. This ballot also contains the names of the candidates for state officers, and each voter must be careful to make an X mark opposite the name of the man he wishes to have elected, and not mark the ticket in any other way. There is no "scratching" of the ticket to be done. The men who vote for the election of Mr. Bryan and free coinage of both gold and silver should make the X mark in the little square opposite the NINE names with "Bryan" attached to them; and those in favor of Mr. McKinley and the single gold standard should vote for the nine electors with "McKinley" attached to them.

The blue ballot will contain all the names of the candidates for congress, the legislature and the county offices. The free-coinage candidates have the names "Democrat-Peoples" attached to each, while the single gold standard candidates have the name "Republican" attached to each. So far as party designation is concerned, we think this is plain enough.

To Think About.

If you want a weak and vacillating administration in the state; if you want Merriam and his associates to control it; if you want $300,000 of the state money to remain in deposit in Merriam's bank, and twice as much more under his control and at his beck and call; if you want more of the settler's lands given away to Russell Sage the gold standard multi-millionaire; if you want to perpetuate the old board of prison management that has been sapping the state for so long; if you want the University lands manipulated in the interests of Pillsbury, T. B. Walker and others who are now heading "laboring" mens' processions; if you want John D. Rockfeller to get absolute control of the great iron ore deposits of the state worth millions upon millions of dollars to this state; if you want those properties to go practically untaxed or for about 1000th part of their actual value; if you want taxation of farm lands to increase; if you want the laws executed so that banks can fail and rob their depositors; if you want a taxation of 13 millions in this state as you now have; if you want railway discrimination; then my friends you must vote for Clough, Childs and the rest of Mr. Merriam's cabinet, but if you think the laws should be made and executed in the interests of the people who have to earn their living in this state by honest industry; if you think Rockfeller, Russell Sage, Pillsbury, Walker, Merriam, Hill and Weyerhaeuser can get along without further special aid from this state; if you think the coal trust, the nail trust, the beef trust and bank trust and the other trusts should be brought up with a round turn, taxation equalized, and an administration conducted without discrimination against the interests of the people at large, then vote for John Lind, J. M. Bowler, John A. Keyes, J. J. Heinrich, Alex McKinnon. Remember that John Lind must have the help of other officials. He must have an Attorney General, a Lieutenant Governor and a Secretary of State and Treasurer. Take your choice now while you have a few more days t think about it.

London, Oct. 3rd 1896.—The World correspondent examined to-day a file of the Financial News, in its office here, and found the following statement in an editorial in its issue of April 30, 1894.

"There can be no doubt about it that if the United States were to adopt a silver bases tomorrow, British trade would be ruined before the year was out, for American industry would be protected not only at home but in every other market."

* *

"The success of free coinage will bring down the rate of interest on money and cause an immediate rise in the price of products, such as cotton, corn and wheat, in fact all commodities, labor and industry will gain new life and the grip of the gold standard on the products of the world will be loosened. Great Britain will no longer be able to purchase the American bullion silver at sixty-eight cents per ounce and coin same into 100 cents of our money, with which to buy our colonie's products. The trade of the world is now in our hands but it will not long remain there if the United States goes to a bimetallic basis, with free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold."

* *

"When silver becomes primary money the American mines will pour their products into the mints, and a new era similar to that produced by the issue of greenbacks during the civil war will begin. Gold will leave the banks and enter into competition with silver in events of trade, and the manufactories of the United States, which have been shut down or crippled since 1892, will again resume their fight for the English markets."

This years North Dakota ballot is the size of a cradle quilt.

A framer sizes up a gold bug as a man with a "wrong head."

Two car loads of horses and lumberman supplies arrived to-day for the St. Hilaire Lumber company.

Horrible if Anything.

Let no Minnesota voter forget that the present Republican Congress voted for the bond issue of $500,000,000, and that every Minnesota congressman, except the noble Towne, of Duluth voted it.—Ex.

Yes; and that the $500,000,000 of new bonds were to be used to withdraw and destroy the greenbacks and silver certificates; and on the bond bank notes were to be issued. On the five hundred million dollars of bonds we would pay, say, four per cent. twenty million dollars a year; in thirty years six hundred million dollars; and on the bank notes, ($450,000,000) we would pay say eight per cent. thirty-six million dollars a year; in thirty years, a billion dollars and over!!! And all for what? A paper currency not as good as we have. And every Minnesota congressman except Towne, voted for it! And they want to go back to finish their work. Think of that!—Representative.

Vote For E. E. Lommen For Congress.

He stands pledged to support when elected among other reforms.

1st. The free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the consent of foreign nations.

2nd. Such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of lawful money of the United States by private contract.

3rd. A graduated income tax.

4th. That bonafide settlers on all public lands be granted free homes, as provided in the national homestead law, and that no exception be made in the case of Indian reservations when opened for settlement, and that all lands not now patented come under this demand.

Read It With Ease, But Without E's.

"Wx hopx," said a leading article in a Western paper, apologetically, "that our rxadxrs will pardon this wxxk's issux and thx sxxmingly mystxrious absxncx of a cxrtain lxttxr.

"Shooting Sam Bibbxr camx into our officx yxstxrday and statxd that as hx was going shooting, and had no ammunition, hx would likx to borrow somx of our typx for shot. Bxforx wx could prxvxnt it hx grabbxd all thx lxttxrs out of thx most important box and disappxarxd.

"Our subscribxrs can hxlp to rxplxnish our stock if all thosx who wxrx shot by Sam will savx thx chargx whxn it is pickxd out of thxm and rxturn it to us. Nxvxr mind if it is battxrxd a littlx."—Press & Printer.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Oct. 27th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Dec. 8th 1896, viz:

Kari A. Sundahl, Hd. Lots 2, 3, and 4 Sec, 6 tp. 152 N range 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Simon E. Ahlberg, Daniel Johnson, Andrew Nelson and Anton Peterson, all of St. Hilaire, P. O., Minn.
12-18 WM. ANGLIM, Receiver.

—Candidates for election:—Get your cards printed at the SPECTATOR office. We will make this line of work a specialty from now until after election.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something . . . . .

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $3 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

Price per Acre.

RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.

9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5. 0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NF and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	6.00

SANDERS TOWNSHIP.

NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
8 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 3.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	4.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.5
13 " 35	4.50 to 5. 0

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.

Lot 3 of 10	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00

ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NESE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
3 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

MINNESOTA
State Normal Schools
—AT—
Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

—[c] A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

—[d] A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department. . . .

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Votes

Have been cast by thousands of sufferers from impure blood, and their verdict has settled the question of the great curative power of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every mail car brings in these letters of praise for Hood's Sarsaparilla. They tell the same wonderful story of health restored, pain and suffering relieved, happiness back.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the Best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills and Sick Headache. 25c.

A Big Difference.

Scribbler—Have you ever read any of my verse?

Spatts—No; I prefer poetry—Philadelphia North American.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Not Altogether Hopeless.

"I shall never marry," declared Miss Elderly in a tone meant to be firm.

"Don't say that," answered her best friend, Florence. "Women older than you have had proposals."—Detroit Free Press.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Long Lived.

"What is the average life of a good bicycle, Sprockets?"

"Welll, some of them last until they are paid for."—Chicago Record.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

A Trying Occupation.

First Tramp—Sometimes I wish I wuz a bartender.

Second Tramp—Oh, I dunno. It must be kinder painful to be allus passin' over liquor to other folks.

I believe Piso's Cure is the only medicine that will cure consumption.—Anna M. Ross, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 12, '95.

A Dramatic Departure.

"Any new features in the 'Hamlet' that Plodgett is getting up?"

"Yes, he is going to have a fat ghost."—Chicago Record.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Much of the sulphate produced in England is exported to Germany, where it is used principally in the cultivation of beetroot.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

Large and rich gold fields have been discovered by government surveyors on the east coast of Siberia, bordering on the Sea of Ochotsk.

BEGIN RIGHT.

The Indian Never Minces Matters. He Looks for the Cause and Strikes at it.

Follow his Example, it Will Pay You. Here are his Methods.

Secrets Worth More to You Than Gold or Precious Gems.

YOU can't kill a poisonous plant by lopping off its branches. Life will still exist in the roots. New branches will be put forth, stronger than ever. To exterminate you must kill the root.

It's just so with disease. When it once attacks the human system it becomes manifest in many ways. Pimples, blotched or sallow face, dull pains, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, general depression, lassitude,—these and many other symptoms are the branches of disease and result in such maladies as dyspepsia,—kidney complaint, scrofula, rheumatism or any of the other names given to a diseased condition of the vital organs that terminate after a few months of agony in an early death. The root will be found in the great vital centers, the Kidneys, Liver, Stomach and Blood, on account of Nature's inability to dispose of accumulated poisons in these organs.

Don't endeavor to gain health by dispelling the symptoms. You may gain temporary relief, but the trouble will re-occur, increased and aggravated. Strike at the root of the disease. Help Nature to dispel the cause. To do this effectually use Nature's own remedy:—KICKAPOO INDIAN SAGWA, the great blood purifier, used by the Indians for generations; made from herbs, barks and roots. Their wonderful health, strength and longevity is a royal testimonial for their medicine.

We have on file thousands of letters from grateful people who owe a return to health to its use, and who acknowledge a saving of hundreds of dollars that would have been spent in doctor's bills and other expenses caused by long sickness. SAGWA effects its wonderful cures by invigorating, strengthening, and cleansing the entire system. No harm can result from its use, as it contains no minerals or other poisonous ingredients.

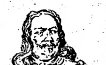
A single trial will convince you of its wonderful properties. Our doctors will give you their advice free. Address Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., New Haven, Conn. For sale by all druggists; $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

BUTTERED A SHIP DECK.

How Admiral De Ruyter Caught the Pirate.

Did you ever hear how de Ruyter captured the pirate ship and saved his own vessel with a tub of butter? It is a story that would do credit to the ingenuity of one of our Yankee skippers, as well as the trick by which he won a prize and made a capture at sea, yet never wasted a pound of powder.

After all, now one comes to think of it, Michael Adrianzoon de Ruyter, the greatest of the Dutch naval heroes, very nearly resembles some of our best men; George Washington, Andrew Jackson and Commodore Perry, for instance. Like them, he came of poor, honest parents, made his way by sheer grit, daring and truthful fearlessness, and fought in defense of a republic; but, unlike them, de Ruyter, in his youth, was famous for the extraordinary scrapes he was continually falling into.



Admiral De Ruyter.

Not that he was really a bad boy, only very lazy, so mischievous he was turned out of every workshop where his father, a poor brewer, apprenticed him, and so noisy and fun-loving he was continually in disgrace. Just for a lark, he climbed the church steeple in his native town of Flushing, pretended to dance a hornpipe around the weathercock and came down, by kicking holes in the slate shingles to form a sort of ladder. All his boy friends, who adored him for his good nature, his straightforwardness, love of fair play and stout, ready fists, would have carried him around town on their shoulders, in honor of this doughty deed.

But his father and the dignified grown folks looked upon the steeple prank with very much less admiration. You may be sure a good, sound birching was administered by way of reward, and then poor Mrs. de Ruyter had to consent to her eleven-year-old Michael being bundled off on a merchant vessel bound for the African coast.

This all happened in the year 1677, and no doubt a good many otherwise kind-hearted folks in Flushing rather hoped that hungry savages and fierce storms might indefinitely postpone Michael's return to his native land; so peaceful did the docks and streets seem after his departure. They were doomed to disappointment, however, for Michael Adrianzoon did come back, no longer a cabin boy, but a live young sailor, entirely satisfied with his new life on the broad and dangerous high seas. At seventeen the cabin boy became a junior officer, and at twenty-one there was no more trusted, skillful young captain in the Dutch merchant marine.

Oddly enough, Capt. de Ruyter did not care very much for fighting, although in that day all the European nations were infested with pirates, pompous English merchantmen, Spanish frigates, ready to pounce on Dutch vessels, and French men-of-war looking out for fat prizes. De Ruyter was busy making money, perfecting himself in mathematics, drawing maps, and he always preferred slipping neatly through his enemies' clutches to provoking a quarrel.

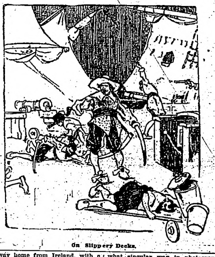
Once a big Spanish man-of-war did overhaul his peaceful trading ship, and after putting up the best fight possible de Ruyter was obliged to yield, and was popped into a black Spanish prison. He escaped, however, and, as a barefooted beggar, walked all the way home to Flushing. Never again did he fall into so sad a plight, and when, on his way home from Ireland, with a cargo of butter, he saved his ship and won a prize by the following device:

When half way home a pirate gave chase, and, not able to escape by the aid of the wind, our brave young captain was at a loss how to avoid capture. He neither had the men or guns with which to offer effective resistance; but a happy thought came. Ordering up a barrel of butter, he directed his sailors to take off shoes and stockings, grease down decks, companionway, ropes, etc., open wide all portholes, and then, their arms concealed about them, wait for the worst. When nearly every inch of the ship had been liberally buttered, he obediently hove to, in response to a cannon shot across his bows, and meekly pretended his readiness to deliver up lives and cargo as gracefully as possible.

So enchanted were the pirates with their easy victory, and so greedily eager to seize the victims and stores, that coming alongside de Ruyter's ship they crowded noisily onto his deck. But consternation overtook them. The first man whose foot touched the Dutch ship slid, like one on a toboggan, head foremost down the companion way. There, as he lay stunned, the cabin boy bound and sat on him. Two more flew over the deck and shot out through the port holes into the sea, while the remainder glided about, helplessly butting into the bulwarks, at every heave of the waves or dropped to their backs unable to get a foothold and arise again. Those who did remain erect shook with horror, thinking the ship bewitched and in a trice the pirates were bound, their vessel taken in tow, and, chuckling with delight, de Ruyter sailed home to report a complete victory.

Once again the young captain overwhelmed a pirate on the English channel, at a less outlay even than a tub of butter. This time, when a big, new ship was under his command, he came up with a pirate towing a handsome trading vessel just captured. Though not anxious to fight, de Ruyter could not resist the temptation to make another fine haul. With the same audacity that had led him to dance a hornpipe on the steeple, he clapped on all sail, mustered his men and hoisted the colors of a Dutch admiral. Thinking that nothing less than a great man-of-war was bearing down upon them, the pirates made hot haste for the French coast, forsaking their prize to a vessel their guns could have blown into the air.

Not many years after this de Ruyter became an admiral in the Dutch navy and fearful even to read about were the battles he fought against French, Swedes, Spanish and the British. In one engagement six vessels in turn were sunk under him and once he filled all England with fear by sailing straight up the Thames river, seizing ships and even threatening London. Never in his life, full of great victories and some great defeats, did his splendid courage, or his fine patriotic determination to do the best for Holland desert him. At last, in a great battle against the French, he received three terrible wounds and died, crying out cheerfully through the roar of cannonading: "Keep courage, boys, keep courage, that is the way to win the victory."—Denver Republican.



On Slippery Decks.

Physicians on the Wheel.

Two up-town physicians, who recently sold their horses and took to bicycles for business, say they are saving money, gaining health, and are readier than they were for more clients because of time gained. In several emergency cases they have got in ahead of their former usual time, much to the patient's advantage. They say some of their old-fashioned patients sniffed at them for a while on account of the wheels. That, however, is all gone now; nobody among the circle they visit seems to notice how they travel. They do not wear knickerbockers, however, and they do not insist on dragging their wheels into front halls; they lock them by chains to anything outside they can find. One of them is enthusiastic over the idea of a bicycle ambulance corps, consisting of half a dozen young surgeons prepared to go further in the same line than first-aid-to-the-injured people do. There are dozens of cases every week, he says, where most valuable assistance could be given by a prompt avant courier of the ambulance. The same sort of thing has been talked of for the fire department, but the officials are slow to act, notwithstanding the example of the police, which has been most conspicuous in its complete successfulness in this and most other big cities.—New York Post.

A Scotch Regimental Custom.

In connection with the arrival in Glasgow of the Ninety-first Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, the curious and interesting ceremony of "crying down" the credit of the regiment took place on Saturday. In the forenoon the band marched down to St. George's Cross, where a peculiar air was played. Having got a crowd collected, the drum major mounted a chair and read out a proclamation, apprising all whom it might concern that the officers of the regiment will not be responsible for any debts contracted by any of the men under their command. Shopkeepers and others having been officially warned that if they supply any of the soldiers with goods on credit they do so at their own risk, the drum major's party then marched back to the barracks.—Westminster Gazette.

A New Developer

Quinine has cropped up in a somewhat singular way in photographic work. An old story tells how a photographer was driven almost insane by the repeated production, upon development of plate after plate, of a death's head upon the forehead of one of the sitters. The ghastly joke was explained by the sitter having made a preliminary sketch on that part of the face, using a solution of quinine for the purpose. Whether the story is authentic or not, it is now claimed that if two grammes of sulphate of quinine, eight grammes of zinc dust and forty cubic centimeters of water are heated at 100 degrees centigrade, in a closed tube for ten hours, a liquid with strong reducing properties is obtained. It is said to act as an excellent developer, producing a clear and sharp image.

Not Much Consolation.

"Bloomfield called me an ass," complained Oakland to Bellefield.

"Well," replied Bellefield reflectively, "I always have a great respect for Bloomfield's opinion."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

ADVICE TO FARMERS.

By H. H. Carr & Co., the Farmer's Commission House.

We are in the midst of an exciting political campaign; the great cities are stirred by monster demonstrations. The great orators hold forth every night in halls, wigwams and tents. Political leaders are busy figuring out the result in advance of the election. Thousands of men in the employ of the national committees are ascertaining as near as possible how each city ward, how each branch of organized labor, how each city will vote. One thing no man, no set of men, no campaign committee, no political party can tell in advance, that is, how the farmers of the country will vote. The one great question to-day is: How do the farmers feel about it? We mention this only to illustrate a point in practical business matters.

Agricultural workers are learning their power in politics. They can make or unmake state legislatures. They do it by imitating the methods of labor in cities, by working together. They do not need local unions. They can work in our grand intellectual union for their common good. They have done it in demanding legislation. They are doing it now in a way that makes leaders tremble. They will act more intelligently and united in the future. They find other things than politics to call for their decision. They produce what the world needs. They are studying new methods of giving the fruit of their labors to the world. Recently an army of 100,000 men marched through Chicago's streets celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the great fire. The farmers have for years fed a much greater army; not only fed, but made rich, presented with grain elevators, private banks, fine houses, costly luxuries, the old-time, ever-present army of middlemen. But there is a revolt against dividing profits with this army between the farm and the world's big markets.

This independent action began with this pioneer farmer's commission house. It is assuming proportions which make the easy money-makers (professional shippers) at the stations over a dozen states tributary to Chicago tremble. The question: "What are the farmers going to do?" bothers not politicians alone, but all those who have been getting something for nothing. Farmers are going to ship their own grain—not a few or a hundred, but an army of thousands. They know how, they have tried it, it pays. That is one question answered by farmers.

See what a few farmers say who have tried shipping:

Rock Valley, Iowa, Sept. 29, 1893.—Messrs. H. H. Carr & Co., Chicago, Ill.:—Gentlemen: Your favor of the 24th instant, with account sale and draft in settlement for car wheat No. 9002 at hand. I am well pleased with the results and thank you very much for your promptness. You will surely receive a large number of shipments from this neighborhood. Yours truly,

FRED KOCK.

Marcus, Iowa, Sept. 2, 1896.—Messrs. H. H. Carr & Co., Chicago, Ill.:—Gentlemen: On the two cars of oats I sent to you last winter I made about $43 by shipping it. Thanking you for past favors, I remain, Yours truly,

RUDOLPH ZANGGER.

Something Wrong.

Mrs.—Am I still "the star of your life," as I was when you used to write love letters to me?

Mr.—Of course, dear.

"I don't seem to be drawing a star salary, though."—Washington Star.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklets and sample mailed free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Not a Patching.

She—"All the world loves a lover," you know.

He—H'm. The love he gets isn't a patching to the amount of affection that is lavished on the workingman just now.—Indianapolis Journal.

A Tenacious Clutch

Is that of dyspepsia. Few remedies do more than palliate this obstinate complaint. Try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, however, and you will find that it is conquerable, along with its symptoms, heartburn, flatulence, nervousness, and loss of flesh and vigor. Biliousness and constipation frequently accompany it. These, besides malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints, are also subduable with the Bitters.

No Value.

"I can offer your daughter nothing but my devoted heart," said Scroggs.

"Um! Well, I don't find hearts quoted on the stock list," grunted the worldly parent.—Philadelphia North American.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 806-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Natural

"They say that Harpy is the greatest kicker in his foot ball team."

"I'm not surprised. His father was the infernalest old kicker I ever knew."—Detroit Free Press.

The papers are full of deaths from

Heart Failure

Of course the heart fails to act when a man dies, but "Heart Failure," so called, nine times out of ten is caused by Uric Acid in the blood which the Kidneys fail to remove, and which corrodes the heart until it becomes unable to perform its functions.

Health Officers in many cities very properly refuse to accept "Heart Failure," as a cause of death. It is frequently a sign of ignorance in the physician, or may be given to cover up the real cause.

Warner's Safe Cure

A Medicine with 20 Years of Success behind it will remove the poisonous Uric Acid by putting the Kidneys in a healthy condition so that they will naturally eliminate it.

PISO'S CURE FOR

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

CONSUMPTION

MIGRATING SWALLOWS.

Watching Their Flight Along the Thames on a Rainy Evening.

If the late Mr. Seebohm had witnessed the scene which I did on the evening of Sept. 15, he might have added a chapter to that on the migration night on Heligoland, which is the locus classicus of that branch of ornithology.

It was a dark, dripping evening, and the thick osier bed on Cheswick Eyot was covered with wet leaf. Between 5 and 6 o'clock immense flights of swallows and martins suddenly appeared above the eyot, arriving, not in hundreds, but in thousands and tens of thousands. The air was thick with them, and their numbers increased from minute to minute. Part drifted above, in clouds, twisting round like soot in a smoke wreath. Thousands kept sweeping just over the tops of the willows, skimming so thickly that the sky-line was almost blotted out for the height of from three to four feet. The quarter from which these armies of swallows came was at first undiscoverable. They might have been hatched, like gnats, from the river.

In time I discovered whence they came. They were literally "dropping from the sky." The flocks were traveling at a height at which they were quite invisible in the cloudy air, and from minute to minute they kept dropping down into sight, and so perpendicularly to the very surface of the river or of the eyot. One of these flocks dropped from the invisible regions to the lawn on the river bank on which I stood. Without exaggeration I may say I saw them fall from the sky, for I was looking upward, and saw them when first visible as descending specks. The plunge was perpendicular, till they were within ten yards of the ground. Soon the high-flying crowds of birds drew down and swept for a few minutes low over the willows, from end to end of the eyot, with a sound like the rush of water in a hydraulic pipe. Then by a common impulse the whole mass settled down from end to end of the island, upon the osiers. Those in the center of the eyot were black with swallows—like the black blight on beans. Next morning, at 6:30 o'clock, every swallow was gone. In half an hour's watching not a bird was seen. Whether they went on during the night or started at dawn, I know not. Probably the latter, for Gilbert White once found a heath covered with such a flock of migrating swallows, which did not leave till the sun dispelled the mists. The whole army are now, I hope, catching gnats in the Nile valley or beyond the Atlas mountains.—Correspondence of the London Times.

Strange Timidity in Horses.

Young horses can be led up to a sack lying on the ground and induced to pass it by letting them smell it and find out that it really is a sack, and not the Protean thing, whatever it may be, which illusion conjures up for them.

Once the writer saw a very quick and pretty instance of experiment by touch made by a frightened pony. It was being driven as a leader in a pony tandem, and stopped short in front of where the rails of a steam tramway crossed the road the road. It first smelled the near rail, and then quickly gave it two taps with its hoof. After this is was satisfied and crossed the line. On the other hand, a donkey always tries to jump the shadows of tree trunks on the road, though a similar experience of touch would have shown were as unreal as the tram rail was unsubstantial.

Lastly, no horse which has once knocked its head against the top of a stable doorway seems quite able to get rid of the illusion that there sits up in the top of all doorways an invisible something which will hit again next time he goes through. Hence, the troublesome and sometimes incurable habit of horses "jibbing" when taken out of the stable.

This is an obvious instance of the disadvantage at which most animals stand in regard to means of physical experiments. The horse, for instance, needs feel only the lintel to find out that it is fixed and does not move, and is not alive and waiting to hit him. But except his lips, which are sensitive, he has no member with which he can make the experiment. Except the elephant and the monkey, most of the "higher" animals suffer from this lack of the means of experiment. The wonder is, not that they suffer from illusions, but that they make so few mistakes.—London Spectator.

A Motion to Amend.

Those people out in Colorado are certainly stuck on silver. Now, the last time I was out there I attended church on Sunday, as I always do. The minister was one of the good, old-style Methodists. He'd grown up in the country, though, and called a spade a spade when it was necessary. He had reached his peroration, "and when the last day shall have come,' he said, 'and we shall have knocked on the pearly gates and they shall have opened to us, we shall enter the beautiful city and walk up the golden paved streets and receive a golden harp of a thousand strings; then, oh, then, what joy will be—' Just then, away down in the rear of the church, a little peaked-nosed runt with bow-legs, jumped up and shouted. 'I rise for the purpose of making a motion.' Well, the parson looked startled and quit speaking. 'My motion is,' said the peak-nosed fellow, 'that wherever in that there discourse the word "gold" appears, it be stricken out, and the word "silver" be substituted.' Well, sir, about forty of that congregation got up to second the motion. Now, that just shows what the silver sentiment is in that state."

"Well, what did the preacher say?" asked the listeners.

"Well, gentlemen, he looked at that little peaked-nose, bow-legged runt for a minute, gettin' madder and madder all the while, and he looked as if he was going to have a stroke of apoplexy. He slammed the book shut and he banged his fist down on the cover and said, 'I'll see you durned first!'"—New York Sun.

The Unhappy Barber.

"Hahd times is now comin' on in dis here business," said the barber as he painted his client's face.

"Um," grunted the customer.

"Yessah. Fust dey is de fot ball boys stops de fashion ob gettin' a haih cut. An' ef dat wasn't enough, dey will be a whole lot ob men makin' bets not to git no shave ef dair party gits beat. Free silbah er free gold, de babbah gwine git de worst ob it." And he sighed.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Every Rule Has Its Exception.

Radbourn—My dear fellow, it is always better to begin at the bottom of the ladder.

Cheney—Nonsense! How about it when you are escaping from a fire?—Tit-Bits.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

John Berntsen, Albert Lea, Minn., bread-raising apparatus; Frederick W. G. Boettcher, Duluth, Minn., display apparatus; Charles R. Brenhan, Minneapolis, Minn., combined single and tandem bicycle; Oliver A. Burns, Minneapolis, Minn., can-opener; Evaristo Dore, Minneapolis, Minn., sled; Ward B. Drummond, Minneapolis, Minn., folding fire-hose trestle; James H. Hart, Menderville, Mont., primer for blasting fuse; John E. Luce, Minneapolis, Minn., electric band; Samuel J. Turner, Minneapolis, Minn., pants leg guard.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Unfair Advantage.

"But is was decided in regular meeting," said the tarantula, "and you and the rattlesnake and the mosquito were in favor of the motion; why didn't you carry it?"

"The chairman called for a show of hands," bitterly replied the scorpion, "and the centipede threw himself on his back and outvoted us."—Chicago Tribune.

That Joyful Feeling

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old-time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well-informed.

Some Australian gold veins are 130 feet wide.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowles. Never sicken, weaken or gripe.

People who sell newspapers in the streets of Moscow are compelled to appear in uniform.

Agents Wanted—Position permanent; experience unnecessary; goods sell themselves. Pennsylvania Mnfg. Co. The Great Premium House, St. Paul, Minn.

More than 2,000 people earn a living in Paris by fortune telling, and their total yearly earnings are estimated at $2,000,000.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

It Frequently Does.

"What caused the fire?"

"An insurance policy which was about to expire."

Woman's Writes

Believe in Woman's Writes? Of course we do. Who could help it when women write such convincing words as these: "For seven years I suffered with scrofula. I had a good physician. Every means of cure was tried in vain. At last I was told to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which entirely cured me after using seven bottles."—MRS. JOHN A. GENTLE, Fort Fairfield, Me., Jan. 26, 1896.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla ..cures..

Sunart "Vici" CYCLE CAMERAS

The latest Improvements in "CYCLE" CAMERAS.

"VENI" "VIDI" "VICI" Folding Cameras, Magazine Cameras, Tripods and Photographic Materials.

First-class double Combination Lenses guaranteed. Latest Safety Shutters. Pneumatic Release Iris Diaphragm. (4x5, 5x7, 6½x8½, 8x10.

When in St. Paul ask to see the "Cycle Vici."

ZIMMERMAN BROS.,

375 Minnesota St., St. Paul, Minn.

Send 2 cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue.

Sunart Photo Co., Rochester, N.Y., U.S.A.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS Bought and sold for future delivery, 1c to 5c per bu. deposit. Sample sales a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited..... MASON BROS., 145 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill. MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

STORM SASH. City Sash & Door Co. Minneapolis, Minn.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets

CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 217.

FARMERS! A NEW WAY TO SHIP YOUR GRAIN.

CHICAGO.

INSTEAD of selling your grain at home send it to us and save middlemen's profit. We have Saved Other Farmers Thousands of Dollars. Why don't YOU try it? Address for full particulars,

H·H·CARR & CO. 94 Board of Trade, CHICAGO.

·Absolutely Pure-Delicious-Nutritious·

The Breakfast Cocoa

MADE BY

WALTER BAKER & CO. LIMITED

DORCHESTER, MASS.

COSTS LESS THAN ONE CENT A CUP.

NO CHEMICALS.

ALWAYS ASK YOUR GROCER FOR WALTER BAKER & CO'S. BREAKFAST COCOA MADE AT DORCHESTER, MASS. IT BEARS THEIR TRADE MARK LA BELLE CHOCOLATIÈRE ON EVERY CAN.

·AVOID IMITATIONS·

"I am Bigger than the Biggest; Better than the Best!"

Battle Ax PLUG

What a chewer wants first is a good tobacco; then he thinks about the size of the plug. He finds both goodness and bigness in "Battle Ax." He finds a 5 cent piece almost as large as a 10 cent piece of other high grade brands. No wonder millions chew "Battle Ax."

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

VOLUME XVI ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 4, 1896. NUMBER 14.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The president has denied the application for pardon in the case of Luther A. Hall, sentenced in Georgia in 1891 to imprisonment for life for conspiring to commit murder.

The longest star mail service to be performed in the winter i nthe United States has just been established in the postoffice department. It is from Juneau to Circle City, Alaska, a distance of 898 miles each way.

The president has appointed George F. Moore, at present assistant district attorney for the middle district of Alabama, to be United States attorney for that district, vice Clayton, removed for active participation in politics.

It is stated by Washington officials that the United States will have the co-operation and support of both Russia and Japan in the approaching issue over establishing adequate protection for the fur seals of the North Pacific ocean.

People in Print.

It is said that Rev. Peter C. Yorke of San Francisco may be chosen to the rectorship of the Catholic university in Washington.

Prof. August Duhr, who died recently at the age of 90 years at Friedand in Mecklenburg, had published a few months before his death a translation of Homer into Plattdeutsch verse.

Hon. W. K. Miller, an old-time friend of Maj. McKinley, died at Canton, Ohio, from apoplexy. He was the Republican nominee for presidential elector in that congressional district.

The Dr. Henry Q. Tanner who is reported to have lost his life in a fire at Akron, Ohio, is not Dr. H. S. Tanner of fasting fame. That Dr. Tanner is now at Robinson, Ill., and he has been heard from within the past few days.

A telegram from Monroe, Mich., announces the death of Hon. Edwin Willetts, who was assistant agriculturist under Secretary Rusk, and who continued in that position under Secretary Morton. He was 66 years of age.

Maj. Henry Ward, a well known Colorado newspaper man, employed of late as editorial writer on the Leadville Herald, died at Denver of pneumonia. He was born at Mansville, N. Y., in 1841.

William Stevens, one of the oldest members of the Kansas City bar, is dead, aged 85 years. He was born at Canton, Ohio, and went to Kansas before the war. He gained prominence by defending the free state men in that state.

Uncle Marshall Ferguson, who lived in Gwinnett county, Tenn., near Stone mountain and who died recently, was a remarkable man. He had reached the age of 86, and he and his wife lived together for over sixty years. He made forty-two crops with two horses, having plowed with one for twenty and the other for twenty-two years.

Accidental Happenings.

W. P. Sheehan's hotel at Attalia, Ala., was destroyed by fire recently. Three of the volunteer firemen were badly injured by a falling roof.

Fire broke out in the lumber piles on the mill plant premises of the Center Lumber company at Zilwaukee, Mich., and destroyed about 8,000,000 feet of lumber.

A traction engine exploded on the farm of Thomas Lutz at Little Washington, Ohio, instantly killing George Anderson and probably fatally scalding Thomas Lutz, aged 20 years.

The women's dormitory in connection with Carthage (Ill.) college was burned to the ground recently. Many of the young women students lost their wardrobes. There is no insurance on the building.

An explosion of natural gas at Avalon, a suburb of Allegheny, Pa., killed Bessie Osborne, aged 13 years and seriously injured her brother Dale, aged 9 years, and her sister Edith, aged 6 years.

The north bound Houston & Texas Central passenger train was wrecked sixty miles from Houston, Tex. Engineer C. E. Clark was badly hurt, Walter Matthews, fireman, was pinioned under the engine and killed. No passengers were hurt.

While Andrew J. Spute, a grocer of Denver, Colo., with his wife and five children, were boating on Smith's lake, a small body of water within the southern limits of the city, the boat was by some means overturned and Mrs. Spute and her five children were drowned.

Ronald's factory building, a five-story brick structure on Borum place, in Brooklyn, was burned. The loss is estimated at between $100,000 and $125,000, covered by insurance. The men employed managed to keep their wits and with difficulty succeeded in getting the 200 young women on the upper floors out in safety.

Crimes and Criminals.

O. P. Morgan, a guard at the penitentiary at Fort Madison, Iowa, committed suicide by blowing out his brains.

Charles James fatally shot Jacob Garrison at Richmond, Ky. The cause was due to James' objection to Garrison's attention to the former's daughter.

The coroner's jury that investigated the collision near St. Louis which resulted so fatally has returned a verdict finding that it was due to the carelessness of George Atwood, conductor, and J. A. Dryden, engineer.

Henry H. Crane, at one time a prominent grain broker in Newark and Chicago, hanged himself in his brother-in-law's barn near Burlington, N. J. He had lost his fortune. He leaves a wife.

The toll gate raiders have not left a toll gate on a single pike in Franklin county undisturbed, and the owners of these roads are very much incensed at the destruction of their property, and will take such action as will bring the raiders to justice.

Miss Alice Platt, aged 28 years, a servant in the household of Charles Mussey, a prominent attorney of Kansas City, Mo., is under arrest on suspicion of having poisoned Mrs. Torrence, Mussey's mother-in-law, aged 60 years, and three children. She is believed to have been insane.

The citizens of Mount Pleasant, Iowa, are indignant over the insult offered the city council by the hanging of Ald. Davis in effigy to a telegraph pole in the public square. The entire night police force will be dismissed for neglect of duty in not removing the effigy.

Peter Lenster, a night clerk in the Drover's hotel at Collinwood, committed suicide at Cleveland by hanging himself. Lenster had a wife living and was about to marry a Collinwood girl. His first wife was on his trail and he had just learned that she had discovered his whereabouts and was coming from Chicago where she was stopping with friends.

From Foreign Shores.

The officials on duty at the admiralty in London denied the reports cabled from Halifax of the increase in the strength of the British fleet in American waters.

The Madrid Imparcial has opened a subscription in aid of the Spanish soldiers wounded in Cuba. The queen regent has contributed 10,000 pesetas to the fund.

Emperor William has addressed an autograph letter to Emperor Francis Joseph fully explaining the Russo-German neutrality treaty which existed prior to 1890.

The French cabinet meeting held recently decided to instruct the consul general of France at New York to make a special study of the international financial situation.

There is good reason to believe that a tribunal similar to the Bering sea commission, with Sir Richard Webster, the attorney general, representing England, will be appointed to solve the Venezuelan boundary.

A conspiracy has been discovered in the Sulu archipelago, a portion of the Spanish colony of the Phillippine islands. Eight soldiers have already been killed in the attempt to suppress the uprising.

While Mgr. Bartelomeos, the locum tenens of the Armenian patriarchate, was entering his carriage at Constantinople four men made an attempt to assassinate him, but they were seized by the prelate's escort.

The leaders of the young Turkish party have rejected the sultan's proposal to grant reforms, including a general amnesty and the appointment of a responsible ministry as the price of the cessation of thei ragitation.

A Sepoy belonging to the British-Indian troops stationed at Fort Sandeman, India, ran amuck and killed Lieut. Yeates of the Royal Engineers, Lieut. Downes of the Bombay Lancers and two private soldiers, besides wounding Lieut. MacLachlan, before he was overcome.

People bought tickets for Irving's first performance of "Cymbeline" months before the night on which it took place, and the audience—that part of it with no reserved seats—began to gather in the theater at 7 o'clock in the morning, provided with luncheons and reading matter.

Ex-Pope Tolstoi of the Russian church, who was recently deposed from the priest's functions because he had refused to clear himself of an accusation that he had been converted to Catholicism, has been arrested at Moscow and taken to Nijni, where he was condemned by a church tribunal to seven years' banishment from St. Petersburg and Moscow, and was forbidden to hold any state office for twenty years.

Otherwise.

A well attended meeting was held at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, to protest against ill-treatment of Irish political prisoners in English prisons.

Monmouth township, Warren county, Illinois, has completed 3,000 feet of brick pavement, the first hard country road ever put down in the United States.

Rev. E. H. D. Capon, president of Tufts collage, Cambridge, Mass., has filed a voluntary petition for insolvency. The collage is in no way affected. Too liberal endorsement of paper of friends was the cause.

Two firms assigned at Houston, Tex., Brown Bros., dry goods, for $88,500, and Saper Bros., gents' furnishings and clothing, for $20,000. Subsequent attachments were made on Brown Bros. The creditors are chiefly in the North and East.

At the Empire Athletic club in Buffalo, N. Y., Stanton Abbott of England and Matt Matthews of New York came together for a fifteen-round bout, but it took only seven minutes for Matthews to get away with the Englishman.

The monument to the memory of Maryland citizens who fought in the navy during the Civil war, erected in the National Cemetery, in London Park, Baltimore, will be dedicated on Thanksgiving day. Louis and Victor Bennett, sons of Capt. Bennett of Baltimore, will unveil the monument.

G. A. Henty for two months dictated literary notes to a phonograph. At the end of that period, when he wished to put his work in manuscript, the machine was thoroughly out of order, and the too-trustful author had to mourn the waste of the entire two months' time and eloquence.

A year ago the New York World published an article on Dr. Ashton Buchanan Talbot of Philadelphia, in which it was stated the physician had a penchant for marrying "old ladies and riches." For the latter statement Dr. Talbot brought suit for libel circuit courtagainst the World in the United States circuit court, asking $50,000 damages. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of the World.

The Chanler-Paris art scholarship, consisting of a five-years' course in the art schools of Europe, has been awarded to Lawton Parker, a student of the Students' Art league of New York. Twenty-seven students participated in the preliminary competition. Of these, thirteen were selected for a second trial, and, by a unanimous vote, the judges awarded the prize to Mr. Parker. He is twenty-eight years old, and a native of Seattle, Wash.

FAMINE IN INDIA

DISTRESS PREVAILS IN PORTIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

Over Fifty Thousand Persons Are Now Engaged in Aiding the People in the Famine-Stricken Districts—The Exportation of Some Wheat Causes the Natives to Become Riotous—California Wheat Arrives.

London, Nov. 3.—Distress is feared in the district of Saugere, Jubbulpur, Nursinghpur, Hosangabad, and a part of Raipur and in the central provinces of India. The general prospects in Bengal are gloomy. If there is no rain in November the distress may be serious in a part of Patna and Hajalpur. The fears, however, are, perhaps, exaggerated. Relief work has been opened in three districts of upper Burma and relief is likely to be wanted everywhere in Berar. Distress is also expected in Hyderabad, Bhurtpur, Dholpur, Jaisalmero, Bikaniral, Tonk, Gwalior and parts of Bagkelkhand and Bundelkand. The prices of wheat in the Punjaub are from 8 to 10 seers per rupee. In the northwest and central provinces from 8 to 9 1-2 seers per rupee; in Bombay, from 10 to 12 seers per rupee.

The effect of the railway facilities will be to diffuse the distress, making it less intense. A few small riots have been reported, mostly owing to the export of wheat having the effect of raising the prices. The troops have twice been called out, once unnecessarily.

Several thousand tons of California wheat have reached Calcutta and 30,000 tons are believed to have been bought for India, but the prices are said to be rising. When the news of this import reached Jubbulpur the price fell from 8 1-2 to 10 seers per rupee. There are 53,800 persons now employed in relief work. (The Indian seer is equal to 2.059 pounds avoirdupois. The rupee is worth about 45 cents.)

Sir Charles Temple, who has had experience in Indian affairs since 1848, who was at one time secretary to Sir John Lawrence, finance minister to India from 1868 to 1874, and who was then appointed to superintend the relief operations in the famine stricken districts of Bengal, after which he served as governor of Bombay, has been interviewed on the threatened famine. Sir Richard alluded to the import of California wheat as a unique factor in the situation. He said: "It appears that this wheat can be landed in Calcutta and sold at from 8 to 9 seers per rupee. Such a possibility was never dreamed of in my time. If this be true, it will suffice to fill the shortage in the Indian supply. Certainly American wheat sold in India at that price will suffice for the distressed districts."

LAND TITLES.

Affected by a Decision of the Supreme Court To-Day.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Justice Brewer (supreme court) in affirming the decision of the Richland county, N. D., circuit court to-day, in the case of Octavia J. Parsons vs. Gustav Venzke, makes a ruling which may affect considerable land in the Northwest. He holds first that the secretary of the interior and commissioner of the general land office have power to supervise and control the local land officer; and, second, that the act of March 3, 1891, in confirming entries, operated to confirm only existing entries and not entries which had been cancelled before the act of March 3, 1891. The land attorneys here have no idea of the extent to which titles to public land may be affected by this decision.

Murderous Minstrel.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 3.—The news of a shooting scrape between the proprietors of Moore & Worth's minstrels at Winona, Emmons county, was received here to-day. The company has been playing in small towns in this vicinity for the past two weeks. Saturday morning the two men were making arrangements for the departure of the company from Winona when Worth suddenly drew a revolver and fired twice at Moore, the bullets taking effect in the shoulder and breast. Moore is badly wounded but will probably recover. Worth escaped but was afterward captured by the sheriff and held to the grand jury. The rest of the company, some of whom were held as accessories, were discharged. It appears that the men had no words previous to the shooting, but there had been bad blood between them for some time.

Sherburne Murderers Wheels.

Sherburne, Minn., Nov. 3—Several attempts have been made to get the bicycles ridden by the bank robbers and murderers here without success. The red wheel ridden by the murderer now in jail is in charge of Sheriff Hill. It was stolen at Sibley, Iowa, and after the prisoner's trial will be returned to the owner. The sheriff has received a great many offers by parties who wished to buy these wheels, but they are not for sale at present. The wheel ridden by the murderer who was killed is held by a man in Faribault county.

Farms Wagered.

Eureka, Ark., Nov. 3. — Two farms, each of 440 acres and valued at $5 an acre, or $2,200 each, have been wagered here on the result of the election in Illinois. R. T. Stickney, of Carthage, Mo., representative of Jasper county in the Missouri legislature, bets James T. Pomeroy of this city that Bryan will carry Illinois. Deeds to the two farms have been deposited in a local bank.

Banks in North Dakota.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Controller Eckles to-day gave out an abstract of the reports of the condition of twenty-nine national banks in North Dakota. It shows total reserves of $8,885,232; loans and discounts amounting to $4,902,140, and reserve of $1,388,742, of which $252,144 was in gold. The deposits amounted to $5,047,948, and average reserve held was 27.70 per cent.

The attorney general of New York has decided to begin suit for the dissolution of the Brooklyn Gas Trust.

CLUBS AND KNIVES.

They Are Used as Arguments in Political Debates.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 3.—Both political parties had demonstrations in the mining towns of Duryea and excitement ran high. There were many quarrels between the opposing forces. Frank Bronski, a Polish Republican, quarreled with some of his countrymen. To-day his dead body was found in a ditch. The skull had been crushed in. His assailants had evidently used a heavy club. John Luby and Andrew Drotski, Slavs, fought in a bar room, Luby drew a knife and stabbed Drotski in the abdomen. He died to-day. Seized with remorse Luby drew the knife across his own throat. The floor of the bar room was a sea of blood. The attending physicians say Luby's death is only a question of time.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 3. — At Three Forks City, on the Lexington & Eastern railway, returning here from a Beattysville Republican rally, Jerry Cardwell, town marshal of Jackson, and John G. Hargis, fought with pistols. Hargis was killed and Cardwell badly wounded. Hargis was a son of ex-State Senator Hargis and Cardwell is the so nof ex-Senator Thomas Cardwell. The cause of the quarrel is not definitely known.

TROCHA NOT CROSSED.

Maceo Has No Desire of Making War in Havana at Present.

Philadelphia, Nov 3.—Private letters received in this city from Havana throw light upon recent events in the Island of Cuba. One letter in particular deals with late occurrences in Pinar del Rio and gives a very hopeful view of the present Cuban situation. The letter says Antonio Maceo has not attempted to reach Havana province, and that although he made an attack upon the city of Artimisa, which was partially destroyed, he did not endeavor to force a passage of the famous trocha. On the other hand, it is stated in the communication, which is from Capt. Degrado, who was recently in this city and who is an officer of Gen. Maceo's staff, that the rebel army in Pinar del Rio province is not desirous of making war in Havana and Matanzas at this time. Both of these provinces are comparatively low and flat, and the effect of the copious rains upon the soil is still detrimental to the proper handling of an army.

Noted Biologist Dead.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 3.—Information has been received at the Johns Hopkins university announcing the death of Dr. H. Newell Martin at Purley, Eng., on Thursday last. Prof. Martin's reputation as a student and teacher of biology is international. At the formal opening of the Johns Hopkins university in 1876, Thomas B. Huxley delivered an address in which he recommended the deceased as a young man who had the ability to make for himself a name in the field of biological research. He was accordingly appointed to the chair and filled it until his resignation on account of ill health in 1893. Dr. Martin was forty-eight years of age and a native of Nowry, Ireland. He was a fellow of Christ college, Cambridge, receiving the degree of B. A. in 1874 and in 1877 that of M. A.

Cubans Put to the Bayonet.

Havana, Nov. 3.—Lieut. Col. Fondeviela secured information that the insurgents had a camp in the neighborhood of Cogimar, near Guanabacoa, which is just opposite the city of Havana. He went in pursuit of the insurgents, but they were warned of the movements of the column. They encamped between Penalvar and Cambute and countermarched to Dona Felicia to the mountains of Guanabacoa. The lieutenant colonel pursued, overtook the insurgents as they were passing the River Barucayabo. He took the positions which they held at Bodega Sitio, in the mountains and put to the bayonet the last of them in their retreat. The loss of the insurgents was fifty-two killed, while on the Spanish side the column lost one captain and fourteen privates wounded.

The Cabbies' Strike.

London, Nov. 3.—London is greatly inconvenienced by the cab strike. The drivers have started a system of boycotting the railroad stations, which has produced scenes of confusion and exasperation at the different depots, where huge piles of baggage are set down by the roadway, the crowds of indignant male and female Britons, hampered by bags, traveling rugs, packages, etc., are fretting and fuming while pushing about in a more or less helpless condition, engaging messengers, porters or anybody at hand to help them out of their difficulties. In fact, the muddle and the trouble are so great that the officials of the railroads have been compelled to apply for extra protection.

Too Much Friction.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The Chicago trades and labor assembly, which has since 1884 been one of the strongest factors in trades unionism in the city, was formally disbanded to-day in pursuance of a resolution passed a month ago. The action was due to friction among the members. A meeting will be held soon looking to reorganization under the auspices of the Federation of Labor.

Inspecting Jails.

St. Paul, Nov. 3. — R. V. La Dow, Washington, D. C., arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and registered at the Windsor. While here he was the guest of Frank Donahower. Mr. La dow is a special agent of the government for the inspection of jails and penitentiaries. He left las evening for Fargo. While in North Dakota he will make contracts with several jails there.

Republican Nominee Dead.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 3.—O. H. Moen, Republican nominee for auditor, died last night. The ballots have been distributed, but pasters with the name of Ole J. Kolseth have been sent to the sixty-five townships by special messengers.

Czar Will End It.

London, Nov. 3. — The Observer's Paris correspondent hears from a high source that it is the czar's intention to put an end to the situation in Constantinople.

OFFICERS ARE SHOT

AN ANARCHIST USES A REVOLVER IN THE STREETS OF PARIS.

Two Policemen Are Shot, One of Them Seriously, by a Man Who Boasts That He Is an Anarchist—Ivory, the Alleged American Dynamiter Arrested in London, Appeals to Ambassador Bayard.

Paris, Nov. 3.—A man named Leymaire, who was out of work, shot and seriously wounded a policeman with a revolver to-day in the Rue des Patits Champs. Another policeman was shot in the shoulder. When Leymaire was finally overpowered he declared himself to be an anarchist. The police have seized a lot of anarchist documents and literature at his lodgings.

London, Nov. 3.—Edward J. Ivory, alias Edward Bell, whose case is pending at the Bow Street police court on remand, on a charge of being concerned in a dynamite conspiracy, has communicated with Mr. Bayard, United States ambassador, with a view to obtaining recognition of his rights as an American. It is understood that American friends of Ivory will forward funds for his defense, and at their instance, in addition to prominent counsel, he will have the services of another solicitor.

BETS ON THE ELECTION.

An Ohio Man Offers $100,000 at Three to One on McKinley.

Chicago, Nov. 3. — Two commissions were received in this city to-day. One of these consists of $100,000 and is in the hands of John Roach. C. C. Viall of Ohio, a very rich man, is the owner of this sum, and he has instructed Mr. Roach to bet it on McKinley at odds of 3 to 1. "I will bet it in sums of $1,000," said Mr. Roach, "or I will lay the whole sum against $33,333.33. Mr. Viall means business and the money is here."

E. L. Hagenbuck, secretary and treasurer of the firm of Chapin & Gere, holds another commission. This is for $25,000, and is to be bet on even terms that McKinley carries Illinois by 75,000 plurality.

New York, Nov. 3.—According to reports at the Fifth Avenue hotel to-day the betting on the result of election remains about the same as to odds. A manufacturer named L. Gould placed a bet of $100 on Bryan against $640 for McKinley, put up by C. M. Reed. Al Smith, the bookmaker, claims to be ready to take all bets that can be offered on McKinley at odds of 3 to 1.

IN SELF-DEFENSE.

City Treasurer Kills One Who Had Knocked Him Through a Window.

Devils Lake, N. D., Nov. 3.—Thomas S. Cordner, city treasurer and prominent in usiness circles,b shot and instantly killed R. J. Illingsworth in a restaurant in the presence of at least ten persons. Mr. Cordner claims that Illingsworth brutally assaulted him, and evidence is conclusive that Cordner was knocked nearly through the front sash of the building in which the shooting occurred. Both parties were married men, each having one child. After the shooting Cordner gave himself up to the sheriff.

Found, but Is Demented.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Albert D. Powers, manager of the Cuban relief bureau of this city, has been found, demented, in Tennessee. News of his discovery was telegraphed to Chicago police yesterday by Col. J. D. Powers of Owensboro, father of the man whose disappearance from Chicago a month ago mystified the police and his friends. The disappearance of young Powers just as the launching of the ambitious project of the Cuban relief bureau gave rise to a belief that he had been murdered. Col. J. P. Powers, father of the young man, is the president of the First National Bank of Owensboro, Ky.

Tried to Kill a Priest.

Stevens Point, Wis., Nov. 3.—An attempt was made to assassinate Rev. Q. Zilenski, pastor of St. Peter's Polish Catholic church. The parsonage was burned two weeks ago, and the shooting took place at the priest's new home. Two shots were fired through the window of the sitting room, one of which grazed the head of the housekeeper. There has been a row in the church for a long time, and the firing of the parsonage and last night's shooting are attributed to it. The priest is now on trial for an alleged assault on the church janitor.

Bold Bank Robbers.

Mason City, Iowa, Nov. 3.—A desperate attempt was made to rob the Citizens' State bank at Goldfield last night. Dynamite was placed in the front door and the explosion was so severe as to shake the entire town. Window glass was broken in several places, and the two-story brick structure in which the bank is located, was badly wrecked, especially the interior. Citizens were soon drawn to the scene and the burglars escaped. The bank is owned by McElhinney Bros.

Careless Hunters.

Park Rapids, Minn., Nov. 3.—Hunters are thicker than deer in the woods north of here, and are very careless. Within the past two or three days five men have been injured by careless handling of guns, stray bullets or being shot for deer. One C. A. Perkins got a bullet through his hair; another a bullet across his forehead; a third had a hand badly injured, another was wounded in the side, and the fifth received a charge of buckshot. The latter was badly injured.

An Electrician Fatally Injured.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—Jefferson D. Wells, chief engineer of the Fargo Electric Light company, was caught between a belt and pulley to-day and thrown several times around the revolving shaft. His arm was nearly torn off, and his chest bruised and broken. He cannot live.

Another Hunter Killed.

Winona, Minn., Nov. 2.—Albin Radomiski, while hunting, accidentally shot himself fatally through the body, dying in a few moments.

WINTER IS ON.

Severe Storm of Snow and Wind in the Northwest.

Duluth, Nov. 1.—A severe storm has been raging here for some time. Last night was the wildest seen in Duluth in many years. The heavy sea under the influence of a fifty-mile gale from the northeast is causing high water in the harbor and damage to elevators and mills is feared as a result. The life-saving crews are patrolling the beach. Rain fell in torrents all night. Several plate glass windows were broken by the wind. Half a mile of telegraph poles were washed out on the line of the St. Paul & Duluth road south of here. All night Duluth was in darkness, electric light wires being blown down.

The schooner Ely went ashore on the west breakwater of Two Harbors, but the crew of ten men were rescued.

West Superior, Wis., Nov. 1.—Lake captains arriving in port this morning say that last night's storm was one of the worst for years. Three boats were in trouble in sight of the harbor last night, but, with the assistance of tugs, they succeeded in reaching port. A small ferryboat and scow sank in the bay. Along the south shore of Lake Superior considerable damage was done. The windows in many stores here were blown in, and in the outskirts of the city the damage was heavy.

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 1. — The first snow of the season commenced here at an early hour. Heavy wind accompanied it and telegraph poles along the Great Northern lines west are almost all down. Connection from that part of the country is almost shut off. No damage from the wind has yet been reported.

Huron, S. D., Nov. 1.—An inch and a half of rain fell here. Last night snow began falling and the storm is still in progress, with six inches of very heavy snow covering the ground. The storm is the heaviest known in October since 1880. It is general over the state.

Redfield, S. D., Nov. 1.—Yesterday this part of the country was visited by a heavy rain and sleet storm and to-day a severe blizzard is raging. Warm and open weather has made people careless and the sudden change has found them unprepared.

Aberdeen, S. D., Nov. 1.—Cold rain turned into snow during the night and the ground is covered with three inches of fleecy substance and more coming. Trains on all lines are late.

FLURRY IN MONEY.

Excitement in Wall Street Is Now Subsiding.

New York, Nov. 1. — There was a notable absence of excitement in Wall street at the opening considering the extreme stringency of money yesterday. Higher London quotations, scarsity of stocks offering in the local market and rumors of financial relief measures to be taken by the banks caused a confident sentiment. The only loan reported to 11 o'clock was of $10,000 at 50 per cent; this was an outside transaction as regular loans are not made in the stock exchange until 11 o'clock. In banking circles it is understood that an informal agreement has been reached by the presidents of six or seven institutions to pool their issues in the event of money reaching what is considered a prohibitive figure or upon any indication of distress in the street or in mercantile circles that will draw upon their reserves to as large an extent as may be necessary. It is rumored that the banks are prepared to put out some $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. No official action will be taken by the clearing house as a body. The last loan was at 15 per cent.

INDIANS TRY THE COURTS.

The Divorce Courts at That—First Born's Marital Duplicity.

Chamberlain, S. D., Nov. 1.—Further evidence that the Sioux Indians are rapidly advancing in civilization is furnished by the commencement here of divorce proceedings between members of the tribe. A few days ago it was not necessary to apply to the courts to dissolve Indian marriages, such as they were. In October, 1890, First Born and Appearing Earth were married at Crow Creek agency. Affairs in the First Born household went along with scarcely a ripple until two years ago, when a young Sioux beauty named Good Natured Fool Bear appeared on the scene. She had been attending one of the Eastern Indian schools. The jealousy of the wife was aroused. Then the recreant husband and the young charmer decided to elope. They fled to Yankton agency, but were followed by Indian police and carried back to Crow Creek. Last month Rev. E. P. Swartout, a Methodist of Gann Valley, married First Born and Fool Bear. Now the original wife has him arrested for bigamy and sues for divorce.

Pictures of Executions.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The state department has just received the final report of the Commission appointed to investigate the Kucheng riots in China last spring and to secure the punishment of the perpetrators of the outrage on American missionaries. The report is a very voluminous document, fully illustrated by photographs showing the ruins of the destroyed property, the transport of the convicted criminals to the place of execution in bamboo cages; the actual beheading with startling exactness and the display of the heads of the executed Chinese from trees near the place of their crime as a warning to the inhabitants against further assaults upon foreigners.

Stopped by Police.

New York, Nov. 1.—Leslie Pearce of Philadelphia and Billy Ernst of Buffalo had a brief fight before the Broadway Athletic club last night. The bout was for fifteen rounds at 135 pounds. In the fifth round Ernst got in a right swing on the jaw which almost finished Pearce. The referee then stopped the bout and Ernst was declared the winner.

The first snow of the season began falling at Oberlin, Kan., during the night and continued to-day.

BUDDINS OF NEWS.

Items of General Interest Placed in a Few Lines.

The office of the bursar of Toronto was entered last night, the safe blown open and $1,500 extracted.

The River Seine is slightly falling near Paris to-day, but the rivers are still rising in the south of France.

To-day's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $233,573,761; gold reserve, $117,126,523.

A settlement has been made by the Emerson Piano company with their creditors and the creditors have turned over the property to the company.

The only Russian Greek church on the Pacific coast north of San Francisco, was dedicated at Seattle yesterday by Rt. Rev. Bishop Nicholas of Alaska.

President Bradford, who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Haley in Henry county, Tenn., on Friday last, committed suicide last night by shooting himself.

Col. Cecil Rhodes and Capt. Fereun, with thirty-five burghers, captured and burned Pangols Kraal on Saturday, killing thirty-one rebels, including three chiefs.

Lambuster Angelo was killed, and Lincoln Guiseppi was dangerously injured to-day in a panic in Newark, N. J., which resulted from a trivial occurrence on a trolley car.

The gold yield of the colony of Victoria for the first three-quarters of the present year amounts to 568,582 ounces, an increase of 31,000 ounces over the same period of 1895.

Annie Vanderwall, aged seven years, was instantly killed and Ella Birkman, aged nine, fatally injured to-day at the Joseph street crossing of the Chicago & Alton railroad in Chicago.

Official figures of exports and imports for the fiscal year ended June 30, issued by the Canadian government, show the total foreign trade of Canada to have been $240,024,852, compared with $224,420,485 in 1895.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Wheat—November, 73 1-2c; December, 73 7-8c; January, 75 5-8c; May, 79 3-4c. Corn—November, 24 3-8c; December, 25 5-8c; May, 29a29 1-4c. Oats—November, 18 1-4c; December, 19 1-8c; May, 22 1-2c. Pork—November and December, $7.12 1-2; January, $8.02 1-2; May, $8.35. Lard—November, $4.25; December, $4.27 1-2; January, $4.50; May, $4.70. Ribs—November, $3.75; December, $3.75; January, $3.95; May, $4.17 1-2.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Hogs—Market active; light, $3.25a3.60; mixed, $3.25a3.60; heavy, $3.10a3.55; rough, $3.10a3.20. Cattle — Market active; beeves, $3.55a5.25; cows and heifers, $1.60a3.95; Texas steers, $2.70a3.40; Westerns, $3.15a4.10; stockers and feeders, $2.65a3.80. Sheep strong and 10a15c higher.

Minneapolis, Nov. 3—Wheat—November closed at 73 1-2c; December opened at 72 5-8c and closed at 74c; May opened at 76 1-2c and closed at 78c. On track—No. 1 hard, 74 3-4c; No. 1 Northern, 73 1-2c; No. 2 Northern, 71 1-2c.

Milwaukee, Nov. 3.—Flour firm and higher. Wheat stronger; No. 2 spring, 71 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 75c; December, 72 1-2c. Corn steady; No. 3, 23 1-2c. Oats dull and nominal; No. 2 white, 19a20c; No. 3 white, 19a19 1-2c. Barley quiet and steady; No. 2, 34c; sample, 23a33c. Rye quiet but firm; No. 1, 36a37c. Provisions steady; pork, $7.10; lard, $4.25.

South St. Paul, Nov. 3.—Hogs 10c higher, a few on the market, selling to butchers; sales at $2.90a3.12 1-2. Cattle quiet; not much offered; receipts are mostly Westerns going through; sales at $2.35a3.75.

The Settlers Win.

Washington, Nov. 3. — About 1,200 acres of land on and around the margin of Cedar lake, or Ely lake, near Duluth, Minn., are involved in the case of G. A. Bruns et al. vs. S. K. Murphy, the Security Land and Exploration company, the Duluth Iron Range company, Cloquet Lumber company et al., in which the general land office decision has been affirmed by the secretary of the interior. The petitioners, represented as bonafide settlers asked for the survey and platting of the lands to allow homestead entry, while the defendants claimed ownership under patents issued and swamp land grants made by the government. The decision directs the surveyor general to contract the survey asked for.

Mr. Sewall Confident.

Bath, Me., Nov. 3.—On the eve of the election Mr. Sewall, the candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket, was serenely confident of the election of Mr. Bryan and himself. Mr. Sewall based his confidence on the numerous messages which he had received during the past few days and from press reports, although he would not give out any definite statement as to just what states he thinks they will carry. For the past week a bad cold has kept him within doors, which, with the excitement prevailing over the election, caused him to look pale. Talk with his friends has taxed his energies and he refused to be interviewed by reporters.

A Mayor Fatally Injured.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 3.—Mayor McClelland was run down this morning by an electric car and fatally injured. The mayor stepped in front of the car when it was less than five feet from him.

College Celebration.

St. Peter, Minn., Nov. 3. — It was twenty years ago last Saturday since Gustavus Adolphus college was founded at this place. The celebration commemorating this event is now on.

Burned in Effigy.

Newport, Ark., Nov. 3.—At a Democratic meeting here Gen. John M. Palmer was burned in effigy.

Recognition of Cubans.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 3.—News has been received from Sucre, Bolivia, that the commissioner of foreign affairs of the senate has presented a motion in that body for the recognition by Bolivia of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents.

Arm and Leg Torn Out.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 3.—Daniel Brennan of Washburn was brought to this place this morning, having been injured in the elevator there. His arm and leg were torn out of their sockets. He died shortly after arriving here.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER=SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the post-office at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 4, 1896.

A TEAR BOTTLE.

Glass, wherein a Greek girl's tears
Once were gathered as they fell
After these two thousand years
Is there still no tale to tell?

Buried with her, in her mound
She is dust long since, but you
Only yesterday were found
Iridescent as the dew—

Fashioned faultlessly, a form
Graceful as was hers whose cheek
Once against you made you warm
While you heard her sorrow speak.

At your lips I listen long
For some whispered word of her,
For some ghostly strain of song
In your haunted heart to stir.

But your crystal lips are dumb,
Hushed the music in your heart.
Ah, if she could only come
Back again and bid it start!

Long is art, but life how brief!
And the end seems so unjust:
This companion of her grief
Here today, while she is dust!
—Frank Dempster Sherman in Atlantic.

A Typical German Duel.

"Gentlemen, I think it is time to go home. One of you, at all events, seems to have had a few glasses more than is good for him."

These were the words spoken by a medical student shortly after midnight at L.'s restaurant, where he had been carousing with some colleagues. Evidently the remarks of the speaker had been addressed to his friends, but at a neighboring table were sitting several officers garrisoned in the town.

Lieutenant H., to whom the criticism applied fairly well, though it was not addressed to him, rose indignantly, and turning to the student, who bore the sobriquet "The Rat," exclaimed in a loud voice, "Do you venture to intrude your uncalled for advice upon me?"

"Put the cap on, since it seems to fit you," was the sarcastic answer, and the result a pistol duel the next day, in which Lieutenant H. was killed.

The Rat was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in a fortified town. Three of these he actually spent in the fortress, the restriction of his liberty consisting in the necessity of being home as early as 9 p. m.—an event that, to the best of my knowledge, had rarely, if ever, occurred during his university career before the fatal duel. But the remainder of the sentence was remitted, as usual in such cases, "by the grace of his majesty." The punishment of the seconds in the tragic affair was merely nominal, and as regards The Rat, he returned to liberty as boisterous and as ready as ever to back his words with sword or pistol.—Pall Mall Gazette.

First Trooper—By Jove! You should have seen that fellow Higgins in the cavalry charge today. Regular daredevil, that man is. Never saw any one in my life charge in such an utterly reckless style as he did.

Second Trooper—That's easy enough to account for.

First Trooper—How's that?

Second Trooper—He used to be a plumber before he joined the cavalry.—London Tit-Bits.

An order of precedence is the order in which individuals are entitled to precede or follow each other in state ceremonials or public occasions, when processions of the nobility are formed.

To be idle and to be poor have always been reproaches, and therefore every man endeavors with his utmost care to hide his poverty from others and his idleness from himself.—Johnson.

Fees for copies of drawings in the patent office are variable. In the language of the department, "the charge is the reasonable cost of making."

Money is a handmaiden, if thou knowest to use it; a mistress, if thou knowest not.—Horace.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

AMONG CHINA'S SILKWORMS.

A Little Girl's Story of the Great Oriental Industry.

Silkworm eggs are about as large and as round as a pin's head. Some are black and some are white, with a yellowish tint in them. A little moth lays these eggs in the spring, and they will hatch the next spring, when the mulberry leaves are just coming out. When it is time to hatch them, the Chinese put them on their bodies to keep them warm, but we keep ours in a cupboard in a warm place. When the silkworms come out, they are about an eighth of an inch long and are a dark brown and their heads a shiny black.

We gather tender mulberry leaves and cut them up fine and give it to them. They eat all the time, day and night, and do not rest until they shed their skin four times. At these times they do not eat, but are quiet and hold up their heads. As they grow larger their color grows lighter, and then dark rings appear on their bodies. They have 14 legs, four pairs in the back and three pairs in the front. When they are small, we can put a good many into one small basket. When they are large, we must put them into several large baskets. They eat a good deal and must have fresh leaves all the time. They have to be fed in the night.

When they are full grown, they are about 2½ inches long, and then they begin to spin. We know when they want to spin, because they stop eating and are clear and shiny, and a thread of silk is coming from their mouths, and they keep crawling up all the time.

When we see this, we know they are trying to find a good place to make their cocoons, and we put them on bundles of straw. They crawl around until they find a place that suits them, and then they stand upon their hind legs and wave their heads very slowly back and forth, and a fine thread of silk comes from their mouths.

They keep working very busily until the cocoon is made. Mother dissected a silkworm and saw the two silk glands coiled along each side of the body. These glands lead to the spinneret that is in the mouth. The cocoons are oval.

Some are white, and some are yellow, and some are cream color. Inside the cocoon there is a change in the worm. It becomes a pupa. It comes out as a moth.

If we paste a piece of paper over the top of a cup and put a silkworm on it, it will spin a mat instead of a cocoon.

Some are not willing to spin a mat and crawl off and spin a cocoon. The Chinese embroider the mats and use them for the ends of pillows and for powder puffs. Last year we called a man to wind off the silk from our cocoons. He put a handful of cocoons into boiling water.

This kills the pupæ in an instant. He stirred them with chopsticks until the threads were loosened from the cocoons. He then lifted up a few threads and put them over a wheel and wound off all the silk until there was nothing but the pupæ left in the bottom of the water. The Chinese save all these to eat. We saved a few cocoons for moths to come out and lay some eggs for next year.

They lay several hundred eggs and then die without ever eating anything. I think that silkworms are busy, patient, wonderful little creatures.

The Chinese have many superstitions about them. They do not dare to call them worms, but say "the precious ones," or "Miss Caterpillar." They do not allow us to go into their houses while the silkworms are at work, because they are afraid it will lessen their crop of silk.

When they are winding the silk, they boil eggs in the pan, and they say that if they eat those eggs they will not have sore eyes or headache for a year.—Central China Sunbeam.

Spanish Bric-a-brac Dealers.

At times the bric-a-brac dealer was seen in the hotel. Usually he kept to his shop in the Calle de los Gomeres, where there was little to buy at a price that would be the envy of Wardour street. The guides probably could best have explained how it was that he always had prompt hint of a possible bargain. In these emergencies he was really great. I have known him with only two days' warning to produce a special piece of tapestry of the time of Ferdinand and Isabella, decorated with the arms of the Marquis of Cadiz and even with that brave soldier's name woven in the borders, unquestionably by the fair hands of the Catholic Isabella, though in the plain lettering of the modern manufacturer's favorite alphabet.—Elizabeth Robins Pennell in Century.

Pleasure.

Writers of every age have endeavored to show that pleasure is in us and not in the object offered for our amusement. If the soul be happily disposed, everything becomes capable of affording entertainment, and distress will almost want a name.—Goldsmith.

"Mamma," asked the little girl, pointing at the woman on the other side of the car, "what makes the lady wear her rings outside her glove?"

"Hush," said the mother in an aggravated stage whisper. "Don't be rude. The lady wears her rings outside her glove to keep them from blackening her fingers."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Good Farm Hand.

One of the most valuable farm hands I ever saw, one who did the most work and kept the team in finest condition during the entire season, was noticed to find out the secret. He stopped a few minutes every three or four rounds while plowing, and instead of sitting down on the plow, as others did, he would go in front of his team to see how they were standing their work. He would talk to his horses and carress them; fixing their manes and foretop, loosening the bridle, often taking it off for a minute to cool and examine their heads. He would not allow the team to stand against the collar, but put them in an easy, natural position. The collar was raised forward to clean the shoulders and while resting would rub off the sweat and dirt from the shoulders and collar. If he wanted a drink, instead of leaving the team in the field he would loosen the traces and drive them to the tank for a drink. Is it any wonder that his team stood the work? At the dinner hour his team was unharnessed, their shoulders washed clean often greased with salty lard, if the least chafing appeared. His team was never fed in a hot, steamy stable, but out in the open air. Such a farm hand is worth his wages.—Ex.

TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Boiled and Percolated, Both Have Their Advocates.

An appeal for directions as to how to make good coffee goes straight to the heart of those who love the fragrant beverage, and as each devotee has her special method one can take choice of several which claim to be perfect.

Old fashioned housekeepers still insist that no coffee is equal to that which has had a "good boil." To make it by any plan, be sure that all your vessels are perfectly clean and that all the water you use is not only freshly drawn, but that it is at its first boil. A very few moments of ebullition will deprive it of its gases and make it flat and hard. For boiled coffee, then, allow a heaping tablespoonful of ground coffee to each cup. Put it in the pot with one-third of the white of an egg beaten into half a pint of cold water; stir thoroughly and add enough cold water to thoroughly cover, then quickly add the desired amount of boiling water. Stand the pot over a hot fire and let it boil fast for a few moments. Add a cup of cold water and push it to the back of the range to settle for five minutes.

But the modern epicures prefer the French method of making coffee by percolation. For this have the bean not merely ground fine, but pulverized. Use a minute coffeepot, which consists of a pot into which a cotton bag has been fitted, and which can be had from any house furnishing store. Put into the bag one heaping dessertspoonful of the powder for each cup of coffee and have ready just the quantity of fresh water needed. When this has come to a boil, pour it quickly over the coffee. It will drain through the bag and be rich and clear. If greater strength is desired, put the pot on the fire and allow it to boil up once, thus forcing the water again through the bag. If French coffee is liked, a little prepared chicory may be added—about half a teaspoonful to each four cups—but the use of chicory is as much condemned by some epicures as it is urged by others, so it becomes a matter of personal taste. A good blend of coffee is a mixture of one pound of Java with a quarter of a pound of Mocha and two ounces of Rio, or Martinique where Rio is disliked, but many prefer the pure Java. Experimenting with these blends will finally produce a coffee which suits exactly the family taste, and which, once found, should never be abandoned.

Now, a word as to the bag in the minute coffeepots. It should be thoroughly soaked before it is first used, and after service it should be washed out and left to soak in cold water—never in hot. After it has been used for some six weeks a new bag is easily made from thin cheesecloth and slipped over the iron ring which supports it. It only takes a few minutes to renew a bag, and it is safer to change it often. As to the war waged over boiled coffee, it may be said that percolated coffee is pronounced soothing to the nerves, while boiled coffee is exciting.—New York Recorder.

No wild female bird ever sings during the period of incubation and rarely at other times.

Bateman and Irving.

There have been recent discussions concerning the why and the wherefore of the acceptance of "The Bells" by old Colonel Bateman. The fact of the matter was that the colonel was on his last legs and allowed Henry Irving to try Leopold Lewis' version of "Le Juif Polonais" as a last desperate remedy. Few people know that before that eventful night which started Irving's success a version of Erckmann-Chatrain's play, written by Mr F. C. Burnand, had been produced at the Alfred theater (Marylebone) by Charles Harcourt under the name of Paul Zegers. Colonel Bateman never believed in "The Bells" at all and what is more never believed in Irving either until after his success as Mathias.—London Truth.

How Wooden Plates Worked.

She became tired of housekeeping and dish washing, so she bought wooden plates, which could be thrown away after using. Then her husband grew tired of housekeeping and would not come home to dinner.—Twentieth Century Cookery.

If you are particular

About the accommodations you get when traveling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.

If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.

Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1 75

☞Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

—Subscribe for the SPECTATOR. ☜

U.S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 27th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Dec. 8th 1896, viz:

Karl A Sundahl, Hd. Lots 2, 3, and 4 Sec. 6 tp. 152 N. range 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Simon E. Ahlberg, Daniel Johnson, Andrew Nelson and Anton Peterson, all of St. Hilaire, P. O., Minn.

13-18 WM. ANGLIM, Receiver.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

The BEER=

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.

	Price per Acre.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.10
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.50
5 " 35	5.00

SANDERS TOWNSHIP.

NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.0 to 4.70
NE of SE 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.

Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 31	5.00

ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
[illegible] " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

☞For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of samples of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

M. W. OF A., CAMP 3659.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Friday of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	64c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	10c	Eggs	7c
Barley	13c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	55c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Pay your election bets.

Wood wanted at this office.

This snow is a bad one on deer.

St. Hilaire cast ninety votes, even.

Friday it snowed—Saturday same.

The deer season opened up Sunday.

Jim McGee returned home Monday.

H. E. Ives went to Crookston to day.

Town of North, Bryan 59, McKinley 30.

A. L. Arpin left to-day for Minneapolis.

Monday it rained, hailed and snowed at intervals.

The roads are in a rather poor condition at present.

Sleighs were in evidence the latter part of last week.

Chas. Rapp was a visitor at Thief River Falls Sunday.

And now the man "I told you so" is getting in his work.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

Everybody are anxious to know how election went yesterday.

Work was abandoned at the race, dam and bridge yesterday.

But few storm doors and windows have been placed in position.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Rumor has it that M. Z. Epperson has rented a hotel at McIntosh.

H. J. Freeman was giving election news hot from the wire last night.

One hundred and two names were on the registration list this A. D. 1896.

J. L. Johnson returned Friday from Crookston with a bundle of ballots.

O. F. Post left to-day for Crookston with the St. Hilaire election returns.

BORN:—To Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bergh, Sunday, November 1st 1896, a daughter.

K. O. Gigstad returned Friday from the county seat with an armfull of ballots.

Yesterday was a regulation election day—it snowed and rained at the same time.

Two-thirds of the voters marked the commissioners on the ticket for other districts.

BORN:—To Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Patterson, Tuesday, November 3, 1896, a daughter.

John Larson who met with an accident last week is a Grand Forks undergoing treatment.

Now that election is over the country will once more settle down to the old routine of business.

We have a box stove that we will exchange for cord wood. Call in and see the stove when in town.

Mrs. M. Z. Epperson who has been visiting at McIntosh for the past week returned home Monday.

Work on the race and dam was postponed Monday on account of the inclemency of the weather.

M. Z. Epperson now has his portable saw mill located near Lambert, where he will do custom sawing.

About two more weeks of decent weather and the race would be in shape for the water to pass through.

For the benefit of those who do not know, we will state that it is unlawful to kill prairie chicken or grouse.

Its a shame that so many electors had to ask for aid in marking their ballots; especially so for the young people.

"The cruel war is over" the paper bullets were all fired off yesterday. Results will be heard from in a few days.

To show the sympathies of the average Republican voter there were 4 of them in the town of Rocksbury that voted against taxing railroad lands.

Something unusual has happened for this country. The black-birds have been snowed in, and are here election day.

Torchlight processions will be in order for a few nights more, and the only question now is, who will carry the torches.

J. P. Johnson, one of the leading merchants of McIntosh, was in the village the first part of the week talking county division.

Charles G. Rapp and Sam Dainard run neck and neck and carried the town ten to one, and the gentlemen appreciate it too.

Messrs. Bourden and Hunt of Red Lake Falls were here yesterday and are satisfied with the St. Hilaire vote on county division.

The county division ticket fooled hundreds of voters. To make sure that their vote would count, they marked each and all propositions.

Considerable trouble is being experienced in putting down the tubes for the new county bridge owing to the quick sand and disagreeable weather.

Up to the hour of going to press it looks as though McHanna would be elected president of the United States. Watch his smoke the next four years.

About thirty strangers got off the train at this point Monday. Most of them were young farmers who have been out working during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Peters, who have been visiting relatives in the village since Friday returned to Angus, Monday, accompanied by Elsie Harris, Mrs. Peters sister.

One message was received this morning that McKinley had carried Winnipeg and England. No news in this. They have been conceded to McKinley many moons ago.

Joe Smith, of the Crookston land office was in the village a short time Monday while on his way to Red Lake Falls. Joe is an old time democrat of 24 years standing.

Daniel Arpin, who has been looking after the interests of the St. Hilaire Lumber company up in the pineries for the past two weeks returned Friday and left for the east.

Six heavy logging teams belonging to the St. Hilaire Lumber company left Friday for the woods loaded down with logging utensils. Ike Halvorson piloted the road across the country.

The Hallowe'ne pranks of young America made their annual tour about the village Saturday night, doing as much damage as it was possible for them to do. Will it ever be otherwise?

Clerk of Court Vig, was in the village Monday for one hour and turned off six full fledged American citizens in that space of time. He took the first train for Red Lake Falls on a like mission.

S. D. Patrick, who is connected with the St. Hilaire Lumber company, left Friday for his home at Litchfield, where he will remain a few days visiting his family and cast his vote from president down.

The young boys of the town stuffed a dummy representing to be Mark Hanna Saturday evening, which was placed here and there until Monday morning when the city officials burned Mark in effigy.

Word has reached here to the effect that two men have been accidently shot while hunting deer north of Thief River Falls. It is likely probable as there are lots of deer hunters on the reservation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kribs and child of Thief River Falls were in the village a short time Monday while on their way to St. Paul, where they will remain a few weeks visiting relatives before returning. Mr. Kribs is of the opinion that St. Hilaire will be the coming metropolis.

Patrick Meehan was in the village Monday a short time while enroute to his home in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Mr. Meehan intended to start from here last Friday, but the storm on Red lake detained the boat a day or two, thus making it impossible for him to reach Milwaukee in time to cast his ballot.

L. T. Bergh who has been on a collecting tour in North Dakota for the past two months returned home Sunday. Mr. Bergh came home for the purpose of casting his ballot and see in what condition his new house on the farm was in. L. T. expects to leave again to-day to be absent for another month or so.

A thoroughbred dead-beat answering to the name of Joe Madden was arraigned in justice court Saturday morning on a warrant sworn out by A. J. McCormick, accusing the prisoner of relieving him of a small consideration of money and a shirt. Justice Peters not finding the evidence sufficient to convict, discharged the prisoner.

A few days ago a few men met in Chicago in a private room and "fixed rates" as follows on western railroads: "The rate on beer was elevated from 20 to 25 cents, canned goods to 24 from 12 cents, sugar which has been carried at all sorts of rates was fixed definitely at 27 cents, apples were advanced from 20 to 27 cents, grains from 20 to 45 cents, hard coal from $2 to $3; soft coal was fixed at $2.25 and coke was advanced from $2 to $2.30. No date was fixed upon which these rates are to become effective, but it will not be later than Nov. 2." And these rates (taxes) are levied upon us without consulting the people who pay the rates. Grand scheme to make up for deficiencies of any sort—say election expenses.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

St. Hilaire Vote.

The following is a correct count of the county and legislative ticket.

Congress—
Frank M. Eddy		50
Edwin E. Lommen		35
Legislature—
Lewis Lohn	rep	42
Andrew Hawkins	"	39
Charles G. Rapp	"	75
W. A. Marin	people	28
S. J. Lee	"	27
G. O. Gilbertson	"	15
County Auditor—
Andred Hanson		46
John Gleason		37
Treasurer—
Ole B. Dahl		45
John T. Beaudry		41
Sheriff—
Samuel M. Dainard		80
Thomas Lawrence		9
Register of Deeds—
Andrew Sture		33
Albert Wickstrom		45
Judge of Probate—
Wm. A. Lancfot		53
Ole E. Hagen		27
C. F. Petterson, ind		4
Attorney—
Ira C. Richardson		54
L. E. Gossman		30
Surveyor—
Ole E. Hamery		60
Superintent of Schools—
M. A. Campion		46
I. I. Kaasa		34
Coroner—
A. M. Stebbins		50

Rocksbury township gives Bryan 79; McKinley 20; Lind 83; Clough 14; Lommen 82; Eddy 15.

Thief River Falls city gives Bryan 131, McKinley 67, Eddy 91, Lommen 104, Rapp 90, Dainard 103.

Sanders township gives McKinley 40, Bryan 30, Clough 37, Lind 33, Eddy 38, Lommen 30, Rapp 44, Dainard 42.

Red Lake Falls city gives Bryan 180, McKinley 68; Lind 182, Clough 73, Mc Kinnon 203, Lommen 161, Rapp 151, Dainard 126, Lawrence 139.

Many have an idea that the death of Register Dunlava of the U. S. land office will necessitate the suspension of the government business and the closing of the office until his successor is appointed. This is not true. Only such business will be laid aside as shall require the joint attention and signatures of both receiver and register to make it legal. All filings will be received as heretofore and the usual routine work will continue without interruption. No contests can be decided however, without the concurrence of both officers.

On Thursday last a shooting accident occurred between Red Lake agency and Thief River Falls whech narrowly missed being fatal to one of the parties Charles Tedford and John Peterson were passengers on the Alice M. and had stopped off for a deer hunt, when the season should open. Tedford who was shooting slugs of lead the size of the bore of a ten gauge gun accidentally shot Peterson the ball entering the arm near the wrist and coming out at the elbow. He was brought to Thief River Falls for surgical aid and it is feared he may loose his arm. —Crookston Times.

DEAD.

Capt. Thomas A. Dunlava died Monday Nov. 2nd 1896. The announcement of his death, while not unexpected, was a shock to the whole community. The immediate cause of death was consumption, brought on by a wound received in the late war when he was shot through the lungs. For several days he has been confined to his home and has been gradually sinking until this afternoon when death put an end to his sufferings.

Capt. Dunlava was born in Ireland fifty-two years ago, and with his parents came to this country while still a mere child. The family settled in New York state from where he joined the Union army in '62. After the war he migrated to Marshalltown, Iowa, where he engaged in farming. In the summer of 1882 he moved his family to Fisher, where he engaged in the hardware business and farming. He was an ardent democrat in politics and in the spring of 1894 was appointed receiver of the U. S. land office in this city, which office he held at the time of his death.—Crookston Tribune.

Rates in Freight Rates.

The western roads have announced a raise of two cents per bushel in wheat, rates to take effect Nov. 2nd, urging as a reason that with seventy cent wheat in Chicago, the shippers will stand it. It is difficult for F. S. & H., to see what else the shippers can do about it, whether they like it or not, their wheat must be shipped. This hasty action of the railroads shows how anxious and ready they are to follow the market, when it is rising, and they see the traffic will bear a higher rate. If they were as quick to follow a downward tendency there would be much less complaint against railroad extortion, but to do so would not be in accordance with their ideas of business. The fact of this advance in rates rather punctures the claims that the recent rise was all going to the farmers; that is not going to happen if the powers now enthroned can prevent it. Then again there is no certainty that the price of wheat will be 70 cents in Chicago when the proposed rate is to take effect. If it is not it will be interesting to note whether the roads will think the shipper "will stand it" and make the advance anyhow. Railroads have been telling their employes that if prices rise it will make no difference, they cannot raise their rates, which are held down by law, hence no raise in wages can be expected. It would be interesting to hear from railroads on this point.—Farm, Stock and Home.

As Others See Us.

During a recent visit to the thriving village of St. Hilaire, we were, by the kindness of village president Rapp shown a few improvements contemplated and began for St. Hilaire. First comes the saw mill, the dam for which is nearing completion. It is one of the finest in the northwest. A loop in the river of a sufficient magnitude to hold 50,000,000 logs, and which can virtually be cut off as a part of the river by a channel now completed, is the finest storage for logs we have ever seen. The yard space and mill-site are level and commodious. The river front is to be made into a park and will be a beautiful addition to the village. One of the most useful objects about the village is a fine flowing well of the best water. We predict for St. Hilaire a boom next season and if the residents keep their heads and push forward steadily prosperity will follow.—Satterlee's Journal.

The Country Paper.

There are some people so unreasonable as to think that the country publisher can get up a sheet as large as the city weeklies, and at the same price that the city publisher gets for his. They do not take into consideration the very important fact that city papers publish no local or country news, but are run principally in the interests of the city in which they are published, while the home paper works for the prosperity of the town and county in which it is published. The city paper has the whole country for its field, while the local paper can look for but very little support outside of its own county or locality. As a result the city paper has a circulation of tens, and perhaps hundreds of thousands, while the home paper does well if it gets a circulation of one or two thousand. Everybody knows, or should know, that it costs the country publisher nearly as much to get up the forms of his paper as it does the city publisher, and that the paper and press work on an average edition of a country newspaper is a comparatively small item in the total expense. It costs just as much to set the type for a thousand copies as for a hundred thousand, and thus prevents the local paper from competing in price with the "big weeklies" of the city. The two classes of journals occupy separate and distinct fields and always will, and any man can afford to do without the city paper, at half price, than without his home paper. While you can get the best of the general news out of your local paper, you can never keep posted on your home and county affairs by reading the blanket sheets published in the city. Therefore, we say, stick to your home paper. It works for you and your interests, as well as for the interest of everyone in the community, and you should not begrudge the small sum it takes to pay for it a whole year in advance—Ex.

Jack Rabbits in the United States is the subject of one of the latest publications we have received from the Department of Agriculture at Washington. It affords another illustration of the varied scope of that department. Information of interest to many readers is gathered. It has been understood that these troublesome pests to the farmers, which are familiar from the Mississippi to the Pacific, were following the buffalo and Indian before the advance of civilization, but this bulletin says they are increasing in the irrigating states, and their extermination is becoming a serious question in Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Oregon and California. In a county named in California the jack rabbits are accused of shortening the crops $600,000 worth in one year, and a county in Idaho has paid more than $30,000 in bounties. Of late a good many jack rabbits are being sent to market—where they are sold at from 75 cents to $3 a dozen—sometimes higher. The skins are used for furs, and the meat for food. A commission house in St. Paul reports handling 12,000 of them last winter—most of them killed in the Dakotas. It is estimated that 600,000 of them are used for food yearly. None of the devices for getting rid of them are entirely successful.—Bounties encourage frauds, and the bulletin says the extermination of the pests can only be accomplished by co-operation on the part of individual farmers.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council Monday Nov. 2nd, 1896.

All members present except Freeman and Epperson.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

On motion the following bills were allowed:

Oscar Brink, 9 days grubbing	$11 25
B. S. Stranahan, 4½ days grub'ng	5 62
S. Harris, work as per bill	19 50
John Cool, 2½ days grubbing	3 12
W. F. Arnold, surveying road	33 00
A. O. Letvig, cleaning well	30 00
O. H. Peters, 4 days grubbing	5 00
Geo. Olson, 9 days grubbing	11 25
Christ Wiste, work as per bill	12 50
H. O. Jackson, work as per bill	3 00
Knute Kolstad, surveying	1 50
Willie Olson, blacksmithing as per bill	14 05
L. J. Stranahan, work as per bill	9 37
K. O. Gigstad, 1 day surveying	1 50
Ole Brannum, work as per bill	6 25

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. Rapp,
J. L. JOHNSON, President.
Village Recorder.

☐Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something . . . . .

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry: : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER,

SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department. . . .

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Ringing

Noises in the ears, sometimes a roaring, buzzing sound, or snapping like the report of a pistol, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also results from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The Best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, cure headache. 25c.

She'll Never Earn the Title.

"I don't mind riding the bicycle and wearing the costume, but I should hate to be called a wheelwoman."

"Don't worry, dear. Nobody will ever call you that."—Detroit Free Press.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe.

A Paris shoe dealer is the authority for the statement that Madrid ladies have the smallest feet, while the women of Sweden have the most shapely ones.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

The robin and the wren are the only birds that sing all the year. All the other birds have periodical fits of silence.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Maids of honor may retain their posts in the royal household of England so long as they remain unmarried. There is no fixed age at which they are obliged to retire.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Governesses in families of the nobility seldom, if ever, dine with the heads of the establishment. They take their meals alone or with younger members.

Mind Reading.

You can read a happy mind in a happy countenance without much penetration. This is the sort of countenance that the quondam bilious sufferer or dyspeptic relieved by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters wears. You will meet many such. The great stomachic and alterative also provides happiness for the malarious, the rheumatic, the weak, and those troubled with inaction of the kidneys and bladder.

The word "language" comes from the Latin "lingua," the tongue.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

America has over 5,000 islands round its coasts.

ARE YOU FAT!

Stout people are in danger of Death from Apoplexy, Heart Disease, Kidney and Liver Afflictions.

A Fat Indian has never been known. How they keep Thin and Well.

ANY one enjoying good health cannot realize the terrible agony experienced by their more corpulent brothers. This accumulation of fat means a terrible exertion on the muscles already weakened by improper nourishment, shortness of breath, susceptibility to sun stroke, and danger of a sudden collapse. Fat is undoubtedly a disease caused by improper nutrition; the food being absorbed into the system and forming unhealthy fats instead of pure flesh tissue. This disease can be cured and the terrible results of it can be removed by remedying this defect. There is probably no medicine known so efficient for such troubles as the famous Kickapoo Indian Sagwa. The Indian owes his perfect physique to the continual use of this preparation. He is the embodiment of perfect health—lithe, muscular, graceful and sound in every particular. Sufferers from corpulency should give this remedy of nature's a trial. Remember it has been used for hundreds of years by the Indians; it is not an experiment, but a thoroughly tested, carefully compounded medicine, made from roots, herbs, barks and gums of their own gathering. Above all it contains no poisonous ingredients or mineral substances of any kind. A single trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful merit, as all distressing symptoms will cease after a few doses. For sale by all druggists, $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5.

Sunart "Vici" CYCLE CAMERAS

The latest improvements in "CYCLE" CAMERAS. ◆ ◆ ◆

"VENI" "VIDI" "VICI" Folding Cameras, Magazine Cameras, Tripods and Photographic Materials.

First-class double Combination Lenses guaranteed. Latest Safety Shutters, Pneumatic Release Iris Diaphragm. 4x5, 5x7, 6½x8½, 8x10.

When in St. Paul ask to see the "Cycle Vici." ZIMMERMAN BROS., 375 Minnesota St. St. Paul, Minn.

Send 2-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue.

Sunart Photo Co., Rochester, N. Y., U. S. A.

Odd Stories of Life.

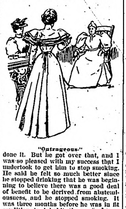
It is her opinion at the present time that no reform movement is fully-equipped unless it has brakes on it.

"You see," she explained, "I tried to reform George."

"Of course," said the engaged girl, "that's what you married him for, wasn't it?"

"Well, not entirely," answered the young married woman, hesitatingly.

"And, of course, you didn't succeed," put in the older married woman; "I did—at least, I got him started, and now there's no stopping him. You see, I got him to stop drinking first. He didn't drink much, anyway; but I got him to stop it entirely, and for a few weeks he was so cross and irritable that I almost regretted that I'd done it. But he got over that, and I was so pleased with my success that I undertook to get him to stop smoking. He said he felt so much better since he stopped drinking that he was beginning to believe there was a good deal of benefit to be derived from abstemiousness, and he stopped smoking. It was three months before he was in fit condition to inhabit the same house with a human being and two or three times I begged him, for heaven's sake, to go to smoking again, but he would not."



"Outrageous."

"You ought to be gratified to think that you have so much influence with him," said the engaged girl.

"It must be very gratifying to have a husband who neither smokes nor drinks," said the older married woman. "There are not very many of them."

"It's a good thing," returned the young woman, bitterly.

"Good thing!" exclaimed both the others.

"Yes, a good thing," repeated the young married woman, with emphasis. "A reform movement that you can't stop when you want to is one of the most annoying and disagreeable things that it is possible to have around the house. My husband thinks he feels so much better that he has become a crank. He doesn't believe in pepper or condiments of any description any more, and has instructed me to dispense with them entirely in the house."

"Outrageous!"

"He considers coffee injurious, and won't have it on the table, and he insists that candy will drive any woman to an early grave."

"Preposterous!"

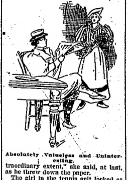
"Isn't it? But there doesn't seem to be any help for it. He's says that now he's started he's going to reform the household from top to bottom."

"That's the way with men, my dear. You marry one to reform him, and he thinks you have married him to be reformed," and the older married woman looked very wise, while the engaged girl looked in the direction of a box of bon-bons on the table and began to think that, possibly, she would be better not to try to reform Harry at all.

Not Up to Date.

The girl in bloomers was thoroughly disgusted. She had devoted herself to a woman's magazine for a matter of half an hour or so, and had tried the woman's page of a daily newspaper.

"It seems an outrage that they should impose upon us to such an extraordinary extent," she said, at last, as he threw down the paper.



Absolutely Valueless and Uninteresting.

The girl in the tennis suit looked at her inquiringly.

"They make such a pretense of getting up news especially for us," exclaimed the girl in bloomers, "and invariably fail so miserably."

"Why, the fashion page—" began the girl in the tennis suit, by way of protest.

"Absolutely valueless and uninteresting," broke in the girl in bloomers. "Nothing but gowns, gowns, gowns and lingerie and lace, and not one word about—er—er—what really interests us now. Why, half the things I wear are not mentioned on woman's pages or in woman's magazines."—Chicago Evening Post.

"Oh, well," explained the girl in the tennis suit, apologetically, "you must not forget that it is only recently that you began to—er—wear 'em."

"But it is not entirely a matter of bifurcation, either," protested the girl in bloomers. "There is very little about yachting caps, golf caps, fedora hats, toe-clips, handle bars, road records, diamond frames, centuries, cigarettes, knee action, neckties and all the other things that a girl is naturally interested in. We have to turn to a part of the paper devoted to men to find anything about any of these things."

"Oh, that is natural just now. You see—"

"There's no politics on that page, either," interrupted the girl in bloomers. "You cannot find out how to register or in what colors the ballots will be printed or where the speeches are being made or anything else that is interesting. Then there isn't any golf news or tennis news or anything of that sort—nothing but a lot of stuff about homes and gowns and husbands and other trash that no one cares anything about. What is needed is a woman's page that is devoted to matters that women are really interested in; to fashions that they will wear; to bicycle schools instead of kindergartens. You see, we've been moving too fast for these editors—at least some of us have."

Early Morning Tragedy.

Ting-a-ling-ling-ling! B-z-z-z! Ting-a-ling!

"Confound that alarm clock!" he exclaimed as he turned over in bed. "There is never a morning that I don't regret that I ever permitted it to come into the house."

"Permitted it," repeated his wife in a drowsy way, as if she were too sleepy to enter a vigorous protest, and yet felt that she ought not to let such a statement go unchallenged. "You bought it yourself. No one else wanted such a clanging thing in the house."

"Well, it's the only thing in the house that I can rely upon," he retorted. "I admit that I regret it when it gets after me in the morning sometimes, but when I get thoroughly waked up I realize its value. There isn't anything else in the house that isn't more or less affected by the weather. If it isn't just as light as you think it ought to be you turn over and go to sleep again. If the sun stayed behind a cloud and I didn't have this alarm clock the chances are I would sleep until noon. You have to see just so much light shining in the window or you won't believe it's time to get up, and that is where the alarm clock comes in. You knew I wanted to get up early this morning, but I will bet I wouldn't be awake now if it had been left to you."

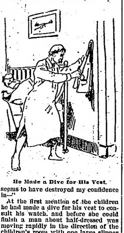
"That is right," she admitted. "I would not have waked you up at this time. What time is it, anyway?"

"Six o'clock," he answered promptly. "That was the time I set the alarm clock for."

"I did not ask you about the alarm clock," she retorted, as she made herself as comfortable as possible under the bedclothes while he got up and began to dress. "I asked you what time it was. It is dark enough to be midnight."

"You heard the clock go off, didn't you?" he asked sarcastically. "Are you banking a combination of woman's intuition and a cloudy morning against the unequivocal assertion made by that clock?"

"Oh, I suppose the clock's all right," she answered carelessly, as if it were a matter of small importance anyway, "but I would have more confidence in it this morning if I hadn't seen the children playing with it last night after you had set it. Somehow that seems to have destroyed my confidence in—"



He Made a Dive for His Vest.

At the first mention of the children he had made a dive for his vest to consult his watch, and before she could finish a man about half-dressed was moving rapidly in the direction of the children's room with one large slipper held aloof in his right hand.

The sounds that preceded from the children's room a moment thereafter awakened all the neighbors and set them to guessing what the children have done to deserve such severe punishment at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Why Not?

He had some thoughts of proposing.

It was natural that his thoughts should take some such course, for her fortune was figured at something over a million, while his was figured at something less than $9.35 just at that moment, although he probably would not have admitted it.

Then it was that the subject of conversation drifted round to engagement rings, and he mentioned that in some countries men wore them.

"And the strange feature of it all is," he said, "that the girls provide them."

"Yes?" she returned interrogatively.

"Oh, yes," he replied promptly. "I can show you extracts from books to prove it, in addition to referring you to people who know all about it themselves."

"What of it?" she asked somewhat coldly.

He was a trifle staggered by both the manner and the question, but he endeavored to make the best of it.

"Oh, nothing much," he answered; "only it does not seem exactly natural."

"Most natural thing in the world," she asserted.

"Aw, now, you don't really think that is exactly the proper thing, do you?" he asked, rather disconcerted.

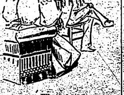
"Why not?"

He made a hasty effort to collect his thoughts, and then suggested that it seemed to be expecting too much of a girl.

"Such things seem to come more more gracefully from the men," he said.

"Perhaps you are right," she answered, "but it's a mere trifle anyway, and I suppose we might as well get used to it. The bride has to furnish practically everything else for the modern fashionable wedding, including a dowry that is big enough for two, with additions later. She might as well furnish the ring, too."

He didn't propose—not just then. He deemed it wise to give the matter further thought.



What of It?

EXPERIENCES WITH BURGLARS.

Tragic Story and Another With a Humorous Side.

Burglar stories are rife nowadays. There are a hundred experiences told of burglars or would-be burglars for every robbery, and those are numerous. One of these is a true story and of a double tragedy. It is a story of the rash use of firearms. It was a young man who discovered the burglar. He heard first a slight noise outside the house, was sure he heard steps, and, looking out, saw a light. He aimed at the light as he took his revolver and fired. There was no further noise and he went to sleep, content that he had frightened away the burglar if there had been one. In the morning it was found that his revolver had done good execution. A man, heavily armed and well supplied with burglar's tools, was found dead outside the house door. It was a great shock to the man who had killed him. He had killed a human being in cold blood, and he was inconsolable. He was a fine young fellow, with a life of promise before him. It was in vain that his friends endeavored to console him by saying that the man was evidently desperate and other lives might have been taken if he had been allowed to carry out his plans. But the murderer, as he considered himself, was not to be comforted. He became the victim of settled melancholy, and before the end of a year he had succumbed to his feelings.

Another story has a comic side. She was a nice old lady, who never missed an opportunity to laud the virtues of her departed spouse. A friend, seeing a heavy cane standing at the head of her bed one day, remarked upon it: "Yes," said the widow, "James always kept it there in case of burglars. James was very brave. Why, I remember one night we heard a noise in the house, and we thought burglars might be around. James got up"—the visitors listened, cold chills in anticipation of a thrilling story, creeping up and down the spine—"James got up," went on the story teller, "and slammed our bedroom door as hard as he could and locked it."—New York Times.

THE STRUGGLING YOUNG AUTHOR.

He Expresses Some Views Concerning the Reading of Manuscripts.

"I have heard people say" said the struggling young author, "that they thought what manuscripts they had sent to the publisher had been returned to them unread. I think they must be mistaken about this. My own impression is that the manuscripts are always read; and I say this after an unbroken experience of manuscripts returned. It would be the height of folly, after the publisher had spent a lot of money for wading through the great mass of stuff submitted, in the hope of finding gems—it would be the height of folly not to winnow the stuff carefully. I believe the work is carefully and faithfully done.

"Oh, I dare say that after a reader had read about forty successive manuscripts from the same contributor, not one of them revealing the faintest gleam of humor or the slightest scintilla of common sense, I dare say he might, when he came to the forty-first manuscript, now and then skip a dot over one of the i's, or, possibly, not stop to scan closely the cross on every t; but what I mean to say is he'd read it fairly, no doubt of that.

"No, sir; the things are read; I'm sure of that; but are they read, appreciatively?

"A—ah! That's the question!"—New York Sun.

The Telegraph of the Desert.

"Yes," said Joseph Donner, superintendent of telegraph for the Southern Pacific railroad, "telegraph poles along the line have a hard time. Particularly is this so out West, where the poles are costly and stations are few and far between. Now, out in the Arizona desert the poles are played the deuce with generally. There is a sort of woodpecker that picks the posts absolutely to pieces, thinking there may be insects inside of the wood. They hear the humming and haven't sense enough to know what causes it. Then near the hills the black bears imagine that each pole contains a swarm of bees and they climb to the top and chew the glass insulators to pieces, but the sandstorms are the things that create the most havoc. When the wind blows strongly the sand is drifted at a rapid rate, and the grains cut away the wood at a fearful rate. It was a common thing to have an oak pole worn to a shaving in a day's time, while I have seen poles just ground to the surface of the earth during a single storm. Things got so bad out there that the company decided to substitute steel poles for the oak and cedar, but that didn't remedy the evil at all. The sand just wore away the metal on each side of the pole until the center was as sharp as a razor, and all the Indians in the country used to shave themselves on the edge. We finally managed to fix things. We just painted the poles with soft pitch. The pitch caught the sand, and now every pole is about two feet thick and solid as a rock."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

For Slender Women.

Columns of conflicting advice have been written from time to time for the benefit of women who wish to get thin, and, as it is not enough for the woman who desires to put on a little extra flesh to draw her conclusions from the reverse side of the fleshy woman's instructions, she is coming in for a goodly share of counsel, too, which is all excellent in a way, but the regime of exercise and diet which is advised for perfect development from the standard of too much or too little flesh is usually an absorbing process which leaves very little time for other things, and the average woman soon wearies of it if she has the courage to attempt it at all. The simple recipe, "Eat vegetables and plenty of butter, drink milk, sweet wine and stout, take cod-liver oil, go to bed early, sleep a little during each day, and laugh as much as possible," will often help the thin woman immensely. Cream may be substituted for the cod-liver oil if preferred.—Detroit Free Press.

A Variation in History.

"When my wife and I were in Richmond," says the traveler, "we had for a driver on many of our excursions an old colored man who was a character. He had been the body servant of a rebel general at the time of the war, and what he did not know about the rebel army and its history he imagined. He was remarkably accurate in most things. We were talking of visiting Powhatan, and asked George about it more to hear what he would say than anything else. 'Jus' de grabes der, sar,' answered George. 'De grabes of Pocahonta and Cap'n John Smith.' 'Who were they?' I asked. 'Rebel generals, sar,' said George. 'Pocahonta, he sabed de life of Cap'n Smith. Der bo- buried der, and dey do say, sar, da der stones do get bigger and bigger [illegible]

ECZEMA.

One Physician Pronounced It Ring-Worm and Prescribed for That Ailment, But the Patient Used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and Was Cured.

From the Free Press, Corning, Iowa.

"I was afflicted with what physicians assured me was eczema and began doctoring for that disease about two years ago," said Mrs. Eva L. Evans, of Harris, Iowa, to a reporter a few days ago. "The first doctor I consulted did me no good at all. He pronounced the disease ring-worm and gave me remedies for that, but soon found out his error.

"I then tried another physician, with some better success but did not succeed in obtaining permanent relief. On the contrary, I got worse and my face and body broke out badly and a severe itching sensation constantly accompanied it. This physician pronounced the malady eczema and I believe now that his diagnosis was correct. My husband saw an article on Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the county papers and at his solicitation I tried them.

"To make a long story short, I took twelve boxes of this wonderful remedy and am now entirely relieved. I have not been troubled with the least sign of this disease since August, 1895. I had been taking the pills since June of that year. I am glad to testify to the worth of this excellent remedy. It not only cured me, but my father tried it for la grippe and was materially benefited—in fact he insists it relieved him at once.

(Signed.) MRS. EVA L. EVANS.

To confirm this statement beyond all doubt, Mrs. Evans signed the foregoing.

STATE OF IOWA, COUNTY OF ADAMS.—ss.

Signed this 17th day of March, 1896, before me.

W. E. HELLEN, Notary Public.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are now given to the public as an unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves. The pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

A Matter of Disposition.

"My wife was rather worried when I left her this morning."

"What was the trouble?"

"Well, she had been worrying about something or other last night, and this morning she couldn't remember what it was."—Puck.

Some Polynesian languages have only seven consonants.

DISEASE DOES NOT STAND STILL.

Every one is either growing better or worse.

How is it with you?

You are suffering from

KIDNEY, LIVER or URINARY TROUBLES.

Have tried doctors and medicine without avail, and have become disgusted.

DON'T GIVE UP!

Warner's Safe Cure

WILL CURE YOU.

Thousands now well, but once like you, say so. Give an honest medicine an honest chance.

Large bottle or new style smaller one at your druggist's. Write for free treatment blank to-day. Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

William L. Bates, Grafton, N. D., manifold sales book; Ole Clausson, Nassau, Minn., fracture apparatus; Oliver Crosby, St. Paul, Minn., sectional derrick; Herbert H. Freeman, Pierre, S. D., safe alarm; Frank A. Harvey, Minneapolis, Minn., boxing glove; Daniel F. Humphreys, Milton, N. D., anti-freezing pump attachment; George Mehl, St. Paul, Minn., sash fastener; Daniel N. Nester, St. Paul, Minn., pneumatic stacker; Arthur E. Pratt, Andover, S. D., feeder for threshing machines; George A. Reichard, Minneapolis, Minn., condenser; Hans A. Skreberg, Milan., bag holder;

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

An Early Graduation.

"Is your daughter still taking music lessons?"

"On the pianny, do you mane?"

"Yes."

"Lord love ye, no. She only took sivin lessons. Sure, she's tachin' now!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY, & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

The gipsies preserve their family color in every part of Europe, and the Hebrews retain the same complexion, though dispersed for 2,000 years over the world.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklets and sample mailed free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Some very interesting statistics have been published which show that Great Britain's expenditure per head on her navy is nearly double that of any other nation.

A Chance for Work.

Persons who buy forty acres of land at from $5 to $8 an acre will be given work at $1.50 a day so as to provide the necessaries of life. Land is located in Mason county, Washington, and will produce fruits and all staple crops. Land also for sale at low prices and easy terms on Whidby island, Washington. One free railway ticket to each purchaser of forty acres. Address R. E. Werkman, Grand Central hotel, St. Paul, Minn.

Generally.

Nannette—How can you tell a person that is insane from one who is merely eccentric?

Cyrille—Consult Bradstreet. Insanity ends and eccentricity begins at one million.—Up-to-date.

I never used to quick a cure as Piso's Cure for Consumption.—J. B. Palmer, Box 1171, Seattle, Wash., Nov. 25, 1895.

As It Ought to Be.

First Pugilist—How's business with you?

Second Pugilist—Well, it's sluggish.—Puck.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

The Sanskrit language is said to have about 500 root words.

FARMERS! A NEW WAY TO SHIP YOUR GRAIN.

INSTEAD of selling your grain at home send it to us and save middleman's profit. We have Saved Other Farmers Thousands of Dollars. Why don't YOU try it? Address for full particulars,

H·H·CARR & CO. 94 Board of Trade, CHICAGO.

"The Old Soldier's Favorite."

Battle Ax PLUG

A little bit of pension goes a long way if you chew "Battle Ax." The biggest piece of really high-grade tobacco ever sold for 5 cents; almost twice as large as the other fellow's inferior brand.

A Little Child With a Little Cold.

That's all! What of it?

Little colds when neglected grow to large diseases and

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral CURES COLDS.

In Doubt.

She—Do you intend to go abroad on your wedding trip when you get married?

He—I do, if I marry the right girl.—Puck.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 800-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

The Eternal Feminine.

"Your Majesty," said the savage warrior, "the Amazons refuse to march in front of the regular troops."

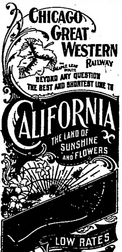
Clearly nothing else was to be expected, since the new uniforms of the Amazons fitted atrociously in the back.—New York Press.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
MAPLE LEAF ROUTE
BEYOND ANY QUESTION THE BEST AND SHORTEST LINE TO CALIFORNIA
THE LAND OF SUNSHINE AND FLOWERS
LOW RATES
FAST TIME

A Through Pullman Tourist Sleeper LEAVES Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday —FOR— LOS ANGELES via the Maple Leaf and Santa Fe Routes, receiving passengers at all points between Minneapolis and Kansas City, arriving in Los Angeles at noon the following Saturday. These cars are new and complete in every respect, supplied with curtains, pillows, bedding and all modern conveniences, and are in charge of a competent colored porter.

For full particulars as to rates and any other information desired, apply to any agent of the

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN RY. or write to

F. H. HUNTER, Traveling Passenger Agent, Youngerman Block, Des Moines, Iowa.

F. H. LORD, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent, Quincy Building, Chicago, Ill.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Bought and sold for future delivery, 1c to 5c per bu. deposit. Samples make a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited. MASON BROS., 144 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill. MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

STORM SASH. City Sash & Door Co. Minneapolis, Minn.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI ST.HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 11, 1896. NUMBER 15.

McKINLEY IT IS

Republican Candidates for President and Vice President Are Elected.

Latest Returns From the Entire Country Give Him 265 Electoral Votes.

Illinois Gives a Republican Majority of Over 100,000.

The Republican Majority in New York Will Reach 300,000.

Several of the States Are Still in Doubt, the Returns Being Slow.

The returns from the entire country, although incomplete in some startes, are of a nature to insure the election of McKinley. A sufficient number of states have declared for the Republican party to make certain 265 votes in the electoral college for its leader. The states where votes are sure for him are as follows:

California	9
Connecticut	6
Delaware	3
Illinois	24
Indiana	15
Iowa	13
Maine	6
Maryland	8
Massachusetts	15
Michigan	14
Minnesota	9
New Hampshire	4
New Jersey	10
New York	36
North Dakota	3
Ohio	23
Oregon	3
Pennsylvania	32
Rhode Island	4
South Dakota	4
Vermont	4
West Virginia	8
Wisconsin	12
	265

The returns show some interesting features and in some respects have been a surprise to the leaders of both political parties.

ARKANSAS.

The State Goes for Bryan by About 25,000.

The latest returns from all parts of the state indicate the success of the Democratic ticket by a majority of about 25,000.

The Democrats claim the election of the entire congressional ticket.

ALABAMA.

Chairman of State Democratic Committee Claims 40,000 Majority.

The following was given to the Associated Press by Chairman Vaughan: "There is strong evidence of a repetition of frauds in this state, but of a more aggravating nature than ever known before. Returns are being held back and no information can be obtained from Democratic election managers. The state is unquestionably very close, but I should not be surprised if the Democrats brought up the usual fraudulent majority. We have elected at least five congressmen on the fusion ticket.

(Signed.) "—William Vaughan,
"Chairman Republican State Committee."

Gen. Shelly, chairman of the state Democratic committee, declined to give a statement over his signature, but dictated the following:

"Indications now are that the state will give a majority for Bryan and Sewall of 40,000; it may go to 50,000. I believe we will send a solid Democratic delegation to congress."

CONNECTICUT.

Incomplete Returns Indicate That McKinley Carries State by 40,000.

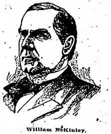
The latest returns received indicate that the state has gone Republican by at least 40,000. Large Republican gains are reported from all parts of the state. The city of Hartford went Republican for the first time.

COLORADO.

Free Silver Prevails and Senator Teller Is Assured of Re-election.

Free silver prevails and Senator Teller is assured of re-election.

The result on state officers is still in doubt. Bryan's plurality will reach 110,000 in the state, and Congressman Shafroth, Silver Republican, and Bell, Populist, are re-elected by 50,000 to 60,000 each. The re-election of Senator Teller is assured in any event, all parties except the McKinley Republicans having endorsed him.



William McKinley.

CALIFORNIA.

Republicans Claim the State by a Small Margin.

With 225,575 votes counted McKinley and Hobart have about 7,200 majority in California. While the figures yet to be heard from may reduce these slightly, the Republican majority will not be less than 6,000, giving the Bryan ticket the benefit of the doubt wherever it seems reasonable.

DELAWARE.

The Plurality Is Estimated at 2,000 for McKinley.

McKinley's estimated plurality in Delaware is 2,000. Tunnell (Dem.) for governor has 2,800 plurality, and Handy (Dem) for congress about the same. The legislature is in doubt. J. Edward Addicks carried Kent county, but both parties claim the Sussex legislative ticket. If Addicks has Sussex he will control the legislature and be elected to the United States senate. The constitutional convention will be Republican by a small majority.

FLORIDA.

Democrats Carry the State by About 10,000.

The returns from all parts of the state are very slow in coming in. From the incomplete returns already received it is safe to say that Bryan will receive a plurality of about 10,000. Compared with the state election in October this shows a slight Democratic loss.

GEORGIA.

The Democrats Carry the State by a Good Majority.

A. E. Buck, chairman of the state central committee of Georgia, wires to the Associated Press from Atlanta as follows: "Fraud and violence prevail in portions of the state. Returns slowly coming in. Democratic majority in Georgia largely reduced. May not exceed 10,000."

Returns from various districts indicate election of solid Democratic congressional delegation, with possible exception of First district.

Late returns on national ticket place Bryan's majority at 35,000.

IDAHO.

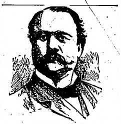
Claimed for Bryan at a Ratio of Five to One.

Bryan's majority in the state will probably reach 13,000. Gunn (fusion) is elected to congress over Borah (silver Rep.). It looks as though the entire Democratic-Populist state ticket is elected. The legislature is overwhelmingly Democratic-Populist.

ILLINOIS.

McKinley Receives a Plurality of 138,718.

Returns from over the State of Illinois indicate that McKinley has made big gains in proportion throughout the counties and towns as he has in Chicago. Heading to justify the claim of the state committee that the state has gone 100,000 Republican. If the gains which are already reported hold up in the districts yet to be heard from the majority, it is said, will exceed that figure. In the dispatches comparing the votes of Tanner and McKinley the former has in most instances run slightly behind the latter. The figures, however, plainly show that Tanner's loss was no gain for Altgeld. Forman was the gainer. Comparisons made with the vote cast for Harrison in 1892 show very heavy gains in nearly every instance over the Republican vote cast that year. At headquarters considerable surprise was occasioned over McKinley's vote in a number of counties which were expected to give Bryan majorities, but which instead have gone for the Republican candidate.



Garret A. Hobart.

Complete unofficial returns give McKinley a plurality in Cook county of 67,538; outside of Cook county, 71,180, making his total plurality in the state 138,718. Tanner's plurality over Altgeld is estimated at 112,845.

INDIANA.

Unofficial Returns Give McKinley a Small Plurality.

Indiana's fifteen electoral votes will go to McKinley and Hobart by a plurality close to 20,000. Unofficial returns received from all the counties by the Republican state committee place the plurality at 20,123. The official figures will not materially change this footing. The Republicans elected congressmen in the First, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Tenth, Eleventh and Thirteenth districts. The Democrats elected in the Second, Third, Fourth and Twelfth. Unless the official figures change the figures at hand the legislature will be Republican on joint ballot.

Chairman Parks Martin, of the Democrat state committee, said: "On the face of the returns the Republicans have carried the state by from 12,000 to 15,000."

IOWA.

Over 60,000 Plurality Stacked Up for McKinley.

The returns by counties in Iowa have been completed. The total vote in the state is in excess of 510,000 votes, estimating the Prohibition and Palmer votes together at only 5,000. Of these 286,751 were cast for William McKinley and 219,118 for William J. Bryan, giving McKinley a plurality of 67,633. This is not only the largest vote ever cast in the state, but is also the largest Republican majority in Iowa, Garfield's majority having been 45,000.

KENTUCKY.

Both Republicans and Democrats Claim the State.

The result in Kentucky is still in doubt. The revision of figures in some districts has brought the majority for either side down to a very small margin. The Democrats claim the state for Bryan by 1,500 to 2,000, while the Republicans claim it for McKinley by 500. The vote is so close that the official count will be necessary to determine the result.

KANSAS.

Indications Are That Bryan Has Carried the State.

Sufficient returns are in to show that Kansas cannot be counted for McKinley. The state's hardest fought political battle has resulted in a fusion victory for president and so close a vote for state candidates that only an official count can determine whether the Republican or fusion candidates for state officers are elected. Leaders in both parties are now claiming but small majorities, and the majority either way will be within a thousand votes. The Republicans claim 2,000 and the Populists 4,000. The Bryan electors have carried the state by approximately 4,000 majority.

LOUISIANA.

The Democrats Make a Clean Sweep of the State.

Returns coming in slowly, but the indications are that the Democrats have made a clean sweep, electing the congressional delegation and that Bryan has carried the state by not less than 30,000 majority.

MAINE.

Republican Plurality Estimated at 40,000.

The election in Maine proved one of the quietest in the state's history. Generally the returns showed a falling off in the Democratic vote and a slight increase in the Republican vote, which accounts, in a great measure, for a heavy Republican plurality, estimated at 40,000. The vote cast for Palmer and Buckner was not as heavy as anticipated.

McKinley led Sewall by 101 votes in the latter's own ward and 732 in the city.

Candidate Sewall was interviewed by an Associated Press representative and said: "We will be under government controlled by syndicates for the next four years, as well as by injunction. Mr. Bryan received 140 electoral votes, which shows that there are some honest men in the country."

MARYLAND.

Unofficial Returns Give McKinley 32,291 Plurality.

Chairman Talbot, of the Democratic state central committee, concedes Maryland to the Republicans, but would give no figures.

Senator Gordon L. Wellington, chairman of the state central committee of Maryland, wired to the Associated Press as follows: "McKinley carries Baltimore by at least 20,000 majority; the Democrats concede 15,000; the state will give 29,750."

About five Republican congressmen have been surely elected.

Maryland complete, unofficial, gives McKinley 32,291 plurality. In 1892 Cleveland's plurality was 21,130, showing a Republican gain of 53,421.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Republicans Carry Every City and Town in the State.

Complete returns from Massachusetts give McKinley plurality of 163,710. Wolcott's plurality for governor is 150,766. The vote upon the question of biennial elections shows a majority against the proposed change. The Republican candidates for president and governor have carried every city and town for the first time in the history of the state.

The Republicans elected eleven congressmen, the Democrats one and one is still in doubt.

MICHIGAN.

Pingree Makes a Remarkable Run for Governor.

With fairly complete returns Pingree's plurality estimated at about 70,000, and McKinley's about 15,000 less. The congressional delegation stands ten Republicans and two fusionists.

MONTANA.

The Boy Orator of the Platte Carries the State by 15,000.

Returns from this state will be necessarily slow in coming in at the present writing. Returns have been received from Helena and Butte which indicate Bryan's majority to be at least 15,000.

Seventy-seven precincts give McKinley, 2,491; Bryan, 13,449. Six to one in favor of Bryan. Fusion state ticket and Hartman man for congress practically even. Hartman, silver Republican, is elected to congress by 8,000 to 10,000 over Goddard, regular Republican. Nearly the entire Democratic-Populist fusion state ticket is elected.

MISSOURI.

The Republicans Concede the State to Bryan.

Secretary Thomas B. Love, of the Democratic state central committee, says: "Bryan's majority in Missouri will be 60,000. The entire Democratic state ticket is elected by an average plurality of 40,000. We have elected twelve out of fifteen congressmen and both branches of the legislature by good majorities."

The complete presidential vote in St. Louis is: Bryan, 50,276; McKinley, 65,845; Levering, 200; Palmer, 127; Bentley, 24. McKinley's plurality, 15,569.

Complete returns as to the state have not yet been received, but the Republicans concede the state to Bryan.

MISSISSIPPI.

The Democrats Carry the State by 50,000.

Mississippi gives Bryan a majority of 50,000. The vote for Watson will not exceed 10,000. The seven Democratic candidates for congress are elected by majorities ranging from 1,000 to 5,000.

NEVADA.

Complete Returns Will Not Be Received for Several Days.

It will be impossible to give complete returns from Nevada for several days, but indications are that Bryan's plurality will reach 2,000.

NEBRASKA.

Nebraska Gives Bryan a Plurality, but It Is Small.

Complete returns from forty-four out of the ninety-three counties of the state received at Populist state headquarters give Bryan 7,036 majority and Holcomb (fusion) for governor 10,645. It is estimated from these figures that Bryan's majority in the state will be about 13,000 and Holcomb's about 18,000. Republican Chairman Post claims that Bryan's majority in the state will not exceed 5,000.

Four silver congressmen have been elected and two Republicans.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Returns Are Slow, but Indicate a Republican Plurality.

New Hampshire returns came in very slowly on account of the number of names on the ticket, but each precinct reported showed a gain for McKinley and indicated McKinley's plurality to be 30,000. The Palmer and Buckner ballot was very light. Ramsdell, for governor, will have the largest plurality ever given a Republican governor in New Hampshire.

NEW JERSEY.

Democrats Concede the State to the Republicans.

Complete returns give McKinley and Hobart 85,000 plurality in New Jersey. The next legislature will stand: Senate—Republicans, 18; Democrats, 3. House—Republicans, 56; Democrats, 4.

Seven of the eight Republican candidates for congress appear to be elected.

NEW YORK.

Latest Returns Place McKinley's Plurality at 254,879.

Never in the history of national elections has there been such a quiet and orderly election as that which marked the close of a heated and remarkable campaign conducted in this state. In many districts the registered vote was polled by 1 o'clock and clerks and watchers sat idly by. Hardly had the polls closed when the results from small districts began to come in.

McKinley and Hobart carried New York city. When results were so far known as to announce that Black (Rep.), candidate for governor, had run behind his electoral ticket about 9,000, which indicates his having about one-half the plurality given McKinley, expressions of surprise could be heard. But such a result was naturally to be expected on account of the many Democrats voting the Republican national ticket and refusing to vote the state ticket. Still more comment was made on the vote for Woodruff, for lieutenant governor, which pointed to his having about 3,000 plurality in general results in the city was known early.

McKinley's plurality over Bryan in New York city is 16,590.

A complete complexion of the vote of New York State shows that McKinley's plurality is 250,879 and something like 25,000 greater than of Black for governor. In the congressional delegation the Republicans, counting J. J. Belden, who ran as an independent, number 29 to 5 Democrats, against 28 Republicans and 6 Democrats in the Fifty-fourth congress. The Republican majority in both branches of the legislature is increased.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Bryan Carries the State by a Good Majority.

The presidential ticket in this state has been elected for Bryan by a majority of from 5,000 to 15,000. The returns from counties now in show a close vote; with Bryan electors leading by safe majorities. Many counties are still missing, but it is not believed the votes will change materially the estimate given above, as claimed by the Democrats. It is reported that Republican State Chairman Holton concedes North Carolina to Bryan by 8,000. Russell (Rep.) is elected governor by not less than 12,000 majority. The other Republican-Populist fusion state officers are elected by 40,000, except lieutenant governor, who has a reduced figure.

NORTH DAKOTA.

McKinley Carries the State by a Good Plurality.

Late returns indicate that McKinley has carried the state by at least 5,000, and the entire Republican state ticket is elected by about the same majority. This is one of the surprises of the election as indications were that the state ticket would run 2,000 behind McKinley.

Chairman Kleinogel, of the Democratic state committee, concedes the state to McKinley by 5,000 and the election of the entire Republican state ticket.

Returns on legislative contests are slow in arriving, but indications are that the Republicans will have a large majority on joint ballot, which insures the election of a Republican to succeed Hansbrough in the United States senate.

Burleigh county gives McKinley 400 majority and elects the entire Republican legislative and county ticket.

OHIO.

McKinley Carries His Own State by a Large Majority.

Returns from every county in Ohio give McKinley a plurality of 52,297. The official count will not materially change these figures.

McKinley carried his own ward by the following precinct pluralities: A, 110; B, 51; C, 115; D, 75. Total, 291. This ward gave Cleveland 103.

OREGON.

The State Goes Republican by a Small Majority.

Practically complete returns from all but five remote counties in Oregon give McKinley 391,148; Bryan, 35,992. McKinley's majority, 3,156. Returns from the five remaining counties cannot materially change these figures.

The Republicans have a majority of thirty-six on joint ballot in the legislature.

PENNSYLVANIA.

It Is Not Believed the Official Count Will Change the Figures.

Pennsylvania gives McKinley a plurality of over 300,000, including the two congressmen at large. Pennsylvania elected thirty-three congressmen. According to the latest returns received by the Associated Press the delegation will be divided politically as follows: Republicans, 28; Democrats, 2. The same as in the last congress.

Complete returns from all but a few of the sixty-seven counties in Pennsylvania give McKinley a plurality of 295,530. It is not believed that the official count will show much variation from these figures.

RHODE ISLAND.

McKinley's Plurality Will Be Over 20,000.

The state has given McKinley an overwhelming majority. The Democrats themselves admit McKinley has a plurality of 20,000. The entire Republican congressional ticket is elected by good majorities.

The complete returns of the state unofficially tabulated show McKinley's plurality to be 23,750.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

It May Take Official Count to Determine the Result.

Returns are still incomplete and are coming in very slowly. Apparently South Dakota is for McKinley by 600 or 700. The Populists have conceded the state to McKinley by a slight majority. The Populists have 71 of the 126 members of the legislature.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Indications Are That the Democrats Have Been Successful.

Reports from all parts of South Carolina show that the eDmocratic presidential, congressional, state and county tickets have been successful by overwhelming majorities.

Later returns place the Democratic plurality at between 45,000 and 50,000.

TENNESSEE.

The State Is Claimed for Bryan by 20,000.

Samuel B. Williamson, secretary of the state Democratic committee, says: "From all reports received I feel certain that this state is safely Democratic. Bryan will receive not less than 25,000 majority. Taylor, for governor, is sure. Eight out of ten congressmen are Democratic."

Full returns from sixty out of ninety-six counties show that Bryan has carried the state by about 20,000; also a Democratic gain in the gubernatorial vote of 3,500. Many of the counties to be heard from are Republican and Taylor, Democrat, for governor, will have a reduced majority, perhaps not exceeding 5,000, and may run down lower. The legislature, which is Democratic, has one negro member. The Democrats claim seven congressmen. Republicans claim the official count will be required to decide between Taylor and Tillman, candidates for governor.

TEXAS.

The Republicans Are Claiming the State.

Bryan's majority in Texas will be 75,000; Democratic state ticket will run 50,000 behind Bryan.

The Galveston News concedes the election of Bryan and Sewall electors; also the election of Culberson, silver Democrat, for governor.

Chairman Green, of the Republican committee, says: "We will carry Texas sure by 20,000. We are making big gains everywhere. Our returns are reliable."

UTAH.

The Mormons Are Slow in Making Returns.

It will be late to-morrow before the count can be completed. Indications now are that Bryan has carried the state by at least 10,000 majority. The legislature, which will elect a United States senator, is still claimed by both parties.

The chairman of the Democratic state committee claims King (Dem.) for congress is elected by 3,000 majority.

VERMONT.

Returns Indicate a Safe Republican Plurality.

Returns from the state are being completed very slowly. As near as can be calculated Republican plurality will be about 25,000.

VIRGINIA.

Bryan Carries the State by 20,000 Plurality.

From the full returns of the vote of the state it appears that the Democrats have nearly 20,000 plurality in Virginia on the electoral ticket.

The Democrats will probably have eight out of ten congressmen. Culpepper county, in which Mr. Bryan's father was born and where the Democratic candidate often visited, was carried by the Democrats by 400 majority, a big gain.

WASHINGTON.

Bryan Takes the State by a Good Plurality.

Partial returns from all but four counties in the state show that Bryan electors have carried the state by a plurality close to 10,000, and the entire fusion ticket is elected. The fusionists will control the legislature.

WEST VIRGINIA.

McKinley Will Have a Fair Majority.

From official conservative estimates received from this state McKinley's majority in the state will not fall short of 13,000, and all four Republican candidates for congress are elected by from 2,000 to 4,000 plurality each. Both branches of the legislature are Republican and the Republican state ticket has been elected. Atkinson for governor ran about 1,000 ahead of McKinley in the state.

William M. O. Dawson, chairman of the Republican state committee of West Virginia, wires as follows:

"McKinley's plurality in West Virginia about 13,000."

Andrew Edmunston, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, says: "West Virginia is conceded to McKinley by from 5,000 to 10,000."

WISCONSIN.

Fuller Returns Increase the Republican Plurality.

Returns received indicate that McKinley has carried the state by the largest plurality ever known. The vote on the state ticket falls below that for the presidential, for the reason that the gold Democrats have no state ticket in the field to offset the fusion of the Populists and silver Democrats. Relatively, however, the plurality for the Republican state ticket is the largest in the history of the state.

George W. Peck of Milwaukee wired the Associated Press as follows:

"McKinley has carried Wisconsin by a comfortable majority. Scofield for governor will no doubt pull through very close to McKinley. Both of them and every other Republican I have heard of will have majority enough to be considered safe, say 100,000, or along there somewhere. In other respects we are quite well, thank you. When you are going to have any more elections you should send us an invitation."

The changes made by fuller returns from nearly all the counties of the state and closer estimates on the remaining counties show an increased majority for the Republican presidential ticket in Wisconsin. Almost every county shows increased pluralities on complete returns. The most striking reduction is that in Douglas county, where the estimates of 1,200 are reduced below 700. The Republican gains in the old Democratic counties of the Eastern part of the state are increased by the later returns. The indications are now that the present plurality for the Republican presidential ticket, 95,935, will be increased by the returns yet to come in.

WYOMING.

Bryanites Claim the State by a Plurality of 1,300.

Thirty-nine Wyoming precincts give McKinley 1,400, Bryan 1,462; democratic gain of 284. Incomplete returns from two precincts in Evanston and eight in Laramie give Democratic gain of 623 votes in 1,871 polled. This ratio of gain in entire state will give Bryan 1,300 plurality. Congressional and state tickets run pretty nearly the same as the electoral.

THE NEXT CONGRESS

The Republicans Have a Working Majority.

A table prepared by the Associated Press from the latest returns shows the election of 201 Republicans to the next house, 124 Democrats, 10 Populists, fusionists and independents (a number which perhaps should be slightly increased, as a few of those classified as Democrats have independent leanings). Some districts are in doubt, and no attempt has been made to include Washington and South Dakota and three districts in Texas in the list, owing to the meager and conflicting returns. Washington has probably gone Democratic or independent on congressmen. The list by states is as follows:

	Reps.	Dems	Fusion.	Doubtful.
Alabama	..	7	1	1
Arkansas	..	6	..	..
California	3	2	2	..
Colorado	..	..	2	..
Connecticut	4	..	..	..
Delaware	..	1	..	..
Florida	..	2	..	..
Georgia	..	11	..	..
Idaho	..	..	1	..
Illinois	16	5	..	1
Indiana	8	4	..	..
Iowa	11	..	..	..
Kansas	2	1	5	..
Kentucky	4	7	..	..
Louisiana	1	5	..	..
Maine	4	..	..	..
Maryland	6	..	..	..
Massachusetts	12	1	..	..
Michigan	10	2	..	..
Minnesota	7	..	..	..
Mississippi	..	7	..	..
Missouri	3	12	..	1
Montana	..	..	1	..
Nebraska	2	4	..	..
Nevada	..	..	1	..
New Mexico	..	1	..	..
New Hampshire	2	..	..	..
New Jersey	8	..	..	..
New York	29	5	..	..
North Carolina	2	2	5	..
North Dakota	1	..	..	..
Pennsylvania	27	3	..	..
Ohio	14	5	..	2
Oregon	2	..	..	..
Pennsylvania	27	2	..	..
Rhode Island	2	..	..	..
South Carolina	..	6	..	..
Tennessee	3	6	..	1
Texas	..	10	..	3
Utah	..	..	1	..
Wyoming	..	1	..	..
Vermont	2	..	..	..
Virginia	2	8	..	..
West Virginia	4	..	..	..
Wisconsin	10	..	..	..

South Dakota, returns incomplete. Washington, unreported.

Gen. Lee Returns Home.

New York, Nov. 7. — Gen. Fitzhugh Lee arrived from Havana late last night on the Ward line steamer Vigilancia. Gen. Lee said his health had been excellent from the time he left this country last June. In spite of reports to the contrary he had been treated with military courtesy by Gen. Weyler, whom he described as a gentleman with pleasant manners, but a strict disciplinarian. Gen. Lee declined to talk about the Cuban question, even in general terms.

London, Nov. 7.—A meeting of members of the Bimetallic league has been in session to-day engaged in the work of drawing up a manifesto. Members from Birmingham, Manchester and elsewhere are in attendance. The document is signed by Messrs. A. L. Denham, H. B. Greenfall, Robert Barclay, H. C. Gibbs and H. MacNeil. It claims that McKinley's election is a victory for international bimetallism.

ELECTION RETURNS.

MINNESOTA'S RETURNS NOT YET COMPLETED.

McKinley's Majority Will Reach Over 50,000—Clough's Majority Will Be About 3,500—All of the Seven Congressmen Are Elected—Morris, in the Sixth District, Receives About 1,000 Majority.

The election returns from this state are not yet completed. Beltrami county has not yet been heard from. Ten precincts in St. Louis county have not yet reported. Precincts are also missing in Benton, Carver, Clay, Hubbard, Itasca and Kittson counties, but it is claimed they will not affect the majorities very much either way.

All of the Republican congressmen have been elected. The Sixth district, the only one that was in doubt, gives Morris, the Republican candidate, a little less than 1,000 majority over his opponent, C. A. Towne. The presidential and gubernatorial figures are shown in the following table, the figures in parenthesis opposite the names of the counties indicate the number of precincts yet to be heard from:

Counties.	McKinley.	Bryan.	Clough.	Lind.
Aitkin	552	344	711	441
Anoka	1,488	759	1,546	852
Becker	1,407	955	1,300	1,136
Beltrami	.....	......	....	...
Benton (4)	629	744	662	575
Big Stone	998	707	903	871
Blue Earth	4,053	2,744	3,428	3,310
Brown	1,788	1,291	1,378	1,918
*Carlton	1,150	580	1,250	400
Carver (2)	2,089	1,007	1,450	1,327
Cass	331	271	303	283
Chippewa	1,309	976	1,075	1,350
Chisago	2,345	432	2,245	617
Clay (3)	1,471	1,010	1,348	2,210
Cook	....	....	...	...
Cottonwood	1,217	807	1,136	985
Crow Wing	1,701	1,066	1,550	1,191
Dakota	2,147	2,316	1,746	2,719
Dodge	1,891	928	1,694	1,014
Douglas	1,918	1,329	1,681	1,690
Faribault	3,121	1,124	2,676	1,316
Fillmore	4,180	1,018	3,803	2,135
Freeborn	3,400	1,179	2,962	1,426
Goodhue	5,757	1,425	5,087	1,962
Grant	995	714	797	932
Hennepin	20,767	20,747	21,178	24,477
Houston	2,014	966	1,853	1,154
Hubbard (2)	320	812	287	337
Isanti	1,490	739	1,137	1,002
Itasca (2)	777	648	757	667
*Jackson	1,450	1,200	1,323	1,325
Kanabec	532	244	389	372
Kandiyohi	2,139	1,617	1,783	2,064
Kittson (2)	702	729	406	930
Lac qui Parle	1,020	832	1,230	1,363
Lake	505	320	481	453
Le Sueur	2,213	2,034	2,074	2,230
Lincoln	662	702	624	865
Lyon	1,611	1,312	1,401	1,562
McLeod	1,505	1,653	1,473	1,828
Marshall	1,162	1,202	890	1,540
Martin	1,739	1,327	1,417	1,573
Meeker	2,004	1,538	1,693	1,925
Mille Lacs	951	442	937	413
Morrison	1,960	1,734	1,722	2,007
Mower	3,370	1,407	2,970	1,620
Murray	1,204	1,054	930	1,297
Nicollet	1,814	830	1,524	1,133
*Nobles	1,320	184	1,254	184
Norman	1,382	1,304	1,201	1,370
Olmsted	3,201	1,741	2,925	2,013
Otter Tail	2,767	8,317	3,010	4,816
Pine	1,178	901	1,034	1,455
Pipestone	802	919	786	972
Polk	2,824	5,056	2,540	5,430
Pope	1,773	688	1,527	865
Ramsey	17,448	11,030	15,475	13,290
Redwood	1,810	1,134	1,672	1,338
Renville	2,433	1,948	2,202	2,307
Rice	3,483	2,002	3,104	2,342
Rock	1,191	771	1,038	802
Roseau	270	516	235	519
St. Louis (10)	8,817	6,050	7,748	7,363
Scott	1,123	1,708	1,091	1,731
Sherburne	1,012	517	912	601
Sibley	1,776	1,225	1,519	1,502
Stearns	2,873	4,911	2,078	5,102
Steele	2,040	1,248	1,849	1,448
Stevens	973	677	851	829
Swift	1,261	1,211	1,016	1,553
Todd	2,043	1,739	1,652	1,912
Traverse	573	966	447	1,090
*Wabasha	800	.....	250	.....
Wadena	848	538	793	575
Waseca	1,002	[illegible]	1,561	1,453
Washington	3,763	1,514	3,275	2,000
Watonwan	1,022	553	1,328	822
Wilkin	520	754	407	686
Winona	3,035	3,528	3,450	3,016
Wright	3,280	2,168	2,899	2,618
Yellow Med.	1,530	1,006	1,332	1,210
Totals	187,434	135,347	162,592	159,325
Majorities	52,084	......	3,267	......

*Estimated.

Farmer Haines Wanted Money.

St. Paul, Nov. 11. — The Chicago Great Western passenger train, due in St. Paul every morning at 7:25, had as a passenger to this city to-day one F. A. Haines. He boarded the train at Oelwein and had a bicycle checked through to St. Paul. The train was late on account of the snow storm, and it was nearly 8 o'clock when it arrived. Haines went up town from the union station and at 11 oclock he was in jail at the central police station on a charge of attempting to pass a forged check for $1,285 on the Savings Bank of St. Paul. He gave his age as twenty-six years, said that he was married, had one child, a little girl one year old, and lived on a farm two miles from Altoona, Iowa. Haines is no doubt mentally unbalanced.

North Dakotan Robbed.

Minneapolis, Nov. 11. — A man who arrived in the city to-day from Grafton, N. D., and whose name the police did not ascertain, was the victim of a daring robbery at Fourth avenue south and Fourth street. Upon his arrival at the union depot the victim was met by two men who professed acquaintanceship and proposed a drink. They went from one saloon to a second, and there the victim refused to drink and a third man promptly arrived on the scene and claimed he knew the victim and was going south. The four then started out to see the sights, and at the corner mentioned the strangers asked him if he had his money all right. The innocent victim drew $75, all his money, from his pocket to show them, whereat one of the gang snatched it and all three took to their heels, escaping.

Adverse to the Merritts.

St. Paul, Nov. 11.—The United States court of appeals has reversed the decision of the United States circuit court in the case of Alfred Merritt vs. John D. Rockefeller. The case was brought to recover $1,187,000. It grew out of the failure of the Merritts and the acquirement by John D. Rockefeller of all their immense iron properties on the Mesaba range, including the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern railway. Merritt claimed he was defrauded. The case was tried in Duluth before Judge Ritter of Colorado. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of Merritt for $940,000. The court, in reversing this, remands the case for a new trial.

Torrens's Land Law.

Ottawa, Ill., Nov. 11. — In an opinion filed to-day in the supreme court of Illinois the Torrens land title act of the Illinois legislature is held unconstitutional.

WEYLER IN CHARGE.

The Captain General of Cuba Takes the Field.

Havana, Nov. 11.—Capt. Gen. Weyler has taken the field in person against the insurgents under Antonio Maceo in the Province of Pinar del Rio, and reliable news received from the front indicate that the Spanish columns are approaching the enemy. Gen. Weyler left Havana on board the cruiser Legazpy half an hour after midnight, his destination being the port of Mariel, Province of Pinar del Rio. From Mariel, it is understood the captain general will go southward by the highway to the town of Artemisa, and along the line of the trocha. Strong reinforcements are being embarked to support the captain general in the operations now in progress against the insurgents. The marquis de Ahumada remains in charge of the captain general's office here, with Col. Taymon Dominguez as his chief of staff.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The state department officials say that the story published to the effect that Ramon Williams, ex-United States consul general to Cuba, was sent to Spain as a secret agent of the government to endeavor to secure the consent of the Spanish government to a project to sell the island of Cuba to the insurgents, the United States to guarantee the bonds to be issued in payment therefor, is a pure invention. Mr. Williams has no connection with the state department, either open or secret. There also is said to be a lack of foundation for the story that the Spanish minister has promised the president that if the Spanish troops were unable to subdue the insurrection within sixty days the island would be abandoned. Nothing has been heard of the reported outrage on the family of an American sugar planter named Craycroft.

PRESIDENTIAL CLEMENCY.

Pardon for Two Men Who Were Led Into a Violation of Law.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The president has pardoned W. H. Clune, Isaac Ross and Philip Stanwood of California, sentenced Dec. 6, 1894, to pay a fine of $1 and be confined in the Los Angeles county jail eighteen months for conspiracy, the offense being committed in the railway riots at the time general throughout the country. The president wrote the following indorsement on the application:

"These convicts have suffered more than nine months' imprisonment under their sentences. I am bound to assume that they were guilty of an offense most dangerous in its character, and in the commission of which they aided and encouraged an unlawful defiance of authority, which threatened the most distressing consequences. I am convinced, however, that these men are not criminals, but laboring men swept into violation of law by at first listening to counsels of disorder. Others besides themselves are suffering humiliation and deprivation on account of their wrong-doing and I am led to believe that the purposes of punishment, so far as the effect on the prisoners is concerned, have been fully accomplished. I am also convinced that the imprisonment already suffered by these prisoners will be ample warning to the thousands equally guilty, though unpunished, and to those who may hereafter be tempted, that the laws enacted to secure peace and order must be obeyed."

SWINDLERS ROUNDED UP.

Several Members of Another Gang Are in the Toils.

New ork, Nov. 11.—The attempted suicide of May Wintage, a miss of seventeen years, in a furnished room in Brooklyn, followed by the arrest of her lover, Edward Valentine, has brought to light the operations of the shrewdest gang of swindlers who ever worked in this city. The girl made an attempt upon her life after a warrant had been issued charging her with having passed a worthless check upon a Brooklyn dry goods merchant. After she had partially recovered she told the authorities that the check had been given her by Valentine. Valentine, in the hope of saving himself, has made a confession to District Attorney Backus, in which he tells in detail the operations of the gang. The most prominent members were "Big Ed" Rice, Charles H. Abbott, C. H. McLoughlin, H. K. White, Isaac Heldenheimer, Rolindale Smith, Walter B. Peters, Willis Connors and William Thomas. The latter is locked up in this city, Connors in Flint, Mich., and Peters in Chicago. It is claimed that merchants, manufacturers and farmers have lost $500,000 by the operations of this gang. They are said to have been the promoters of three fictitious companies, one called the Standard Coal and Oil company, and also of a banking concern which they used as a decoy.

CARLISLE-BLACKBURN.

The Feud Worries Mrs. Carlisle, but She Helps It On.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Carlisle, it is learned to-day, is very much worried over the reports regarding the present trouble between her son, Logan Carlisle, and Senator Blackburn. Mr. Carlisle's friends feel certain that there will be a conflict, for the two men frequent the same hotel and restaurants and are intensely bitter toward each other. Mrs. Carlisle, while anxious, it is said, will not advise one step backward in the matter. Logan Carlisle inherits the best part of his bravery from her and she is his adviser in all things and has been kept fully posted on each move before her son made it. If Blackburn loses the senate, which he seems certain to do, he will lay it to the Carlisles, and his bitterness will be intensified.

Warren B. Mason, a commercial traveler, died in Chicago to-day from the effects of his folding bed closing up on him. His back was broken.

End of a Libel Suit.

Boston, Nov. 11. — In the United States court of appeals to-day the famous libel suit of Helen M. Gougar vs. Elijah A. Morse was dismissed for want of prosecution. In this case, which began more than four years ago, two verdicts have been rendered after protracted trials. At the first trial the plaintiff excepted to Judge Putnam's rulings, but has now failed to prosecute her exceptions in the appellate court. The result is that the verdict below is sustained and judgment in the case follows for Mr. Morse.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST
—DEALERS IN—
Hardware, Furniture,
—AND—
BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.
—0—
Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing
Razors honed and put in first-class order.
J. H. PENNO, Prop.
ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.
FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.
West side Broadway.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!
☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.
C. A. SKEIE.
ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
RUNS
THROUGH CARS
TO☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST
SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.
For information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write
CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
CHAS. S. FEE, Crookston, Minn.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED
WOOLEN GOODS!
OF COURSE YOU DO,
and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.
We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.
We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.
Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41

Scientific American
Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to
MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America.
Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.
IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.
Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.
Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.
TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.
WEDNESDAY, NOV. 11, 1896.

McKinley has been elected president but it is far from being the land-slide claimed by the Republicans. A change of 24,000 votes in doubtful states would have given the election to Bryan. What will McKinley do? is the now important question. He was elected by the united aid of all trusts and monopolies. Will he go back on them and favor the people, or will he prove another Grover Cleveland?

County division seems to have carried with a vengeance. Out of the six propositions voted on, four have carried, Nelson and Hill being defeated. This leaves Polk county cut in two parts. Starting on the north line Mills county has carried. It comprises twelve townships with Thief River Falls as the county seat. Red Lake county has also carried. It comprises all of Mills county and eight additional townships with Red Lake Falls as the county seat. Columbia county has carried; McIntosh is the proposed county seat, and it provides for eight towns in Red Lake county. Garfield county with Fertile for a county seat is also a winner and it provides for large slice of Columbia county. It is a pretty muddle and will make fat pickings for lawyers with a good chance that there will be no division.

GOLD.

The election is past, but the future is before us. For more than two decades the money powers have been working secretly to establish a gold basis for all debts, public and private, during that time every imaginable device has been resorted to, to get the individual, the school district, the town, village or city in debt, until substantially every particle of property in the United States is, in some form, mortgaged. The money power has concluded that the time has come to forclose these mortgages, or rather to renew them, with accumulated interest, upon a gold basis. There are very few of the great mass of American citizens, who have a clear idea of the debts of the United States; if they did, they could better appreciate the struggle the people have just made and the prospects for the future. The necessity for remedial legislation, so as to shift the burden of taxation from the farmer, laborer and consumer, to the wealthy is great. Many believe, or profess to believe, that a protective tariff is a remedy for the financial evils that exist and would relieve the farmer and mechanic. This is not so, and a little reflection ought to satisfy anyone of the fact. In the first place, the expenditures of the United States are enormous—say $75,000,000 a month. This money must be raised, mainly by tariff duties on imports. No part of it can be raised by direct taxation without an amendment to the Federal constitution; therefore the situation demands a tariff for revenue only. Again, a high protective tariff not only causes a deficit in the revenues but increases the burden upon an already overtaxed consumer. In order that the American people may be able to pay their debts, a change in the financial and commercial situation is absolutely necessary. The creditor class, which includes the foreign bond and stock holders, say we will give you a change when we get to a gold basis; but a gold basis means increased debt; more interest; greater security, and less means of paying, less commerce, and more shipments of gold, and an endless chain of debt, with poverty, crime, suicide and dispair in its train.—Thief River Falls News.

Remedy For Cholera.

The following is a infallible remedy for hog cholera, that dreaded disease so common among swine and poultry:

"Dig polk root, (guess you all have it on your farms, if not, let it grow,) the new growth, put on and boil in a kettle until done. Mix with any slop and feed to all, sick or well. It has never failed with us. Those that are down drench with the liquid. Young and old fowls can also be kept in a healthy condition by using the same way. Keep hogs from water when sick with cholera."—Exchange.

Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

MINE ENEMY.

Tireless enemy have I,
Who, with arch insistency,
Maketh without sign of cease
Keen attacks upon my peace.

Sad my plight, who never know
If by night or day my foe
Will, with his strategic art,
Storm the ramparts of my heart.

Through delay and dearth and doubt
I have kept the foeman out,
But I fear the fort must fall,
And his banner top the wall.

And I pine in long duress,
If no friend heed my distress,
Who will come and cause to flee
Love, that is mine enemy?
—Clinton Scollard in Century.

He Wanted Pure English.

A professor from the Midlands, who is at present in London making some philological researches at the British museum, prides himself on always drawing his language from the "well of English undefiled" and works himself into a towering rage about the irregularities of the announcements in tradesmen's windows. While walking along Tottenham Court road he noticed in a furniture dealer's shop the words, "Every article in this window reduced." Full of pedantic resolution, he entered the establishment to give the owner a lesson in English. That gentleman came up smiling, in hope of a customer. Placing his hand on a cabinet, the professor said, "Do you mean to say that this has been reduced?" "Considerably," replied the owner. "Dear me, I can hardly credit it," answered the professor, and, taking a folding three foot rule from his pocket he proceeded to measure most carefully the dimensions of the article.

The other looked on in amazement and began to think that he had a madman to deal with. "There is some mistake," continued the professor. "I saw this very article when I passed here two years ago, and it was exactly the same size then as it is now." "We don't mean reduced in size. We mean reduced in price," cried the furious dealer. "Then why in the name of the queen's English do you not say so?" replied the pedant as he walked away, chuckling over his practical joke. The placard was soon afterward removed from the window, the shopman no doubt thinking that it might lead to still further complications with philological cranks.—London Telegraph.

Fortunate Accidents.

A large number of the world's greatest inventions have been the result of some accidental union of forces, the nature of which the person who started them neither understood nor suspected. The working of dynamos at long distances apart, when properly connected, was discovered by accident. A scientific journal says: "Soon after the opening of the Vienna exposition in 1873 a careless workman picked up the ends of a couple of wires which he found trailing along the ground. He fastened them in the terminals of a dynamo, to which he thought they belonged, while they were really attached to another dynamo that was running in another part of the grounds. The dynamo to which he fastened the wires was not running, but as soon as the wires were placed in its terminals it revolved as if a steam engine was driving it. The workman was amazed. The engineers and electricians were astonished by the discovery that a dynamo electric machine (turned by steam power) would turn another similar machine a long distance away if properly connected to it by electric wires. Thus originated one of the most revolutionary applications of electricity."

The fact that power can be transmitted for miles by electric wires is one of the most important factors in modern civil engineering achievements.

"I don't see how you got on to me," said the bunko man sadly. "I've gone and wasted a whole summer growing these whiskers and getting the tan for this farmer make up, and I get pinched the minute I hit the town. How did you get on?"

The great detective smiled (at the prisoner's expense, by the way). "I never knew a farmer to light a match on the sole of his boot," he said.—Indianapolis Journal.

The rapid development of machinery for use in naval warfare has suggested to the fertile brain of a pupil at the military school the creation of a torpedo boot—zerstorervernichterindengrundbohrerkaputmacher—which may be described as an appliance for inflicting serious damage on the sinkers of annihilators of torpedo boat destroyers.—Hanover Anzeiger.

The first chemical factory opened in this country was in Salem, Mass., in 1811. At first great objection was made to the establishment of the factory, the persons living near claiming that the fumes of the chemicals poisoned the air and made life intolerable.

A red sunset indicates a clear day on the morrow, as it shows that the air in the west, from which direction rain most frequently comes, is devoid of moisture.

Horush of Algiers was famous among his subjects as the Red Beard. A Moor with red hair and beard was a great curiosity.

There are 3,485 miles of distance between the seat of government of Spain and that of the United States.

The stadium used by both Greeks and Romans was 400 cubits, or 243 yards 1 foot and 9 inches.

Convalescence.

When a sick person is becoming convalescent, the rule of a quiet time between 2 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon should still be adhered to until complete strength is regained. Even if the patient cannot obtain sleep, the fact of lying quietly in a darkened room will rest both eye and brain, producing that feeling of wide awake brightness which invalids so often feel in the evening—to them the pleasantest time of the day in consequence.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

That evening while Wilkinson was smoking a pipe in his garden and trying to water a great oak with a half inch hose, emitting a quarter of a pint in five minutes Peter McGourock looked over the fence and passed the time of day.

"Ye'll have a club here, of course?" asked Peter.

"Oh, rather," replied Wilkinson. "No end of clubs. We've a capital tennis club, and a croquet club, and a river club, and a bicycle club, and"—

But Wilkinson drew up suddenly, thrown on his haunches, for the gray eye of Peter McGourock, which should have been ablaze with enthusiastic interest, was pale with a strong contempt.

"But how about the club?" he asked.

"Club?" said Wilkinson. "Why—well—we've all those clubs. What more"—

"I was not asking about these treevial things," said McGourock. "Where's yer golf club?"

"Eh? Oh—why—we haven't—er—exactly any golf club—that is, not just yet. Is it a good sort of game?" said poor Wilkinson.

Peter looked him all over very slowly, then looked the hose all over very slowly, then Wilkinson's garden, then Wilkinson's house, right up to the top of the new Louvre pot, then, repeating very slowly, "Es—et—a—good—sorrt—of—game?" he turned away and disappeared into his drawing room.

For days after that poor Wilkinson, while watering the big oak with the half inch hose, would cast furtive glances at the McGourock tapping the little white ball into the little hole in the lawn, and at times he could perceive, with the tail of his eye, Peter McGourock eying him over, or portions of his property, and at times he could hear the muttered words, "Es et a good sorrt of game?"

At length Wilkinson made a heroic effort to put matters on a less painful footing. He looked over the fence at Peter, who was doing something to a golf iron with a file, and said cheerfully, but with a dreadful nervousness within:

"If it—er—when you could spare ten minutes, I should take it as a favor if you would teach me to play golf."

"Ten minutes, ye say?" said Peter, using that horrid eye of his.

"Well, well, of course I don't mean to say I could learn in ten minutes—ha, ha—ridiculous, of course," said poor Wilkinson. "But if you'd kindly teach me the stroke"—

"Sirr," said Peter, "a man cannot be taught golf."

"Well—of course I don't mean to say—that is—but a fellow might try to learn."

"Golf," said Peter, "es not a thing that a man can learn."

"Well, but—hang it all—how do people ever play? People do play golf, don't they?"

"Play!" said Peter. "And what might ye mean by 'play?'"

"Why—well, confound it. Don't you see people knocking confounded little white balls over confounded obstacles with things like that you're filing at?"

Poor Wilkinson was turning. Even Wilkinsons will turn.

"Ah," replied Peter, "ye see people do that, and many's the number of them, but ye talked of playing. Sirr, ef a man begins golf when he's put into short clothes and devotes his life to et (excepting the Sabbath only, that was specially ordained for him to repaint balls and see to things), and ef et's granted to that man at the close of a long life to arrive at the knowledge that he knows nothing of golf, that man can die a happy man, and when he's finally holed he will not have lived in vain. Aye," continued Peter suddenly, "et es a good sorrt of game. It's just a gran game. It's just the only game."—Badminton Magazine.

Cheap.

A party of actors were telling stories in the cafe of the Waldorf one afternoon last winter. One of them, a very brilliant and humorous chap, whose education has been acquired solely by contact with people, made a slip of the tongue which was noticed by another member of the party, who sarcastically said:

"If one other man were here, this gathering would be complete."

"Who's that?" queried the comedian who had made the error.

"Lindley Murray."

"Huh!" exclaimed the humorous chap. "There ain't a man in the room who couldn't make Lindley Murray look like 30 cents."—New York Herald.

Just the Thing.

"Professor Scribbler told me all I needed to enable me to become a novelist was to engage in some work that would train the imagination for awhile. Now, what would you advise me to do?"

"Why not apply for a position of making out a gas company's bills?"—Washington Times.

If you are particular
About the accommodations you get when traveling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.
If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.
Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY
THE ST. LOUIS
DAILY JOURNAL
SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.
EVENING AND SUNDAY.
PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE
Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday. $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00
The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.
Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.
The Sunday Journal
Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.
CLUBBING RATES:
Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4.00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1.75
☞Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

MINNESOTA
State Normal Schools
—AT—
Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:
IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

—Subscribe for the SPECTATOR. ☞

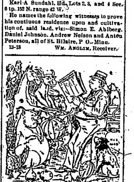
U.S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., Oct. 27th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U.S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Dec. 8th 1896, viz:

Karl A Sundahl, Hd. Lots 2, 3, and 4 Sec. 6 tp. 152 N. range 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Simon E. Ahlberg, Daniel Johnson, Andrew Nelson and Anton Peterson, all of St. Hilaire, P. O.—Minn.

13-18 WM. ANGLIM, Receiver.



Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."
THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn. is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.
DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!
ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.
HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

The American Hotel.....
W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.
Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.
Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - - MINNESOTA

The BEER=
THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE
HAMM
Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.
☞Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.
Dray in Connection.
First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :
☞Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.
ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!
Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.
J. C. DAHL.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.

	Price per Acre.
8 forties' in Sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00

SANDERS TOWNSHIP.

NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 4	1.00 to 1.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.0 to 1.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	[illegible] to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.0

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.

Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00

ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
2 " 15	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

☞For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Winchester Repeating
Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles
Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.
ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.
Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.
☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,
North Side Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily
Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞Warehouse on railroad track. : : : : : : : : : :
W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours.
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

M. W. OF A., CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Friday of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	60c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	11c	Eggs	7c
Barley	15c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	60c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Wood wanted at this office.

Billy Bramsness is home once more.

Get your milk tickets printed at this office.

—"Money talks" so does good advertising.

The pond and river froze over Saturday night.

The bridge over the race is about completed.

It has snowed every day for the last thirteen days.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

Commercial men galore were here Friday taking orders.

Several lone wild geese were killed on the river near town last week.

Several of the Walker logs were sluiced through the dam last week.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

One drunk and disorderly character was run into the cooler last Friday.

The river at this point has fallen about twelve inches the past week.

What's the matter with Gov. Clough and his Thanksgiving proclamation?

Haul in a load of wood and get a years subscription to the SPECTATOR.

A. R. Jones and wife were visiting relatives at Thief River Falls Sunday.

St. Hilaire is the busiest town in the county and prosperity is right with us.

Will Bloom is doing some collecting in the vicinity of this village this week.

Ole Brink shipped another car load of stock to the eastern markets Friday.

A. L. Arpin made a flying trip to the twin cities last week returning Friday.

John H. Penno has been under the weather the past week with a severe cold.

James Meehan, Jr., was transacting business in the village the first of the week.

The work on the new county bridge is progressing very rapidly the last day or two.

Bridge Contractor Jacks was here on Friday looking after the new county bridge.

The silverites have been defeated but are not discouraged; downed but not disgraced.

About all the election bets in this village have been paid. In some cases it took the whole cheese.

A nine year old daughter of Peter Englestad, who resides in the town of Rocksbury, died Sunday.

Messrs. Tedford, Amandson and Williams of the upper Falls were visitors in the village over Sunday.

Do you want to trade cord wood for a second ☞ box stove? If so call at this office and make a deal.

Otto Sandmoen, who has been working over in Dakota for the past four months returned home to-day.

Two car loads of material for the saw mill arrived Friday, and like shipments are being made every train day.

M. Z. Epperson moved his household effects to Crookston Monday and will make that city his future home.

Attorney Lee went to Crookston Friday to straighten out matters pertaining to the city of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. M. Hendrickson who has been visiting relatives in Crookston for the past ten days returned home Monday.

About another hundred cords of stone will be wanted by the St. Hilaire Lumber company in a few days from now.

Petterson & Johnson are about to build a large ice house and a cold storage building. This is something that St. Hilaire will be in need of next summer, and no doubt will prove a good investment for the above firm.

The McKinley and Hobart club of Crookston will hold a ratification meeting to-morrow night in honor of Mac-Ho.

It would be money well invested to put up several tenament houses in this village. Now is your golden opportunity.

The Great Northern carpenters with material, etc., arrived to-day to rebuild the station platform here. It needs it badly.

H. C. Clark of Minneapolis, secretary of the Shevlin-Carpenter Lumber company was doing business in the village yesterday.

Its McKinley and prosperity in store for this country now. Bring it on; we can stand lots of the "prosperity" right away quick.

Albert Pichie, the heavy weight butcher of Thief River Falls was married last Saturday at Crookston to Miss Regina Cartier.

The farmers on the east side of the river are busy every day grading up the approach on the east end of the new county bridge.

S. M. Dainard left Sunday for Fertile where he has two car loads of cattle and will ship the same at once to the eastern markets.

Receiver Anglim Monday disposed of $30,000 worth of Red Lake pine. The St. Hilaire Lumber company being the principal buyers.

Grover Cleveland is out with his Thanksgiving proclamation. Thursday November the 26th is the day set for eating turkey.

Martin Bjerk's dog "McKinley" is in the hands of a doctor. He got too gay and commenced to scratch glass and got the worst of it.

Immigrants loaded down with household goods are still passing through here frequently enroute to their homes on the reservation.

Polk county is the banner state of Minnesota. The silverites captured everything in sight with the exception of one commissioner.

R. A. Wilkinson, claim agent for the Great Northern railroad was in the village the first of the week settling up matters with claimants.

The material for the foundation of the new saw mill is on the ground and work will be commenced at once. The main building will be 38x190.

A. M. Arpin, of Grand Rapids, Wis., brother of A. L. of this place arrived Monday and will size up the situation and perhaps remain with us.

Now that election is over we want a correspondent from every township within fifteen miles of here. Come now make a start and be an editor.

No less than six deer hunters were either killed or wounded last week while hunting deer on the reservation. Deer hunting is dangerous to say the least.

Since the election two roads in Ohio have cut the wages of their men 10 per cent, and now they (the men) have begun to do a little thinking for themselves.

The People's Party county ticket carried the county by majorities ranging from 800 to 3000, with the possible exception of commissioner of the Fifth district.

What's the matter with organizing a dramatic company of our own and put it on the boards sometime during the holidays? St. Hilaire has the very best of talent.

Will Peters' residence will be occupied in a few days by a family from Thief River Falls. Several more families from that town are looking for residences and will locate.

Quite a few republican stump speakers are circulating around following their back-tracks telling the good people how they saved the country. Great heads them stump speakers got.

Chauncey M. Depew once said that there were fifty men in the United States who could stop every wheel of industry whenever they desired and there doubtless are. How long is this to be so?

Attorney Richardson of Thief River Falls was in the village a short time Monday while on his way to Crookston. Mr. Richardson dropped into our den and picked out what news he found in the Pioneer Press.

Henry Norland came up from Crookston Friday to check up on bridge material and returned to his field of labors on county matters the same day. Mr. Norland is an old bridge builder of years experience.

The Prisson Mirror isn't far wrong in saying that "the man who doesn't care who gets elected is built of the same kind of material as the people who crossed the border into Canada when the war broke out."

While moving the pile-driver one day last week the thing in some uncountable way tipped over into the river and Chris Hall who was half way up the ladder went with it. Very little damage was done to the driver.

Robt. Nevins was in town last Sunday on his way home from St. Hilaire and says that he will go into the logging business on a larger scale than ever this winter. He has contracted to cut two million feet of logs for the Shevlin-Carpenter Co. of St. Hilaire.—Thirteen Towns, Fosston.

The city papers are all right, says an exchange, but it is the local paper that advertises your business, your schools, your church, your societies, sympathizes with you in your afflictions, and rejoices in your prosperity. In short it is your local paper that mentions the thousand and one items in which you are interested during the year and which you do not find in the city papers. Support your home paper.

An Accident.

Quite a serious accident occured at 11 o'clock this forenoon down at the new county bridge. While raising a gin-pole on the centre of the bridge it happened to slip in some mysterious way striking Henry and Peter Frankman and throwing them both headlong about 16 feet into a flat boat striking on their head and shoulders. In falling Peter was knocked senseless, sustained a severe cut over the eye and fell over into the river and certainly would have drowned only for timely assistance. Henry received a bad scalp wound and dislocated his shoulder. Dr. Francis and Druggist Johnson were called to dress the wounds and report them resting as easy as could be expected. Bridge building of this kind is very dangerous especially this season of the year.

Now there will be "protection and prosperity" for the bloated bond-holder and the corpulent manufacturer, while the poor will continue to do business at the old stand with ever decreasing wages and increasing taxes.—Jasper (Ind.) Herald.

Hicks the weather prophet says that the month of December will be the coldest, and the snow fall will be the greatest that has been known during any December for many years. The present flurry is said to be but a forerunner of what is to come, and is sent by way of warning.

Fargo is the paradise for those seeking divorces. A man there recently secured one of these separators and to celebrate his return to single blessedness he tackled some North Dakota booze which soon landed him into the happy hunting grounds. Well he can't find anything hotter there than a Fargo divorce or North Dakota fire water.—St. Vincent New Era.

The following is the way the Duluth Hustler takes the defeat with a spot representing blood in the centre of it:

Brave Bryan Battalions Battling for Bimetallism Badly Beated by Bold Bands of Bankers Backed by Boodle.

Confederated Coherts Cruicified on the Cruel Cross and Consigned to the Cold Cemetery's Clammy Clasp.

Poor Populists and Popocrats Punched and Pounded into Pulpy Pieces by Proud and Pampered Plutocracy.

This has been a peculiar campaigne, and one surprising in his results. Now that it is over we can but hope that the people have chosen wisely and well. If only the whole people could look upon the result in that way, but they cannot. The country is in a depressed condition its treasury is depleted by bonds issued to buy gold. A tariff high enough to furnish revenues to run the government cannot be enforced, and the bond issues must go on and on, and until this nation is safely landed in pawn-shop, with a British pawn check attached. We may pass through a brief season of prosperity, as a people, but it will be very brief. Mr. McKinley was not elected to bring relief to the American farmer, the laborer and the smaller business man. He was elected for the benefit of corporate power and for the benefit of the owners of gold. They will not need him very long. He can do their dirty work in one session of congress. And the people will keep on suffering against the sins they themselves have committed in electing to the presidency a man who is not his own master. It is to be feared that the American people have made a great mistake and that, before they they can remedy it they will be too far within the grasp of those who will own it by virtue of mortgage, to escape.—Crookston Times.

The Initiative.

With the Referendum the enactment of vicious laws could be prevented, but that alone would not be sufficient. We want some system by which good laws may be proposed. Our law making bodies, under a Referendum system, may be controlled by the corporations, just as they are now, and so laws that would be beneficial to the people might not be enacted.

With the Initiative, that difficulty would be overcome.

The Initiative is the right of a number of citizens, say five to fifteen per cent of the voting population, to initiate or propose laws.

For example: You believe the city ought to install and operate an electric light plant. You draw up a petition to the city council requesting that a plant be established. You and your friends circulate the petition among your friends and neighbors. You get fifteen per cent of the voters to sign the petition. You take it to the city council. It then becomes the duty of the council to frame a bill authorizing the expenditure of a certain sum for installing a plant suitable for the city. This bill is then referred to the people at the next election. If a majority favor the proposition, the plant must be built; if a majority oppose it, no plant is established.

It is the simplest and best system of government in the world when once understood. The people make all the laws, or unmake them if they think proper. It is a system where the people rule. Under it we would have truly a government of, for and by the people. It is pure Democracy. God speed the day of its birth! Then will the days of revolutions have passed forever, and there will ever be slow, gradual but continual, evolution of society to better and higher planes of life. Its birth will be the dawning of a new and glorious era. Outraged and bleeding Goddess of Liberty will once again rise and hold aloft the scales of justice, and look down, with gleaming eye and beaming countenance, upon a happy and contented people.

Again, God speed the day!

—P. J. S. in Representative.

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

A. L. Arpin, resident manager of the St. Hilaire Lumber company, passed through here Friday morning bound for that village from a journey to Minneapolis. His trip below was taken to meet the other members of the company of which Messrs. Shevlin of that city and Hixon of LaCrosse, are two. The plans for building the mill were decided upon, and work will begin at once. The dam and race have been put into shape during the fall, and construction of the mill will go on during the winter. By the opening of spring it is intended to have the machinery all placed and saws ready to buzz. The equipment will consist of a gang, and combination band and circular saws, and the first year the company intends sawing 12 to 15 million feet. In order to do this two shifts will be worked and the sawing will continue night and day. The capacity will probably be increased to thirty millions the second year. The members of the company have purchased heavily of Red Lake pine, and are picking up more of it as fast as good pieces can be obtained. During the current week $15,000 worth of pine has been added to their holdings. They are experienced lumber men, and the institution will doubtless prosper from the start.—Crookston Times.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Buy Your Goods at Home.

The Hector Union says: This is the season of the year when tons of catalogues from the city department stores are sent out into the country—among the farming class generally. They want you to send them all the cash you have, and then when the time comes that you need something real bad and in a hurry you will have to go to your local store and ask for "tick." What do those fellows care for only to get your money? Nothing. It is the local stores that take an interest in your welfare, as you all know. Can you get goods on "tick" at the city stores? No, indeed not. Differently with your home stores. Of course cash is preferable, but when you are "short" credit goes just the same and willingly. We hope a number of our farmer friends will carefully look into this and turn over a new leaf. There is nothing gained by trading away from home. Patronize those who have been friends to you in time of need. Stand by your town and local merchants through thick and thin, the same as they have have done by you. Do all this and you will be none the loser.

From The Representative.

"Don't give up the ship."

"Pick the flint and try it again."

Now see wheat go to a dollar a bushel—McKinley is elected.

"Let the gallant jade wince—our withers are unwrung."

The farmers were fooled and the workingman intimidated.

Did you ever read "Cæsar's Column?" The foundation stones are being laid.

The existence of the People's Party is more necessasy to-day than ever before.

It is simply poverty on one side and crafty wealth on the other. A very unequal contest.

"Sweet are the uses of adversity,
Which like a toad, ugly and venomous.
Bears yet a precious jewel in its head."

Will somebody kill the toad and let us have a look at the jewel?

Mr. Bryan comes out of the contest beaten, but even his enemies admire him. Six months ago he was unknown. To-day he is one of the most conspicuous figures in the whole world. He made an unparalled campaign. He is still young and will fight many more battles.

We are very sorry that so many good men have gone down in the tidal wave. We extend to them our sincere sympathy.

It becomes a grave question whether the ballot box will ever be able to overcome the banks and trusts. The poorer the people become the more open they are to corruption. The land is honeycombed with rottenness.

Printer's Jargon.

Many people are aware that printers have a language of their own, unintelligible to the unitiated. The following "up-to-date" orders give an idea of the printing office lingo: "Billy, put Sir Charles Tupper on the galley, and finish up with that murder you commenced yesterday. Set up the ruins of Herculaneum and distribute the small-pox. Lock up Laurier and slide McCarthy into the hell-box and leave the pi alone until after dinner. Put the ladies' form to press, and go to the devil and put him to work on Deacon Fogg's article on "Eternal Punishment." Now this is all simple enough when translated into English, and not nearly so rough as the reader may imagine.—Medford Mirror.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Wheat is coming in right along, but slow.

Wylie went (16 to 1) in favor of county division.

Mr. Chas. Zutz entertained a party of young folks Saturday evening.

The school enrollment at present is forty-five and a good prospect for more.

John power has moved into his new residence which adds greatly to the appearance of Wylie.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something .....

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

For Sale! —The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FAR CRY FOR CLIENTS.

A Fresno, Cal., Woman Lawyer Going to South Africa to Seek Her Fortune.

Mrs. Nettie Coke, attorney at law in Fresno, expects to sail on the steamer Mariposa on the 15th instant for Johannesburg, South Africa, where she will engage in the practice of law. Mrs. Coke, who expects to arrive in San Francisco to-day, has become known to Fresno as a woman endowed with unusual pluck, and possessing at the same time a happy faculty of being able to make her way in the world without much trouble. Her many friends were astonished somewhat over a year ago when she procured an appointment from Gov. Budd as a notary public at Fresno, as she was the only feminine holder of such an office in that portion of the state. When she set up her desk, however, and began to reap a golden harvest by administering oaths and affixing seals, they changed their opinions and admired her pluck. Her subsequent admission to the bar only served to add to her popularity, and she is now a conspicuous and respected member of the legal profession in Fresno. Although she has met with considerable success in her profession, Mrs. Coke has decided that she could never be content to remain all her life in Fresno, or in California, and she has determined to seek broader fields in which to labor. She also wants to see more of the world, and it is this latter desire that has influenced her to go to Africa. She will go first to Honolulu, thence to New Zealand and Australia, in all of which places she will devote some time to sight-seeing. Then she will make her way to Cape Town and Johannesburg. Mrs. Coke expects to find ready employment in Johannesburg. Should she fail to succeed in establishing a profitable law practice, she will probably return to Fresno, visiting Europe on her way home.—San Francisco Examiner.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Undisputed Ownership.

A paper is responsible for the story that a lady, when showing a gentleman over her grounds, the other day, was asked by him:

"Does that plant belong to the begonia family?"

"The begonia family?" asked his hostess, bridling up. "Certainly not, sir. It is ours, and always has been."—Tit-Bits.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is our only medicine for coughs and colds.—Mrs. C. Beltz, 439 8th ave., Denver, Colo., Nov. 8, '95.

The Natural Question.

Husband—By the way, I met Mrs. Presley down town this afternoon.

Wife—Is that so? What did she have on?—Cleveland Leader.

King James' Bible is the English translation now in use. It took about three years to translate. The work was performed by forty-seven of the best classical scholars at the universities. The translation came out in 1611.

A herring weighing six or seven ounces is provided with about 30,000 eggs.

A Chance for Work.

Persons who buy forty acres of land at from $5 to $8 an acre will be given work at $1.50 a day so as to provide the necessaries of life. Land is located in Mason county, Washington, and will produce fruits and all staple crops. Land also for sale at low prices and easy terms on Whidby Island, Washington. One free railway ticket to each purchaser of forty acres. Address R. E. Werkman, Grand Central hotel, St. Paul, Minn.

The Cheerful Idiot.

"I see that they caught the fellow who broke out of jail last week," said the boarder, who was looking over a paper.

"Of course," said the Cheerful Idiot. "A fellow who breaks out is sure to be spotted."—Indianapolis Journal.

An Ideal State.

She—Do you suppose his wife really supports him?

He—I judge so. He told me he didn't know what real happiness meant until after he got married.—Puck.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Birmingham, England, turns out every week, among other articles, 14,000,000 pens, 6,000 bedsteads, 70,000 guns, 30,000,000 cut nails, 100,000,000 buttons, 1,000 saddles, 5,000,000 copper or bronze coins, and 20,000 pairs of spectacles.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

No death warrant has been signed by a sovereign of Great Britain during the last 150 years.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

The tunnel of the River Thames was seventeen years in course of construction. It cost $3,000,000.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

New York's Oldest Man.

In Sailor's Snug Harbor, Staten Island, lives the oldest man in Greater New York. Many an ancient mariner has drifted into this final port, but none has lived as long as Alexander Freeman. He is 109 years old, having been born, he claims near Murray street, during 1787. He is one of the curiosities of Sailor's Snug Harbor, and is always pointed out to visitors as a shining example of the beneficial effects of sea life. He lives generally in the hospital, but is able to move about in the vicinity of the building on bright days. At a casual glance he appears on such occasions to be an old man whose eighty-odd years sat upon him heavily.—New York Times.

Chronic

Catarrh cannot be cured by local applications. It is a constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and soon effects a permanent cure. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system, and makes you feel renewed in strength.

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

A ONE MAN JURY.

The physician released his hold on the wrist of Magnus Weatherman, the banker, whose sudden seizure just as he arose from the breakfast table had alarmed his family. It was now two hours since the man stretched out on the bed had groaned, whirled and fallen to the floor. At the side of the couch was Dr. Raymond, Mrs. Weatherman, a nervous maid and the little child whose presence was overlooked or forgotten. Dr. Raymond laid the clinched hand on the cover. "He is dead," he said, slowly, quietly.

If he had expected the wife to make an outcry or to faint his caution was needless. She bit her lip, rose unsteadily and rather widly tried to say something. But there was no overwhelming sorrow on her face. The silence grew oppressive and the child began to cry, not from realization, but from the strangeness. The maid hastily picked him up and fled the room, sobbing as she stumbled out.

Mrs. Weatherman turned again to the bed where lay the quiet and massive figure. "He—he is dead," she repeated, as though to impress the fact upon her brain. "It is hard to comprehend." Dr. Raymond looked at her gravely with no touch of sympathy. It was evidently not needed. He noticed that she even remembered to hold her handsome head at the angle at which she had been so admired in her portrait exhibit at the institute reception, and there was a delicate pink flush coming back to her lovely and girlish face. He moved uncertainly toward the door. "I must send for someone," she said unevenly. "I will telegraph Gerald Weatherman—his brother—down in Hyde Park. Will you take the message, Dr. Raymond?"

"Certainly," answered the doctor. He glanced at the still figure on the bed with its set face and followed Mrs. Weatherman down the broad staircase. She led the way to the library, but the physician paused in sudden remembrance. "Pardon me," he said, "I'll be here when you have the message written. I left my gloves and case in the dining room."

He rapidly walked down the hall into the big sunny room which had witnessed the beginning of the tragedy. The disorder of the table and the cloth half pulled off, together with the added touch of an upset chair, told the story. It had been on this spot that the dead man had lain two hours before. The doctor carefully moved around the place in order not to step on it. He had been a friend of Weatherman, one of the few that the rather cold, repressed man had permitted himself. He knew his history; he was bound to him by knowledge which often makes the family physician an unwilling father confessor. There had been a time in his friendship when he had witnessed that rare thing, the revealment of a strong man's heart, and the memory had seared into his brain. There was beginning to throb in his inmost soul a bitter resentment that there was no mourning, no outcry, no heartbreak, nothing but a decorous silence over the corpse of the man upstairs. He deserved more. He had always deserved more than he received.

One of the gloves had dropped to the floor half under the tablecloth. As he picked it up there rolled out from under the table, drawn in its wake, a tiny bottle resembling the ones he carried in his case. He reached for it and looked at it first casually, next surprised and puzzled, then with a white, settled, comprehending expression. Symptoms could not be forgotten. Involuntarily he stiffened, and stared in the direction from which he had come. "I do not want to believe it," he said, argumentatively. "I could not answer for myself," fiercely. "Great God!" as his relentless professional habit pressed facts upon him, "why did I find it?"

There was a soft rustle and Mrs. Weatherman came in. She was paler than when she left the death bed, and her eyes were dark with emotion. "It is written," she said, approaching the table. "I can't think of what else to do—you will—see to things?"

Even as she spoke her eyes searched the table with a flashing persistence, traveled over the floor and came back to his face with a pitiful attempt at anything but anxiety. She leaned against the table and her nostrils dilated. She was breathing fast. The doctor took her in with relentless eyes. "Yes," he said, "I will attend to things. Of course, there will be an inquest."

The woman before him was stricken with a sudden wave of paralysis. She turned suddenly and sat down. "An inquest," she said, harshly. "What—what for? Surely—"

"It is customary," he said, keeping his eyes on the glove he was drawing on. "A mere form. I will testify."

"You?" There was an involuntary appeal in her voice.

"Yes," Dr. Raymond said, gently. He opened his case; there was a bottle in his hand. "I must have dropped this bottle of arsenic on the floor when I first came in," he said, meditatively. "I found it under the table." The rows of bottles in the homeopathic case were exposed to view. They were all in place and not a one missing. He looked at her and at the bottle in his hand. There was nothing in her face but the hypnotist or snake. In her eyes he read: "What is he going to do?" and in her little nerveless hands, with her sparkling rings, awful baubles at this instant, he read panic and horrible fear. Slowly he straightened up and buttoned his coat. She watched him. He put the little bottle in his inside pocket before the last button was closed. "Do not worry about the inquest," he said, calmly, in a voice which might have sarcasm in it and might not. "I will testify. And the telegram, Mrs. Weatherman? To Gerald, you know."

She came back to life with a start. "Oh, yes," she said; "here, take it. Send for Gerald. I—I want him. I feel ill."

She sat in a crumpled, staring heap when Dr. Raymond left the room and house.

As he came out on the Lake Shore drive in the bright sun he looked at the telegram in his hand with a certain shrinking. "It brings me in touch with him in a way," he muttered. His friendship had not extended to Gerald Weatherman. They were antagonistic. "Send for Gerald!"—yes, now she can send for him openly. What a travesty on a man—and what a travesty on a woman!"

He crossed over to the sea wall and stood with the heaving waves before him, but seeing only the broken and frightened figure of the beautiful woman he had just left and the striking but banefully weak countenance of Gerald, the younger brother of Magnus. Magnus!

The physician's eyes, which were hardened to all sights, grew strangely blurred as he let surge up in his mind memories of the wrongs, the sorrows, the ceaseless miseries of the life just gone out. There came an exultant flush as he pressed the little bottle in his hand. In that lay means of revenge; power to repay all the betrayals of the silent banker for bringing justice down to earth. It was certainly his duty at the inquest to tell without reserve all he knew. He was the only person who had power to authoritatively dispose of the future of the widow of Magnus Weatherman.

The knowledge buoyed him up with a barbaric gladness. There had always been rebellion in his blood when those violent eyes of hers had softened only at Gerald's step, had brightened only at Gerald's delicate compliments, had besought only Gerald's approval or forgiveness. They had simply spoken toleration in Magnus' direction, and Dr. Raymond recalled the night he had spent with her husband, when he had, just for the once, broken down in his iron sternness and craved human sympathy along with the weaker ones on earth. He had never forgotten that night. He would testify at the inquest—and preserve the bottle.

Dr. Raymond walked briskly down the drive to meet his carriage. There was confession in his head. He found himself saying. "To what end?" and then he stopped again and surveyed the facts coldly. Should he testify fully at the inquest—rapidly he saw the result; a great newspaper sensation, a notorious trial, the complete, final and just agony of a wicked but luxurious and retiring woman—dishonor for her maybe death; wreck and ruin at any rate. Who would be served? And then there was Magnus Weatherman's child. His life demanded recognition in the same measure as his father's demanded revenge. On the other hand—Dr. Raymond smiled grimly, slowly, while his coachman wondered at his strange actions as he walked up and down—on the other hand, was there not a finer and more perfect revenge, a more lingering penalty for her sin? He knew Gerald Weatherman, he knew him to the dregs of his shiftless, cowardly, dishonorable soul; knew just how he would torture the shivering woman in yonder when his base passion for her had run itself out; she was one of the dainty ones of creation, marvelously led astray by her mistaken love; when once he became her husband and she comprehended Gerald Weatherman, life would be to her a hell surpassing imagination. And the child, Magnus' child, would be spared a stain upon his name.

Dr. Raymond looked up almost cheerfully. He stepped into his broughman and said: "Home." Then he unlocked the treacherous little bottle and as he was briskly driven along held it upside down out of the window till the powder was gone. Next he broke the bottle and threw it away.

"Yes," he said, with a weary droop of the head as he saw once more the silent, deserted chamber in the Weatherman home, with the still, patient figure of the murdered man on the couch, "It is much better to send for Gerald." —Dranoll, in Chicago News.

A REMARKABLE ROSE TREE.

Measures Sixty Feet in Circumference and Is Still Growing.

A remarkable rose tree grows in the garden of the Chateau Eleonore, in Cannes, the summer residence of Lord Brougham, a nephew of the famous chancellor. The plant is a variety of the tea rose known as Marie van Houthe. Though only six years old, it already measures sixty-seven feet in circumference, and will, if permitted, grow very much larger. Lord Brougham attributes its extraordinary dimensions principally to the soil, which cosists of rich loam of great depth; and also to the liberal way in which its appetite for manure is satisfied. This tree is planted on the slope which descends from the house to the main road. It is of interest to recall the fact that the Chateau Eleonore was the first winter residence built at Cannes, which, it may indeed be said was literally "discovered" by Chancellor Brougham, uncle of the present owner, while in the beautiful garden not far from the gigantic rose bush, is still to be seen the tree beneath the shadow of which the great chancellor used to sit toward the evening of his busy life. The chateau itself remains much as it was when he lived in it; but the gardens have been greatly extended and improved, now containing a fine collection of palms, cocos, shrubs and all sorts of flowers. The gardens are, however, specially vamous for their tea roses, of which 150 varieties are grown, and are, beyond all question, the finest in Europe.—New York Herald.

The Gem State.

North Carolina has another nickname, but the above is the one it should bear. No other district of like extent in the world yields so many different kinds of valuable minerals. A list embraces diamonds, emeralds, beryls (pale-green, blue and limpid-white), chrysoberyls, tourmalines (black and green), garnet (almandines, cherry-red, pale ruby-colored, pyrope and wine-colored), hyacinth zircon (white zircon is sometimes substituted for cheap diamonds), sapphires, rubies, oriental topaz, oriental emerald, cats'-eyes, rutile (used in some conditions under the name of "arrow lovestone), amethyst, jasper, hiddenite or green spondumene, white citrine, rose and smoky quartz, moss agate, oligoclase, sunstone and moonstone.

The gems, the gold and silver and fine timber lands make North Carolina in natural resources one of the richest of all the states of the Union.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Name "Montana."

It was the late James M. Ashley who gave Montana its name, telling his fellow congressmen that it meant a mountainous country when they captiously said it was a mere conglomeration of letters constituting no word. Joaquin Miller says that Montana has the only classic name in the constellation of states, but W. E. Sanders, librarian of the Montana Historical Society, thinks this not strictly true, saying that although the word is originally derived from a Latin root, it is really Spanish, and pronounced "Mon-tah-nah." As to the significance of the word, Mr. Sanders adds, no other one would so well describe the topographical characteristics of the state, for, with the ranges and spurs and isolated groups of mountains, the State of Montana is indeed a mountainous country.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Favoritism.

"Oh, no; there ain't any favorites in this family," soliloquized Johnny. "Oh, no! If I bite my finger nails I catch it over the knuckles. But the baby can eat its whole foot, and they think it's clever."—Twinkles.

He Just Ate 'Em.

"Is dis yere where dey want a boy?"

"Yes. Are you good at figures?"

"Good at figgers? Say, I was de official scorer and kept de batten averages of de Little Guttersnipes for t'ree seasons!"—Cleveland Leader.

Two Cures for Neuralgia.

Nothing upsets the whole nervous system more than an attack of neuralgia, generally resulting from a slight cold which has a predisposition to "settle" in the facial nerves if the teeth are not in the best of condition.

One remedy is to wet a cloth with strong camphor, lay it over a hot flatiron and hold it to the face, inhaling the steam also. This is made possible by throwing a shawl over the head to confine it.

Another palliative is to rub the face lightly with tincture of aconite, cover with warm flannel and "sleep it off." Aconite is a deadly poison and must not be used where the skin is broken or put in the mouth.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Gruesome Relics of Alexander.

The Russians seem fond of gruesome mementoes. One may see among the collection of gorgeous gilt chariots of state the shabby hired sleigh, whose cushions are stained with blood, on which the dying Alexander II was taken back to the Winter Palace. The visitor is begged to look at his last half-smoked cigarette, at his modest little brush and comb, and at half a dozen such homely trifles. His writing table stands to-day exactly as he left it; some pens, a common little blotting pad, and, more touching still, the photographs he had always before him. There is a portrait of the Duchess of Edinburg, in the tight drawn-back gown of the seventies, and at the other side of the blotter a group of chubby imperial children. Of more import is the simple, green-covered table flanked by chairs, on which Alexander signed the emancipation of the serfs. —New York Tribune.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklets and sample mailed free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Olive oil has been in use in Southern Europe from the earliest period of which there is any record, both for burning in lamps and for food.

An Important Difference.

To make apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleaning, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, and sold by all druggists.

In Belgium the proprietors of a medicine by which they claim to cure specified diseases are liable to be imprisoned if the medicine fails to produce the desired effect.

A THOUGHT THAT KILLED
A MAN!

He thought that he could trifle with disease. He was run down in health, felt tired and worn out, complained of dizziness, biliousness, backaches and headaches. His liver and kidneys were out of order. He thought to get well by dosing himself with cheap remedies. And then came the ending. He fell a victim to Bright's disease! The money he ought to have invested in a safe, reliable remedy went for a tombstone.

Warner's Safe Cure

is the only standard remedy in the world for kidney and liver complaints. It is the only remedy which physicians universally prescribe. It is the only remedy that is backed by the testimony of thousands whom it has relieved and cured.

THERE IS NOTHING ELSE THAT CAN TAKE ITS PLACE

Sunart "Vici"
CYCLE CAMERAS

The latest improvements in "CYCLE" CAMERAS.

"VENI" "VIDI" "VICI"
Folding Cameras, Magazine Cameras, Tripods and Photographic Materials.

First-class double Combination Lenses guaranteed. Latest Safety Shutters, Pneumatic Release Iris Diaphragm. 4x5, 5x7, 6½x8½, 8x10.

When in St. Paul ask to see the "Cycle Vici."

ZIMMERMAN BROS.,
375 Minnesota St., St. Paul, Minn.

Send 2-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue.

Sunart Photo Co., Rochester, N. Y., U. S. A.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Bought and sold for future delivery. 2c to 5c per bu. deposit. Sample sales a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited. MASON BROS., 145 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill. MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

STORM SASH. City Sash & Door Co. Minneapolis, Minn.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

OYSTERS IN CHAFING DISH.

They May be Cooked to Perfection in This Simple Way.

The chafing dish is especially nice for cooking the oyster. A few receipts may be acceptable.

For Panned Oysters—When the dish becomes hot put in two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two dozen oysters, half a cup of cream on oyster liquor, salt and paprika to taste; cover the dish and cook three minutes. Turn the oysters upon squares of buttered toast.

Another Way to Pan Oysters—Melt a large tablespoonful of butter in the heated dish, put in a teaspoonful of flour and stir until it is well blended. Add oysters enough to cover the bottom of the dish without crowding and season with salt and cayenne pepper. Cover the dish and cook the oysters until the edges are ruffled, stirring them to have both sides cook alike. Pour over the oysters a couple of spoonfuls of sherry, and serve on pieces of crisp toast.

Another Method is This—Put in a chafing dish a tablespoonful of butter, and when it is melted add a dozen and a half large oysters. Scatter over the oysters some finely chopped celery, salt and cayenne pepper. Cover the dish and cook until the oysters are plump and the edges ruffled. Then pour over them two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and serve on toasted crackers.

For a Curry of Oysters—Put one tablespoonful of butter in the heated dish. When it is melted stir in one tablespoonful of grated onion, the same amount of flour and a teaspoonful of curry powder. Gradually stir in one cup of oyster liquor and stir until it thickens, add two dozen oysters and season with salt. Cover the dish and cook about two minutes and serve.

Creamed Oysters—Put one tablespoonful of butter into the chafing dish and stir into it the same quantity of flour. When they are frothy add one cup of cream and let the mixture come to a boil; then stir in one and a half dozen oysters that have been heated to a boiling point in their own liquor and drained. Add one egg well beaten and two tablespoonfuls of sherry or not, as one may desire. As soon as the egg is stirred in cover the burner and serve.

For Oyster Saute—Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in the dish, and when hot put a single layer of large, well drained oysters in the bottom of the dish. When browned on one side turn them and brown upon the other, adding more butter if it is needed. Season with salt and paprika and serve with toasted crackers and sliced lemon.—Philadelphia Times.

MINING OF TALC.

Mineral Much Used Though Not Familiarly Known.

The Colliery Guardian gives some notes abstracted by the institution of civil engineers from a paper by P. Pillez, on the "Talc Quarries of Luzenac."

At Luzenac, in the upper valley of the Ariege, talc is quarried on an extensive scale in the granite of St. Barthelemy, a mountain 7,700 feet high, and about twenty miles from the main chain of the Pyrenees.

The quarries, which are situated about two miles from the summit, and 5,900 feet above the sea, are opened in a bedded deposit, included between micaschist below and lower silurian slates above, which has been followed for about 2,000 yards in a north-south direction, with a dip of about 60 degrees to the east, the thickness varying from 160 to 1,000 feet, as does also the composition.

Masses of limestone and granite, the latter often of considerable size, are frequently found included in the silicate of magnesia, which also contains some alumina.

The best rock is of a brilliant white color, and feels greasy to the touch when ground to fine powder. The principal quarry, at Tremouln, is worked in the open, across the direction of the bed, forming two or three terraces fifty feet high, the surface covering, six to ten feet thick, having been first stripped.

The stuff broken is carried by a level, in the bottom of the quarry, driven in the foot wall of the vein to the valley of Axiat, whence it is hauled in bullock wagons, about twelve miles, to the works of Luzenac, where a water-power of ninety horse-power is obtained from the Ariege.

The mechanical preparation includes sizing by sieves, drying in a rotating cylinder furnace, breaking, grinding and sifting.

Nearly the whole of the product is converted into powder, only a small part being made into pencils for marking out work on metal, or sold in the lump form. The consumption extends to almost all parts of Europe and America.

The principal applications are in soap-making and perfumery, paper-making and weaving. It also forms an ingredient in wagon grease, and is used as an insulator for electric conductors.

A new preparation called cupro-statite, made by mixing talc and sulphate of copper, is now being tried with success as an insecticide in vineyards.

WIVES HAVE MANY DUTIES.

Should Be as Versatile as a Hotel Clerk to Do Them All.

In their every-day existence wives have to be the superiors of men. A man who can do several things well is looked upon as a wonder, yet the average housekeeper has a dozen—oh, more! a score or a hundred duties of radically different natures, and if she fails in one she falls short of the requirements of society and her family. Mrs. De Jarnette well expressed this idea before the San Jose institute when she said:

"If a man goes into business, does he assume the duties of head clerk, bookkeeper, cash boy, collector and janitor? And if he could do so—which he cannot and would not even consider—would he look his best, act most agreeable, keep a perpetual smile and have his place of business spotless? Let us look at woman. She enters business—marriage—does she assume duties of head housekeeper, cook, seamstress, laundress, nurse, tutor and outside man?

"And when she does—for she usually does—can she keep her house clean, her temper serene, buttons sewed on, remove all thoughts of care from her husband's heart, keep her prettiest clothes on and scented with violet and lavender, her sweetest smile on and her mouth puckered up for a kiss—for they only come when least expected, for when we yearn for them we usually keep on yearning. No! Of course she can't. Could the angels themselves?

"She can't run all the special departments of a complex marriage with a menagerie of childhood annex, and a husband to come home when twilight falls to claim every iota of reserve vitality left.

"I tell you she will either have to call in some specialist demi-semi-occasionally or else have more simple food, do away with kitchen fads, let the husband help with the little ones and feel a burden of responsibility."—New York

THE LOVELY GREEK.

Paid as Much Attention to Her Toilet as Does a Professional Beauty.

If the Grecian women were beautiful, it was not wonderful, considering the care they gave themselves. The fashionable Grecian woman was of free customs, but she was not depraved. She resembled a professional beauty more than any other class of modern women, but she was far superior in learning and accomplishments. She could be a politician and write eloquent speeches for the head of the republic to deliver. She was versed in sciences, and taught them in public, and she was also a poetess, winning her laurels over male competitors. Her toilet was not her only and sole occupation, though it did take a great part of the morning.

It begins by her slaves frictioning her from head to foot, then placing her in a bath of perfumed water, after which she was again frictioned, this time with ivory brushes, called strigiles. This done, she is anointed with perfumed oils and aromatic fumigations, and then, being wrapped in a sheet, she is laid on a couch, where she partakes of refreshment before the dressing process begins.

The hair is first attended to. It is brushed, combed and rubbed with perfumes, then it is waved or curled with hot irons previously to being dressed in the latest fashion. Gold bands, jeweled pins, pearls and silken nets are in turn worn to complete the head-dress, which in itself is an artistic study, as every statue of Venus tells us. The hair being dressed, the eyebrows and eyelids are touched with incense; and the teeth are brushed with perfumed powders. A perfumed water is also kept for some time in the mouth to perfume the breath.

The whole person is finally sponged with an astringent lotion to prevent wrinkles; and finally, the face and neck are gently touched with a white wash. The hands and feet are also scrupulously attended to. They are rubbed with softened pastes, and the hands are dyed pink, and polished until they shine like glass.—Philadelphia Times.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowles. Never sicken, weaken or gripe.

His Idea of Heaven.

The little boy was going to Sunday school for the first time. He had learned much and had had his curiosity awakened upon the subject of another world and the Deity, to whom he had been told to look with filial affection. One idea that had fixed itself in his young mind was that this Deity resided somewhere in space high above his head. Not long after these impressions had been made, the young man was taken to walk by his cousin. As they approached a hill the small boy was seen to be intently looking upward. "Oh, Annie," he exclaimed in an awed tone, "I think—I know I can see my Heavenly Father over there." Annie looked in the direction indicated. There on the hill, high in the air, was a repairer at work at the top of an electric wire pole.—New York Times.

High Tides Affect Wells.

The high water marks of several extraordinarily high tides have been kept at Easton Point, St. Michael's and Oxford. What is known as the "centennial tide" of September, 1876, has held the record of the highest water mark, and still holds it, although last Thursday morning's (October 1) tide was within an inch of the centennial mark. The recent flood had a singular effect on the flow of the artesian wells on Tilghman's Island. These wells average 400 feet in depth, and many of them have a surface overflow, which increased fully double in velocity and more in volume when the tide was at its highest. It has been noticed before that any unusual high tide is perceptible in the effect it has on the flow of the wells.—Baltimore Sun.

Left Destitute!

Not of worldly goods, but of all earthly comfort, is the poor wretch tormented by malaria. The fell scourge is, however, shorn of its thong in advance by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, its only sure preventive and remedy. Dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, rheumatism, nervousness and kidney complaints are also among the bodily afflictions which this beneficent medicine overcomes with certainty. Use it systematically.

The Cheerful Idiot.

"I wonder why fat people are so uniformly good-natured?" inquired the speculative boarder.

"For the same reason," answered the Cheerful Idiot, "that it would take a fat man so much longer to get mad clear through."—Indianapolis Journal.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

A Question for Prophets.

Gazway—Speaking of the world being round, there is one thing that bothers me.

Jizney—What is that?

Gazway—If it is true that it is round, how is it possible for it to come to an end?—Roxbury Gazette.

Blood...
Bubbles.

Those pimples or blotches that disfigure your skin, are blood bubbles. They mark the unhealthy condition of the blood-current that throws them up. You must get down to the blood, before you can be rid of them. Local treatment is useless. It suppresses, but does not heal. The best remedy for eruptions, scrofula, sores, and all blood diseases, is

Ayer's
Sarsaparilla.

EVENTUALLY HIGHER PRICES FOR WHEAT.

Wheat very seldom goes straight up or straight down; there is usually a reaction which causes a "break" after a "bulge" or a "bulge" after a "break." The time to buy is on the "break;" don't get frightened if it goes against you a little, but HOLD ON. Everything points to a higher level of prices before long. There will be "breaks" and there will be "bulges," but it will gradually work upward. If you want to MAKE MONEY, buy wheat. Margin it from 3c to 5c and hold on to it. Send for our Free Book, explaining option trading. OSBORN, CROSBY & CO., Flour Exchange, Minneapolis.

CHICAGO
FARMERS! A NEW WAY TO SHIP YOUR GRAIN.
INSTEAD of selling your grain at home send it to us and save middleman's profit. We have Saved Other Farmers Thousands of Dollars. Why don't YOU try it? Address for full particulars,
H·H·CARR & CO. 94 Board of Trade, CHICAGO.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER
10¢ 25¢ 50¢
ALL DRUGGISTS
ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 217.

Be Sure

'Tis pure Cocoa, and not made by the so-called "Dutch Process."

Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa is absolutely pure—no chemicals. WALTER BAKER & CO., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

IAN MACLAREN,
ONE OF THE COMPANION'S NOTED CONTRIBUTORS FOR '97.
See Special Offer Below.

Fully 200 of the Most Famous Men and Women of both continents have contributed to the next year's Volume of

The Youth's Companion

Celebrating in 1897 its seventy-first birthday, THE COMPANION offers its readers many exceptionally brilliant features. The two hemispheres have been explored in search of attractive matter.

Distinguished Writers.

IAN MACLAREN.
RUDYARD KIPLING.
HALL CAINE.
FRANK R. STOCKTON.
HAROLD FREDERIC.
MADAME LILLIAN NORDICA.
CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER.
STEPHEN CRANE.
HAMLIN GARLAND.
MAX O'RELL.
W. CLARK RUSSELL.
ALICE LONGFELLOW.
HON. THOMAS B. REED.
ANDREW CARNEGIE.
LIEUT. R. E. PEARY, U. S. N.
DR. CYRUS EDSON.
DR. ED. EVERETT HALE.
DR. LYMAN ABBOTT.
And more than One Hundred other Eminent Writers.

For the Whole Family.

THE COMPANION also announces for 1897, Four Absorbing Serials, Adventure Stories on Land and Sea, Stories for Boys, Stories for Girls, Reporters' Stories, Doctors' Stories, Lawyers' Stories, Stories for Everybody—all profusely illustrated by popular artists. Six Double Holiday Numbers. More than two thousand Articles of Miscellany—Anecdote, Humor, Travel. Timely Editorials, Current Events, Current Topics and Nature and Science Departments every week, etc.

52 Weeks for $1.75. Send for Full Prospectus.

12-Color Calendar FREE.

New Subscribers who will cut out this slip and send it at once with name and address and $1.75 (the subscription price) will receive:
FREE—The Youth's Companion every week from time subscription is received to January 1, 1897.
FREE—Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Double Numbers.
FREE—Our Artistic 4-Page Folding Calendar for 1897, Lithographed in Twelve Beautiful Colors.
And The Youth's Companion 52 Weeks, a full year, to January 1, 1898.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Boston, Mass.

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI | ST.HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 18, 1896. | NUMBER 16.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

Morning Sun, Louisa county, Iowa, will be granted free delivery in accordance with experiments now being made by the department for the establishment of such delivery in rural districts.

A satisfactory outcome is shortly expected of the negotiations with the United States and Germany for a revision of the customs tariff of Tunis, by which the most favored nation treatment will be accorder to them.

There have been many desertions from the ships of the North Atlantic squadron since the vessels have been undergoing repairs at the Brooklyn navy yard. So great has the number been that shore privileges are granted to but few.

Senor Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish minister, would not be interviewed concerning the report published in Washington that he was to be recalled, but sent word to a reporter that there was no truth in the report, which also was not credited at the state department.

People in Print.

Charles Francis Adams has given to the Adams chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution the house at Quincy, Mass., in which John Adams was born.

Col. William E. Potter, one of the best known lawyers in New Jersey, died after a prolonged illness. He was one of the six officers detailed to deliver the colors surrendered by Lee's army to Secretary Edwin M. Stanton at Washington May 1, 1865.

William Osborne, a railroad contractor of national reputation and founder and president of the Atchison (Kas.) Savings bank, died at Waterville, N. Y., aged eighty-seven years. He left a large fortune, accumulated through railroad construction and banking.

D. P. Thompson of Portland has just arrived at San Francisco on the steamship City of Rio Janeiro from Japan. Thompson, who is an ex-United States minister to Turkey, having served there during 1892, has spent several weeks in observation and recreation in the mikado's domain.

Dr. A. H. Landis of Logansport, Ind., died at the advanced age of seventy-five years. He was the father of Kenesaw M. Landis of Chicago, who was secretary to Secretary of State W. Q. Gresham, and also of Congressman-elect C. B. Landis, of the Ninth Indiana district.

Mrs. Elmira Forbes, aged ninety-six, died at the home of her daughter in Cincinnati, O. She was the oldest woman residing in Anderson, Ind., and had survived almost all of her offspring. She was born in Boston in the first year of the century, and her after life was synonymous with the history of Indiana.

Robert Pecongea, the leading member of the remnant of the celebrated Miami Indian tribe, dropped dead at his home near Lafontaine, Ind. Deceased was a grandson of the famous old Miami chief, Me-Shins-Go-Mesia, and a brother of William Pecongea, who in 1872 was appointed chief by President Grant. He was fifty-two years old.

Accidental Happenings.

The boiler of Roderick Baker's steam mill in Perry county, Ky., exploded. The dead are Roderick Baker and Jack Francis.

Warran B. Mason, a commercial traveler, died in Chicago from the effects of his folding bed closing up on him. His back was broken.

The plant of the Boston Bridge company, situated at Cambridgeport, Mass., and covering an area of three acres, was almost entirely wiped out by fire to-day with a loss of about $100,000.

The British steamer Avonmore, Capt. Duncanson, from Galveston on Oct. 20 via Norfolk on Oct. 27 for this port, has signalled off Point Lynas that her cargo in the forehold is on fire.

County Treasurer Burrus, who was injured in the reviewing stand accident, together with Vice President Stevenson and others, on Governor's day at the Iowa semi-centennial celebration at Burlington, died last night of his injuries.

Incendiaries fired James Abbott's house at Hamlin, Va. Cora, his daughter, aged twenty, was burned to death. She was recently acquitted of the alleged blowing up of 'Squire Vance's house with dynamite, killing one and injuring another.

Crimes and Criminals.

Clara Johnson of Toronto Junction, Ont., went to Quincy, Ill., in response to a matrimonial advertisement. There she married Harry P. Warwick, who secured what money she had and then skipped out.

Nelson Ricks, the colored coachman employed by D. R. Bennett, at Waukegan, Ill., was attacked violently with hydrophobia. He was taken to Chicago for treatment at the Pasteur institute.

Rev. W. Johnson, colored, bishop of the Independence M. E. church at Fort Scott, Kas., was convicted of perjury. In attempting to secure an increase in his pension he endorsed his own pension papers with the name of Dr. Wyatt Hogan.

Daniel J. Greenwald, a preacher in the Reformed church, was found hanging in his barn at Bonner Springs, Kas. He had become despondent over business affairs. He had a wife and eight children.

Because H. P. Jenney, an attorney, neglected his wife for the society of Miss Louisa Roy, whitecaps visited her father's house at Capac, Mich., and maltreated her in a shameful manner, notwithstanding her strenuous denial of wrong-doing.

George H. Morrison, the defaulting treasurer of Rensselaer county, N. Y., whose trial for the larceny of $200,000 will be commenced before Justice Parker, has, as alleged, confessed his crime, implicating several well-known business men. He refused to affirm or deny the rumor.

M. K. Holly, a member of the board of education and secretary of the local lodge of the Woodmen of the World, disappeared from Atchison, Kas., leaving his family a note that his body would be found in the river. Holly was seen alive and positively identified in Kansas City afterwards. It is thought he may be a defaulter.

A dispatch from Lordsburg, N. M., says that Deputy Sheriff Frank M. Galloway met death at the hands of a party of fellow officers while camped on the trail of a party of bandits. Galloway was mistaken for a desperado and shot down by his companions, who believed their camp was about to be attacked.

Andrew Jackson, aged twenty years, a colored convict in the penitentiary at Baltimore, Md., was shot and killed in the prison by John B. Wollering, a deputy warden, whom he was about to attack with a shoe knife and hammer. Warden Writer suspended Wollering and placed him formally under arrest. The shooting was done in the shoeshop in the presence of 115 prisoners, and created great excitement.

From Foreign Shores.

While the czar was in Paris he received 90,000 telegrams, aggregating 1,350,000 words.

Prince Mestchersky's newspaper, the Grazhdnin, has been suspended for a month by the Russian authorities.

The British steamer Strath Clyde, from Calcutta for Galveston, is ashore in the river.

The South Australian House of Assembly passed the second reading of the government's bill to restrict its immigration of colored races.

Khalid Bey, president of the criminal court at Constantinople, has been appointed to replace the dismissed vali of Diarbekir.

President Zelaya of Nicaragua has issued a decree making lard duty free from October to April. Flour and corn, which are scarce, are also made free of duty.

The British steamer Avonmore, Capt. Duncanson, from Galveston, on Oct. 20, via Norfolk, Oct. 27, for Liverpool, has signalled off Point Linas that her cargo in the forehold is on fire.

Belgian Flemings are much pleased because the Count of Flanders' son, Prince Albert, the heir presumptive to the throne, recently delivered a speech in Flemish before the Ghent academy.

The Cotton exchange at Bremen has decided to contribute $7,500 to send a commission of experts to Eastern Asit with instructions to report upon the demands there for industrial and commercial products.

Complaints are frequently made by traveling American bicycle riders touring through Germany, of the obstacles and delays caused by the very rigorous laws governing the use of bicycles on the public roads in that country.

While counselling the American missionaries to remain at their posts in Anatolia, the United States minister, Alexander W. Terrell, has induced the removal of the children of the missionaries to places of safety.

The Bremen cotton exchange has decided to contribute $7,500 to send a commission of experts to Eastern Asia with instructions to report upon the demands there for industrial and commercial products.

Owing to the decision of the Belgium council of ministers not to submit to parliament the military reorganization scheme drafted by the minister of war, Gen. Brassine, the latter has resigned, but his resignation has not been accepted.

A dispatch from Berlin says that as a result of a visit to the Krupps' ordnance factory, Emperor William has ordered that all German men-of-war shall henceforth be armed with 15, 21 and 24-centimeter quick firing guns, in addition to the usual heavy artillery.

The Paris Fatin announces that Sidney Odanna has arrived in Paris and intends to bring an action in the French courts against the German embassy, claiming 37,650,000 francs damages. Odanna has just finished a term in prison in Berlin on a charge of intriguing to bring about a war between France and Germany. He contends that he was unjustly sentenced.

Otherwise.

The thirtieth annual session of the National Grange Patrons of Husbandry began at Washington, D. C.

Fighting for a purse at Galena, Kan., Patsy Purtell of Kansas City knocked out James Ferns of Wier City, Kan., in three rounds.

The large general merchandise house of Munscheimer & Daube at Ardmore, I. T., executed a deed of assignment. The liabilities will exceed $100,000. The assets are considerably in excess of the liabilities.

A great brick plant is to be established in proximity to San Francisco which will add materially to the city's manufacturing interests and through new methods may lead to a revolution in that important industry.

The citizens of Denver and of Colorado will extend such a reception to William Jennings Bryan on Nov. 24 as has been equaled in the West only by the remarkable demonstration signalizing the return of Senator H. M. Teller from the St. Louis convention.

The dead body of Justus Seward, an old man who had resided in Dubuque county, Iowa, since 1850, was found on the road. He had been working for a man named Evans for many years. He was a nephew of the statesman, William H. Seward of New York. An early love affair unbalanced his mind.

Farmers of Nebraska are complaining that the heavy snow will seriously interfere with the husking of the corn, and much wheat threshing which has been delayed in Nebraska. This also applies to South Dakota, Northern Kansas and Eastern Colorado, where the snow is quite heavy.

A new order went into effect in the Boston police department whereby patrolmen are forbidden to lean against a building, wall or post. When obliged to stop walking they must stand at least six feet from any upright structure like those named above. The order does not say what they shall do in case of fire, murder or robbery.

IN KENT'S BEHALF

JUDGE M'CONNELL CONFERS WITH GOV. ALLIN.

He Reviews the Case at Length and Expresses a Doubt as to the Guilt of the Condemned Murderer—It Is Thought That Gov. Allin Will Commute the Sentence to Life Imprisonment.

Bismark, N. D., Nov. 17.—It will soon be known whether Kent, now under reprieve in the Fargo jail, will be hanged or sent to the penitentiary for life. The unusual spectacle of a judge who has sentenced a man to death appearing before the chief executive of the state asking a commutation of the sentence has attracted attention. Judge McConnell arrived from Fargo this morning and was consulting with the governor and State's Attorney Voss during the entire day. Voss is decidedly opposed to executive interference, but the general opinion is that the sentence will be commuted. Judge McConnell began his plea by quoting his telegram to Gov. Allin last week, as follows:

"That the writing in the black book should be so minutely written beforehand, the absence of richman on both trials; and a possibility of his tampering with the black book, and the lack of Kent's motives are some of the things that caused me often to hesitate and doubt. Many things occurring on the trial prejudicial to the defendant, it is hard to tell their weight on the jury in fixing the death penalty."

He then reviewed the case at length on these lines, and closed by saying that there was such great room for doubt at to Kent's guilt that justice demanded that the sentence be commuted to imprisonment for life. It is thought here that Gov. Allin will commute the sentence.

Fargo, Nov. 17.—The strain on Kent is beginning to be manifest, and today while a conference is being held in Bismarck, and his life trembles in the balance, he appears extremely nervous. He expresses confidence that the governor will commute the sentence. Kent is said to have given it out that he would never walk to the gallows, and if the governor decides that he must hang he will have to be carried from the jail to the grim instrument of death in the inclosure in the jail yard.

FAKE STORY OF DEATH.

Harry St. John, Alleged Wife Murderer, Said to Be Alive.

Kansas City, Nov. 17.—A special to a local paper from Guthrie, Okla., says: There is considerable excitement both here and at Oklahoma City over the report that Henry St. John, son of ex-Gov. John P. St. John of Kansas, is not dead, as announced three weeks ago. Young St. John was under indictment for the murder of his wife, and his trial was to have commenced shortly after his death was announced. The story of St. John's probable return to life was started a week after his supposed burial, and, though it was strenuously denied, it will not down. It has now been revived by a reliable El Reno man, who declares that within a week he has seen St. John walking on the streets of Kansas City, with Judge J. H. Pitzer of this city, his former associate in the legislature, and afterward his attorney. Continuing, the special states:

"It is a significant fact that as yet it has not been shown that anybody but the doctors and undertaker saw Mr. St. John after his death was announced."

SHOT BY TRAMPS.

One Train Man Pushed Under the Wheels and Another Shot.

Cedar Falls, Iowa, Nov. 17.—Conductor Murphy, of the Burlington & Northern, had a very narrow escape from a violent death in the yards at this place. Just as his passenger train was pulling out a number of tramps attempted to board it. While the conductor and his crew were ejecting them one fired three shots point blank at the conductor. The man was arrested and bound over to the grand jury on the charge of attempt to kill. Early in the same night a brakeman named Treby, living at Fort Dodge, went back over the freight train when but a few miles west of this place, for the purpose of locating a nest of tramps and putting them off. On arrival here the train crew missed the brakeman. A search revealed his dead and mangled body. That he was knocked off by the tramps there can be but little doubt, and the gang is probably the same party that had the trouble on Murphy's train.

THE BLIND SEE.

What the X Ray Does for Lucien Baciqalupi.

San Francisco, Nov. 17. — Lucien Baciqalupi, a totally blind boy, can see objects by the aid of the x rays, according to the statement of Dr. Clarke. His father runs a photograph and kinetoscope establishment. The boy, in company with Dr. Clarke, visited his father's place and in fun was asked to go into the x ray room and ascertain if he could see anything. The boy has been totally blind for fourteen years, but as soon as he put the fluoroscope to his eyes he exclaimed that he could see. He was able to distinguish different objects, but without the use of the x ray was as blind as ever. Dr. Clarke, in speaking of the matter, said that there was probably a film over the boy's eyes, which was impenetrable by ordinary lights, but which was pierced by the powerful x rays.

Turrell's Trial.

Redwood Falls, Minn., Nov. 17.—The trial of ex-Cashier O. B. Turrell, of the insolvent Citizens' bank, on the charge of embezzling funds of the bank, commenced to-day. United States Senator Davis arrived here this morning to assist in the defense.

Will Contest Ended.

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—The contest over the wills of the late James G. Fair ended to-day by the withdrawal of the so-called pencil will which had been offered for probate.

FOR DRY LANDS.

Supreme Court Upholds the Irrigation Law.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The United States supreme court to-day rendered an opinion sustaining the constitutionality of the Wright irrigation law of California and overruling the decision of the United States circuit court, which was against the law's validity.

The case in which the opinion was rendered was that of the Fall Brook Irrigation company vs. Maria King Bradley. It has attracted widespread interest throughout the Rocky mountains and Pacific coast regions because of its importance to the material interests of the entire arid belt, and in the central West and East the suit gained prominence through the fact that ex-President Harrison was of the counsel which argued the case before the supreme court, whose decision has been awaited for months, having been pending a considerable part of the preceding term of the court. Justice Peckham delivered the court's decision to-day. He departed from the usual custom of the justices that he did not read the opinion on which the court based its conclusion, but simply announced that it had decided to uphold the law.

The importance of the decision is not confined to the State of California, but affects the irrigation interests of the entire semi-arid region, many of the states of which have adopted the law. The case also involved the broad constitutional question of the right of taxation without due process of law. Most of the irrigation districts have out large bond issues, which are affected by the decision.

REV. HULL'S CASE.

The Trial of the St. Paul Minister Begins.

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—The trial of Rev. J. C. Hull, ex-pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. church, West St. Paul, on the charge of attempting to poison his wife, whose life was insured, began to-day in the district court. Hull has been in jail since his arrest in August. A jury was secured without much trouble and the taking of evidence began at once. Mrs. Hull, the wife of the prisoner, was the first witness called. She gave a history of her life and told of her illness. She said that her husband confessed to her that he had seduced her sixteen-year-old niece. She then told of the alleged attempted poisoning; how she became deathly sick when her husband gave her medicine out of a certain bottle; how she suspected that she was being poisoned, and finally the arrest. The bottle out of which Mrs. Hull claims Hull gave her the medicine was offered in evidence. It is about half-full of a kidney and liver medicine which an analysis shows to contain ten grains of strychnine. Mrs. Hull was still on the stand when court adjourned.

ON HER OWN BAIL.

Miss Taylor Surrenders in the St. Paul Police Court.

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—Miss Rebecca J. Taylor surrendered herself in police court this morning, and was released on her own recognizance, the bail being fixed nominally at $100. She asked that the case be continued for some time upon the ground that it will take considerable work to gather together the evidence necessary to establish the claim that Judge Schoonmaker was arrested in Minneapolis, as was charged in the issue of her paper, Truth, of Oct. 13. She also told the court that she had not retained an attorney, and that she would like to have time to consult with him before the case was finally set for hearing. Judge Orr said that while he could not grant the request to postpone the case until Dec. 1, he would set the arraignment for to-morrow, by which time the defendant could have secured counsel and be in a better position as to knowing what she intended to do.

BIRDS OF FREEDOM.

Maj. McKinley Receives the Two Eagles from South Dakota.

Canton, Ohio, Nov. 17. — President-elect McKinley was the recipient of two handsome specimens of the Black Hills species of the American eagle to-day. They came in a large crate and were sent by the admirers of Maj. McKinley from Whitewood, S. D. Placards on the crate bore the inscriptions: "Look out for Mark when he reaches for anything." "The tail goes with the hide." The birds are named Mark and Hanna, respectively. The eagles now adorn City Park, having been added to the collection of pets in charge of Supt. Reed.

Serious Moving Accident.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 17.—While moving a house from Hickson to the Minnesota side of the Red river a team became frightened at the bridge and jumped over the railing, taking the house and three men into the river twenty feet below. Two of the men were severely injured, while the third, Lars Olson, was so badly bruised and crushed that his recovery is doubtful. The furniture in the house was a total loss, and the building was badly damaged.

Jones Buys a House.

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 17. — J. Wyman Jones of Engelwood, N. J., a brother-in-law of Marcus A. Hanna, has purchased a summer residence at Bolton. People of that town say it is to be refitted and that Mr. Jones and his family will occupy it next summer. There is no reason to believe that the purchase had anything to do with Maj. McKinley.

Official Votes.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17.—The official canvass gives Brayan a majority of 19,260. Russell (Rep.), for governor, defeats Watson (Dem.) by 8,000. Guthrie (Pop.) received 30,000 votes.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 17.—The official canvass gives Bryan 20,627 plurality.

Killed by Coal Gas.

Minnewaukan, N. D., Nov. 17.—John Hofstrand, aged twenty-four, unmarried, was found dead yesterday in the new school house at Brinsmede, where he was sleeping, to keep up the fire while the building was being plastered. Death was apparently due to coal gas.

A Strong Defense.

Quebec, Nov. 17.—The government has ordered twenty new guns of the latest pattern for the citadel, which will make it one of the strongest defenses in the world.

OFFICIAL FIGURES.

COMPLETE RETURNS ON THE LATE ELECTION.

Forty-Four Counties Have Reported Their Official Returns to the Secretary of State—The Remainder Have Completed the Canvass at the County Seats — McKinley's Plurality Is 53,758 and Gov. Clough Has 4,128 Plurality Over Lind.

Figures printed below are practically an official tabulation of the vote for president and governor at the recent election. Forty-four counties of the eighty-one have reported their official returns to the secretary of state. The remainder have been secured officially from the county seats, with the single exception of Wilkin county. The Prohibitionist, National Democratic and Socialist Labor vote is missing from half a dozen counties. McKinley's majority is 53,758 and Gov. Clough has 4,128 over Lind. The total vote on president is 340,790 and the missing figures will probably increase this to about 342,000. One of the interesting results shown by the table is that unless the few remaining counties show up with a disproportionate vote for the Palmer electors, the National Democrats will have failed to poll the required 1 per cent of the vote to constitute them a political party for the next campaign. They lack about 300 votes of enough with only six counties to bear from. The Prohibitionists polled more than enough votes for their presidential electors to keep them in the field as a party, and about a thousand more for their candidate for governor. The Socialists are below the mark and so is Dr. Ames.

For President.

Counties.	McKinley.	Bryan.	Levering.	Palmer.	Matchett.
Aitkin	855	344	17	9	6
Anoka	1,553	701	24	24	1
Becker	1,479	955	49	15	2
Beltrami	203	213	8	8	..
Benton	778	877	8	14	2
Big Stone	902	700	21	..	..
Blue Earth	4,018	2,764	150	93	10
Brown	1,807	1,469	42	50	15
Carlton	1,176	556	10	13	9
Carver	1,856	1,268	13	44	5
Cass	351	271	..	..	..
Chippewa	1,310	1,037	83	11	8
Chisago	2,653	437	18	17	2
Clay	1,504	1,908	..	..	..
Cook	81	107	1	..	..
Cottonwood	1,242	810	47	16	..
Crow Wing	1,701	1,066	61	30	11
Dakota	2,147	2,210	90	57	22
Dodge	1,900	911	63	18	4
Douglas	1,076	1,361	66	25	..
Faribault	3,116	1,107	82	59	3
Fillmore	4,105	1,930	..	..	..
Freeborn	3,400	1,179	99	26	2
Goodhue	5,748	1,426	118	78	13
Grant	1,002	730	25	9	5
Hennepin	26,786	20,515	450	291	256
Houston	2,067	901	47	37	4
Hubbard	364	341	4	19	1
Isanti	1,490	730	..	..	..
Itasca	797	705	4	6	..
Jackson	1,558	1,150	20	17	8
Kanabec	487	256	7	5	..
Kandiyohi	2,181	1,638	38	17	3
Kittson	753	762	23	13	6
Lac qui Parle	1,620	932	57	21	11
Lake	505	820	6	5	3
Le Sueur	2,225	2,003	56	54	13
Lincoln	662	702	31	30	..
Lyon	1,623	1,351	67	25	..
McLeod	1,595	1,653	43	47	4
Marshall	1,200	1,222	16	16	..
Martin	1,739	1,827	93	32	9
Meeker	2,004	1,538	51	22	12
Mille Lacs	972	456	13	13	4
Morrison	1,960	1,734	51	32	3
Mower	2,379	1,407	85	36	2
Murray	1,204	1,054	21	23	2
Nicollet	1,903	697	22	42	1
Nobles	1,568	1,196	45	33	7
Norman	1,382	1,304	78	20	..
Olmsted	3,201	1,741	83	73	4
Otter Tail	3,544	4,482	162	76	30
Pine	1,152	875	13	20	7
Pipestone	852	919	17	11	..
Polk	2,865	5,080	81	86	81
Pope	1,778	633	43	8	2
Ramsey	17,522	12,015	177	435	207
Redwood	1,819	1,123	..	35	..
Renville	2,553	1,978	51	33	8
Rice	3,463	2,002	108	110	13
Rock	1,200	765	38	15	3
Roseau	287	527	6	5	3
St. Louis	9,810	7,412	92	76	16
Scott	1,128	1,706	62	11	6
Sherburne	1,008	536	18	13	3
Sibley	1,826	1,251	10	47	7
Stearns	2,873	4,911	42	142	..
Steele	2,041	1,248	80	65	11
Stevens	981	685	..	7	..
Swift	1,273	1,222	40	18	7
Todd	2,013	1,730	..	..	..
Traverse	589	963	22	23	5
Wabasha	2,530	1,030	76	61	7
Wadena	874	534	25	7	1
Waseca	1,902	1,244	57	20	8
Washington	3,905	1,558	47	88	8
Watonwan	1,622	586	33	10	9
Wilkin	530	754	..	..	..
Winona	3,935	3,528	60	89	18
Wright	3,312	2,172	40	37	9
Yellow Med.	1,578	1,015	63	21	1
Totals	193,295	139,537	3,968	3,115	881
Plurality	53,758

For Governor.

	Clough.	Lind.	Dean.	Ames.	Hammond.
Aitkin	744	441	12	12	4
Anoka	1,516	852	22	81	1
Becker	1,360	1,186	45	3	5
Beltrami	193	218	2	3	1
Benton	745	904	11	9	3
Big Stone	900	871	45	.....	.....
Blue Earth	3,428	3,310	148	40	16
Brown	1,359	1,986	23	13	4
Carlton	992	701	11	3	7
Carver	1,647	1,535	18	15	5
Cass	303	283	.....	.....	.....
Chippewa	1,064	1,271	26	8	8
Chisago	2,244	677	10	14	.....
Clay	1,352	2,152	.....	.....	.....
Cook	57	122	.....	1	.....
Cottonwood	1,076	970	33	5	1
Crow Wing	1,550	1,194	31	45	20
Dakota	1,746	2,719	111	83	21
Dodge	1,711	996	74	8	4
Douglas	1,682	1,696	44	12	.....
Faribault	2,770	1,877	92	21	4
Fillmore	3,803	2,133	195	.....	.....
Freeborn	2,962	1,426	133	34	4
Goodhue	5,073	1,991	92	21	12
Grant	795	932	31	3	1
Hennepin	21,170	24,375	956	1,219	264
Houston	1,863	1,183	45	4	2
Hubbard	318	361	15	7	2
Isanti	1,187	1,082	11	9	1
Itasca	750	638	.....	.....	.....
Jackson	1,328	1,326	.....	.....	.....
Kanabec	348	371	8	6	1
Kandiyohi	1,778	2,031	22	9	2
Kittson	514	906	11	7	6
Lac qui Parle	1,230	1,362	58	13	1
Lake	461	456	4	6	2
Le Sueur	2,051	2,260	67	20	9
Lincoln	534	865	30	3	10
Lyon	1,386	1,542	.....	.....	.....
McLeod	1,478	1,838	51	16	11
Marshall	890	1,540	15	6	3
Martin	1,817	1,573	72	8	6
Meeker	1,098	1,925	43	17	9
Mille Lacs	957	473	12	10	1
Morrison	1,722	2,096	61	27	9
Mower	2,970	1,820	92	34	6
Murray	986	1,297	23	8	3
Nicollet	1,521	1,134	24	25	3
Nobles	1,430	1,315	60	3	5
Norman	1,261	1,370	38	12	.....
Olmsted	2,925	2,013	101	26	9
Otter Tail	3,071	4,785	212	59	18
Pine	994	968	11	7	11
Pipestone	756	873	20	3	6
Polk	2,521	5,216	105	44	37
Pope	1,527	895	45	11	1
Ramsey	15,911	13,210	274	248	250
Redwood	1,570	1,366	38	11	.....
Renville	2,180	2,815	61	16	6
Rice	2,104	2,342	112	40	17
Rock	1,038	896	29	8	4
Roseau	265	540	11	14	4
St. Louis	8,276	8,293	100	72	48
Scott	1,001	1,734	48	17	10
Sherburne	928	574	25	11	3
Sibley	1,520	1,443	38	16	3
Stearns	2,675	5,182	78	30	22
Steele	1,849	1,443	83	22	3
Stevens	551	839	.....	.....	.....
Swift	1,016	1,558	34	17	4
Todd	1,853	1,913	98	37	3
Traverse	436	1,000	27	19	12
Wabasha	2,147	1,962	[illegible]	19	3
Wadena	796	475	28	3	3
Waseca	1,561	1,188	51	15	3
Washington	2,378	2,000	28	[illegible]	3
Watonwan	1,328	822	34	3	9
Wilkin	407	886	.....	.....	.....
Winona	2,450	2,816	[illegible]	52	30
Wright	2,695	2,620	66	37	10
Yellow Med.	1,333	1,212	37	6	3
Totals	188,105	181,975	4,950	2,746	1,086
Plurality	4,128

THOUGHT THEY WERE YANKEES.

Spaniards in Cuba Treat Shipwrecked Englishmen Harshly.

New York, Nov. 17.—Among the passengers who arrived to-day on board the Ward line steamer Yucatan from Havana were Capt. Nelson and twelve of the crew of the British steamer Coita, which ran ashore on Colorado reef on Nov. 4. Later the steamer got off into deep water, and Capt. Nelson attempted to run her across the strait to Key West, but the water gained so rapidly that they abandoned the steamer, which shortly afterward sank in deep water. The shipwrecked seamen landed on the Cuban coast about sixty miles west of Havana, when they fell into the hands of Spanish soldiers, who, believing them to be filibusters from the American coast, treated the prisoners harshly, threatening to shoot all hands. Finally they were removed to Havana, where they were taken in charge by the British consul, who sent them to New York. Henry W. Delorey, one of the shipwrecked crew, said to-day:

"On landing in Cuba we were taken in charge by a troop of soldiers, who escorted us to a sugar estate. Here they used us very kindly, but they had strong suspicion that we were American filibusters. Later in the day another troop of soldiers took us to Mariel, where they insisted I could speak Spanish. I was taken to headquarters and questioned by a big Spaniard, who asked if we were English or American. I answered 'English.' 'No, American,' said he, striking me on the neck and over the head with a loaded cane, stunning me. The blood ran down my face and back, and as three soldiers pointed their guns at me, I expected to be shot. The Spaniards, failing to learn that there were Americans among our crew, I was dismissed. We were compelled to sleep on the bare stone floor, with soldiers on guard. We were then sent to Havana, where we were cared for by the British consul. If we had been Americans we would never have lived to tell the tale."

DYNAMITE.

Dastardly Attempt to Blow Up a Boston Hotel.

Boston, Nov. 17.—There was an attempt made early to-day to blow up the Hotel Highland, Roxbury, by the use of dynamite. The hotel is a four-story eighth apartment house. The chimney and one of the upper stories was badly wrecked by the explosion. It is alleged that the dynamite was used for the purpose of revenge. After the explosion the police found on the roof three unexploded sticks of dynamite, eight inches in length. They think the intention was to have the bombs explode simultaneously, which would surely have caused terrible destruction. Cornelius O'Brien, Roxbury, is the owner of the hotel. It was purchased some time ago from Nicholas Bolande, a contractor, who built the house for speculation. After the sale some question of ownership arose, and O'Brien was sued by Bolande, who lost the case. These facts have been reported to the police, together with the information that there have been five new janitors at the building within a month. Each janitor left without giving any reason for doing so. What this has to do with the case the police do not know yet.

MAHER WINS.

The Irish Pugilist Whips Choynski in Six Rounds.

New York, Nov. 17.—Peter Maher, the Irish heavy-weight boxer, last night whipped Joe Choynski, the Californian, in six rounds. For the first five rounds it was about an even thing. at the opening of the sixth round Choynski rushed at Maher and got in a good left on the face. Both began slugging with lefts and rights on body and face. Choynski staggered Maher to the ropes with a left on the chin. Then they slugged right and left, but the Irishman's weight told and Choynski went to the floor. He came up again but went down inside of three seconds from another right swing on the head. This time Choynski stayed down for nine seconds, and as soon as he staggered to his feet Maher rushed at him with a well-delivered right-hand swing on the jaw knocking him down and out. Time of sixth and last round 2:25. Choynski, who has frequently developed wonderful recuperative powers, surprised everybody by regaining consciousness in less than a minute, and needed no assistance from his seconds in making his way to the dressing room.

Strychnine Caused Engel's Death.

Milwaukee, Nov. 17.—There is little doubt now that Col. Fred Engel, who was a member of Gov. Upham's staff, committed suicide. The post mortem shows that there was strychnine in the stomach, and the physicians who conducted it reported to the coroner that he died of poisoning. Col. Engel did not tell his wife of the trouble he had with his employers, but he confessed to a friend that he was short to the amount of $300. He said that he had been out of employment for some time, that his creditors were pressing him, and that he took the money so that his wages would not be garnisheed, intending to return it as soon as possible. In the meantime the shortage was discovered and he was discharged. He said that he could not tell his wife, and that he would kill himself. His father, who is a well-to-do citizen of Kenosha, will take the body to that city for burial.

Prominent Man Killed.

Cincinnati, Nov. 17.—J. P. Carpenter, one of the largest lumber dealers of this city, and a resident of Covington, Ky., and D. H. Lyons, a prominent architect of this city, were killed today. They were walking on the tracks of the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern railway, talking about business when they were caught by trains going in opposite directions, and in their confusion were killed.

Reed at Duluth.

Duluth, Nov. 17.—Tom Reed was the guest of Duluth for a time yesterday. He came from Winnipeg, accompanied by Congressman Aldrich of Illinois and his daughter. The speaker is on his way to Washington from his campaigning tour of the coast.

Berth for Forman.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The president has appointed William H. Forman, ex-congressman from Illinois, to be commissioner of internal revenue, to succeed Miller, resigned.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

The Farmers' National congress will be held at St. Paul next year.

The Southern Minnesota teachers held a meeting at Mankato.

Grass Brothers of Wabasha made an assignment. Assets, $5,000; liabilities, not known.

The trial of Johnson and Kelly, the Wyoming murderes, was commenced at Center City.

Caspar Peterson, a fourteen-year-old boy, accidentally shot himself while out hunting near Hallock. Death followed instantly.

John Johnson, a tramp, pleaded guilty at Wabasha to the charge of criminal assault and was sentenced to Stillwater for thirty years.

David Blakely, manager of Sousa's band and formerly connected with the St. Paul Pioneer Press, died suddenly in New York.

Peter Lee, residing at Fiftieth street and Lyndale avenue, Minneapolis, accidentally shot himself while hunting rabbits.

T. H. Ivey, of 1245 Charles street, St. Paul, was seriously injured in a street car accident near the corner of Snelling and University avenues, and her thirteen-year-old daughter was also hurt.

Until Nov. 30 bids will be received by the city of Moorhead for $40,000 6 per cent 20-year bonds. These bonds were authorized by a vote at the late election.

The little child of Conrad Kelfiesch of East Grand Forks, while playing with matches, got his clothing afire and was badly burned before help arrived. He will probably die.

A Cottonwood county prisoner named Emerson, lodged in Blue Earth county jail, made an attempt to saw his way out, but was detected. He is waiting trial for burglary.

It is reported at Park Rapids that Game Warden Fullerton and deputies have captured a large band of Indians with guns and a large amount of game illegally killed, including several moose, near that place.

William Ableman of Faribault attached a grindstone to a horse-power and run it to a speed sufficient to burst the stone. He was killed by a piece of the stone, which struck him on the head.

A sad accident occurred at Milaca recently. A young man, Charles Curtis, while crossing a dam above here, on his way deer hunting, slipped and fell and, as he did so his rifle was discharged, the bullet going through his brain and causing instant death.

John Clearly, arrested in Minneapolis on a charge of drunkenness, made an attempt to commit suicide at the central police station by hanging himself up with a rope made of his clothing. He was discovered before he had completed his job.

The preliminary examination of Louis Balser, proprietor of the American house, who shot his wife on Nov. 2, was held at Mankato. He was bound over to the December term of court. Balser made no defense, and maintains his indifference.

The United States court adjourned at Mankato. Edward Chimberski of Jackson, charged with sending obscene letters through the mails at Jackson, was sentenced, on account of his youth, to one year in the state reformatory at St. Cloud.

The afternoon passenger on the Fort Dodge division of the Minneapolis & St. Louis road killed an old man on the track between Emmons and Norman. He was walking on the track and when warned by the engineer ran ahead of the train.

Word reaches Winona that sentence has been imposed upon John Johnson, age twenty-two years, by Judge O. B. Gould of Winona, in the district court at Wabasha. Johnson is the tramp who recently assaulted a seventeen-year-old girl at Kellogg, having gagged her mother first. The sentence was for thirty years.

Adne Gladden, a boy who has been working at Winnebago City for some months, has been struck by a singular good fortune. He received word that an uncle had died in Wisconsin and left him property valued at $40,000. Young Gladden is about eighteen years old, and has been working in Froelich & Co.'s meat market.

A son of F. Breshoff of Norwood, while playing with a 22-calibre gun, accidentally shot his brother. The bullet entered near the eye and mangled one side of the face terribly, although it is hoped that the child will recover. It seems that the boy with the gun was at the head of a flight of stairs and his brother below received the charge.

Grant Brambel, of the Western Union at Sleepy Eye, was given letters patent for a rotary engine last December. Recently, it is said, he received an offer of $320,000 for his patent by an English syndicate. Mr. Bramble has spent over twelve years in studying up and perfecting this patent, which is bound to revolutionize engine building if one-tenth of what is claimed for it is realized.

Nels Wedmark, living near the depot at Anoka, got into a fight, was beaten and went home for his revolver. Returning, he made several dance to his will, firing two shots. Chief Harrington arrived, and Wedmark shot four times point blank at him. Harrington was not pleased and put a bullet in Wedmark's right leg above the knee. Wedmark was said to be drunk.

A bold robbery was committed at St. Joseph, Stearns county, recently. Thieves entered the general store of Kotchvar & Timmers, dealers in general merchandise, blew open the safe with dynamite and secured notes and checks to the amount of $4,000 and $10 in cash. Nearly all the checks secured were Great Northern pay checks. The police have no clue, though they are working diligently on the case.

Henry Heller, employed on the government steamer Ada as lineman, was drowned near King's Cooley, six miles below Lake City. He and his fellow lineman were getting the lines ready to tie the boat, when they both slipped and fell into the lake. Mr. Heller was a good swimmer, but it is thought he was taken with cramps. He was twenty-three years of age. His parents reside in Fountain City, Wis.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞If you want anythicg in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:51 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn.
41

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 18, 1896.

The republican plan of finance, as elaborated by the Minneapolis Journal in their Monday night's issue, is to arrange some plan whereby the greenbacks of the government shall be retired and nothing issued by the government but gold and silver money. This is simply the beginning of the end and the next suggestion would be to let the national banks extend their issue of greenbacks and give them the further privelege of charging a good rate of interest to loan to the people, the people's own money. The greenbacks of the government are issued to the people simply backed by the credit of the government and with no gold, or silver to make it good money at its back. It is this fact that makes the gold standard advocates so anxious to have the greenbacks retired. The word "credit" is from the Latin word "credo" which means "I believe," so that the people simply express their confidence in their own government when there greenbacks are taken in exchange the country over. The republican theory is that the thing that makes any kind of money is good, is what the material it is made of could be sold for in case the government stamp were burned off, and the material sold in bulk, like so much junk.

Their theory don't work in the case of the greenback, as were the stamp to be removed, the greenback would not be worth the sixteenth of a cent, as blank paper, showing that there is something else, after all, that makes the money of any country good or bad other than its intrisic value or material value, and our gold standard friends are afraid that the people may wake up to this fact if left with the greenbacks or expressions of confidence in the government in their hands, and they are willing to adopt any measure that will hasten the taking of them from the people. If any foreigner were to come into our country and say that the credit of our country counts for nothing, we would be inclined to give him a chance to change his residence, but when the managers of a great political party tell us practically the same thing, when some of our own citizens express the same doubt, as they do when they say this great nation would not be able to make and keep good any money it might issue, we meekly submit to it and say nothing, and by our ballots show that we think they are right. It almost seems as if history were repeating itself and that the people of the United States were rapidly approaching the lethargic stage that enveloped the people of the Roman Republic that led to overwhelming corruption in high places, and the overthrow of the republic. Our affairs for years have been managed solely for the benefit of the rich and influencial, and we think that the next four years will prove the people that they will have to wake up if they ever expect to have any further control of the government of this country; that benefit may be derived by all and not by the favored few, through legislation. We have had the gold standard, and we have had protection, and through it all the rich have steadily grown richer and the poor steadily poorer, until the poor turn in despair and repeat the words of the humble Nazarene in his agony, "My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Our country has increased in wealth we count that as prosperity but it all goes into the pockets of the already too wealthy. We look hopefully to the future, but only by a system of study, through education and determined resistance to any further encrouchment as that proposed through the Minneapolis Journal, does there seem to be any hope for our speedy national liberation from the grasp of the monied and selfish interests of our country?—G. F. Plaindealer.

The Milton (N. D.) Globe says that the matter of freight rates is one that should command the attention of the legislature and advises the State Business Men's association to co-operate with the legislatures of this state and Minnesota and have this matter adjusted. The Globe's suggestion is timely, and it is one which will meet with a responsive sentiment everywhere. Here is a chance for associations to distinguish themselves and if pressure is brought to bear, means much. The Globe ends the article by saying. "We are paying altogether too high freight rates. Let us have them reduced. We do not expect rates to be reduced as low as in the thickly settled states in the east, but we do not think it necessary to continue paying the grossly unjust rates which we are now paying on coal and other articles which we import and export."

Try It and See.

Whatever may be said about the publications of Rev. Irl R. Hicks by those who do not fully understand the facts, there is no denying the truth that his paper and Almanac have come to stay. His splendid journal, WORD AND WORKS, is now entering its tenth year, largely increased in circulation and in every way improved, until it deserves the national reputation it has attained. His 1897 Almanac is now ready and is by far the finest and most beautiful he has yet issued. It contains 108 pages, including cover artistically printed in colors, and is filled from back to back with just what is wanted in every shop, office and home in America. One feature of the Almanac for 1897 is a series of 12 original, beautifully engraved star maps, with explanatory chapters, which could not be bought for less than five dollars in any work on astronomy. As Mr. Hicks has so correctly and faithfully warned the public of coming droughts, floods, cold waves, blizzards, tornadoes and cyclones, in the years passed, aside from the other varied and splendid features of his paper and Almanac, these considerations alone should prompt every family to subscribe at once for 1897. The Almanac is only 25cts. a copy. WORD AND WORKS is one dollar a year, and a copy of the fine Almanac goes as a premium with every yearly subscription. Write to WORD AND WORKS Publishing Co. St. Louis, Missouri.

The gold that is now passing over the bank counters could have just as safely appeared long months ago. The factories which are starting the wheels to turning need not ever stopped. The whole thing was a grand political bluff and they made it win. Now they are paying out gold and starting their mills just to show their power.

How an Equine Friend Was Regarded and Treated In Ancient Times.

It is perhaps small matter for wonder that the nations who first tamed the horse for riding attached high honor to the creature, seated on whose back they scoured with such swiftness. The exhilaration of riding is one which custom does not stale and which affects the civilized rider of today, if he be of an emotional nature, probably almost as keenly as it did the ancient Scythian, German or Slav. In addition to this, neighboring races who had not this art looked upon those who had it with a kind of superstitious wonder, weaving strange stories about them. The horsemen of Thessaly appeared to the other Greeks through a mist of fables as centaurs, half man, half brute, but wholly divine. And in the frank fashion of all primitive people the horseman gave back to the horse the glory that he received reflected from it and made of his comrade in war and chase a kind of deity.

The ancient Germans took oracles from white horses, just as the Egyptians did from their sacred oxen. The animals were kept in groves and gave augury by neighing. Among the Slavs the sword combined with the horse to foretell future events. The weapons were planted in the ground, and the horses led among them. By the movements of the beasts the attending priests judged the will of the gods. Among the Norsemen the sacrifice of a horse and the eating of its flesh was a token of sacramental allegiance to Odin.

Among the ancient Irish, when a king was crowned in Ulster, it was customary to slay a white mare and boil it in a vat. Into this vat the newly made king descended and there sat, drinking the broth and tasting small portions of the meat. The eating of horseflesh was so well recognized as a heathen rite that the early Christian saints forbade it to their converts. Among the Scythians the horse was deemed sacred to the sun, and its worship crossed the Himalayas and was early established among the Rajput kings.

Next to a human being, who probably was, as a matter of fact, never sacrificed in ancient India, the horse was the most acceptable offering to the gods. It is laid down in the Puranas that the sacrificer of 100 horses ousts Indra, the king of the gods, from his throne and reigns in paradise (swarga) in his stead. There is no record, however, of any one having earned this surpassing felicity. Kings, on attaining the throne, usually sacrificed a horse, their tributary princes performing the more menial duties connected with the aswamedha (horse sacrifice). Indeed, even the office of porter in this solemn rite could only be assumed by one of royal blood. One of the books of the great Hindoo epic, the Mahabharata, contains an account of the ashwamedha held by Yudhisthira, king of the Pandus, when he had, by the defeat of the Karavas, firmly established his rule over northern India. The sacred horse was turned loose to wander wherever it listed for a year, while the loyal army followed it everywere at a respectful distance. Other tribes whose pastures it crossed were given the option of either turning out in force to join the triumph of the horse or of accepting wager of battle. At the end of the year the horse was led back to the palace and there sacrificed.—London Standard.

BABOO ENGLISH.

Some Unique Examples of How It Is Expressed In India.

Captain F. M. Randall copied the certificates of a dumb man encountered upon his interesting mission to Nepaul—for the purpose of raising a second battalion to the renowned Third ghookas. Didar Singh, schoolmaster of the Twenty-first N. I., wrote: "This poor Brahmin seems to be deprived of speaking organ. It appears from his several certificates that his family also is deprived of some organ or other. All people who wish to show pity on poors will help this poor Brahmin. Signed," etc. A second was fascinating as a cryptograph, "This Brahmin I hope the other gentleman support to them and cannot speak and have talk." A third pointed out that "this follow is certainly too meserable on account of his being both deaf and dumb. He wants help from the public for God's sake. Paid 4 annas." A fourth urged: "Please any small donation may be given to the bearer of this book. He is actually dumb and more so. Very poor." Another kind soul took the opportunity to repeat the "beatitudes" in this fashion, "Blessed are they that their persecution for ritousness sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." Finally there was a testimonial bearing the mystic signature "Loftus:" "Hoping that everybody shall help the man as far as they can. The bearer of this, I presume a Brahmin, is apparently dumb as I have by subjecting him to a test on this point though it might be questioned whether he only sustains life on milk if so milk must be truly nourishing diet as his phisical condition testifies this of course does not alter the fact that he is really deserving of support which I hope the Chandari populace will afford him."

Lady Dufferin has recorded some examples in her own experience. Telegrams from a station master during an outbreak of cholera: "All railway Baboos assembled. To stay here is in death. What can Baboo give in exchange for his soul? In anticipation of sanction we all leave tonight." During the viceregal stay at Mysore a servant of the maharajah used to offer her ladyship a bouquet every morning with the words, "A delicate attention." Finally he presented a petition signed: "G. P. Don Juan. Talented Lepidoptera." "Here's another brilliant conception," said he in delivering it. A protege wrote to Lady Dufferin, "You have been very kind to me, and may God Almighty give you tit for tat." It is not for want of matter that I stop. Yet, to balance the account, here is one from the other side, which I cannot guarantee, however. It is told in India that when Sir Salar Jung offered his nuzzar (present) to her majesty, the English press made him offer a mugger (crocodile). — Frederick Boyle in Westminster Gazette.

Joan of Arc on the Battlefield.

In battle her courage was fearless, and well it was that it was so, for each success was dearly bought, her indomitable energy alone inspiring her faint hearted followers. When her troops threatened retreat, it was by throwing herself into the thickest of the fight, crying, "They are ours!" that she turned defeat to victory. Often wounded, she disdained the pain of her mangled flesh and remained on the field as an example to her men. A gracious woman withal, her pity was even greater than her courage, braving and receiving blows, but never returning them. She had but one weapon, her banner, for her sword never left its scabbard. Later she was to say that she "loved her banner a thousand times more than her sword." At night, when the heat of battle was assuaged, her tears fell at the thought of the wounded and the dead. "I have never seen French blood shed without my hair standing on end," was one of her naive utterances. The enemy commanded her pity as well, and she was as often seen assisting the dying English as her own people. Thus she was not only the mind which directs, she was likewise the heart filled with sympathy, the soul solicitous of the welfare of other souls, intuitively understanding that the soldier who fights the best is he whose heart is pure. In the same spirit she lightened the burden of the army by curtailing useless luggage, and she drove away the disreputable women who had followed the camp and with them the debauchery and disorder which they had brought. On the other hand, she gently admonished her soldiers to clear their conscience, to be virtuous and religious as well as brave.—"The National Hero of France," by Maurice Boutet de Monvel, in Century.

Infelicitous Candor.

A certain good minister of Indiana lost from his flock a prominent parishioner, and, wishing to have good music at the funeral, a quartet was summoned. When the time arrived for the singing, the minister announced:

"The Glee club will now render a selection."—Short Stories.

Association With the Highest.

In all societies it is advisable to associate, if possible, with the highest, not that the highest are always the best, but because, if disgusted there, we can at any time descend; but, if we begin with the lowest, to ascend is impossible. In the grand theater of human life a box ticket takes us through the house.—[illegible]

If you are particular

About the accommodations you get when traveling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.

If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.

Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday. $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone. $1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth —something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1 75

☞Sample copies sent free on application. Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

U.S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 27th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U.S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Dec. 8th 1896, viz:

Karl A Sundahl, Hd. Lots 2, 3, and 4 Sec. 6 tp. 152 N. range 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Simon E. Ahlberg, Daniel Johnson, Andrew Nelson and Anton Peterson, all of St. Hilaire, P. O., Minn.

13-18 WM. ANGLIM, Receiver.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year Free; or we will send it and this paper one year f[illegible]

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

The BEER

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

LIVERY SALE, AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

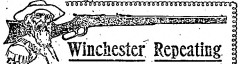
Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved, neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	6.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.0
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.0 to [illegible]
NE of SE 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	4.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 31	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.0
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 25	3.75
Lot 1 of 31	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
6 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 25	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 13	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 21	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

☞For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.



Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample goods for the winter trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours.
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL
M. Z. EPPERSON
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

M. W. OF A., CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Friday of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	60c	Butter	5@8
Oats	15c	Eggs	7c
Barley	18c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	60c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

Wood wanted at this office.

Wheat is on the down hill slide again.

Get your milk tickets printed at this office.

—"Money talks" so does good advertising.

Garfield county was knocked out by five votes.

One week from tomorrow is Thanksgiving day.

Will Bloom is back again on a collecting trip.

The St. Hilaire feed mill runs three days a week.

St. Hilaire presented a lively appearance Monday.

The dog catcher nabbed a dog yesterday. Look out.

The sidewalks are in the best of condition for skating.

Uncle Tom's Cabin company is touring the northwest.

Two mud-hens were killed below the dam last Saturday.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

The apron on the lower side of the dam is about completed.

J. Hogquist, the tailor was around delivering suits Monday.

H. Halvorson is again at his old stand with Dan Patterson.

Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

The Late Northern, as usual, was late Monday by an hour or more.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Mrs. Jacob Thill of Wylie did shopping here between trains Friday.

Ed. Aubol is rejoicing over the event of a girl which arrived last week.

N. N. Nelson, of Clearwater, was in the village last Friday and Saturday.

Haul in a load of wood and get a years subscription to the SPECTATOR.

Make arrangements with your best lady and take in the Thanksgiving ball.

Mark Hanna says the Cleveland democrats will be rewarded for their work.

A large number of deer have been shipped from the upper Falls this season.

Remember Anderson Bros., will grind feed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Lumber is on the ground for a new residence just south of W. C. Peters' property.

An extra session of congress will be called for the purpose of tinkering with the tariff.

Four mooseare on exhibition at Thief River Falls. They say they are monsters in size.

If the "big daily papers" are authority, times are good now. Have you noticed the change?

J. A, Dainard arrived home Monday from the east where he had been with a car load of stock.

R. H. Aimer has been spending several days in Kittson county looking after some collections.

Remember this office takes wood on subscription. Bring us a load of cord wood, stove wood or poles.

And now they have commenced to pay the laborers off in that "yellow stuff" commonly called gold.

Jack Barton is over on the reservation slaughtering deer. He has two marked to his credit up to date.

Over a foot of snow on the ground and still a few robins and black birds are with us. This is no dream either.

Cush Davis or Boss Marriam, one of them is booked for a cabinet position under the Hanna reign of government.

Anderson Bros., who recently rented the St. Hilaire feed mill, will grind feed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

An ad is like a blazing star,
It tells the world just where you are.
—Printers Ink.

O. Sundstagen, the sample room supply man called on customers yesterday.

The first young blizzard of the season is getting in its work to-day with the snow.

Use the following motto for the next six months and it will help some. "Shut the door."

Three collectors for different machine companies are here collecting and securing up papers.

J. Q. Adams practical optician and jeweler of Red Lake Falls did professional work here Tuesday.

Tickets including supper for the Thanksgiving ball only $1.00. Good music and good time assured.

The pair of sun-dogs came out awful bright this morning and looked as if winter was on us with a vengeance.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Olson are now nicely located in their new home on Wall street, lately vacated by Knute Gigstad.

Dame rumor is responsible for the report that one of our most popular young men is soon to enter the matrimonial state.

Pete Anderson, a farmer living east of here brought in eight deer yesterday. Himself and neighbors have killed sixteen up to date.

The figure six is a lucky number in Kittson county politics. Several candidates slipped into the easy chair by that crooked figure.

Masters Earl Arthur and Garnie Francis have a warm spot in their hearts for O. F. Post who presented both with a nice band sled.

S. D. Patrick, who has been with the Shevlin-Carpenter lumber company for the past year, left Friday for his old home at Litchfield.

Elsewhere in the columns of this paper will be found the totals of state and county candidates. Preserve the figures for future reference.

The county seat of Roseau county was visited by another fire last week. This time it was a drug store and saloon that went up in smoke.

St. Hilaire has lost many thousands of dollars worth of trade since the bridge went out last spring. In a few days it will be the same as of yore.

All those wishing feed ground please remember that that Anderson Bros., run their feed mill at St. Hilaire every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Rapp & Post have shipped four car loads of hay so far this week which will be distributed to towns along the Cavalier branch in North Dakota.

W. A. Arthur will give a grand Thanksgiving ball and supper. Make a date with your best girl and be there. This will be the event of the season.

We have two fine specimens of strong men in our village, one of them stands six feet four and the other six feet and eight inches and built in proportion.

S. W. Vance, the brick manufacturer of Crookston was doing business it this village Monday. Mr. Vance as a business man and entertainer is above par.

Miss Mary Quandy will be pleased to have the ladies of St. Hilaire and vicinity call and inspect goods and leave orders for what they want for the holidays.

The citizens of Fertile will contest the election of Garfield county. It will be remembered that the Garfield county proposition was defeated by only five votes.

E. C. Kiley, an old North Dakota editor, and at president editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, this state, is in luck. He is elected judge of probate of Itasca county.

J. Hogquist, the tailor has some Grand Forks woolen goods suitable for making up into nice winter suits. Call and see him when you want anything in his line.

Sam Dainard who has been buying stock in the vicinity of Fertile for the past ten days returned from St. Paul yesterday where he delivered five car loads of cattle.

A grand Thanksgiving ball will be given at Brink's hall Thursday evening Nov. 26th. Good music and a good time assured. Tickets $1.00 including an oyster supper.

A. L. Arpin and Henry Norlans were hustling around among the farmers last week trying to gather up 500 piles which will be used for a foundation of the new saw mill.

The good sleighing the past week has brought a great many farmers to town. Next week when the new county bridge is completed St. Hilaire will assume her old time appearance with thronged streets.

Now and then you hear a rumor of getting up a Thanksgiving ball. The right way to go at this is to hire the hall and good music, then let the people know about it through the columns of this paper.

Frankman Bros., the bridge contractors have made arrangements whereby they will ship twelve cords of stone from here for filling the tubes in the Mallory bridge. It takes four cords to fill each tube.

A party of our young town people, consisting of two sleigh loads, took in the dance last Saturday evening which was given at Mr. Froom's, a few miles west of here. They all report as having an enjoyable time.

Married at the residence of Mikkle Bakken in the town of Rocksbury, on Sunday, November 15th 1896, Martin Bakken to Miss Ingrid Estenson. The ceremony was performed in a creditable manner by Judge Norland.

Do you want to trade cord wood for a second ☞ box stove? If so call at this office and make a deal.

The St. Hilaire Lumber company, of St. Hilaire, Minn., of which Thos. H. Shevlin of this city is the president has had prepared plans for a new mill and work will begin soon. It is the intention of the company to have the mill completed ready to begin the season's sawing in the spring. The new will be equipped the first season with a single band saw giving it a capacity of about 15,000,000 feet. It will be so constructed as to admit of the putting in of a gang saw later on if the company should so desire. They have large holdings of timber in the tributary Red Lake district and are adding to them every little while. During the winter they will log about 15,000,000 feet and be prepared for the sawing season of 1897.—Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

C. G. Rapp is credited by the Crookston papers as opening his usual large heart when he read of the brave effort of Johnnie Olson to save his brother Otto from freezing he selected a new suit of clothes and sent it to the boy as a gift.

Dr. Watson and H. Sarasin of Red Lake Falls were in the village Sunday a short time. On their way home from the upper Falls the had the misfortune to break the cutter while crossing the railroad track and were compelled to go home in a bob sleigh.

During the campaign W. J. Bryan the silver candidate for president made 592 speeches, in 27 different states, in 447 towns and cities, and he has traveled in making them 18,831 miles. He has traveled more miles and made more speeches in a given length of time than any other American.

Some of the married men of this city who own dogs ought to train their dogs to stay at home, especially in the small hours of the morning. To see a dog sitting outside of a sample room with his nose pointed directly at the door is evidence of the fact that the owner of that dog is within.—E. G. F. Courier.

Erskine Enterprise:—The hog cholera, which has done so much damage in other parts of this county, has broken out around here lately. Quite a number of hogs are dead already and a number are afflicted. Notices have been posted forbidding the selling of pork.

Gather up the promises and pledges of the Hanna-McKinley party and keep tab on their fulfillment. They have promised you revival of business—opening of mills and factories, employment of the idle at good pay in good money. Compel to do as they have agreed or force them to acknowledge that they have deceived you.—Penny Press.

Over a month ago it was well known to the wheat traders that the supply of wheat and rye was at least 200,000,000 bushels short in the world at large and that prices for grain must and would advance. And yet we are now told that the rise and price of wheat is owing to the result of the recent election. And we suppose the "suckers" swallow it all as the gospel truth.—Waseca Herald.

Diptheria would loose its terrors if a simple home remedy were always available which could be trusted as efficacious. Such a remedy seems to have been given by the Scientific American: "At the first indication of diptheria in the throat of a child, make the room close; then take a tin cup and pour into it an equal quantity of tar and turpentine, then hold the cup over the fire, so as to fill the room with the fumes, will cough and spit up the membraneous matter, and the diptheria will pass off. The fumes of the tar and turpentine lessen the trouble in the throat and thus afford the relief that has baffled the skill of physicians."

Three months before the nomination of Bryan, the most sanguine democrat could see nothing but hopeless and overwhelming defeat for his party. The result of the campaign although showing a defeat to the party, has many features which will inspire renewed zeal in the hearts of the average democrat. The victory of the republican party was the result of aid and sympathy, given it by the gold standard democrats. It was democrats who defeated Bryan, not the republican party and when the returns are all in and the vote analyzed it will be found that the republican party have nothing to crow over.—Roseau Times.

Geo. A. Kelley, who will be remembered as the forman in charge of the construction of the Red River Lumber company's mills here and at Grand Forks a dozen years ago, came up Wednesday and proceeded to St. Hilaire where he will have charge of the building of the new mill of the St. Hilaire Lumber company. Mr. Kelly will proceed with the pile driving at once, and get that portion of the work done before the ground freezes too deeply. The work of building the superstructure will continue throughout the winter, and by the time the logs can be run in the spring, the mill will be ready for business.—Crookston Times.

The New York Journal says that on election day night there gathered in Mark Hanna's rooms at republican headquarters in New York to receive election returns and rejoice over them twenty-four men whose wealth aggregates $258,000,000, and adds; "they were fully entitled to their happiness at republican headquarters. Not merely had everything gone their way politically, but the popular verdict was justly accepted by them as a flattering vote of confidence in the millionaire class. It was the country's supply to their critics who must sometime be rather annoying." Keen rarcasm that, but apparently just. The people seem to like being ruled by the millionaire formers and operators of trusts and monopolies.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Teacher's Attention.

The semi-annual meeting of the Northwestern Teachers' Association will be held at Crookston, in the high school, Friday and Saturday, November 27th and 28th 1896.

It is hoped that all teachers in this section will make a special effort to be present: Principals should urge their teachers to come. County superintendents should bring as many country teachers as possible. Let every teacher make himself a committe of one to see that he himself is present, and we shall not lack in attendance or enthusiam.

Teachers will notice that many men who have been in educational work for years will be present.

The Crookston and Palace hotels will give a special rate of $1.25 per day to all teachers.

Arrangements have been made to secure reduced rates on all railroads entering Crookston. All persons are urged to obtain a certificate from the ticket agent or whom they purchase their tickets. These certificates will be signed by the Secretary, and if seventy-five are obtained reduced rates will be secured. H. C. CRIPPEN, President.

Polk County Vote.

The following is a correct count of the state, legislative and county ticket.

McKinley		2355
Bryan		5054
Palmer		54
Levering		69
STATE.
Governor—
Clough		2526
Lind		5308
Dean		107
Secretary of State—
Berg		2509
Heinrich		4833
Treasurer—
Koerner		2566
McKinnon		5302
Attorney General—
Childs		2606
Keyes		4795
Congress—
Frank M. Eddy		3090
Edwin E. Lommen		4795
Legislature—
Lewis Lohn	rep	2882
Andrew Hawkins	"	2328
Charles G. Rapp	"	2719
W. A, Marin	people	4634
J. Lee	"	4157
G. O. Gilbertson	"	4088
County Auditor—
Andred Hanson		2713
John Gleason		5216
Treasurer—
Ole B. Dahl		2762
John T. Beaudry		5180
Sheriff—
Samuel M. Dainard		3148
Thomas Lawrence		4812
Register of Deeds—
Andrew Sture		2723
Albert Wickstrom		5077
Judge of Probate—
Wm. A. Lanctot		3420
Ole E. Hagen		3341
C. F. Petterson, ind		680
Attorney—
Ira C. Richardson		3007
L. E. Gossman		4036
Surveyor—
Ole E. Hamery		6083
Superintent of Schools—
M. A. Campion		2324
I. I. Kaasa		5012
Coroner—
A. M. Stebbins		5805

A parrot on his perch in the same room with a bull dog, lying half asleep, thought to have some fun, so sang out: "Sick 'em, Tige!". The dog rushed around the room but found nothing. Lying down again, "Sick 'em Tige" again caused him to rush about, but finding nothing he lay down to go to sleep. The parrot by this time was having so much fun it jumped down off its perch onto the floor, danced up to the dog and again yelled out "Sick 'em Tige." This time Tige did "Sick 'em" and the way that parrot was used up was a caution. But that some one heard the racket and rescued him he would have been killed. He managed to get on his perch then. After gazing at his feathers scattered all over the floor, looked mournfully back at one single feather left sticking in his tail and in a doleful voice said: "Polly knows what's the matter. Polly talked to d——d much."—Ex.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

WYLIE ITEMS.

For a good supply of winter ware go to Smeldesang's.

August Renberg took the west bound train Monday for his home in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Power entertained a party of young folks at their new residence Sunday.

Miss Katie Powers took the train for Thief River Falls Friday, returning by "especial stage" Sunday.

Mr. Collins of Thief River Falls was down on important business the latter part of the week. Things look suspicious.

Green and dry wood in exchange for hay or oats seven miles east of Wylie, and five miles south of St. Hilaire, for further information apply to James G. Brady, Wylie, Minn.

W. J. Delanee master mechanic of the St. Anthony Elevator Co. and county commissioner Kirsch stopped between trains Monday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Thill.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something . . . . .

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department. . . .

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Catarrh

Is just as surely a disease of the blood as is scrofula. So say the best authorities. How foolish it is, then, to expect a cure from snuffs, inhalants, etc. The sensible course is to purify your blood by taking the best blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has permanently cured Catarrh in a multitude of cases. It goes to the root of the trouble, which is impure blood. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Ghostly Impresarios.

There is a yarn current in London that the ghost of the late Sir Augustus Harris has been seen by a veracious watchman of Drury Lane theater seated in a proscenium box at dead of night directing an imaginary rehearsal. The old story of the Covent Garden fireman who saw Frederick Gye's ghost is recalled by this tale, though it does not explain it. The fireman was going his rounds about 1 o'clock in the morning when he was amazed to see his old master, looking ghastly white in the half darkness and standing at the head of the grand staircase, where he had so often received noble guests. It was, of course, the Gye statue, which now stands on its pedestal on the half landing at the Royal Italian opera, but which, unknown to the fireman, had been brought in during the day.—New York Times.

Hog Cholera.

Great Discovery of Interest to Hog Raisers—The Asiatic Cholera Cure, "Quaker Oil," is found on trial to be an infallible cure for Hog Cholera. Read testimonial:

Magnolia, Minn., Oct. 1st, 1896.—I hereby certify that my hogs took sick with hog cholera about Sept. 1st, 1896. I gave Quaker Oil in some milk, poured it down them and they all got well in two or three days. I had one that was apparently half dead, but got well and is now well and hearty. —Victor Anderson, Magnolia, Minn

Sent to any address on receipt of price, $1.00. Address Quaker Medical Ass'n, St. Paul, Minn.

In Melbourne a woman gets two pence half-penny for making a shirt, while a Chinaman gets five pence for washing it.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 806-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Military service in Spain is compulsory on all for eight years, or four years in the colonies.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklets and sample mailed free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Amateur Doctors.

Hobson—This cold of mine is causing me frightful misery.

Dobson—Is tiso very bad?

Hobson—No, the cold itself don't trouble me, but every idiot that hears me cough wants to recommend a cure for it.—New York Advertiser.

A Copy of The Companion's Art Calendar for 1897, which rivals the famous "Yard of Roses" published by the Companion a few years ago, is given free to every new subscriber to the Companion for 1897. To new subscribers the paper is also sent free from the time the subscription is received until January, 1897. Thus new subscribers will receive free a handsome four-page folding calendar, lithographed in twelve colors, the Companion free every week to January, 1897, and for a full year to January, 1898, by sending the publishers $1.75, one year's subscription. Illustrated prospectus for 1897 free. Address The Youth's Companion, 203 Columbus avenue, Boston, Mass.

After Dinner.

She—Did you go to hear Mrs. Borer lecturer on pure food last night?

He—No; how was it?

She—Oh, she was full of her subject.—Washington Times.

The Faults and Follies of the Age

Are numerous, but of the latter none is more ridiculous than the promiscuous and random use of laxative pills and other drastic cathartics. These wrench, convulse and weaken both the stomach and the bowels. If Hostetter's Stomach Bitters be used instead of these so-remedies, the result is accomplished without pain and with great benefit to the bowels, the stomach and the liver. Use this remedy when constipation is manifested, and thereby prevent it from becoming chronic.

Cranberries are plentiful and cheap, and many Cape Cod growers are holding on for higher prices.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

WIT AND HUMOR

A Busy Day.

"Let me see the calendar,' said the sultan.

"Here it is, your majesty," replied his attendant.

As he glanced at it a shadow crossed his countenance.

"I didn't think it was so near," he said.

"Is there trouble impending?"

"Yes. Its only a couple of months before New Year's Day. It makes me shudder to think of what I have to go through with in the way of resolutions."—Washington Star.

Friendly Advice.

In Livingston, Montana:

Tenderfoot—Is there any game around here?

Kindly Disposed Native—Oh, yes; poker and peanochle and seven-up almost any time; and faro Sunday nights; but I'll tell you what it is young man; judging by your looks, if you want to carry any money back home with you, you hadn't better try 'em.—Somerville Journal.

No Sinecure.

Acquaintance—How much do you pay your typewriter?

Humorist—Twenty-five dollars a week.

Acquaintance—Isn't that rather a high salary?

Humorist—Well, yes; but, you see, she has to write out all my jokes.—Somerville Journal.

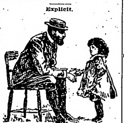
The Writer's Misfortune.

"There," said the tired author, with a sigh, "you'll have to economize. We can't expect any returns from my last book now."

"Why," exclaimed his wife, "what has happened?"

"The critics have all pronounced it a good, clean, wholesome story, and, of course, after that nobody will buy it." Cleveland Leader.

Explicit.



Uncle Harry—And did naughty dada whacky-whack poor Medje?

Medje—'Iss, uncle.

Uncle Harry—Oh, poor, old girl! And where did he whacy-whack you?

Medje—Er—er—on the b-b-back of my tummy, uncle!—George Du Maurier, in Punch.

In These Days of Copyright.

"Excuse me sir; I must ask you for your card or call a policeman."

"Who the devil are you? What do you mean by this intrusion?"

"I was sitting at the next table and heard you tell a funny story to your friends. I wrote that story, and it was copyrighted in last week's Death."—New York World.

Knew He Was Licked.

The pugilist fell with a dull, sickening thud to the floor.

"Are you hurt?" asked his manager.

The fallen fighter gazed wildly at his friend.

"Can't you talk?" cried the manager.

The fighter shook his head.

Then his manager realized that the battle was lost.

One Redeeming Fact.

"Distressing thing happened at our house this morning."

"What was it?"

"Our cook ran away with all the spoons."

"That's bad."

"Not so bad as it might be. She carried off my wife's cook book, too."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hard Luck, Indeed.

Blimley—I am the unluckiest man on earth.

Huntley—Why so?

Blimley—I proposed to Edith Buzzley last night and was accepted, and to-day I learn that her father is about to make an assignment.—Cleveland Leader.

Well Balanced.

"You have a well balanced company," said the kind critic.

"I think so," responded the manager, with pride.

"Very well balanced, indeed. The heavy villain is so light and the light comedian so heavy that the balance may be called almost perfect."—Indianapolis Journal.

Exasperatingly Indefinite.

"If that isn't aggravating!"

"What is the matter?"

"I just got a letter from my brother, in which he says he is going to marry a Blue Grass widow. I don't know whether he is engaged to a Kentucky woman or a freak."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Marital Amenities.

"I have a very bad taste in my mouth," complained Mr. Snaggs.

"Your bad taste is not confined to your mouth," replied Mrs. Snaggs.

"That is true, it is not. I also displayed it in my selection of a wife."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

A Kind-Hearted Boarder.

Mr. Billings took up his cup of what his landlady called coffee, tasted it, sniffed it and set it down.

"Have you anything to say against the coffee, Mr. Billings?" asked the landlady.

"No, ma'am," answered Billings, "I never speak ill of the absent."—Twinkles.

No Danger Now.

Mr. Spoonamore (in the parlor)—What is that noise overhead, Miss Agnes?

Miss Agnes (listening a moment)—It is papa, Mr. Spoonamore, but you need not be scared. He is snoring.—Chicago Tribune.

A Vicious Send Off.

"Louise was furious about her wedding."

"What was the matter?"

"The organist was a rejected lover, and he played the bridal couple out of the church with the tune 'He's Got an Elephant on His Hands.'"

The Best Man.

"They say the Raffitons have sent over to the drug store for court plaster."

"What a shame! Raffton ought to be bounced for abusing that nice little woman."

"But the court plaster was for Mr. Raffton."—Chicago Record.

In Merry England.

"Why," asked the visiting American, "why do you fellows always turn to the left on the road?"

"Because," said the resident Englishman, "because it is right."

Eight days afterward the true born Briton suddenly scandalized the congregation by laughing aloud in the midst of services. It had dawned on him that he had made a pun.—Indianapolis Journal.

A Natural Reflection.

He had been looking over the assortment of collars that the clerk had put out for his inspection, and had been informed that they were all the latest styles.

"I wonder," he said at last, "where the idea originated that we are descended from giraffes or ostriches?"—Chicago Post.

Just Hit His Case.

Employer—I am afraid I have nothing in the way of work to give you just now. The times are hard and there is little to do.

Tramp—That's just the kind of work I enjoy.—Yale Record.

Keeps Him Going.

Soxey—For a man who burns the candle at both ends Softroks manages to keep his health.

Knoxey—Oh, he finds time for lots of exercise.

Soxey—I did not know he was an athlete.

Knoxey—Yes, every day he's running into debt.—Pittsburg News.

A Concession.

"Yes," remarked Satan, firmly. "I would rather yield something to the liberal theology than resign myself into the clutches of the coal trust."

Accordingly, he gave orders to have gasoline stoves substituted for the ranges hitherto employed.—Detroit News.

Musical Note.

Chairman Church Music Committee—The tenor told me yesterday that unless he could get an increase of $100 on his salary next year, he wouldn't sing. What shall I tell him?

Deacon Jones—Tell him he can whistle for it.—Somerville Journal.

The Reason.

He—I thought you said your love for me was as strong as iron and as true as steel; pray, how do account for your numerous flirtations?

She—Well, you see, the iron and steel works have shut down for the present.—Pp to Date.

A Confusion of Titles.

"W'at did Mistah Hollerin' sing at de concert last night?"

"He sing dat good ole song w'at dey calls 'Locked in de Stable Wif de Sheep.' It am sholy. a powerful fine song, too."—Washington Times.

Could Go Elsewhere.

Temperance Advocate—I am sorry to hear that you have been drinking of late. Remember that there is a limit to the pleasures of a public house.

Gardener—Very well, sir; I'll go to a brewery.—The Sketch.

An Intellectual Treat.

"Mr. Barclay is so well read; he repeated an exquisite quotation last night."

"What was it?"

"I can't give you the exact words, but he said he'd rather be a something in a something than something else in a something else."—Chicago Record.

A Substitute.

Mrs. Sprockett—George, if I don't soon get a pair of new shoes I'll be walking on my uppers.

George—Great Scott! There's no necessity for that. You can ride your wheel.—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Very Realistic.

"How do you find it possible to act that role of the persecuted wife so naturally?" asked the reporter.

"It is not very difficult," replied the great actress. "The villain is my real husband."—Philadelphia North American.

He Couldn't Believe It.

Johnny—Pa, you said Mr. Piper was a self-made man, didn't you?

Pa—Yes.

Johnny—Well, he ain't.

Pa—Why do you think he isn't?

Johnny—Look at his red hair and freckles!—Cleveland Leader.

In the Schoolroom.

Teacher—What is your mother's name?

Six-year-old—Mrs. Rogers.

Teacher—But what is her Christian name—what does your father call her?

Six-year-old (in a piping voice)—Different things.—Washington Times.

Wrong Again.

"He died of tobacco heart," said the physician, when the post-mortem examination had been concluded.

"Impossible," replied the dead man's chum. "He never smoked anything but cigarettes."—New York World.

In the Near Future.

Mrs. Jones—I can let you have a pair of old shoes.

The Tramp—Tanks, lady, an' mebbe yer have an old wheel wot yer don't want. Yer kin see dat me machine is all wore out.—New York World.

His Vacation.

"Who is that man in the next flat who swears so?"

"That is the fellow who earns his living writing the Lord's Prayer fifty times on one postal card."—Chicago Record.

An Old Chestnut Answered.

Grateful Recipient—How can I ever repay you?

Benefactor—By a strict attention to business until you have the requisite amount.—Texas Siftings.

A Wicked Joke.

Checks—They say the Esquimaux are an unenlightened people.

Drafts—Funny, and yet they live on candles and lamp oil.—Pittsburg News.

Sounded Like It.

"I cannot give you up," he chirruped.

"George," she said with dignity, "am I a riddle?"—Philadelphia North American.

No Concentration.

"That man Klump doesn't appear to be able to fix his mind on any subject."

"No. He always votes under the head of 'scattering.'"—Pittsburg News.

How the Game Went.

"How did the football game go, Brassy?"

"Wid a rush."—Detroit Free Press.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS

TELEPHONES IN JAPAN.

Remarkable Developments in Electricity in Japan.

American electrical engineers may find it not unprofitable to keep a close eye upon electrical developments in Japan. During the last session of the Japanese Imperial diet it was agreed to appropriate a sum of above 12,800,000 yen, or more than $14,000,000, spread over seven years, for the extension of the telephone service, and the work of construction is being actively carried on at various important places. The number of new subscribers to the four centers of Tokio, Yokohama and Kobe, under the expanded system, will be over 13,000, and in Kioto and thirty-five other places where the service is to be newly established, there will be over 6,800. A considerable number of branch lines will also be established in places of less importance, so that telephone communication will be within the reach of a large part of the population of Japan. The people everywhere are eager to take advantage of this means of communication, and it is stated that at present, in Tokio alone, there are over 2,000 subscribers, and more than 2,000 applicants are waiting impatiently to have the privilege extended to them also. Arrangements are being made in Tokio to grant 500 new applications during the present year, in order of priority, and during the next two years 1,500 new applications will be accepted, the intention being to increase the number of subscribers until it reaches 10,000. Notwithstanding the activity of the Japanese in these matters, many of the applications which are being granted this year were sent in as far back as 1893. The way is being made much easier for American manufacturers by the marked preference which the Japanese have shown for American methods. This is strikingly instanced in the fact that three electrical experts have lately been sent from Japan to this country for the purpose of studying the latest developments. One of the commissioners says: "All over our empire now there is the greatest interest in electrical lighting and power. Electricity has been introduced in several cities, but the government wants it all over the country. Beyond a thoroughly comprehensive telephone system, we want to generate electricity from the many powerful waterfalls in our country, and to use it for electrical railways, general power and lighting, and in connection with our numerous public and private enterprises. It is also our desire to utilize the long-distance telephone in Japan." That Japan is open to adopt the best electrical appliances of any country is seen in a recent large purchase of camp telegraph apparatus in Berlin, for service in Japanese military operations, and it is stated that in future the Berlin material will be imported for the use of the Japanese army. It is to be hoped that those present in this country who are specially interested in the matter will take careful note of these facts.

Hearing Music Through the Hands.

Notwithstanding the great amount of study which has been brought to bear upon improving or restoring the hearing of deaf persons by electricity, but little headway has been made so far as practical results are concerned. On the other hand, much light has been thrown on the physiological effect of certain kinds of electrical vibrations, and many experimenters are sanguine of being eventually able to employ them successfully in many branches of aural therapeutics. One singular and most interesting outcome of this line of investigations is the proposal of Dr. T. McKendrick to make a deaf man hear music by dipping his hands in a tub of water. A phonograph is used for supplying the music. The sound waves are directed into a regular telephone transmitter, which connects with a series of batteries under the tub. These batteries are specially constructed to give perfectly rythmic vibrations, the difficulty of securing which has always been a stumbling block in the utilizing of this principle of conveying the rythm of music through the nerves to the nerve centers of the brain. A passenger on board of a small steam vessel which is being propelled at a high rate of speed by powerful machinery feels the unbroken or rythmical vibrations going through the body of the craft. A deaf person, under similar conditions, hears these vibrations as well as one whose auditory nerves are perfectly normal. While the sensation of listening to the music by the aid of Dr. McKendrick's apparatus is accomplished on the same general principle, the effect on the deaf, it is stated, and is much more striking and agreeable. In the case of a person who has been deaf from birth, the hands are immersed in the prepared water connected with the phonograph. The rythm of the music is conducted by the nerves locally affected to the fissure Rolando in the brain, and the sensation is one of pleasure. Greater still is the enjoyment experienced by one who has at some time or other had normal hearing, but who is suffering from deafness. If the tune selected is one he is familiar with he can easily follow the varying changes of the melody and harmony, and it is claimed that, by the aid of his imagination, which in the deaf is unusually acute, he can thus enjoy the oddly-conducted concert almost as thoroughly as if his hearing were normal.

Women's Battle in America.

Miss Frances M. Abbott, in an article on "The Pay of College Women," gives some instructive figures in regard to the status of women who have graduated in American colleges. A number of circulars inclosing schedules to be filled in were sent out by the American College Association. Four hundred and fifty-one of these circulars were filled in and returned. The total number of occupations adopted by the women who responded is sixty-two, but many of these are very nearly filled. There are 160 teachers, the largest number in any single employment; 47 librarians and women engaged in library work; 28 stenographers; 22 nurses and superintendents of nursing; 19 journalists, including editors and reporters, and 19 clerks without specification as to the kind of service. When the list of occupations represented is scanned it would seem that no woman should ever despair of finding a field in which she can be specially useful. There is an actress, advertising agent, assistant in the National Herbarium, assistant on dictionary, assistant in observatory, astronomer, car recorder, draughtswoman, insurance broker, insurance solicitor, writer of advertisement, reviser of patents, water analyst, besides several proof-readers, telegraph operators, bookkeepers and artists. It is somewhat remarkable that so few American women have taken to the profession of medicine. Out of nearly 2,000 members of the American College Association less than 2 per cent write M. D. after their names. This is the more surprising in that medicine is one of the few callings where payment is the same regardless of sex. On this subject of the relative pay of women and men, Miss Abbott's paper contains a good deal of information. Of 250 women who made reply, 150 got less pay than men for the same work, 95 received the same pay and 5 women actually received more pay. To the question of the relative value of the services of men and women there were also many contributions. Of 90 employers who replied to this question, 40 said that the work of men and women was equally valuable; 29 said the services of women were of less value; 7 made indefinite replies, while 8 answered, "On some work, yes; on other work, no." When asked for the reason why women in general receive less pay than men for the same work, 67 replied as follows: Twenty-nine attributed it to the effect of supply and demand; twenty-one to physical and mental differences, or differences in general ability, while 17 allege custom as an explanation. The general showing of woman's work, however, is far beyond what it was 10 years ago.

Making Gunnery More Deadly.

Capt. Thouvenin's clever invention, the phonotelmeter watch, has been so much improved and modified that it is proposed to use it on warships as well as for its original purpose of increasing the efficiency of land artillery. This watch measures distance by the velocity of sound. While it is not easy to judge of distances on land, at sea only very experienced mariners can estimate with anything approaching accuracy, if it be in any way considerable, the distance separating a vessel from a passing ship or from a given point of land, and the chances are that in nine cases out of ten he will be wrong in his calculations. All this element of uncertainty is done away with by Capt. Thouvenin's watch. Holding the instrument in his left hand, the officer watches for the flash of the enemy's rifle or cannon. Immediately he perceives the light he presses a screw, which resembles that of a keyless watch. When he hears the report he presses the screw a second time. In the interval between the two pressures a needle or hand has moved over the arc on the face of the instrument. This face registers fifteen seconds, each second being divided into ten parts. There is, moreover, a small dial on the back which registers the number of times that the needle has gone round, and marks instantaneously the minutes and quarter-minutes. Within the circle of seconds is a smaller one, which indicates the distance covered by the sound through the air. The approximate distance at which the weapon was fired is thus seen at a glance. The same test can be applied to a flash of lightning which precedes a clap of thunder. The phonotelemeter watch will enable commanders of batteries to promptly concentrate their fire without having to experiment to find a range, as in times past. It will also be of the utmost value at the coast guard and lifeboat stations in case of vessels in distress firing signal guns for help, and may be the means of saving innumerable lives.

"Scorpion Oil" as an Antidote for Snake Bites.

When the Creole colored laborer of the West Indies is bitten by a scorpion he usually contents himself in the matter of treatment with simply capturing the insect and rubbing the fat of its body into the wound. For serious cases he will have in his cabin a bottle filled with scorpions, to which he has added a quantity of strong raw spirit, fresh from the still. This solution is dropped into a severe wound, and sometimes taken, greatly diluted, internally. A curious counterpart to this practice is related by Prof. Larden, who says that every year Italian scorpion sellers traverse Switzerland, and especially the mountain valleys, for supplying chemists with scorpions as a remedy for snake bite. It is usual to take, say half a liter of good olive oil, or even walnut oil, and throw therein about ten living scorpions. The insects are left in the oil until they die, and then taken out and thrown away, or the oil is poured off into a bottle. In the case of poisonous snake or insect bites, the wound is first, if possible, washed with salt water. The scorpion oil is then rubbed in, and all around over the swollen part, the rubbing being toward the wound. The custom appears to be centuries old, and is very widely spread in Switzerland. In general, the application is external only; but it is not uncommon for men who are suffering from great internal pain, of which they do not know the cause, to drink some drops of the oil in camomile tea.

New Version of the Indian "Mango" Trick.

A new version of the Indian "mango" trick, in which a plant is seen to grow up from the seed in a few minutes, has been devised by M. Michael Corday, of the Ecole Polytechnique, in France. M. Corday employs the well-known cinematograph, or apparatus for producing "living photographs"—that is to say, photographic images endowed with movement and apparently with life. A rose plant is photographed at intervals during its growth until the flower buds and blooms. The photographs thus taken are combined by the cinematograph and projected on a screen, so as to represent the development of a plant in a short time. The number of photographs taken in six months should be equal to the number which the sensitive band of the cinematograph will contain. This principle is capable of infinite extension. Obviously the same plan can be utilized to show the changing aspects of the country during the seasons in one progressive illusion, and it is suggested that it might be employed with advantage in illustrating various scientific experiments and natural processes of an evolutionary or gradual sort.

A New Method of Resuscitation.

If a new method of resuscitation from apparent death from accidental electric shocks should prove to be as effective as it is reported to have been when tried in a Western copper mining works, it is well worth knowing. A workman was heavily shocked by an electric current and fell from a ladder which he was climbing. No doctor was within hail, so one of his fellow workmen laid the victim in a bed of molder's sand, after divesting him of his clothing, and left only his mouth and nose exposed to the air. A hose was turned on and the unfortunate man was thoroughly soaked in his improvised grave. In a short time, so the story goes, he opened his eyes and was brought back to life. A stimulant was given to the patient, and when the doctor at length arrived there was nothing for him to do.

Minnesota Manifestations.

PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE PINK PILLS.

From the Pioneer Press, St. Paul, Minn.

Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.:

Dear Sirs:—In answer to yours regarding the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in this locality, I can only say wherever used—without an exception—they have been of inestimable benefit; and a cure has invariably followed their use.

In the case of Mrs. R. E. Vanwalt, a lady who has for nearly nine years been suffering from "female complaint," at times being unable to leave her bed for weeks, and who has paid hundreds of dollars for medical services, the cure might almost be viewed in the light of a miracle. In speaking of her relief from that terrible disease, Mrs. Vanwalt said:

"For nearly nine years I have suffered untold agony, many times being unable to leave my bed for weeks at a time. I tried several proprietary medicines, but derived no benefit whatever from their use; I tried physicians, but it was no use. A couple of months ago I tried one box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and received so much benefit from them that I bought one dozen more, seven of which I have used, and to-day I consider myself a well woman."

Dr. W. F. Carpenter was asked what he thought of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and he said:

"In my practice it is not customary to use, as a rule, prepared remedies, as it has a deteriorating effect on a physician's business, but in the case of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People I find they afford relief where remedies in common practice will not reach."

Other parties in this locality having used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills all speak well of them and have derived benefit from their use.

Personally I cannot recommend them too highly, having been more or less troubled with sciatica and nervous headache. I have used but three boxes and I believe the infirmities have entirely left me.

I hereby certify that the above statements are true and correct as far as was in my power to ascertain through a personal interview with the parties mentioned.

(Signed) FRED BOOMAR.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 4th day of August, 1866.

CHAS. B. ROMKEY,
Justice of the Peace,
Clay County, Minn.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers; or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—(they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Parks for Use.

One feature in Birmingham rather surprising to an American is that every park is made for use. There is no fear lest the grass may be injured, but in every ground adapted for them are cricket and foot ball fields, picnic grounds, croquet lawns, tennis courts, bowling greens, the use of which is permitted for a merely nominal payment. Every park, large or small, has one or more concerts each week during the summer, paid for by a neighborhood subscription. Less need exists for large parks than in American cities of the same size because the better class of houses all have ample gardens.—Century.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Different Now.

Mrs. Troubles—When we were first married, Harry, you never uttered a complaint.

Mr. T.—When we were first married, Jane, I had cash enough to employ a cook.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

Quality and Quantity.

"I hear that the new missionary is a greater man and a better man than his predecessor," remarked the first cannibal.

"Unless he is a better man," rejoined the second carnibal, earnestly, "I should not wish that he were greater. There was quite enough of the other one."—Detroit Tribune.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

A New View of It.

"It would be folly to send less than five of our cruisers to force the Dardanelles."

"Why so?"

"Because a straight beats two pairs."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A BOTTLE OF

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

Might have Changed the Map of Europe.

At the Battle of Waterloo the great Napoleon.. was so prostrated from Nephritis.. (Inflammation of the Kidneys).. that for more than an hour the battle was left to his subordinates, with the result that the fortunes of war went against him. Had been known at the time, Napoleon need not have been ill at such a supreme moment, nor his star suffered eclipse.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

While all cannot be Napoleons, all can be spared the illness which resulted in his downfall.

Large bottle, or new style, smaller one, at your druggists.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Michael Favrow, St. Cloud, Minn., roller mill adjustment; Edwin H. Montgomery, assignor one third to M. Thomnes, St. Paul, Minn., multiple fuse block; Joseph B. Moore, Denver, Col., bicycle bell; Herbert D. Myers, Bowdle, S. D., band cutter and feeder; Daniel H. Newton, Minneapolis, Minn., starching machine; Englebrecht Olsen, Walkerville, Mont., signal bell; Budd Reeve, Buxton, N. D., means for treating seed; Louis E. Smith, Denver, Col., spool holder for sewing machines.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Business Stagnation.

"What made you so long buying that spool of thread?"

"Why, I had to wait until some shop ladies got through telling each other what they dreamed last night."—Chicago Record.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75c.

Misunderstood.

Mr. Fusser (picking up young lady's umbrella)—I beg pardon.

Young lady (haughtily)—I did not speak, sir.

Mr. F.—Oh; I thought you said "Thanks."—Yale Record.

There are many fashionable West end physicians clearing incomes annually of £4,000 or £5,000.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowles. Never sicken, weaken or gripe.

Far From Straight.

Jorkins—That man follows a very crooked business.

Dorkins—What is it?

Jorkins—A contortionist.—Washington Times.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

The Rush.

Cholly—What you think, deah boy? That beastly tailor sent me a bill today and it is a week yet until the 1st.

Freddie—I guess he was sending it early to avoid the rush.—Up-to-Date.

It is said that in London alone over 100,000 men, women and children gain their daily bread by pocket-picking.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

The value of scientific apparatus and libraries used in the instruction of the youth of this country is estimated at $13,532,410.

Sharks are frequently killed that weigh three or four thousand pounds.

My doctor said I would die, but Piso's Cure for Consumption cured me.—Amos Kelner, Cherry Valley, Ills., Nov. 23, 1895.

Montana produced 21,530,013 pounds of wool this year, and leads all other states as a wool grower.

The Woman,
The Man,
And The Pill.

She was a good woman. He loved her. She was his wife. The pie was good; his wife made it; he ate it. But the pie disagreed with him, and he disagreed with his wife. Now he takes a pill after pie and is happy. So is his wife. The pill he takes is Ayer's.

Moral: Avoid dyspepsia by using

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

THE SMITH
RACING SKATE.
New 1897 Model.

The Lightest, Strongest and Fastest Genuine Racing Skate in America. Made to Order. $6.50 Per Pair. Send for Circular.

A. D. SMITH CYCLE HOUSE, Manufacturers. ST. PAUL, MINN.

EARS

Auric-Thermo Medication—An apparatus designed by our specialist which enables us to thoroughly medicate the deepest parts of the middle ear, insuring a speedy and permanent cure for deafness and noises in the head. For Eye treatment we employ a remedy which renders operations painless and facilitates recovery. If you are suffering from defective sight or bearing delaying treatment will aggravate your trouble. "A stitch in time saves nine." Our charges are one-half those usually made by first-class specialists, and we furnish medicines free. Write us regarding your case or call when in the city. St. Paul Eye and Ear Infirmary, Merrill Building, St. Paul, Minnesota.

EYES

Are the boys to pump water and cut feed by hand this winter, or have an Aermotor, oiled with Aermotor OIL. IT NEVER FREEZES. Sold in 1 gal cans by leading dealers. 20 branch houses. One near you. AERMOTOR CO., Chicago.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Bought and sold for future delivery, 3c to 1c per bu. deposit. Sample sales a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited. MASON BROS., 248 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill. MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

FARMERS! A NEW WAY TO SHIP YOUR GRAIN.

INSTEAD of selling your grain at home send it to us and save middlemen's profit. We have Saved Other Farmers Thousands of Dollars. Why don't YOU try it? Address for full particulars,

H·H·CARR & CO. 94 Board of Trade, CHICAGO.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

VOLUME XVI ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 25, 1896. NUMBER 17.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

Gen. Thomas M. Vincent has retired from active service in the army.

The interstate commerce commission, it is rumored, will examine the relations of railroads to the beef trust.

Consul General eLe reports actions on the part of the Spaniards in Cuba which may indicate an intention to go to war with the United States.

Consul General Crittenden reports from Mexico to the state department that Mexican tobacco promises to take the place of the fine grades of Cuban tobacco in the markets of the world.

The commissioner of immigration, in his annual report, says that a better class of immigrants are coming to the United States and the number has decreased.

The members of the United States battleship Oregon's inspection board, which has been ordered by the secretary of the navy to inspect the report on the fitness of this vessel for active service, convened on board the ship at San Francisco.

People in Print.

Mrs. John W. Mackay, who has been ill in Paris, has gone to the South of France to spend the winter there and in Italy.

Mrs. Georgia Granger Howard, wife of A. P. Howard, treasurer of the International & Great Northern railroad, died recently at Palestine, Tex.

Admiral Sir George Henry Richards, K. C. B., conservator of the Mersey, is dead. He was born in 1820 and was commander of H. M. S. Assistance in the arctic regions during 1852-4.

Gen. Booth of the Salvation Army announces from Melbourne, Australia, that the army is to extend its operations to the whole of the Malay peninsula.

Gen. R. F. Dingate, ex-attorney general of Missouri, died at St. Louis of congestion of the lungs. He had distinguished himself in politics and at the bar.

United States Senator Voorhees is circulating among his old friends at Terre Haute, Ind., daily, and gives promise of a speedy restoration to his old-time vigor. He expects to return to Washington within the next two weeks.

A cablegram sent by D. S. Richardson of Oakland, Cal., bore to Marquis Yamagata, field marshal of the imperial Japanese army at Nippon, the good tidings that there had been born to him across the Pacific a sturdy grandson.

The Duchess de ca Cez, who died at Paris, was the daughter of Isaac H. Singer, the inventor of the sewing machine. Emperor Francis Joseph, the pope and Duc d'Orleans have telegraphed their condolence to the Duke de ca Cez.

Accidental Happenings.

Oscar McCartney, aged 15, while out hunting, attempted to drag a shotgun over a rail fence and both charges lodged in his body. A steel compass in a pocket over his heart is all that saved him from instant death.

A stranger was instantly killed in Decatur, Ind., by a freight train on the Chicago & Erie railroad. He had numerous cards on his person from labor unions of Melrose, Minn., but nothing was found by which he could be positively identified.

By a natural gas explosion at Kokomo, Ind., the front of Brady's music store was wrecked, and in the fire that followed damage to the extent of $1,000 was done. The Kellar furniture store adjoining was damaged $500. The explosion was from hunting a gas leak with a lighted paper roll.

James Perdue, a prominent retired farmer, and his son John, in attempting to cross over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad tracks, three miles south of Sedalia, Mo., in a wagon, were struck by a south-boud freight train. Mr. Perdue was instantly killed and his son fatally injured.

One of the elevators in the American Tract society's building at the corner of Spruce and Nassau streets, New York, fell twelve stories to the cellar, a distance of 140 feet, this afternoon. There were eleven persons in the car at the time, including the attendant, and those who escaped injury were badly shaken up.

J. P. Carpenter, one of the largest lumber dealers of Cincinnati and a resident of Covington, Ky., and D. H. Lyons, a prominent architect of Cincinnati, were killed in the latter city. They were walking on the railroad tracks, talking about business when they were caught by trains going in opposite directions, and in their confusion were killed.

Crimes and Criminals.

Two women near Liberty, Mo., were murdered by robbers.

Franz Mayer, who one year ago was a sergeant in the Austrian army, hung himself to the bed post in his room in St. Louis, and was found dead.

Mrs. Bourlier, wife of Henry Bourlier, agent for the Allan Steamship company, shot himself at Toronto and died soon afterward. Mrs. Bourlier was well known in society.

Charles Hyatt, a deputy marshal of Stillwater, O. T., who was arrested and charged with murdering his wife, has been discharged, the coroner's jury returning a verdict of accidental killing. He mistook his wife for a thief and shot her.

A man named Hogan, representing himself as agent for a safe manufacturer, has been disposing of cheap sheet iron and clay-filled safes to the farmers in Iowa. Farmers and officers chased him out of Linn county, Iowa, the swindler escaping by means of a horse and buggy.

Guy Hutsonpiller was murdered in his room at the Windsor hotel at Omaha by George Elliott. The latter used a coupling pin and beat his victim's skull into a pulp. Both men with a party of ten came here from Moberly, Mo., where Buffalo Bill's show disbanded for the season, they having been employed as rough riders.

In a scuffle with a footpad in the central portion of Kansas City, Mo., at an early hour in the morning, J. W. Reaneman, manager of the Central Coal and Coke company of Texarkana, Texas, was severely wounded and all but rendered senseless.

There is no truth in the reports that Dominick O'Grady is dying at Longview hospital, Cincinnati. O'Grady is the priest who followed Mary Gilmartin from Ireland to that city and murdered her in a street car, over two years ago.

John A. Bowlin of Duquoin, Ill., at one time a representative in the state legislature, purchased two bricks from an Indian just from the Western gold fields, paying him $1,500. A well dressed stranger, claiming to be an assayer, pronounced them genuine gold; charging $3 for the information. The assayer and Indian have disappeared.

C. Rogolski, the Pole who is accused of exploding a dynamite cartridge under a dwelling house in the Detroit city limits, was found by officers in bed at his home with his clothes on. Since his arrest he has told various conflicting stories. The only motive known for the crime is the fact that Ewern, one of the injured men, had cuffed him during a small fracas on election night.

Harry F. Johnson, alias Roy, has been arrested in New York at the request of the chief of police of Boston. It is said that Johnson is one of a gang that have been operating extensively in Boston and Philadelphia, and who is believed to be one of the many gangs of swindlers, headed by Peters and Thomas, who are already under arrest. Book dealers were their victims.

From Foreign Shores.

Abyssinian independence was granted by the treaty with Italy.

The Pacific cable conference was resumed at the colonial office in London, but all the testimony was taken in secret.

August Belmont's American horse, Hagus ran third in the race for the Humberstone nursery handicap at Leicester, England.

The German bundesrath ratified the treaty of trade and navigation and the consular convention recently arranged between Germany and Nicaragua.

According to the Echo de Paris, the regent and the queen of Holland will spend the winter in Italy, where Queen Wilhelmina will be betrothed to an Italian captain of royal blood, who has won the queen's affections.

An official dispatch received at Madrid from Manila says that the insurgents have been defeated in engagements with the Spanish troops, the enemy having lost 400 men killed and the government loss being slight.

The charges against James F. White, the retiring member of parliament for Farfarshire, who left England suddenly, grew out of the fact that he is being pursued by the daughter of a Scottish divine for a breach of promise of marriage.

Barney Barnato says that the statement cabled to the London Times from Toronto, the substance of which is that his firm is obtaining options on mining properties in the Lake of the Woods and Rainy River districts of Canada, is totally devoid of foundation.

No very explicit news has been received from Capt. Gen. Weyler, but it is known that after the engagement at the Rubi hills he continued his march into the interior of the mountains towards Soroa, and succeeded in penetrating to points which no other Spanish columns have ever reached.

A socialist killed a rich merchant named Franco Poulo in the open street at Patras, Greece, and was afterwards arrested. The incident has caused a sensation, as it is the first outrage of the kind that has ever occurred in Greece. The murderer boasts of being an anarchist. Many others have been arrested in connection with the crime.

Otherwise.

Seventeen of the twenty-one district superintendents of the American Bible Society met in executive session in St. Louis.

J. P. Morgan and associates for the Erie railway have arranged for extensive shipments of coal to Chicago and other Western points from Marion, Ohio.

Charles Leisner, president of the Coopers' Co-operative Association of Cincinnati, has just been appointed organizer of the International Coopers' union.

The village of Burlington, Ind., is in a state of agitation over the sudden death of Frank Hill, a wealthy bachelor, who is supposed to have a large quantity of gold hidden somewhere in the vicinity.

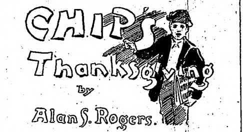
A. C. Carpenter, a medical professor of note in New York city, has been granted a divorce at Perry, Okla., from his wife. He charged that his wife maltreated him, refused to get his meals and finally deserted him.

A strike or lockout of all the union printers, feeders, pressmen, helpers and bookbinders in Kansas City employed by firms who are members of the employing printers' organization, the typothetae, is threatened.

Chief officers of the railroad brotherhoods will meet in Chicago to consider what steps to take to secure passage of legislation desired of congress at the next session, including the arbitration bill, contempt of court bill and Phillips commission bill.

An artesian well now being bored in Cairo, Ill., at a depth of 750 feet is passing through a quartz that a careful essay by experts show rich with both gold and silver. A shaft will probably be sunk immediately in place of the well.

A test of four of the five eight-inch disappearing guns at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., make it clear that if a fleet of Spanish warships intent on wiping New York off the map should get past Sandy Hook they would be full of holes before they reached the Narrows.



Chips' Thanksgiving

by

Alan S. Rogers.

"Chips" stood with his hands in his pockets on the pier that drops South street abruptly into the Delaware river. The bell of a ferry boat just starting was ringing a last warning to the hurrying crowd of passengers, preparatory to its trip to Camden. The whistles of the big sugar refineries told the close of a working day, and the heavily loaded trucks rolled over the rough cobble stones, making as much noise as a passing regiment.

"Chips" stood in the center of all this noisy confusion, but he was utterly oblivious to all surroundings.

He was thinking.

To-morrow was Thanksgiving, and from all present appearances the festive turkey, the emblem of this national feast day, was about as far off as the Fourth of July. "I wouldn't mind so much," he soliloquized, "if it wasn't for Jen, but she'll kind er miss the bird end of the programme, and Jen ought ter have just all she wants. God knows how long she'll have ter enjoy it."

"Chips" was a newsboy, and every morning his voice could be heard singing out the morning papers along the wharves. On this particular evening he stood with a number of last editions of evening papers under his arm, thinking of his little sister Jen, and was only awakened from his reverie by an impatient call from a regular customer "to hurry and bring me my paper."

"Chips" hastened to comply and then started to diminish his bundle of evening papers. Into each foot passenger's face he inquired anxiously, "Papers?" only to be met with a nod of the head to the contrary or more often no answer at all. "Terrible pile of folks are goin' ter have turkey, it seems to me," said "Chips" to himself, as he saw the long necks of well fattened turkeys hanging from the loosely wrapped bundles of the passers-by. "Guess most everybody is too busy thinking of Thanksgiving ter want any papers."

It was late, very late, when "Chips" made his way up several long flights of stairs to a top floor in a cheap tenement in the Sailortown district.

"You're late, my boy."

"Yep, guess I am, mom; how's Jen?"

"She isn't so well, I'm afraid."

"She keeps gettin' worse all the time. Say, mom, to-morrer's goin' ter be her last Thanksgivin' day, and she ain't a goin' ter have no bird ter celebrate with."

"No matter, my boy. She has a brother who would give her anything in the world he has, and that makes her very happy. But I have something more serious to consider. I am afraid our Thanksgiving can hardly be a very happy one. Have you thought about what day this is? We are just two months back in the rent. He came to-day and said we would have to go. I don't care for myself, but for our Jen, it seems unbearable."

"Oh, Momsie, don't worry; be sure we couldn't move Jen when she's lyin' so sick."

"He says he has found a paying tenant who wants to move in to-morrow. He said that we would have to move her or he would have her moved."

"I'm goin' out, Momsie. I may not get back until late, but don't worry."

It was 2 o'clock in the morning and I was sitting at my desk when I was somewhat startled by the question, "Want a shine, sir? A reg'lar Thanksgiving shine?"

There was in that pleasing look no semblance of charity, but a purpose lay in those deep brown eyes. "I'll just take one of those," I said, and the little stranger went to work on my shoes in such a determined way that I asked him if he wasn't rushing things.

"Got ter hurry to-night," he replied. "There's got ter be a hull lot er shoes shined by this here member of our family."

"Are you the head of the family?" I asked in rather a light way.

In the face turned up toward mine there was such a seriousness, such a discouraged look that I hated myself for speaking as lightly as I did. "I ain't shinin' shoes for amusement at 2 o'clock in the morning," was the answer, and he bent his head over my half polished shoe.

Not knowing what to say I said nothing and felt as uncomfortable as possible.

Every editor in the office and every member of the composing room was accosted by "Chips" that night and questioned regarding the matter of having a "reg'lar Thanksgivin' shine." He met with but little success, and finally left the building. Shortly after he had left I saw an envelope addressed in pencil, and evidently by a school boy, lying on the floor. The address was barely legible. The envelope was unsealed, and from natural curiosity I looked in. On a small piece of paper was scratched in the same handwriting: "Pleas postpon movin' Jen 1 day. I send 27 cents."

Enclosed in the envelope was a dime, two five-cent pieces and seven pennies. I did not understand what it all meant at that time, but I have learned since. When "Chips'" mother told him of the landlord's visit he took an old shoe blacking box outfit and started out. It was so late that there were few persons on the street. He turned to the newspaper buildings for customers, and it must have been in one of these that he scribbled the note I found near my desk. I stamped the envelope, sealed and mailed it, but at an hour too late to reach its destination in time.

"Chips" never discovered his loss until it was too late to worry about it. All night he had worked faithfully, and now in the early morning he was "hustlin' papers."

It was 10 o'clock in the morning when "Chips" again climbed the steps that led to his home. He was almost used up with his long day's work, but as he opened the door he called out in as cheerful a voice as he could muster, "It's all right, Momsie. Tell Jen I've got der bird an' it's a handsome one," and he laid down a small unsaleable chicken that he had bought at a great bargain.

"Sh— my boy, Jennie is much worse. I'm afraid she won't last very much longer."

* * * * * *

While a crowd of merry, happy young people, their mothers and their fathers and all their relations, sat talking merrily of the result of the great Thanksgiving game, there sat in a small room on the top floor of a tenement house in the Sailortown district, a small boy. From the little bed by which he sat a wan, wistful face was turned to his. Almost overcome with fatigue he had, by only the strongest effort, failed to succumb to the terrible drowsiness that oppressed him.

"Ain't this a beautiful turkey, 'Chips?'"

"Yes, Jen."

"And ain't these pies and cakes just lovely?"

"Yes, they are, Jen."

"This is the most beautiful Thanksgiving day I ever spent. Don't you think so?"

"Yes, Jen."

"Don't cry, Momsie; don't cry. I'm here to help you and—"

"Chips'" comforting words were interrupted by a heavy knocking at the door.

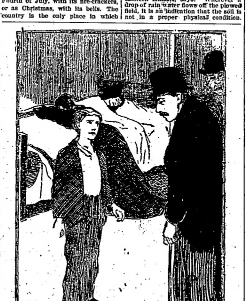
"We've come to move that sick girl, and we've got the papers," said one of the two burly men who stood outside.

"Gentlemen," said "Chips" quietly, "she's been moved."

THANKSGIVING.

A Few Thoughts About the Day of Turkey.

Thanksgiving is a day which fills us all with thanks and roast turkey, and as such a day it is dear to the hearts of all Americans. Thanksgiving does not make as much noise as does the Fourth of July, with its fire-crackers, or as Christmas, with its bells. The country is the only place in which Thanksgiving may be enjoyed to its fullest extent, although there are people who claim that it is not without its own peculiar charm in the smallest kind of a flat. At first it may seem absurd to the student of human affairs that a sixteen-pound turkey should be able to perform with its maximum grace in a twelve-dollar flat. But this fact is not a mystery when we come to look it squarely in the face, and meet it with the mental dissecting knife. It is because these flat dwellers enjoy many Thanksgivings in the turkey of the present.



We've Come to Move That Sick Girl.

After the head of the family has gone to the table alone to do the carving, because he would not have sufficient elbow room if the family were congregated about him, they sit down and dream of the turkey of the past, when they were out on the farm looking across dreamy vistas of nestling landscape, punctuated by the scarecrow shivering in his straw hat and linen luster, to let the world know that summer was a thing of the past. And still they fancy they see this old scarecrow standing among the cornstalks with the wind blowing through his whiskers. They see him right over there on the fire escape of the neighboring flat, for all the flat-scape to them is a large area of farm land nestling with red-leafed trees and mortgages that can not be raised by hand, and are not self-raising, like the flour raised on it.

It has brought with it pleasant memories which cover a period of thirty years. It only goes back to last March in the flesh, but it carries the man back to the time when he slept like a top on a corn-husk mattress and arose in the early morn to gather the steaming pancakes on the fly long before he dreamed that he would ever have to gather the matutinal horse car on the fly. It takes him back to the old game of shinney and brings back to him faces that had long since faded from his memory. Out in the crisp, chilly air he shouts, "Shinney on your own side!" as of old, and hears the yelping of the hound, shining like patent leather with enthusiasm, and is stirred once more by the ripping whiz of the flushed patridge, and the reverberating bang of the sportsman's gun, that sounds so sweet in the aisles of the silent forest.

He will not wake from his pleasant dream of past happiness until the morrow, for then the turkey will be cold, and the logs of fancy's fireside will have been reduced to white ashes to stir fitfully in the vagrant gust of wind. Even when the turkey's shining carcass has been chopped up to be utilized as the base of an economic soup, the reminiscent charm will have vanished gracefully, like a $10 bill at a seaside resort, for the turkey, like love, is never itself again when once it's cold. Its feet are on the ash heap and will strut about no more. Its head, with its great Dundreary whiskers of flaming red, will no more warble in the rosy kiss of dawn and fill the beholder with rosy anticipation of the jocund feast. Its work is done and its days are past, and now the family, so well begrimmed with gravy to the very eyes, sit and regard one another in silent joy. The smaller members will have to take a bath to get the turkey off them. But the victory is theirs, as they sit in the city flat filled with visions of ecstacy and break the magic wishbone and wish that every one from the highest to the lowest has had just so merry and glad a Thanksgiving as has fallen to their happy lot.—R. K. Munkittrick.

Don't Plow Too Deep.

In a paper read before the Allen County (Kan.) Farmers' institute, on the subject of "Modern Subsoiling," Clarence J. Norton said: "Deep subsoiling should not be attempted at first. Three good horses are sufficient, and one can hire it done for $1 per acre. The harder the plow pulls the more the soil needs breaking up; so, persevere and you will be rewarded.

"I will liken subsoiling to two flower pots, one half full of sand or gravel, the other half full of hard cement, with both pots filled up with soil. Now, fill both pots up with water, and the question is: which pot will evaporate out its moisture contents first?"

Prof. Milton Whitney, United States soil moisture expert, in speaking of Eastern Kansas, says: "Wherever a drop of rain water flows off the plowed field, it is an indication that the soil is not in a proper physical condition. Where this occurs in a dry soil, the main preparation of the soil should be as deep as possible, so that the water may be carried down, and thus diminish the rapidity of the evaporation and loss from the surface. Subsoiling will be found invaluable in opening up the close and compact subsoil. A farmer can tell whether his soil needs subsoiling by noticing whether any water flows off the surface of the plowed field or not."

This paper has a limit, and cannot possibly tell all the benefits derived from the use of the subsoil plow; but to Allen county farmers I would say: If your dead furrows will not prove as good corn rows as any other rows, your soil will be benefited by subsoiling.

The Ruling Passion

The choir was screeching out the line:

"We choose the better part," and lengthened it out in this way:

"We choose the bet—bet—bet—" when suddenly a sleepy campaign enthusiast startled the congregation by crying aloud:

"Bryan or McKinley? Put up or shut up!"—Atlanta Journal.

AS TO AGRICULTURE

SECRETARY MORTON MAKES PUBLIC HIS ANNUAL REPORT.

He Effects a Saving of Two Million Dollars, Which He Says Is the Result of the Operation of Civil Service Rules—Review of the Work of the Department—Some Recommendations Made.

Washington, Nov. 24. — Secretary Morton, in his fourth annual report, just made public, shows, that with $280,000 which may be saved from the appropriations for the current fiscal year, there will have been covered back into the treasury since March 7, 1893, over $2,000,000 out of the total appropriation of $11,175,455.45. That this great economy was effected without any loss of efficiency he attributes in a large degree to the improvement in the personnel of the force under civil service rules, which he declares to be "absolutely indispensible to the maintenance of an economic and efficient administration of the public service."

To complete "the already almost perfect system of civil service" in this department the secretary recommends the appointment of a permanent director in charge of the bureau's scientific investigations. The chiefs of scientific bureaus and their assistants, he declares, are not adequately compensated and strongly recommends that the salaries of this class of employes be increased.

The inspection of animals intended for food is treated at length, and stress is laid upon the increased efficiency of the work, due to the extension of civil service rules, which has been very rapid in this service.

The report shows a steadily increasing demand in England for American horses. During the first nine months of the present year more of these animals were shipped to that country than for any previous entire year.

The secretary again takes occasion to express his opposition to the gratuitous distribution of seeds and to express the hope that the practice will be discontinued.

Condition of Farmers.

The report concludes with a comprehensive review of the condition of the American farmer. Seventy-two per cent of the farms in the United States occupied by their owners are absolutely free from mortgages or other incumbrances. The secretary refutes the idea prevailing that the farms of the West and South are more heavily burdened with mortgages than those of the East and Northeast. States along the North Atlantic, he says, are quite heavily incumbered with farm mortgages, and New Jersey carries a debt of this kind greater in proportion to its farm valuation than any state in the Union. The frequent claim that the farmers are almost universally in debt; despondent and suffering, he declares to be without foundation, a belittlement of agriculture and an indignity to every intelligent and practical farmer. The farmers are not mendicants nor wards of the government to be treated to annuities, but the representatives of the oldest, most honorable, most essential occupation of the human race, upon which all other vocations depend for subsistence and prosperity.

"Legislation," he says, "can neither plow nor plant. The intelligent practical and successful farmer needs no aid from the government. The ignorant, impractical and indolent farmer deserves none. It it a beneficent arrangement of the order of things and the conditions of human life that legislators are not permitted to repeal, amend, or revise the laws of production and distribution."

FIXED PRICE FOR WHEAT.

Russia Is Said to Have Made an Interesting Proposal.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The Post this morning says: A conference of nations on the subject of the world's wheat market is understood to be desired by at least one of the great foreign wheat-growing empires. It is stated in official circles here that Russia is particularly friendly to such an idea, and it is believed she is making overtures, not only to the United States but to England, Argentina and Australia, which are the principal wheat growing nations of the world. The idea suggested is that these nations, should they see fit to unite in an agreement, could fix a price for wheat, to be maintained uniformly through various seasons of over-production and unsatisfactory crops caused by drouth or continual rain, and thus make the principal grain staple upon which the millions of consumers depend for food almost as unchangeable in value as gold has become. This would equal the producer in event of an unusually large crop, to store his wheat and obtain thereon a loan that would tide him over until the wheat was in demand in the world's markets, when he would receive a full and fair price for it.

Denounced by Langevin.

Montreal, Nov. 24.—The terms of the settlement of the Manitoba school question as agreed upon by the Dominion and Manitoba governments are far from giving satisfaction to the Catholics of Quebec. Archbishop Langevin of Manitoba has sounded the keynote of discord in an interview and the French papers of this province have taken it up. He is reported as saying: "Certainly the settlement is not satisfactory, and what is more, it will be far from satisfying Quebec. We have been sold; Quebec has been betrayed, but I tell you there will be a revolution in Quebec which will ring throughout Canada, and these men who to-day are triumphant will be cast down. The fight has only begun.

Revival in Trade.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 24.—A. A. Goodrich & Co. to-day received an order for 2,000 tons of charcoal pig iron for Budapest, Austria. The iron is required for the manufacture of car wheels and the order is the largest ever received for export by any American firm.

Youngstown, Ohio, Nov. 23.—The directors of the Ohio Steel company have decided to increase the capital stock of the company from $1,250,000 to $2,000,000. The additional $750,000 will be used to make extensive improvements to the plant.

THOMPSON LOCKED UP.

The Man Who Thinks He Is Governor of Minnesota Is Now in a Cell.

St. Paul, Nov. 24.—George F. Thompson, an insane farmer of Robbinsdale, Hennepin county, attempted to assume the duties of governor at the state capitol. He walked briskly into the governor's room, removed his hat and overcoat, hung them in the gubernatorial wardrobe beside those of Chief Clerk Angel, came out smiling and rubbing his hands. He was a dark-haired, black-eyed man with a pale, serious attenuated countenance and a dark mustache. He seemed about thirty years of age. His clothing was that of a well-to-do farmer, being dark colored, neat, but slouchy and a trifle shiny.

Mr. Thompson seated himself with a sigh of relief before the biggest desk in the room. This was the desk of Secretary Tams Bixby. But it was locked. Mr. Thompson tried the top gently. Then he looked across to Messenger Wade's corner, who was smiling with his teeth. Mr. Thompson frowned.

"Where are the keys of this desk?" he asked peremptorily.

"Mr. Bixby has them," answered the glittering smiler.

"Mr. Bixby, hey? Very strange, I'm sure; very strange," muttered the visitor, shaking the desk savagely. "Got the keys to my desk, hey?"

"Pardon, sir," interrupted the messenger, "but you can't get into that desk until Mr. Bixby arrives."

At that moment Gov. Clough entered. Mr. Thompson straightened, seized a large yellow envelope off the desk and began to open it with impressive dignity. He had been in the governor's room twice before. The second time early last week, he had remained several hours; he had intimated that he, and not D. M. Clough, had been elected governor. So the usurper recognized the rightful [illegible] before the uncompromising desk.

"How are you getting on, governor?" inquired David M. cheerfully, as he passed into his private office.

"Oh, very well, very well, sir," answered the long lost one with a patronizing smile; "very well, I should say—for a governor."

A police call had been rung the moment Thompson entered the room and a policeman soon appeared and hustled the crank to the station. Later he was turned over to the Minneapolis authorities. He was taken to jail and will no doubt be sent to Rochester, as he is evidently insane.

SLEEPS IN STILLWATER.

Rev. J. G. Hull Wears the Stripes of a Felon.

St. Paul, Nov. 24.—The last act in the tragedy in which Rev. James G. Hull played so prominent a part occurred yesterday when Sheriff Chapel took him to Stillwater, where he will remain confined for the next six years unless the prison board shortens his term for good behavior. When the sheriff informed Mr. Hull that he must leave for the prison, he replied that he was not ready to go. He wanted to see some of his friends before he left and asked the sheriff to wait a day. This the sheriff was not inclined to do. He has had Mr. Hull in charge for the past fifteen weeks, and he wanted to get rid of him as soon as possible. The commitment papers were hurried up and the prisoner was taken to Stillwater on the first train that left after the papers were delivered to the sheriff. Mrs. Hull did not see her husband before he left. On the day of the sentence he asked her to call on him in the jail. He has watched for her ever since, but she failed to appear. This was one reason why he did not want to go yesterday. It is understood that he wanted to ask her to wait for him and not obtain a divorce. The train which bore the sheriff and the prisoner left at 12:10 o'clock, and on arriving at Stillwater Mr. Hull was at once conveyed to the prison. When he left St. Paul he wore his ministerial frock coat and a light black overcoat and a black derby hat. On reaching the prison he was put in the stripes of the convict.

Drawn Into a Thresher.

Benson, Minn., Nov. 24.—A dreadful accident happened about twelve miles north of here, in the township of Rolling Fork, Pope county. Hans B. Hanson, a well-to-do young farmer thirty-two years of age, had a threshing machine at his house, and the regular feeder being absent, took his place himself. The return elevator which brings back the partly-threshed grain to the cylinder, choked up, and he started back over the cylinder to attend to it. He slipped and his left foot was drawn into the swiftly revolving cylinder, with its teeth, which only stopped revolving when the leg had been drawn in up to the thigh. A physician arrived and a hip-joint amputation was made, but the shock was too much and Hanson died in a few hours.

Accuse Each Other.

St. Paul, Nov. 24.—John Lynch, alias Lyons, and Frank Schultz, alias Schauls, who were arrested, charged with stealing a draft for $2,145 from the desk of President Delos A. Monfort, of the Second National bank, were arraigned in police court to-day. Both have admitted that they stole the check, but each accuses the other of taking it from the desk. It is possible that the men will be turned over to the authorities in Minneapolis.

Bad Wisconsin Boys.

Winona, Minn, Nov. 24—Four youths are under arrest at Blair, Wis., charged with assault upon Annie Solberg, aged fourteen years. Three of the boys are in jail at Whitehall, with one, John Mayer, Jr., son of the Blair hotelkeeper, out on bail. The boys are of respectable families.

Consul General Lee has proposed that the independence of Cuba be obtained by purchase, the United States guaranteeing the payment of the debt.

Bismarck Hits at England.

Hamburg, Nov. 24.—The Hamburger Nachrichten, Prince Bismarck's organ, flatly accuses England of trying to kindle a European blaze under the pretext of helping Armenians. It says, further, that Europe, with inconceivable blindness, is playing into England's hands, and warns Germany not to be allured by the dangerous adventure.

It Was Surely Needed.

Bombay, Nov. 24.—A heavy rain is falling at Bickanneer, Province of Ajmeer, Central Hindostan.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA.

Harnessmaker!

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST
SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41

Scientific American
Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 25, 1896.

Cant Trust The Militia.

As was expected, General Miles, commanding the army, again presents his annual recommendation that the regular forces of the United States should be increased. The law now limits the army to 25,000 enlisted men. General Miles thinks the minimum should be one soldier for every 2,000 of the population and the maximum one for every 1,000 of the population, the increase of the army to the maximum being at the option of the president. A law in accordance with the recommendation would allow the president to create a standing army of about 72,000 men at present.

In the same document General Miles points out that the Indians are becoming less troublesome every year and that fewer soldiers are required to handle them. Why, then, should it be necessary to nearly treble the size of the army? Merely so that more troops may be available to a "strong central government," to overawe strikers and the like to be used when great capitalists and corporations ask for them.

The recommendation is directly contrary to true American principles which include home rule to the largest possible extent in every division of civil government down to the smallest, upon the theory that people are able to govern themselves. The European theory, which goes hand in hand with large standing armies, is that the people are not able to govern themselves and must be kept in the narrow path of order by a hedge of bayonets on each side of it.

How Anarchists Are Made.

Some weeks ago the western railroads got into a squabble amongst themselves about rates and in the trial that resulted Mr. A. B. Stickney, president of the Chicago Great Western, found occasion to let out some evidence not generally given from that kind of a source. But Mr. Stickney is not a typical robber as most railroad managers are, and refuses to be bled by their pooling operations. Here is a sample of the way he feels about the matter:

"The railroads are making anarchists of the farmers, rates are always made for the buyer and never for the producer or seller. I have been acquainted with the northwestern country for thirty-five years. In all that time there has never been a year that the corn crop was moved until after the corn was in the hands of the dealers who had the rate. Once the farmer is compelled to sell his grain, then you fellows cut the rate for the dealer. There is in Kansas this year 240,000,000 bushels of corn. Not over 25,000,000 have been moved so far this year. The farmer, the small dealer, has not the rate. He is compelled to sell, and then you fellows make the rate for the purchasers; and the corn moves."—Preston Courier.

Mr. Bryan has been criticised by the gold bug newspapers for urging since the election that the fight in favor of free coinage be kept up and call him a pernicious agitator and other pet names. Now we call the attention of these censors of public opinion to the utterances of McKinley's mouthpiece, Mark Hanna who says McKinley hopes to form a great national party, to include patriotic men of all shades of political belief who believe in what he terms "sound money," thereby meaning gold and substitutes redeemable in gold. How does this differ from Mr. Bryan's position, except that he would unite all bimetallists and McKinley would unite all gold monometallists?

Important to Voters.

Every constitutional amendment submitted to the people of this state at the late election have been adopted, except the constitutional convention amendment. Besides the one providing for taxation of unused railroad lands there is another that will bring a marked change in our political affairs. This is the one which effects the franchise. It provides that a person to be entitled to vote must have been a full citizen for at least three months preceding any election, and a residence of six months in the state and thirty days in the district is also required. This means that a great many persons who voted at the last election will not be permitted to vote in 1898. Those who have been voting their Declaration of Intention should not forget to take out their second, or full citizen papers, in time to vote at the next election. The law applies to local as well as general elections.

Try It and See.

Whatever may be said about the publications of Rev. Irl R. Hicks by those who do not fully understand the facts, there is no denying the truth that his paper and Almanac have come to stay. His splendid journal, WORD AND WORKS, is now entering its tenth year, largely increased in circulation and in every way improved, until it deserves the national reputation it has attained. His 1897 Almanac is now ready and is by far the finest and most beautiful he has yet issued. It contains 108 pages, including cover artistically printed in colors, and is filled from back to back with just what is wanted in every shop, office and home in America. One feature of the Almanac for 1897 is a series of 12 original, beautifully engraved star maps, with explanatory chapters, which could not be bought for less than five dollars in any work on astronomy. As Mr. Hicks has so correctly and faithfully warned the public of coming droughts, floods, cold waves, blizzards, tornadoes and cyclones, in the years passed, aside from the other varied and splendid features of his paper and Almanac, these considerations alone should prompt every family to subscribe at once for 1897. The Almanac is only 25cts. a copy. WORD AND WORKS is one dollar a year, and a copy of the fine Almanac goes as a premium with every yearly subscription. Write to WORD AND WORKS Publishing Co. St. Louis, Missouri.

The merchant wishes that your clothes would wear out; the docter wishes you would get sick, so does the druggist, the grocer, butcher and baker that you had nothing to eat; the hotel keeper that night would come on and catch you away from home; the jeweler that you would break your watch; the preacher wishes that you would get married; the lawyer wishes you would get a divorce; the undertaker wishes you would die; but the editor is more charitable, he merely wants a year's subscription.—Ex.

MONKEY STORIES.

Instances In Which the Animals Have Exhibited Almost Human Feelings.

Sir Gore Ouseley, diplomatist and traveler, gives a remarkable instance of the "exquisite sensibility" of the monkey. On board the man-of-war which took him out as embassador to Persia there was a pet monkey of the captain's, a peculiarly affectionate, gentle, amiable creature, which was a favorite with the whole ship's company. But it was not without the mischievous propensities of its kind. There was a milk goat kept on board specially for the embassador's use. One morning the monkey lashed the goat to the tackle of a gun and milked it into a marine's hat—the headgear of the marines at that time was a stiff glazed hat. Caught red handed, the monkey was brought before the captain, who sentenced him to be sent to Coventry for a week, any one taking the slightest notice of the culprit during that period to forfeit his grog. The monkey went about wistfully seeking the attentions to which he had been accustomed, but none of his old friends had a kind look or word for him. In vain he put on his most coaxing and engaging airs. They were wasted. For two days he bore his punishment, but on the morning of the third, finding himself still in disgrace, his sensitive heart broke under the strain of misery. He sprang on the bulwarks, and, placing both hands over his head, gave one pitiful cry; then leaped into the sea and was seen no more.

As a rule, so far as our experience goes, the mischievousness of monkeys is not purely wanton, but is prompted by a motive. Sometimes the motive is revenge, as in the following case. A retired colonel at Bath had a pet monkey. His next door neighbor was a widow, with three mischievous and troublesome boys, who, when they were home for the holidays, made that unhappy monkey's life a burden to him by throwing lighted squibs and crackers at him and giving him nuts filled with pepper or mustard. When his tormentors went back to school, the monkey, from a respectful distance, watched them depart; then came down, crept cautiously along the balcony to the widow's drawing room window, and, seeing that there was no one about, entered, got hold of a bottle of ink and liberally sprinkled its contents over the carpet and furniture. He was caught in flagrante delicto, handed over to his master and soundly whipped. But he had had his revenge.

In another curious case jealousy of a quite human type prompted revenge. A nobleman, well known as a prominent member of the Royal Yacht club, had a pet monkey which used to accompany him on his yachting cruises and was accustomed to receive a great deal of attention from every one on board. Among the guests on the yacht on one occasion was a beautiful girl, who attracted general admiration, but, as she professed a dislike for monkeys, Master Pug's presence was not encouraged. The monkey felt himself aggrieved and neglected. But when the party landed to inspect some caves, he contrived to slip into the boat unobserved and accompany them. Watching his opportunity, he seized a large crab and placed it against the heel of the young lady, which it gripped with its huge claw so fiercely that she screamed with pain. Unfortunately for the monkey, he had been detected in the act and suffered for it.—Chambers' Journal.

Instinct In a Young Beaver.

Every animal inherits the power of doing certain things without being taught—that is to say, they have what is called instinct. A gentleman refused to believe in this instinct, so to convince him a Canadian friend bought a baby beaver from a hunter and sent it to the gentleman.

The little beaver became a great pet in the house, but gave no sign of wanting to build a dam until one day a leaky pail of water was put on the floor of the back kitchen.

Though but a baby, the instinct now awoke in the beaver. The instant he saw the water oozing out of a pail he scampered into the yard, brought in a chip and began building his dam.

The gentleman was called and watched the little fellow, very much astonished by all he saw. He gave orders to have it left where it was, and the industrious beaver kept at his work four weeks, when he had built a solid dam all around the pail.—Leesburg Mirror.

TRAVELERS' TALES.

The Wonderful Stories Related by the Polos to Their Venetian Neighbors.

Noah Brooks tells "The Story of Marco Polo" in St. Nicholas. Mr. Brooks quotes the following from John Baptist Ramusio to show how the three Polos, after their return from their wonderful journey to Cathay, convinced their neighbors of the truth of their story:

They invited a number of their kindred to an entertainment, which they took care to have prepared with great state and splendor in that house of theirs, and when the hour arrived for sitting down to table they came forth from their chamber, all three clothed in crimson satin fashioned in long robes reaching to the ground, such as people in those days wore within doors. And when water for the hands had been served and the guests were set, they took off those robes and put on others of crimson damask, while the first suits were by their orders cut up and divided among the servants. Then after partaking of some of the dishes they went out again and came back in robes of crimson velvet, and when they had again taken their seats the second suits were divided as before. When dinner was over, they did the like with the robes of velvet after they had put on dresses of the ordinary fashion worn by the rest of the company. These proceedings caused much wonder and amazement among the guests. But when the cloth had been drawn and all the servants had been ordered to retire from the dining hall, Messer Marco, as the youngest of the three, rose from table, and, going into another chamber, brought forth the three shabby dresses of coarse stuff which they had worn when they first arrived.

Straightway they took sharp knives and began to rip up some of the seams and welts and to take out of them jewels of the greatest value in vast quantities, such as rubies, sapphires, carbuncles, diamonds and emeralds, which had all been stitched up in those dresses in so artful a fashion that nobody could have suspected the fact, for when they took leave of the great khan they had changed all the wealth that he had bestowed upon them into this mass of rubies, emeralds and other jewels, being well aware of the impossibility of carrying with them so great an amount of gold over a journey of such extreme length and difficulty. Now, this exhibition of such a huge treasure of jewels and precious stones, all tumbled out upon the table, threw the guests into fresh amazement, insomuch that they seemed quite bewildered and dumfounded. And now they recognized that in spite of all former doubts these were in truth those honored and worthy gentlemen of the Ca' Polo that they claimed to be, and so all paid them the greatest honor and reverence. And when the story got wind in Venice, straightway the whole city, gentle and simple, flocked to the house to embrace them and to make much of them, with every conceivable demonstration of affection and respect.

On Messer Maffeo, who was the eldest, they conferred the honors of an office that was of great dignity in those days, while the young men came daily to visit and converse with the ever polite and gracious Messer Marco and to ask him questions about Cathay and the Great Can, all of which he answered with such kindly courtesy that every man felt himself in a manner his debtor. And as it happened that in the story which he was constantly called on to repeat, of the magnificence of the great khan, he would speak of his revenues as amounting to 10 or 15 millions of gold, and, in like manner, when recounting other instances of great wealth in those parts, would always make use of the term millions, so they gave him the nickname of Messer Marco Millioni, a thing which I have noted also in the public books of this republic where mention is made of him. The court of his house, too, at St. Giovanni Chrisostomo, has always from that time been popularly known as the Court of the Millioni.

Object In Living.

After all, what's the use of dying? There is a novelty in hanging around to see what is coming next.—St. Paul Dispatch.

If you are particular

About the accommodations you get when traveling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.

If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.

Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4.00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1.75

☞Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

U.S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 27th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U.S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Dec. 8th 1896, viz:

Karl A Sundahl, Hd. Lots 2, 3, and 4 Sec. 6 tp. 152 N. range 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Simon E. Ahlberg, Daniel Johnson, Andrew Nelson and Anton Peterson, all of St. Hilaire, P. O., Minn.

13-18 WM. ANGLIM, Receiver.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - - MINNESOTA

The BEER= THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY, IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $8 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.

	Price per Acre.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00

SANDERS TOWNSHIP.

NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 3.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	1.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.

Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00

ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 25	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

☞For further information apply to

R. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Winchester Repeating Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,
DEALER IN
Fruits, Confectionery
AND CIGARS.
Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE
Collection Agency.
Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.
Physician & Surgeon.
Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.
Office in Bank Block.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,
Merchant - Tailor.
I have a full assortment of sample goods for the winter trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for same quality of goods.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
Give me a call and be convinced.
Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.
St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A DAINARD
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
DAN PATERSON, Prop.
Dray in Connection.
The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place
BIG RED BARN
Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.
ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.
=$ $=
The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.
Apply to H. E. IVES.
WHAT YOU MAKE.
$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
D. PATTERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

M. W. OF A., CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Frid y of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

M. E. CHURCH:—Pastor, Rev. M. S. Burns. Services every Sunday at 3:00 p. m., and Wednesday evenings at 7:30.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	65c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	15c	Eggs	7c
Barley	13c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	60c	Potatoes	15

LOCAL NEWS.

The deer season is over.

Get your milk tickets printed at this office.

—"Money talks" so does good advertising.

The St. Hilaire feed mill runs three days a week.

Don't fail to take in the the dance tomorrow evening.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

Deputy Sherriff Losey was seen in the village yesterday.

Tomorrow the axe and turkey will meet on the same block.

No less than a dozen commercial men are in the village to-day.

Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Charley Rapp was doing business at the upper Falls last Saturday.

H. E. Ives returned Monday from a flying trip to the twin cities.

One dollar admits you to the dance and oyster supper tomorrow night.

Dan Patterson shipped a car load of wood to St. Thomas N. Dak., to-day.

Haul in a load of wood and get a years subscription to the SPECTATOR.

Enjoy yourself tomorrow night by taking in the dance and oyster supper.

Fred Eikhoff went to the county seat Monday on matters pertaining to business.

Remember Anderson Bros., will grind feed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The engine which will be used in connection with the pile driver arrived Monday.

BORN:—To Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sorsoleil, Saturday November 21st 1896, a daughter.

One hundred and six piling arrived to-day from Erskine for the foundation of the mill.

Mrs. A. G. Mostrom, who has resided on a farm several miles east of here died last Thursday.

The brewers of Chicago have formed a trust and consequently have sent up beer a dollar a barrel.

—H. E. Ives will pay cash for county school district orders. Bring them in and get them cashed.

Niagara Falls is harnessed and the republicans say the iron ore is singing "Put me off at Buffalo."

W. A. Sorsoleil will take wood in exchange for flour and feed at Johnson & Marshall's warehouse.

Seventeen hunters are reported as being killed in the deer districts of Northern Minnesota this season.

The new steele bridge is a daisy and is being well patronized already by the farmers from the east side.

The pile driver is now in position on the mill site and the foundation for the mill will be driven at once.

Do you want to trade cord wood for a second box stove? If so call at this office and make a deal.

Two hundred and twenty thousand brick have been ordered for the engine house, etc., for the saw mill.

Prof. O'Brien and Miss Mary Kyle will attend the Teachers Association at Crookston Friday and Saturday.

It snows now days just as easy as it rained all last spring and summer—most every day and night, thats all.

Now is the time to change your advertisements and make some special announcements during the holidays.

A man in Minneapolis after stealing 400 pound of limberger cheese was arrested and called a "sweet-scented thief.

One hundred and forty-six deer is the largest shipment received at Crookston in one day this season—so the Times says.

J. Adam Bede says it was the sound money democrats that saved Clough. He also says they are the salt of the earth.

Gustave Idea will deliver a temperance lecture at the M. E. church Saturday evening at 7:30. Everybody invited to attend.

Knight of the Grip Aery displayed a fine line of sample goods to our merchants last evening and got several good orders.

Although the bridge is being used every day for travel, it will still take a day or two before the riviting and painting is finished.

Sam Grossman & Co., of Grand Forks has rented room in the post office and will open up a Clothing store about December 1st.

The Australian ballot law has been adopted in every state in the Union except Lousiana, Georgia and North and South Carolina.

Two of the gates in the new race were hoisted yesterday and in consequence the water in the pond and river is falling rapidly.

F. Kratky and wife, O. P. Johnson and wife of Thief River Falls were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Arpin Sunday afternoon.

I. D. Converse has severed his connection with the T. R. F. Press. P. S. Ware will continue the business, collect accounts and pay all bills.

About two inches of the beautiful fell last night and the wind is picking it up to-day and laying it with care on the door steps and wood piles.

The candidates for county officers are sending in their statements of expenditures to the county auditor. They range all the way from $25 to $250.

W. A. Arthur will give a grand Thanksgiving ball and supper. Make a date with your best girl and be there. This will be the event of the season.

Miss Mary Quandy will be pleased to have the ladies of St. Hilaire and vicinity call and inspect goods and leave orders for what they want for the holidays.

Old Grover Cleveland thinks there is too much money in the country. He will recommend the retirement of all greenbacks in his next message to congress.

The publishers commercial agency have it down that the Globe Advertising Agency of St. Louis is very poor pay. An Indianna paper seconds the motion.

Fant, the Tropical fruit and confectionery store man of Thief River Falls was sizing up the situation and the future prospects of St. Hilaire last Thursday.

Capt. Lovill returned last week from his North Carolina home, bringing with him an apple weighing 16¾ ounces which he presented to the editor of the Thief River Falls Press.

The clothing merchants of Grand Forks are having rather warm competition. They advertise to take your pick of any suit of clothes in the house for the even sum of nine dollars.

Henry Norland spent a few days in the vicinity of Erskine last week contracting for about 500 oak piles, 16 feet long, which are to be used for the foundation of the saw mill at this place.

Charles Wade, of Grand Forks, who was thrown off a moving train and lost a leg last summer sued the railroad company for $25,000 and settled the same outside of the courts for $1,000.

Boys who are allowed to run about the streets untaught and uncared for, will employ a great deal of their time several years from now kicking about the prison bill of fare.—Prison Mirror.

Now that everything is serene for crossing the new steele bridge, would it not be well now to make arrangements to rip-rap the north-east approach? Now is the time to talk this matter over.

Charley Robbecke and Carl Kretzschmar of Thief River Falls have both agreed to visit the home of their birth—Germany. They will leave this or next week. May their voyage and visit be pleasant.

The thermometers registered 28 below Thursday morning and 36 below zero Friday. Most of our citizens were inclined to kick a little on old Jack Frost for doing such a chilly business in November.

The Palmer-Buckner ticket carried one town by a majority of one, and that was Dudley township, Haskell county, Kansas. Joy was unconfined and demijohns were uncorked for a week in that township.

S. M. and Peter Dainard drove up from the county seat in that blizzard Sunday. Sam had been to the twin cities and Pete drove to Crookston in response to a telegram to meet him there Saturday.

Charley Anderson, a prosperous farmer of Wyandotte township was in the village Monday, the first time since the bridge went out last spring. While here he dropped in on us and replenished our coffers the subscription price.

San Francisco has a Chinese labor union. When the almond-eyed Mongolians realize the necessity of organizing against the encrouchment of capital, it is almost time that our brilliant Caucasian legislators were taking a tumble to themselves. A point is very plain when a heathen can see it.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

St. Hilaire Has The Pole.

Northern Minnesota is fast drawing into a lumber centre. The St. Hilaire Lumber company will cut twenty million feet; P. & J. Meehan will cut eight million, besides their ten million in the river. The Red River Lumber company with five million on hand, and a cut of twelve million this winter, brings the Northern Minnesota Mills under recognition. All these firms are staple quantities and fit to compete with the world. All they want is better distributing facilities.—Thief River Falls News.

H. E. Ives returned this morning from a trip to Minneapolis. He arranged some matters for the new lumber company while absent, and reports that the original plans of that company have been enlarged. The mill foundation will be of Washington fir, and a gang will be added to the equipment which will be put into the mill. This latter feature was not intended to be carried out for a year or two, but a broadening of their plans brought it in. The company now has eight camps established in the pineries, principally along the Sand river, a tributary of Red Lake which discharges its waters nine miles from the outlet of the lake. A large cut will be made by the company the present intention being to put in at least 25,000,000 this winter. The most important feature of the recent plans is a tug which will be built for lake towing and which will handle logs for others as well as for the company which owns it. This will be built and on the ways ready for launching when the ice goes out in the spring. The company proposes to push matters to a rapid conclusion, and be prepared to begin sawing as soon as the first logs can be got down in the spring.—Monday Crookston Times.

School will be closed until Monday noon on account of the teachers attending the Northwestern Teachers Association at Crookston.

The Batchelors Club will give their second annual ball sometime during the latter part of January. Their program will be somewhat remodeled from the first one. Leap year failed to reduce the membership of the club. The Batchelors will have to plod along for eight long years and dodge cupids arrows.

The literary and musical entertainment given under the auspices of the Swedish Lutheran church last Wednesday evening was largely attended. After exausting a fine laid out program, refreshments were served which included everything good to eat and of the very best kind. A nice little sum of money was netted on this occasion for the church.

A short squib is going the rounds of the country press to the effect that a man lost $300 on the strength of a paper saying such and such a man was a winner, and of course he lost. Any man that is foolish enough to stake his money on all what the "big dailies" say in a political campaign ought to loose. It served him right. Its another case of "getting your eye-teeth cut."

Another chair was placed in position in the tonsorial parlors of J. H. Penno's. Mr. Penno is bound to keep up with the times and if it becomes necessary to add another chair and barber he will meet the demand. Everything about the shop is kept in a neat and tidy manner. A place for everything and everything in its place seems to be a rule strictly adheared to in this barber shop.

One of our Buffalo justices recently married a loving couple after the following manner, says the Buffalo Journal: "We are gathered in the sight of God to join together this man and woman in the holy bonds of wedlock at the ratio of 16 to 1, in order that the prosperity of this glorious nation may continue; and if any one person has anything to say why the gold standard should not be continued, let him forever hold his peace."

Famime in India is now attracting the attention of philantropists. Long continued droughts have resulted in a complete failure of crops there and several bread riots have occurred. For the first time in history wheat is being shipped from the United States to India, a country which has heretofore been our chief competitor in the wheat market of the world. Wheat ought to be above the dollar mark to-day.

Life is a locomotive. The engine starts from the central depot and runs up grade and down grade, through woods and tunnels, over bridges and culverts, in daylight and darkness and at last reaches the round house. You start out in babyhood and your route is over mountains of difficulty, mighty rivers of temptation, through tunnels of despair, pleasant valleys of hope and success, until at last in old age, you reach the round house of death. The heart is the engineer, brain the conductor, conscience the fire, and will the breakman.—Truth.

Lift your hat reverently when you meet a school teacher of a primary school, says a close observer of human nature. She is the good angel of the republic. She takes the bantling fresh from the home nest, and full of pouts and passions—an ungovernable little wretch whose mother admits she sends him to school to get rid of him. This lady, who knows her business, takes a car load of these little anarchists, one of whom single-handed and alone is more than a match for his parents, and at once puts them in the way of being useful and upright citizens. At what expense of toil and soul weariness. Hers is the most responsible position in the whole school, and if her salary was double she would not receive more than she earns.—Ex.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Stockholders Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the St. Hilaire Boom and Water Power Company will be held in the SPECTATOR office, Monday December 7th 1896. All stockholders are requested to be present.

A grand Thanksgiving ball will be given at Brink's hall Thursday evening Nov. 26th. Good music and a good time assured. Tickets $1.00 including an oyster supper.

Grand Master Workman Soverеign of the Knights of Labor is quoted as saying at their last general assembly: "The combine of gold gamblers can lock up the money of the country, close our industries and starve the people at will." If such be the case, no doubt they will try it on before 1900.

Teacher's Attention.

The semi-annual meeting of the Northwestern Teachers' Association will be held at Crookston, in the high school, Friday and Saturday, November 27th and 28th 1896.

It is hoped that all teachers in this section will make a special effort to be present: Principals should urge their teachers to come. County superintendents should bring as many country teachers as possible. Let every teacher make himself a committe of one to see that he himself is present, and we shall not lack in attendance or enthusiam.

Teachers will notice that many men who have been in educational work for years will be present.

The Crookston and Palace hotels will give a special rate of $1.25 per day to all teachers.

Arrangements have been made to secure reduced rates on all railroads entering Crookston. All persons are urged to obtain a certificate from the ticket agent or whom they purchase their tickets. These certificates will be signed by the Secretary, and if seventy-five are obtained reduced rates will be secured. H. C. CRIPPEN, President.

WYLIE ITEMS.

J. D. Marshall passed through here Monday.

The Misses' Vena Gother and Annie Neil are on the sick list this week.

Peter Hansel made a flying trip to Red Lake Falls Wednesday evening.

Miss Ione Gooler has of late opened a term of school in the Aug. Naplin Dist.

The elevator is undergoing a few improvements at present. Master Mechanic Delance is doing the work.

Miss Hattie Dargan has been visiting her sister Mrs. Jacob Thill the past week, returning home Friday.

Wylie was represented in Red Lake Falls Sunday by a number of young folks who attended Mass in St. Mary's church.

Messrs. Ole Romsas, Edward Martin and Jas. G. Brady attended the Literary Society in the Swedish Ev. Lutheran church last week.

Mr. Andrew Letvig was seen shaking hands with himself Thursday morning. On inquiring what the congratulation was about, it was found that a beautiful young lady had put in her appearance.

Council Proceedings.

Special meeting of the village council Tuesday November 17th 1896.

All members present except Epperson.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

On motion the office of councilman Epperson was declared vacant on account of said Epperson removing from the village.

On motion Daniel Patterson was appointed councilman to fill vacancy of M. Z. Epperson.

On motion the following bills were allowed.

J. L. Johnson,	services as per bill.	86 60
O. H. Peters,	" judge election.	8 10
J. J. Soll,	" " "	8 10
O. F. Post,	" " "	8 10
J. B. O'Brien,	" clerk election.	4 10
H. E. Adams,	hauling two loads of plank.	4 00

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. Rapp,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

OUR CHRISTMAS TREE.

O
the Christ-mass tree so bright and green awaits Old Santa Clause, and the Chimney place
swept and clean gapes
wide its ponderous jaws
The little stockings are all hung up—and baby's just makes four. Won't old
Santa be surprised, when he find there is now one more!
There's an elegant place up in the tree to hang Johnny's gun and a place for May and one for Kate to leave their dolls upon. But for little baby blue eyes a lower branch he mush choose where she may reach and find the place he's hung her first shoes.
Turn down the light a little
now, so good old Santa
Clause can see, and all must go to bed
and get up early after a long nights
sleep;
and come down to the Xmas tree
and
SEE
Who will get the first peep into
M. A. HALL'S STORE.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something . . . . .

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
ALL KINDS OF Hardware
HEADQUARTERS FOR
Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

L. K. KOLSTAD
DEALER IN
BOOTS AND SHOES!
REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET
ALL KINDS OF
Fresh and Salt Meats.
FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.
Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.
S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Cigars.
BRINK BROTHERS
DEALERS IN
Wines & Liquors
Minneapolis Beer.
Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

For Sale! —The Earth
IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.
SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR
STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department. . . .

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS
The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Ransom S. Angell, Oakes, N. D., traction engine; Friedrich W. G. Boettcher, Duluth, Minn., sounding device; John Clayton, Minneapolis, Minn., bob sleigh; Ezra Farnsworth, Minneapolis, Minn., bicycle support; Israel Harmanson, Hopkins, Minn., bridle bit; Joseph Lachance, Little Falls, Minn., washing machine; Godfried Laub, Huron, S. D., rotary pneumatic toy; Frank W. Merritt, Duluth, Minn., controller for electric pumps; Alois Schmidt, St. Paul, Minn., basket; Samuel N. Smith, Minneapolis, Minn., primary battery; Nils O. Swanson, Lead, S. D., drill chuck; Andrew E. Veon, Brainerd, Minn., combined door fastener and alarm; John W. Winters, deceased, (O. B. Brunson, administrator), St. Paul, Minn., automatic safety angle cock; Henry C. Zenke, Sandy Point, Wash., air brake mechanism.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Ventilation.

Remember our admonition in regard ventilation, which is that it is more difficult to keep the fresh air out than it is to let it in, and any attempt to ventilate will simply allow the warmth to escape. A poultry house 10x10 feet and eight feet high, occupied by a dozen fowls will require no ventilation. Estimating a man as twenty-five times as large as a fowl, and twelve men having a space proportionately to size, they would occupy rooms 250x250 and and 200 feet high. In so large a room in cold weather a stove would have to be used, and no windows could be raised. How much more important it is to avoid cold weather in a cold building that is not lathed and plastered.—Farm and Fireside.

Pushing Him Along.

"How much will you give me toward the missionary cause this year?" inquired the pastor.

"Ten dollars," replied the parishioner.

"I am indeed rejoiced at your liberality, especially as Brother Cadd, of our church, sails next week as a missionary to China."

"What! the man who wears a silk hat with a sack coat, has a soiled collar and a diamond pin, and asks me if it is hot enough you?"

"The same."

"Make it $100, and call on me for more whenever you need it."—Texas Siftings.

There are 200,000 factory girls in London, 1-22 of the whole population.

I have found Piso's Cure for Consumption an unfailing medicine.—F. R. Lotz, 1305 Scott street, Covington, Ky., Oct. 1, 1894.

There are more unemployed persons in New Zealand than in Ireland or Scotland.

Two hundred new designs in penny toys are brought out every week in Whitechapel.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

A swordfish was captured by a New London (Conn.) skipper which weighed 600 pounds.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Of all Shakespeare's women, Imogen (says Hazlitt) is perhaps the most tender and the most artless.

In Paris the street doors are wide; in London they are narrow.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

In the dominions of the British Empire alone, some 8,000 individuals vanish every year without leaving any trace.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret candy cathartic, cure guaranteed. 10c, 25c.

Three new novels are issued daily on an average, by London publishers.

HIS IS THE TIME of year .. .. when men .. and women .. become weakened by .. the weather, and run down generally. .. .. The first parts that the weather affects are the kidneys. The urea is not thrown off, but is forced back upon the lungs, and disease results—caused by weakness of the kidneys.

Large bottle, or new style, smaller one at your druggist's.

HERE IS ONLY ONE SURE WAY known to medical men for promptly checking troubles of the kidneys and restoring these great organs to health and strength, and that is by the use of

WARNER'S Safe Cure

It has stood the test of time; it has saved thousands of lives; it has restored millions of sufferers to health; it has done what was never done, never attempted before; it has made men stronger and healthier; it has made .. women brighter and happier; .. it stands alone in all these qualities. Do you not think it would be wise for you to use it and thus avoid the dangers of the season? Insist upon having it.

EYES A slight defect in hearing may become serious or a serious defect be aggravated if neglected. Many people, dreading the pain or unable to pay the exorbitant charges usually made by specialists, delay treatment until it is too late. The St. Paul Eye and Ear Infirmary, endorsed by the best people in St. Paul and having a record of hundreds of permanent cures, will make a free examination, furnish free medicine and treat your disease for half the price charged by the first-class specialist if, after an examination of their new and painless methods, you decide to submit your case to their charge. St. Paul Eye and Ear Infirmary, Merrill Bld., St. Paul. EARS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
Bought and sold for future delivery, 3c to 5c per bu. deposit. Sample sales a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited. MASON BROS., 148 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill. MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

BED-WETTING CURED OR NO PAY. Mrs. B. M. ROWAN, Milwaukee, Wis.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

THANKSGIVING
'96

Speed on! my feathered beauties
On pinions fleet and gay—
I, Love, shall guide you earthward
To celebrate the day.
—Hobart.

THE NIGHT BEFORE THANKSGIVING

BY SARAH ORNE JEWETT.

There was a sad heart in the low-storied, dark little house that stood humbly by the roadside under some tall elms. Small as the house was, old Mrs. Robb found it too large for herself alone; she only needed the kitchen and a tiny bed room that led out of it, and there still remained the best room and a bed room, with the low garret overhead.

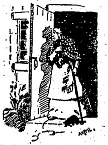
There had been a time, after she was left alone, when Mrs. Robb could help those who were poorer than herself. She kept a cow, and was strong enough not only to do a woman's work inside her house, but almost a man's outside in her piece of garden ground. At last sickness and age had come hand in hand, those two relentless enemies of the poor, and together they had wasted her strength and substance. She had always been looked up to by her neighbors as being independent; but now she was left, lame-footed and lame-handed, with a debt to carry and her bare land, and the house ill-provisioned to stand the siege of time.

For awhile she managed to get on, but at last it began to be whispered about that it was of no use for anyone to be so proud; it was easier for the whole town to care for her than for a few neighbors, and Mrs. Robb had better go to the poor house before winter and be done with it. At this terrible suggestion her brave heart seemed to stand still. The people whom she cared for most happened to be poor, and she could not longer go into their households to make herself of use. The very elms overhead seemed to say "No," as they groaned in the late autumn winds, and there was something appealing even to the stranger passer-by in the look of the little gray house, with Mrs. Robb's pale, worried face at the window.

II.

Some one has said that anniversaries are days to make other people happy in; but sometimes when they come they seem to be full of shadows, and the power of giving joy to others, that inalienable right which ought to lighten the saddest heart, the most indifferent sympathy, sometimes even this seems to be withdrawn.

So poor old Mary Ann Robb sat at her window on the afternoon before Thanksgiving and felt herself poor and sorrowful, indeed. Across the frozen road she looked eastward over a great stretch of cold meadow land, brown and wind-swept, and crossed by icy ditches. It seemed to her as if in all the troubles she had ever known and carried before this there had always been some hope to hold, as if she had never looked poverty full in the face and seen its cold and pitiless look before. She looked anxiously down the road, with a horrible shrinking and dread at being asked, out of pity, to join in some Thanksgiving feast, but there was nobody coming with gifts in hand. Once she had been full of love for such days, whether at home or abroad; but something had chilled her very heart now, poor old woman.



She Looked Out Hopelessly Across the Gray Fields.

Her nearest neighbor had been foremost of those who wished her to go to the town farm, and he had said more than once that it was the only sensible thing. But John Mander was waiting impatiently to get her tiny farm into his own hands; he had advanced some money upon it in her extremity, and pretended that there was still a debt, after her had cleared her wood lot to pay himself back. He would plow over the graves in the field corner and fell the great elms, and waited like a spider for his poor prey. He had often reproached her for being too generous to worthless people in the past, and coming to be a charge to others now. Oh, if she could only die in her own house, and not suffer the pain of homelessness and dependence.

It was just at sunset, and as she looked out hopelessly across the gray fields, there was a sudden gleam of light far away on the low hills beyond, the clouds opened in the west and let the sunshine through. One lovely gleam shot swiftly as an arrow and brightened a far cold hillside where it fell, and at the same moment a sudden gleam of hope brightened the winter landscape of her heart.

"There was Johnny Harris," said Mary Ann, softly. "He was a soldier's son, left an orphan and distressed. Old John Mander scolded, but I wouldn't see the poor boy want. I kept him that year after he got hurt, spite of what anybody said, an' he helped me what little he could. He said I was the only mother he'd ever had. 'I'm goin' out West, Mother Robb,' says he. 'I shan't come back till I get rich,' an' then he'd look at me an' laugh, so pleasant an' boyish. He wa'n't one that liked to write. I don't think he was doin' very well when I heard—there, it's years ago now. I always thought if he got sick or anything, I should have a good home for him. There's poor Ezra Blake, the deaf one, too—he won't have any place to come to——"

The light faded out of doors, and again her troubles stood before her. Yet it was not so dark as it had been in her sad heart. She still sat by the window, hoping now, in spite of herself, instead of fearing; and a curious feeling of nearness and expectancy made her feel not so much light-hearted as light-headed.

"I feel just as if somethin' was goin' to happen," she said. "Poor John Harris, perhaps he's thinkin' o' me, if he's alive."

It was dark now out of doors, and there were tiny clicks against the windows. It was beginning to snow, and the great elms creaked in the rising wind overhead.

III.

A dead limb of one of the old trees had fallen that autumn, and poor firewood as it has been, it was Mrs. Robb's own, and she had burnt it most thankfully. There was only a small armful left, but at least she could have the luxury of a fire. She had a feeling that it was her last night at home, and with strange recklessness she began to fill the stove as she used to do in better days.

"It'll get me good an' warm," she said, still talking to herself, as lonely people do, "and I'll go to bed early. It's comin' on to storm."

The snow clicked faster and faster against the window, and she sat alone, thinking in the dark.

"There's lots o' folks I love," she said once. "They'd be sorry I ain't got nobody to come, an' no supper the night afore Thanksgivin'. I'm dreadful glad they don't know." And she drew a little nearer to the fire and laid her head back drowsily in the old rocking chair.

It seemed only a moment before there was a loud knocking, and somebody lifted the latch of the door. The fire shone bright through the front of the old stove and made a little light in the room, but Mary Ann Robb waked up frightened and bewildered.

"Who's there?" she called, as she found her crutch and went to the door. She was conscious of her only one great fear. They've come to take me to the poorhouse!" she said, and burst into tears.

There was a tall man, not John Mander, who seemed to fill the narrow doorway.

"Come, let me in," he said gayly. "It's a cold night. You didn't expect me, did you, Mother Robb?"

"Dear me! What is it?" she faltered, stepping back as he came in, and dropping her crutch. "Be I dreaming'?. I was a-dreamin' about—— Oh, there! What was I a-sayin'? 'Tain't true! No! I've made some kind of a mistake."

Yes, and this was the man who kept the poorhouse, and she would go without complaint; they might have given her notice, but she must not fret.

"Sit down, sir," she said, turning toward him with touching patience. "You'll have to give me a little time. If I'd been notified I wouldn't have kept you a minute this cold night."

It was not the keeper. The man by the door took one step forward and put his arm round her and kissed her.

"What are you talking about?" said John Harris. "You ain't goin' to make me feel like a stranger? I've come all the way from Dakota to spend Thanksgivin'. There's all sorts o' things out here in the wagon, an' a man to help get 'em in. Why—don't you cry so, Mother Robb. I thought you'd have a great laugh if I come and surprised you. Don't you remember I said I should?"

It was John Harris, indeed. The poor soul could say nothing. She felt now as if her heart was going to break with joy. He left her in the rocking chair and came and went in his old, boyish way, bringing in his store of gifts and provisions. It was better than any dream. He laughed and talked and went out to send away the man to bring a wagonful of wood from John Mander's and came in himself laden with pieces of the nearest fence to keep the fire going in the meantime. They must cook the steak for supper right away; they must find the package of tea among all the other bundles. They must get good fires started in both the bed rooms. Why, Mother Robb didn't seem to be ready for company from out West. The great cheerful fellow hurried about the tiny house, and the little old woman limped after him, forgetting everything but hospitality. Had not she a house for John to come to? Were not her old chairs and tables in their places, and he remembered everything, and kissed her as they stood before the fire, as if she were a girl.

He had found plenty of hard times, but luck had come at last. He had struck luck, and this was the end of a great year.

"No, I could't seem to write letters; no use to complain o' the worst, an' I wanted to tell you the best when I came;" and he told it while she cooked the supper. "No, I wasn't goin' to write no foolish letters." John repeated. He was afraid he should cry himself when he found out how bad things had been, and they sat down to supper together just as they used to do when he was a homeless orphan boy, whom nobody else wanted in winter weather while he was crippled and could not work. She could not be kinder now than she was then, but she looked so poor and old. He saw her taste her cup of tea and set it down again, with a trembling hand and a look at him. "No, I wanted to come myself," he blustered, wiping his eyes and trying to laugh. "And you're going to have everything you need to make you comfortable, long's you live, Mother Robb."

"Be I Dreamin'?"

She looked at him again and nodded, but she did not even try to speak. There was a good, hot supper ready, and her own folks had come; it was the night before Thanksgiving.—Minneapolis Tribune.

He Did Not Know the Ropes.

Gen. Morgan of Illinois, who commanded a brigade in Davis' division, was one of those men so slouchy in his appearance that a stranger would never have picked him for an officer of high rank. One day a raw recruit of his brigade who had lost some books asked a veteran where he might be likely to find them. The veteran said the only thief in the brigade was Jim Morgan, who occupied a tent near the blue flag. The recruit hastened to Morgan's tent, shoved his head in through the flaps, and asked:

"Does Jim Morgan live here?"

"My name is James Morgan," answered the general.

"Then I want you to hand over those books you stole from me!"

"I have none of your books, my dear man."

"That's a lie," cried the soldier. "The boys say you are the only thief in the camp. Turn out them books, or I'll grind your carcass into apple-sass!"

Gen. Morgan appreciated the joke, and laughed heartily, but when the recruit began pulling off his coat to make good his threats, the officer informed him of his relations to the brigade.

"Waal, blast me if I'd take you for a brigadier!" said the man. "Excuse me, general, I don't thoroughly know the ropes yet."—Harper's Round Table.

A Rumy Season.

Small pelisses or pleating are much in vogue, and are used alike on corselets and boleros, and in every conceivable lace and chiffon, as well as narrow ribbon. They are not likely to be vulgarized to any marked extent on account of the amount of material they consume, and I have invariably found that when the general public are asked to lay out anything beyond a certain sum they require a proportionate effect. They are always completely intolerant of articles which do not proclaim aloud their pecuniary value, and the narrow pleatings certainly do not. Only the fastidious will appreciate their excellence and the cachet which they impart to everything they are permitted to adorn.

One

Fact is worth a column of rhetoric. It is a fact established by the testimony of thousands, that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, catarrh, and other diseases and affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood. It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system. Get only

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The Best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Taking Care of the Colts.

The season has arrived when the weanling colts should be especially cared for and not be exposed to the cold rains and sleets of early winter. The foundation laid in the constitution of the colt determines the usefulness and value of the horse. There is too much carelessness among the breeders in their attention to the comfort of the growing colts. If they are exposed to the cold rains and sleets they are liable to contract the distemper and lose their growth during the winter, and the profit in horse-raising, as in cattle-raising, is largely determined by early maturity, and this cannot be accomplished without liberal feeding and reasonable protection from the inclemency of the weather. The colt should be taught to eat grain while following its dam, and be given a generous ration during the first winter, in order to insure permanent growth.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, regain lost manhood, be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 400,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac from your druggist, who will guarantee a cure. Booklets and sample mailed free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Feeding Oil Meal.

Some caution should be exercised in feeding linseed meal to horses when engaged in active work, lest the bowels become unduly lax. The oil meal should not compose more, perhaps, than one part in twenty of the whole grain ration fed. To colts, however, it should be fed more freely. In the season they can profitably use from one fourth to one-half pound per day. It develops in them muscle and bone, so helpful to their future usefulness, and it gives to their coats a glossy skin, which indicates a healthy condition of the digestive organs. The hair and coat of cattle are also similarly improved when oil meal is fed.—Farm, Stock and Home.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

He Was Willing.

There was a little boy whose mother had made a little Lord Fauntleroy of him, training his hair in curls and dressing him in black velvet knickerbockers and jacket, ornamented with white lace.

One day a large girl thought to frighten the picturesque little chap by rushing toward him brandishing a large pair of scissors and exclaiming: "I'll cut off your curls!"

The little Lord Fauntleroy was not frightened. He merely replied, in a shrill voice:

"Wish you would."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

St. Moritz, Switzerland, has the champion toboggan slide of the world. It is three-quarters of a mile long, and has been descended in a whiz of seventy-one seconds.

Physicians Wise in Their Generation

The above class of scientists recognize, and have repeatedly borne testimony to the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy and preventive of fever and ague, rheumatism, want of vigor, liver complaint, and some other ailments and infirm conditions of the sytem. Experience and observation have taught them its value. They but echo the verdict long since pronounced by the public and the press. Only the benighted now are ignorant of America's tonic and alterative.

Arrangements for the training of British infantry next winter are to be on a more elaborate scale than usual, and especial prominence is to be given to long-distance marching.

An Important Difference.

To make apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleaning, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, and sold by all druggists.

A Natural Vacancy.

"It seems to me," observed the cannibal chieftain, as he explored the gravy bowl, "that this roast is a little short on giblets. Ah-"

A sudden intelligence beamed from his face.

"This is the one who sobbed her heart out on her father's shoulder, isn't it? Yes."—New York Press.

The revenue of Victoria for the past quarter amounted to £1,544,092, showing a decrease of £7,074, as compared with the corresponding period of the last year.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

The Erie canal, in New York, was the first artificial waterway begun in this country. Ground was broken for this enterprise July 4, 1817.

A scheme talked of is a company to import American cattle, with Cardiff as its distributing port. The capital of the new organization will be £30,000.

Of 18,106 persons arrested for various offenses in Liverpool last year only 820 were well educated, a large proportion being absolutely illiterate.

SANITARY CAR STRAP.

It Is Steeped With Dye Which Poisons Microbes.

A scientist some time ago discovered that the street car strap was a serious disseminator of disease, as the leather collected and held all kinds of disease germs.

A sanitary strap is being tried on a New York car, the invention of a man named Clark. It consists of a hemp cord dyed red with aniline, at the bottom of which is a wooden handle, also dyed red. This dye is supposed to make the pernicious and active germs sick, and while thus rendered unfit for dury they will fall from the cord and be trampled to death on the car floor.

The handle at the bottom of the cord offers a better hold for the hand than does the old straps, and it is claimed that a man can hang to one from the Battery to Harlem without experiencing more than 40 per cent of the fatigue that results from being suspended from the strap, which does not accommodate itself to the shape of the hand. But the principal advantage comes in the effect the new hangers have no microbes.—Philadelphia Record.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowles. Never sicken, weaken or gripe.

Sowing Spring Wheat in the Fall.

To determine the practicability of sowing spring wheat in fall, and also, the time to sow for best results, fifteen sowings of a variety known as Yellowstone Fife were made at different intervals during the fall of 1894 by the Montana Experiment station at Bozeman. Beginning Aug. 9, a small plat was sown each week until the ground was frozen and winter began, Nov. 10. Early seedings made a nice growth and were in good condition when winter set in, but later sowings were just coming up. Early plantings almost wholly killed out, and the intermediate only partially, and the latest showed no damage from the winter-killing, the stand being almost perfect. The plats were irrigated twice and kept free from weeds. The first six plats sown, from Aug. 9 to Sept. 14, gave an average yield of 3.3 bushels per acre. The next five plats, seeded from Sept. 21 to Oct. 10, yielded an average of 12.7 bushels per acre. The average yield of the four plats, sown from Oct. 26 to Nov. 10, was at the rate of 38.5 bushels per acre.

A married woman in Calhoun county, Mich., teaches a district school at $10 a month, boards herself and does the janitor work.

Ham Curing.

One of the largest Arkansas ham and mess pork curers has given in an interview the following description of his curing process: The hams are placed in a large tray of fine salt, then the flesh surface is sprinkled with finely-ground saltpetre, until the hams are as white as though covered by a moderate frost, or say, five to seven pounds of saltpetre to 100 pounds of green hams. After applying the saltpetre immediately salt with the fine salt, covering well the entire surface. Now pack the hams in bulk, but not in piles more than three feet high. In ordinary weather the hams should remain thus for three days. Then break bulk and resalt. The hams thus salted and resalted should remain in salt in bulk one day for each and every pound each ham weighs, that is, a ten-pound ham should remain ten days, and in such proportion of time for larger and smaller ones. Next, wash with tepid water until the hams are thoroughly cleaned, and, after partially drying, rub the entire surface with finely-ground pepper. Then the hams should be hung in the smokehouse and this important operation begun. The smoking should be very gradually and slowly done. After the hams are cured and smoked they should be repeppered, to guard against vermin, and then bagged. These hams are improved with age, and in perfection when one year old.

A bust of Thomas Carlyle was on Saturday placed in the house in Ecclefechan in which he was born.

"It will go away after awhile."

That's what people say when advised to take something to cure that cough.

Have you ever noticed that the cough that goes away after awhile takes the cougher along? And he doesn't come back!

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Cures Coughs.

MRS. BURTON HARRISON,
ONE OF THE POPULAR WRITERS FOR 1897.

Celebrating in 1897 its seventy-first birthday, THE COMPANION offers its readers many exceptionally brilliant features. The two hemispheres have been explored in search of attractive matter.

The Youth's Companion

For the Whole Family.

In addition to twenty-five staff writers fully two hundred of the most famous men and women of both the Old and the New World, including the most popular writers of fiction and some of the most eminent statesmen, scientists, travellers and musicians, are contributors to The Companion.

A delightful supply of fascinating Stories, Adventures, Serial Stories, Humorous and Travel Sketches, etc., are announced for the Volume for 1897. The timely Editorials, the "Current Events," the "Current Topics" and "Nature and Science" Departments give much valuable information every week. Send for Full Prospectus.

FREE
to Jan. 1, 1897, with Beautiful Calendar.

As a special offer The Youth's Companion will be sent free, for the remainder of the year 1896, to all new subscribers. One of the most beautiful Calendars issued this year will also be given to each new subscriber. It is made up of Four Charming Pictures in color, beautifully executed. Its size is 10 by 24 inches. The subjects are delightfully attractive. This Calendar is published exclusively by The Youth's Companion and could not be sold in Art Stores for less than one dollar.

Distinguished Writers

IAN MACLAREN.
RUDYARD KIPLING.
HALL CAINE.
FRANK R. STOCKTON.
HAROLD FREDERIC.
MADAME LILLIAN NORDICA.
CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER.
STEPHEN CRANE.
HAMLIN GARLAND.
MAX O'RELL.
W. CLARK RUSSELL.
ALICE LONGFELLOW.
HON. THOMAS B. REED.
ANDREW CARNEGIE.
LIEUT. R. E. PEARY, U. S. N.
DR. CYRUS EDSON.
DR. EDWARD EVERETT HALE.
DR. LYMAN ABBOTT.
And One Hundred Others.

700 Large Pages in Each Volume. 52 Weeks for $1.75.

12-Color Calendar FREE.

New Subscribers who will cut out this slip and send it at once with name and address and $1.75 (the subscription price) will receive:
FREE — The Youth's Companion every week from time subscription is received to January 1, 1897;
FREE — Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Double Numbers;
FREE — The Companion 4-page Calendar for 1897. The most costly gift of its kind The Companion has ever offered; 37
And The Youth's Companion 52 Weeks, a full year, to January 1, 1898.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Boston, Mass.

EVENTUALLY HIGHER PRICES FOR WHEAT

Wheat very seldom goes straight up or straight down; there is usually a reaction which causes a "break" after a "bulge" or a "bulge" after a "break." The time to buy is on the "break;" don't get frightened if it goes against you a little, but HOLD ON. Everything points to a higher level of prices before long. There will be "breaks" and there will be "bulges," but it will gradually work upward. If you want to MAKE MONEY, buy wheat. Margin it from 3c to 5c and hold on to it. Send for our Free Book, explaining option trading. OSBORN, CROSBY & CO., Flour Exchange, Minneapolis.

Important Notice!

The only genuine "Baker's Chocolate," celebrated for more than a century as a delicious, nutritious, and flesh-forming beverage, is put up in Blue Wrappers and Yellow Labels. Be sure that the Yellow Label and our Trade-Mark are on every package.

TRADE-MARK.

WALTER BAKER & CO. Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 211.

GUNS and AMMUNITION at Wholesale Prices for Everybody.

Send for our Catalogue giving wholesale prices. We sell more sporting goods than any other house in the Northwest. Tents, Hunting Coats, Hats, Caps, Belts, Boots, Shell Boxes, Dog Whips, [illegible] Buy your Tents and Guns of [illegible] [illegible] SUPPLY HOUSE, Minneapolis, Minn.

37 POUNDS GRANULATED SUGAR, $1. FREE the following catalogues on receipt of 2c each to pay postage on them. Baby Carriage Catalogue, Agricultural Implement Catalogue, Harness, Buggies, Cutters and Team Bob Catalogue, Drug Catalogue, Stove Catalogue. Send 15 cents and our 640 page Supply Catalogue containing 640 pages and over one hundred thousand cuts and prices will be sent express paid.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 2, 1896. NUMBER 18.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People!

Washington Talk.

Secretary of War Lamont's annual report is out.

The civil service commission has begun an investigation of political assessments.

Consul General Lee has proposed that the independence of Cuba be obtained by purchase, the United States guaranteeing the payment of the debt.

The United States monitor Terror has finished the sea trial of her pneumatic gun appliances, and went to the navy yard, where a few repairs will be made.

The inter-state commerce commission has issued an order in the matter of the position of the railway companies doing business between common points in Colorado and terminal points in California, for a hearing on the 18th of December next.

People in Print.

The late ex-Speaker Crisp will be succeeded in congress by his son.

John E. Redmond, the Irish Nationalist, visits America.

George Euienheiser, a stable-hand in Omaha, has inherited a fortune from a distant relative.

Isaac Tucker, who came to Jefferson before Iowa was a state, is dead. He was ninety-six.

After several months' illness, W. A. Mestayer, the well known actor, died of Bright's disease in New York.

Charles M. Bowen, generally known in Methodist circles as "Hallelujah, Amen!" Bowen, died in Chicago, aged ninety.

Senator Joe Blackburn of Kentucky says that he is not out of the senatorial fight, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Ruth, the young daughter of William Jennings Bryan, is ill with diphtheria, and the family residence has been placed under quarantine.

Col. Franklin Tenny, for thirty-five years proprietor of the National hotel to retire from the stage. He is eighty-nine.

C. W. Couldock, one of the oldest English-speaking actors, has decided to retire from the stage. He is eighty-one.

There is said to be a likelihood of Bishop Kean being made cardinal and head of the Catholic church in America.

Edward Eddy of Denver, multi-millionaire and one of the best-known mining experts in the world, died of pneumonia, aged fifty-seven years.

John E. Redmond, M. P. for Waterford City, Ireland, and leader of the independent section of the Irish party, is in New York to lecture.

Rev. J. Cummings Smith, pastor of the Trinity Presbyterian church of San Francisco, has accepted a call to the Tabernacle Presbyterian church, Indianapolis.

Accidental Happenings.

The business part of Leavenworth, Wash., is almost completely burned.

While passing through Spokane recently a Great Northern train encountered a flock of sheep and killed 121.

John Coyne of Newark, N. J., was taken with a fit on a train and jumped through the window. He was fatally injured.

George F. Vail of Kokomo, Ind., was struck by a fast passenger train on the Wabash in Delphi, Ind., and was fatally injured.

John Ten Barge, assessor of Johnson township, was accidentally killed by Postmaster Seitz of Haubadt, Ind., while out hunting.

Fred Freitag, a young farmer of St. Libory, Ill., accidentally shot himself while hunting, sustaining injuries that caused his death.

Mrs. Charles D. Cummings was instantly killed by a Michigan Central passenger train at Hammond, Ind. She was attempting to cross the tracks.

Near Rock Island, Ill., Edward Cox, aged seventeen, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of his gun while hunting.

Harry Sentman, aged twenty-three, was killed by a buzz saw at Iowa City, Iowa. The saw choked on a heavy stick, flew from its bearings and struck Sentman in the face.

Judge Neeley of Chicago has decided that the Johnstown flood was an act of God and the railroad companies cannot be made to pay for baggage lost in the disaster.

Later reports from that part of the Seminole nation swept by a prairie fire indicate there were no fatalities. The loss to property was considerable, but no estimate is given.

Crimes and Criminals.

Joseph Martin of Kankakee, Ill., committed suicide by taking poison.

Hy Sidney Wallace, the bigamist and burglar, broke jail at Sandusky, Ohio, and has not been captured.

Four men are in jail at Hebron, Neb., charged with robbing twenty banks in Nebraska within the last forty days.

J. W. Straley has been found guilty of attempting to poison the McDevitt family, living near Claytonville, Ill.

John Cheselski was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of fifteen years for arson at Crown Point, Ind.

John H. Lawrence, a well known resident of Sandusky, Ohio, committed suicide by taking poison.

Thurman Rutherford of Vigo, Ohio, drank peppermint as a substitute for whisky and died in horrible agony.

Citizens of Alexis, Ill., attempted to blow up an illegal whisky plant with dynamite and shook the whole town.

Miss Gertrude Fisher, alias Foster, alias Mrs. Irvin Shaw, was lodged in jail at Wilmington, Ohio, on a charge of horse stealing.

The five persons charged with the murder of Baroness de Valley, an aged and eccentric miser, last June, were found guilty in Paris.

W. F. Smock of Decatur, Ill., was assaulted, robbed of $75 and left for dead by some tramps near the National stockyards in St. Louis.

Suicide is the verdict of the coroner's jury on the body of the Rev. James Miller of Bloomington, found in an alley in Decatur, Ill., recently.

Mrs. Swearnier, the wife of a rancher, living near Tacoma, Wash., cut the throats of her three little girls, aged respectively five years, three years and nine months.

Drs. J. Stoneburner and J. Cubner, leading physicians of Berne, Ind., were arrested, charged with administering poison to Mrs. Adeline Brown, who died a few days ago.

The Tyler boys, two notorious outlaws, who for a long time were a terror to Colbert and Franklin counties, Alabama, were captured in Colbert county.

George E. Ross, the trusted money clerk of the Pacific Express company, who mysteriously disappeared from Kansas City five days ago, is believed to have gone to Mexico.

William Foley, the wealthy young farmer who has been arrested at Liberty, Mo., and formally charged with the murder of his aged mother and his sister, has been taken to Kansas City for safe-keeping.

From Foreign Shores.

Philippine insurgents defeat the Spaniards in a hard battle.

Thirty persons are killed in a Polish mine explosion.

Denver will be transferred to the vacant see of St. Cloud.

A Washington paper has fixed up a cabinet with Senator Davis as secretary of state.

Russia proposes that the great wheat-growing countries unite and fix a uniform price for wheat.

Two thousand Spaniards in Cuba are said to have been killed in two days' fighting, including 700 by a dynamite mine.

The president of Nicaragua has granted amnesty to over 500 persons implicated in the revolution of last February.

The only particulars obtainable at present regarding the death of Italo Campanini, the great tenor, is that he died at his own house, near Parma, several days ago, after a long illness.

The prosecution in the case of the staff of the Johannesburg Critic, arrested under the provisions of the new press law, having failed to establish the charges made, the prisoners were discharged.

The first serious frontier incident in a long time occurred at Munster, when a German forest guard shot an alleged French poacher, inflicting a flesh wound. The government is inquiring into the case.

Consul Germain sends word to the state department from Zurich, Switzerland, that there is a chance to introduce American cattle in Switzerland as a result of the decree excluding all cattle coming from Austria-Hungary because of disease.

President Diaz of Mexico has been royally welcomed in Puebla, where he has gone with a large number of distinguished people. He has laid the corner stone of the new hospital and of the statue of independence.

Italian emigration to South America is increasing. On Saturday and Sunday 3,000 persons started from Genoa, Italy, for La Plata and 150 for the United States. Three thousand will start for Argentine Republic this week.

Otherwise.

Nearly a famine exists in portions of Louisiana.

Iowa gold Democrats have decided to maintain their organization.

A St. Louis firm has received an order for ten tons of dynamite for Cuba.

Hon. William Hamilton Dent of Le Mars, Iowa, is notified of his appointment as receiver of the First National bank of Decorah, Iowa.

Texas, at the election of Nov. 3, cast more than 550,000 votes. The plurality of Bryan over McKinley is 150,000.

Andrew F. Burleigh has filed a petition with the federal court asking his discharge as receiver of the Northern Pacific railway.

A flowing oil well has been discovered at the bottom of San Francisco bay. It is located about 500 yards to the south of Goat island.

The cruiser Marblehead is lying at anchor off Tompkinsville, S. I., having arrived in port after a cruise of nearly three years.

Two months ago Henry Wescott of Forest City, N. Y., was placed under a spell by a traveling hypnotist and he cannot be aroused.

Dr. Albert Byrnes of Galesburg, Mich., discovered gold bearing quartz close to the Menominee river, eight miles west of Stephenson.

There is a big fight on between the Wiggins Ferry company and the Interstate Sand and Ferry company over the exclusive right of business between St. Louis and East St. Louis.

J. F. J. Archibald, the ethnologist, proposes to use a balloon to reach the top of a mysterious mountain in New Mexico and investigate the tradition that a colony of Navajoes died there.

The semi-centennial commission met at Salt Lake, Utah, last evening to take steps for the necessary arrangements for the celebration next July of the fiftieth anniversary of the arrival of the pioneers in Omaha.

The Streator (Ill.) street railway company has ceased operating its plant and is now in the hands of a receiver. The road was built in 1890 at a cost of $250,000. The plant has not paid expenses the past three years.

To settle a dispute as to the superiority of one keyboard over another a match has been arranged between four typewriters in New York and Brooklyn, to take place in a pitch dark room and continue until 1,000 words shall have been written.

The report of a probable sympathetic strike of miners in other camps in aid of the Leadville strikers is declared to be unfounded. Union officers declare no such move is contemplated at present by the Western Federation of Miners or any of its branches.

DIED IN THE STORM

FURTHER REPORTS OF LAST WEEK'S TERRIBLE BLIZZARD.

Already Five Bodies Have Been Found at Different Points, and Several Other People Who Have Been Reported Missing Are Probably Lying Under the Snow—Blockade Still Continues.

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—A large section of the Northwest is still snowbound, and it is feared that when communication is resumed with the remote blizzard-stricken districts the loss of life will be found to have been quite large. Already five bodies of victims of the storm have been recovered. D. C. McKeever, a farmer near Kensel, N. D., was found frozen to death yesterday at Moorhead, Minn. The body of Thomas Anderson, the seventeen-year-old boy who lost his way during the blizzard Thanksgiving night, was found by August Probst, a farmer, this morning within a quarter of a mile of the Daniels house. Anderson had covered his head with his overcoat, loosened his clothing and huddled up to keep warm. He wore no overshoes and one of his mittens were missing. He had become bewildered and traveled away from town, in the opposite direction from his home. Several other people are reported missing at various points, and it is probable that their bodies are under many feet of snow and will not be recovered until spring.

Still Snowbound.

Jamestown, N. D., is still snowbound, with no prospect that railway communication will be opened eastward for some time yet. No mails have been received since Thursday. East of Jamestown a cut a mile and a half long is drifted in thirty feet deep with frozen snow. All cuts are level full. There is plenty of fuel and provisions in the city to last some time, and there is no want nor suffering.

At many points houses are completely buried under drifts. With two rotary engines working out of Fargo on the Northern Pacific since Saturday morning, No. 4, snowed in five miles east of Valley City, was reached at 10 o'clock this morning. Only half a mile was cleared yesterday. Drifts in the cuts are from six to fifteen feet deep, and frozen like ice, mixed with sand. Dynamite is used to loosen it up. The Southwestern branch to Lisbon and Edgely is still frozen up, and people in towns along the line are out of wood and coal, and there seems no prospects of opening up the road for three or four days. Small towns along the main line are also out of fuel. In the wreck of a snow plow this morning John Tallman, fireman, had a leg broken, head badly scalded and received serious internal injuries.

Traffic west of Barnesville, Minn., has been completely stopped. A large number of freight and passenger trains are stalled there. About one-third of the regular trains are running to St. Paul from this point. No train from the west has reached there since Wednesday.

The first train since Thursday morning reached Fertile, Minn., to-day, bringing a number of passengers who have been snow-bound at Winnipeg Junction for thirty hours.

In South Dakota.

A number of points in South Dakota are still snowbound, and many trains are still stalled in cuts. Passengers and trainmen are compelled to buy food of farmers living near the railroads.

"Last night was the coldest of the season in St. Paul," said Observer Lyons to-day. "The cold wave was extensive in its sweep and covered the entire country, as far south as Memphis, with a rigor unusual for this season of the year. It was such a visitation as might usually be expected in January. The temperature at St. Paul went as low as 10 degrees below zero. The coldest point was at Battleford, where the thermometer registered 38 degrees below zero. It will continue cold to-night. To-morrow there will be a very slight rise in temperature, but cold weather will continue for some days."

REVOLUTION IN SOUTH AMERICA.

A Rather Mixed Up Affair With a Patriotic Incident.

New York, Dec. 1.—A dispatch to the Herald from Buenos Ayres says: The revolution is assuming alarming proportions. The federal troops have met with disaster at the hands of the insurrectionists who crossed the Brazilian border into Uruguay. President Borda has received a dispatch from Cerro Largo, near the Brazilian frontier, which says that Gen. Muniz, the Uruguayan commander who pursued Saraiva overtook the latter and was defeated in a battle which followed. Gen. Muniz is reported to have been taken prisoner. His son, who was captured on the frontier a few days ago, is dead. Gen. Saraiva was the chief of the revolutionary party in Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil from April, 1894, until the end of the rebellion there. From that time the rebellion ended until the present time, little having been heard of Saravia. His surrender practically ended the hostilities in Rio Grande do Sul, and he has since been living in Uruguay.

MADE IT MANSLAUGHTER.

The Kreft Jury Deliberates Thirty Hours at Fairmont.

Fairmont, Minn., Dec. 1.—The jury in the Kreft case returned to court late last evening, after being out thirty hours, and brought in a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree. This morning he was sentenced to twelve years and six months in the state prison at Stillwater.

Shooting in South Carolina.

McCormick, S. C., Dec. 1.—An altercation took place to-day at Bethany church, near this place, between L. J. Williams on one side and J. V. White and L. D. White on the other, in which J. V. White was instantly killed and L. D. White fatally wounded, the latter dying in a few hours after the difficulty. Williams was severely cut in several different places. Knives and pistols were used in the affray. All were prominent, Williams being member of the board of control of the state dispensary.

JUMPED FROM THE TRAIN.

Young Criminal Attempts to Escape and Fails.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Dec. 1.—Hatless and coatless, his feet shackled, the mercury 25 below zero and wind bitterly cold. Those were the conditions under which Ed J. Johnson struck off through the town of Aurdale shortly after midnight. Johnson is a young man whose home was near Henning, Otter Tail county. Two years ago, when he was about nineteen years old, he decided to become a robber bold. He got some guns and a mask, and going to a neighboring town, Deer Creek, held up the station agent. He was soon captured, gun and all sleeping in a barn, and was sentenced to Stillwater under the reformatory plan. His parents interceded for him and he was finally paroled. He broke his parole and went to Montana, where he was captured. He was being taken back by Deputy Warden Lomen on the midnight train on the Great Northern. As it stopped to give the necessary two whistles before crossing the Northern Pacific track, a sudden yearning must have seized the young man to spend more time in Otter Tail county, for he jumped from the train under the circumstances described above. The train was put under way and the first telegraph station which had a night operator was Evansville. From that place the official telegraphed back and a search was begun by the police. Johnson had on a sweater and trousers but no overshoes. He got into a barn where he got some burlaps and blankets, which he wrapped around himself and started in the direction of Arundel. Sheriff Billings and others started after him and found him twelve miles from town.

SHARKEY AND FITZ ARE IN TRIM.

Both Men Will Be Fit to Go When the Gong Rings.

San Francisco, Dec. 1. — Yesterday was "doctor's" day at the quarters of Fitzsimmons and Sharkey. The same physician waited upon both men, and he was there as the representative of the National Athletic club. His object was to tap chests and test lungs and satisfy himself that the men were in sound enough condition generally to bear the brunt of as hard a contest as it is popularly believed to-morrow night's event will prove to be. In addition to being "doctor's" day, it was visitors' day, and the camps of the rival heavy-weights were fairly overrun with people from town. As Sausalito is not within as easy access as the Cliff, Fitzsimmons did not have such crowds hanging on his heels as did the sailor man, but the Cornishman received adulation enough to satisfy any pugilist. Whenever Sharkey showed himself on the veranda of the Seal Rock house, the roadway immediately in front became congested. At times there were thousands staring at him. Fitzsimmons' normal chest measurement was 39 inches. Under forced exhalations it was 37 3-4 inches, and under forced inspiration it measured 44 inches. The only defect in Fitzsimmons was a slight attack of cold in the head, which will quickly wear off. Sharkey's normal chest measurement is 41 inches. With forced exhalation it was 39 3-4 inches, and with forced inspiration 44 inches.

RUN BY YANKEES.

The King of Corea Gets Good American Advice—The Ambition of Japan.

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—R. W. Irwin, who has been in Japan for thirty years and has represented the Hawaiian government there, first as consul and afterward as the minister during the greater part of the time, arrived from the Orient on the steamer Doric yesterday. He said the statement that Russia has established a sovereignty over Corea is incorrect, although the fact that the king is housed in the Russian legation might lend credence to that supposition. Japan's ambition does not extend to Corea. American influence is uppermost in the kingdom, and the king is acting entirely under the advice of three Americans, Minister Sill, the secretary of the American legation and an American missionary by the name of Underwood. Irwin says that Japan's sole ambition is now commercial and industrial advancement.

A MURDERER FREE.

He Was Not Lynched and Now He Escapes Fom Jail.

Juneau, Wis., Dec. 1.—William Zelner, a young man who was awaiting trial in the county jail here on a charge of murdering Mrs. Mary Beecher in Lebanon last July, escaped from jail last evening. It is evident that he was assisted by persons outside. He was in one of the central cells in the cage and succeeded in sawing through two of the bars. He went into the large corridor and waited until the sheriff came in to lock the cells for the night. When the sheriff entered Zelner secreted himself behind one of the doors and escaped. A posse immediately started in pursuit, but so far no trace of the murderer can be found. He would have been lynched at the time of the murder, but he remained in a swamp two weeks before giving up.

TWENTY KILLED.

A Tornado Starts Thirty Pounds of Dynamite Exploding.

Perry, Okla., Dec. 1. — Later news from the tornado at Ralston indicate that the storm was much worse than at first reported. A letter from W. F. McCague, who practically owns the town, to F. H. Kellogg, here, states that the town is wrecked. McCague's two-story wooden building was blown bottom upward and fifteen people imprisoned in the upper story. The building caught fire and the people were liberated by the use of an ax. Two minutes after thirty pounds of dynamite, powder and other explosives exploded. In all twenty persons were killed.

North Dakota Editors.

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—William Miller, of the Minnewaukon (N. D.) Siftings, the "main pipe" of the North Dakota Editorial association, marshaled his hosts in St. Paul yesterday and led them against Galveston, Tex., by way of the Omaha, leaving at 8:15 last night. The North Dakota brethren have been gathering slowly for three or four days, coming in on delayed trains, but about seventy-five, including the ladies, gathered for the annual excursion. The party will spend about ten days on their excursion.

TOWNS ARE IN PERIL

HUGE ICE GORGE IN THE CHIPPEWA RIVER IN WISCONSIN.

A Vast Amount of Damage Has Already Been Done, and When the Gorge Breaks Calamitous Consequences Will Surely Follow—It Is Feared That Some Lives Have Already Been Lost.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 1. — An immense ice gorge thirty feet high has formed across the Chippewa river below this city, and many farms and farm buildings of the Chippewa valley are under water. The flood is being added to hourly at the rate of six inches, and unless the gorge breaks soon this city will be partly under water. Basements of buildings on Spring street are flooded and in some instances floors are under water. People living in or occupying business houses in the lower part of the city are hastily removing their personal effects to higher ground. In 1894 a similar flood occurred, causing a loss of many thousands of dollars. A great deal of railway property is threatened and many highway and railway bridges will probably be swept away.

Below the immense gorge the river is practically dry, and when the jam breaks the body of water in the reservoir must carry destruction to the valley below. Eau Claire has every reason to feel apprehension, as its danger begins when that of Chippewa Falls has passed. The gorge is five miles long. At Irvine the Wisconsin Central railway is under water and the electric light plant partly flooded and the town is in darkness.

Possibly Loss of Life.

Eau Claire, Wis., Dec. 1.—The Chippewa river is gorged with ice at many points between the Dells Sorting works, just above the city, and Gravel island, just this side of Chippewa Falls. The reports from that city, where the water is backing up and accumulating at the rate of six inches and hour, have caused much alarm here as to the possibility of a sudden breaking of the ice packs and a rush of ice, logs and water down upon the city. Experienced men, however, claim there is no danger, though the situation is carefully watched. The river has been full of floating ice and is twelve feet above low water mark, but not rising.

The following report was brought from Durand by an eye witness: The ice formed a gorge at the mouth of the Chippewa, which caused the water to back up rapidly. On the low lands below Durand the rise was so rapid that many families had to flee in their night robes to places of safety and leave their all behind them. The suffering among the women and children was intense and many are reported as having frozen feet and limbs. As a rule those who could, fled to the railroad track. There they built a fire and tried to protect themselves from the frosty winds until relief arrived. An engine and coach sent out from Durand gathered up about forty of fifty of these unfortunate people, but so fast was the water rising that the train had to back to Durand. It is thought that some of the people were not reached by the rescuing party, and possibly may have perished. The bottoms are all under water and the stock and produce are a complete loss. Dead animals could be seen all about the neighborhood frozen stiff in the water. In most of the homes were stored the winter's supplies, and these were all lost.

On account of the flood there have been no trains for three days on the Valley division of the Milwaukee road. A messenger from Durand reports eight miles of track below Durand under water. Thirty-seven men, women and children, refugees from the low lands, are quartered in the Durand court house.

The Wisconsin Raging.

Stevens Point, Wis., Dec. 1. — The water in the Wisconsin river at this point is the highest at present that it has ever been in the history of this city. At present the streets for several blocks are flooded and last night the people in the flooded districts carried all there goods to upper stories. A dike was built a number of years ago for the protection of a large part of the residence portion of the city, but this has now fallen into disrepair, and if the threatened flood comes hundreds of families will be compelled to seek shelter on higher grounds.

DULUTH MAN CALLED.

McKinley Sees a Business Man From the Zenith City.

Canton, Dec. 1.—Maj. McKinley had many visitors to-day. Among the early arrivals was Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. He was a guest of Maj. McKinley at lunch and had a long conference with him. M. H. De Young, of the Chronicle, San Francisco, accompanied by Mrs. De Young, arrived during the early morning and were at the McKinley home for some time, Mrs. De Young spending nearly the whole morning with Mrs. McKinley. Albert Ordean, a former Cantonite, but now a leading business man of Duluth, Minn., called to pay his respects. Gen. Horace Porter of New York also called.

Finish Fight.

San Francisco, Dec. 1—Martin Julian stated to the Associated Press to-day that he had just telegraphed an acceptance of Dan Stuart's offer for a finish fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons for a $15,000 purse. He has sent a similar telegram to Corbett. Julian says his reasons for accepting this offer in preference to offers for a larger purse is that Fitzsimmons desires to fight to a finish. Julian believes the fight will be brought off at Juares.

Death Pursues a Family.

Davenport, Iowa, Dec. 1. — Edgar Cox, a resident of Rock Island county, was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun while returning from a hunt near Sears. This makes the fifth member of a family who have met a shocking death. Joseph Cox was killed in a runaway in 1870, Jerry was killed and fearfully mangled by having a cord of wood fall upon him from a wagon in 1884, J. B. was killed by the breaking of a fly wheel on a wood saw in 1888 and A. J. was drowned in a creek in 1890.

DEATH AT A FETE.

Terrible Occurrence At a Celebration in a Town in India.

Bombay, Dec. 1.—A fete organized at Baroda in honor of the visit of the earl of Elgin, viceroy of India, has had a terrible outcome in the killing of twenty-nine persons and the injuring of many others by a great crush of numbers, or a panic which occurred in the course of the fete. Nothing is known as to how the panic developed.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 1.— The elections to the sobranje, which occurred to-day, were accompanied by serious disturbances, and the troops and police had to be called out to disperse the mobs here and in the provinces as the result of which many persons were wounded. The police fired into the crowd at Zaribrod, killing several persons.

WHEAT FOR EUROPE.

Demand Upon This Country Probably Greater Than the Supply.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—The Times-Herald says: Wheat last week advanced 7a8c per bushel, and on Saturday touched the best prices on the crop, 82 3-8c for December and 85 7-8c for May. The incentives during the week were chiefly foreign ones, particularly the numerous estimates made abroad as to the extent to which Europe would need to call upon America for wheat supplies. All these figures were startling, the estimate which put the European requirements from America at 17,000,000 bushels per month up to Aug. 1, as well as the other one which computed the Atlantic side would furnish 104,000,000 bushels during the balance of the crop year, and those others who reduced the necessities a little, but which kept them still over any total believed to be possible by the statisticians on this side. Exports in five months, wheat and flour, have reached 80,000,000 bushels, and the European estimates are for exports during the next seven months at a rate even faster than this. That seems beyond the capacity of this side.

BURNED TO DEATH

An Entire Family Wiped Out of Existence.

Perry, N. Y., Dec. 1. — The home of Luther Greenman, a farmer four miles northeast of this village, was destroyed by fire this morning and the entire family, consisting of five persons, were burned to death. The dead are Luther Greenman, aged 40; Mrs. Greenman, 37; Alme Greenman, 8; Lottie Greenman, 3; Arthur Greenman, 11 months.

The building was entirely consumed. All of the bodies were recovered in a horribly charred condition. The fire was undoubtedly caused by a defective stovepipe. An inquest will be held to-morrow.

CLEVELAND MAY BE DEAN.

Rumor That He Will Be Head of Princeton Law School.

New York, Dec. 1.—President Cleveland's purchase of a home in Princeton, N. J., and the announcement he will make his home there after he retires next March has been received with joy by every one in Princeton, and particularly by the faculty of the university, who have the idea the president intends to identify himself with Princeton's great institution. He is, so the rumor goes, to become dean of the Princeton law school. When, the project of becoming dean of the school was broached to him he regarded it favorably. Mrs. Cleveland, too, thought well of the project. She liked the university air that surrounded the place, the society, and the opportunity her husband would have of identifying his name with that of a great seat of learning. Then, too, she looked upon it as the most dignified position an ex-president could possibly occupy. Besides, there was a precedent for it, ex-President Harrison having occupied a similar position with the Leland Stanford university in California.

Possible Legislation.

Washington, Dec. 1.—It is not probable that the house at the coming session of congress, which begins next Monday, can dispose of much of the proposed legislation which encumber its calendars. Little is usually accomplished at the short session beyond the passage of the regular supply bills. Still the house, with its instrumentalities for the expedition of business, can accomplish a great deal in a brief time. The question of legislation for additional revenues for the government will depend on the senate, to which body the house sent the Dingley bill almost a year ago. Should it be impossible or be deemed inexpedient to press that measure through the senate, there is, of course, a possibility that the proposal to increase the revenues by an additional tax on beer or the imposition of a duty on tea, coffee, etc., may take tangible form.

SHOT IN THE BACK.

An Attorney at Perrysville, Ohio, Is Brutally Murdered.

Perrysville, Ohio, Dec. 1. — Horace L. Stearns, a wealthy and aged citizen of this place, was shot and instantly killed this morning by Elias Keyster. The murder grew out of a lawsuit in which Keyster was defeated and in which Stearns acted as the attorney for the successful party. Keyster had threatened to kill Stearns. This morning the latter was walking past Keyster's house, when he was shot in the back, falling dead in the street. Keyster was arrested and declared that he had not felt happier in ten years. The murderer had a bad reputation, and so intense was the feeling against him that it was deemed necessary to remove him to Ashland jail to prevent violence.

Stoned to Death.

Chicago, Dec. 1. — Louis Maverich was stoned to death and robbed of $30 on the tow path near Summit. Two negroes are held.

Watchman Overboard.

Duluth, Dec. 1.—The Selwyn Eddy, which arrived to-day, reports having lost overboard, twenty miles out from Duluth, a watchman named Thomas O'Hara, of Detroit. He was pulled overboard by a fender which he was attempting to adjust. The Eddy turned and steamed back over the course and lowered a boat, but of course the man could not be found.

Harrison of St. Paul beat Tom Gallagher of Chicago in a billiard match in Chicago.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Patrick Kelly was brutally assaulted and robbed in St. Paul.

Josie Van Dell committed suicide at St. Paul by taking carbolic acid.

Work is to resumed on the Minnesota iron mines sooner than expected.

The State Immigration association will ask for a legislative appropriation to help on the good work.

The new Catholic church at Austin was formally dedicated by Bishop Pothen.

The four-months-old child of Mrs. Scripits of Winona died from suffocation.

Salvation Army men have arrived in Barnesville, with the intention of starting a barracks.

The supreme court has ousted Mr. Copeland and reinstates the St. Paul board of public works.

The state board of arbitration makes a decision in the matter of the publishers and printers of the Twin Cities.

J. J. McCafferty has been appointed a member of the board of managers of the St. Cloud reformatory, vice R. A. Smith, resigned.

Rean & Co., shoe dealers of Stillwater, made an assignment to Theodore B. Wheelock. No statement of assets and liabilities has been filed.

The daily output of the prison binder twine factory will be increased 2,000 by the purchase of twelve spinners and one breaker.

George Chantler, a former mail carrier between Le Sueur Center and St. Peter, has been indicted for assault in the first degree.

Three Minneapolis women were burned by a gasoline explosion. One will surely die, and the recovery of another is doubtful.

At Pipestone fire destroyed the steam laundry, together with all its contents, and also did considerable damage to adjoining buildings. Loss, over $1,000; partly insured.

Iver Larson was knocked down by a locomotive and seriously injured at Milaca. He was walking by the side of the main track, and did not hear the backing engine until too late.

Threshing is completed at Rapidan, but there is still some clover left in the fields that will not be hulled this fall. Corn-husking, if the weather remains good, will be finished this week.

Alex. Bartocuski, aged sixty-seven, attempted to drive across the Northern Pacific tracks at Sauk Rapids ahead of Passenger Train No. 1, was struck and himself and team instantly killed.

Nels Norer, while at work in the woods fifteen miles below Milaca, was seriously injured. A branch of a tree fell on him and fractured his skull. He is from Minneapolis, where his family resides.

M. R. Baldwin, of the Chippewa Indian commission; Rev. J. A. Gilfillan, W. H. Hendrickson, J. E. Perrault, T. Beaulieu and R. J. Holland paid the White Oak Point Chippewas their annuities of $7 each.

Emily Shortridge, a prominent young lady of Dassel, aged fifteen years, died of scarlet fever, after an illness of six weeks. This is the second death from this disease in this family during the past four months.

The store of Senator George Geissel at North Prairie was entered and the safe blown. The burglars secured $25. An equal amount in the till and also a large quantity of stamps was overlooked.

On account of the prevalence of scarlet fever in Alexandria all churches and schools have been closed for a week. No public meetings of any kind will be allowed. There are at present twelve cases, all of a mild form.

Plans are being rapidly matured at Duluth for the promotion of a scheme set on foot last summer for the building of a railroad, to be known as the Duluth & Southwestern. The proposed line will follow almost an air line from Duluth to Red Wing.

George Benham, otherwise known as "Black George," professional hunter, accidentally shot himself through the ankle at Wright station, twenty-five miles east of Carlton, on the Northern Pacific railway. He was taken to the Duluth hospital. The foot will have to be amputated.

Architect C. K. Aldrich of the State university, was at Great Rapids, and is well pleased with the building improvements now being completed at the Northwestern Minnesota Experiment farm. He finds that more buildings will be needed next season, particularly for the live stock department.

An arrest at Winona has brought to light a system of robbery from Jacobi's clothing store, which has been going on for some time. A young fellow who gives the name of J. A. Jones is the guilty man. He has confessed to having taken $200 worth of stock and sold it.

Joseph Green and Mike Inhofer, two West Newton farmers, were killed instantly by the explosion of a threshing engine. No particulars as to the cause of the explosion can be obtained, but it went so quick that some of the men working about the machine did not even know that any one had been killed by the shock. The accident occurred on Louis Bushard's farm, just about supper time.

John Hardcastle Hall, the man who lost his identity on arriving in Mankato, some weeks ago, finally consented to a hypnotic experiment to restore his memory. Prof. Harlow Gale, of the state university, conducted the experiment, but got very little satisfaction. He seemed to have Hall under control, but the latter was guarded in his answers, and revealed nothing of importance regarding his past life. Prof. Gale believes him partially unbalanced and not entirely honest in his statements.

George Hanson, alias G. H. Fisher, is wanted at Grand Rapids on a charge of obtaining goods on a representation that he had a timber contract. He is six feet four inches tall, talkative on general business, clean-shaven, wears no jewelry, and dresses like a fairly well-to-do lumberman. He is supposed to have gone to Walker or Brainerd.

William Voss and S. Matowski have been arrested at Winona, charged by George Griffin with having knocked him down in Matowski's saloon and robbed him of $40.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

R U N S

THROUGH CARS

TO☞

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—

HELENA	PULLMAN
BUTTE	SLEEPING CARS
SPOKAND	ELEGANT
TACOMA	DINING CARS
SEATTLE	TOURIST
PORTLAND	SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
CHAS. S. FEE, Crookston, Minn.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 2, 1896.

THE MODERN SAMPSON.

Now that the smoke of the recent political battle has cleared away it is a fitting time for the thoughtful man to reflect. Looking over the last few months no fact stands out more clearly than that the greatest danger to our future as a republic, next to the concentration of wealth, is the gathering of vast populations into the limited space of the great cities. Of the first so much has been said that we speak now only of the latter. We have seen in the recent election how the poorer classes in the cities are always an element of uncertainty in politics. No man can say how they will vote. How the rural vote will go is easy to predict, for the same out-spoken spirit that characterizes the country man in other matters, makes his vote a certain thing, not only to himself but to any man who chooses to inquire. All of the wild guesses made by the paid estimator are based upon the city vote and his ability to control it. We have the buyer of votes as openly plying his trade as if he were licensed by the government. But he does not invade the rural districts as a rule, and we believe it can be safely asserted, without undue credit for beligerancy being given the farmer, that if he did he would have his head oftener in a sling than he does now. It seems that even the nearly omnipotent and omnipresent Mark Hanna did not invade the corn field or the freed lot. He and his minions stayed in the cities. There they ravaged among the classes that such "cannibals of labor" as Hanna and his backers are making more sadly numerous every day, they went about corrupting votes. And Esua sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. "Poor Esua!" When he bartered away his privileges as the eldest son it was because he was hungry. The simile does not fail us here. For a few dirty dollars thrown to him by the rich, whose ill-gotten opulence casts him and his into the gutter, the poor in the cities gave their votes to continue the very conditions that are crushing him. Does any man dare assert that these poor creatures did this willingly and intelligently? Surely not.

The masses in the cities are divisible into two classes: First the wage earner who has only been able to barely live on his wages, who has not a dollar ahead and who stands aghast at the thought of being thrown out of employment at the beginning of winter. If he holds his job he can keep a roof, though a poor one, over the heads of those dependent upon him. They will not be cold or hungry. True, his work has no future, wages are slowly but surely sinking, every day he comes nearer to helpless old age, with no means of support. He knows all of this but what can he do? This man must hold his job, must vote as his employer dictates, and recent developments show that there is more than one way to dictate votes. This is the man who helped elect McKinley. He did not do it ignorantly or willingly. The laboringmen talked it over among themselves, quietly, earnestly. The man who eats his dinner out of a tin pail is not a frivolous, unthinking person. Life to him has been a serious matter. They went to the Silver Clubs, they listened to the street orators, they read the papers, they hurrahed for Bryan and silver. Some even went so far as to walk in the street parade with a white badge on their coat. But before Nov. 3 the boss let it be known that all of this, while not pleasing to him, might be overlooked if they would all "vote right." This, with those dark hints as to the ruin and despair a free silver President might bring, and the correspondingly false picture of "Prosperity and Protection," did the work. The man really knew better, But do not judge him too harshly. He was timid for others rather than for himself. What man can go out to battle with a wife and helpless children clinging to him. To protect them, even if it be only temporary, he must vote wrong. Thus do the Philistines cut off Sampson's hair. (But it will grow again.)

The other class is the ignorant, the idle, the vicious. They glory in their shame. They neither know nor care for principles nor men. The man who can pay for their vote gets it. Witness the great McKinley vote in Chicago. Think of the vote of an honest, clear-eyed farmer being cancelled by one of these vicious tools of plutocracy. The gathering of the vicious poor into great cities is one of the symptoms of national degeneracy. But our hope must be from these poor creatures. They not only can not be ignored any longer but they must be used, and by the right side. Help, to down the money power, must come to the great middle class from this element before it can come from the honest but handicapped wage-earners. The overcoming of the ignorance of this class is more feasible than is the sacrificing of the great body of small wage-earners. When the laborer sees deliverance is possible he will defy the bosses and vote for conditions that will put him on safe ground. Such men know the great purchasable vote and fear it. But until it is educated and ready to throw its weight with them the honest, poor laborer must go on cutting the ground from under his own feet. Let every man, who wants to help where it is most needed, help educate the lowest strata in the city. Our help, in turn, must come from them. History repeats itself. The Philistines cut off Sampson's hair and for a time he was weak—but the hair grew out. When they saw him strong again not only were his locks shorn, but they put out his eyes and the blind prisoner must grind corn. They forget in their revelry that Sampson's hair could grow again, and that Sampson's God could hear and answer the cry of the agonized heart. When he knew he was lost to freedom and to all that made life worth having, he gladly used his last strength to pull down the house upon the revelers. He perished, but they perished too.

If the Philistines of Capital leave the Sampson of Labor shorn of his God-given freedom of strength and sight, who shall answer for what may come? It was a Philistine slave-boy who led the blind giant to the pillars that held up the house. The only hope of averting such another horror is to raise up, out of the ignorance and corruption, a helper for the poor who is, as yet, only shorn of his freedom in part, only grinding corn for the Philistines. This help must come from the masses in the cities and we must first help them. How shall we begin?

POLAR VEGETATION.

The Arctic Circle More Favorable to Plant Life Than the Antarctic.

In the highest latitudes yet reached in the west, in Ellesmere Land and Grinnell Land, between 80 degrees and 80 degrees 6 minutes north latitude, the ground in localities the most favorable to the development of vegetation is carpeted with plants, many of them having brilliantly colored flowers, produced in great profusion during the short but continuous summer that there obtains. About 70 species were collected within the latitudes named by the naturalists of the last British polar expedition, and they included familiar showy plants.

The Austrians found a very different condition of things in the same latitudes in Franz-Josef Land, eastward of Spitbergen. Plants were found, and of the same species, but in an extremely stunted state, with scarcely a flower to be seen, and nowhere was there continuous vegetation a few square feet in extent.

In these very high latitudes seed is rarely if ever perfected, and plants increase only by vegetative development—suckers, underground stems and trailing rooting stems. Yet the greatest cold experienced—upward of 100 degrees (Fahrenheit) of frost—did not impair the vitality of wheat that had been fully exposed for four winters and four summers. It should be mentioned that none of the plants inhabiting these high latitudes is peculiar to the region; that very few species are confined to the arctic regions, and that many of them are widely spread in Alpine regions of lower latitudes, some even recurring on the mountains within the tropics, and a few reach the southern limits of vegetation.

In the southern hemisphere there are now no flowering (phanerogamic) plants growing within 35 degrees of the pole, and countries in as high a latitude as Scotland are absolutely icebound. South Georgia, in the American region, and Macquarie island, in the New Zealand region, may serve to illustrate the antarctic flora and the southern limits of flowering plants. They are small islands of comparatively slight elevation and both situated in 54 degrees south latitude. South Georgia is about 1,000 miles east of Cape Horn and nearly as far from the Falkland islands, the nearest land, except some very small islands, concerning the vegetation of which nothing is known.

Its exceeding meager flora has probably been exhaustively investigated, and the result is a list of 13 species of flowering plants and no ferns. Not one of these species is peculiar to the island, and 9 out of the 13 inhabit both the American and the Australian or New Zealand regions. When we remember that the antarctic flora now exists only in such isolated and distant fragments, we are hardly prepared to find almost the same homogeneity as in the north, where there is practically a continuity of land. Yet so it is, and the only satisfactory solution of the problem is a former greater land connection and continuous flora, probably in higher latitudes, than the existing fragments.—London Knowledge.

All She Had Left.

She looked the picture of despair as she entered the pawnshop. Her face was thin and very pale, the clothing she wore shabby but carefully brushed; her large, expressive blue eyes were sunk deep in her head, and in her arms, wrapped in a tattered old shawl, she carried a baby less than a year old.

No, the clerk could not let her have $5 on the plain gold ring she pulled from her finger.

Bursting into tears, she said: "Oh, good God, what shall I do? I must have $5 for the rent, or baby and I will be thrown on the street."

With a look of misery she suddenly took from the baby's neck a very thin gold chain, to which a small locket was attached. Having secured the required amount on the last things she had to pawn, the woman, all the while sobbing and weeping, tenderly folded the shawl around the baby and disappeared in the throng of pedestrians. The ring bore the simple inscription, "John to Mary, 1895," and the locket contained a tintype of the baby.

That was all.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

South African Diamonds.

In 1867 the first diamond ever found in South Africa was picked up by a hunter out of a heap of shining river pebbles. This was near the banks of the Orange river a little above its confluence with the Vaal river. Then a diligent search for diamonds began in all the surrounding districts. In 1870 diamonds were discovered in considerable quantities near where the town of Kimberley now stands. A rush of miners soon filled the neighborhood, and from that time onward Kimberley has been the center of the diamond getting industry, though there are other mines scattered here and there to the west and south of it.—James Bryce, M. P., in Century.

Bank tellers disinfect dirty looking notes by sprinkling camphor in the receptacle where the money is kept.

The fee in design cases for 3 years and 6 months is $10, for 7 years $15, for 14 years $30.

The oldest sons of barons are inferior in rank to the younger sons of earls.

Alumina.

Announcement is made of a process invented by Heibling, says the London Chemist, for producing alumina from clay in a form absolutely free from silica and readily convertible into sulphate and other aluminic salts. The clay is incorporated with a mixture of equal parts of ammonium and potassium sulphates in the proportion of three molecules of ammonium sulphate to each molecule of alumina, this mixture being pressed into the form of hollow bricks and heated in a furnace to 270 to 280 degrees C. Gaseous ammonia and acid ammonium sulphate are given off at this temperature, while acid potassium sulphate is formed and combines with the alumina of the clay to form alum. The alum is leached from the bricks with water and freed from iron by recrystallization, and the insoluble silica which remains behind may be employed in the manufacture of cements. By spreading out the powdered alum in thin layers on shelves arranged in a vertical tower on passing over it the warm, moist ammoniacal vapors from the brick oven, the alum is transferred into alumina, which retains the form of the original powder.

Repeating Rifles.

The king of Denmark's "sort of new invented guns, which being but once charged will discharge many times, one after another," in 1657, would seem to have had rivals about the same period. Pepys twice refers to such. On July 3, 1662, when "at the Dolphin with the officers of the ordnance, after dinner was brought to Sir W. Compton a gun to discharge seven times, the best of all devices that ever I saw and very serviceable and not a bawble, for it is much approved of and many thereof made." And on March 4, 1663-4, he mentioned "a new fashion gun to shoot often, one after another."—Notes and Queries.

Liquor, Tobacco and Opium.

Our liquor costs 40,000,000 of us several hundred millions a year, while 50,000 chests of opium at £100 apiece and 200,000 chests at £50 apiece would only make £15,000,000 a year among 400,000,000 people. Opium smoking causes no violence, incites no crime, unless perhaps it be to stealing the means for a smoke. It is a sensual pleasure pure and simple, and certainly does no good to the constitution, though, if taken in moderation, it may do little harm. In the sense that it allays pain and kills wearisome time, it may even be said to do occasional good, just as morphia does with us.

But how is it all Chinese are ashamed of it, or, if not, why do they all try to conceal it or apologize for it? No one of us thinks of apologising for drink, so long as it is not taken to excess or in disobedience to lawful injunctions or against some generally accepted scruple or pledge. It appears to me that the one is the indulgence of a reasonable appetite which becomes wasteful and injurious when carried to excess, while the other is the indulgence of an artificial or unnatural appetite which is always wasteful even when not carried to excess, and which becomes injurious when persisted in, insomuch as it check[illegible]ulation. But the unnatu[illegible] opium smoking is not greater than that of tobacco smoking, and that alone is hardly sufficient to condemn it.—Blackwood's Magazine.

If you are particular

About the accommodations you get when traveling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.

If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.

Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday..$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..........$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year........ $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1 75

☞Sample copies sent free on application. Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

U.S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 27th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U.S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on Dec. 8th 1896, viz:

Karl A Sundahl, Hd. Lots 2, 3, and 4 Sec. 6 tp. 152 N. range 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Simon E. Ahlberg, Daniel Johnson, Andrew Nelson and Anton Peterson, all of St. Hilaire, P. O., Minn.

13-18 WM. ANGLIM, Receiver.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year Free; or we will send it and this paper one year for

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

The BEER=

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

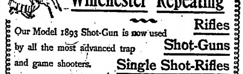
Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NF and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	6.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.10
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.10
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
8 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	3.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.50 to 2.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	3.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 31	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
1 " 13	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
2 " [illegible]	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

☞For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.



Winchester Repeating

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Adolf Nelson, receiving ballots town of Bray	6 00
Ole Nelson, receiving ballots town of Brandsvold	11 10
D. T. Mitchell, receiving ballots town Godfrey	6 00
John Hanson, receiving ballots town of Garden	7 00
J. B. Hebert, receiving ballots town of Poplar River	9 40
A. D. Perry, receiving ballots town of Louisville	4 00
H. D Baardson, receiving ballots town Norden	9 60
James M. Palmer, receiving ballots town of Angus	6 00
Alex Patnode, receiving ballots town of Gervais	7 00
Lars Backe, receiving ballots town of River Falls	8 20
C. B. Goodale, receiving ballots town of Liberty	6 20
Charles Asp, receiving ballots town of Emardsville	7 80
F. W. Kolars, receiving ballots town of Sullivan	6 60
Lars K. Nelson, receiving ballots town of Knute	7 60
P. N. Sevelend, receiving ballots town of Badger	7 00
Chas. McCarty, receiving ballots town of King	8 80
P. A. Eckstrom, receving ballots town of Black River	9 45
J. O. Brandt, receiving ballots village of Fosston	10 00
Idaige Barie, receiving ballots town of Red Lake Falls	6 00
F. J. Cernousek receiving ballots town of Tabor	7 00
W. A. Martin, receiving ballots town of Onstad	4 00
Fred S. Syverson, receiving ballots town of Hill River	11 00
O. J Johnson, receiving ballots town of Wyandotte	9 00
O. Simmons, receiving ballots town of Russia	3 40
Edonor Perrase, receiving ballots town of Terrebonne	6 80
Neri A. Skele, receiving ballots town of Eden	13 00
M. S. Merager, receiving ballots town of Northland	9 00
Martin P. Bornas, receiving ballots town 151-41	11 60
Hans Hancom, receiving ballots town of Queen	11 80
F. McLennan, making election returns town of Angus	6 00
N M. Johnson, making election returns town of Polk Center	5 80
Martin Purcell, making election returns city East Grand Forks	6 20
Ole N. Hendrickson, making election returns town of Higdem	9 60
W. A. Lambert, making election returns town of Parley	8 40
O. T. Ormeland, making election returns town of Sullivan	7 80
Ludwig Oleson, making election returns town of Rhinehart	6 50
John Stone, making election returns town of Sandsville	9 20
A. Warden, making election returns town of Bygland	5 00
O. J. Tweet, making election returns town of Norden	9 60
John G. Johnson, making election returns town of Reis	4 60
Julius Zichgo, making election returns town of Fisher	3 20
Hans Koppang, making election returns town of Tynsid	4 60
Olaf Larson, making election returns town of Numedal	10 40
D. Morrow, making election returns town of Nesbit	4 60
G. Lizee, making election returns town of Terrebonne	7 00
John Monroe, making election returns 2nd Ward, city of Crookston	1 20
V. L. McGregor, making election returns 5th Ward city of Crookston	1 40
James E. Greenhalgh, making election returns 2nd Ward city of Crookston	1 20
C. H. Mix, making election returns 3rd Ward city of Crookston	1 20
Julius Volker, making election returns town of Fanny	3 00
O. F. Post, making election returns village of St. Hilaire	7 00
A. J. Hanstad, making election returns town of Emardville	9 40
Arthius Beaucheme, making election returns town of Louisville	3 40
John Peterson, making election returns town of River Falls	7 40
Armedus Patnode, making election returns town of Red Lake Falls	6 80
James Cumming, making election returns town of Huntsville	5 00
Wm. Himmelsbach, making election returns town of Fairfax	2 60
Ildaige Barrie, making election returns town of Red Lake Falls	5 80
John Knutson, making election returns town of Andover	2 20
John G. Gorgon, making election returns town of Belgium	5 40
C. A. Fuller, making election returns town of Brislet	7 00
G.H. Horn, making election returns town of Keystone	6 00
J. B. Dupuis, making election returns town of Gentilly	2 80
Michael St. Aubin, making election returns town of Kertsonville	3 80
J. W. Scheveright, making election returns town of Lowell	2 00
Chas. Regimbal, making election returns town of Crookston	2 20
Pat Pilbin, making election returns town of Parnell	3 00
Louis Falardean, making election returns town of Lambert	10 60
John M. Morse, making election returns town of Garfield	6 40
Frank Hanson, making election returns town of Hubbard	6 00
Joseph Pigeon, making election returns town of Poplar River	9 40
A. P. Moen, making election returns town of Vineland	5 20
Ole Knutson, making election returns town of Roome	8 40
Gust Christianson, making election returns town of Scandia	6 40
P. J. Cunningham, making election returns village of Fertile	5 70
Ole J. Moen, making election returns town of Liberty	5 00
C. P. Swanson, making election returns town of Bray	6 00
S. Quaeberg, making election returns town of Onstad	4 00
Gust Ecklund, making election returns town of Rosebud	10 40
M. P. Loeey, making election returns town of Euclid	4 00
Paul P. Okstad, making election returns town of Sletten	10 40
J. E. Douglas, making election returns city of East Grand Forks	6 20
Aaron Brown, making election returns city of East Grand Forks	6 20
Wallace Forkey, making election returns city of East Grand Forks	6 20
A. J. Voiden, making election returns town of Brandsvold	11 00
Ed. Warderberg, making election returns town of King	9 00
Aug. Stromberg, making election returns town of Lessor	10 00
Henry Culp, special constable 3d district	1 50
Elling Olson, room for election, 3d district	5 00
C C Knappen, Sund, printing	78 94
H E Ives, " "	82 60
W E McKenzie " "	210 79
P & J Meehan, lumber for bdg	287 81
Red River Lumber Co, lumber and slabs, 2 bills	56 80
Crookston Plumbing Co, plumbing in jail and hospital	15 35
Crookston Steam Laundry, laundry for hospital	15 88
Larsen & Carpenter, wood to probate judge	6 25
Crookston Tel Co, rent of telephones Sept	7 50
Crookston Tel Co, rent of telephones Oct	7 50
J J Howe Lum Co, lum for bd'g	2 15
Dr O E Dampier, post mortem examination	6 20
Fontaine & Anglim, mdse to hospital	33 38
H W Lee, printing election tickets Thief River Falls	1 75
W S Haws, work on bridge	1 75
F J Cernousek, posting ditch notices	5 00
Jacob Syverson, hauling wood	6 00
O McCrillis, expr and postage	13 60
Mossefin & Lindell, supplies to jail	10 00
J P Bye, wood to county jail	23 65
B E Oppegaard, wood to Co hos	27 50
G L Young " "	2 50
F F Haseltine, supplies to hospital	9 94
Ole Bjoin livery for posting ditch notices	3 00
John Vig, express and postage	12 40
Grand Forks Herald, blank books	20 00
Brown, Treacy and Co, sund blanks, 4 bills	44 98
Boeringer and son, supplies to county surveyor	12 00
G H Holt, justice fees, 10 bills	40 40
John McLean " " 7 "	30 25
E E Albott " "	1 55
P S Ware " "	11 05
O H Peters " "	2 85
C A Brown " "	2 95
G H Barlow, constable fees 10 bills	39 87
Louis Gonyea, constable fees 2 bills	63 07
Hugh Quigley, constable fees 7 bills	20 25
Oscar Wick, constable fees, 2 bills	10 10
Henry Johnson, constable fees, 2 bills	6 42
James A Dainard, constable fees	1 60
A A Glenn, constable fees	11 05
C E Hurst, constable fees, 4 bills	6 40
Andrew Steenerson, sheriff fees	63 95
" ", boarding prisoners Aug, Sept and Oct	462 80
L A Kaufer jury fees	2 12
C E Roberts " "	1 09
Ben Tyndal " "	1 00
H Shumway " "	1 12
Tom Solberg " "	1 00
O F Carver " "	1 00
John O McLaughlin witness fees	4 00
Julia McLaughlin, witness fees	4 00
Lizzie McLaughlin " "	4 00
Margaret McLaughlin " "	4 00
August Gustavson, witness fees	1 12
Emanuel St. Martin, " "	2 68
J R Johnson, " "	5 12
L W Corpe, " "	1 12
Samuel Cochrane, " "	4 00
Louis Hebert, " "	2 68
Frank Gelander, " "	2 68
John Anderson, " "	2 24
Ole G Hektivet, " "	1 12
George Marcey, " "	1 12
Jake Andrist, " "	1 12
Agnes McLennan nursing in county hospital	9 00
P O Berg, clerk of election	4 00
Carl Nelson, covering water pipes	1 50
H C Ristsen, writing specification for Tabor ditch	3 70
R Lehman, work at county hospital	15 00
Dr W. O Tessier, medical attendance to Baptise Bernon	10 25
Mrs Hannah Eikhoff, milk to county hospital	9 64
Rose Kennedy, nursing in county hospital	15 00
Tillie Stoke, work in county hospital	17 50
Sivert Nelson, work on courthouse	38 75
Carl Pederson, supplies to courthouse	10 90
W L Vandermark, work on court house	9 00
Fred G Rauch, mdse to county hospital	11 75
John Schantzen, ice to county hospital	11 60
John Schantzen, ice to courthouse	10 80
J E O'Brien & Co, mdse to jail	8 10
S A Wallace, drugs to county hospital	11 65
S A Wallace, mdse to county surveyor	4 85
F H Hilliard, mdse to sheriff	3 50
J V E Wyatt, services as deputy coroner	12 25
David Huggard, posting ditch notices	4 00
Peter Nelson, grading St Hilaire county road	48 00
Ole Peterson, grading St Hilaire county road	35 40
S Wiberg, grading St Hilaire Co road	68 95
Halvor J Saunes, ditching and grading	20 00
G Swanson, ditching & grading	45 00
" " "	90 00
John Gleason, ex and postage	39 70
Wrought Iron Bridge Co, to apply on Mallory bridge	2,550 00
Wrought Iron Bridge Co, to apply on St Hilaire bridge	2,747 50
N G Enstrom, supplies to court house	1 25
G H Palmer, examination in case of insanity	6 00
Albin Anderson, meat to Co hos	8 95
John Burke, judge of special election Thief River Falls	3 00
S T Johnson, judge of special election, Thief River Falls	3 00
C Retalick, judge of special election Thief River Falls	3 00
C Retalick, making returns election Thief River Falls	7 20
Alex A Sweaas, making returns election Thief River Falls	11 90
Gilbert Gilbertson, making returns election Thief R Falls	12 00
O Tanberg, making returns election T R Falls	9 00
J E Oppegaard, ser as Co Com	21 60
M E Kirsch " "	23 00
Anthon Lindem, " "	18 20
A C Rhinehart " "	15 80
Henry Norland " "	36 00
M E Kirsch, work before state board of equalization	85 00
Erick E Shiple, making election returns town of Badger	7 60
John Oleson, making election returns town of Knute	7 90
M P Borass, making election returns 4th district	12 20
E A Engebretson, making election returns town of Eden	12 40
O L Larson, making election returns town of Sanders	7 80
A M Hanson, making election returns town of Black River	6 00
Lars Lien, making election returns town of Roxbury	8 00
Alex A Sweaas, making election returns village of Thief River Falls	8 20
Gilbert Gilbertson, making election returns town of North	8 20
Peter Erickson, making election returns town of Winger	9 00
Hans Honkom, making election returns town of Queen	12 00
Joseph Helm, making election returns village of Red Lake Falls	5 40
Joseph Perrault, making election returns town of Lake Pleasant	12 00
Hans P Johnson, making election returns town of Hill River	11 60
Robert Kerr, making election returns town of Grand Forks	7 00
Martin E Hilliard, making election returns town of Esther	9 00
J O Johnson, making election returns town of Columbia	11 80
John R Bjergan, making election returns	9 00
Ole Oleson, making election returns town of Russia	8 80
H Galbraith, making election returns town of Hammond	3 00
Hans Kolsath, making election returns town of Wyandotte	9 00
V Godfrey making election returns town of Godfrey	6 60
F J Cernousek making election returns town of Tabor	7 00
W R Long, making election returns town of Tilden	5 00
Gigepn Stoddard, making election returns town of Woodside	7 00
Geo M Swift, making election returns of town of Grove Park	6 00
Simon A Ofsterdal, making election returns town of Garden	7 00
E L Wickterman, making election returns and rec. ballots Chester	28 00
T C McKracker, making election returns, 3d dis't	6 00
Erick Erickson, board of registration 3d dis't	4 90
Martin P Borass, board of registration, judge of election etc, 3d dis't	8 70
T C McKracker judge of election 3d dis't	5 25
Edward E Havik, board of registration judge of election etc 4th dist	7 70
Chris Anderson, board of registration judge of election etc, 3d dist	7 25
E J Dahl, board of registration judge of election etc, 3d dist	5 25
Erick Iverson, board of registration judge of elec 4th dist	4 70
C E Roberts, clerk of election 4th dist	4 70
O N Skomedal, clerk of election 4th dist	6 20
Louis Larson, clerk of election 3d dist	5 00
F W Davis, clerk of election 3d district	5 00

Following bills were referred for correction:

Alfred Moore, W Riley, John W Spurgon, W.S. Easvoeld, S M Cummings, W A Arthur, Joe Smith, H Holte 2 bills and Henry Hogan.

Following bills were disallowed:

Wm Maloney, Julius Jacobson and A O Twedten,

On motion board adjourned sine die,

JOHN GLEASON,
Clerk of the Board,

SUPPLEMENT.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Of the Board of County Commissioners Held at a Special Session November 5th, 1896.

Pursuant to call the board of commissioners of Polk county met in special session November 5th, 1896, with all members present.

The reading of the record of the preceding meeting was on motion dispensed with.

Moved and carried that payments be made to Wrought Iron Bridge Co. in accordance with the conditions of contracts for the construction of bridges at St. Hilaire and Mallory, the material for said bridges being now on the ground.

The petition of D. D. Horton asking for the abatement of interest on taxes for the years 1892, 1893 and 1894, on the ne¼ of section 20, T. 149, R. 47, was on motion granted.

The matter of the hearing on the petition for the construction of the Tabor ditch was taken up and the following resolution offered by Com. Rhinehart was on motion adopted:

Resolved, That the land in the town of Keystone, and sections 31, 32, 33, 34, 35 and 36, in town of Tabor, and sections 31, 32, 33, 34, 35 and 36, in town of Northland, and sections 35 and 36, in town of Esther, embraced in the viewers report and assessed for the construction of the Tabor ditch, be and the same is hereby wholly relieved from the assessment made by the said viewers, and that the assessment upon sections 25 and 26, in town of Esther, and sections 25, 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30, in town of Northland, and sections 25, 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30, in town of Tabor, be reduced fifty per cent, and that the amount of deficiency resulting therefrom shall be added pro rata to the assessment on the land lying north of the line of the said proposed Tabor ditch.

The order establishing said Tabor ditch was made as follows:

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
County of Polk. } ss.

Whereas, At a session of the board of county commissioners of the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, held November 5th 1896, a petition signed by F. J Cernousek, Joseph Dostal, M. Staska, and others, land owners, whose lands were liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the work proposed therein, praying the establishment and construction of a public county ditch along a route described therein, accompanied by a bond duly approved, as provided by law, was filed with the county auditor of said county; and it appearing by proper evidence to the satisfaction of said board of county commissioners that at least thirty (30) days notice has been given of the pendency of said petition and of the time at which the same would be heard, as by law provided, whereupon the said board did, at its session on the 22nd day of July, A. D., 1896, proceed to hear and determine said petition; and said board having determined that the construction of such ditch would be of public benefit or utility, or conducive to the public health, convenience or welfare, we did accept said petition, and thereupon did appoint, as viewers of said proposed work, three (3) resident freeholders of said Polk county, who are not interested in the construction of said proposed work, and are not of kin to any of the parties interested therein, and directed them to meet, preparatory to commencing their duties as such viewers, at Crookston, in said county, at the court house, on the 28th day of July 1896; and it appearing to the satisfaction of said board that certified copies of the said petition and order of said board appointing them as said viewers was issued to and served upon said viewers, as by law provided, they proceeded, at the time set in said order, with a surveyor who is a civil engineer, and made an accurate survey of the line of said public county ditch from its source to its outlet, and did cause stakes to be placed along said line at each 100 feet, as numbered progressing down stream from its source, and made and filed a report thereof; and reported that said public county ditch would be of public utility; and in their said report made the necessary computations and assessments, description of location, the land through which the same would pass, the names of the owners, and the damages or allowances thereto, the expense attending such work, and all the estimates, as required by law, duly sworn to as by law required.

And the auditor of said Polk county did, after the filing of said report, cause a notice to be given, to be published, posted and mailed, as by law provided, of the pendency of said petition and of the time and place set for the hearing thereof and of the viewers report.

Now, therefore, we, the board of county commissioners of said county of Polk having met in session at the time set for the hearing of said petition and viewers report, to-wit, the 5th day of November 1896, and adjourned to the 15th day of Dec. 1896, and proceeded to hear the same, and having found that the report of said viewers is made according to the provisions of law, and that the proposed public county ditch to be of public utility, or conducive to public health, or of public benefit and convenience, and, from the evidence before us, that the estimated benefits of said work is greater than its total cost, including damages awarded, do hereby locate and establish the said public county ditch according to the report of said viewers appointed and acting as aforesaid.

A general description, starting point, route and terminus of said proposed ditch is as follows: Beginning at or near the northwest corner of the northwest quarter of section twenty-five in township 153 of range 48 in said county, thence running in a westerly direction through sections 26, 23, 27, 22, 28, 21, 29, 20, and 30 and 19 of township 153, range 48, striking the town line of Northland at or near the northeast corner of the northeast quarter of section 25 of the town of Northland, and thence in a westerly direction through sections 25, 24, 26, 23, 27, 22, 28, 21, 29 20, 30 and 19 of township 153, range 49, striking the town line of Esther at or near the northeast corner of the northeast quarter of section 25 of Esther, thence in a westerly direction between sections 25 and 24 in the town of Esther to a certain coulie called generally the Grand Marais on said line.

The computations, assessments and allotments, the amount of benefits and damages assessed to each tract of land, and the owners names, are as given in the viewers report on file in office of the county auditor of said county.

Given under our hand this 5th day of November 1896.

By the Board.

ANTHON LINDEM, Chairman Board County Commissioners of Polk County.

Attest: JOHN GLEASON,
County Auditor.

The hearing upon the petition for the construction of the Russia ditch was taken up and considered at some length, and on motion definite action thereon was postponed until the next meeting of the county board, pending the result of a conference between the viewers and land owners interested in the construction of said ditch.

On motion the county auditor was instructed to notify the viewers in the Russia ditch to meet at the court house in the city of Crookston, on Tuesday, November 10th, 1896, to readjust their report in accordance with agreement to be reached with residents of the town of Russia who have remonstrated against the construction of the said ditch.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that the penalty and interest on the taxes on nw¼ of section 35, T. 150, R. 41, be abated for the years 1891, 1892, 1893, and 1894, provided that the taxes for the years named are paid within 30 days from the date thereof.

Moved by Com. Rhinehart that the amount of $50 per month be allowed A. O. Twedten for services rendered as clerk in the office of probate judge. Motion lost.

On motion the sum of $35 was allowed M. E. Kirsch in payment of expenses connected with his appearance before the state board of equalization in the interest of the real estate assessment of Polk county.

On motion the hearing upon the petition for the construction of the Andover county ditch was postponed until the next meeting of the county board and the county auditor was instructed to notify the viewers to meet at the court house in the city of Crookston on Wednesday, November 11th 1896, for conference with taxpayers interested in the construction of said ditch.

The hearing on the petition of John Peterson, et al, asking that certain lands be detached from school district No. 154 and attached to district No. 133, was on motion postponed until the next meeting of the county board, pending the filing of the proof of posting notice of hearing.

On motion $9 additional was appropriated to complete work on road running between sections 2 and 3, town of Lessor, and sections 34 and 35, town of Lambert, said amount to be paid to the treasurer of the town of Lessor.

On motion the sum of $330 was appropriated as an additional allowance for clerk hire in the office of county treasurer, the required affidavit having been filed.

On motion the sum of $50 was appropriated to the town of Hill River to aid in the improvement of roads and bridges.

Following report submitted by Com. Oppegaard was on motion adopted:

Your Committee appointed to expend $150 appropriated for a road running north and south between sections 2 and 3, town of Lessor, and sections 34 and 35, town of Lambert, respectfully report that I have expended the said amount on said road and $5 additional thereto, and in order to get sufficient drainage do respectfully ask for $4 in addition to the amount named, in all exceeding said appropriation $9. The work done consists of 126 rods of brush-laying, ditching and grading.

Respectfully submitted,
J. E. OPPEGAARD, Committee.

The application of Mrs. C. M. Benson for abatement of penalty and interest on taxes on N. 100 feet of lot 2 and part of lot 3, block 32, original townsite of the city of Crookston for the years 1 93, 1894 and 1895 and the e½ nw¼ and lots 1 and 2, section 19, T. 148, R. 43, for the year 1895, was on motion granted, provided payment of the said taxes is made within sixty days from the date thereof.

The application of Tom Morris for abatement of penalty and interest on tax for the year 1891, on south 50 feet of lot 1, block 27, original townsite of city of Crookston, was on motion granted and the county auditor was instructed to issue a refunding order covering amount of abatement.

The petition of J. W. Bren, et al, asking for the formation of a school district to be composed of sections 1, 2, 3, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and the e½ of section 15, T. 153, R. 48, was heard and on motion the prayer of petitioners was granted, order made and district given the No. 185.

A hearing was had upon the petition of Cesaire Gervais, asking to be set off with his land, the se¼ of section 18, T. 150, R. 45 from school district No. 45 and attached to district No. 191, and on motion the prayer of the petitioner was granted.

The proposition of H. E. Ives and Thomas H. Shevlin to pay all taxes now due and delinquent on the w½ of Sec. 6, lots 2, 8, 9, 10 and 14, Sec. 6, the ne¼ nw¼ and part of lot 2 Sec. 7, T. 152, R. 43, and the e½ se¼ Sec. 1, T. 152, R. 44, on the basis of fifty per cent, was on motion accepted subject to the approval of the state auditor.

The application of the First National bank of Crookston for a reduction of taxes on certain lots and blocks in Crocker, Cundy and Nelson's addition to village of St. Hilaire as per descriptive list on file in auditor's office, for the years 1884, 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891, 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895, from $473 to $250, was on motion granted, subject to the approval of the state auditor.

The application of J. Shantzen for abatement of penalty and interest on taxes for the years 1887, 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891, 1892, 1893, and 1894 on lots 15 and 16, block 2, Sampson's Woodland addition to city of Crookston, was on motion granted.

The application of Jacob Betchel for abatement of taxes on lots 13, 14, 15, and 16, block 31, village of Thief River Falls, was on motion rejected, Com. Norland having reported unfavorably upon the application.

The following bill were audited and allowed:

J. O. Johnson, receiving ballots, town of Columbia	$ 11 80
Oscar Wick, receiving ballots town of Rhinehart	6 20
O. H. Camp, receiving ballots town of	5 40
John E. Jeverud, receiving ballots town of Rosebud	10 60
C. U. Webster, receiving ballots town of Fisher	8 20
Albert Johnson, receiving ballots town of Winger	9 80
O. T. Romos, receiving ballots town of Polk Center	5 20
J. R. Johnson, receiving ballots city of East Grand Forks	6 20
James Gilman, receiving ballots town of Nesbit	5 00
W. A. Lambert, receiving ballots town of Farley	8 40
Carl M. Lindgren, receiving ballots town of Esther	8 40
Robert Anderson, receiving ballots town of Grand Forks	7 40
Arny Grundyson, receiving ballots town of Bygland	5 00
Jay McCafferty, receiving ballots town Lowell	1 60
D. E. Geddes, receiving ballots town of Keystone	3 60
Geo. I. Froats, receiving ballots town of Huntsville	5 40
Olaf Larson, receiving ballots town of Numedal	9 00
Christian Anderson, receiving ballots town 153 44	6 60
H. G. Witchell, receiving ballots town of Woodside	7 00
K. O. Gigstad, receiving ballots town of River Falls	7 00
J. L. Johnson, receiving ballots town of St. Hilaire	7 00
P. Englestad, receiving ballots town of Roxbury	8 00
Henry Uye, receiving ballots town of North	8 20
Geo. Tallifson, receiving ballots town of Hubbard	6 00
E. E. Abbott receiving ballots town of Grove Park	6 00
A. O. Stortrom, receiving ballots town Vineland	5 00
A. J. Kelly, receiving ballots town of Crookston	1 10
H. C. Misner, receiving ballots town of Euclid	4 00
Nels K. Anderson, receiving ballots town of Sanders	7 00
Chr. Matteson, receiving ballots town of Lessor	10 20
P. H. Thoreson, receiving ballots town Tynsid	4 20
Nels H. Lofthus, receiving ballots town of Sletten	10 60
Iver J. Ingebrightson, receiving ballots town of Garfield	5.90
A. P. Frank, receiving ballots town of Bristol	6 00
Henry Nelson, receiving ballots town of Sandsville	9 60
Ole Hendrickson, receiving ballots town of Northland	9 20
E. M. Bivens, receiving ballots town of Andover	2 00
Samuel Gibeau, receiving ballots town of Lambert	10 60
Wm. Himmelsbach, receiving ballots town of Fairfax	2,00

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal : Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample goods for the winter trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.
St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to. H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL
D. PATTERSON
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

M. W. OF A., CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Friday of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

M. E. CHURCH:—Pastor, Rev. M. S. Burns. Services every Sunday at 8:00 p. m., and Wednesday evenings at 7:30.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	71c	Butter	12½c
Oats	1[illegible]c	Eggs	15c
Barley	13c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	61c	Potatoes "	25

LOCAL NEWS.

46 below zero Monday morning.

M. E. Bjerk left to-day for Crookston.

Get your milk tickets printed at this office.

—"Money talks" so does good advertising.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

There is about three feet of snow on the level up to date.

Carl Johnson is visiting relatives in southern Minnesota.

Place your legal advertising in the columns of the SPECTATOR.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Rapp & Post shipped another car load of hay to Dakota this week.

Haul in a load of wood and get a years subscription to the SPECTATOR.

On account of the heavy snow storm last Friday no train put in appearance.

The Crookston Tribune have been getting along without "patent outsides" lately.

Dr. McKage will speak in the M. E. church next Monday evening at 7:30. All are invited.

Bert McDougal, the upper Falls printer passed through here Monday enroute to Grafton, N. D.

The oldest inhabitant can not recall to mind a storm equal to that of the 26th and 27th ult.

—H. E. Ives will pay cash for county school district orders. Bring them in and get them cashed.

Harry Young and wife, formerly of Thief River Falls, are now nicely located in their new house.

No school was held in great many of the country districts Monday on account of the unbroken roads.

The St. Hilaire Lumber company indulged in about 89,000 worth of Red Lake pine last Monday.

W. A. Sorsoleil will take wood in exchange for flour and feed at Johnson & Marshall's warehouse.

Several of our people took in the Firemans dance at Thief River Falls last Wednesday evening.

A snow plow was put on this branch Monday morning and the regular train came in on schedule time.

Business was at a stand-still Thursday and Friday. The most adventuresome dare not go two blocks.

Contractor Jacks of the Wrought Iron Bridge company was here Monday with the county commissioners.

The heavy mail last Monday necessitated some of our business men to go after it on the installment plan.

Two car loads of brick arrived Monday for the mill engine house. Eighteen more car loads are to follow.

No mail last Thursday and Friday. The mail carrier was snowed bound at Wylie for over forty-eight hours.

L. T. Bergh moved his household effects into his new residence on the old Sandmoen farm last Saturday.

James O'Toole and wife of Grand Rapids, Wis., arrived last week and will make St. Hilaire their future home.

There was just exactly thirty stormy days in November and Rev. Irl Hicks says December will go it one harder.

We want a correspondent from Black River, Bray and Rocksbury. Come in and we will give you writing material.

The little boy was on his knees in his night dress saying his prayers, and his little sister couldn't resist the temptation to tickle the soles of his bare feet. He stood it as long as he could and then said: "God please excuse me while I knock the stuffin' out of Nellie."—Ex.

And now the flying machine that you read so much about the past ten days proves to be another fake—it don't fly at all.

Sam Dainard has a crew of men at work chopping cord wood and will soon be in the market ready to suply the demand.

A full sized blizzard accompanied by a Manitoba zephyr, in all its glory hit us on that legal holiday, known as turkey day.

Miss Corcoran, one of the teachers of the Red Lake Falls schools was visiting with Mrs. W. A. Arthur from Wednesday until Monday.

Commissioner Harris had a crew of men at work Saturday clearing the snow from the side-walks. In some places it was four to five feet deep.

Fred Eikhoff is doing a handsome piece of work in the shape of storm windows which will be placed inside of the Brink Bros. building.

E. M. Hoff made a business trip to Crookston last Wednesday but on account of the blockade, was compelled to linger there until Monday.

Geo. Ossman, was snowed in at the upper Falls for a week. He will be around again about Christmas time and do business with customers.

Chas. Robbecke and Carl Kretzschmar passed through here Monday on their way to Germany where they will remain until some time in February.

Camp No. 3650, Modern Woodman of America will elect officers at their next regular meeting, one week from Friday. All members are requested to be present.

On account of no mail arriving for several days last week, reading matter was a scarce article. Hostetters Bitters Almanac's were read and appreciated to some extent.

"Skies" have been brought into use lately as a mode of locomotion. They are alright for those who can keep them from getting away from each other—the tricky things.

Miss Mary Kyle returned Monday from Crookston where she had went for the purpose of attending the Northwestern Teachers Association, which, by the way, did not convene, owing to the inclemency of the weather.

We are pleased to note that Red Lake Falls is to have a new saw mill that will employ in the neighborhood of 400 men. It is said that the erection of the mill will begin in the near future.

Those two popular boys, known as "Tom and Jerry" have been with us for about two weeks. Their influence is great if you stay with them too long. Give them the go-by if they meet you too often.

W. A. Marin, who will represent this county in the legislature this winter, presented the editor of the Fertile Journal with a nice fat young turkey for Thanksgiving dinner, for which the editor returns many thanks.

The Frankman Brothers have completed their bridge contract at this place and leave to-day for Mallory where they have a like bridge to put up. The boys are expert bridge builders of years experience.

Thanksgiving day was a hummer—Friday the same. After two days of snow and real high winds shifting about, it left the roads in such a condition to be impassable for travel. Snow banks from five to fifteen feet high were common eye-sores.

R. H. Aimer, who was doing some collecting in Kittson county last week arrived home last Thursday with no time to spare. He was compelled to drive about ten miles through the howling blizzard and when home he appreciated the balance of Thanksgiving day.

Mr. Julian Biron, the practical race and dam builder will have his work completed this week and will leave for his home at Merrill, Wis., some time during next week. Mr. Biron while here has superintended a piece of work which bids fair to last for all time to come.

There is a man at Fertile that comes right out in meetin' and says he is thankful he has plenty to drink, and any amount of them that expressed themselves as being thankful that they are alive. The Journol run a whole column headed "What they are thankful for."

Commissioners M. Kirsch, J.E. Oppegard, A. C. Rhinehart and H. Norland, constituting the bridge committee were here Monday inspecting the new county bridge located at this place. It is needless to say that the bridge is alright and the commissioners put their O. K. on it.

An exchange reports a very remarkable medical marvel from the southern part of the state. It seems that a handsome young lady of the town in question accidently had a needle imbedded in her waist a year ago, and it has worked its way out of the arm of a young man living in the same town.

About 150 Polk county farmers have received passes over the Great Northern and will take in Jim Hill's experimental farm this week. One of the main features, at this time of the year, will be the turning out of some of his big black bulls in the yards to see them paw snow. We know of no farmer in this immediate vicinity who was honored with a pass.

WANTED—A friend:—One who will recognize me when I am compelled to wear patched pants; who will take my hand as I am sliding down hill instead of giving me a kick to hasten my decent; who will lend me a dollar without two dollars security, who'll come to me when I am sick; who will put off his coat and fight for me when odds are two to one; who will talk of me behind my back as he talks to my face. Such a friend is wanted by ten thousand times ten thousand human beings throughout the whole world.—Ex.

Illustrating the beautiful effects of the gold standard and a high protective tariff will our people never see the point until our farms have all been sold on mortgages and all our money in the east. Minnesota this year voted for high tariff and gold standard to help the paupers—of the east or was it the millionaires?

A comparison of some census figures shows startling effects in the distribution of wealth to population in this country. Rhode Island as an agricultural section is perhaps the poorest part of the Union. Yet the gain in wealth made by Rhode Island between 1880 and 1890 was $41,000,000 greater than that of Mississippi, South Carolina, Indiana and Illinois all put together.

The same condition holds good of every part of New England, which is the poorest section of the country agriculturally. Massachusetts alone gained in wealth $11,000,000 more than ten of the southern and western states gained unitedly, although these states have nine times the population of Massachusetts. New York gained in wealth $7,000,000 more than the combined increase of 16 of the most productive agricultural states of the Union. All the northern Atlantic states made a like tremendous gain as compared with the rest of the Union.

The other side of the picture is that in the very states which grow in wealth so rapidly pauperism increases just as rapidly. The state of New York is so wealthy that year before last its riches increased more than $100,000,000. Yet this same New York contains nearly one-seventh of all the paupers in the country. In the three states of New York, Pennsylvania and Massaceusetts, where the largest fortunes of the country are concentrated, the pauper rate is twice as high as in the agricultural states. Splendid wealth and abject poverty walk hand in hand and with equal step. One grows as the other grows.

Fault of The Typewriter.

The Telegraph Age prints a letter alleged to have been written by a newspaper reporter who used a type-writer from which the letters "f" and "k" were missing. The editor, it appears, had complained about the condition of the reporter's opology:

Mr. Editor.—Mistaques are liable to happen in the best ov regulated phamilies, and to type-writers as well. It is, indeed, a very unphortunate aphair, but the "eph" and "cay" phell out and are lost. This morning I called at the orphice ov the gentleman phrom whom I rent this outphit, but phailed to phind him in; in phact, the "orphice cid" says he will not return phor phour or phive days. I do not lique the loox ov this variety ov spelling myselph, but will get the specials aphter a phashion. I myselph, consider this no joque, but a serious aphair. Phaithphully yours,

J. LOGAN.

At a recent dairymen's convention Mayor McGlachlin of Aberdeen, speaking of the productiveness of South Dakota cows, said: "One cow from 1885 to 1890 produced milk and butter enough for the family use with a sufficient surplus to buy tea, sugar and coffee for the household. During this period, this mild, meek, uncomplaining cow bore four calves and 21 chattel mortgages. It is but simple justice to the poor cow to say that the proceeds of the chattel mortgages were used to pay losses on wheat farming."—Hoards Dairyman.

Burlington Route Excursions.

For the Non-Partisan W. C. T. U. and National Anti-Saloon League conventions at Washington, D. C., Dec. 8th to 14th, all Burlington ticket agents are authorized to sell tickets at rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. A great opportunity to visit the National Capital while congress is in session.

For the annual meeting of Federation of Commercial Teachers, at Chicago, Dec. 28th to 31st, all Burlington ticket agents will sell at rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip.

Our Dollarcrocy.

The editor of the London Truth, one of the most influential and fearless of the English papers, referring to the recent election in the United States, comments as follows:

"The victors will do well to realize that, apart from bimetallism, there is a strong growing feeling in America against huge accumulations of capital in the hands of individuals, obtained by means of trusts, which are really monopolies and gambling with cogged dice in railroads. The greedy plutocracy, unsupported by an armed force, cannot long hold its own against the rights and well being of all. I am nowise certain that, had I been an American, I should not have voted the democratic ticket, had it not been that I regard all tampering with the coinage of a country as injurious to all.

"America's worst product is its dollarcracy, whose members have literally nothing to recommend them. The odds are that either they or their parents acquired huge fortunes by the most questionable means. As a rule, they are ignorant and vulgar, building big houses in order to dazzle by ostentatious entertainments, and buying pictures, for which they only care because they have been acquired at high prices, selling their souls to anyone who will enable them to hobnob with royalties, and their daughters, to anyone who will confer a title upon them, dispising their own country and institutions, and regarding themselves as, in every respect superior to others, on account of their dollars.

"If the United States is not to become a mere plutocratic and oligarchic power, these worthies, who have increased, and are increasing, must greatly diminish."

Subscribe for the Spectator.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Thomas Dargan returned from Donaldson last week.

Miss Mary Kyle passed through here on train Wednesday.

Christ Borgen made two trips to Red Lake Falls last week.

Andrew Letwig says he will quit betting until after leap year.

Rev. Father Roy of Terrebonne passed through here last week.

Nick Eckstine has a fine line of winter goods. Give him a call.

S. J. Larson made a trip to Red Lake Falls the middle part of last week.

Clothing cheap at Schmidsang's. If you are in doubt consult Ole Romsos.

Albert Grager braved the storm Friday but John McCurney failed to appear.

Swan Anderson made a trip to Wylie Saturday on snow shoes, it being impossible to use a team.

School closed last Wednesday and took a Thanksgiving vacation until Monday.

Green and dry wood in exchange for hay and oats. For information apply to Jas. G. Brady, Wylie, Minn.

Miss Annie Erickson and Hans Gaustad have tied the difficult knot. They are at home in East Grand Forks.

The Thanksgiving ball at Red Lake Falls would have been patronized by the Wylie young folks had Mr. Blizzard not interfered.

The Crookston and Thief River Falls stages were compelled to lay over from Thursday until Saturday on account of the snow storm.

A Wayne county farmer, who had a little time to spare during the drought, went at it, and created seven artificial mounds to resemble graves in a field close to the road. Sign boards were put up and labeled, "Tramp No. 1," "Tramp No. 2," and so on through, and when the work was finished the granger went up to the house with a grin on his face, and said to his wife:

"That 'ere dodge will beat all the laws in Michigan to keep tramps away."

Breakfast was not yet over next morning when there was a knock on the kitchen door, and the farmer opening it, found five gaunt tramps standing in half a circle.

"You here?" he yelled, soon as he could credit his senses. "Didn't you see those graves down by the road?"

"We did, sir," answered the oldest tramp for all. "That's just why we stopped. We wanted to know if they came to their death by overeating."—Ex.

Try It and See.

Whatever may be said about the publications of Rev. Irl R. Hicks by those who do not fully understand the facts, there is no denying the truth that his paper and Almanac have come to stay. His splendid journal, WORD AND WORKS, is now entering its tenth year, largely increased in circulation and in every way improved, until it deserves the national reputation it has attained. His 1897 Almanac is now ready and is by far the finest and most beautiful he has yet issued. It contains 108 pages, including cover artistically printed in colors, and is filled from back to back with just what is wanted in every shop, office and home in America. One feature of the Almanac for 1897 is a series of 12 original, beautifully engraved star maps, with explanatory chapters, which could not be bought for less than five dollars in any work on astronomy. As Mr. Hicks has so correctly and faithfully warned the public of coming droughts, floods, cold waves, blizzards, tornadoes and cyclones, in the years passed, aside from the other varied and splendid features of his paper and Almanac, these considerations alone should prompt every family to subscribe at once for 1897. The Almanac is only 25cts. a copy. WORD AND WORKS is one dollar a year, and a copy of the fine Almanac goes as a premium with every yearly subscription. Write to WORD AND WORKS Publishing Co. St. Louis, Missouri.

Do you want to trade cord wood for a second ☞ box stove? If so call at this office and make a deal.

OUR CHRISTMAS TREE.

O
the Christ-mass tree
so bright and green awaits Old Santa Clause, and
the Chimney place
swept and clean gapes
wide its ponderous jaws
The little stockings are
all hung up—and baby's just makes four. Won't old
Santa be surprised, when he
find there is now one more!
There's an elegant place up in the tree to hang Johnny's gun and a place
for May and one for Kate to leave their dolls upon. But for little baby blue eyes a lower branch he mush choose
where she may reach and find the place he's hung her first shoes.
Turn down the light a little
now, so good old Santa
Clause can see, and all must go to bed
and get up early after a long nights
sleep;
and come down
to the Xmas
tree
and
SEE
Who will get the first peep into
M. A. HALL'S STORE.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Wanted—An Idea Who can [illegible] of some [illegible] thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something . . . . .

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Rapp & Post

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS and SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer,

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department. . . .

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Bicycle Riders.

There are many questions connected with what to the average rider would be long journeys on a bicycle which seldom or never obtain the amount of attention which they require in order to give the rider the comfort and pleasure that he ought to have.

For instance, the packing of luggage is one of the most important details of a week's run. The best method for carrying luggage is that already described in this column, namely, a leather bag fitted to the inside of the frame. The proper luggage for a week should be the smallest set of toilet articles that can be conveniently used, a couple of sets of underclothing and at least two extra pairs of long stockings, and, perhaps most important of all, a pair of loose slippers. When starting out in the morning the entire clothing which you wear should be perfectly dry. This can always be accomplished if it is done in the right way, by asking a maid at the hotel the trousers and jacket. When you stop at noon for the hour or two for where you stop at night to see that all your clothes are dried during the night, and it is well to dress in a different suit each day, except, of course, dinner, with the intention of riding on, in the afternoon, the greatest care should be taken to avoid taking cold, especially in the fall and winter weather. In the first place, you should wrap yourself up usually by putting on the coat and waistcoat which you have been carrying on the front of the wheel or in the leather portmanteau. It is unwise, however, to take a bath and change the clothing at this time of day, and therefore merely the rest and the dinner should be your care at noon. After riding all the forenoon, the moment the bicycle is stowed away or put under some one's care, go to your room at the hotel and take a bath. If there happens to be no bath tub available, which is often the case at small inns or country hotels, take a sponge bath—always in warm water at first, ending with cold. There is considerable danger to any one who takes a warm bath after heavy physical exertion and omits the cold water afterward. It is one of the best methods known for catching a dangerous cold. —Harper's Round Table.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Water Is a Factor in Butter-Making.

Most of the best dairy regions of the country are where there are natural springs of pure water. These sections are usually good for grass, but we have always thought that the superior water helped the dairyman to make a better quality of butter, and so command the highest price in the market. Wherever the water is not good, and is yet considered desirable to engage in dairying, the difficulty may be remedied by sinking driven wells with casing, deep enough to find supplies of water as clear and pure as from any spring. This water will be of the same temperature winter and summer, and should be warmed before being offered to milch cows, as nothing checks milk supply more quickly than giving cows water so cold that they will not drink what they require.

An Appeal for Assistance.

A man who is charitable to himself will listen to the mute appeal for assistance made by his stomach, or his liver, in the shape of divers dyspeptic qualms and uneasy sensations in the region of the gland that secretes his bile. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, my dear sir, or madam—as the case may be—is what you require. Hasten to use it if you are troubled with heartburn, wind in the stomach, or note that your skin or the whites of your eyes are taking a sallow hue.

The Bird of Freedom.

Little Johnny—Papa, was the American eagle the official bird of the Columbian exposition?

Papa—Where did you get the idea of an official bird, my son?

Little Johnny—Why, I saw in the hotel office this morning a picture labeled "Official birds-eye view of the Columbian exposition.

Too Much.

"Bixby has given up learning to play chess."

"Too much for his mental caliber?"

"No, he hurt his jaw trying to pronounce the names of the leading players."—Cleveland Plain dealer.

The Glad Laugh.

Dobson—Did old Money Bags take it good-naturedly when you asked him for the hand of his daughter?

Hobson—Good-naturedly? Oh, yes; he said "Ha, ha, ha!"—New York Advertiser.

Officers in the "service" propose to establish an army and navy club at St. Augustine, Fla.

A thick sprinkling of sawdust under gravel on garden walks will prevent weeds growing.

Cincinnati provides sand-piles on the school house grounds for children to play in.

Blood Pure?

Is it? Then take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and keep it so. Isn't it? Then take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and make it so. One fact is positively established and that is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla will purify the blood more perfectly, more economically and more speedily than any other remedy in the market. There are fifty years of cures behind this statement; a record no other remedy can show. You waste time and money when you take anything to purify the blood except

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Is't so? Don't idle and ask, BUT USE St. Jacobs Oil for NEURALGIA, and you'll find out how quickly and surely it SOOTHES and CURES.

RENDERED SPEECHLESS

AN INFLUENTIAL FARMER STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS WHILE AT WORK.

Further Items of Equal Interest.

From Mercury, Spring Valley, Minn.

Editor Mercury:—

The following statements from influential and prominent people in and about Spring Valley, Minnesota—made to your reporter recently contain suggestion of much interest to readers of your paper:

"I am a prosperous and influential farmer living seven miles south of Spring Valley, and wish to certify my good faith as to the wonderful cure performed by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. On July 27th, 1894, I was stricken with paralysis, which left me in a helpless condition. My wife was compelled to wheel me about in a chair. My speech had entirely left me and I was next door to the grave. I employed three of Spring Valley's most able physicians, but they could do me no good, and after having been treated by a prominent physician from Etna, to no avail, I resorted to various medicines, but could get no relief. I was asked to try Pink Pills, which I did.

"My first box was purchased in April, 1895. After having taken the pills a short time I could see an improvement. Finally I could use my limbs and walk about the house, and to-day, thank God, I have regained my speech, and I am thoroughly convinced had I not taken Pink Pills I would now be utterly helpless. As it is, I am comparatively a well man. I trust this may reach many afflicted with the dread disease, as I know Pink Pills will do the work."

"NEWELL SEELY."

The help I have received from Pink Pills, I feel, justifies me in saying that I know of nothing equal to them for the cure of a generally broken-down system.

"They have truly made a new woman of me, and for a rapid building up, I know of nothing better. My daughter was in a delicate state of health and, as a result of taking Pink Pills, she also is in the best of health now, and I can say in closing, I shall always recommend Pink Pills most highly.

"MRS. NEWELL LLOYD."

"For years I have been troubled with salt rheum or eczema—a continual breaking out all over my body. Naturally I have used more or less medicine. Some of it produced a temporary benefit, but many kinds proved to be positively injurious. As I had tried almost everything I began to feel discouraged, when my brother (Mr. Elmer Lloyd), of the firm of Lloyd & Smith, druggists, persuaded me to try Pink Pills, which I did, and after having taken about three boxes I found myself entirely cured. I gladly speak words of praise for this wonderful medicine. highly of this medicine.

"NEWELL LLOYD."

"I find the Pink Pills excellent for headache. They have cured my husband of paralysis and I feel as if we cannot do without them in our family.

"MRS. MORT SEELY."

"Pink Pills certainly have a great deal of merit. They have cured me of my sick headaches and have built me up generally, and I cannot speak too highly of this medicine.

"MRS. EUGENE WILCOX."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are now given to the public as an unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves. The pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

TRULY A WISE CHILD.

A Little Baltimore Maiden Who Knew Her Mamma in Bloomers.

It is a wise child who can recognize its own mother these days, at least under some circumstances.

I was sitting at the base of the tower in the park last Tuesday and witnessed the little incident that convinced me that it is not always the father the child is uncertain about.

Near me sat a French nurse, and in her care was a beautiful little five-year-old girl.

From their conversation I gathered that "mamma" was expected every moment, and anxious glances were being cast toward the Mount Royal driveway.

The young matron had been taking lessons on the bicycle at the school, and to-day was to mark her debut in public.

Directly a vision of loveliness rounded the curve and wheeled toward us.

The costume was the most "chic" imaginable. The short skirt reached but a little below the knee; the Eton jacket disclosed a pink waist beneath; a jaunty little cap surmounted golden brown locks, and had the pretty limbs covered with golf stockings and dainty boots been observed on Baltimore street—well, business would have suspended.

The sweet face wore an expression of pride and triumph as the rider paused and dismounted before her waiting ones.

The child gazed upon her in wide-eyed puzzlement and drew closer to her nurse. Then she looked even more intently and said:

"Why, mamma, it is you, isn't it? Do you know, I didn't know you."—Baltimore Telegram.

A case which has attracted considerable attention among the medical fraternity of St. Paul is that of Mrs. Daniel Mullen. It serves to illustrate the fact that there is a right and a wrong way of doing things. Briefly stated, Mrs. Mullen, afflicted with a double cataract, causing total blindness, submitted to an operation by a well known specialist which resulted in the destruction of one eye. Not caring to lose the remaining one she applied to the St. Paul Eye and Ear Infirmary, who treated her so successfully that she can now read, sew and attend to her household duties without discomfort. It is cases of this kind that inspire confidence and are fast making this institution one of the most famous in the country.

Fast Life.

Aunt Miranda—I suppose you saw Mary's girl when you was down to the city. Has she grown much since they moved away from Bosswood Corners?

Uncle Jedekiah—Grown! Why, she's growin' yet. You won't believe it, but her newest dress only reaches to her shoulders.—Brooklyn Life.

Wished He Was Not.

Mrs. Nagleigh—You are not the man I took you for.

Mr. Nagleigh—Perhaps not. But I am the man I took you for. That is the worst of it.—New York World.

Blamed Silly.

Brown—I just asked Smith to go a flyer on the market with me and he said he would only Tuesday was his unlucky day.

Jones—How blamed silly to be so superstitious. Friday is the unlucky day. —Harlem Life.

A hot salt bath gives almost instant relief to the victim of over-exercise.

ARTIFICIAL SPONGE CULTURE.

A Proposition to Increase the Supply Greatly.

Several causes have recently combined to reduce the supply of sponges in the American market, says the New York Tribune. The paralysis of all industry in Cuba in consequence of the civil war now prevailing there is one of them. The West Indies, Bahamas and Florida are the principal centers of production in this part of the world. Reckless fishing, which threatens to exterminate the sponges, much as similar proceedings do the seals off the coast of Alaska, is another factor in the situation. These facts lend peculiar interest to the proposition lately made to the United States government, through its consular agent at Mitylene, by a Greek named Charalampos Chorphios, to establish the business of artificially cultivating sponges somewhere on the Florida coast, if he can get a concession. A great deal has been done in the past, under the auspices of the national and state fishery commissions, toward restocking American lakes and rivers with trout, bass, shad and salmon, with small fry hatched and nurtured under human management. Artificial means, too, have much to do with culture of the oyster and the maintenance of the supply of that bivalve. But the reasonableness of the project of Mr. Chorphios does not rest alone on these precedents. Ichthyological experts in Washington are said to have shown confidence in its practicability. They say that by taking proper measures the Florida sponge fisheries could be brought to a high state of productiveness in a few years. The men already engaged in the industry might not, however, relish this interference in behalf of the public. The tough, soft, elastic, fibrous moss, which is to be had at the druggist's, under the name of sponge, is really the skeleton which once supported a whole colony of jelly-like creatures which have built up that structure. These propagate, naturally, in two ways, by means of spores or eggs and by the formation of buds which eventually split off from the mature polyp. The scientific sponge culturist proceeds on a plan which utilizes both of those methods, but is like a common practice in horticulture. He simply cuts up the tenement house of a colony into a number of pieces, employing a sharp knife or razor for the purpose and conducting the operation while the pulpy mass is still under water. He is also careful to leave a portion of the original outer surface on each fragment. Each bit may then be loaded with a small stone or other sinker to take it to the bottom again. A few of these sections fail to revive; but the great majority, after an interval of two or three months begin to thrive and eventually grow to a considerable size.

There are hundreds of distinct species of sponges, but scarcely a dozen are suited to man's use. It is asserted that those which are obtained from Mediterranean waters are the finest in the world; yet the delicate "sheep's wool" and "velvet" sponges of Florida are wonders of softness and beauty. And if a system of artificial culture should come into vogue these choice varieties could be produced almost as abundantly as the coarser grades are now.

Bottled Tears.

The Persians are the only people in the world who still adhere to the old custom of bottling tears. In that country it constitutes an important part in the funeral ceremonies performed over the dead.

Each of the mourners is presented with a sponge, with which to mop the face and eyes, and after the burial these are taken by a priest, who squeezes the tears into bottles.

Mourners' tears are believed to be the most efficacious remedy that can be supplied in several forms of Persian diseases. The custom of bottlig tears is mentioned in the Bible.

Court Proceedings.

A judge's little daughter, who had attended her father's court for the first time, was very much interested in the proceedings. After her return home she told her mother: "Papa made a speech and several other men made speeches to twelve men who sat all together, and then these twelve men were put in a dark chamber to be developed."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Chinese Temples in America.

There are forty-seven Chinese temples in America.

INVENTIONS OF WOMEN

A bicycle skirt.

Nonrefillable bottle.

An improved dustpan.

Improved window sash.

An improved medicine glass.

An adjustable quilting frame.

Fastener for bottles, jugs, etc.

An improved duplex dress shield.

Abdominal supporter and bandage.

An improved self-heating sad iron.

A telescopic-shaped miner's lantern.

An improved device to aid the hearing.

A table implement for holding green corn.

A protecting pocket or screen for ranges.

An ingenious machine for hanging wall-paper.

A device for supporting flexible gas pipes or tubes.

A shoe upper made of one piece of material and joined by one seam only.

An improved refrigerator wherein the shelves revolve, giving ready access to the contents.

A scissors holder consisting of a metal loop, with ends bent backward and safety-pin attachment.

An ingenious work table provided with handy little pockets and drawers which pull out just where wanted.

A combination of curling tongs and stove or heater for same, with fuel, and all combined in a pocket case.

A lapboard which, instead of being made in the ordinary shape, is made round, and prevents any possible looseness in the outside material, as the board has practically the curve of the body.

Teddy—I tell you it's so. Nellie—I say it is not. Teddy—Well, mamma says it's so; and if mamma says it's so, it's so even if it isn't so.—Harper's Round Table.

First Use of Quinine.

Dr. Maillot, whose statue Gen. Billit, the French minister of war, will soon unveil at Briery, was the first surgeon to employ quinine in the French army. He made his experiments with the drug in Algiers. His greatest difficulty was to overcome the repugnance that fever patients felt for it. A surgeon who was attached to the staff of Dr. Maillot in Bone, relates that once a soldier who appeared to be in the last stages of marsh fever, begged of the nurse, with tears in his eyes to take away the "bitter powder," which he was sure was poison. Dr. Maillot dissolved the quinine in a glass of water. "You fool," he said, "will you take a drink with me?" and he swallowed half a tumblerful. The soldier, convinced that everything was all right, then drained the glass.

Too Much to Ask at the Start.

She—Now, that we are engaged, dear, I shall expect you to kiss mother when you see her.

"Do you think that is fair?"

"What is?"

"To test my love so soon?"—New York World.

Hope and Fear.

Friend—Your little daughter recites very well for a child of her age.

Papa—I think so. Sometimes I am afraid she will grow up to be an elocutionist; but perhaps she will outgrow it.—Puck.

San Francisco bakers have decided to abandon a Christmas practice of presenting cakes to customers.

1 OUT OF EVERY 3

Persons you meet every day,

WILL DIE

OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE

or some trouble of the kidneys, urinary or female organs.

THIS IS STARTLING, BUT IT IS TRUE.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

In such a serious condition you must secure the best remedy you can find in the market

AT ONCE.

There is only one absolutely sure cure for these troubles, and that is

Warner's Safe Cure

"It has stood the test of time."

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY
BEYOND ANY QUESTION THE BEST AND SHORTEST LINE TO CALIFORNIA
THE LAND OF SUNSHINE AND FLOWERS
LOW RATES
FAST TIME

A Through Pullman Tourist Sleeper LEAVES Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday FOR LOS ANGELES via the Maple Leaf and Santa Fe Routes, [illegible]

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN RY.

NICOLLET AVE. AND FIFTH ST., OR TENTH AND WASHINGTON AVES. SOUTH, MINNEAPOLIS. FIFTH AND ROBERT STS., OR UNION DEPOT, ST. PAUL.

Webster's International Dictionary

Invaluable in Office, School, and Home.

[illegible]

The Choicest of Gifts for Christmas.

Specimen pages sent on application to G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass., U.S.A.

OPIUM AND DRUNKENNESS [illegible]

BED-WETTING CURED OR NO PAY. Mrs. B. ROWAN, Milwaukee, Wis.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS [illegible] MASON BROS. [illegible] MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

IRISH STORIES.

Anecdotes Told in the Journals of Mr. O'Neill Daunt.

At one time Mr. Daunt was the guest of Father Burke, in whose parish one of the sanguinary tithe affrays occurred between the persons and the Catholic people. The soldiers were called on to fire on the populace, and some persons were killed. Soon afterward Father Burke received a government circular inquiring the number of his flock for the purpose of making up a census. He answered that, as he had not yet ascertained to what extent his people were thinned out on the last shooting day he could not furnish the required information with accuracy.

When the poor law was first introduced a Dublin beggar woman, whom a gentleman referred to the poor house, said-

"This poor law's a grand thing for the sowls of the gintlemen."

"Why so?"

"Bekaise, now when we axes for alms they only say, go to the poor house, but before there was a poor house they used to say, 'Go to the divil!'"

At a contested election in Galway a landlord named Foster sold his whole stock of votes for a good sum to each of the candidates. Having pocketed the money of both, he called the voters together. Foster was too generous to keep all the traffic to himself.

"Boys," he exclaimed, to his expectant serfs, "I don't care a button who you vote for. I have made the most I could of you; go and sell your vote, every man of you, to the best advantage you can."

When Mr. Hemphill was canvassing Cashel he found that a party of electors, known as "commoners," numbering some thirteen or fourteen, were notoriously corrupt and always sold their vote to the highest bidder. Their usual price was $80 per vote. Hemphill requested the priest to preach on the sin of trafficking on the franchise, and the priest complied and denounced corrupt trafficking in votes as a mortal sin. The next day Hemphill met one of the commoners, and, anxious to learn what effect the sermon had produced on these venal gentlemen, he asked the man whether he had been at mass on the previous day.

"I was, your honor."

"Was not that sermon on bribery excellent?"

"It was an elegant sermon, your honor."

"Will it do good, do you think?"

"I think it will make the election run very close, your honor."

"How so?"

"Why, we always got $80 for a vote before we knew it was a sin; but, as his reverence says we'll be damned for selling our votes, we can't for the future take less than $160."

When Lord Muskerry was dying the parson in attendance remarked that life and its vanities would soon pass away, and exhorted him to repent.

"Repent! For what should I repent?" demanded the old lord. "Why, I don't remember that during my whole life I ever denied myself anything."—New York Sun.

HEROISM IN MINES.

Instances Where Men Have Risked Their Lives to Save Others.

Never was there a mining disaster of any magnitude without several instances of individual gallantry in saving boys alone. As a colliery manager said the other day: "There may be a score of cases of that kind after a single accident and nobody be any the wiser."

"A boy told me once," he proceeded, "that after an explosion one of the men who was with him brought him along a considerable distance in the workings. At last they met the afterdamp. The lad was so terrified, so anxious to get out that he wanted to rush through and make his way to the shaft. If he had gone on he certainly would have dropped, but the man would not let him; he stopped him by force, and though the lad bit and fought like a little demon, he stuck to him and held him near the ground, so that they could breathe. How do you think he calmed the boy at last? Sang comic songs to him! Well, they had to keep where they were for about five hours, and then when the air got better the man started off and brought the youngster out safely, though once he was nearly suffocated by the afterdamp. Now, there's a case that nobody would have heard of probably if the lad hadn't happened to have told me about it."

As an instance of heroism in this direction that is known, however, I recall a story I heard near the bank of the Hyde pit after the explosion in 1889. You know that the slightest delay in flying for the shaft may mean death. In the neighborhood of Bolton, some few years ago, one man out of a party of colliers stopped behind for a minute or so to look for his son, a boy of fourteen, who was working close by. The two met, but, alas! they perished together, and were found clasped in each others arms. And paternal devotion as thus manifested has cost many a brave fellow his life.

Well, on the occasion referred to a man named Haslam brought from the workings, or met as he was scurrying along to the pit mouth, a youth about sixteen; and throughout the terrible journey he stuck to the lad with the most heroic determination. Twice the boy stumbled and fell, but the noble collier dragged him to his feet and urged him to push on with all speed. Other mishaps befell them, yet both, I rejoice to say, gained the surface alive and comparatively well.—Chums.

TOBACCO IN WILLS

Curious Testaments Left by Smokers and Anti-Smokers.

Kines, the merchant of Rotterdam, was called the king of smokers, from his devotion to the gentle weed, and he had a right regal funeral, says an exchange. By the terms of his will every smoker who chose to attend it was presented with ten pounds of tobacco and two Dutch pipes, on which were engraved the name, arms and date of the decease of the testator. All his guests were invited to be careful to keep their pipes alight during the funeral ceremonies and to empty their ashes into his grave. His oak coffin was lined with the cedar of his old Havana cigar boxes, and a packet of old Dutch tobacco was placed at the foot of his coffin. His favorite pipe was laid by his side, along with a box of matches, as well as flint and steel and some tinder, as he had expressed an opinion that "there was no knowing what might happen." Some anti-tobacconists of the period seem to have wickedly remarked that these precautions about procuring a light would be found superfluous.

The courts recently set aside a clause in the will of an anti-tobacco leaguer in Ireland. This gentleman has a prejudice against smoking, perhaps because it made him sick, and inserted this paragraph in his last testament: "I have told my sons, John, Richard and Samuel, that if they indulge in the habit they would forfeit £500 each, to be divided among their sisters, and should they at any time, begin this habit their [illegible] for £500."—New York Advertiser.

Don't Exterminate the 'Possum.

It has remained for Representative McCook of Chattahoochee to raise his voice for the protection as well as in praise of the 'possum. He insists that Georgia shall take the 'possum into her arms, so to speak, and give it a chance against its enemies. The quail, the snipe, the deer, are all the objects of tender solicitude by Mother Georgia; yet not one of them, in point of excellence from the gourmet's standpoint, are to be mentioned in the same breath with the delectable 'possum. Nevertheless, the unassuming, even bashful, 'possum is left to the tender mercies of whomsoever may go out to seek and devour it.

The 'possum has been referred to as the poor man's pig. He is more than that; he is also the hunter's pleasure and the rich man's delight. It used to be said of the late Ward McAllister, leader of the Four Hundred, that he was never so happy—so utterly at peace with himself and all the world—as when sated before a dish containing a well browned 'possum, trimmed around with sweet potatoes and garnished with a sprig of something green. He pronounced it a dish fit for any condition of man, from the herder in the fields to the king in the castle. And there is nobody who will have the temerity to assert that Ward McAllister did not know what he was talking about.—Savanna (Ga.) News.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

John C. Barber, St. Paul, Minn., car truck; George H. Herbert, Anaconda, Mont., strainer for air-brake hose couplings; Alva Hunt, St Paul, Minn., automatic grain-measuring apparatus; Leslie C. Lane, Minneapolis, Minn., seal for bottles; Francis McTaggart, Iroquois, S. D., car coupling; Arthur E. Peck, Minneapolis, Minn., bicycle saddle; Henry F. Spaulding, Canastota, S. D., grain bundle stacker; Charles E. Travis, Minneapolis, Minn., (design) bicycle brace or fork.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

It Sounds Cruel.

"How I would love," said the eldest and much the heaviest of the Sulgsby girls, "to sit on yonder snowy cloud and float across the azure empyrean. Wouldn't it be a daring experience to ride on a cloud?"

"Yes," said young Mr. Mallow, as he looked at the cloud in question, "but I'm sure you'd go through it all right." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cholly's Contribution.

"Aw, Miss Feighr," asked Chawles Algernawn Chapp, "d'ye know why it is I think you are like a mirror?"

"Give it up."

"Well, y'see, you're a—aw—a good looking lass."—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

We will forfeit $1,000 if any of our published testimonials are proven to be not genuine. The Piso Co., Warren, Pa.

Didn't Like That Kind of Milk.

Mrs. Youngmother (summering in the country)—John, I have got to send word to that farmer not to bring any more of this milk for the baby.

John—What is the matter with it?

Mrs. Youngmother—Why, there is a regular scum on it every morning.—New York World.

He Has It Still.

"Why don't you take something for that cold?"

"Great Scott! I don't want anything for it—I'd give it away if I could."—Roxbury Gazette.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

No Mirrors in the Manufactory.

Johnny—Pa, you said Mr. Piper was a self-made man, didn't you?

Pa—Yes.

Johnny—Well, he aint.

Pa—Why do you think he is not?

Johnny—Look at his red hair and freckles!—Cleveland Leader.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

An Ideal State.

She—Do you suppose his wife really supports him?

He—I judge so. He told me he did not know what real happiness meant until after he got married.—Puck.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

How He Got His Decorations.

She—Maj. Pommelwell wears three medals. I wonder why they were given him?

He—He got the third because he had the other two; the second because he had the first, and the first because he had none at all.—Washington Times.

Sharp Twinges

Only the sufferer from rheumatism can realize the agony caused by this disease. It affects the joints and muscles, which become stiff and sore and cause constant suffering. The cure for rheumatism is found in Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly purifies the blood and neutralizes the acid which causes the aches and pains. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills do not cause pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

The Sunflower and Its Uses.

The sunflower is a native of America. In 1560 it was introduced into Europe, and is now extensively cultivated there, particularly in Russia, where it has been grown for fifty years, principally for the oil contained in its seed. The seeds, after the shells are removed, contain 34 per cent of oil. The oil is clear, light-yellow, nearly odorless, and of a peculiarly pleasant and mild taste. It is said to be superior to both almond and olive oil for table purposes, and is used in making soap and candles. In Russia the larger seeds are sold in immense quantities to the lower classes of the people, who eat the kernels as we do peanuts. The stalk furnishes a valuable fertilizer, while the green leaves are dried, pulverized and mixed with meal as food for cows. The stalk produces an excellent fiber. It is said that Chinese silk goods commonly contain more or less sunflower fiber. The so-called Niger-seed oil is made from a species of the sunflower family which is a native of Abyssinia. It furnishes the common lamp oil of Upper India where it is largely cultivated.

Jumping a Straw.

Some years ago the late Roddy Owen was at Aldershot, and offered to back himself to make a horse he was riding jump a straw. Everyone laughed, and though his fondness for horses was well known, none believed that he could accomplish the feat. A long straw was brought and laid on the ground. Owen proceeded to blindfold the horse, and rode him at the mark, which the animal cleared with a bound that would have settled a five-barred gate. When he returned to collect the bets all the sportsmen had vanished.—Army and Navy Journal.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, CATARRH, ASTHMA, HEADACHE and their marvelous cure. Science of the 19th Century looks on with amazement at the most remarkable record of cures known in the World's history.

OVER 200,000 PEOPLE CURED

in the last year without a single failure by "5 Drops."

5 DROPS

As a positive cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, Swelling, La Grippe, Malaria, Creeping Numbness, etc., etc. "5 Drops" has never been equaled or surpassed, and is a pleasant, prompt and permanent cure. Though free from opiates and perfectly harmless, "5 Drops" is the most concentrated and powerful specific known. "5 Drops" can fall in no way short of what we claim, for no disease is too deeply rooted or painful to yield to this wonderful medicine, and relief is usually felt the very first night. What it has already done to relieve suffering humanity is told in letters of grateful praise from thousands of hearts once sickened and heavy with pain, now painless and happy.

G. P. Billingham, Prop. of Clinton House, Clinton, N. Y., writes: "I have been using "5 Drops" for Rheumatism for three weeks, having been troubled five years. To-day I am as well as ever in my life, and gladly recommend it to all sufferers from that terrible disease, for it is a positive cure."

J. J. Jones, of Douglas, Kansas, says: "You have the best nerve remedy on the face of God's green earth. I want the agency without fail."

Elijah Davis, of Buttersville, Ind., writes: "My wife was in bed six months with acute neuralgia. She tried every kind of medicine and several doctors, but all to no effect. Thank God your wonderful "5 Drops" cured her, for in three weeks after she commenced using it, she was out of bed and going about."

Peter Lorenzo, of Lindstrom, Minn., writes: "Within two months I have sold over 400 bottles, which were used in every kind of disease, but have received no complaints. It is the greatest household remedy in the world, and gives wonderful satisfaction."

If you have not confidence enough after reading the above letters to send for a $1.00 bottle, send for a sample, which contains ample medicine to convince you of its merit.

"5 Drops" taken but once a day is the dose of this great remedy, and to more quickly introduce it, we will send, for 30 days, prepaid by mail, our 25-cent sample bottle for 10 cents. If suffering, don't delay, but write today. Large bottle (300 doses) $1.00, 6 bottles for $5.00. Not sold by druggists, only by us and our agents. Agents wanted.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE CO., 167-169 Dearborn-st., Chicago, Ill.

STOP! .... Don't Let .... Constipation Kill You!

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

THE MOST WONDERFUL, RELIABLE AND EFFECTIVE MEDICINE • EVER • DISCOVERED.

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED to cure any case of constipation. Cascarets are the Ideal Laxative, never grip or gripe, but cause easy natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York.

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI | ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 9, 1896. | NUMBER 19.

TALKS TO CONGRESS.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND SENDS IN HIS LAST ANNUAL MESSAGE.

The Affairs of the Government and the Workings of the Various Departments Are Reviewed—The Cuban Question Discussed at Length—Reforms in the Financial System Are Urged.

Washington, Dec. 7.—The Message to the Congress of the United States: As representatives of the people in the legislative branch of their government, you have assembled at a time when the strength and excellence of our free institutions and the fitness of our citizens to enjoy popular rule have been again made manifest. A political contest involving momentous consequences, fraught with feverish apprehension, and creating aggressiveness so intense as to approach bitterness has been waged throughout our land and determined by the decree of free and independent suffrage, without disturbance of our tranquility or the least sign of weakness in our national structure.

When we consider these incidents and contemplate the peaceful obedience and manly submission which have succeeded a heated clash of political opinions, we discover abundant evidence of a determination on the part of our countrymen to abide by every verdict of the popular will, and to be controlled at all times by an abiding faith in the agencies established for the direction of the affairs of their government. Thus our people exhibit a patriotic disposition which entitles them to demand of those who undertake to make and execute their laws such faithful and unselfish service in their behalf as can only be prompted by a serious appreciation of the trust and confidence which the acceptance of public duty invites.

TURKEY ON TOAST.

The Massacre of Armenians Is Denounced in no Uncertain Terms.

In obedience to a constitutional requirement I hereby submit to the congress certain information concerning national affairs with the suggestion of such legislation as in my judgment is necessary and expedient. To secure brevity and avoid tiresome narration I shall omit many details concerning matters within federal control which by no means unimportant are more profitably discussed in department reports. I shall also further curtail this communication by omitting a minute recital of many minor incidents connected with our foreign relations which have heretofore found a place in executive messages but are not contained in a report of the treasury of state which is herewith submitted.

At the outset of a reference to the more important matters not effecting our relations with foreign powers, it would afford me satisfaction if I could assure the congress that the disturbed condition in Asiatic Turkey had during the past year assumed a less hideous and bloody aspect, and that either as a consequence of the awakening of the Turkish government to the demand of humane civilization, or as the result of decisive action on the part of the great nations having the right by treaty to interfere for the protection of those exposed to the rage of mad bigotry and cruel fanaticism, the shocking features of the situation had been mitigated. Instead, however, of welcoming a softened disposition or protective intervention, we have been afflicted by continued and not infrequent reports of the wanton destruction of homes and the bloody butchery of men, women and children, made martyrs to their profession of Christian faith.

Several naval vessels are stationed in the Mediterranean as a measure of caution and to furnish all possible relief and refuge in case of emergency. We have made claims against the Turkish government for the pillage and destruction of missionary property at Harpoot and Marash during uprisings at those places. Thus far the validity of these demands has not been admitted, though our minister, prior to such rages and in anticipation of danger, demanded protection for the persons and property of our missionary citizens in the localities mentioned, and notwithstanding that strong evidence exists of actual complicity of Turkish troops in the work of destruction and robbery. The facts as they now appear do not permit to doubt the justice of these claims and nothing will be omitted to bring about their prompt settlement.

I do not believe that the present sombre prospect in Turkey will be long permitted to offend the sight of christendom. It so mars the humane and enlightened civilization that belongs to the close of the nineteenth century that it seems hardly possible that the earnest demand of good people throughout the Christian world for its corrective treatment will remain unanswered.

AS TO CUBA.

Should Spain Be Unable to Conquer, America May Act.

The insurrection in Cuba still continues, with all its perplexities. It is difficult to perceive that any progress has thus far been made toward the pacification of the island or that the situation of affairs as depicted in my last annual message is in the least improved. If Spain still holds Havana and the seaports, and all the considerable towns, the insurgents still roam at will over two-thirds of the inland country; if the determination of Spain to put down the insurrection seems but to strengthen with the lapse of time, and is evinced by her unhesitating devotion of largely-increased military and naval forces to the task, there is much reason to believe that the insurgents have gained in point of numbers, character and resources, and are none the less inflexible in their resolve not to succumb without practically securing the great objects for which they took up arms. If Spain has not yet re-established her authority, neither have the insurgents yet made good their title to be regarded as an independent state. Indeed, as the contest goes on, the pretense that civil government exists on the island, except so far as Spain is able to maintain it, has been practically abandoned. Spain does keep on foot such a government, more or less imperfectly, but, that exception being made, the entire country is either given over to anarchy or is subject to the military occupation of one or the other party.

It is reported, indeed, on reliable authority, that, at the demand of the commander-in-chief of the insurgent army, the putative Cuban government has now given up all attempt to exercise its functions, leaving the government confessedly (what there is the best reason for supposing it always to have been in fact) a government merely on paper. Were the Spanish armies able to meet their antagonists in the open or in pitched battle, prompt and decisive results might be looked for, and the immense superiority of the Spanish forces in numbers, discipline and equipment could hardly fail to tell greatly to their advantage. But they are called upon to face a foe that shuns general engagements, and that can choose, and does choose, its own ground, that, from the nature of the country is visible or invisible at pleasure, and that fights only from ambuscade and when all the advantages of position and numbers are on its side. In a country where all that is indispensible to life in the way of food, clothing and shelter is so easily obtainable, especially by those born and bred on the soil, it is obvious that there is hardly a limit to the time during which hostilities of this sort may be prolonged. Meanwhile, as in all cases of protracted civil strife, the passions of the combatants grow more and more inflamed, and excess on both sides becomes more frequent and deplorable. They are also participated in by bands of marauders, who now in the name of one party and now in the name of the other, as may best suit the occasion, harry the country at will and plunder its wretched inhabitants for their own advantage. Such a condition of things would inevitably entail immense destruction of property, even if it were the policy of both parties to prevent it as far as practicable. But, while such seems to be the original policy of the Spanish government, it has now, apparently, abandoned it, and is acting upon the same theory as the insurgents, namely, that the exigencies of the contest require the wholesale annihilation of property, that it may not prove of use and advantage to the enemy.

It is to the same end, and in pursuance of general orders, that Spanish garrisons are now being withdrawn from plantations and the rural population required to concentrate itself in the towns. The sure result would seem to be that the industrial value of the island is fast diminishing, and that, unless there is a speedy and radical change in existing conditions, it will soon disappear altogether. That value consists very largely, of course, in its capacity to produce sugar, a capacity already much reduced by the interruptions to the tillage which have taken place during the last two years. It is reliably asserted that, should these interruptions continue during the current year, and practically extend, as is now threatened, to the entire sugar-producing territory of the island, so much time and so much money will be required to restore the island to its normal productiveness, that it is extremely doubtful if capital can be induced to even make the attempt. The spectacle of the utter ruin of an adjoining country, by nature one of the most fertile and charming on the globe, would engage the serious attention of the government and the people of the United States under any circumstances. In point of fact, they have a concern with it which is by no means of a wholly sentimental or philanthropic character. It lies so near to us as to be hardly separated from our territory. Our actual pecuniary interest in it is only second to that of the people and government of Spain. It is reasonably estimated that at least from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 of American capital are invested in plantations, and in railroad, mining and other business enterprises in the island. The volume of trade between the United States and Cuba, which in 1889 amounted to about $80,000,000, rose in 1893 to about $103,000,000, and in 1894, the year before the present insurrection broke out, amounted to nearly $96,000,000. Besides this large pecuniary stake in the fortunes of Cuba, the United States finds itself in the present contest in other ways both vexatious and costly. Many Cubans reside in this country, and indirectly promote the insurrection throughout the press, by public meetings, by the purchase and shipment of arms, by the raising of funds, and by other means, which the spirit of our institutions and the tenor of our laws do not permit to be made the subject of criminal prosecution. Some of them, though Cubans at heart and in all their feelings and interests, have taken out papers of naturalized citizens of the United States, a proceeding resorted to with a view to possible protection by this government, and not unnaturally regarded with much indignation by the country of their origin. The insurgents are undoubtedly encouraged and supported by the widespread sympathy the people of this country always and instinctively felt, for every struggle for better and freer government, and which in the case of the more adventurous and restless elements of our population leads in only too many instances to active participation in the contest. The result is that this government is constantly called upon to protect American citizens, to claim damages for injuries to persons and property now estimated at many millions of dollars, and to ask explanations and apologies for the acts of Spanish officials whose zeal for the repression of the rebellion sometimes blinds them to the immunities belonging to the unoffending citizens of a friendly power. It follows from the same causes that the United States is compelled to actively police a long line of sea coast against unlawful expeditions, the escape of which the utmost vigilance will not always suffice to prevent.

Inextricably Involved

These invariable entanglements of the United States with the rebellion in Cuba, the large American property interests affected, and considerations of philanthropy and humanity in general, have led to a vehement demand in various quarters, for some sort of positive intervention on the part of the United States. It was at first proposed that belligerent rights should be accorded to the insurgents—a proposition no longer urged because untimely and in practical operation clearly perilous and injurious to our own interest. It has since been and is now sometimes contended that the independence of the insurgents should be recognized. But imperfect and restricted as the Spanish government of the island may be, no other exist there—unless the will of the military officer in temporary command of a particular district, can be dignified as a species of government. It is now also suggested that the United States should buy the island—a suggestion possibly worthy of consideration if there were any evidence of a desire or willingness on the part of Spain to entertain such a proposal. It is urged, finally, that, all other methods failing, the existing internecine strife in Cuba should be terminated by our intervention, even at the cost of a war between the United States and Spain—a war which its advocates confidently prophesy could be neither large in its proportions nor doubtful in its issue.

The correctness of this forecast need be neither affirmed nor denied. The United States has nevertheless a character to maintain as a nation, which plainly dictates that right and not might should be the rule of its conduct.

Further, though the United States is not a nation to which peace is a necessity, it is in truth the most pacific of powers, and desires nothing so much as to live in amity with all the world. Its own ample and diversified domains satisfy all possible longings for territory, preclude all dreams of conquest, and prevent any casting of covetous eyes upon neighboring regions, however attractive. That our conduct towards Spain and her dominions has constituted no exception to this national disposition is made manifest by the course of our government, not only thus far during the present insurrection, but during the ten years that followed the rising at Yara in 1868.

No other great power, it may safely be said, under circumstances of similar perplexity would have manifested the same restraint and the same patient endurance. It may also be said that this persistent attitude of the United States towards Spain in connection with Cuba unquestionably evinces no slight respect and regard for Spain on the part of the American people. They, in truth, do not forget her connection with the discovery of the Western hemisphere, nor do they under estimate the great qualities of the Spanish people, nor fail to fully recognize their splendid patriotism and their chivalrous devotion to the national honor.

They view with wonder and admiration the cheerful resolution with which vast bodies of men are sent across thousands of miles of ocean and enormous debt accumulated that the costly possessions of the gem of the Atilles may still hold its place in the Spanish crown. And if neither the government nor the people of the United States have shut their eyes to the course of events in Cuba or have failed to realize the existence of conceded grievances which have led to the present revolt from the authority of Spain—grievances recognized by the queen regent and by the cortes, voiced by the most patriotic and enlightened of Spanish statesmen, without regard to party and demonstrated by reforms proposed by the executive and approved by the legislative branch of the Spanish government. It is in the assured temper and disposition of the Spanish government to remedy these grievances, fortified by indications of influential public opinion in Spain, that this government has hoped to discover the most promising and effective means of composing the present strife, with honor and advantage to Spain, and with the achievement of all the reasonable objects of the insurrection.

It would seem that if Spain should offer to Cuba genuine autonomy—a measure of home rule, which, while preserving the sovereignty of Spain, would satisfy all rational requirements of her Spanish subjects—there should be no just reason why the pacification of the island might not be effected on that basis. Such a result would appear to be in the true interest of all concerned. It would at once stop the conflict which is now consuming the resources of the island and making it worthless for whichever party may ultimately prevail. It would keep intact the possessions of Spain without touching her honor, which will be consulted rather than impugned by the adequate redress of admitted grievances. It would put the prosperity of the island and the fortunes of its inhabitants within their own control, without severing the natural and ancient ties which bind them to the mother country, and would yet enable them to test their capacity for self-government under the most favorable conditions.

Offers of Intervention Ignored.

It has been objected on the one side that Spain should not promise autonomy until her insurgent subjects lay down their arms; on the other side, that promised autonomy, however liberal and insufficient, because without assurance of the promise being fulfilled, but the reasonableness of a requirement by Spain of unconditional surrender on the part of the insurgent Cubans before their autonomy is conceded, is not altogether apparent. It ignores important features of the situation—the stability two years duration has given to the insurrection; the feasibility of its indefinite prolongation in the nature of things, and as shown by past experience; the utter and imminent ruin of the island, unless the present strife is speedily composed; above all, the rank abuses which all parties in Spain, all branches of her governments and all her leading public men concede to exist and profess a desire to remove.

Facing such circumstances, to withhold the profer of needed reforms until the parties demanding them put themselves at mercy by throwing down their arms, has the appearance of neglecting the gravest perils and involving suspicion as to the sincerity of any professed willingness to grant reforms. The objection on behalf of the insurgents—that promised reforms cannot be relied upon—must be, of course, considered, though we have no right to assume and no reason for assuming that anything Spain undertakes to do for the relief of Cuba will not be done according to both the spirit and the letter of the undertaking.

Nevertheless, realizing that suspicions and precautions on the part of the weaker of two combatants are always natural, and not always unjustifiable—being sincerely desirous in the interest of both as well as on its own account that the Cuban problem should be solved with the least possible delay—it was intimated by this government to the government of Spain some months ago that, if a satisfactory measure of home rule were tendered the Cuban insurgents, and would be accepted by them upon a guaranty of its execution, the United States would endeavor to find a way not objectionable to Spain or furnishing such guaranty.

While no definite response to this intimation has yet been received from the Spanish government, it is believed to be not altogether unwelcome, while, as already suggested, no reason is perceived why it should not be approved by the insurgents. Neither party can fail to see the importance of early action and both must realize that to prolong the present state of things for even a short period will add enormously to the time and labor and expenditure necessary to bring about the industrial recuperation of the island. It is therefore earnestly hoped on all grounds that earnest efforts for healing the breach between Spain and the insurgent Cubans upon the lines above indicated may be at once inaugurated and pushed to an immediate and successful issue. The friendly offices of the United States, either in the manner above outlined or in any other way consistent with our constitution and laws, will always be at the disposal of either party.

Whatever circumstances may arise our policy and our interests would constrain us to object to the acquisition of the island or any interference with its control by any other power. It should be added that it cannot be reasonably assumed that the hitherto expectant attitude of the United States will be indefinitely maintained. While we are anxious to accord all due respect to the sovereignty of Spain, we cannot view the pending conflict in all its features, and properly apprehend our inevitably close relations to it and its possible results, without considering that by the course of events we may be drawn into such an unusual and unprecedented condition as will fix a limit to our patient waiting for Spain to end the contest, either alone and in her own way, or with our friendly co-operation. When the inability of Spain to deal successfully with the insurrection has become manifest, and it is demonstrated that her sovereignty is extinct in Cuba for all purposes of its rightful existence, and when a hopeless struggle for its re-establishment has degenerated into a strife which means nothing more than the useless sacrifice of human life and the utter destruction of the very subject matter of the conflict, a situation will be presented in which our obligations to the sovereignty of Spain will be superseded by higher obligations, which we can hardly hesitate to recognize and discharge.

Deferring the choice of ways and methods until the time for action arrives, we should make them depend upon the precise conditions then existing; and they should not be determined upon without giving careful heed to every consideration involving our honor and interest, or the international duty we owe to Spain. Until we face the contingency suggested, or the situation is by other incidents imperatively changed, we should continue in the line of conduct hitherto pursued, thus in all circumstances exhibiting our obedience to the requirements of public law and our regard for the duty enjoined upon us by the position we occupy in the family of nations.

A contemplation of emergencies that may arise should plainly lead us to avoid their creation, either through a careless disregard of present duty or even an undue stimulation and ill-timed expression of feeling. But I have deemed it not amiss to remind the congress that a time may arise when a correct policy and care for our interests as well as a regard for the interests of other nations and their citizens, joined by considerations of humanity and a desire to see a rich and fertile country intimately related to us, saved from complete devastation, will constrain our government to such action as will subserve the interests thus involved, and at the same time promise to Cuba and its inhabitants an opportunity to enjoy the blessings of peace.

VENEZUELA BOUNDARY.

The Trouble Is Regarded as Practically Settled.

The Venezuelan boundary question has ceased to be a matter of difference between Great Britain and the United States, their respective governments having agreed upon the substantial provisions of a treaty between Great Britain and Venezuela, submitting the whole controversy to arbitration. The provisions of the treaty are so eminently fair and just that the assent of Venezuela thereto may confidently be anticipated. Negotiations for a treaty of general arbitration for all differences between Great Britain and the United States are so far advanced and promise to reach a successful confirmation at an early date.

We have during the last year labored faithfully and against unfavorable conditions, to secure better preservation of seal life in the Bering sea. Both the United States and Great Britain have lately dispatched commissioners to these waters to study the habits and condition of the seal herd and the causes of their rapid decrease. Upon the reports of these commissioners soon to be submitted, and with the exercise of patience and good sense on the part of all interested parties, it is earnestly hoped that hearty co-operation may be secured for the protection against threatened extinction of seal life in the Northern Pacific and Bering sea.

THE COUNTRY'S FINANCES.

Deficit During the Year of Over Twenty-five Million Dollars.

The secretary of the treasury reports that during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1896, the receipts of the government from all sources amounted to $409,475,408. During the same period its expenditures were $434,678,654.48, the excess of expenditures over receipts thus amounting to $25,203,245.70. The ordinary expenditures during the year were $4,015,852.21 less than during the preceding fiscal year. Of the receipts mentioned, there was derived from customs the sum of $180,021,751.67, and from internal revenue $146,830,615.66. The receipts from customs show an increase of $7,863,134.22 over those from the same source for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, and the receipts from internal revenue, an increase of $3,584,537.01.

The value of our imported dutiable merchandise during the last fiscal year was $369,757,470, and the value of free goods imported $400,967,470, being an increase of $6,523,675 in the value of dutiable goods and $41,231,034 in the value of free goods over the preceding year. Our exports of merchandise, foreign and domestic, amounted in value to $882,606,938, being an increase over the preceding year of $75,068,773. The average ad valorum duty paid on dutiable goods imported during the year was 39.94 per cent and on free and dutiable goods taken together 20.55 per cent. The cost of collecting our internal revenue was 2.78 per cent, as against 2.81 per cent for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895. The total production of distilled spirits, exclusive of fruit brandies, was 86,588,703 taxable gallons, being an increase of 6,639,108 gallons over the preceding year. There was also an increase of 1,443,676 gallons of spirits, produced from fruit, as compared with the preceding year. The number of barrels of beer produced was 35,859,250, as against 33,589,784 produced in the preceding fiscal year, being an increase of 2,269,466 barrels.

The total amount of gold exported during the last fiscal year was $112,409,947 and of silver $60,541,670, an increase of $45,941,466 of gold and $13,246,384 of silver over the exportations of the preceding fiscal year. The imports of gold were $33,525,065 and of silver $28,777,186, being $2,859,695 less of gold, and $8,566,007 more of silver than during the preceding year. The total stock of metallic money in the United States at the close of the last fiscal year, ended on the 30th day of June, 1896, was $1,228,326,035, of which $599,597,964 was in gold, and $628,728,071 in silver.

On the first day of November, 1896, the total stock of money of all kinds in the country was $2,285,410,590 and the amount in circulation not including that in the treasury holdings was $1,627,055,641; being $22.63 per capita upon an estimated population of 71,902,000.

WAR DEPARTMENT.

The Exhibit Made by the Secretary Is Regarded as Satisfactory.

The report of the secretary of war exhibits satisfactory conditions in the several branches of the public service intrusted to his charge. The limit of our military force as fixed by law is constantly and readily maintained. The present discipline and morals of our army are excellent and marked progress and efficiency are apparent throughout its entire organization.

With the exception of delicate duties in the suppression of slight Indian disturbances along our Southwestern boundary, in which the Mexican troops co-operated and the compulsory but peaceful return, with the consent of Great Britain, of a band of Cree Indians from Montana to the British possessions, no active operations have been required by the army during the year past. The organized militia numbers 112,879 men. The appropriations for its support by the several states approximate $2,800,000 annually, and $400,000 is contributed by the general government. Investigation shows these troops to be usually drilled and inspired with much military interest, but in many instances they are so deficient in proper arms and equipment that a sudden call to active duty would find them inadequately prepared for field service. I therefore recommend that prompt measures be taken to remedy this condition and that every encouragement be given to this deserving body of unpaid and voluntary citizen soldiers, upon whose assistance we must largely rely in time of trouble.

We should always keep in mind that military preparation is alone essentially pacific in its nature. While it gives the sense of security due to a consciousness of strength, it is neither the purpose nor the effect of such permanent fortification to involve us in foreign complications, but rather to guarantee us against them. They are not temptation to war, but security against it. They are thoroughly in accord with all the traditions of our national diplomacy.

POSTOFFICES AND POST ROADS.

Greater Increase in Receipts than in Expenditures.

Our postoffice department is in good condition and the exhibit made of its operations during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, if allowance is made for imperfections in the laws applicable to it, is very satisfactory. The total receipts during the year were $82,499,208.40. The total expenditures were $90,626,296.48, exclusive of $1,559,898.27, which was earned by the Pacific railroad for transportation, and credited on their debt to the government. There was an increase of receipts over the previous year of $5,516,080.21, or 7.1 per cent, and an increase of expenditures of $3,836,124.02 or 4.42 per cent.

The deficit was $1,679,056.19 less than that of the preceding year. The chief expenditures of the postal service are regulated by law and are not in the control of the postmaster general. All that he can accomplish by the most watchful administration and economy is to enforce prompt and thorough collection and accounting for public moneys and such minor savings in small expenditures and in letting those contracts for postoffice supplies and star service which are not regulated by statute.

The deficit for the last year, although much less than that of the last and preceding years, emphasizes the necessity for legislation to correct the growing abuse of second-class rates, to which the deficiency is mainly attributable.

Some Recommendations.

I recommended that legislation be at once enacted to correct these abuses and introduce better business ideas in the regulation of our postal rates. Experience and observation have demonstrated that certain improvements in the organization of the postoffice department must be secured before we can gain the full benefit of the immense sums expended in its administration. This involves the following reforms, which I earnestly recommend:

There should be a small addition to the existing inspector service, to be employed in the supervision of the carrier force, which now numbers 13,000 men and performs its service practically without the surveillance exercised over all other branches of the postal or public service. Of course such a lack of supervision and freedom from wholesome disciplinary restraints must inevitably lead to imperfect service. There should also be appointed a few inspectors who should assist the central office in necessary investigation concerning matters of postoffice leases, postoffice sites, allowances for rent, fuel and lights and in organizing and securing the best results from the work of the 14,000 clerks now employed in first and second-class offices. I am convinced that the small expense attending the inauguration of these reforms would actually be a profitable investment. I especially recommend such a recasting of the appropriations by congress for the postoffice department as will permit the postmaster general to proceed with the work of consolidating postoffices. This work has already been entered upon sufficiently to fully demonstrate by experiment and experience that such consolidation is productive of better service, larger revenues and less expenditures, to say nothing of the further advantage of gradually withdrawing postoffices from the spoils system.

OUR NEW NAVY.

Ships the Best That Can Be Built in Any Country.

The work of the navy department and its condition, are fully exhibited in the report of the secretary. The construction of vessels for our new navy has been energetically prosecuted by the present administration, upon the general lines previously adopted, the department having seen no necessity for radical changes in prior methods under which the work was found to be progressing in a manner highly satisfactory. It has been decided, however, to provide in every shipbuilding contract that the builder should pay all trial expenses, and it has also been determined to pay no speed premiums in further contracts. The premiums recently earned and some yet to be decided are features of the contracts made before this conclusion was reached.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

The Remainder of Our Public Land Should be Carefully Guarded.

The report of the secretary of the interior presents a comprehensive and interesting exhibit of the numerous and important affairs committed to his supervision. It is impossible in this communication to do more than briefly refer to a few of the subjects concerning which the secretary gives full and instructive information. The money appropriated on account of this department for its disbursement for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1896, amounted to more than $157,000,000, or a greater sum than was appropriated for the entire maintenance of the government for the two fiscal years ended June 30, 1861.

Our public lands, originally amounting to 1,840,000,000 acres, have been reduced that only about 600,000,000 acres still remain in government control, excluding Alaska, the balance being by far the most valuable portion, has been given away to settlers, to new states and to railroads, or sold at a comparatively nominal sum. The patenting of land in execution of railroad grants has progressed rapidly during the year, and since the 4th day of March, 1893, about 25,000,000 acres have thus been conveyed to these corporations. I agree with the secretary that the remainder of our public lands should be more carefully dealt with, and their alienation guarded by better economy and greater prudence.

Pensions.

The diminution of our enormous pension roll and the decrease of pension expenditure which have been so often confidently foretold, still fail in material realization. The number of pensioners on the rolls at the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1896, was 970,678. This is the largest number ever reported. The amount paid exclusively for the pensions during the year was $138,214,761.94, a slight decrease from that of the preceding year, while the total expenditures on account of pensions, including the cost of maintaining the department and expenses attending pensions distribution amounted to $142,206,550.59, or within a very small fraction of one-third of the entire expense of supporting the government during the same year. The number of new pension certificates issued was 90,640. Of these 40,374 represent original allowances of claims and 15,878 increase of existing pensions.

The number of persons receiving pensions from the United States, but residing in foreign countries at the close of the last fiscal year, was 3,781, and the amount paid to them during the year was $582,735.38. The sum appropriated for the payment of pensions for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1897, is $140,000,000, and for the succeeding year it is estimated that the same amount will be necessary. The commissioner of pensions reports that during the last fiscal year 335 indictments were found against violations of the pension laws. Upon these indictments 167 convictions resulted.

In my opinion such statements as these and such other information and observation show that the abuses which have been allowed to creep into our pension system have done incalculable harm in demoralizing our people and undermining good citizenship. I have endeavored within my sphere of official duty to protect our pension roll and make it what it should be, a roll of honor, containing the names of those disabled in their country's service and worthy of their country's affectionate remembrance.

When I have seen those who pose as the soldiers' friends, active and alert in urging greater laxity and more reckless pension expenditure, while nursing selfish schemes, I have deprecated the approach of a situation when necessary retrenchment and enforced economy may lead to an attack upon pension abuses, so determined as to overlook the discrimination due to those who, worthy of a nation's care, ought to live and die under the protection of a nation's gratitude.

FARMER MORTON'S WORK.

The Government Should Encourage the Agricultural Department.

The department of agriculture is so intimately related to the welfare of our people and the prosperity of our nation that it should constantly receive the care and encouragement of the government. From a small beginning, it has grown to be the center of agricultural science and the source of assistance to our agricultural efforts. Large sums are annually appropriated for the maintenance of this department and it must be confessed that the legislation relating to it has not always been in the direction of practical farming, or properly guarded against waste or extravagance. So far, however, the public money has been appropriated fairly and sensibly to help those who actually till the soil, and no expenditure has been more profitably made or more generally approved by the people.

In my opinion the gratuitous distribution of seeds by the department as at present conducted ought to be discontinued. No one can read the statement of the secretary on this subject and doubt the extravagance and questionable results of this practice. The professed friends of the farmer, and certainly the farmers themselves, are naturally expecting to be willing to rid a department devoted to the promotion of farming interests of a feature which tends so much to its discredit.

The weather bureau now attached to the department of agriculture, has continued to extend its sphere of usefulness, and by an uninterrupted improvement in the accuracy of its forecasts has greatly increased its efficiency as an aid and protection to all whose occupations are related to weather conditions.

Omitting further reference to the operations of the department, I commend the secretary's report and the suggestions it contains to the careful consideration of the congress.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The Country Congratulated Upon the Progress Made in the Reform.

The progress made in civil service reform furnishes a cause for the utmost congratulations. It has survived the doubts of its friends as well as the rancor of its enemies and has gained a permanent place among the agencies destined to cleanse our politics and improve, economize and elevate the public service. There are now in the competitive classified service upward of 84,000 places. More than half of these have been included from time to time since March 4, 1893. A most radical and sweeping extension was made by executive order dated May 6, 1896, and if fourth-class postmasterships are not included in the statement it may be said that practically all positions contemplated by the civil service law are now classified. Abundant reasons exist for including these postmasterships, based upon economy, improved service and the peace and quiet of neighborhoods. If, however, obstacles prevent such action at present, I earnestly hope that congress will, without increasing postoffice appropriations, so adjust them as to permit in proper cases a consolidation of these postoffices, to the end that through this process the result desired may to a limited extent be accomplished.

The annual report of the commissioner will be duly translated, and I commend the important matter they have in charge to the careful consideration of the congress.

Interstate Commerce.

The interstate commerce commission has, during the last year, supplied abundant evidence of its usefulness and the importance of the work committed to its charge. Public transportation is a universal necessity, and the question of just and reasonable charges therefor has become of vital importance, not only to shippers and carriers, but also to the vast multitude of producers and consumers. The justice and equity of the principles embodied in the existing law passed for the purpose of regulating these charges are everywhere conceded, and there appears to be no question that the policy thus entered upon has a permanent place in our legislation. As the present statute when enacted was, in the nature of the case, more or less tentative and experimental, it was hardly expected to supply a complete and adequate system. While its wholesome effects are manifest and have amply justified its enactment, it is evident that all desired reforms in transportation methods have not been fully accomplished.

In view of the judicial interpretation which some provisions of this statute have been received and the defects disclosed by the efforts made for its enforcement its revision and amendment appear to be essential to the end that it may more effectually reach the evils more desired to be corrected. I hope the recommendation of the commission upon this subject will be promptly and favorably considered by the congress.

THE TARIFF.

He Believes That the Wilson Bill Should Be Given a Better Trial.

I desire to recur to the statements elsewhere made concerning the government's receipts and expenditures for the purpose of venturing upon some suggestions touching our present tariff law and its operation. This statute took effect on the 28th day of August, 1894. Whatever may be its shortcomings as a complete measure of tariff reform, it must be conceded that it has opened the way to a freer and greater exchange of commodities between us and other countries and thus furnished a wider market for our products and manufacturing.

The only entire fiscal year during which this law has been in force ended on the 30th day of June, 1896. In that year our imports increased over those of the previous year more than $6,500,000, while the value of the domestic products we exported and which found markets abroad was nearly $70,000,000 more than during the preceding year.

Those who insist that the cost to our people of articles coming to them from abroad for their needful use should only be increased through tariff charges to an extent necessary to meet the expenses of the government, as well as those who claim that tariff charges may be laid upon such articles beyond the necessities of government revenue, and with the additional purpose of so increasing their price in our markets as to give American manufacturers and producers better and more profitable opportunities, must agree that our tariff laws are only primarily justified as sources of revenue to enable the government to meet the necessary expenses of its maintenance. Considered as to its sufficiency in this aspect, the present law can by no means fall under just condemnation. During the only complete fiscal year of its operation it has yielded nearly $8,000,000 more revenue than was received from tariff duties in the preceding year. There was, nevertheless, a deficit between our receipts and expenditures of a little more than $25,000,000. This, however, was not unexpected.

The situation was such in December, seven months before the close of the fiscal year, that the secretary of the treasury foretold a deficiency of $17,000,000. The great and increasing apprehension and timidity in business circles and the depression in all activities intervening since that time, resulting from causes perfectly well understood and entirely disconnected with our tariff law or its operation, seriously checked the imports we would have otherwise received, and readily accounted for the difference between the estimate of the secretary and the actual deficiency, as well as for a continued deficit. Indeed, it must be confessed that we could hardly have had a more unfavorable period than the last two years for the collection of tariff revenue. We cannot reasonably hope that our recuperation from this business depression will be sudden; but it has already set in, with a promise of acceleration and continuance. I believe our present tariff law, if allowed a fair opportunity, will, in the near future, yield a revenue which, with reasonable economical expenditures, will overcome all deficiencies. In the meantime, no deficit that has occurred or may occur need excite or disturb us.

To meet any such deficit we have in the treasury, in addition to a gold reserve of $100,000,000, a surplus of more than $128,000,000 applicable to the payment of the expenses of the government, and which must, unless expended for that purpose, remain a useless board, or, if not extravagantly wasted, must in any event be perverted from the purpose of its exaction from our people. The payment, therefore, of any deficiency of revenue from this fund, is nothing but its proper and legitimate use. The government thus applying a surplus, fortunately in its treasury, to the payment of expenses not met by its current revenues, is not at all to be likened to a man living beyond his income, and thus incurring debt or encroaching on his principal. It is not one of the functions of our government to accumulate and make additions to a fund not needed for immediate expenditure. With individuals, it is the chief object of struggle and effort. The application of an accumulated fund by the government to the payment of its running expenses is a duty. An individual living beyond his income and embarrassing himself with debt, or drawing upon his accumulated fund of principal, is either unfortunate or improvident. The distinction is between a government charged with the duty of expending, for the benefit of the people, and for proper purposes, all the money it receives from any source, and the individual who is expected to manifest a natural desire to avoid debt or to accumulate as much as possible and to live within the income derived from such accumulations, to the end that they may be increased or at least remain unimpaired for the future use and enjoyment of himself and the objects of his love and affection who may survive him.

It is immeasurably better to appropriate our surplus to the payment of justifiable expenses than to allow it to become an invitation to reckless appropriations and extravagant expenditures, I suppose that it will not be denied that under the present law our people obtain the necessaries of a comfortable existence at a cheaper rate than formerly. This is a matter of supreme importance, since it is the palpable duty of every just government to make the burdens of taxation as light as possible. The people should not be required to relinquish their privilege of cheap living except under the stress of their government's necessity made plainly manifest.

FINANCIAL REFORM.

Congress Is Again Urgently Requested to Take Action.

This reference to the condition and prospects of our revenues naturally suggests an allusion to the weakness and vices of our financial methods. They have been frequently pressed upon the attention of congress in previous executive communications, and the inevitable danger of their continued toleration pointed out. Without now repeating these details, I cannot refrain from again earnestly presenting the necessity of the prompt reform of a system opposed to every principle of sound finance and shown by experience to be fraught with the gravest peril and perplexity. The terrible civil war which shook the foundations of our government more than thirty years ago brought in its train the destruction of property. The wasting of our country's substance and the estrangement of brethren. These are now past and forgotten. Even the distressing loss of life and conflict entailed is but a sacred memory, which fosters patriotic sentiment and keeps alive a tender regard for those who nobly died. And yet there remains with us to-day, in full strength and activity, as an incident of that tremendous struggle, a feature of its financial necessities not only unsuited to our present circumstances, but manifestly a disturbing menace to business security and an ever-present agent of monetary distress. Because we may be enjoying a temporary relief from its depressing influence, this should not lull us into a false security, nor lead us to forget the suddenness of past visitations.

I am more convinced than ever that we can have no assured financial peace and safety until the government currency obligations upon which gold may be demanded from the treasury are withdrawn from circulation and canceled. This might be done, as has been heretofore recommended, by their exchange for long-term bonds bearing a low rate of interest or by their redemption with the proceeds of such bonds. Even if only the United States notes, known as greenbacks, were thus retired, it is probable that the treasury notes issued in payment of silver purchases under the act of July 14, 1890, now paid in gold when demanded, would not create much disturbance, as they might from time to time when received in the treasury by redemption in gold or otherwise by gradually and prudently replaced by silver coin.

This plan of issuing bonds for the purpose of redemption certainly appears to be the most effective and direct path to the needed reform.

In default of this, however, it would be a step in the right direction if currency obligations redeemable in gold, whenever so redeemed should be cancelled instead of being reissued. This operation would be a slow remedy, but it would improve present conditions.

National banks should redeem their own notes. They should be allowed to issue circulation to the par value of bonds deposited as security for its redemption, and the tax on their circulation should be reduced to one-fourth of 1 per cent.

In considering projects for the retirement of United States notes and treasury notes issued under the law of 1890, I am of the opinion that we have placed too much stress upon the danger of contracting the currency and have calculated too little upon the gold that would be added to our circulation if invited to us by better and safer financial methods. It is not so much a contraction of our currency that should be avoided as its unequal distribution. This might be obviated, and any fear of harmful contraction at the same time avoided, by allowing the organization of smaller banks and in less populous communities than are now permitted, and also authorizing existing banks to establish branches in small communities under proper restrictions.

The entire case may be presented by the statement that the day of sound financial method will not dawn upon us until our government abandons the banking business and the accumulation of funds and confines its monetary operations to the receipt of the money contributed by the people for its support, and to the expenditure of such money for the people's benefit.

Our business interests and all good citizens long for rest from agitation and the inauguration by the government of a reformed financial policy which will encourage enterprise and make certain the rewards of labor and industry.

TRUSTS TAKEN TO TASK.

The President Urgently Recommends Further Legislation.

Another topic in which our people rightfully take a deep interest may be here briefly considered. I refer to the existence of trusts and other huge aggregations of capital, the object of which is to secure the monopoly of some particular branch of trade, industry or commerce, and so stifle wholesome competition. When these are defended, it is usually on the ground that though they increase profits they also reduce prices to the people. This is not one of the real objects of these organizations, nor is their tendency necessarily in that direction. If it occurs in a particular case, it is only because it accords with the purpose or interest of those managing the scheme. Such occasional results fall far short of compensating the palpable evils charged to the account of trusts and monopolies. Their tendency is to crush out individual independence, and to hinder or prevent the free use of human facilities and the full development of human character. Through them the farmer, the artisan and the small trader is in danger of dislodgement from the proud position of being his own master, watchful of all that touches his country's prosperity, in which he has an individual lot, and interested in all that aects the advantages of business of which he is a factor, to be relegated to the level of a mere appurtenence to a great machine, with little free will, with no duty but that of passive obedience and with little hope or opportunity of raising in the scale of responsible and helpful citizenship.

To the instinctive belief that such is the inevitable trend of trusts and monopolies is due the widespread and deep-seated popular aversion in which they are held, and the not unreasonable insistence that, whatever may be their incidental economic advantages, their general effect upon personal character, prospects and usefulness cannot be otherwise than injurious. Though congress has attempted to deal with this matter by legislation, the laws passed for that purpose thus far have proved ineffective, not because of any lack of disposition or attempt to enforce them, but simply because the laws themselves as interpreted by the courts do not reach the difficulty. If the insufficiency of existing laws can be remedied by further legislation it should be done. It should be recognized, however, that all federal legislation on this subject may fall short of its purpose because of inherent obstacles and also because of the complex character of our governmental system, which, while making the federal authority supreme within its sphere, has carefully limited that sphere by methods and bounds which cannot be transgressed. The decision of our highest court on this precise question renders it quite doubtful whether the evils of trusts and monopolies can be adequately treated through federal action, unless they seek directly to include in their objects transportation or intercourse between states or between the United States and foreign countries. It does not follow, however, that this is the limit of the remedy that may be applied. Even though it may be found that federal authority is not broad enough to fully reach the case, there can be no doubt of the power of the several states to act effectively in the premises, and there should be no reason to doubt their willingness to judiciously exercise such power.

In concluding this communication, its last words shall be an appeal to the congress for the most rigid economy in the expenditure of the money it holds in trust for the people. The way to perplexing extravagance is easy, but a return to frugality is difficult. When, however, it is considered that those who bear the burdens of taxation have no guaranty of honest care save in the fidelity of their public servants, the duty of all possible retrenchment is plainly manifest. When our differences are forgotten and our contests of political opinion are no longer remembered nothing in the retrospect of our public service will be as fortunate and comforting as the recollection of official duty well performed and the memory of a constant devotion to the interests of our confiding fellow countrymen.

—GROVER CLEVELAND.

Executive Mansion, Dec. 7, 1896.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware, Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture. Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing, Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc. Will compete with T. M. Roberts or others on Wire and Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

TO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 9, 1896.

Congress convened Monday December 7th. Very little can be expected from the present session either in way relief or reform owing to Cleveland's policy of forcing the nation into a state of perpetual bonded indebtedness.

Need no Calendar.

It is suggested that on Jan. 1, 1900, a new division of the year into thirteen months be instituted. It is claimed that this is not so preposterous as most people would be likely to consider it at the first thought. If such a division were made the first twelve months have just twenty-eight days, and four weeks each, and the new month twenty-nine, to make 365, and thirty in leap years. After a few days there would be no need to refer to calendars, as the same day of the week would have the same date throughout the year. If Jan. 1st were say Monday, every Monday would be the 1st, 8th, 15th and 22, every Tuesday the 2nd, 9th, 16th and 23rd, and so throughout the year. The changes of the moon would be on about the same dates through the year, any many calculations, like interest, dates of maturing notes, Easter Sunday and many other important dates would be simplified. Although the present generation would have to figure new dates for birthdays and all legal holidays except New Year would be on different dates, yet the gain would be more than the loss, as that would be permanent, and the objections trifling. The proposed change certainly has the merit of novelty, and it is just to say that the arguments in favor of the metric system on the ground of utility apply with considerable force in the present case. We fear, however, that the objections on the grounds of sentiment, which are strong in the matter of weights and measurements, would be even stronger against the proposed revision of our methods of computing time.—Scientific American.

A North Dakota quill driver who is down on his election luck talks it over with himself in this manner: "Oh, the crow, the beautiful crow! You are poor and tough, but we love you so! We'll pluck your plumage, glossy and black, and we singe the hair from your skinny old back. We take out your entrails, empty and small, and save your gizzard liver and gall, and we'll boil and stew your old tough frame, then dang you we'll eat you, all the same! We'll gnaw your legs and your meatless wings, we'll chew your giblets and your other things we'll nibble your breast and your withered old back, we'll gorge and feast, and your bones will crack. Oh, you crow, you skinny black crow, we'll eat you along with our cake that's dough, we'll swallow you down while our enemy-mocks, we'll eat you all if we puke up our socks!"

A well-to do farmer said to us the other day: "I deposit my money in a national bank because there it is perfectly safe. If the bank fails the government will pay me back my money." A business man, in discussing the matter, had the same opinion. This erroneous opinion seems to be quite prevalent, and yet it is wholly erroneous and without any foundation whatever. Whenever a national bank fails the depositors lose whatever the loss may be pro rata. A national bank is no safer as a depository than a state bank. The government is not responsible to depositors for any losses on either case. This error is only one more of the numerous ones put forth and never corrected by the national bankers. Your home state banks are just as safe as the national banks anywhere.—Waseca Herald.

How to Kill a Paper.

Just let your subscription go. It's only a dollar or two—the publisher don't need it. If he asks for it, just get as mad as you can and tell him to stop the paper—you never read it anyhow. Then go and borrow your neighbor's. When the reporter comes always be busy. Make him feel as if he was intruding. When the advertising and job man comes, tell him you don't need to advertise—everybody knows you; that you will try and get along without any printed stationery—its too expensive; you must economize. Never drop in to see the editor unless you want a free complimentary notice or a lengthy obituary for a beloved relative. Never commend the paper to anybody. When you speak of it say: "Yes, we have a little sheet, but it don't amount to much."—Verdale Sun.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

CONTROL OF THE ORINOCO.

Punta Barima Is an Important but Not a Vital Point.

To comprehend fully what the control of a vast waterway threading the richest part of Guiana would mean to America and American interests one must study carefully the map of South America. Geographers divide the southern continent into three great basins, those of the Amazon, the Orinoco and the Plata. To dominate the mouth of any one of these great arteries of commerce would be to become the master of one-third of South America. The Orinoco is navigable for vessels of the deepest draft to Ciudad Bolivar, Venezuela's eastern metropolis. Within this distance of 400 miles 20 other navigable rivers swell the mighty current of the Orinoco, while still farther into the interior the eastern bank receives the waters of 91 large rivers, and the west those of 30. Two of the former are navigable to the affluents of the Amazon, and many of the latter to the remote interior of the neighboring republics of Venezuela and Colombia.

If she were to gain control of the Orinoco, England would possess the key to the entire eastern part of South America. This view has been advanced by ex-President Guzman Blanco in a recent publication. He attaches to the possession of Punta Barima the ability to dominate the Orinoco and the entire water system which empties into it. Punta Barima is on the southeastern bank of the Orinoco, at its junction with the sea, and is described as a high bluff which, when properly fortified, would control this entrance, the most navigable of all the mouths of the Orinoco.

It would not be under water during the period of inundation, and, with a dockyard and three or four river gunboats, its master might lock up the Orinoco and all that vast tributary country. On the other hand, the counter view is advanced, and should be stated, that the position of Punta Barima would enable the English to dominate only one pass by means of guns placed on fortifications on shore, since at least two of the other mouths of the Orinoco can be entered by vessels from the sea.

The best line of communication today between Trinidad and Ciudad Bolivar is by a sidewheel steamer, built in the United States, which passes through a mouth of the Orinoco far to the west of Punta Barima, on the bar of which there is at least eight feet of water. It therefore may be argued, that fortifications at Punta Barima could not close the Orinoco, the control of which would depend upon vessels of war. England's strength as a sea power, with Trinidad as a base, gives her all necessary control of the river today. If British Guiana should develop into a great nation, claiming and owning one bank of the Orinoco, Punta Barima would become a point of great importance, but this is a contingency hardly to be dreaded by Venezuela, since, with her superb natural advantages, she must inevitably keep the lead.—W. Nephew King in Century.

An Admiral Who Is Seasick.

"The belief that naval men and sailors generally are never seasick," said an officer on one of the big warships anchored off Stapleton, "is a mistake. There are men holding high rank in our navy today, one of whom, by the way, is an admiral, who are invariably seasick on their first cruise after shore duty. One such officer is always laid up for two or three days on his first cruise, and he is too ill to attend to his duties.

"Every one in the navy knows this weakness of the officer to whom I refer. He has tried various preventives of seasickness, and experience has taught him that they do him no good. He gave them up long ago, and in recent years he has begun his cruises with the certainty that for two or three days he would be deathly sick, and in no case has he been disappointed. I have seen old sailors so seasick that they couldn't work, and I have come to the conclusion that there are many men who never can conquer their weakness in this direction, no matter how much time they pass aboard ship."—New York Sun.

They Impressed Him Deeply.

Edgar—I hear you've ceased your attentions to Miss Cummins.

Arthur—Yes. Her father and I couldn't agree on the subject.

Edgar—Her father is the Cummins of Cummins' celebrated $2 needle toed shoe, isn't he?

Arthur—Blessed if I know. I'm pretty sure, however, that the pair he tried on me were square toed and double soled.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Obvious.

"I was reading of a man who had sustained a broken leg in a trolley accident," said Asbury Peppers, "and I could but think how kind it was on his part."

"Kind?" said Mrs. Hammond.

"Yes. It is a certainty that the broken leg would not sustain him, is it not?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Do you want to trade cord wood for a second-hand box stove? If so call at this office and make a deal.

A FIVE CENT RIDE.

It Covers Three Hours and All Parts of Manhattan Island.

One summer night I successfully demonstrated that the possession of a fat wallet is not absolutely essential to the visitor desirous of enjoying an extended trip around this interesting town. To any one who contemplates a repetition of my experiment the first step to its accomplishment is to board the car labeled "For Fort Lee and Tenth avenue" at the intersection of Sixth avenue and Forty-second street. After a ride of a few blocks along Forty-second street, passing a brick building overhung with ivy in a manner that would do credit to the most ancient ruin in Europe, you turn north into Tenth avenue. Although the avenue seems densely crowded, it is only when you peer down the narrow side streets that you grasp the immense population of this city. The houses are packed to suffocation. From the windows and fire escapes lean the bodies of workingmen and their wives, eagerly striving to secure a breath of fresh air from the nearby and noble Hudson. The pavement is literally covered with children of all ages, sizes and nationalities, fighting, playing, screaming—a kaleidoscopic mass of diminutive humanity. Occasionally some tot, burdened with a can of mixed ale, strays across the street, seeming to dodge as if by a miracle the hoofs of car horses.

Alighting at Ninety-sixth street, I received a transfer on the car which traverses the Boulevard. Any natural beauty which may have at one time characterized this famous thoroughfare has been defaced by the miles of fences displaying the advertisements of gums, soaps, corsets and hair regenerators. The majority of the stores are devoted to the sale of soda water and the renting of bicycles, an undoubtedly successful combination.

Arriving at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, I retraced my steps to the bluff overlooking the Hudson which serves as the site for Grant's tomb. The bright moonbeams shimmering the surface of the broad, cool waters revealed the majestic Palisades on the opposite shore and the slowly passing and brightly illuminated ferryboats. Landward the lanterns of the bicycles which dotted the broad plain seemed a myriad of huge fireflies.

Then followed a leisurely inspection of the attractive interior of the swell restaurant, and as I listened to a well trained orchestra, skilled in the playing of popular melodies, I gave myself up to a fascinating study of the different outfits worn by the devotees of the "bike." Truly, everything goes, from the trim linen suits of the swagger element down, through a long variety of styles, to the strapped trousers and cut down dress skirts of the humble riders. The stables sheltered a few two wheeled carts and high stepping cobs. As I left the popular rendezvous of the boulevardiers I was almost run over by a Jack Tar, whose wide collar streamed in the breeze as he madly wheeled along. Ruminating on this new recruit to the ranks of the enthusiasts, I wandered all alone to the crosstown cars at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, where, in exchange for my crumpled transfer, I received another one for the Third avenue cable car. It rushed along, stirring up an invigorating breeze, and soon landed me at Third avenue and Forty-second street, in the heart of the bustling east side. Here the conductor proffered me a transfer on the Forty-second street crosstown line. On arriving at Forty-second street and Sixth avenue, the starting point, I glanced at my watch and discovered that I had enjoyed a three hours' ride over the surface of Manhattan Island for a solitary 5 cent piece.—New York Letter in Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Hardy German Carp.

German carp has been introduced of late into many of the lakes and rivers of the west. A queer fish is the carp. It is said that carp may be shipped from New York to Chicago with only a wet cloth around them and bits of bread soaked in whisky in their mouths and be none the worse for the journey. One day an attendant at the St. Paul hatchery was passing along near the pond where the carp live when one of them flopped out on the bank. The attendant took care to cover it with leaves and long grass, so that the sun could not get to it, and left it there for 24 hours. Then he put the fish back into the water, and it swam away as though nothing had happened. The carp has an odd way of boring down into the mud when the weather gets cold, staying there, deeply imbedded, until the winter is well over.—Chicago Record.

An Epitaph.

A correspondent assures us that he has seen the following on a tombstone:

IN MEMORY OF MARGARET,
Erected by Her Grieving Children. What Is Home Without a Mother?
"PEACE, PERFECT PEACE."

—Westminster Gazette.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner. [illegible]

[illegible] DAHL
ST. HILAIRE, [illegible]

Canadian Excursions via Chicago.

If you wish to spend the winter in Canada, please take notice that the usual $40.00 rate is again in effect, and that tickets will be sold from THIS STATION every day this month (December) to all points in Ontario west of Toronto. These tickets will be good going within ten days from date of sale, and good for return three months from date of sale, and good for return three months from date of sale. Extension of time for return can be had on payment of a small additional sum. These tickets will read via St. Paul and Chicago, and in buying from your home ticket agent, ask him to sell you one over the Burlington Route, acknowledged by all patrons to be the speediest, safest and most comfortable of any.

GEO. P. LYMAN,
G. P. A., C. B. & N. R. R.

Wanted--An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

If you are particular

About the accommodations you get when traveling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.

If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.

Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

The BEER

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year), or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription and one year in advance we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE or [illegible]

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

Price per Acre.

RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.

9 forties' in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00

SANDERS TOWNSHIP.

NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.75
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 24	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.5
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.0

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.

Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00

ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.0 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4.00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1.75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application. Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

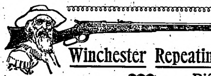
PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA



Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain. Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.

☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample goods for the winter trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST HILAIRE. - - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
D. PATTERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

M. W. OF A., CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Friday of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C. H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

M. E. CHURCH:—Pastor, Rev. M. S. Burns. Services every Sunday at 3:00 p. m., and Wednesday evenings at 7:30.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	65c	Butter	12½c
Oats	15c	Eggs	15c
Barley	12c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	61c	Potatoes	25

LOCAL NEWS.

District court is in session.

St. Paul is still talking about an ice carnival.

The Woodmen will elect officers Friday evening.

The firm of Rapp & Post are buying dressed hogs.

A chinook wind struck us yesterday. Oh! how nice.

Who wants that second hand heating stove of ours?

A car-load of dressed hogs wanted at Rapp & Post's.

This is extremely hard weather on the wood piles.

Dynamite was used to raise the coffer dam last Saturday.

Final examinations of the village schools next week.

The coal trust have no particular cinch on our village.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

Another car load of piling arrived Monday from Erskine.

Invigorating climate is what we are having just at present.

About forty passengers stopped off between trains Monday.

Quite a number of St. Hilaireites went to the upper Falls Sunday,

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

Haul in a load of wood and get a years subscription to the SPECTATOR.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Twing is ailing with bronchitis troubles.

Surveyor Arnold is doing work for the St. Hilaire Lumber company this week.

St. Hilaire has a natural skating rink of large proportion. Why not put it in shape?

The Hotel Crookston has changed hands. Scott & Lycan are the new proprietors.

P. H. Wall is at Erskine looking after more piling for the St. Hilaire Lumber company.

Louie Auge the mill-wright arrived Monday and is getting things in shape for business.

L. C. Simmons, the young attorney of Red Lake Falls is now cashier of the Bank of Fisher.

Sharkey and Fitzsimmon punched each other for eight rounds last week and it aint over yet.

M. E. Bjerk has a splendid deal to offer you in hotel property. Write to him for particulars.

The annual "$40 round trip Canadian Excursion" ads are in evidence with the north-west press.

Postmaster Hoff was slightly under the weather last week, but is now on deck cancelling stamps.

Prof. O'Brien had a slight attack of neuralgia last week, but we are pleased to state it has left him.

W. A. Sorsoleil will take wood in exchange for flour and feed at Johnson & Marshall's warehouse.

Druggist Johnson was at Crookston last week consulting a specialist in regard to his crippled knee.

Go to Hall's for a full line of Christmas presents. Anything from a top up will be found on the counters.

Mrs. Gunder Olson of the town of Rocksbury died yesterday afternoon. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. at Valhall.

The stockholders meeting of the St. Hilaire Boom & Water Power Co., has been postponed until Monday December 21st at 7 o'clock p. m. All stockholders are requested to be present.

Alfred Dainard and wife were visiting friends at Thief River Falls yesterday.

Rapp & Post bought a dressed hog yesterday that tipped the beam at 520 pounds.

—H. E. Ives will pay cash for county school district orders. Bring them in and get them cashed.

One dance and one marriage is on the program for this winter. The dance is to take place about two months from now.

H. E. Ives left last Friday for Crookston where he will remain a week or two and act in the capacity as a grand jury man.

K. A. Sundahl left Monday for Crookston where he went to take out his second papers and make final proof of his claim.

Attorney Lee passed through here Friday enroute to Crookston where he will remain during this session of district court.

Sam Dainard has a contract to deliver three hundred cords of wood to Mr. A. Erskine, proprietor of the Crookston brick yards.

Mr. Julian Biron, the race and dam builder, who has been here for the past three months, left for his Wisconsin home Monday.

J. P. McAndrews moved over from Wall street last week and is now nicely located in the large Hoff building on North Broadway.

Mr. Ness, who resides a few miles east of here has been ailing with pheumonia of the heart lately. Dr. Francis is attending the case.

A farmer, not over a hundred miles from here, in making out a bill-of-sale to his wife, included among other things a granary, house and two wells.

Day F. Stacy, the upper Falls surveyor, was here the first of the week with his instrument and chains. He was also equipped with a pair of snow shoes.

Dr. Watson of Red Lake Falls was called here Monday on professional business. The Dr. reports the roads from here to the Falls as being in a horrible condition.

The ladies of the M. E. church are preparing to give a grand auction of fancy work on Friday December 18th. A good supper will be served to all who wish to partake of. Everybody invited to come.

It is estimated that 3,000 men are engaged in shoveling snow on the railroads in North Dakota and Northern Minnesota. Natural causes have put the men to work where political buncome seems to have failed.

An exchange tells of a busy merchant who attended church on Sunday in a neighboring town, and, tired out fell into a doze. In the course of the sermon, the preacher cried out, "Why stand ye here idle?" The half waked merchant cried out. "Because they don't advertise."

Take a dollar bill, fold it lengthwise and double it, fold it several times each way and you will find it increases, says an exchange. Take a silver dollar and drop it on the counter and it will ring; give the ring to your best girl and send the dollar to your printer.

Stranger of two months residence in this village:—"Say, you newspaper man, just put in your paper and say that the young people of St. Hilaire are dead-ringers to the Posy County Indiana people—you have to pinch them to find out whether they are alive." How is this anyway? Is it an insult or on the square?

Ralph and Emma, the two little children of Mrs. Mary Erickson of the town of Wyandotte, were brought into the village Monday by County Commissioner Norland who accompanied them to the State Public School, located at Owatona, where they will be raised by the state and given out as adopted children.

The damage case of W. A. Sorsoleil vs. the Great Northern railroad company will be aired in the January term of court. The suit was brought about by Mr. Sorsoleil who claims damage from the fact that the dam that was put in a year ago turned the water so as to overflow his land rendering it useless to put in a crop.

A. Loe, H. Norland, Ole Loe, A. Amandson, P. Heglund, L. P. Thyrin, H. Johnson, C. A. Brink, O. Soderberg, and O. A. Johnson are the names of those that have been selected from this point to take in the experimental station at St. Anthony Park. Those that intend to go will leave on to-days train and be back Monday.

The many friends of Joseph Smith will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed register of the U. S. land office at Crookston, to fill the vacancy made by the death of Capt. T. A. Dunleava, which occurred about five weeks ago. Mr. Smith was a candidate for the office when Mr. Dunleava was appointed and since that time has been acting clerk. The appointment is acceptable to the people patronizing the office and Mr. Smith has been asked to forward his bonds immediately.

Another idol has come to grief. The golden rod has been sung and admired and idealized for generations, and now comes an agricultural authority and says: "Golden rod is the most objectionable plant, and the sooner the country can exterminate it the better for all concerned. It is poisonous, more so to some people than poison ivy, and not a few cases of hay fever have been found to be directly traceable to the yellow blossoms carried in the belt of the victim. To the lower creation it is equally injurious. The horse distemper now afflicting Iowa was caused by it. The legislature of that state has framed a statute providing for the destruction of the weed, and probably before long other states will follow suit."

Fir Lumber.

Western fir lumber manufacturers will have a chance to crow over the fact that a bill of fir timber has been sold to the St. Hilaire Lumber company, which is erecting a large white pine saw mill at St. Hilaire, Minn., in the newly opened up Red Lake reservation white pine belt. It seems like carrying coals to Newcastle to freight fir timbers nearly 2,000 miles to build a white pine, but while long timbers are scarce in this section and western men will deliver them at present prices, they will be bought even for saw mill construction. With a reduction in the eastern freight rate on fir, a great deal more of it will be used in the Mississippi valley and the east, and according to reports from the west, there is a feeling out there that the demand of the mill men for a lower rate will be granted in the near future. The railroads might be compelled to advance the freight on red cedar shingles in order to play even, but the western lumbermen would rather see that done with a lower lumber freight rate, than to have rates left as they are now.—Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

The Hens are Laying.

Thanks to cheap lumber, building paper, and, I fancy, some gumption in building for warmth, and exercise at the same time, my hens and early spring chickens are laying this cold weather as though nothing had happened. My hen house, that the fowls have access to at will, is well lighted with double windows, banked up outside, has one thickness each of boards and building paper, with space between, is ventilated from the bottom and through the roof with small flues that keep drafts out, and I believe will be warm enough to keep eggs in the nest from freezing in the coldest weather. Through small openings that no wind can reach the fowls can get into a protected yard, or more cheaply constructed house, with plenty of glass on the south side, where they have straw to scratch in for food; dust baths, and room for exercise. These arrangements, with methods of feeding taught by F. S. & H., I now feel quite certain that I will have high-priced eggs to sell during the winter.—Mrs. M. E. A., Wright county, Minn.

Disease Among Hogs.

Hogs are dying with mysterious diseases in southern Minnesota. Many a farmer who has been calculating to market a large amount of pork finds, at the last moment, his year of care and labor ends in total loss, which is discourageing in the extreme. Now, I will venture to say that nine out of ten of our farmers who have lost, or are now losing their hogs are themselves to blame for the misfortune. They have failed to give the right care to their pigs either in feeding or housing them. The hog pens on too many farms are simply abominable. They are wet, filthy holes, in which no creature can thrive, and at the same time they are most potent breeders of disease. It is also a common practice to huddle a large number of hogs together in close quarters for the last few weeks feeding. The weather this season has been very changeable, and hogs have suffered accordingly. In two cases I saw the hogs died of inflamation induced by colds and improper feeding. Pneumonia did the work in one instance, and inflamation of the kidneys and bowels in the other. In both these cases the pens were unfit to keep hogs in; they were wet, filthy, open, and the pigs were crowded into too close quarters. I have no doubt at all that these hogs, over sixty in number, would now be alive and ready for market if they had been kept in clean dry quarters, and had been fed some roots along with the corn, or even if a good ration of bran had been used once a day. Our farmers have a good deal to learn about the hog raising business before they will make a complete success of it in this state. When they furnish roomy quarters and keep them clean, free from draughts, and dry, they will find better profits and less loss.—Farm, Stock and Home.

An amusing story is related of a farmer who came into a village grocery in one of our Western states and exhibited to an admiring crowd an enormous egg, about six inches long, which he said was laid by one of his hens. He had packed it in cotton, and wouldn't allow anybody to handle it for fear of breaking the phenomenon. The grocery man examined it with the rest, and intending to chuff the countryman, said: "Pshaw! I've got something in the egg line that will beat that."

"I'll bet you $5 you haven't" said the countryman, getting excited.

"Take it up!" said the grocery-man, and, going behind the counter he brought out a wire egg beater.

"Hold on there," said the farmer, lets see you beat it," and handed it to the grocer. The latter held out his hand for it, but dropped it in surprise on the counter where it broke two soup plates and a platter. It was of iron painted white.

"Some folks think they are tarnation cute," muttered the farmer as he pocketed the stakes, and left, "but 'taint no use buckin' agin the solid facts."

Burlington Route Excursions.

For the Non-Partisan W. C. T. U. and National Anti-Saloon League conventions at Washington, D. C., Dec. 8th to 14th; all Burlington ticket agents are authorized to sell tickets at rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. A great opportunity to visit the National Capital while congress is in session.

For the annual meeting of Federation of Commercial Teachers, at Chicago, Dec. 28th to 31st, all Burlington ticket agents will sell at rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Farmers are busy breaking roads this week.

Chas. Kinler gave Wylie a call last week.

Peter Hansel drove over to Red Lake Falls Friday.

Messrs. Pat Meehan and H. E. Ives passed through here Friday.

Charles Zutz tried his hand at the carpenter on the school-house last week.

Mrs. James Sutor left for Crookston Monday, where she will visit relatives.

Crist Borgen has been confined to the house the past few days, but is recovering.

Thanksgiving was celebrated this year more in the way intended by our forefathers.

John Powers occupied one of Jim Hill's cushion seats on Monday's west bound train.

Misses Nora, Nara, and Mr. Thomas Dargan were of late visiting their sister Mrs. Jake Thill.

We are all glad to see Misses Annie Neil and Vena Gother in school once more after being taken from the sick list.

Pat Ford was one of the many that the storm held in Crookston. We hope the delay in the city was an agreeable one.

Carl Kretzschmar and Robecke shook hands with their Wylie friends enroute to the Old World. We wish them a pleasant voyage.

The Misses Sadie and Kate Powers, Messrs. James and Adner Powers gave Mr. and Mrs. Thill a pleasant call Wednesday evening.

The bravest man in Wylie since the snow-storm was Peter Hansel. He took courage and drove over to Red Lake Falls Friday.

The white feathers from above have fallen in such great quantities of late that it is "nip and tuck" for the farmers to do any hauling.

Although Wylie has no river running through it, it has plenty of "wind," so farmers needing feed ground will do well by consulting P. E. Smidzsang who has it, (the wind) in his power

What it Cost to Run for Sheriff.

The following figures show the expenditures of what it cost S. M. Dainard to canvas the county for sheriff, from the 1st day of September to the 3rd day of November 1896.

Co. Auditor for qualification	$10 00
Ives & Soll, for cards	12 00
Satterlee, cards	1 50
Crookston Tribune, cards	6 00
Railroad fare	7 80
Hotel bills and horse feed 40 days	80 00
To lottery ticket fakirs	1 25
Loaned to dead beats whom I would not have met if I had not been a candidate	2 20
Total	$120 75

A funny man who asked "where is the state of matrimony?" received this explanatory answer: "It is one of the United States. It is bounded by hugging on one side and cradles and babies on the other. Its chief products are population, broomsticks and staying out nights. It was discovered by Adam and Eve while trying to find a northwest passage out of Paradise. The climate is rather sultry until you pass the tropics of house keeping, when equable weather commonly sets in with sufficient power to keep all hands cool as cucumbers. For the principle roads leading to this interesting state, consult the first pair of pretty blue or black eyes you run against.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council Monday December 7, 1896.

All members present except Sorsoleil.

Meeting called to order by Pres. Rapp.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

On motion the following bills were allowed:

H. Norland, locating bridges	$2 50
R. H. Aimer, 1 day shoveling snow	1 25
P. & J. Meehan, lumber as pr bill	20 24
C. Sandmoen, 1 day work on bridge	1 25
Andrew Hall, " "	1 25
J. P. Olson, 1 day shoveling snow	1 25
S. Harris, work as per bill	9 00

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. Rapp,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

OUR CHRISTMAS TREE.

O
the Christ-mass tree
so bright and green
awaits Old Santa Clause, and
the Chimney place
swept and clean gapes
wide its ponderous jaws
The little stockings are
all hung up—and baby's just makes four. Won't old
Santa be surprised, when he
find there is now one more!
There's an elegant place up in the tree to hang Johnny's gun and a place
for May and one for Kate to leave their dolls upon. But for little baby blue eyes a lower branch he mush choose
where she may reach and find the place he's hung her first shoes.
Turn down the light a little
now, so good old Santa
Clause can see, and all must go to bed
and get up early after a long nights
sleep;
and come down
to the Xmas
tree
and
SEE
Who will get the first peep into
M. A. HALL'S STORE.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something . . . . .

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Cigars.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

For Sale! —The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department. . . .

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Good

Is Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it cures the severest cases of scrofula, salt rheum, dyspepsia and rheumatism. If you are a sufferer try

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The Best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Vocations for Women.

The art of mending and altering women's garments is to be taught here. The Young Woman's Christian association is about to open a class for young women and girls in dress repairing. The class will be taught by a competent dressmaker. The price will be $3 for the course of ten lessons, and the class will be held two evenings in the wekk. Such schools should prosper anywhere.

An enterprising woman whose lines used to lie in pleasant places here has opened an office known as a social requirement bureau, where invitations are sent out, visiting lists organized, lunches, dinners, suppers and afternoon teas served in modest establishments with all the perfection of detail that one expects to find in a menage of unlimited wealth. She furnishes servants, service, foods, wines and flowers for any occasion. She makes one's house her own, and personally supervises all the details.—New York Letter.

A Cook Book Free.

"Table and Kitchen" is the title of a new cook book published by the Price Baking Powder company, Chicago. Just at this time it will be sent free if you write a postal mentioning this paper. This book has been tried by ourselves and is one of the very best of its kind. Besides containing over 400 receipts for all kinds of pastry and home cookery, there are many hints for the table and kitchen, showing how to set a table, how to enter the dining room, etc.; a hundred and one hints in every branch of the culinary art. Cookery of the very finest and richest, as well as of the most economical and home-like, is provided for. Remember, "Table and Kitchen" will be sent, postage prepaid, to any lady sending her address (name, town and state) plainly given. A copy in German or Scandinavian will be sent if desired. Postal card is as good as letter. Address Price Baking Powder Co., Chicago, Ill.

How Could He?

Nurse (to Master Todd, who has soiled his clothes)—You bad, bad boy, where have you been?

Master Todd (holding out hands, innocently)—Maten mud pies, Nursey.

Nurse (shaking him)—Look at your clean, white dress! How did you get it so dirty?

Master Todd (uncertain)—Me don't know—

Nurse (wiping his hands)—Your hat is dirty, too. What am I to do with such a boy? Look at the top of your head.

The last request was not complied with.

Not Very High.

Mrs. Dash—I thought you said Mrs. Bolton was prominent in society?

Mrs. Blank—Why, I've been told that she is.

Mrs. Dash—It must be a mistake. She only belongs to four afternoon card parties.—Cleveland Leader.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO,
LUCAS COUNTY, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Of Course She Admired It.

Maud (at the art exhibit)—Now, I like this sort of picture which tells a story.

Clara—How fond you must be of your own, dear; it makes you positively beautiful.

Fortune Seeking Emigrants.

Many a poor family that seeks the Western wilds in the hope of winning a fortune is preserved from that insidious foe of the emigrant and frontiersman—chills and fever—by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. So effectually does that incomparable medicinal defense fortify the system against the combined influence of a malarious atmosphere and miasma-tainted water, that protected by it the pioneer, the miner or the tourist provided with it, may safely encounter the danger.

The End of the Honeymoon.

She—I'm sure you love me no longer. Now, do not deny it. I can see the change in you. I'm no fool. You should have married somebody stupider."

He—I couldn't find one!—Judy.

For Sale.

Seventeen tons of body type (various sizes), second-hand, in good condition. Will be sold in large or small lots; cheap for cash. Also news stands and cases. Also several Thorne typesetting machines. Address, West Publishing Co., St. Paul, Minn.

All the good government building contracts lately awarded at Washington seem to have gone to Chicago contractors.

Have You Eye or Ear Trouble? Write for valuable information free. St. Paul Eye & Ear Infirmary, Merrill Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

Alabama spends only $3.58 per pupil per year for education. This is smaller than the amount paid by any other state.

On Nov. 30 the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis, the largest seed potato growers in the world, received an order for three thousand bushels of seed potatoes from one firm in Texas.

More than thirty members of the Chicago bar are negroes.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,
Gold Medal, Midwinter Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

BACK TO ITS BED

THE CHIPPEWA RIVER IS GETTING OVER ITS SPREE.

The Water at Chippewa Falls Recedes Four Feet, and It Is Confidently Expected That the River Will Cause No Further Trouble—Flooded Buildings Ready for Occupancy.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 4.—The situation at Chippewa Falls is more hopeful. The water has receded about six inches, and it is believed that it may not rise higher, although the city has twice been fooled within the past forty-eight hours by exactly the same conditions. Last night the water receded eight inches, but after that it came up rapidly, until it had gone two feet above high water mark. To-day's bright prospects may be but a repetition of those of last night and the night before, and many expect the water will still be creeping up Bridge street into the residence portion of the city.

The gorge in the channel of the river has been added to all day and it seems a veritable mountain, which tons of dynamite cannot affect. If the water is succeeding in cutting a passage through this mass of frozen snow and ice a further rise may not be experienced, but it is doubtful if a sufficient volume can find its way under it to save the city from further destruction. An immense amount of anchor ice is piled up in the river at the foot of Bridge street, indicating that the gorge has anchored on the bottom and that the water is no longer finding its way beneath it. The fact that the river has fallen fifteen inches at Eau Claire seemed to warrant this belief, but, nevertheless, the water did not continue to rise in this city after that hour. It may be possible that the water found another means of passing down the river, but the citizens will not feel absolutely safe until it has been demonstrated by several days' observation that the river has reached its maximum height. The situation in Chippewa Falls was interesting in the extreme to-day.

The City Was Panic-Stricken and men with blanched faces rushed back and forth scarcely conscious of their actions. The alarm may be unfounded, nevertheless it exists, and the condition of the river seems to augur ill for the entire city. Wild reports reach town of the havoc wrought by the stream above, and a terrible catastrophe may overtake the city at any moment. No one knows just what is in store, and this condition of uncertainty adds more to the excitement of the moment than the actual destruction of property by the river possibly could. One rumor that the river would cut a passage for itself through the high banks north of the city gave rise to a great deal of apprehension. The river's course is seriously obstructed by the gorge, which has now reached to within a short distance of the dam, and the probable turning of the course of the stream upon the city seems so plausible that every one at once became panicstricken. Hundreds of teams started in at daylight to move the effects of the merchants out of the way of possible danger, and Bridge and Central streets were choked with teams loaded down with merchandise. In many instances these wagons were filled to such an extent that the contents spilled over the sides and ends and the scene was one of Indescribable Confusion.

Both the Lumbermen's and First National banks moved to-day and the higher portion of the city was fairly congested with the enormous amount of material that has been stored there for safety. Spring street is impassable between Bridge and Bay streets, and the water is climbing steadily toward the basement of the city hall. Cellars on the high ground in that vicinity were rising fast, and the water in many instances trickled into the street, indicating that a great height would be attained shortly. It is impossible to see how any of the lower portion of the city can escape, for the coming of the water seems as sure as it is deliberate, and the valley may be completely inundated if the rise continues.

A busy scene continued to be enacted in the city all day and all sorts of vehicles were converted to us for the occasion. No reports of additional damage come in from the country, and it is thought that the flood may have spent its force so far as the outlaying districts are concerned. The critical condition here, however, continues to excite great fears, and the developments of the next twenty-four hours will be closely watched.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 5.—The river rose four inches to-day and the water gorge at the Chippewa Lumber and Boom company's mill indicates a height of twenty-five feet. In the spring freshet of 1880, when the Chippewa did untold destruction to property here, a height of twenty-eight feet was recorded. It is believed this mark will be passed before the water recedes this winter. Lieut. Col. W. H. Jones, of the United States engineers, came over from St. Paul to-day, and with a party of Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire property owners inspected the river between this city and Eau Claire. After his trip Col. Jones gave out the following statement:

"I don't see any reason for serious apprehension at present. The normal river is falling rapidly. Most of the water is passing beneath the gorge and going out at Eau Claire. The small rise that is reported here is the backwater that cannot get out under the gorge and represents a very small percentage of the flow. The river is practically at the same stage at Eau Claire as it is here. There is a reasonable presumption that the worst is over on the foregoing considerations."

Col. Jones will discourage the further use of dynamite in the river, as a sufficient quantity of it was used to indicate that no permanent results could be attained. Chippewa Falls is in a state of nervous anxiety, although the fears at first created by the unusual spectacle of the river filling suddenly with ice are being somewhat allayed and the citizens are awaiting developments with all the fortitude they can summon. It may be that Chippewa Falls will be compelled to accommodate its unwelcome visitor the balance of the winter, for the ice formation about the buildings is certain to remain even after the water recedes. The river above the city and it is believed that the waters cannot rise to a much greater height above the present level. Conservative observers think that the river may reach a height of thirty feet before it stops, and from that stage it may slowly recede to its normal point. The same condition of uncertainty that characterized the food during the first great rise still obtains, and no one is competent to predict the end. A delegation of fifty Eau Claire citizens, accompanied by Mayor Day and three aldermen, visited the scene of the flood this morning and accompanied Col. Jones on his trip down the river. The visitors are old wealthy property owners of the Sawdust City, and their possessions stand in the shadow of the gorge which has formed in the river. No encouragement resulted from the trip and the delegation came back to town fully appreciating the gravity of the situation.

Is Constantly Falling,

The big mill of the Chippewa Logging and Boom company is in a serious position, and any sudden break of the ice would seriously endanger the wagon bridge between Chippewa Falls and South Chippewa Falls. The town is in no apparent danger, even though there were a break in the gorge formed several miles above, being protected by having the current running directly away from the town toward the bluffs on the other side of the river. Looking up or down the river from the wagon bridge an unbroken mass of the broken white ice can be seen, with here and there a dark clump of logs frozen in the gorge. At the lower end of the gorge near Eau Claire is banked a mass of logs containing 20,000,000 feet of lumber, and this large amount of lumber it is desired to save by holding it right where it now is. The ice and flood have not encroached on the banks of the river as much as feared, and the damage is much less in the country than had at first been supposed.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 6.—The water has receded thirty seven inches, and many of the buildings lately under the flood are being repaired. Some of them have been crushed in and wild rents in the walls are visible where the ice pushed through. It is the general belief that the worst of the flood has gone by, although the immense gorge, white and stern, still holds the bed of the river in its icy grip and shows no more signs of relenting than it did yesterday. Mayor Lindley, Col. Jones and a party of local business men inspected the gorge again to-day, and on returning the mayor gave out the following statement:

"We were all quite firmly convinced that the receding of the water is permanent and that the gorge will not become any more menacing than it is at present. It is quite evident that the water has cut a large passage beneath the gorge, and Col. Jones thinks that the snow and ice may disappear gradually until all danger is passed. We have nature to thank for the happy relief, and if this weather continues for a week the gorge will be rendered as harmless as it was threatening. Anchor ice is still coming down in large quantities, but it is passing beneath the gorge and not adhering to it as it did yesterday. The condition has undergone a complete change and such a sudden and satisfactory termination of what threatened to be a great disaster was hardly looked for by the most sanguine."

Nevertheless many feel that the danger to the city's property has not wholly passed away. In case of a sudden thaw the gorge is liable to let go suddenly and no one cares to think what would ensue in that event. There are half a dozen gorges above Chippewa Falls with which the city must reckon sooner or later, although it is possible that they will not start to move before spring. Business here is still torn up, and merchants will not begin to settle down to active life again for some days. Some who abandoned buildings where basements only were affected by the flood, are moving back, although the majority will remain at their present locations and take no chances with the gorge. The best means of removing it has been widely discussed by citizens, although no plausible plan has yet been evolved. It is the opinion of a great many that federal aid must be enlisted as it is believed that neither Chippewa Falls nor Eau Claire can stand the cost of clearing a channel for the water.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 8.—Sightseers to the number of 2,000 visited Chippewa Falls for the purpose of viewing the immense gorge of ice that has choked the river and given this town such prominence during the last week. The visitors came from all the towns on the Central road between this city and Medford, and Minneapolis and St. Paul, few of whom appreciated the full significance of the ice formation in the bed of the river. Only streaks of jagged ice clinging to the fronts and sides of buildings mark the height to which the water of the river rose, for during the night the flood receded rapidly and a fall of four feet is recorded on the gauge. Near the C. L. & Co. mill the town is comparatively dry within ten feet of the river's bank, although three feet of snow and ice cover that portion of the flooded district which the street laborers have not yet reached.

Scores of laborers have been put to work and most of the streets are in shape for travel, and a greater portion of the store buildings were again ready for occupancy. It is confidently believed by close observers of the situation that the river will cause no further apprehension this winter, and the more hopeful predict that the ice will go out gradually, giving the stream a clear course by spring. The supply of anchor ice from above the city seems inexhaustible. Tons of the slushy stuff is still pouring over the dam, but it must certainly be flowing with the current beneath the gorge, as the ice near the city remains unchanged.

Maj. Jones, U. S. A., left Chippewa Falls to-day, stating as his opinion that the danger of the flood is at an end. There is a great deal of good feeling in the city at the happy termination of affairs, and it is the general belief that the damage that has been caused property will be much smaller than was at first apprehended. It is impossible to get an estimate of the cost of the flood, but business men generally refuse to give out any estimate of their losses. No one, however, has been so seriously affected that it will prevent him from remaining in business the same as formerly.

THE GING MURDER

Again Recalled by a Suit Over the Young Woman's Insurance.

Minneapolis, Special.—The answer of the Travelers' Insurance company of Hartford to the suit brought by Julia Ging, as administrator of the estate of Catherine M. Ging, to collect the $5,000 alleged to be due under the accident policy issued on the life of the murdered girl, was filed to-day.

The nugget in the answer is found in the allegation that the policy does not cover "intentional injuries (inflicted by the insured or any other person.)" By special agreement the clause was made: "Not to exclude claims for personal injuries, fatal or non-fatal, received by the insured, while in the act of defending himself from the assaults of burglars, robbers, thieves or pickpockets."

The injuries are claimed to have been received (while not defending herself. The answer sets out the facts also that the insurance was procured by Harry T. Hayward for the express purpose of murdering the insured, and thus fraudulently procuring the money on the insurance. The last defense is that the suit was not commenced until over one year after the death of the insured, and hence that it is barred by the contract.

The Electric Headlight on Crooked Roads.

Enginemen and railway officials speak in grateful terms of the electric headlight. Beyond the main function of this light—to illumine the road bed in front of the engine—it throws out skyward a shining beam that gives early notice to stationmen, wayfarers, runners of other train and casual tramps of the approach of the train bearing it. The runner using this light cannot see through a hill or a building any better than without it, but as it shines above it makes its whereabouts manifest several miles in advance, so that other trains can know that the electrically lighted locomotive is approaching. The angle of the reflector can easily be adjusted so as to throw the beam upward, and the illumination of the particles of dust or moisture in the atmosphere makes a pencil of light which may be seen overhead at a great distance. This is of immense service on tracks containing many curves, at many points of which the ordinary headlight remains invisible when the locomotive is only a few yards away. An incident occurred recently in Ohio which illustrates the value of this feature of the light. An engineman running empty at night, and with the tender foremost, forgot about a passenger train that was due. He would have run into the train on a bridge a few miles off, but he saw the rays of the electric headlight in the sky before the train was in sight—that is, before it had reached a point where it would have been in sight by daylight, or where the lamp could be seen. The careless engineman at once stopped and succeeded in getting on a sidetrack before the passenger train reached him. Many enginemen, especially those on the roads of the Western prairies, assert that so much does the electric headlight lessen the strain to which they are subjected and increase their confidence while pushing their locomotives that they would pay for the lamps themselves rather than be without them.

Trial by Telephone.

Montclair, N. J., has a merchant who is a very practical and wideawake man. He was cited to appear in court to answer a charge of obstructing the sidewalk in front of his place of business. He was very, very busy, too busy, in fact, to go to court, so he rang up the recorder on the telephone and pleaded guilty. "Fined $10," said the recorder. "All right," was the merchant's reply. "I'll send up the money right away. Good-by." This looks like the thin end of the wedge. It is evident that the witnesses can be examined over the telephone, and possibly jurymen may come to hear cases in the same manner. Under the influence of a wider sense of the possibilities of the telephone a busy merchant might sit in his office, and, equipped with a telephone hood, hear a divorce case, while he dictates letters to his typewriter and talks politics with his customers.

Winter Time Table.

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—No trains were taken off by the Great Northern railway in making up its winter schedule, but changes were made in the leaving time of several of them, the most important being the Pacific coast train, which leaves here at 1 p. m., two hours earlier than heretofore, giving closer connections with Eastern lines than ever before, and reaching Montana and coast points in daylight.

Saratoga Chips.

These may be made on Saturday and heated for Sunday night's supper. Pare and put in ice water for an hour half a dozen large, smooth potatoes. Slice very thin into slightly salted water, where they should remain an hour. Then drain in a colander. At least half an hour before you wish to fry the slices put on the fire some lard. Dry the slices on a clean towel, place in a frying basket, and when the fat is boiling plunge them in until a light golden brown. Drain on brown paper and stand in a cold place. Sprinkle with salt. When you wish to use them place in the collander in the oven. Serve quickly.

His Winning Suit.

Mrs. Kirtland—And why do you think, Mr. Dunley, that the world is better now and more beautiful than it was thirty-five years ago?

Mr. Dunley (who is after her sweet daughter)—Because—because you were not in it then.

Papa Kirtland's objections to the young man have been overriden.—Cleveland Leader.

A Great Career Before Him.

"Do you regard Rogers as a safe man to hold office?"

"Perfectly. Why, he doesn't know enough about figuring to multiply six by eight. Such a thing as doctoring the books or cheating the public would be out of the question with him."—Cleveland Leader.

A Puzzle.

Doctor—Don't you find your glasses enable you to see everything clearly?

Patient—All but one thing, doctor.

Doctor—And what is that?

Patient—How you have the gall to send in so monstrous a bill.

Why He Was Arrested.

First Prisoner—So the detectives found you out, did they?

Second Prisoner—No, they found me in.—Somerville Journal.

Constipation

is a disease which afflicts over 75 per cent. of the American people. It is a dangerous disease because it not only poisons the blood but causes heaviness, oppression, and dulls the intellect. Then follow chronic headaches, loss of appetite, slow digestion, nervousness, bad breath, dingy complexion and low spirits. It will eventually bring on liver and kidney disease in some incurable form. But sufferers from this dreaded malady are speedily

Cured by

Warner's SAFE Cure and Warner's SAFE Pills. Leading physicians the world over, have acknowledged this fact, and thousands of people throughout the land have testified to it.

Warner's

SAFE Cure puts a stop to backaches, headaches, constipation, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, tired feelings and sleeplessness. It builds up the exhausted system. It is a sure cure for liver and kidney complaint in any form, and the only remedy that has ever been able to cure Bright's disease.

If you are feeling the need of such a remedy, you cannot do better than try this king of remedies, the great

Safe Cure

GOOD AS SETTLED.

Venezuelan Boundry Dispute Will Be Arbitrated.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Secretary Olney to-day received a cablegram from Senor Andrade, the Venezuelan minister to Washington, who is now in Caracas, stating that the Venezuelan government has accepted the agreement reached by the United States and Great Britain for the arbitration of the boundary dispute and that an extra session of the Venezuelan congress has been called to consider the treaty. Thus the last obstacle to the amicable settlement of this important dispute will be removed. The following statement given out by the state department embraces all of the information in the possession of the department respecting the treatment by Venezuela of the proposed arbitration treaty:

"Secretary Olney received this morning a telegram from Minister Andrade at Caracas that the memorandum agreed upon between Great Britain and the United States for the settlement of the Venezuelan boundary question is accepted by the Venezuelan government; that the memorandum will be published at Caracas this afternoon and that an extra session of the Venezuelan congress will be called as soon as possible in order that the memorandum may be carried into effect by the necessary treaty between Great Britain and Venezuela."

The department has also made public the text of the heads of the proposed treaty, as they were agreed upon between Great Britain and the United States, showing that the advance publication through the Associated Press was perfectly correct.

M'KINLEY READS IT.

Anxious to See What Cleveland Says on Cuba.

Canton, Dec. 9.—The reading of President Cleveland's message to congress had scarcely been finished when President-elect McKinley was presented with a copy of it from the Associated Press. He immediately dropped his work in hand and, seating himself in a comfortable rocking chair, proceeded to read the important state paper. It was a bright, sunshiny day outside, almost springlike in the balminess of the air, and the major was evidently in the best of his usual good spirits when he read aloud to friends about him the first two paragraphs uttered by Mr. Cleveland referring to the recent election. At these introductory sentences Mr. McKinley made no effort to conceal his pleasure at the pleasant reference made to the result of the contest. Perhaps the greatest interest shown was in his reading of Mr. Cleveland's exposition of the Cuban situation, which he followed closely and read in full. At this time, however, neither his face nor his words gave any indication as to his sentiments, except the indication of the deepest interest in the subject under consideration. When the next president read Mr. Cleveland's words concerning the operation and effects of the present tariff law, although it was certain he did not concur in the beliefs expressed, he made no sign by expression of countenance or use of words which would indicate his differing ideas on that subject, although those about him were inclined to comment.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Wheat—December, 77 5-8c; January, 78 1-8c; May, 80 5-8c; July, 74 3-4c. Corn—December, 22c; January, 23 1-8c; March, 20 1-8c; May, 27c. Oats—December, 18 1-8c; January, 18 1-2c; May, 21 3-8c. Pork—December, $6.85; May, $7.57. Lard—January, $3.85; May, $4.07 1-2. Ribs—December, $3.85; January, $3.85; May, $4. Flax—Cash, 77c; N. W., 79c; December, 6 1-2c; May, 80 3-4c. Timothy—Cash, $2.50; December, $2.55; February, $2.65; March, $2.75. Rye—Cash, 30 1-2c; December, 30 1-2c; May, 43c. Barley—Cash, No. 3, 22a26c.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Hogs—Market active, prices weak to 5c lower; light, $3.10a3.30; mixed, $3.05a3.35; heavy, $2.90a3.30; rough, $2.90a3. Cattle slow and 5a10c lower; beeves, $3.40a5.40; cows and heifers, $1.60a4; Texas steers, $2.80a4.20; stockers and feeders, $2.85a4. Sheep steady to strong.

Minneapolis, Dec. 9.—Wheat—December opened at 78c and closed at 77 1-2c; May opened at 80c and closed at 79a79 1-2c. On track—No. 1 hard, 79 1-4c; No. 1 Northern, 78c; No. 2 Northern, 76 1-2c.

Milwaukee, Dec. 9.—Flour steady. Wheat lower; No. 2 spring, 70c; No. 1 Northern, 83c; May, 80 1-2c. Corn easier and quiet; No. 3, 23c. Oats dull and weak; No. 2 white, 20a21 1-4c. Barley neglected and weaker; No. 2, 33 1-2c; sample, 24a32c. Rye lower; No. 2, 40 3-4c. Provisions steadier. pork, $6.75; lard, $3.70.

South St. Paul, Dec. 9.—Hogs slow and 10c lower; sales at $2.70a2.95. Cattle strong and active; more fat cattle, stockers and feeders wanted; sales at $2.10a3.05.

Havana Fears a Raid.

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 9.—From a Cuban passenger through here from Havana, via Key West, which place he reached in a fishing vessel, it is learned the skirmishing around Guanabacoa still continues and that the raids are of nightly occurrence. The government officials fear that the larger detachment may dash into the city. A dispatch received here by one of the Cuban leaders states that nothing further has been heard from Weyler and that the officials seem worried.

Killed by the Wrong Oil.

West Superior, Wis., Dec. 9.—The little daughter of Robert McLeod of this city died yesterday from the effects of three doses of machine oil, administered instead of castor oil. The mistake was made by a local druggist, who alleges that the oil was not labeled correctly when shipped to him from the wholesale house. The physicians state that the child died from the effects of the oil and an inquest will probably be held.

Invited to Caucus.

Washington, Dec. 9.—When the determination was reached to hold a Republican caucus to-morrow an interesting situation at once presented itself. The silver Republican senators who bolted the St. Louis platform and ticket were an unknown quantity in their political affiliations, and whether to invite them to attend the Republican caucus was an undesided matter. It was finally concluded that notices should be sent them as before. This result placed the burden of action on the silver Republicans.

Early Chicagoan Dies.

Aberdeen, S. D., Special—Elihu Granger, born in Westmoreland, N. H., in 1802, died to-day at Scatterwood, this state. He setteled in Chicago in 1836 and as millwright helped to construct the first flouring mill in that city. For twelve years during the forties and fifties he was alderman and also served in capacity of superintendent of public works. He lost his home in the great fire of 1871 and removed to the interior of the state, where he lived upon a farm until coming to Dakota in 1884. He left a widow, three sons and one daughter. The latter is Mrs. [illegible] of Chicago.

Damp Walls in Winter.

When the snow prevents the fowls from going outside, the floor of the house becomes filthy and the walls become damp. The only remedy is to clean frequently and keep the floor well covered with litter. Damp walls require ventilation, and this must be done by leaving doors and windows open, keeping the hens inside by the aid of wire. If the walls are lined with tarred paper on the inside, they will become damp, and on a cold night will show white frosting; hence, as we stated before, the paper should be on the outside. A stable lantern hung up in the house, and a ventilator open at the highest point will dry the walls, but the ventilator must be closed when the sun goes down. A lump of stone lime will absorb moisture, and greatly aid in keeping the house dry. Watering pans (which allow of evaporation of water), exhalations of the fowls, and the moisture in the atmosphere, are all sources of dampness which cannot well be avoided when fowls are confined.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Cheap Butter and the Winter Dairy.

The winter season is opening with butter prices exceptionally low. Taking the Elgin market as a basis, the average price of creameries in December last year was nearly 25c, two years ago 24c, in 1893 27 1-2c, in 1892 30c, and in each of the three preceding years about 28 1-4c. Much of the time this fall to date butter has held around 18c and 19c in the West and usual differences in the East. A chief cause is found in liberal supplies. Cold storage warehouses hold much summer-made butter, and in addition the autumn outturn has kept up well. During the past six months Boston, New York and Chicago together have received nearly 20 per cent more butter than a year ago, and this supply tells on the market.

The satisfactory feature of the situation is the active manner in which butter goes into consumption and the fairly good export trade. The latter has fallen off recently, but during ten months of this year amounts to double a year ago. Moderate prices to consumers serve as a check to oleo people, who are turning out no great quantities, all things considered. With feedstuffs of nearly all kinds very cheap and low cost of production of milk, there is every possibility that winter dairying will prove large throughout the coming season, both West and East.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is the only cough medicine used in my house.—D. C. Albright, Mifflinburg, Pa., Dec. 11, '95.

A Crusher.

Tramp—Give us a nickel, will yer, lady?

Lady—Aren't you ashamed to strike a woman?—Yale Record.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY,
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

A Slander.

Boggs—If women were allowed to vote, the inspectors would never get through.

Foggs—Why not?

Boggs—An hour after one had cast her ballot she would sneak back and want to change it.

The Universal Curse.

Housewife—It is dreadful to think what whisky will bring a man to.

Tramp—That's so, mum. Afore I took t' de road I never thought I would hev t' eat sich things ez are bein' handed out t' me every day.—Judge.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

True to His Principles.

Waiter—Have you a Welsh rarebit? Very nice, sir.

Guest—I don't doubt it; but the fact is, my good man, I'm a vegetarian.—Buffalo Times.

Of Course Not!

Jones—Bicycling is ruinous business.

Smith—I don't find it so. What's your business?

Jones—I'm an undertaker.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Explained.

"Uncle Simon, what is old-fashioned politeness?"

"It is a way people used to have of asking a man about his health, and then listening until he got through replying."—Chicago Record.

The total cost of the houses of parliament was just upon $10,000,000.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Oliver Crosby, St. Paul, Minn., locomotive crane; Henry M. Grover, Anoka, Minn., potato digger; Rudolph Herbers, Beardsley, Minn., inside pipe cutter; Godfried Laube, Huron, S. D., trace holder; James F. McCoy, Winona, Minn., cylinder cock; Duncan J. McGregor, Duluth, Minn., snow plow and rutter; Andrew E. Yeon, Brainerd, Minn., gun sight.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn., and Washington, D. C.

Had No Chance.

Mrs. Moulton—Oh, how did you like the play last week?

Mrs. Flinders—Really, I don't know. I didn't have a chance to judge what it was like.

Mrs. Moulton—Why, I supposed, of course, that you'd ben there.

Mrs. Flinders—I was, but, you see, I was a member of a box party.—Cleveland Leader.

His Usual Style.

Mr. Hilltop—Well, the sultan really seems to be carrying out his promises of reform.

Mr. Birmingham—Oh, he always carries them out.

"What's that?"

"Yes, he always carries them out; but generally he carries them out and buries them."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Modern Mother

Has found that her little ones are improved more by the pleasant Syrup of Figs, when in need of the laxative effect of a gentle remedy than by any other, and that it is more acceptable to them. Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy, Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only.

Forewarned.

Walker—I come, sir, to ask for your daughter's hand.

Mr. Windy—Well, young man, before going any further, I may as well inform you that her hand is the least expensive thing about her.—Philadelphia North American.

Practised What He Preached.

Mother—Did you take that jam, Tommy?

Tommy—I'm sure I don't know.

Mother—Thomas, answer me!

Tommy—How can I? You told me not to let my left hand know what my right hand doeth!

In Hamburg a dog is taxed according to his size; a little tax for a little dog, and a big tax for a big dog.

It is reported that the cost of the Soudan expedition has been $3,250,000.

"Mend it or End it," has been the rallying cry of reform, directed against abuses municipal or social.

For the man who lets himself be abused by a cough the cry should be modified to: Mend it, or it'll end you. You can mend any cough with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
Bought and sold for future delivery. 1c to 5c per bu. deposit. Sample sales a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited. MASON BROS., 143 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill.
MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

OPIUM HABIT AND DRUNKENNESS Cured in 10 to 20 Days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. L. STEPHENS, LEBANON, OHIO.

PATENTS. 20 years' experience. Send sketch for advice. (L. Deane, late prin. examiner U.S. Pat. Office) Deane & Weaver, McGill Bldg., Wash. D.C.

BED-WETTING CURED OR NO PAY. Mrs. B. M. ROWAN, Milwaukee, Wis.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

Mind this. It makes no difference, RHEUMATISM Chronic, Acute, or Inflammatory of the Muscles, Joints, and Bones is cured by SAINT JACOBS TRY OIL IT

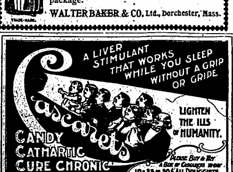
Important Notice!

The only genuine "Baker's Chocolate," celebrated for more than a century as a delicious, nutritious, and flesh-forming beverage, is put up in Blue Wrappers and Yellow Labels. Be sure that the Yellow Label and our Trade-Mark are on every package.

WALTER BAKER & CO. Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

TRADE-MARK.



A LIVER STIMULANT THAT WORKS WHILE YOU SLEEP WITHOUT A GRIP OR GRIPE
Cascarets
LIGHTEN THE ILLS OF HUMANITY.
CANDY CATHARTIC CURE CHRONIC CONSTIPATION.
PLEASE BUY & TRY A BOX OF CASCARETS TO-DAY
10-25-50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS
SENT BY MAIL FOR PRICE. ADDRESS NEAREST OFFICE.
The Sterling Remedy Co. CHICAGO NEW YORK

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI | ST.HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 16, 1896. | NUMBER 20.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The Cuba delegation in Washington has received news to the effect that if things continue as they are in the Philippine islands, they will be free before Cuba.

January 5 is the date being considered for bringing on the Pacific railroad funding bill in the house. A rule fixing that day has been drawn by the members of the committee on rules, and probably will be recommended.

The president has nominated Benjamin K. Kimberly of Colorado to be receiver of public moneys at Denver, Col.; also, John G. Ostrander of Alaska, to be commissioner in and for the district of Alaska, to reside at Juneau.

The senate, in executive session, ratified an agreement made between Secretary Olney and Minister Romero of Mexico, extending for a year the provisions of the treaty between the United States and Mexico for a survey and relocation of the international boundary line west of the Rio Grande.

A radical change in examination methods has been determined upon by the civil service commission, and will be put into immediate operation by new rules, making age, character, technical experience, intelligence and physical ability the test for a place as mechanic in the engineer branch of the government service.

The postmasters at Waukegan, Ill., and Evanston, Ill., recently removed by the president, have refused to yield their offices to their successors. Their action is based on a determination to continue in charge until their successors can produce their commissions. The department has been advised of their refusal, and an inspector has been ordered to assume charge of each office.

A. B. Fisher, minister of agriculture, will be in Washington soon to discuss with American authorities, the question of abolishing the international quarantine against cattle. If the government of the United States will agree to abolish a quarantine against Canadian cattle, it is understood that Mr. Fisher will agree, on behalf of the Canadian government, to abolish quarantine against American cattle.

People in Print.

Walter C. Heinecke, twenty years old, son of Edmund Heinecke, who claimed to be a German count, died in Manhattan hospital, New York, from wounds he inflicted himself. The police think there is a woman in the case.

J. B. Labouisse, ex-president of the New Orleans Cotton exchange, and well known in every cotton market in the country, began coughing and within two hours expired from heart failure, brought on by the violent exertion.

Mrs. Fannie Redding died suddenly at the house of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Burke, in Derby, Conn. She was 102 years old. She was the nurse of P. T. Barnum, the great showman, in his infancy. It is said that she saved Barnum's life when a boy by throwing away medicine prescribed for him while ill.

A Kentucky rumor coming from some of Gov. Bradley's close friends, is that he has been despondent of late; that he believes his throat trouble has been caused by the continual harrassment of his office; that his ill-health caused him to drop out of the senatorial race and has caused his hesitation about calling an extra session of the legislature.

The will of the late William Steinway, the New York piano manufacturer, bequeaths nearly the entire fortune to members of the immediate family. There are some small bequests of a public character and the Leiderkranz comes in for a small share, as do some of the German schools, but the charitable bequests are few.

Accidental Happenings.

Nearly 300 lives were lost by the sinking of an Italian steamer.

A head-on collision between two freights on the Southern Pacific road near Waelder, Tex., resulted in the death of two engineers, two firemen and a brakeman.

The Solderholm block at Jamestown, N. Y., owned by J. M. Johnson, burned early in the morning. George Killeman, a lodger, was suffocated by smoke and may die.

Frederick Loveland, the oldest and best known guide in the Adirondacks, has been accidentally killed by a falling tree. He was a giant in stature and possessed remarkable strength. He was seventy years old.

A Burlington plug train ran into an electric car on Choctow crossing at Leavenworth, Kan., smashing the front of the electric car and severely injuring Capt. Montgomery of the pension department of the soldiers' home at Fort Leavenworth.

Blanche Bishop, aged fourteen, a daughter of David Bishop, and Ella Alpha, aged fifteen, daughter of E. H. Alpha, while skating on thin ice at Rawley, Pa., broke through and were drowned, as was a brother of the latter who attempted to rescue them.

The entire plant and buildings of the Withington & Russell company, covering about six acres in Newton, a suburb of Nashville, Tenn., was totally destroyed by fire, together with a large stock of manufactured goods. The loss is $125,000. An exploding lamp was the cause of the fire.

Crimes and Criminals.

Maria Barberi, the New York girl who killed her recreant lover, has been acquitted.

Charles Scott was fatally shot by his wife at Lincoln, Neb. They quarreled and Scott started toward his wife with a knife. She secured a revolver and shot him in the eye.

The Ohio State board of pardons has refused to make a recommendation for clemency in the case of Tierney, the Erie county murderer. He must hang Dec. 17.

Robert E. Foote, attorney for Allen Henze Downen, the highwayman convicted at Denver for the murder of Joel G. Ashworth, has filed an application for a new trial, backed by an affidavit by Downen to the effect that his confession was untrue.

At Chicago, Ald. Frank C. Vierling has been arrested on a charge of embezzling $3,800 from a concern in Sacramento, Cal. The case was continued until Dec. 7, when he will be tried for the crime.

Mrs. Grace Dolan, a white woman, shot and instantly killed Henry Jackson at Indianapolis, a negro. Mrs. Dolan claims that Jackson was trying to enter her house, and after being driven away, returned and threw a brick at her.

Louis W. Hermann died at No. 44 Florence avenue, Chicago, from the effects of injuries received last Saturday evening in a personal encounter with Dorsey O'Connor. The men were representatives of rival publishing houses.

"Crazy Jim," the negro who brutally murdered one of the Williams boys and fatally wounded his brother, in Melton township, near Pine Bluff, Ark., was captured near the scene of his crime. He was fully identified. Reports last night say that a mob of farmers took the negro from the officers and lynched him.

From Foreign Shores.

The plague is spreading everywhere in India.

M. Meline, the French premier, declares for international bimetallism.

King Humbert gave audience to United States Ambassador McVeagh.

It is again said that England, Russia and France will settle the Eastern question.

Henry Fell Pease, Liberal member of parliament of the Cleveland division of the north riding of York, is dead.

The libel suit of Earl Russell against Lady Selina Scott, his mother-in-law, and three servants, was again adjourned in London until Jan. 4.

The British steamer Castle Eden, from Sierre Leone, with several hundred laborers to work upon the Panama canal, has arrived at Colon.

The Ursuline convent at Avignon, France, is restrained because of refusal to pay the new monastic tax, and put up for sale at auction. The nuns were the only bidders, and they bought back the convent for 5,005 francs.

The king of Greece has issued a manifesto demanding army maneuvers on a large scale, and summoning 10,000 men from the reserve force for permanent camp. The selection of a new rifle for the army and other military extensions long advocated by public and military opinions, has caused a sensation.

Otherwise.

The Massachusetts State Grange has adopted a resolution favoring Col. J. H. Brigham of Ohio for secretary of agriculture.

A joint convention of coal miners and operators to formulate a scale of wages in the Pittsburg district for next year is in session.

Whales have been numerous in the bay at Santa Cruz recently. A fishing boat narrowly escaped capsizing by one of them.

Some time since Clint R. Coulter, the well known Denver bicycle rider, covered a mile unpaced in 1:59 1-5, establishing a world's record, which has been allowed.

George Thomas, a merchant of Grand Junction, Col., brought on an attack of nose bleeding three weeks ago by lifting a sack of flour. The bleeding continued in spite of all the physicians could do, and he died.

Inspection of winter crops of celery now in the trenches in the Kalamazoo celery fields shows that fully one-third is rotten on account of damp, warm weather. The estimated loss is $50,000.

At the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Santa Fe system, held at Topeka, the entire board of directors, the executive committee and the officers of the board were re-elected.

The Knower Cottage, on the Cliffs at Newport, R. I., was sold to Henry Payne Whitney, son-in-law of Cornelius Vanderbilt, the price paid being a quarter of a million. Mr. Whitney will present the property to his wife.

An examination of the assets of the recently failed Baxter Springs (Kan.) bank, of which Col. Alexander Warner was president, reveals but $20.36 in cash on hand. The capital stock of the bank was $65,000.

John R. Strauchan, a well known mason contractor, who has been in business at Rochester, N. Y., for 25 years, has made an assignment, without preferences. It is estimated that his assets will foot up $175,000, while his liabilities will reach $120,000.

The Independent Club of Canada, which has been in existence in Montreal for some five months, and whose object is the attainment of Canadian independence, is gaining in strength, and a convention probably will be held next March with a view to federating all the groups and clubs having a like object.

The Union National Bank of New Orleans, which suspended payment on Sept. 1, 1896, having complied with all the conditions imposed by the comptroller of the currency precedent to resumption, is now in a solvent condition, and has been permitted to open its doors.

The Columbia & Red Mountain railroad, the new line which is pushing its way into the new mining regions around Rossland, B. C., has progressed rapidly in building. The last advices from Rossland say that the tracklayers are within a couple of miles of town. The completion of the line will be hailed as quite an event in the North.

During the past season seven brothers named McCutcheon have hunted birds of rare plumage, such as the egret, heron, eider duck, etc., on Madeline bay, Lower California, and the value of the feathers secured by them is estimated at $7,000. Egret feathers are worth $32 a pound in San Francisco, and none of the other feathers are worth less than $5 or $6 per pound.

CUBANS MUST WAIT

LEADERS IN THE HOUSE DISPOSED TO BE CONSERVATIVE.

The Reported Assassination of Maceo Rekindles Interest in the Cuban Question, but Leaders Believe With President Cleveland That There Should Be No Intervention by This Congress.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 15.—The Citizen contains the following: Justo Carrillo, a well known Cuban of this city, brother of the Cuban general, Carrillo, has received the following letter from a trustworthy correspondent in Havana confirming the reports of the death of Antonio Maceo and showing that he was killed by treachery.

"Havana, Dec. 9—Dear Friend Justo: Our brave general, Antonio Maceo, and the greater part of his staff has been murdered by the Spaniards, the Spanish major, Cirujeda, acting the part of assassin, with Dr. Maximo Zertucha as an assistant in the horrible drama. Convinced that, notwithstanding his enormous army, he could do nothing against our gallant leader, who had so repeatedly defeated the Spanish generals in Pinar del Rio, Weyler conceived the idea of appeasing his beastly instincts by cold blooded murder; and making the best of the secret relations between Dr. Zertucha and the marquis of Ahumada, he planned with the latter his hellish scheme. Weyler took the field and in his absence Ahumada proposed through Zertucha a conference with Maceo to take place at a certain point in the Province of Havana, with the view of arranging plans for the cessation of hostilities.

"The conditions and place of meeting having been agreed upon, Maceo crossed the trocha over the road to Guanajay without being molested by the forts, but as soon as he arrived at the place decided upon he and his party were greeted by a tremendous volley from the troops under Maj. Cirujeda, who lay conveniently in ambush. Most of the officers on his staff fell with Gen. Maceo. Zertucha is alive, because he was aware of the scheme and remained in the rear. The Spaniards know where the bodies are, but are bent on feigning ignorance to blot out the vestiges of the crime."

Maceo Said to Be Alive.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 14.—A special from Key West says: Passengers by the Olivette to-day announce that Maceo is still alive. Dr. Zertucha went with Maceo as far as the trocha and saw the party through safely. They were accompanied by a mulatto who resembles Maceo, and who was killed in the engagement after passing the trocha. Then Maceo and his few followers returned to Pinar del Rio province and went into a cabin, when the doctor reported to the Spaniards. The latter succeeded in killing most of Maceo's party, but Gen. Maceo brained the first man to attack him and escaped to the woods, leaving his clothing and effects at the cabin. Great excitement exists here over the news.

More Filibusters.

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 15.—Sixty-seven men left here this morning on the regular Florida Central & Peninsular train in two private coaches for a point near Jacksonville, where they will embark to-night for Cuba. They form one of three combined expeditions now en route to Cuba. Gen. Carlos Roloff has sailed from some Northern port in the Bermuda. It is said that he is to be met by two expeditions as he comes South. Rumor has it that one is to be made up from the Atlanta Cuban colony and to go to the nearest port where they will embark. The second party left here this morning and five Americans were among the number. It is thought that they will go to Trout creek, arrive there after dark and embark at once on the Three Friends. The Cubans here state that they will be on the ocean at midnight. At daylight this morning small squads of Cubans, all carrying bundles, were seen making their way toward the Florida Central. Those of the party who came from Tampa took back streets to the depot. According to the best information obtainable this is to be the largest combination ever attempted by the Cubans.

Sympathy For Cubans.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The headquarters of the Cuban legation in this city was the center of interest to a number of callers to-day who had come to express to Senor Quesada their sorrow at the death of Gen. Maceo and to offer their sympathy and, in some cases, help for the Cuban cause. These callers included a number of congressmen and two senators (whose names the Cuban representatives declined to disclose), who told him of their desire to see some action by congress that would be of assistance to the insurgents. Senor Quesada says that he has received during the past few days about fifty letters, many from persons and organizations offering to send men to assist the Cubans in fighting for liberty.

Texans With Them.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 15.—There was a great meeting at the city hall in the interest of the freedom of Cuba. Two thousand representative men and a hundred women were present. Andrew Jackson Houston, a son of the hero of San Jacinto, presided and made a characteristic speech. Addresses were also made by Mr. Charles Worth and H. C. Stevenson. The resolutions were adopted by a rising and unanimous vote. After that, the meeting formed a permanent organization for the purpose of helping Cuba in every necessary way to throw off the yoke of its oppressor.

Still Another Story.

Havana, Dec. 13.—Further inquiries by the correspondent of the Associated Press have elicited the following additional details, which are positively reliable, of the manner in which Antonio Maceo met his death. It is known that Maceo expected the insurgent brigadier general, Sanchez, to concentrate his forces in Havana province in readiness for Maceo when he should pass the trocha. It happened, however, that in passing the Spanish column commanded by Maj. Cirujeda Maceo mistook the force of guerrillas under Peral for Sanchez's vanguard, and found himself among them before he discovered his mistake. At the first volley from the Spanish, Maceo fell wounded. The insurgents, taken by surprise, commenced a general fire as they retreated, and abandoned Maceo in a dying condition.

More Arms for Cubans.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 15.—Every indication points to the departure to-morrow morning of another Cuban expedition. The steamer Commodore has received permission to leave port and is lying at one of the railway wharves preparatory to taking on a cargo early in the morning. After loading the arms the owners of the steamer will demand clearance papers for a Cuban port on authority of the decision of Attorney General Harmon, and custom house officials are expected to grant clearance. If the steamer shall then be seized by a revenue cutter the owners will turn the vessel over to the government and then institute suit to recover the value of the vessel and cargo. The Three Friends and the Dauntless are expected to follow the example of the Commodore.

Kick to the Powers.

Madrid, Dec. 15.—A meeting of the cabinet council has been called for this week, this being the first meeting of the cabinet since President Cleveland's message was transmitted to congress, on account of the illness of Senor Canovas, the premier. According to some of the Spanish newspapers, the question will be raised at this council of the expediency of a confidential note to the ambassadors of the powers here in Madrid in regard to President Cleveland's message. The cabinet ministers, however, maintain an absolute reserve on this subject, and, therefore, any newspaper statements on the subject are premature.

Havana, Dec. 13.—Capt. Gen. Weyler arrived once more in this city to-day on horseback, accompanied by members of his staff and a cavalry escort. The streets of Havana were thronged with people and the houses of the town had been gaily decorated. The Marques Ahumada, vice governor general, accompanied by the colonel of his staff, met Capt. Gen. Weyler at the entrance of the palace. Gen. Weyler soon appeared on the palace balcony, bowing his acknowledgments to the vivas which the multitude in the square were shouting for Spain, Spanish Cuba, the king, the queen, the army, the navy and the volunteers. Capt. Gen. Weyler made a brief address in the course of which he said: "I have only directed. The army has done all." Various civil and military delegations were received later by Gen. Weyler at the palace. Marques Ahumada also offered his congratulations upon the death of Maceo.

The Doctor's Story.

Havana, Dec. 13.—Dr. Zortucha, the personal physician of Antonio Maceo, who, after surrendering to Col. Tort at San Felipe, furnished confirmation of the reported death of the great Cuban leader, has given to the press in an interview at Malena del Sur, additional facts in connection with the case. It seems that Antonio Maceo and his companions did not cross the trocha or military line of Pinar del Rio in the sense generally understood. They passed from Pinar del Rio into Havana province by sea, in an open boat, five trips being required to take the whole party of insurgents from Pinar del Rio to Carbenez, this province, and as the boat would only hold eight men in addition to the handlers, it will be seen that Maceo's party was composed of only forty men. The night was dark and stormy. Maceo was accompanied by Miro, another important insurgent leader, and others of his staff. They landed near Banes, and shortly afterward occurred the encounter with the Spanish troops under Maj. Cirujeda, resulting, as alleged, in the death of the Cuban chief.

The meeting between the Spaniards and the insurgents was seemingly of an accidental nature, the former having no idea at that time that Maceo had succeeded in leaving the Province of Pinar del Rio. In spite of the official accounts of the death of Maceo and Francisco Gomez there are many here who refuse to credit the report. Friends of the insurgents express the belief that either the jewelry and other things alleged to have been found by the Spanish soldiers did not belong to Maceo or else that they were placed upon the body as a ruse, in order to throw dust in the eyes of the Spaniards while Maceo pushed on eastward and communicated with Maximo Gomez.

Still Discredited.

Key West, Fla., Dec. 13.—Maceo's death is still discredited by the greater number of prominent Cubans here. Yet there are a number who fear it is true. All await the arrival of the steamship from Havana to-morrow, however, before conceding it to be true. The Spanish consul received official news of Maceo's death yesterday. The report that Dr. Zertucha, who was Maceo's physician, had seen Maceo's body exhumed, is untrue. It is learned from a reliable source that the doctor never was Maceo's physician. Some gentlemen here believe that Maceo had formed a plan with Gomez to go to the Havana district to meet Gomez's forces there, as Gomez had sent 7,000 men to the Havana district. Maceo crossed the trocha with 600 men. In a skirmish with the forces of Gen. Arolas after he had crossed the trocha Maceo's forces wounded twelve of the Spanish troops. It is reported that Maceo left Rios Rivera, his second in command, who landed from the United States Sept. 1, in charge of the insurgent forces in Pinar del Rio. Rios Rivera defeated the Spanish in the last war in the presence of Jovellar. If the report of Maceo's death be true, then Cubans will cry "viva Rios Rivera."

The United States warship Newark arrived here this morning. Nothing can be learned of her errand.

Dauntless Seized.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 13. — The steamer Dauntless, that has achieved such a reputation as a filibuster, was seized by the government last night on complaint of the Spanish consul that she was contemplating another expedition. Her papers were taken away and an officer from the Boutwell put on board. To-day, on demand of Owner Bisbee's lawyer, her papers were returned, but he was informed that she could not leave the harbor until he had made affidavit that she was not going on any expedition save with a revenue officer on board. Bisbee intimates that the revenue officer here will be sued, as also the captain of the Boutwell for seizure.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The reported assassination of Maceo has rekindled interest in the cuban question in the house, although it is hardly likely that the interest will be productive of any legislative action. Representatives are unanimous in denouncing the method by which it is claimed the Cuban leader was entrapped to his death, although many of them say that the information up to date is insufficient to justify any assumption by congress that Maceo was assassinated. Several joint resolutions, calling for the recognition of the independence and for the belligerency of the revolutionists, have been referred to the house committee on foreign affairs. Chairman Hitt, of that committee, says that a meeting will be called this week to take up the diplomatic appropriation bill, and to consider general business. It is probable that the Cuban partisans on the committee will endeavor to bring up their projects for recognition, and there will be a discussion, if nothing more, of the question.

The house leaders are disposed to be very conservative in their treatment of this question, and most of them believe with President Cleveland, that there should be no intervention by this congress. This is understood to be the position held by Speaker Reed and Chairman Hitt. Messrs. Hitt, Draper and Adams constitute the standing subcommittee on Cuba of the foreign affairs committee. Gen. Draper said to-day that the conflicting reports left him in doubt whether Maceo had been assassinated or whether he was really dead. He thought it quite probable that the conflict had become one of wanton murder on both sides might be correct. He saw no possible outcome of the revolution but a final victory of Spain or intervention by the United States. Gen. Draper is still opposed to intervention as he was in the last congress.

Representative McCreary of Kentucky, formerly chairman of the committee, said that the killing of Maceo was a great outrage, if it had been perpetrated as reported. Such a violation of faith had never occurred during the Civil War, he said.

Stories Denied.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Inquiry here as to the movements of the United States cruisers Newark and Raleigh, whose sudden departure from Key West led to the rumor that they have gone to Havana, shows that the vessels are simply engaged in the enforcement of the neutrality laws, and are not at all likely to go near Havana. The navy department has had a ship assigned to this service for nearly a year past, and the Newark, which has just arrived on the Florida coast, undertakes this duty as the relief of the Raleigh, which will soon come North. The rumor that the Competitor prisoners are to be executed to-morrow can be set down at once as another alarmist story without foundation.

American Consulate Guarded.

Havana, Dec. 16.—The United States consul general in this city is under a special guard of armed policemen. This precaution is taken by the Spanish authorities owing to the fear that the indignation expressed by Spanish sympathizers against the United States would find vent in an attack upon the consulate. There have been fresh signs of the hostile feeling against the United States in view of the news from there of the ardent sympathy felt with the insurgents over the death of Antonio Maceo and the allegations there of the manner in which he was killed.

Chasing a Filibuster.

Key West, Fla., Dec. 16.—The cruisers Newark and Raleigh received telegraphic instructions from Washington to-day and at once put to sea to capture the steamer Three Friends, which left at an early hour this morning with a cargo of arms and ammunition and about fifty Cubans to be landed in Cuba. Instructions were also received for the revenue cutter McLain at Miami and the Winona and Forward at Key West to intercept the Three Friends if possible. Every effort will thus be made to catch the little filibuster which succeeded in getting away with its cargo despite the vigilance of the government officials and Spanish spies.

Maceo's Successor.

New York, Dec. 16.—The last letter that the Cuban junta in this city received from Antonio Maceo curiously contained an estimate of the qualities of Gen. Ruiz Rivera, who, if Maceo has been killed, as is now generally admitted, will succeed to that insurrectionist leader's command.

Fight in Progress.

Key West, Fla., Dec. 16.—Firing has been heard all day long west of Havana. Not steady, but desultory, as if running fight were being had. Several companies of Spanish troops were sent out during the day in that direction, but no tidings have yet been received of the results. On account of articles to the American press displeasing to Gen. Weyler, the censors' rules have become more rigid and arbitrary, and American correspondents have trouble in getting at news matters on the island. Energetic endeavors are being made to hunt out the correspondents of the New York junta in Havana. Weyler threatens to dispose of them summarily if caught. Over $5,000 will be raised here and at Tampa this week for the New York junta.

Lumbermen Will Meet.

Cincinnati, Dec. 16.—Over fifty delegates are here for the national convention of lumber interests. It is expected that over 150 delegates will be present when the convention convenes to-morrow for a session of two days. The call was issued by J. E. De Fabaugh, publisher of the Timberman, and W. B. Judson, publisher of the Lumberman. The lumber dealers of twenty-seven states have responded to the call on these responses. At the preliminary conference the tariff of 1894 was condemned as discriminating against the lumber interest.

Long Life Horribly Ended.

Washington, Dec. 16. — Mrs. Alice Thomas, a colored woman, who is known to be over 102 years old, was fatally burned to-day. She fell against the stove, and not having strength to summon assistance, died a horrible death.

Death of a Baroness.

Paris, Dec. 16. — Baroness Leonino, daughter of Baron Gustave de Rothschild, died to-day as a result of a fall from her horse while hunting.

Seven Schooners Wrecked.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 16.—The mail steamer from the north reports that seven schooners were wrecked in last Wednesday's gale.

KILLED HIS FATHER

BLOODY WORK OF AN INSANE MAN AT VINELAND, N. J.

The Entire Family Is Crazed by Religion, but When the Father Recovers From the Frenzy and Declines to Further Participate in the Orgies He Is Beaten to Death by One of His Sons.

New York, Dec. 16.—At Vineland, N. J., to-day, a crowd of armed men battered down the door of the home of Luigi Jurio, cut through the cellar, and after a struggle captured Antonio Jurio, who had brutally murdered his father. In the cellar with the murderer were his mother and brother, all insane with religious frenzy.

Until recently the Jurio family were living happily, but the death of a younger son seemed to turn the minds of them all. Since that time they have been exhibiting religious frenzy, and a few weeks ago two of the sons, one of whom was Antonio, were arrested and sent to jail. They were discharged a day or two ago and the father, Luigi Jurio, incurred the wrath of Antonio by refusing any longer to indulge in the insane and boisterous religious service. Antonio in his rage to-day seized a club and attacked his father. Outside the house he dealt the old man a terrific blow on the head, and when the old man had fallen he planted his foot on his chest and pounded his father's head into a shapeless mass. Crowds of people saw the murder but none dared interfere to save the man's life. Finally two of the spectators secured guns and at the sight of these Antonio fled to his home. A posse was formed and a crowd of armed men surrounded the house. But the place had been barricaded and it was necessary before an entrance could be effected to batter in the door. The family were heard shrieking and praying in the cellar, the trap door of which had been fastened down below. Then axes were secured and a large section of the floor cut away. Half a dozen men, prepared for any emergency, dropped down into the dark hole where the crazy Italians had taken their stand, and after a terrific struggle managed to bind the murderer with ropes. He was then hoisted up and carried off to jail along with his insane mother and brother.

WHO IS HART?

Supposed Western Swindler Under Arrest in New York.

New York, Dec. 16.—Search among the effects of James C. Hart, accused of swindling Mrs. Elizabeth M. Dela Barre out of $9,000 worth of diamonds, has caused the police here to believe that Hart had carried on extensive swindling schemes in the West. There were several letter heads of the firm of "R. R. Howell & Co., mill and millers' supplies, Minneapolis." There were also a lot of cards of "R. R. Howell, purchasing agent for R. R. Howell & Co., The Rookery, Minneapolis." There were also letter heads of the firm of "Matthews & McCarroll, bicycle dealers and commission merchants, 155 Madison street, Chicago." There was also an account book of the last mentioned firm with the Union Trust Company of Chicago and a check on the Union Trust for $358.30, signed by the name of the same firm. A Union Trust company check book and a book of promissory notes were also among the effects.

Minneapolis, Dec. 16. — The New York police wired the Minneapolis authorities to-day for the record of Jas. Hart, who has been going under the alias of R. R. Howell, Jr., of Minneapolis, and who is under arrest in New York on the charge of fraudulently obtaining money from young girls. R. R. Howell & Co. of this city informed the police that Hart had been traveling through the East representing himself as a son of the senior member of the firm and had raised considerable money on this representation, giving them no end of trouble.

ENROLLED FOR CUBA.

A Colorado Populist at the Head of a Volunteer Movement.

Denver, Dec. 16.—It is claimed by leaders that a movement is being organized here to send troops to Cuba, about 1,000 being already enrolled. John McAndrew, middle-of-the-road Populist candidate for attorney general at the recent election, has been chosen commander. Mr. McAndrew said last night that the volunteers will not leave Denver by stealth, as was originally proposed, nor by trains, but will go overland either on foot or horseback, gathering men on the line of march till they reach where they will make a great army. He thinks further interference with their plans would precipitate a revolution in this country.

INTO THE GOLD REGION.

A New Transportation Company Is Being Organized.

Duluth, Dec. 16.—A new transportation company is being formed, the object of which it to provide communication with the Rainy Lake gold country. J. C. Foley, one of the heavy owners of gold mines in the Seine river country, is interested in the company. A passenger and freight steamer costing $15,000 will be built and run between Rat Portage and Fort Francis, on the Lake of the Woods and Rainy river. A telegraph line to connect with the Canadian Pacific line and run down to Sawbill and from there to the town of Foley is also being arranged for. The steamer and telegraph line are to be in operation by next spring. The Foley 20-stamp mill, in the Seine river country, is to be started up at once.

One Is Discharged.

St. Paul, Dec. 16. — Sheriff Waterman of Barron, Wis., interviewed and examined to-day at the central police station Peter Dedario and Joseph Alamietto, the Italian laborers arrested in this city for supposed complicity in a recent murder near Barron. A few questions convinced the sheriff that Alamietto was in no wise connected with the crime and he was discharged. The information afforded by Dedario, however, was less satisfactory. He was held to await further developments.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

John S. Pinney has resigned as secretary of the St. Paul Commercial club.

The postoffice at Altoona, Pipestone county, has been discontinued.

The Minnesota branch of the National League of Fourth-Class Postmasters completes its organization.

The poultry show may be held in connection with the horse and dog show in Minneapolis.

The fourth class postmasters of Freeborn county have formed an organization to promote their own interests.

A farmer named Tiller, residing in Wanamingo, was killed by a loaded wagon passing over him.

Gov. Clough has revoked his proclamation calling a special election for sheriff of Anoka county.

John Adler, who killed Bernard Nelles at St. Paul, has been committed to the insane asylum at St. Peter.

Edwin P. Winter, president of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, is given a banquet by prominent citizens of St. Paul.

Harvey Randall was bound over to the grand jury at Caledonia by Judge Dorival for assault with intent to kill a young lady, Lily Gottenbein, Nov. 12.

The miscellaneous cash earnings of the Stillwater prison for the last month amounted to $85,170.92, the largest in the history of the prison.

The state investment board decides to retire $150,000 of the bonds of 1891.

State Superintendent Pendergast will recommend increased appropriations for the public schools.

John Dyvig, a farmer living southeast of Windom, died from injuries to his spinal column received from being thrown from his sleigh recently by a runaway horse.

A farmer at Beroun, a small place six miles north of Pine City, had a team of horses killed yesterday while attempting to cross the track before a freight train.

The Rochester water works are to be sold on mortgage foreclosure being made in the United States circuit court. Burt W. Eaton of Rochester has been appointed special master in chancery to sell the same.

The Northwestern Telephone company has nearly completed its line to Rochester from Winona. The Rochester city council, at a special meeting recently granted the company right of way through the city.

Mrs. Charles Austin of Alden has received news of the sudden death of her father, John Wetzel, an old soldier and former resident of that place, but who has lived in the East for the past three years.

Lars Grundeen, an old settler of the town of Stockholm, died suddenly from heart failure, while at the supper table at his neighbor's house, where he had been engaged during the day killing and dressing hogs.

The south-bound local on the St. Paul & Duluth killed a team of horses at Mission Creek near Hinckley and narrowly escaped killing the driver, who had driven onto the crossing in front of the approaching train.

The team of Will Nimmons of Elgin, while returning home, ran away at a crossing north of town and was caught on a railroad bridge by a train. One horse was killed and Nimmons was quite seriously injured.

R. A. Rordin and G. D. Toffler, would-be doctors, were arrested at Kenyon by Deputy Sheriff Goodfellow on the complaint of Dr. J. A. Gates, for practicing medicine without a license.

Great Northern surveyors, who are engaged on the survey of a line from Fosston, to connect Duluth and Winnipeg, at Deer River, are now camped half a mile northeast of Deer River, and are working toward the northern end of Bass lake.

Clarence Cook of Amboy was arraigned at Mankato on an indictment charging him with murder in the first degree in shooting Henry G. Bornt last June. He pleaded not guilty. The trial of Louis Balser on the charge of Crook's trial will follow.

Young Fahay, who has been in the Sibley county jail since July 4, when he was arrested for being implicated in the St. John's picnic row, which caused the death of Louis Basel, was indicted for murder in the second degree, and his trial begins at once.

Herman Piepho das arraigned by Justice McMahon at Faribault on a charge of assault in the first degree for attempting to cut his wife's throat last night. He pleaded guilty and was held to await the action of the grand jury which meets next May.

At Jackson, John Iverson has been sentenced by Judge Brown to five years and four months' imprisonment for forgery. He is a young man who has done a flourishing business in forging orders, grain checks and notes, in the vicinity of Jackson and around Fulda, Minn.

Sam Unseth, a young farmer living near Fertile, went to the woods under the pretense of hunting squirrels, and committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with his rifle. Unseth was sober and had no bad habits. Unreciprocated affection is given as the cause of his act.

The location of the normal school at Duluth will be brought up at the coming session of the legislature again. The last legislature gave Duluth the location, but the land offered by the city proved to have a faulty title and the matter has been in the United States supreme court for some time without advancing any toward a clear title. Members from this county are trying to get the matter cleared up so that they can act in the legislature.

The Lake Superior consolidated iron mines have arranged to resume work on the valuable Rush property near Hibbing. The shaft will be sunk to make the property ready for shipping next year. An attempt at sinking a shaft was made some time ago, but was stopped on account of water. The Consolidated has ordered 200 men to be put to work at the Tilden mine near Bessemer, Mich., to be continued all winter. But twenty-nine men have been working at Tilden and additional men will be a great help to Bessemer during the winter.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST
SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:35 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:13 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co.

For information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write:

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
CHAS. S. FEE, Crookston, Minn.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS,
DESIGNS,
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain, free, whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Oldest agency for securing patents in America. We have a Washington office. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN,

beautifully illustrated, largest circulation of any scientific journal, weekly, terms $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Specimen copies and HAND BOOK ON PATENTS sent free. Address

MUNN & CO.,
361 Broadway, New York.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the post-office at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 16, 1896.

How He is Elected.

The exact procedure of the Presidential elector is known to comparatively few people, and a recitation of the principal points is always worth while. The election takes place on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The vote is for electors, the number of whom in each state must equal the whole number of Representatives and Senators from the state in Congress. The electors are required by the constitution to meet in their respective states upon the same day, and Congress has decreed the second Monday in January following the election as the date. The electors vote separately for President and Vice-President (one of whom at least shall not be from the same state as the elector), and the list of voters, after being signed, certified and sealed, is transmitted to Washington, directed to the president of the Senate. Congress is required to be in session for counting the ballots of the electors upon the second Wednesday in the following February, the president of the Senate opening the certificates in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives jointly assembled. A majority of the electorial votes elect the President and likewise the Vice-President.

If no one has a majority, the election goes to the House of Representatives, the three (or two) candidates having the highest number of electoral votes being voted upon by states. The Representatives from each state has one vote, there must be two-thirds of the states present for a quorum, and a majority of the states elect the President. If the House of Representatives fail to choose a President before the next March 4th, the Vice-President acts as President. The Vice-President will have been elected previously, in all human probability, because if he has not been named by a majority of electorial votes at the joint session in Congress, the Senate is directed to select him by a majority vote from the two highest numbers on the original electorial list, a two-thirds quorum being required for this action.

Beyond the provisions of the constitution, an act of the Forty-ninth Congress covers all proceedings in case of dispute, and also fixes the presidential succession in the emergency of death, resignation or disability in the following order: Secretary of State, Treasury, War, Attorney-General, Postmaster-General, Secretary of the Navy and Interior. But this acting President must have been approved by the Senate as a cabinet officer, and within constitutional requirements of Presidential eligibility. He is compelled to convene Congress immediately and with twenty days notice.

The data above in the pendig Presidential succession matter fall as follows:

Election.............November 3, 1896
Electors vote..........January 11, 1897
Congress counts votes February 10, 1897

The electorial vote is 447, of which 224 constitute a majority.

Gov. elect Pingree of Michigan says: "If the railroads would cut off their free passes, do away with their lobbyists in the legislature, discharge their high priced attorneys, discard their 1000 mile tickets and permit all persons to ride at the rate of two cents a mile, they would earn more money and be in better favor with the public, from whom they derive their support."

Canadian Excursions via Chicago.

If you wish to spend the winter in Canada, please take notice that the usual $40.00 rate is again in effect, and that tickets will be sold from THIS STATION every day this month (December) to all points in Ontario west of Toronto. These tickets will be good going within ten days from date of sale, and good for return three months from date of sale, and good for return three months from date of sale. Extension of time for return can be had on payment of a small additional sum. These tickets will read via St. Paul and Chicago, and in buying from your home ticket agent, ask him to sell you one over the Burlington Route, acknowledged by all patrons to be the speediest, safest and most comfortable of any.

GEO. P. LYMAN,
G. P. A., C. B. & N. R. R.

THE GOLF ARM.

Medical Men Still on the Lookout For New Disease.

Medical authorities have decided that "golf arm" is a disease likely to come upon a golf player at any moment. Whether the experienced player or the rank amateur is the most likely to come under its influence has not been decided.

The one thing that all agree to is that the disease is a reality and one that is not to be lightly considered. Many a golf player has been attacked by the disease without knowing that it existed, and, though temporary relief may have been had, it is a question yet to be determined whether improper treatment of what may be thought to be merely a sprain will not render a player a chronic sufferer from the new disease.

"Golf arm" is an affliction of the musculo-spiral nerve, the functions of which are interfered with under certain conditions which have been found to occur more frequently in the playing of golf than in any other game of physical exertion.

The attention of physicians was first called to the new disease by the complaints of professional golf players. These players told of acute pains along the upper part of the arm. Similar pains had often been noticed, but were thought to be the natural result of unusual exercise.

Members of the British Medical society first called attention to it, with the result that a series of experiments was begun on the golf links and carried on to a considerable extent. The arms of scores of golf players under various conditions were examined, and the results of these examinations were carefully compared. The disease is an interruption of the direct current of the musculo-spiral nerve, which is brought under conditions where it really works against itself, and in doing so is urged to greater limits than nature intended it should, thus producing pain.

The styles of play most likely to produce "golf arm" have been found to be the vigorous "pressing and forcing," which, when employed, often produce a painful sensation more quickly than any other action in the game.

While American physicians have not carried on a plan of investigation and experiment they have taken an interest in the new disease. The main idea that has been developed in America is that "golf arm" is more liable to attack an experienced than an inexperienced player. Pains in the arm of the beginner at golf come, it is believed, merely from the unusual exercise. But when the pains strike the old timer it is more serious. Just what the remedy will be for the new disease has not yet been determined. The idea seems to be that the medical authorities will soon be able to fix on which of the golf strokes interferes most directly on the spinal nerve and will suggest the elimination of such hurtful strokes from the game.—New York Journal.

Supreme Court Controlled by Precedents.

American lawyers in arguing cases and judges in deciding them according to the practice under the common law system are controlled almost entirely by precedents, and while considerations of justice and equity are sometimes indulged in they have legally but little weight. Such a system is very unsatisfactory, because, each case being different from every other, the decisions in the one cannot be made to exactly fit the other. Moreover, it entails a herculean task upon the lawyers and judges, making it obligatory for them to search for precedents not only in the courts of their own country, but even in those of England. With the justices of the supreme court of the United States this work is still more arduous, since they must examine and be familiar with not only all cases decided by the various federal courts, but by all the courts of the 45 different commonwealths which form the Union, each with its own distinct legislation, and with the Roman law also, as the state of Louisiana has adopted it, entailing besides the need of keeping a very large library. Doubtless no public functionaries under the federal government have more arduous work imposed upon them. The day is not long enough to permit its completion, and I have personally known more than one who have broken down under that tremendous strain.—M. Romero, Mexican Minister to the United States, in North American Review.

The First Occasion.

The caution of the Aberdonian in giving an answer to a direct question was well illustrated the other day when I asked an eastern friend of mine whose family was not noted for very active habits:

"Was not your father's death very sudden?"

Slowly drawing one hand from his pocket and pulling down his beard, the interrogated one cautiously replied:

"Aye, it was unco' sudden for him. I ne'er kent o' ma feyther bein in a hurry before."—London Tit-Bits.

Prices of farm products are a little higher, and we are all happy; but when on the descending scale they struck the present point we all thought we were ruined. Everything is estimated relatively, after all.

Hams need to be dried a few days before smoking, and the smoke should be conducted into the house through a trench six or eight feet long, this is better than building a fire under the hams.

HOW WOLVES PLAN.

In Some Respects They Are Even More Sagacious Than the Foxes.

No matter how hungry they may be, wolves are so very fearful of being trapped that if a hunter has to leave a deer or any other game lying on the ground and places in a circle around it a single strand of rope, wire or twine, it will be perfectly safe, though 50 wolves may prowl about it all night.

When I couldn't find a tree to hang my deer on, I have successfully tried this plan several times. Yet the very same wolves, coming upon him after dark, might attack a well armed man and kill him, even after he had shot half a dozen of them. In the one case they braved a known danger; in the other the mystery of the thing scared them. But a single wolf will never attack a grown person. Unless the beast has one or two comrades he is too cautious to do it. When I was a boy, there were a great many wolves in our neighborhood. I have known them to plan some strange things in order to get prey. One night a wolf came close to where Carlo was watching the sheepyard. As soon as the dog went off after him two other wolves, who had helped to play the trick, came out of the woods, jumped over the fence and killed no less than 18 sheep before Carlo came back from his long chase. We knew all about it by tracing the tracks next morning. I could tell about a score of like clever dodges that I have personally known of. For two years we had a pet deer, a lovely doe, that I caught when it was a little spotted fawn only 1 day old. We called it Fan, after one of my sisters, and it was so tame that it would follow any one that it knew well anywhere. One afternoon in March the pretty thing went with me to the sugar bush, half a mile from the house, where one of our men, John Park, was boiling down sap to make maple sirup. Carlo didn't see us start, so staid at home. A little while before dark a wolf that seemed to be badly crippled limped up within 50 yards of the camp. I have no doubt that he reconnoitered at some distance and discovered that we had no gun there.

"Why, that old rascal is so lame I guess we can overhaul him," said John. He caught up his ax, and both of us started after the wolf, while Fan, not liking the looks of the stranger, trotted homeward. The wolf staggered and stumbled along as if he would drop directly. At one time we got within 20 feet of him, but somehow we couldn't quite catch up. We were going at right angles to the road the deer was on. When we got about 300 yards from the camp, all of a sudden the wolf straightened up, turned in the direction of the house and was out of sight in a moment. He'd been shamming all the time.

"Sure's you live, he'll get Fan," shouted John Park, and we ran as fast as we could. But we were too late to save our pet. The wolf had swept around and crouched on the path, not 200 yards from the house, waiting for her. When we had come near enough to see him again, he had got the innocent thing down and was savagely tearing at her. However, his triumph was short. Carlo had scented him and came bounding up the lane, and before the busy wolf saw him his strong teeth were fastened in the beast's cheek. Though the wolf plunged he could not at once shake off that grip. He dragged the brave dog several yards, and perhaps would have got free had not John rushed up and with his sharp ax made a third in the tussle.—Little Men and Women.

Oom Paul Kruger.

President Kruger, who came from Cape Colony as a boy of 10 in the great trek of 1836, has, since he reached manhood, been conspicuous in the military adventures and civil troubles of the country. To the natural shrewdness and tenacity of his character these years of active and changeful life have added a great experience of men and a perfect coolness in emergencies. He is keen, vigilant, astute and, above all, resolute, and he represents so faithfully the dominant feelings and the inbred habits of the Boer people that he has been able to acquire a surprising influence over them and to exert over the assembly a practical authority far in excess of the very limited powers which the constitution of the republic permits to the president.—James Bryce, M. P., in Century.

Queen Victoria.

The queen, at first through her husband, afterward in her own strength, has for the last 50 years exercised a great influence upon affairs, especially upon foreign politics, has accelerated or impeded the choice of ministers, has been the close confidant of every premier and has on every adequate occasion exerted the full influence which must belong, be the constitution what it may, to the person who, being armed with the imprescriptible and self derived charm of the throne, has the right to compel all ministers and servants to explain their plans.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

If you are particular

About the accommodations you get when traveling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.

If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.

Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

—(d) A kindergarten training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Do you want to trade cord wood for a second ☞ box stove? If so call at this office and make a deal.

The BEER=

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for [illegible]

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.

	Price per Acre.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.06
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.0
5 " 35	5.00

SANDERS TOWNSHIP.

NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.0
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.0 to .70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.50 to 4.50
10 " 21	4.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.5
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.0

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.

Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.0
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.0

ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " [illegible]	6.00
4 " [illegible]	8.0 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire, Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday..$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..............$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year.........$4.00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year..................$1.75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.— St. Louis, Mo.

Scientific American Agency for

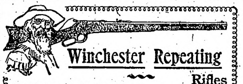
PATENTS

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.



Winchester Repeating Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

Shot-Guns

Single Shot-Rifles

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞ Warehouse on railroad track. : : : : : : : : : :

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample goods for the winter trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

- CHAS. G. RAPP..............President
- J. L. JOHNSON..............Recorder
- H. J. FREEMAN, W. A. SORSOLEIL, D. PATTERSON........Councilmen
- LEONARD HOLMES..........Treasurer

M. W. OF A. CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Fridays of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

M. E. CHURCH:—Pastor, Rev. M. S. Burns. Services every Sunday at 3:00 p. m. and Wednesday evenings at 7:30.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	66c	Butter	12½c
Oats	1 c	Eggs	15c
Barley	13c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	61c	Potatoes "	25

LOCAL NEWS.

January 1st falls on Friday.

Nine more days until Christmas.

"Mox" the St. Bernard dog came back to-day.

Hall's is headquarters for X-Mas presents.

The 22nd inst. will be the shortest day of the year.

Rapp & Post are selling goods cheaper than ever.

The county commissioners are in session this week.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

E. M. Hoff was a visitor at Thief River Falls Saturday.

The rabbit hunting fever has struck some of our nimrods.

Another car load of stone was shipped from here to Mallory.

J. Hogquist, the tailor was taking orders the first of the week.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

C. G. Rapp made a business trip to the upper Falls last Saturday.

Haul in a load of wood and get a years subscription to the SPECTATOR.

O. W. Brink shipped a car load of beef cattle to the eastern markets Monday.

A representative of the Crookston brewery is here soliciting orders to-day.

Wolves are reported as getting rather bold. Deep snow is the principal cause.

J. E. Morrissy of Crookston was here Friday looking up business in his line.

W. M. Eikhoff proposes to cut 1000 cords of wood off of his place this winter.

St. Hilaire is all business. Nothing going on in the amusement line whatever.

Mrs. W. A. Arthur and baby, were visiting friends at Red Lake Falls last week.

E. M. Hoff is making a sweeping reduction in the clothing line during the holidays.

Square timbers and piling by the car loads arriving every train day for the new saw mill.

—H. E. Ives will pay cash for county school district orders. Bring them in and get them cashed.

H. E. Ives returned Monday after serving a week on the grand jury which adjourned last Saturday.

The village council should get together and enact some new laws and repeal some of the old ones.

A. A. Erickson returned to-day from the county seat where he had been attending to business of importance.

A. G. Ness, who has been quite ill for the past two weeks, is coming out all right under Dr. Francis' treatment.

Deal with merchants who solicit your trade. This can be found out by looking over the columns of this paper.

What a rush of business a jeweler would have—if there was one here during the holidays. The ladies are the heavy loosers.

Otto E. Olson, teacher of school district No. 154, closed his term of school November 27th on account of the deep snow and cold weather.

A select party of young folks gathered at the reception rooms of the American hotel last Friday evening and enjoyed themselves for a few hours.

The primary department of the village schools was closed yesterday and will remain so until after the holidays on account of Miss Kyle's sickness.

The National Bank of Commerce, of Duluth, with a capital of $200,000 went to the wall last week. This institution was one of the largest in the northwest.

The village schools will close this week for a two weeks vacation. The next term will begin Jan. 4th, 1897.

Carl Johnson who has been visiting relatives in the southern part of this state for the past three weeks returned home to-day.

The next meeting of the Woodmen will be held Monday December the 28th instead of Friday the 25th. Woodmen will please bear this in mind.

Dr. Henault, the dentist, will be here Friday. Any one wanting work done in dental line will do well by calling on him as he will remain only one week.

This has been school examination week. Something that is usually despised by certain scholars in most every school—too much study—too little play.

L. D. Marshal, of the St. Anthony & Dakota Elevator company was here the first of the week and concluded he would close up this elevator for the season.

The hustling city editor, Mr. Latta, of the Crookston Tribune was here a short time Monday. Mr. Latta is a very sociable and agreeable gentleman to meet.

A change in the Northern Pacific time table took place last week. The west bound passenger leaves Crookston 7:35 a. m., and the east bound leaves at 8:13 p. m.

Jim McGee, the handy man of this village, went to Mallory last Friday where he is at present working in a diving suit sinking tubes for the new steele bridge.

Anton Anderson, while out hunting rabbits Saturday, with a 22 calibre rifle, accidently shot a ball into his foot. Under the care of Dr. Francis he will come out all right.

D. J. Arpin, one of the firm of the St. Hilaire Lumber company arrived Monday from the east and is now looking over the grounds seeing how work on the mill is progressing.

Miss Mary Kyle was compelled to give up teaching the primary department last Friday on account of sickness. Miss Dainard took her place as teacher Friday and Monday.

The Valhall Society will hold a debate at their hall on Sunday evening Dec., 20th, on the subject: Resolved that it is not the intention of the republican party to restore bi-metallism.

Ed. Bateman, of Thief River Falls moved his household goods down the first of the week and is now nicely located in the house lately vacated by L. T. Bergh on Minnesota avenue.

P. S. Dorsey is now guiding the destiny of the Audubon Journal, taking possession of that paper last week. It shows marked improvements by several columns more of reading matter.

C. G. Rapp went to Crookston Monday for the purpose of presenting several petitions before the honorable board of county commissioners in regard to moving the old county bridge.

A fine load of Christmas trees were brought in from the reservation Monday and shipped to Crookston where they will be sold and then loaded down with beautiful presents for the little ones.

The Erskine band has been re-organized. Editor Widsten is a member and says they don't propose to let anybody sleep while they are practicing. This village is liable to catch the same disease next season.

Louie Auge, the mill-wright, with the assistance of an expert pile driver man is hustling the work of the foundation for the new mill. They are putting in a foundation that bids fair to last for years to come.

About the smoothest way to discourage a local newspaper man is not to subscribe for your home paper and send off east for one. This is done to a certain extent in this vicinity and its dead wrong to do it.

The steam pile driver arrived Monday and will be in shape in a day or two for driving. The horse power driver will be put on the pond and used for driving "boom sticks." About 1300 piles will be driven.

—If you are in need of anything in the line of note heads, letter heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, dodgers, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Dr. Henault, the Crookston dentist will be at St. Hilaire Friday December 18th and remain one week. The doctor is well known to be a reliable and competent dentist who does nothing but first-class work at reasonable prices.

—Every farmer who writes a letter occasionally should get envelopes with his name and address printed in the corner. We will furnish 100 of the best quality printed in any style for the small sum of 75 cts. Send in your order.

Miss Hetty Wallin of Thief River Falls, was visiting with the Stranahan family Friday while waiting for the train to take her to Grand Forks, where she has accepted a position in a general store.

The first two weeks of December weather was a credit to any country. We got our genuine winter weather in November this year. Never-the-less Prof. Hicks sold any amount of his storm Almanacs on the strength of his December predictions.

I. D. Converse was in town a few days last week gathering material for his History of Polk county. It will be a complete history of the county from the earliest settlement to the present day, every city, village and township having a separate chapter. Mr. Converse will be in town again soon to canvas for orders for the work.

W. A. Sorsoleil will take wood in exchange for flour and feed at Johnson & Marshall's warehouse.

The St. Anthony elevator, of which Mr. A. R. Jones was the local agent, was closed yesterday for this season on account of very little wheat being marketed at this point. Mr. Jones will work at his old trade as carpenter until the house is opened again, next fall.

Dave Tozier, the scaler, and indispensible man who is employed by the St. Hilaire Lumber company walked up to the captain's office yesterday and subscribed for the SPECTATOR, which will be sent to his brother in Maine so he can keep posted on the makings of a real town.

John M., son of Col. Stranahan of this place, who is in the jeweler business at McCook, Nebraska orders the SPECTATOR sent to his address. Mr. Stranahan knows everybody in this neck of the woods and by taking this great family journal will enable him to keep posted on what will be in the near future, the best town in Polk county.

The farmers from this vicinity who went to the experimental farm last week returned Monday delighted with what they had seen on their trip. Some of them went down for the purpose of subscribing for a great-big-cheap-paper about, a dollars worth. These same men told the local newspaper man last summer that they could not read the English language.

Old Grover has been attending strictly to business the past twelve years regardless what others might say. When he jumped into the presidents chair the first time he was worth $6,000, and now he has to his credit somewhere in the neighborhood of five or six million dollars. What's the matter with Grover? Some say, he's all right.

A Dakota editor prods up his delinquents after this fashion: You may have the stars in a nail keg, hang the ocean on the fence to dry, put the sky to soak in a gourd, unbuckle the bellyband of eternity and let the sun and moon out, but don't think you can escape the place that lies on the other side of purgatory if you don't pay up that subscription.

The grand jury adjourned last Saturday night. The usual report was made and the most important suggestion was to recommend to the county board that they at once make arrangements to materially reduce the expenses of the county hospital or dispose of the same. The claim is made that the investment is $5,000, the annual expenses $2,000 and the number of patients treated during the past year only 40. They also censure the Crookston city council for not cleaning the snow off the sidewalks, and they recommend better ventilation at the jail.

At their regular meeting last Friday evening, Camp 3650, M. A. W., elected the following officers for the year 1897;

Venerable Consul—O. F. Post.
Worthy Advisor—Ed. Gistie.
Clerk—H. J. Freeman.
Excellent Banker—L. Holmes.
Escort—Martin Hall.
Watchman—W. A. Arthur.
Sentry—Tom Oidne.
Del. to State Camp—S. M. Dainard.
Manager—W. C. Stranahan.

At Valhall on Sunday December 12th the friends and relatives of Mrs. Gunerious Olson, were gathered to look for the last time upon her face, and to accompany her remains to their final resting place. Her death has bereft a community of a noble member, a home of an examplary wife, and a kind and loving mother.

IN MEMORY.

Weep not for her whose work is done.
Her rest is earned, her crown is won,
She is gone beyond the bounds of strife,
To the fair realm of eternal life.

A meeting was held on Monday evening at the M. E. church by a good number of the citizens. The following committees were appointed for the X-Mas entertainment which will be held on X-Mas eve.

Music Entertainment.—Misses Cora Harris, M. Olson, M. Quandy and Mrs. Jones, and Messrs. Penno, Freeman, Arthur, W. C. and L. J. Stranahan.

Financial Committee.—Mrs. Gistie, Mrs. Francis, Mr. Post and Mr. Gistie.

Committee on Decoration.—Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Eikhoff, Mrs. Arthur, Mrs. Gistie, Mrs. Francis, Miss Quandy and Miss Olson.

A number of recitations, dialogues and singing by the young folks.

Don't sign a note payable in gold if you can possibly avoid it. Where will you get gold to pay it in? Of course everybody knows that Carlisle has said he would be obliged to redeem silver in gold if asked to do so; and that there is now more silver coin than gold in the United States to say nothing of the paper redeemable in gold. If notes are all made payable in gold, gold will surely be in demand at a premium. There should not be a rich man's dollar and a poor man's dollar. Every dollar in the country should be just as good as every other dollar. But when there is so little gold and so much silver and paper redeemable in the country of course the money loaners will look out for themselves and make notes payable in gold. They don't want the silver and paper when they know there is not gold enough in the country to redeem them with.—Buffalo, Minn., Gazette.

Burlington Route Excursions.

For the Non-Partisan W. C. T. U. and National Anti-Saloon League conventions at Washington, D. C., Dec. 8th to 14th, all Burlington ticket agents are authorized to sell tickets at rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. A great opportunity to visit the National Capital while congress is in session.

For the annual meeting of Federation of Commercial Teachers, at Chicago, Dec. 28th to 31st, all Burlington ticket agents will sell at rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Sleigh roads are improving slowly.

Charles Sandberg did business in the village Friday.

Wood hauling is the chief occupation of the people at present.

Chris Borgen is a very sick man, and has been the past two weeks.

Henry McAnulty of Dugdale gave Mr. and Mrs. J. Powers a call last week.

There is some talk of a Christmas tree in the Red School House this year.

Santa Clause and Nick Eckstine have gone into partnership. Call and see them.

Miss Nora Dargan returned home Sunday after a pleasant visit in this village.

The damp weather has caused a great dead of sickness this winter, and Wylie has its share.

Nels Johnson and K. F. Sandberg were among the farmers who went to St. Anthony Park.

Old Santa Clause must have quite a lot of work on hand this year. He has already been in Wylie.

Miss Annie Shucer drove up from Red Lake Falls Monday and took the train for Thief River Falls.

Ole Romsos goes up north very frequently of late. Be careful Ole or you may fall into the fallacious trap.

Attorney Simons of Red Lake Falls and Wm. Stranahan of St. Hilaire passed through the village Thursday.

The school board have purchased a nice lot of dry wood, which will be appreciated by all concerned, the rest of the winter.

Passing The Words Along.

A Crookston girl was so modest she would not listen to a bear story; a East Grand Forks girl had to go into another room to change her mind; a Red Lake Falls girl refused to look at the naked truth; a Fisher girl would not look at undressed kids; while a McIntosh girl was so modest she wouldn't wear her watch in her bosom because it had hands on it. And then over in Fosston we hear the statement that the truly modest girl lived there for she always blushes to frame an excuse and will not shift a responsibility without excusing herself. Well, it is just possible that some of these models of modesty in other towns may not have seen a bean, but a girl here won't even look at a rainbow. She also refuses to darn socks for fear that it may lead to bad language. And it is reported she objects to rising early in the morning for fear the man in the moon will wink at her through the window—this girl still lives at Fertile. A Northcote girl is so modest that she will not go to bed while the Christian Observer is in the room. A Grafton high school girl declines to walk up a steep hill for fear her breath will come in short pants. A Roseau woman will not bathe in the same room where there are potatoes without first picking out the eyes. A Pembina girl locks herself in her room when she hears a brass band approaching and vows she will never look at any drum major when he parades in his bear skin. A Hallock girl is too madest to be sympathetic. She cannot tolerate a "fellow feeling." Grand Forks has a young lady so bashful she refuses to eat at a table where lettuce is served undreesed, and here in St. Hilaire we have a damsel that faints when she sees a penny on account of the Indian face.

If everybody knew what a practical, valuable, interesting and entertaining farm paper Farm, Stock and Home is nobody would be without.

Council Proceedings.

Special meeting of the village council Thursday Dec. 10, 1896.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

On motion the following bills were allowed:

Johnson & Marshall, lumber, etc., as per bill	$6 00
Rapp & Post, mdse as per bill	22 00
Fred Soderberg, one oak log	1 00
Oscar Brink, 1 day work on bridge	1 25

On motion S. Grossman was granted an auctioneer license until July 1, 1897.

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

—Subscribe for the SPECTATOR. ☞

OUR CHRISTMAS TREE.

O
the Christ-mass tree
so bright and green
awaits Old Santa Clause, and
the Chimney place
swept and clean gapes
wide its ponderous jaws
The little stockings are
all hung up—and baby's just makes four. Won't old
Santa be surprised; when he
find there is now one more!
There's an elegant place up in the tree to hang Johnny's gun and a place
for May and one for Kate to leave their dolls upon. But for little baby blue eyes a lower branch he mush choose
where she may reach and find the place he's hung her first shoes.
Turn down the light a little
now, so good old Santa
Clause can see, and all must go to bed
and get up early after a long nights
sleep,
and come down
to the Xmas
tree
and
SEE
Who will get the first peep into
M. A. HALL'S STORE.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something .....

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Rapp & Post

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS AND SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.
☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department.....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Hope

returns to the heart of the victim bound in the chains of rheumatism, dyspepsia, scrofula, catarrh, when the blood is enriched and purified by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All Druggists. $1

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, cure headache. 25c.

A Pleasant Profession.

The profession of designing is one of the few that is not overcrowded, says Mrs. Florence E. Cory, of the New York School of Industrial Art and Technical Design for Women. "Manufacturers still send abroad for many thousand designs yearly, which they would prefer to get here if they could, and which could just as well be made here. The work is pleasant, remunerative, and it is comparatively easy to learn how to do it. Any woman of average intelligence can become a good designer in two years, and when she has done so she will not have the mortification of seeing men better paid than herself for work that is not so good as her own. In this work the sexes stand on an equal footing, and if there is any advantage, the women have it, for some of them have received higher salaries than were ever paid to men. Most manufacturers prefer women designers," she adds: "They do the work better; they take more interest in it and are more original and unconventional than men. Moreover, most of the articles of trade and commerce for which designers are required are made for women, and women know best what women want."

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, price 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Failing.

Mr. Figg—I have called to get something done for my boy, Tommy. Perhaps you can prescribe without going to the house.

Dr. Bowless—What are the symptoms? How is the appetite?

Mr. Figg—That is just what I called to see you about. He has got so for the last two or three days that he doesn't eat more than twice as much as I do.—Indianapolis Journal.

False Witnesses.

There are knaves now and then met with who represent certain local bitters and poisonous stimuli as identical with or possessing properties akin to those of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. These scamps only succeed in foisting their trashy compounds upon people unacquainted with the genuine article, which is as much their opposite as day is to night. Ask and take no substitute for the grand remedy for malaria, dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

Maud Ethel's Cheek Was All Right.

Aunt Sophronia—And that is what you call a rational bicycle costume, is it? If I went out in the streets with a rig like that, I would be ashamed to show my face.

Maud Ethel—So would I if I had a face like yours.—Indianapolis Journal.

Love's Logic.

She—Whom would you rather be if you were not yourself?

He—You.

She—Why?

He—Because I would know I could have me if I wanted me.—Puck.

An Exception.

"It is claimed that love levels all things," sighed Mrs. Grumpey.

"But no one in the world ever saw a lover with a level head," sneered Grumpey.—Detroit Free Press.

At the Savoy, London, on Oct. 31, Sir Arthur Sullivan conducted the 1,037th performance in London of "The Mikado."

It is reported that the recent horse show in New York put $1,250,000 in circulation.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Bought and sold for future delivery, ¼c to ½c per bu. deposit. Sample sales a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited. MASON BROS., 115 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill. MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

MORALS OF THE BATHTUB.

Its Important Bearing Upon a Man's Morality and Business Success.

"It is very easy to find a direct connection between the cleanliness of a people and their moral standard," writes Edward W. Bok, editorially, of "The Morals of the Bathtub," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Of all the external aids to a moral life none is so potent as tidiness. An untidy man or woman soon becomes a moral sloven. Let a man be careless of his surroundings, of his companionships, of his dress, his general appearance and of his bodily habits, and it is not long before the same carelessness extends into the realm of his morals. We are all creatures of our surroundings, and we work and act as we feel. If a man lives in a home where carelessness or untidiness in his dress is overlooked he very soon goes from one inexactitude to another. He very quickly loses himself. The moral fibre of a man, fine of itself, can soon become coarse if the influence of his external surroundings is coarse. I believe thoroughly in the effect of a man's dress and habits of person upon his moral character. I do not say that neatness of appearance and cleanliness of person constitute the gentleman or the man of honor. But I do say that they are potent helps. And I would like to emphasize the importance of this belief upon the women of our homes. For it is given them to be an important factor in these helps to the betterment of the world's morality. The man who makes a point of keeping himself clean, and whose clothes look neat, no matter how moderate of cost they may be, works better, feels better, and is in every sense a better business man than his fellow-worker, who is disregardful of both his body and dress, or either. He works at a distinct advantage. The external man unquestionably influences the internal man. I would give far more for the work done by a man who has the invigorating moral tone of a morning bath and the feeling of clean linen than I would for the work done by a man who scarcely washes and rushes into his clothes. The time spent upon our bodies is never wasted; on the contrary, it is time well invested. A machine of metal and steel must be clean before it can do good work. So, too, the human machine. A disregard of the body and disorder in dress soon grow into moral slovenliness."

"THE VOCAL STUDENT."

Madame Melba on the Exactions and Rewards of a Musical Career.

Madame Melba addresses students of music in an instructive, practical paper in the Ladies' Home Journal. She tells in her article on "The Vocal Student" of the necessity of securing a thoroughly competent teacher, of practice, and the care of the health; emphasizes the importance of being trained musicians as well as vocalists; talks of the monetary value of a musical training and of European study. With regard to the monetary rewards of a capable singer Madame Melba says: "To a girl properly trained and qualified the profession of a vocal teacher is one of the most remunerative. Good teachers are scarce and in great demand, and as the fees are large an excellent income may be obtained. Next comes the career of the church singer. Every church has its choir, and in the majority of cases the soloists composing it are paid, and often well paid. Engagements as a drawing-room singer can be secured in large cities when one has talent and faculty, and when the voice is not sufficiently large for its possessor to become a concert singer. The fees of the successful concert singer are large; she is constantly in demand; her repertoire is of songs, not of entire roles, and is more easily acquired; her expenses are limited to the cost of a few evening gowns, in the place of scores of costumes. For the opera singer there is plenty of hard work, but for that there is the compensation of being associated in many cases with the famous artists of the world, whom to know is a liberal education."

AMMONIA.

To wash you brushes and combs put one tablespoonful of ammonia in one quart of water, rinse, shake and dry in the sun.

A tablespoonful of ammonia in a gallon of warm water will often restore colors in carpets and will also remove whitewash from carpets.

Yellow oil stains left by the sewing machine may be removed by rubbing the spot with a cloth wet with ammonia before washing with soap.

By rubbing nickel and silver ornaments with a woolen cloth, saturated with spirits of ammonia, they may be kept very bright with but little trouble.

If those who perspire freely would use a little ammonia in their bath daily, it would keep their flesh clean and sweet, doing away with all disagreeable odor.

Spirits of ammonia will often remove severe headache, but should be carefully used, as the constant use of salts, ammonia and other strong scents injures and inflames the nose.

Equal parts of ammonia and turpentine will take the paint out of clothing, even if it has become hard and dry. Wet the spot as often as necessary, and wash out in soap suds.

One teaspoonful of ammonia in a cupful of water will clean gold or silver jewelry. A few drops on the under side of a diamond will clean it immediately, making it very brilliant.

Old brass may be made to look like new by pouring strong ammonia over it, then scrubbing with a brush; rinse in clean water and be careful not to touch your hands with the ammonia.

To clean windows put one or two tablespoonfuls of ammonia into a bucket of water. After washing thoroughly polish with an old newspaper, and your windows will be beautifully bright.

Flannel and blankets should be soaked in a pail of water, containing one tablespoonful of ammonia and a little clean suds; rub as little as possible, and they will be white and clean and will not shrink.

Grease spots may be taken out with weak ammonia in water, and it very carefully applied will remove spots from paintings and chromos. Lay soft white paper over and iron with a moderately hot iron.

Suffering Women.

Alas! women do suffer. Why, we often cannot tell, but we know there is one great cause, and that is weakness. The headaches, the depressed feelings, the pains, the discouragements, indeed, almost all the misery has a common cause—weakness. At such times a woman always needs a friend that can be relied upon, and such a friend, for more than twenty years, has been that greatest of all remedies,

Warner's Safe Cure

By its purity and its power it furnishes a prompt relief for women in their hours of need, and if the grateful expressions which come up from the homes of the land about what SAFE CURE has done were printed, they would fill volumes. If you, reader, are a sufferer, can you not take hope from this suggestion?

Large bottle, or new style, smaller one, at your druggists.

The Effect of Bad Butter.

Every pound of poor butter blocks the wheels of an active market, and every pound sold at a low price displaces to a more or less extent a pound of well-made butter at a higher price.

But this is not all; every pound of poor butter sold that is used on the table tends to decrease consumption, and in this way lessens demand, while really good butter helps to increase the consumption and demand for the better article.

The man that makes butter of inferior quality labors for a very low profit, or none at all, while the maker of the better quality of product does no more work, but is able to realize at least a fair profit.

It will be a long time before the quantity of poor butter manufactured will be lessened sufficiently to cause any increase in prices, and there can be a considerable increase in the quantity of really first-class butter made before there will be any great decrease in price. In a majority of cases a better profit can be realized by feeding the milk to calves, pigs or poultry, than to continue making it into a poor quality of butter and sending it to an overstocked market.

Could Be Reached Still.

"Did you catch a glimpse of the footpad?" asked the policeman, who was stooping over the insensible victim, and examining his injuries.

"Yes," answered the man, whose timely arrival had scared the murderous villain away. "He was a tough-looking fellow, a little taller than I am, and wore chin whiskers."

The prostrate man shuddered, gasped and moved his lips. Consciousness was returning.

"Strictly speaking," the policeman heard him mutter feebly, "there is no such thin aghlesn 5plr them hemhmh such thing as chin whiskers. Whiskers grow on the cheeks. He wore a chin beard."

Then the Boston man became unconscious again.—Chicago Tribune.

Still Dissatisfied.

"Well," remarked the wife of the man who had changed his mind about coming down to congress, "you have a clear conscience, anyhow."

"I know that," was the comfortless reply, "but a clear conscience isn't what I was running for."—Washington Star.

49 YEARS A SUFFERER.

Sept. 9th, 1896.

DEAR SIRS:—Am 67 years old and began taking your medicine last April for Rheumatism, which I have had for 49 years, also for a weak heart. Since taking "5 Drops" the rheumatism has all disappeared, the stiffness is gone from my joints, and my heart never misses a beat. I am today a well, strong woman, and I owe it to "5 Drops." I only wish I could sound my bugle of praise loud enough to be heard all over the world, and could convince every one that "5 Drops" is all you claim it to be and more.

MRS. D. T. CALVER,
Winslow, Stevenson Co., Ill.

5 DROPS

Every one knows that "5 Drops" is a quick and permanent cure for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, La Grippe, and kindred diseases. $1.00 per bottle. Sample, prepaid, by mail, 25 cents. Swanson Rheumatic Cure Co., 167 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY

THE MAPLE LEAF ROUTE

BEYOND ANY QUESTION THE BEST AND SHORTEST LINE TO CALIFORNIA THE LAND OF SUNSHINE AND FLOWERS

LOW RATES FAST TIME

A Through Pullman Tourist Sleeper LEAVES Minneapolis and St. Paul every Tuesday FOR LOS ANGELES via the Maple Leaf and Santa Fe Routes, receiving passengers at all points between Minneapolis and Kansas City, arriving in Los Angeles at noon the following Saturday. These cars are new and complete in every respect, supplied with curtains, pillows, bedding and all modern conveniences, and are in charge of a competent colored porter. For full particulars as to rates and any other information desired, apply to agent at the

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN RY.

at any of the following offices: NICOLLET AVE. AND FIFTH ST., OR TENTH AND WASHINGTON AVE. SOUTH, MINNEAPOLIS. FIFTH AND ROBERT STS., OR UNION DEPOT, ST. PAUL.

SHE "TREATED" TWO MEN.

The Daring Exploit of an Advanced Young Woman.

A little group of advanced women, girls with strong ideas of the rights of women, believers in their free competition with men, and repudiators of the idea that women should be treated with more deference than men, were talking, when one of them began:

"Oh, girls, what do you suppose I bought two men a drink."

"You did!" exclaimed the chorus in admiration.

"I did."

"Not in a saloon, I hope," anxiously inquired one who was not as advanced as the rest.

"No, of course not. It was in a drug store."

"Oh, do tell us all about it."

"You see, I was walking along the street with two men when one of them suggested that we go in a drug store and get a drink. I made up my mind that I would not go in a drug store and let any man buy me soda water. I determined that I should insist upon my rights as a woman and buy the drinks. So I said I would go if they would let me pay for it."

"You brave girl."

"They treated it as a joke at first. The very idea! But I told them my principles, and finally they agreed, although the mean things laughed. Then we went in. You don't know how afraid I was that they would pay for the drinks, anyhow. But I was too quick. When the clerk laid down the check I just grabbed it and wouldn't give it up, and when we went out I reached the cashier first and laid down just the right amount. The cashier seemed surprised. I don't see why. But I actually bought soda water for two men. What do you think of that?"

"You are a hero," declared the girl who was the first to recover her breath. "Some day your sex will erect a monument in your honor."

Progressive Housekeeping.

Not long ago, says a correspondent in the Boston Herald, I called on friends, and found the family at lunch. I hesitated about staying, but my friend insisted upon my stay, saying: "The cook is away; but that makes no difference." I entered the elegant dining room and found the table spread for a hot lunch. Judge of my surprise when my hostess opened a door in a beautiful cabinet and exhibited a tiny gas kitchen sunk in the wall. The little closet was lined with zinc and was fitted with a little gas stove and supplied with shelves and hooks for the cooking utensils. A hole in the wall served for a chimney to carry off the heat and odor of cooking, and here my progressive housekeeper could get up a hot lunch, even if the cook was away.

After lunch I was shown another bit of progressive housekeeping. The flat roof of the house was covered with brick and surrounded with a wire netting. In one portion of the roof was an iron arbor with glass sides for a shelter from the rain, and here, high above the street, safe from harm, the progressive young people had a beautiful out-of-door playground. The housemother could send them all up there, and knows they were happy and safe, while she was free for other things.

Progressive housekeeping means a willingness to accept new ideas, a willingness to do old things in new ways. It is not confined to the kitchen or pantry. Further investigation shows many new fields in which the housekeeper may save time, labor, money and nerves, if she be only willing to try something new. "Mother's way" was very good—for mother. There are better ways now.

Mark Your Wheel.

It is always a good plan for every owner of a bicycle to have a private mark on his wheel. This has been tried plenty of times, but in case of theft it is always discovered and obliterated.

Now, however, it is suggested that the machine be marked by scraping an inch square of the enamel from some portion of the frame of the machine. After all traces of the enamel have been removed, apply a coating of grease, and, with a pointed piece of steel dipped in carbolic acid, draw the initials or private mark through the grease.

The acid follows the markings of the steel point, while the grease keeps it from spreading. After allowing the acid to eat into the tubing the grease can be rubbed off, and the mark or initial shows as plainly as if cut into the steel framework.

One coat of enamel will completely hide all traces of the mark. Should any question as to the ownership of the wheel arise, the owner could, by simply scratching off the enamel which covered the marks, at once prove his claim.—New York Journal.

Demand for Flintlocks.

Strange as it may appear, flintlock muskets are not merely a record of bygone days. Last year no fewer than 1,820,000 gun flints were produced at the Lingheath mines, Brandon, Suffolk, England. These flints are chiefly to delight African and other savages, who, having been so long used to flintlocks, are reluctant to give them up.

The method of manufacturing these gunflints is very interesting. In the operation of "flaking" the worker will take a "quarter" in his left hand and, placing it on his knee, around which a protecting band of leather has been strapped, gently tap the flint with a hammer, giving it each time a well directed blow. At every tap a flake six inches long and one inch wide falls into his hand, and, if a good one, is deposited in a pail by his side, all bad ones being discarded. The knappers work these flints with hammers with long, thin heads, often made of old files, transversely striking the strips of flint on an iron fixed in their benches.

His Own Client.

An honest old blacksmith down in Texas, despairing of ever getting cash out of a delinquent debtor, agreed to take his note for the amount. The debtor wished to go to a lawyer and have the document drawn up, but the knight of the anvil, who had been a sheriff in days gone by, felt fully competent to draw it up himself. This he proceeded to do, with the following result:

"On the 1st day of June I promise to pay Jeems Nite the sum of eleving dollars, and if said note be not paid on the day aforesaid, then this instrument is to be null and void, and of no effect. Witness my hand, etc."

More Than Likely.

"Mamma," said Tommy, "is this hair oil in this bottle?"

"Mercy, no! That's mucilage."

"Well," said Tommy, "I guess that's why I can't get my hat off."—Good News.

Rev. Dwight L. Moody is said to be phenomenally successful in revival work in New York city, but it must be remembered that New York is a phenomenal field for such work.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair, Gold Medal, Midwinter Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Button Timepieces.

A buttonhole watch is obviously a very useful and ornamental fashion. This unique timepiece can always be kept in sight and enables one to answer a question as to the time with the minimum amount of trouble. Large quantities of these miniature watches are being imported from France for the Christmas season. The buttonhole watch fad originated in France. They were first worn by bicyclists on the sleeve or in one of the lower buttonholes of the coat. They enabled the cyclist to see the time without inconvenience while riding at full speed.

In America they will be worn, however, in the lapel of the coat. The ordinary form of buttonhole watch has a face about one-half inch in diameter, or even less. It may readily be seen that when these tiny faces are tastefully decorated they will be highly ornamental to the lapel of most coats. At a distance they might readily be mistaken for a badge of the Legion of Honor or some similar device.

The works of the novel watches are about the size of an ordinary ladies' watch. The face, which is about one-fourth the diameter of the works, is connected with the mechanism by a thin neck. The button-hole watches may be bought for $10, although some of the most elaborate designs cost ten times that figure.—New York World.

A Great Redwood Slab.

In New Whatcom, a seaport town and the county seat of Whatcom county, the northwest county in Washington, and in the United States, is erected on the outer edge of a sidewalk on one of the principal street corners, an immense slab or section of one of Washington's biggest red fir trees. The slab, being cut directly across the diameter of the tree, like a butcher's cutting block, is set on edge, the greatest diameter extending upward, the bark being on its entire circumference.

A stranger naturally feels inclined to walk up to the slab and measure it by its height, and is surprised to find that it would take another man standing on his head to extend to the top of it. Then he steps back a pace and reads the following inscription, neatly printed on a board attached to the face of the slab:

"Tree from Loop's Ranch Forks, Whatcom county, Wash. The tree was 465 feet high, 220 feet to first limb, and 33 feet 11 inches in circumference at the base. If sawed into lumber it would make 96,345 feet. It would build eight cottages two stories high, of seven rooms each. The tree is about 40 years old, according to the rings. If sawed into inch-square strips it would fill ten ordinary cars, and the strips would reach from Whatcom to China."

The section shows the tree sound to the core.—Mining and Scientific Press.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Increasing Butter Fat.

I have not found any food which materially increases the percentage of butter fat in the milk of a given cow. The only way to reach this result is to feed so as to secure more milk and consequently a larger aggregate of butter fat. Tests show that while it is not practical to feed fat into the milk, the percentage of fat is increased as the milk yield falls off. It pays to feed a little bran or grain feed even in summer, when cows are on good pasture. They hold out longer and the milk flow responds less readily to changes of condition in pasture. In my own personal experience this course has resulted in my cows making an average of fifty pounds more than when the practice was not followed. The cost per head for the extra feed thus expended was $5 and the increase in butter sold was $13.50.—C. P. Goodrich, Wisconsin University.

A Village Under One Roof.

Most of the large towns in France contain workmen's model dwellings, or tenement houses, which have been dignified with the picturesque appellation of barracks, but none of these have attained to the colossal proportions of the "Freihaus," situated at Weilden, a suburb of Vienna. This building has thirteen court yards, and accommodates 2,112 persons belonging to all classes of society. One postman is specially appointed to deliver letters to the inmates, whose correspondents have to be careful to put on the cover not merely the Christian name and surname of the addressee, but the number of the yard, the staircase and the flat, if they want the letter to reach its destination.

I believe my prompt use of Piso's Cure prevented quick consumption.—Mrs. Lucy Wallace, Marquette, Kan., Dec. 12, '95.

Serving Two Masters.

"Jibway's wife seems to have him pretty well under control."

"Yes; the only time Jibway is not under the influence of his wife is when he is under the influence of liquor."—Indianapolis Journal.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c.

The Effects of Yachting.

Yachtsman (at table in yacht club house)—Is Smitherton's yacht laid up yet?

Second Yachtsman (ditto)—No; but Smitherton is.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

A True Specialist.

"He's a throat specialist, isn't he?"

"Yes; I went to see him two weeks after my throat began to trouble me, and he said I ought to have gone two months before I did."—Puck.

One-third of Kansas' population was born in the States of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

F. G. Bradbury, St. Paul, and N. Nilson, Minneapolis, assignors to G. W. Hughes, St. Paul, Minn., book file; Henry K. Brearley, Duluth, Minn., well point; Samuel V. Kennedy, St. Paul, Minn., mower; John E. Nichols, Edgerton, Minn., power-transmitting device; Charles S. Paul, Faribault, Minn., mangle; Isaac Sorsoleil, Owatonna, Minn., stop box; Edward I. P. Staede, Mankato, Minn., carbureter.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawer, 910 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Floor Stains and English Settles.

Sealing-wax red is a new color that is being much used in staining woods made up into odd pieces of furniture. The new stain is applied with equal success to wicker work in all its varieties, and is a rich addition to decorative effects. Some very attractive settles are shown in this coloring, though the forest-green finish, which has proved the most popular effect, is by no means dethroned in favor. The "genuine English settles" often offered in shops are viewed with discretion by travelers who have seen such belongings in old English farm houses. On their native heath they are of solid oak, fully five feet high, and running quite across the great kitchens. They are black with time, and are apt to be well seasoned with ham fat. The duty of the settle if fourfold. It is the family seat, and, as the bench part can be raised, in the drawers beneath are kept the family rags for weaving. Above the seat is the family hat rack. The upright is double, and in the recess thus formed the family bacon is hung, doors opening from behind into this cupboard. The dainty affairs we know as English settles are toys compared to the actual thing.

Ounce Lifts a Ton.

The shelless limpet pulls 1,984 times its own weight when in the air, and about double when measured in the water. Fleas pull 1,403 times their own weight. The Mediterranean cockle, Venus verrucosa, can exert a pulling power equal to 2,071 times the weight of its own body. So great is the power possessed by the oyster that to open it a force equal to 1,319.5 times the weight of its shelless body is required. If the human being possessed strength as great in proportion as that of these shell fish the average man would be able to lift the enormous weight of 2,976,000 pounds, pulling in the same degree as the limpet. And if the man pulled in the same proportionate degree as the cockle he would sustain a weight of no less that 3,106,500 pounds. Worthington's Magazine.

A Paradox.

First Medical Student—What is a paradox?

Second Medical Student—A couple o young M. D.'s who get all the practice they want in the first year after they have hung their shingle out.—Somerville Journal.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

The Wheel Didn't Eat.

"Happened to see your wife on a wheel yesterday. If I remember, I heard you declare you would never allow her to ride?"

"Yes, I know. But she had a chance to trade off her pug dog for a wheel, and I thought I would choose the least evil."—Indianapolis Journal.

Hog Cholera.

F. D. Coburn of Kansas some time since wrote: There are reports of more or less "hog cholera" in various parts of the state, and it is not improbable that many well meaning citizens, through ignorance of the law and the ease with which the disease is spread, are unwittingly aiding in the destruction of thousands of swine which, with strong prices, the present shortage and tremendous corn crop Kansas, at this time, can illy afford to lose. It is conceded that the contagion from "cholera" hogs and their dead carcasses is carried from place to place by dogs, wolves, crows, buzzards, running water and various other agencies, including the clothing of those who come in contact with them, and this fact emphasizes the necessity of promptly isolating ailing animals and deeply burying or burning the dead, even though there is no law making it mandatory.

Old Vesuvius Wakes Up.

Old Vesuvius has begun grumbling again and spitting out fire and ashes. For more than eighteen months the grim old volcano kept quiet, and the people of Naples, Italy, who are always more or less afraid of its eruptions, began to think that it had gone out. But it was only taking a nap; now it has waked up, and down its sides two streams of boiling lava are flowing, and some of the settlers on the mountain may yet have to flee for their lives. A fussy old volcano isn't a pleasant thing to live neighbor to, it it?

An Unchanged Opinion.

"You may call Mr. Biggles egotistic and conceited, if you choose," she said, "but there's one trait that I admire in him. He always gives his wife credit for possessing excellent judgment. I don't think that's very egotistical."

"Yes, it is," her husband replied. "He does that because she selected him when she married."—Washington Star.

She Is NotNew.

He—I have vowed, Miss Manyears, that I will never marry a new woman.

She—And who can blame you? I'm a great deal older woman than I look."

"Pretty Pill" says Pretty Poll

She's just "poll parroting." There's no prettiness in pills, except on the theory of "pretty is that pretty does." In that case she's right.

Ayer's Pills

do cure biliousness, constipation, and all liver troubles.

BED-WETTING CURED OR NO PAY. Mrs. B. M. ROWAN, Milwaukee, Wis.

OPIUM HABIT AND DRUNKENNESS Cured in 10 to 20 Days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. L. STEPHENS, LEBANON, OHIO.

SPRAINS AND PAINS

St. Jacobs Oil the foil. Use it and promptly feel the cure. That's all, but that is something sure.

CCC Look Tired This Morning?

WAS it your own baby or your neighbor's that drove sweet sleep away? It's all unnecessary. Cascarets Candy Cathartic, sweet to the taste, mild but effective, stop sour stomach and colic in babies, and make papa's liver lively, tone his intestines and purify his blood.

EAT CASCARETS LIKE CANDY

They perfume the breath and make things all right all around. At your druggist's 10c., 25c., 50c., or mailed for price. Address

STERLING REMEDY COMPANY, CHICAGO or NEW YORK.

Cascarets CANDY CATHARTIC CURE CONSTIPATION.

MADAME LILLIAN NORDICA, who has written a practical article, "How to Train the Voice," for The Companion for 1897.

Celebrating in 1897 its seventy-first birthday THE COMPANION offers its readers many exceptionally brilliant features. The two hemispheres have been explored in search of attractive matter.

The Youth's Companion

In addition to the 25 staff writers THE COMPANION Contributors number fully 200 of the most famous men and women of both continents, including the most popular writers of fiction and some of the most eminent statesmen, scientists, travellers and musicians.

For the Whole Family.

THE COMPANION also announces for 1897, Four Absorbing Serials, Adventure Stories on Land and Sea, Stories for Boys, Stories for Girls, Reporters' Stories, Doctors' Stories, Lawyers' Stories, Stories for Everybody—all profusely illustrated by popular artists. Six Double Holiday Numbers. More than two thousand Articles of Miscellany—Anecdote, Humor, Travel. Timely Editorials, "Current Events," "Current Topics" and "Nature and Science" Departments every week, etc.

One of the most beautiful CALENDARS issued this year will be given to each New Subscriber to The Companion.

It is made up of Four Charming Pictures in color, beautifully executed. Its size is 10 by 24 inches. The subjects are delightfully attractive. This Calendar is published exclusively by THE YOUTH'S COMPANION and could not be sold in Art Stores for less than One Dollar.

Subscription Price of The Companion $1.75 a Year.

12-Color Calendar FREE.

New Subscribers who will cut out this slip and send it at once with name and address and $1.75 will receive:
FREE—The Youth's Companion every week from the time subscription is received till January 1, 1897;
FREE—Christmas, New Year's and Easter Double Numbers;
FREE—The Companion's 4-page Calendar for 1897, a beautifully colored souvenir. The most costly gift of its kind The Companion has ever offered;
And The Companion Fifty-two Weeks, a full year, to Jan. 1, 1898.

The Youth's Companion, 201 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

Still Doing Business

[illegible]

We have also arranged temporary quarters next door to 317 Nicollet av., at 312 Nicollet, and you will find everything in our unlimited lines as usual. You will find just as prompt attention as before. FREE—The following catalogues, on receipt of 2 cents each, to pay postage on them: Baby Carriage Catalogue, Agricultural Implement Catalogue, Harness, Saddlery, Cutter, and Team [illegible] Catalogue, Drug Catalogue, Stove Catalogue. Send 15 cents and our Supply Catalogue containing [illegible] pages and over one hundred thousand [illegible] will be sent, express paid.

T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, Minneapolis, Minn.

MISSING ISSUE

Date: Dec 23, 1896

Minnesota Historical Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XVI ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 30, 1896. NUMBER 22.

DEED OF WRECKERS

MANY PEOPLE SENT TO THEIR DEATH WITHOUT WARNING.

A Rail on a Trestle on an Alabama Road is Removed and a Train Load of Passengers Falls Over a Hundred Feet—The Wreck Afterwards Burns—Twenty Bodies Are Recovered, and Others May Still Be in the Wreck.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 29.—Fiends in human form wrecked Birmingham Mineral passenger train No. 40 at Cahaba river bridge, twenty-seven miles from here at 7:50 o'clock this morning, and twenty-one lives were lost. That number of bodies have been recovered from the wreck, and further search may swell the number of dead. The wreck is regarded as almost certainly accomplished by the removal of a rail on the middle span of the trestle. This derailed the train and precipitated it into the river, 110 feet below. The wreck was the worst that has ever occurred in the state, and the survivors are so few, and are so badly hurt, that they are unable to give any detailed description of how it all happened. It is not known and may never be ascertained just how many passengers were on the train. Most of them were miners and residents of mining towns in this district, who had round-trip holiday tickets and were returning to their homes along the line of the Birmingham Mineral road.

Conductor A. P. Connell, who probably knew better than anybody else as to how many passengers were on board, is dead. It is thought, however, that there were not exceeding 30 or 35. But one passenger purchased a ticket at Birmingham.

Only Nine Escaped Alive.

The engine landed on its side almost at right angles with the track. The cars piled upon each other through the main span. The entire wreck took fire soon afterward and was rapidly burned to the water's edge. Nine persons alone escaped alive from all who went down, and several of them will probably die.

When the relief train from Birmingham arrived there was little need of the army of physicians that had gone along. The wounded were quickly attended to and then sent to Blocton for further attention. The work of taking out the dead was entered upon. Nothing was left of the wreckage but the smouldering remains which had burned to the water's edge. Charred corpses were packed in between the iron frame work where the seats had been. Most of the bodies had been burned beyond recognition. Some had their heads burned off and of others nothing remained but the mere skeleton. As rapidly as possible the remains were taken out and laid in a row on the river bank.

Dead and Injured Robbed.

Dr. Ray, a Blocton physician who attended Gardner, one of the survivors, telegraphs the statement made by Gardner as to the cause of the wreck. Gardner says when he felt the cars leave the track he looked out and saw thre savage looking men rushing from a hiding place down toward the water's edge, and that after the wreck they went through the wreckage, robbing the dead and wounded, and then fled to the woods. They did the work quickly and offered no assistance whatever in the way of rescuing the imprisoned and injured passengers. This story, however, has not yet been corroborated, but other facts tend to show that it was the work of train wreckers.

An examination of the engine shows that Engineer White had shut off the steam and reversed before it went down, indicating that he saw danger ahead and tried to stop his train. His charred body was found with his hand on the throttle. The survivors all agree that the train left the track and bumped along the ties and then with a crash plunged through the bridge. Expert engineers say that there is every indication that a rail was removed which derailed the train and caused it to pull down the bridge. The cross-ties show marks of the wheels. To add to this is the fact that three men tried to wreck a Southern railway train near Henry Ellen, fifteen miles east of here, five days ago by removing a rail on a trestle ninety feet high. The fast express left the track but the engineer managed by superhuman efforts to stop it before it tore down the trestle. This was regarded as a most remarkable escape. In this case three men were seen running from the place, and a crowbar, with which the spikes had been withdrawn, was found.

Killed and Injured.

The railroad company has furnished the following list of dead:

James Bolling, Guthrie, Ky., express messenger; Frank White, Birmingham, engineer; A. P. Connell, Helena, conductor; George Carney, Birmingham, flagman; R. Webb, Birmingham; Bruce Phillips, Blocton; L. W. Martin, Brookwood, Ala.; Mrs. Henry Handberry and two children, R. H. Bloant, Birmingham; Miss Ada Powers, Dr. L. N. Powers, Mrs. Emma Powers and two children, Mrs. R. Little, Mr. Gardner, Mrs. Gardner, Miss Gardner, Blocton; one unidentified body, but supposed to be Tom Struther, a colored porter.

The following are the injured: Henry Handberry, Birmingham, a Louisville & Nashville conductor; seriously. E. E. Eckles, Helena; slightly. Sam Spencer, fireman; arm broken. Andrew Bryson, Blocton; fatally. Miss Booth, Blocton; slightly. Mrs. Powers' child, Blocton; slightly. Mrs. Walker, slightly. Mrs. Walker's three children escaped practically uninjured.

The relief train from the scene of the wreck reached Birmingham bringing ten corpses and three injured persons. Ten other dead bodies were left at Blocton, where the deceased resided, and one at Brookwood.

Diplomat Dead.

Paris, Dec. 29.—Gen. Meredith Reed died this morning. He was born in 1837. He was adjutant general of New York in 1860-66. He was first United States consul general for France and Algeria in 1869-73 and was acting consul general during the Franco-German war. In November, 1873, he was appointed United States minister resident in Greece.

AN EXPLOSION OF FIRE DAMP.

Six or Seven Men Lose Their Lives in a Mine.

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 29.—A terrific explosion of fire damp occurred in the mine of the Maule Coal company, this city. Six miners were killed, while one is missing and is believed to be dead. Eight men were rescued almost lifeless, but it is thought they will recover.

The dead are James Rell, Theodore Faber, John Holmes, Carl Poneylite, John Ernest and Robert Maule, son of the president, and secretary of the company. Robert Poneylite, head blacksmith, is missing.

The men were making repairs of damages resulting from a similar explosion last Sunday. Besides the regular miners, blacksmiths and others assisting in the work, Robert Maule, a son of President John Maule, and secretary and mine superintendent of the company, was overseeing the work. The mine has been in operation a short time, and the air shaft is not quite completed, and the gas which collects in portions of the mine was ignited by an open lamp.

PROTECTION FOR LUMBER.

Lumbermen Confer With the Minnesota Congressmen.

Minneapolis, Dec. 29.—A notable conference was held at the West hotel between prominent representatives of the great lumber industry of the Northwest and Minnesota's representatives in congress. The object of the meeting was to equip the legislators with facts and arguments to be used before the committee on ways and means showing the imperative need of a tariff on lumber. The ways and means committee will devote Dec. 31 to a hearing of arguments from the lumbermen, and Congressman Tawney, a member of that important committee, with Congressman-elect Morris and Congressman Loren Fletcher, will work for a tariff on lumber. The lumbermen at the meeting were to a man in favor of a restoration of the tariff on lumber in accordance with what is known as the act of 1883.

Going Out of Business.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—It was announced that the Atlas National bank will go into liquidation and retire from business. The action is not considered as a failure in any sense of the word, and as the bank's business was comparatively a small one it is not anticipated that any flurry in the banking circles of Chicago will result. Two statements were made public, one from the officers of the bank announcing that owing to ill health they would liquidate and go out of business, and the other from the clearing house association showing that the other banks of the city will furnish the Atlas ample support.

Rich Men Back Moody.

New York, Dec. 29.—The World says that a number of rich men who have been influenced by the Moody meetings have provided ample funds for the great series of revival meetings in Greater New York. They have engaged Mr. Moody to hold Sunday meetings in Carnegie hall. There will be meetings in churches, theaters, and in the open air. The Academy of Music in New York and the Amphion theater in Brooklyn have already been engaged, together with Carnegie hall.

Jury Couldn't Agree.

Muscatine, Iowa, Dec. 29. — In the famous case of Adam Vrondroskey the jury was called in after having deliberated twenty-four hours at the close of a week's trial and discharged, having failed to reach an agreement. He was indicted for having participated in blowing up with dynamite the homes of John Mahin, E. M. Kessinger and N. Rosenberger, three leading Prohibitionists, May 11, 1893. The case will be re-tried next month.

Alderman Indicted for Murder.

Chicago, Dec. 29. — Ald. Thomas J. O'Malley, of the Twenty-third ward, was to-day indicted by the grand jury for the murder of Gus Collsander on election night, in November, 1894. O'Malley's indictment has created a sensation. He was elected to the council last spring with the indorsement of the Municipal Voters' league, and has a good record in that body.

Paying Teller Missing.

St. Paul, Dec. 29. — Leander Bosch, paying teller of the Bank of Minnesota, which failed last week, has not been seen since the bank closed. A discrepancy of between $1,000 and $2,000 has been found in his accounts, but it is thought this could be explained by him. Bosch is a man of exemlary habits, and his disappearance is causing his friends and relatives a great deal of alarm.

Arrested for an Accident.

New York, Dec. 29—William Showles (the famous bareback rider) is under arrest at Red Bank, N. J., charged with manslaughter. Last night while he was exhibiting a revolver in a saloon, the weapon in a saloon, the weapon was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking Ansel Croft, the bartender. Croft died to-day and Showles' arrest followed.

Court Librarian Dead.

Frederick, Md., Dec. 29.—Charles W. Hoffman, LL. D., librarian of the United States supreme court since 1873, died at his home in this city today of pneumonia. He was sixty-seven years of age, unmarried, and leaves an estate worth nearly $100,000.

Ride Unpleasantly Ended.

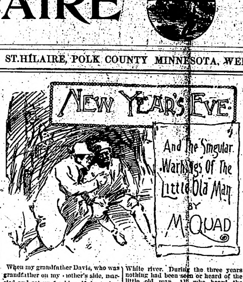
Eau Claire, Wis., Dec. 29. — Two horses attached to a sleigh ran away to-day and dashed across a crowded bridge, striking a cutter in which were Albert Steinfeldt, Jr., and Miss Clara Hurwick. Both were thrown out, run over and seriously injured.

Mad Dog Killed.

St. Paul, Dec. 29.—A big St. Bernard dog that has been running mad about the city for several days and has bitten more than thirty dogs, was finally run down to-day on the corner of Bates avenue and Seventh street and shot by Officer Van Trot.

Death of Postmaster Lawrence.

St. Paul, Dec. 29.—E. R. Lawrence, postmaster at Fort Snelling, died yesterday at the age of forty-two. He has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism and finally succumbed to the disease. He leaves a widow and son.



New Year's Eve.
And the Singular Warnings of The Little Old Man
BY
M. QUAD

When my grandfather Davis, who was grandfather on my mother's side, married and set up for himself, he took a small farm in what is now Bartholomew county, Indiana. In his time Indiana was a territory, and was considered in the "Far West." A state highway, running from Indianapolis to Jeffersonville, passed his humble log cabin, and for many years the county had but few settlers, and his nearest neighbor was three miles away. Mr. Davis had lived on the place about two years, and cleared up a good bit of land, when one New Year's eve, as he stood at his door, a man who was on foot and without a burden of any sort, turned in from the highway and said:

"Good evening, Mr. Davis. I notice many changes since I passed your clearing, six months ago."

My grandfather could not remember that he had ever seen the man before. He was a short man, being no more than five feet high, and though muffled up, as though to conceal his face, his voice sounded like that of a very old man. There was scarcely a night in which some stranger did not call at the cabin for lodgings, and, though failing to remember him as a guest, Mr. Davis decided that the little old man had at some time enjoyed his hospitality. He replied to his salutation, and, after some general talk, asked if he intended to stop for the night.

"No, I cannot stop to-night," replied the stranger. "I turned aside to give you warning, and you will do well to heed my words. To-morrow evening two men will come along from the south and ask for lodgings. They will tell you that they are land-lookers, but you must not trust them. They are robbers, and mean you evil. If you let them into your house do not close your eyes in sleep."

"But who are you, and how do you know what's to happen?" asked my grandfather.

"Never you mind who I am, or how I come by my information," replied the stranger. "I have given you warning, and you must look out. That's all—good-night."

With that he started off up the road in the direction of Indianapolis, and was soon out of sight in the darkness. My grandfather gazed after him and wondered if he was not an escaped lunatic, and he was quiet for such a length of time that his wife came out to see what was the trouble. They talked the matter over again that evening, and the conclusion reached was that the little old man had sipped at his bottle too often and was in a mood for joking. His warning lingered, however, and the next day, half an hour before sunset, my grandfather was not greatly surprised when two men turned in from the road and asked to be accommodated for the night. Before he had said a word, in reply they explained that they were land-lookers from Eastern Ohio. Each carried a rifle and a bundle of clothes, and there was nothing suspicious in their looks or talk. While the words of the little old man were ringing in his ears Mr. Davis made the strangers welcome, and his wife prepared supper for them.

The cabin was divided into two rooms, and the one bed stood in the front room. There was no door to the rude partition dividing this room from the kitchen, but a sheet was hung up as a substitute. There was a fire-place in each room, and at bedtime the strangers were given a "shake down" in front of one in the kitchen. As soon as husband and wife were alone they agreed that the strangers, well appearing as they were, had evil designs, and that my grandfather must remain awake to watch them. He took his place in the corner of the room, rifle in hand, while my grandmother threw herself on the bed, and the time dragged slowly along until midnight, without a move on the part of the guests. Then they were heard stirring about, and fifteen minutes later the sheet at the door was carefully drawn aside and one of them peered into the front room. The fire was low, and my grandfather was in a dark corner. The fellow could see the bed, and believing that both husband and wife were there and sound asleep, he entered the room and his companion followed at his heels. Both had their rifles in hand, and they started on tiptoe across the floor, handling their weapons in such a way as to leave no doubt of their murderous intentions. Without a word of warning, my grandfather leveled his rifle at the nearest man and fired. There was a scream, a shout and a fall, followed by the rush of feet. The man fired on had been killed, and his companion dashed into the kitchen and out of doors as fast as he could go. The identity of the dead man was never discovered. In the packs left in the kitchen were several articles, evidently stolen from the houses of settlers, with two silver watches, which had probably been taken from travelers on the highway. The rifle of the dead man was a fine weapon, and in his pockets was a sum of money amounting to over $300. My grandfather, therefore, made a pretty good thing out of it, altogether, and there was no coroner to bother about an inquest. With the help of his nearest neighbor he buried the dead man on his own land, and there was the end of it.

Three years later, having exchanged farms, Mr. Davis removed to the county of Lawrence. The cabin on this farm was within a hundred feet of the White river. During the three years nothing had been seen or heard of the little old man. All who heard the story came to the conclusion that he had overheard the two robbers making their plan, or that he was one of the gang and had quarreled with the pair and betrayed them to secure revenge. On New Year's eve, after several days' thaw and rain, and when the river was bank-full, my grandfather was caring for his horses in the stable when that same little old man, dressed exactly as before, suddenly appeared at the door and said:

"Good evening, Mr. Davis. I see you have traded Bartholomew county for Lawrence! I was glad to learn that you heeded my warning about the robbers. I stopped to tell you that you are in great danger here. Before morning all this land will cave into the river and you'd best get away as soon as possible."

"I want to thank you for your warning about the robbers," said my grandfather as soon as he could find his voice, "and to ask you—"

"Can't wait—can't wait!" interrupted the little old man. "It's all right—hurry up—see you again."

With that he was gone. My grandfather went out with his lantern, and looked carefully about him, but he could not even find the trace of a foot in the soft soil. Even where the stranger had stood leaning against the door-post there wasn't a sign to prove that he had feet. Grandfather was badly rattled over the affair, as also was his wife, but it was decided to heed the warning. The horses were hitched to the wagon, the wagon loaded with their household goods, and at 11 o'clock at night they arrived at a roadside inn three miles away. When they told their story they were laughed at, but the light of the morning told a different story. White river had cut a new channel for itself across a long bend, and cabin, stables and five acres of land had disappeared. The waters had come down so suddenly an with such a rush that had the family remained in their cabin there would have been no chance of escape. Whenever the story was told it was agreed that there was something queer in that little old man turning up to give a second warning, and there were some people who believed with my grandfather that the stranger was not of flesh and blood. After a couple of years the incident was, however, forgotten by all save my relatives, and they recalled it only to wonder if there would ever come another warning. Soon after the disaster Mr. Davis sold his land and joined a party emigrating to Edmonson county, Ky. There he purchased land and built a sawmill on Green river—the first in the county. While the mill was running steadily the help was changed frequently, as none of the white men about cared to work long and my grandfather owned no slaves. He at length hired a negro who had been set free by his master, and the two ran the mill while a white man was hired on the farm.

It was about five years from the second appearance of the little old man, when my grandfather stood on his doorstep one New Year's eve looking about. His wife had started the day before for a visit to relatives in Indiana and a negro woman was in the house to cook for the men. The white man and the negro had gone to the sawmill, situated about a half mile away, to file the saw for the morrow's work. There suddenly appeared before my grandfather, coming from he could not say where, the same little old man, and in a voice perfectly familiar he said:

"Pleasant evening, Mr. Davis. So you have made another change. Things happened up on White river just as I told you they would, eh?"

"They did, and we owe you our lives," replied my grandfather.

"Tut! tut! But that is nothing! You are in danger again, and I came to warn you."

Let me tell that my grandfather had firmly resolved that if the little old man ever appeared again he would find out more about him. He was somewhat startled over his appearance, but his mind was made up that he would prove his caller a man of flesh and blood, or a spook. The little old man did not come nearer than six feet to the doorstep, but as he stood there Mr. Davis planned to spring upon him should he turn away as abruptly as on former occasions.

"Go over to the saw-mill," continued the old man. "Made your approach very softly. You will find two men seated on a log and talking about you. Go at once—good night!"

M ygrandfather made a spring and a grasp at him, but, to his terror, the little old man vanished from sight, as if dissolved in air. Not the slightest noise betrayed his going. One instant he was there—the next he was gone. To make sure that he had not been dreaming, my granfather called to the colored woman.

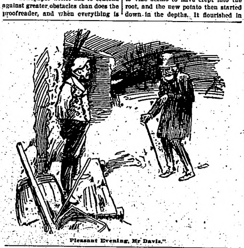
She declared that she had heard the voice of an old man, but had not looked out to see who the caller was. Although greatly upset by the circumstance, Mr. Davis soon started for the mill to see what the men were about. Sure enough, he found them sitting on a log on the carriage, and, after some careful maneuvering, he got close enough to overhear their conversation. It appeared that the white man was tired of work, and the negro was anxious to run away to the North. Their plan was to kill and rob my grandfather, and that very night. He made good his retreat to the house, where he found a neighbor named Saunders, and presently told him all. The white man slept in a loft over the kitchen, and the negro in the stable. The plan was for the former to descend from the loft during the night and unfasten the kitchen door and admit the negro. The colored woman would be asleep on a lounge, and as it was feared she would neither run away with them nor share their guilt, the white man was to kill her while the negro attacked Mr. Davis. When the story had been told, Saunders planned with my grandfather to beat the villains at their game. The colored woman was locked up in a store room off the kitchen, and a log of wood laid on the lounge and covered up, to resemble a human figure. Another log was placed in my grandfather's bed, and then the two men, each armed with a rifle, took up their stations behind a cupboard standing across a corner of the kitchen.

Half an hour before midnight the white man softly descended the ladder and opened the door for the negro, who had a couple of sharp axes in his hands. The pair whispered together for a moment, and then the white man took one of the axes and moved over to the lounge, while the negro slipped into the sitting room and through it into the bed room. At a whistle from the white man both brought down their axes, and at the same instant the two men in hiding sprang out. The white man was killed by a bullet from Saunders' rifle, and as the negro came rushing out my grandfather gave him a mortal wound. He lived until midafternoon of the next day, and before dying made a full confession. He laid the blame on the white man, and, probably, with just reasons; but it was clear that he had been a willing tool and was a bad man at heart.

There was still another adventure in store for my grandfather. Six or seven years after the attempted double-murder, and when he had sold the saw mill and became a country merchant, he started for Muhlenburg on the last day of December, with a team, to dispose of a lot of furs, beeswax, hides, feathers and other things, and bring back goods for his trade. He intended to drive until about 10 o'clock at night to reach a certain tavern; but just after dark that same little old man suddenly appeared beside the wagon and called out:

"Ha! Mr. Davis—glad to see you again! I was right in my last warning, eh? You must stop at the next tavern. If you drive over the long causeway you will be shot down and robbed by men lying there in ambush."

My grandfather pulled up his horses and jumped down, but, as before, the man had vanished and left no trace behind. A mile ahead was a roadside tavern, and a mile beyond that, a long causeway across a swamp. Mr. Davis put up at the tavern for the night and said not a word to anybody. Next morning, as he was ready to go, a man on horseback brought the news that a traveler had been killed and robbed at the far end of the causeway by men who had doubtless been lying in ambush. That was the fourth and last warning, and the little old man never appeared again. Was it a man or a wraith? You must answer that question yourself. I have given you a chapter from the family records, adding nothing and taking nothing away. My granfather was a Christian man, and a man of honor in every sense. That which he wrote down in his journal he believed to be true goes without dispute. He was no believer in the supernatural, and yet I do not think he ever reached the conclusion that his strange friend was a fellow man. He couldn't believe that and furnish a reasonable explanation of his sudden disappearances. You may ask if the little old man warned others of danger? I never heard that he did. Indeed, nearly every one who ever heard of the incidents as above related poohpoohed them, and sarcastically observed that my grandfather must have taken a drop too much in honor of the near-by New Year. But it is my firm belief that things happened exactly as he said; and without the slightest exaggeration of details.—Detroit Free Press.



Pleasant Evening, Mr Davis."

THE PROOFREADER'S ERRORS.

Some Humorous Incidents That Are the Result of His Oversight.

No newspaper writer has to contend against greater obstacles than does the proofreader, and when everything is taken into consideration the average excellence of his work is little less than marvelous.

His errors of omission may easily be pardoned. Whenever the type calls a lovely bride a "bird" the offense may lightly be overlooked, since the meaning is not entirely obscured. But the proofreader's errors of commission belong to a different category. Whenever he attempts to straighten out the tangled meaning of something he doesn't understand, the result often is something to make the judicious grieve.

At the conclusion of the Li Hung Chang festivities in New York, and just before the distinguished Celestial left for China by the Canadian route, I wrote a paragraph, saying: "Before Li Hung Chang goes back to China he ought to see the United States." It came out in cold type: "Li Hung Chang is visiting the United States before going back to China." Simultaneously I found on my desk a note from the proofreader. It said: "You'll have to keep tally a little closer. That Chinaman has been in New York a week. Don't you read the papers?"

W. W. Naughton, the San Francisco sporting writer, once included in his sporting news for the Examiner an item saying that "the young salmon are beginning to run." It appeared in print: "The young salmon are beginning to swim."

When Mr. Naughton asked for an explanation the proofreader cheerily remarked: "That's all right, Billy. You had that mixed up with your turf stuff, but I straightened it out for you."

"But why didn't you let it go as I wrote it?" persisted Naughton.

"I couldn't," was the reply. "Who ever heard of a fish running?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

THE MALE SOCIETY BUD.

He Has Arrived, and Great Things Are Expected of Him.

If the blossoming of the female "bud" into a flower of society is a proper topic for newspaper discussion, why should not the male "bud" be honored with a detailed "write-up" in the public prints, so that his charms may be as widely advertised as those of the attractive creatures who depend upon him for seats at the opera and partners at the german? Evidently there is no reason for the discrimination from the point of view of a Washington paper, which presents, in several columns, the best qualities of a number of masculine "buds" which are now full-blown.

The proud monopoly which the fairer sex has heretofore enjoyed is thus rudely assailed, and hereafter it would not be surprising if the enterprising social reporter has to give as much attention to these coy young things that wear dress coats and belong to the club as he has heretofore devoted to the ladies. Whether this shall prove to be an affliction remains to be seen, but the novelty of the innovation will no doubt lend some interest at first to the apotheosis of the male "bud." Blonde or blondine, brunette or strawberry type, he will be pictured to us in all his stunning beauty.

The part of his hair, the length of his collar and the brevity of his top-coat, the style of his boots and the color of his gloves, the diameter of his eyeglasses and the angle at which he wears his silk hat—all these details and many more not here set forth, will be dwelt upon with the nice analysis and painstaking industry of the society reporter. Eyelashes, teeth, trim of beard or mustache, nose of Grecian or Roman type, perhaps retrousse or expansive, will not be neglected, of course.

Great things are promised for the exaltation of the male "bud," and if he has heretofore blossomed in obscurity, the time of his apatheosis has come. No longer will he be a violet in modest seclusion, but a sunflower, brilliant, if not gaudy.—Baltimore Sun.

An Aged Goldfish.

The goldfish is not as tender an animal as is imagined, for in handling and moving them from one place to another they are dipped up in nets and carried about in baskets much like corn or potatoes. Sometimes they are out of the water thirty minutes, and seldom is it that they are injured. How long they will live depends altogether upon their treatment. In the government aquarium at Washington is a goldfish that is known to be fifty years of age, and it is not perceptibly larger than when first placed there. There is said to be in the royal aquarium at Rome, Italy, a fish that is more than a hundred years of age, but it has grown slightly in the last twenty-five years. Its color is the same except a slight change with the seasons.—Indianapolis Journal.

A Potato That Lifted a Ton.

Charles W. Simmons, who lives on a farm near Pleasant Home, yesterday brought in from his farm a curiosity. It consisted of a late Rose potato grown in the root of a tree. The potato vine seems to have crept into the root, and the new potato then started down in the depths. It flourished in its strange surroundings and developed into a large and well formed potato. The room in the root was too small for its expansion, and so the spud exerted not less than a ton pressure on the root until the side was split open. The root is about three inches in diameter and six inches in length. About an inch of the spud protrudes from one end. It is quite a curiosity, and all who have seen it say they have never seen anything like it before.—Morning Oregonian.

Painful.

"They tell me that Greggs and his wife are constantly on the verge of quarreling."

"Yes; they don't dare to sit by an open window."

"Why not?"

"Afraid of falling out."—Answers.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

A boy of sixteen committed suicide at Minneapolis.

An immigration convention will be held in St. Paul in January.

The show of the State Poultry association may be held in St. Paul.

Joseph Greengard of St. Paul was knocked down by a street car and seriously injured.

Another dog in St. Paul dies of rabies, another victim of the black and white dog.

Deputy Game Warden Abresch of North St. Paul has made several arrests for illegal fishing.

Phil Scheig, the defaulting bank teller of Minneapolis, has been pardoned by Gov. Clough.

The loss by fire in the Ryan annex and Schutte block at St. Paul is placed at $171,950, with insurance of $91,700.

Henry Mettler, one of Hastings' wealthy citizens, died suddenly of heart disease, aged seventy-three years.

Two gambling dens were raided at Jackson recently, and nine men arrested.

Dr. Hewitt, of the state board of health, reports that there is only one-eighth as many deaths from diphtheria as there was fourteen years ago.

Fred Joblinski and son were murdered and wife wounded at Madelia, by the hired man. The murderer is still at large.

F. A. Seymour and W. H. Lightner have been appointed receivers of the Bank of Minnesota, which recently failed at St. Paul.

The state commission has adopted plans and estimates for the Anoka hospital for the insane, and providing for an expenditure of nearly $1,000,000.

The statement comes from good authority that two new tugs are now building at West Bay City for the fleet which Capt. B. B. Inman will have charge of at Duluth in the spring.

Mrs. Martha Lindberg of Anoka, aged sixty-six, stepped on a trunk to hang up clothes, slipped backwards, breaking her neck. Coroner Robbins decided an inquest unnecessary.

Mrs. Kate Kittok of Delano, while using kerosene to start a fire recently, caused an explosion which ignited her clothing and burned her fatally. She and her husband were both intoxicated at the time of the accident.

John Doe, James and John Carringan and Mike McCauley, four young men of La Crescent, were arraigned before Justice Dorival at Caledonia, for breaking into Mr. Stickler's house in La Crescent. They were fined $5 and costs, amounting to about $40 each.

Olaf Lindquist, Andrew Lindquist, John Lindquist, P. A. Anderson, N. O. Doblin and John Anderson, all of the town of Spring Vale, Isanti county, have been arrested by Sheriff Hokanson of Delano, for stealing logs from Anoka and Minneapolis log-owners.

A dog went mad in New Prague, recently, and bit two men, several cattle and another dog. The dog, after doing all that damage, ran into Karhl's hardware store, where he was killed. The other dog and cattle shared the same fate. The two men were sent to Chicago for treatment.

The large sand pit found lately on the farm of R. B. Hinkley of Luverne has proven to contain some valuable sand. Some of it was melted in crucibles, and, it said, made a very fine and high grade of glass. Mr. Hinkley has sent specimens of the sand to Eastern manufacturers and experts.

It is reported that E. C. Blanchard, chief train dispatcher for the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific, will succeed F. W. Wilsey as superintendent of the division. Mr. Blanchard is now out on the division with officials of the road, among whom is Supt. Kimberly.

Mrs. Thomas McCadden was found dead in bed at her home in Cherry Grove, Goodhue county. The cause is attributed to heart disease. Deceased was the second daughter of State Dairy Commissioner Jerry E. Getman of Minneapolis, and was married to Mr. McCadden last spring.

J. E. Knapp and John Myers were arrested on complaint of W. W. Craig of Deerwood, for passing a forged check for $60, purporting to have been drawn y N. McFadden, druggist, of Brainerd, and brought before the municipal court of Brainerd. Knapp admitted the charge and Myers demanded an examination, which was set for the 30th inst.

The stranger found dead at Randolph, Dakota county, came to his death by being run over by a freight train. The body could not be identified, and was ordered buried by Coroner Strapf. It developed that he had robbed a clothes line, and in boarding the train with the bundle for St. Paul was knocked off by striking the coal sheds.

Mrs. Mary Quackenbush has filed a sensational suit at Duluth against Otto Royce, a member of the Duluth police force, and Leonard Schlitz. She asks $1,500 damages for injuries received through a nervous shock alleged to have been due to the acts of the defendants. It is allege dthat the defendants tied a vicious dog, belonging to plaintiff, to a stairway at the door of her house and killed the animal there, and that Mrs. Quackenbush, coming out of the house at the time, received a nervous shock, which resulted in her premature confinement and lasting injury.

Beer in Siphons.

The sale of beer in siphons, like aerated water, promises to revolutionize the bottling business. So far the experiment has only been attempted on a small scale, but its success justifies its extension. The siphons are made in various sizes, so as to meet the requirements of family use. The deterioration of beer in bottles when a single glass is drawn is entirely obviated by this new system. From quart or gallon siphons it may be drawn in such quantity as is desired, with no loss of vivacity in that which remains. The adoption of this new method of supplying beer will for a time seriously affect the bottling business, as only large concerns, probably brewers, can afford to acquire the expensive and necessary plant. It is remarkable that the use of siphons for the sale of beer did not long ago come into vogue, as they offer a perfect medium for distribution.—New York Sun.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

Hardware, Furniture,

—AND—

BURIAL SUPPLIES.

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture,
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS,

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness-maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE

RUNS

THROUGH CARS

TO ☞

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA	PULLMAN
BUTTE	SLEEPING CARS
SPOKAND	ELEGANT
TACOMA	DINING CARS
SEATTLE	TOURIST
PORTLAND	SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:35 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:13 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co.,

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific Co.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS, DESIGNS, COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain, free, whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Oldest agency for securing patents in America. We have a Washington office.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN,

beautifully illustrated, largest circulation of any scientific journal, weekly, terms $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Specimen copies and HAND BOOK ON PATENTS sent free. Address

MUNN & CO.,
361 Broadway, New York.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn, as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 30, 1896.

Phil. Sheig was pardoned Christmas eve. He got away with too much bank money to stay in the penitentiary very long.

The subject of increasing the salary of Congressmen from five thousand to seven thousand five hundred, is being discussed.

A common thing now days when a bank fails they promise to "pay every cent." If that is the case, how is it that they fail?

It would be interesting to hear from some of the gold standard republicans who have lost their gold in the recent bank failures.

Gov. Pingree, of Michigan, who is a Populist in spirit if not in name, promises to carry out many reforms, notably the reduction of passenger and freight rates.

Lost—the advance "agent of prosperity." It is feared that he was lost in the November snow storms and died while hugging to his deluded breast protection and the gold standard.

A Bimettallic State Convention composed of Populists, Silver Republicans and Democrats is called to meet at Lincoln, Neb., January 2nd, 1897. The call is endorsed by the People's Party State Committee.

The validity of the gold contract is being tested in many states. When alleged silver legislatures fail to legislate against gold contracts the genuineness of their sentiment for the white metal is questioned.

W. J. Bryan's first lecture subject "Modern Landmarks," at Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 23rd, was a pronounced success. His book, "The First Battle," will be on sale January 15th, price $1.50. We notice that many reform papers are offering this book as a prize for clubs.

The Cuban situation, as far as these United States are conserned, becomes more serious each day. Just before adjournment for the holidays members of the Senate and the lower House were equally surprised to learn that with the Chief Executive alone rests the power to recognize a belligerent power. This fact was first started by Secretary Olney before the Senatorial committee and has since been embodied in the manifesto. He also urges that the insurgents have made no effort to establish any government and so cannot be recognized. Prominent men like John Sherman, Cameron, Garland and Vest hold an opposite opinion and much excitement prevailed just before adjournment.

Secretary Carlisle's report, although it has been somewhat anticipated in the President's message, is not lacking in interest. He reports for year ending June 30th 1896, revenues from all sources $409,475,408, expenditures $434,638,654, deficit $25,203,245. Much of the greater part of the estimated deficiency for the current fiscal year has already been incurred, and has been paid, leaving still in the Treasury on the first day of December a balance of $225,035,708, which, after deducting the gold reserve is about $100,000,000 more than is necessary as a permanent fund to insure the regular conduct of the ordinary fiscal operations of the government. From bond sales and interest thereon $111,170,376. Decrease in ordinary expenditures $4,102,852. Increase in receipts, $19,102,205. The revenues are classified as follows: Customs, $148,000,000; internal revenue, $150,000,000; miscellaneous, $20,000,000; postal, $89,793,120.

Canadian Excursions via Chicago.

If you wish to spend the winter in Canada, please take notice that the usual $40.00 rate is again in effect, and that tickets will be sold from THIS STATION every day this month (December) to all points in Ontario west of Toronto. These tickets will be good going within ten days from date of sale, and good for return three months from date of sale, and good for return three months from date of sale. Extension of time for return can be had on payment of a small additional sum. These tickets will read via St. Paul and Chicago, and in buying from your home ticket agent, ask him to sell you one over the Burlington Route, acknowledged by all patrons to be the speediest, safest and most comfortable of any.

GEO. P. LYMAN,
G. P. A., C. B. & N. R. R.

STILL A BACHELOR.

But He Had Something to Say In His Own Defense.

"Not at all, not at all," insisted a Washington bachelor, who would be a most eligible and substantial matrimonial prize if he were less "set in his way," "I'm not at all cynical, and if there be one creature of all the Lord made in the beginning that I think is more admirable than any other creature or than all the other creatures that creature is woman, but when it comes to an indissoluble tie thereto, then I beg to be excused.

"Of course I have a reason," he continued. "If a man did anything without reason, he wouldn't be much of an improvement over the women, but I have an excellent reason for being a bachelor—at least, for the present. Perhaps when I am grown older and my years are approaching the limit I may take a wife, knowing that if I make a mistake I won't have very long to suffer or that she won't if she should make a mistake, but while I am still in the thirties I shall keep those years entirely from the clutch of any aspiring feminine.

"Yes," he continued, "yes, I know I used to be quite a ladies' man, or rather quite the man who was pretty sure to marry the first chance he had, which the so called ladies' man never does, but I was saved in time, though I lost the girl I was engaged to in the process of having my eyes opened.

"Tell you about it? Certainly I will," he laughed. "It isn't any more than right to my fellow sufferers to show them the way out. You know, I was about half engaged to a girl five or six years ago—she's well married now—and one day I happened to drop into a certain fashionable millinery shop where all the best people go. I don't know why I should have gone in there, but I did it this day, and before I had been in there two minutes I heard a well known voice in active use of language that was fairly making the hair curl on a helpless girl clerk. I listened until I felt the chills chasing each other down my back, and then I went out. That night I called on the possessor of the voice, but I had lost interest, and after one or two attempts I succeeded in having language applied to me that made my hair curl. After that I made it my business to drop into millinery shops of the higher class whenever I could, and in one or two places I could hide away for half an hour at a time, and the number of handsomely dressed and elegant young women whom I have heard abusing their mothers, the clerks and everybody else, with now and then an emphatic word thrown in, frightened me so that I have lost my nerve, and I'm going to wait awhile and forget how unlovely a pampered daughter of fortune may be when she tries. Either that, or I'll marry one of the clerks in the millinery store, and she'll be so grateful to me for rescuing her that she will find her greatest happiness in being my slave forever."

Moral.—Bonnets, not tempers, are for exhibition in millinery stores.—Washington Post.

Novelists Take Themselves Too Seriously.

Novelists, as a class, already take themselves too seriously. Atlas holding up the world is only a figure symbolic of the novelist's conception of his own place in the scheme of the universe of today. To the novelist the novel is identical with modern thought—that is, it is the only adequate vehicle of expression for all the moods, broodings, hopes, aspirations, gropings, philosophies and whatnot of modern life. If only the playwright and the editor could be brought to share with the novelist this seriousness of self view, half the reforms necessary to modern civilization would be accomplished at a stroke. Accentuate the seriousness of novel reading, lay it as a duty upon the consciences of novel readers, regardless of the inevitable reaction on novel writers, and the effect upon fiction production is impossible of estimate.—Scribner's.

Crushed Again.

"Isn't it awful?" said Mrs. Jenks to her husband.

"Isn't what awful?" queried Jenks.

"Houston's boy was run over and received infernal injuries."

"Internal, you mean."

"No, I mean infernal. I know what I'm talking about."

After a quarrel of five minutes Jenks produced a dictionary, and with considerable trouble managed to find "infernal."

"There," he exclaimed, "I told you so! Infernal means relating to the lower regions."

"Well," replied Mrs. Jenks—and there was a ring of triumph in her voice—"ain't that where he was injured?"—London Answers.

Olden Times.

"Why do you say olden times?" asked a little girl who had been listening to a Bible story. "Times are ever so much older now than they were in those days."—Brooklyn Eagle.

—If you are in need of anything in the line of note heads, letter heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, dodgers, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

—Every farmer who writes a letter occasionally should get envelopes with his name and address printed in the corner. We will furnish 100 of the best quality printed in any style for the small sum of 75 cts. Send in your order.

THE ROOF OF THE WORLD.

Marco Polo's Account of the Plateau of Pamir and Its Inhabitants.

In leaving Badashan you ride 12 days between east and northeast, ascending the river that runs through land belonging to a brother of the Prince of Badashan and containing a good many towns and villages and scattered habitations. The people are Mohammedans and valiant in war. At the end of those 12 days you come to a province of no great size, extending indeed no more than three days' journey in any direction, and this is called Vokhan. The people worship Mohammed and they have a peculiar language. They are gallant soldiers, and they have a chief whom they call none, which is as much as to say count, and they are liegemen to the Prince of Badashan.

There are numbers of wild beasts of all sorts in this region. And when you leave this little country and ride three days northeast, always among mountains, you get to such a height that it is said to be the highest place in the world. And when you have got to this height you find a great lake between two mountains and out of it a fine river running through a plain clothed with the finest pasture in the world, insomuch that a lean beast there will fatten to your heart's content in ten days. There are great numbers of all kinds of wild beasts, among others wild sheep of great size, whose horns are a good six palms in length. From these horns the shepherds make great bowls to eat from, and they use the horns also to inclose folds for their cattle at night.

Messer Marco was told also that the wolves were numerous and killed many of those wild sheep. Hence quantities of their horns and bones were found, and these were made into great heaps by the wayside in order to guide travelers when snow was on the ground.

The plain is called Pamir, and you ride across it for 12 days altogether, finding nothing but a desert without habitations or any green thing, so that travelers are obliged to carry with them whatever they have need of. The region is so lofty and cold that you do not even see any birds flying. And I must notice also that because of this great cold fire does not burn so brightly nor give out so much heat as usual, nor does it cook food so effectually.

Now, if we go on with our journey toward the east-northeast, we travel a good 40 days, continually passing over mountains and hills or through valleys and crossing many rivers and tracts of wilderness. And in all this way you find neither habitation of man nor any green thing, but must carry with you whatever you require. The country is called Bolor. The people dwell high up in the mountains and are savage idolaters, living only by the chase and clothing themselves in the skins of beasts. They are in truth an evil race.—"The Story of Marco Polo," by Noah Brooks, in St. Nicholas.

Titled Beggars.

"You would be astonished if you knew the number of letters I receive at the beginning of every season from titled people who propose to stay at my hotel, entirely at my expense, during the holidays," said the proprietor of a south coast hotel in the course of a conversation the writer had with him recently.

"So many Americans and merchants from the midlands who have made their piles hope to scrape up acquaintances which may lead to the marriages of their daughters with aristocrats during the summer season that the way in which they select their hotel is to see what titled persons are staying where they wish to go, and the hotel at which there are the most promising titles and names is invariably the one selected by them; while they make a point of indulging in every extravagance just to prejudice their victims in their favor and exhibit to them their wealth.

"The aristocracy know this full well, and impecunious barohets are especially willing to take advantage of it. They know the value of their titles to use as trade advertisements, and many of them get their summer holidays at good hotels absolutely free in this way. Rich merchants are the people who make hotels pay, and we proprietors know that nothing attracts these so well as the names and titles of bachelor baronets; hence we are generally quite willing to entertain these queer proposals."—Pearson's Weekly.

Onions and Sleep.

In Rome, Ga., lives an ingenious farmer who was told that onions were efficacious in causing sleep. Being kept awake late every night by the noise of the numerous beaus who came to see his daughters, he resolved to try the onion prescription. He did not take it himself, however, but made his daughters eat them every night at supper. The family now retires at an early hour every night, and peace reigns in the household. The onion is mighty and will prevail.—Richmond (Ind.) Register.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

If you are particular

About the accommodations you get when travelling, select the Burlington Route as your line, and you will be more than satisfied.

If you are going beyond Chicago, St. Louis, Denver, St. Paul or Minneapolis, and don't know the rate of fare, or the different routes, time etc., write to Geo. P. Lyman, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., and you will get a prompt reply, or call on any agent of the Burlington Route—they can be found in all principle cities.

Reclining Chair Cars, Compartment Sleepers and Cafe Dining Cars make a combination unequaled for comfort in travel.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

MINNESOTA

State Normal Schools

—AT—

Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

—(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

—(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

—(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

—(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $3 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3.00 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

The next school year opens at all the schools September 4th 1896.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows:

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Do you want to trade cord wood for a second ☞ box stove? If so call at this office and make a deal.

The BEER=

THAT MAKES
ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY,
IS THE

HAMM

Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior and Muencher Table Beer.

☞ Just talk to JAS. E. WILEY when he is here or address him at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and your orders will be promptly attended to.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $8 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

Price per Acre.

SANDERS TOWNSHIP.

	Sec.	Price per Acre
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2		4.00
3 forties in	3	4.00 to 4.25
7 "	5	2.00 to 3.75
1 "	7	5.00
4 "	8	2.0[illegible] to [illegible].70
NE of SE	19	5.00
7 forties in	20	2.00 to 4.50
10 "	21	3.00 to 5.00
5 "	29	3.0 to 5.0
4 "	33	4.00 to 6.00
5 "	34	3.00 to 4.50
13 "	35	4.50 to 5.00

ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

	Price per Acre
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

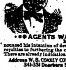
	Sec.	Price per Acre
5 forties in Sec.	10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 "	15	6.00
2 "	17	4.50
4 "	20	3.00 to 5.00
2 "	22	6.00
4 "	29	3.10 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Hon. W. J. Bryan's Book

All who are interested in furthering the sale of Hon. W. J. Bryan's new book should correspond immediately with the publishers. The work will contain . . .



AN ACCOUNT OF HIS CAMPAIGN TOUR.
HIS BIOGRAPHY, WRITTEN BY HIS WIFE
HIS MOST IMPORTANT SPEECHES.
THE RESULTS OF THE CAMPAIGN OF 1896.
A REVIEW OF THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

••AGENTS WANTED••

Mr. Bryan has announced his intention of devoting one-half of all royalties to furthering the cause of bimetallism. There are already indications of an enormous sale.

Address W. B. CONKEY COMPANY, Publishers
341-351 Dearborn St....CHICAGO

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday	$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone	$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year	$4.00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year	$1.75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application. Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The American Hotel.....

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGGUIST;

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample goods for the winter trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.
Respectfully yours.
J. HOGQUIST.
St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS;
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL
D. PATTERSON
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

M. W. OF A., CAMP 3650.—Meets in Brink's hall second and fourth Friday of each month. Visiting neighbors are invited to attend. O. F. POST, V. C.
H. J. FREEMAN, Clerk.

M. E. CHURCH:—Pastor, Rev. M. S. Burns. Services every Sunday at 3:00 p. m., and Wednesday evenings at 7:30.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	65c	Butter	12½c
Oats	15c	Eggs	15c
Barley	13c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	61c	Potatoes "	25

LOCAL NEWS.

We wish all our readers a Happy New Year.

—"Money talks" so does good advertising.

Chas. Tedford is looking over the village to-day.

Turn over a new leaf day after tomorrow—1897.

Charley Brink went to Crookston the first of the week.

Lovely weather is what we had all through December.

—Leonard Holmes has flour and feed for sale or exchange.

County Commissioner Anderson of Wylie is in the village to-day.

Start in the New Year right by subscribing for the SPECTATOR.

—Go to L. Holmes and exchange your wheat for flour and feed.

FEED FOR SALE:—Inquire at the feed mill of Anderson Bros., St. Hilaire.

Charley Tedford or the upper Falls will move to St. Hilaire in the spring.

O. W. Brink returned from St. Paul Friday. He is now after more stock.

Haul in a load of wood and get a years subscription to the SPECTATOR.

Officers for the new county were appointed at Red Lake Falls last Saturday.

An interesting letter from Mr. Swan Anderson of Wylie will appear in next weeks issue.

A great many took advantage of the fine weather Christmas and went out cutter riding.

Wm. Tripp, a bannanza farmer living a few miles west of Warren is in the village to-day.

—H. E. Ives will pay cash for county school district orders. Bring them in and get them cashed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burkee and family of Thief River Falls were visiting relatives here over Sunday.

The dance at Brink's hall was fairly well attended and a good time had by all those who attended.

Messrs. Paradis, E. M. Hoff, S. M. and Engebert Hoff were visitors at Red Lake Falls last Saturday.

Prof. J.B. O'Brien, after spending the holidays with relatives at Red Lake Falls returned home Monday.

From the way banks are going broke it would be a good idea for the government to go into the banking business.

In the way of local news we especialy invite everyone to give us whatever he knows that is suitable for publication.

School opened Monday in the primary department. Miss Kyle recovered from her recent sickness so as to teach again.

The St. Hilaire Lumber company purchased another chunk of pine lands last week. This time it was a small check, only $5,000.

Marcus Johnson, of the firm of Johnson & Marshall of Red Lake Falls, who resides at St. Paul, was in the village Christmas day.

Engebret Hoff, who has been visiting relatives here for the past week, left Monday for his home in the southern part of the state.

This is the way the Gazette will start out the first of the year: Red Lake Falls Gazette, Red Lake Falls, Red Lake Falls county, Jan. 1, 1897.

S. M. Dainard seems to have the call on sheriff-elect Lawrence who does not get his office until January 5th, while Sam has been sheriff since Dec. 26th.

L. T. Bergh who has been on a collecting tour in North Dakota came home last Friday to spend Christmas with his family. He left again Monday to the scenes of his labors.

Mill Foundation Finished.

Millwright Auge expects to have all of the piling for the mill foundation driven this week. They are driving about twenty-five piles a day and the total for the foundation will be nearly five hundred, twenty foot oak piles. The main building will be 36x192, an addition on the east will be 24x88. On the west, the filing room will be 32x54 and the sorting shed will be 32x100. The engine room will be 14x66 and the boiler room will be 30x54. The last two will be built of brick set on piling and will contain 225,000 brick. The timbers for the main mill will be Washington fir and a concrete foundation will be put in for the gang and band saws. No expense is being spared to make it the best and most fully equipped mill in the Northwest for its size. They expect it will cut twenty million feet a season in ten hours a day or twice that amount if run double time. We may expect to hear the music of the big whistle and the saws about May 1, 1897.

St. Hilaire is certainly to be congratulated on this enterprise. The company have plenty of capital and already own more of the Red Lake pine than all of the other companies combined and are buying more all the time. In the future it can safely be said that St. Hilaire is the lumber center of Northern Minnesota.

Charley Rapp and Sam Dainard went to Red Lake Falls bright and early Saturday morning on county seat matters. Sam was appointed sheriff of the new county.

Prof. Sage of Thief River Falls passed through here Monday on his way to St. Paul where he will attend the State Teachers Association and visit friends for a week or two.

A car load of Milwaukee beer was switched off here Monday and from now on it will be "Milwaukee on tap." The company are in hopes of having their beer house completed in time for next shipment.

I. D. Converse, who is about to write up the early history of Polk county went to Crookston Monday where he will remain for some time gathering information for his book which will consist of 250 or 300 pages.

—Anderson Bros., of St. Hilaire will grind feed every Wednesday and Friday. Feed will be ground at the following prices.—20 sacks and over, 6 cents per sack; under 20 sacks, 7 cents; under 12 sacks, 8 cents.

County Commissioner Hanson of Thief River Falls is here to-day on his way to Ada in Norman county where he goes for the purpose of taking an invoice of records which he will duplicate for Red Lake county as they are both about the same size.

Several families have left town since the city hall gang, got control, and many others expect to move to St. Hilaire in the spring. Where are all the promises of prosperity and work made by the aforesaid gang, just about election time.—T. R. F. News.

Elmer Stranahan, traveling agent for the Jenney-Semple Hardware company, who has been visiting relatives and friends here for the past ten days, left Monday for St. Paul, where he will check up with the house and prepare for another year's work over his old territory in North Dakota, with headquarters at Fargo.

P. & J. Meehan have about consumated a sale of 13,000,000 feet of logs, these, if sale is made, will be sawed down the river and as predicted, as a result of the B. M. U. fight, against this firm. Thief River Falls will reap as it has sown."

The above item is from the T. R. F. News and when he says "will be sawed down the river" we presume he meant at St. Hilaire.

There is a man in Shelby county who always pays for his paper in advance. He never has been sick a day in his life, never had any corns or toothache, his potatoes never rot, the weevil never eats his wheat, the frost never kills his corn or beans, his babies never cry at night, and his wife never scolds says an exchange, and when he dies he will get a free editorial pass to the new Jerusalem, where street paving is done a la gold standard.

After next Friday we will have a newspaper in this new county of ours by the name of Red Lake Falls Gazette located in the village of Red Lake Falls and in the county of Red Lake Falls. The county seat is a nice lively place with a population of about 1200 inhabitants and is situated on the banks of the Red Lake Falls river. When it comes to duplicating names of newspapers, towns, counties and rivers, Red Lake Falls and Roseau have the pole.

A. Gossman, who has held forth in the post office building for the past three weeks selling Cleveland (wrong font) hats, felt boots and rubber buttons, folded his tent Arab like (so to speak) and left for some place more congenial to himself. The village dads should pass an ordinance at once prohibiting hucksters and the like from doing business without a license. They pay no taxes here, but always make it a point to pull up stakes as soon as all the loose money is taken in. Attend to this matter at once and avoid a repeater.

The St. Hilaire Batchelors have concluded to give their second annual ball on Friday evening January 29th. They have already commenced making arrangements and the affair will probably be the advent of the season. Last year their their invitations stated that they were "Matrimonially inclined but Timid." And it was leap year at that, but it don't seem to have been very effective as none have married up to date. The ladies of course are responsible for this as they evidently did not use their leap year prerogative. As leap year don't come again for eight years the boys will have to get to work themselves or else get left.

ORGANIZE AT NIGHT.

By This Means the Crookston Opponents Are Outwitted and Not Given The Chance to Interfere, by Means of an Injunction, Which the Red Lakers Apparently Feared.

Special to the Pioneer Press.

RED LAKE FALLS, Minn., Dec. 26.—Red Lake county is organized and takes a place among the counties of the state. On Christmas night the commissioners met, and at 5:30 a.m., to-day concluded their organization, which was filed at Crookston, the county seat of Polk county. The matter was done so quietly and quickly that no injunction could be served. Thus we are now on the defensive instead of aggressive side of the fight, if there be any. Marcus Johnson of St. Paul, who is largely interested in Red Lake Falls, the new county seat, was present, and rendered valuable assistance in organization. The commissioners elected officers as follows:—Auditor, W. T. Mallarkey, Thief River Falls; register of deeds, A. S. Swanson, Black River; sheriff, S. M. Dainard, St. Hilaire; treasurer, M. A. Hatton, Lake Pleasant; superintendent of schools, Frank Jeffers, Terrebonne; county attorney, C. E. Boughton, Red Lake Falls; coroner, Joseph Belaire, Red Lake Falls. The whole matter was a coup on Crookston opponents, who first learned of the organization from the filing at the auditor's office. Parties from all parts of the new county have been coming in since daylight, and the greatest satisfaction is expressed.

Two years ago, by promises to let off certain territory from Crookston, division was defeated. Crookston then, through Halvor Steenerson in the legislature, secured a law to vote for one proposition only, contemplating the creation of but one county at an election, but it was not so construed by the courts, and the proposition for four new counties was first presented to the voters. Then, to save herself the county seat, leaders proposed two more counties overlapping the four proposed by Crookston—Mills and Columbia—and this also carried. It is held that the carrying of the Red Lake proposition defeats the overlapping counties of Mills and Columbia, and the proclamation was issued to Red Lake county only. Our people have provided quarters for the county officials, and business is opened in full blast. The new territory covers about one-third of the old Polk county, and contains four good towns—Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Wylie. The territory is somewhat sparsely settled, and owned mostly by non-resident men and corporations. The county will also include the reservation not yet opened to settlement, while the opened sections are in the county. All the pine, which is now said to be the best stock left uncut in the state, is in the territory of the new county. Shevlin-Carpenter & Co., of Minneapolis are erecting a mill at St. Hilaire, and the Potts Lumber Co. will erect one here in the spring, while the Meehan Lumber Co., has been operating at Thief River Falls for some years. The farming lands are exceedingly good, though draining is necessary on account of the level nature of the county. A complimentary banquet in behalf of the county division committee will be held in the near future.

This Sounds Different.

"Review of a long fight thus terminated" is the way the Pioneer Press heads an article on the appointment of the new officers of Red Lake county. If anybody thinks that Red Lake county is to transact business at the new stand without any protest, and that the fight is terminated, they are grieviously in error.

One of the first effects of this organization will be to cut off the second commissioner, Henry Norland, from any participation in county board proceedings until the status of the new county is fully settled. This again, is liable to bring up a complication with the new board. Should Mr. Norland present himself for service at the coming session and his services be refused, and then the courts decide that the county of Red Lake is not legal. All business transacted at this session of the board would be entirely illegal, and the same result would follow should he sit with the board and the courts decide subsequently that that county was legally established. The only safe way will be for Mr. Norland to absent himself entirely from the coming session. The attorney general has decided that he will not be allowed to draw milage nor commissioner's fees, if he does present himself as a member.

It now looks as the county division schemers would have to be satisfied with very meagre results from their machinations intended to segregate portions of Polk and make separate bailiwicks of them. Auditor Gleason to-day received from the secretary of state, Gov. Clough's proclamation which conveyed the intelligence that Red Lake county was duly established so far as elective and gubernatorial qualifications go.

This is understood to be equivalent to an announcement that the counties Mills, Nelson and Garfield failed to carry, and is also a notice that the second or three county proposition by reason of its being filed later and what perhaps is a more important reason, the overlapping of territory claimed by the rival counties, has also no standing in the case. This will be the opening of a long line of litigation which is the price to be paid by the people of Polk county in a double fee for both prosecution and defense, as a premium for harboring a lot of county cravers who have town lots to sell, or who have an itching to fill county officers.—Crookston Times.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

WYLIE ITEMS.

For school supplies of all kinds, apply to James G. Brady.

Santa Claus gave our school a call Thursday, which pleased the little ones greatly.

Miss Kate Powers left for Thief River Falls Friday where she will spend the holidays.

Green and dry wood in exchange for hay and oats. Apply to James G. Brady, Wylie, Minn.

Tom Wylie of Thief River Falls shook hands with the "boys" on his way to Crookston Wednesday.

Wm. O'Brien of Red Lake Falls and Prof. W. Melette of Badger passed through Wednesday for Crookston which place they spent X-Mas.

At the German Lutheran church last Wednesday occurred the wedding of Samuel Leppert and Lena Ludders. After the precious knot was tied the company assembled at the home of the groom where the wedding feast was served. In the evening the many friends of the newly married couple joined in the marry making of the evening and returned for their several homes when the clock tolled the wee hours of morning. The groom and bride are both highly respected young people of this community and will make their home for the future at Wylie. We wish them a happy future.

When you see an advertisement of a business house in a newspaper it is to every reader of that paper the same as an invitation for them to attend a wedding of Thanksgiving feast. It is an invitation for you to attend the feast of bargains which they have spread for you at their store. Their ads are put there because they want your trade and will spare no trouble to please you.

Wanted:—A girl for general house work. Apply at once to Mrs. Frank Ives, Crookston, Minn.

The LeSueur News says that an Iowa party has sent to Mr. Quackenbush, of that city, the following recipe for hog epidemic, which has proven a very valuable one in that country in case of hog cholera: Ten pounds of sulphur, ten pounds of salt peter, ten pounds of borax, ten pounds of epsom salts. All ground fine and thoroughly mixed with forty pounds of common salt. The whole kept in a self-feeding trough in a yard where the hogs can have free access to it. Where only a few hogs are in a pen the quantity of the mixture can be lessened, keeping the proportions the same.

Patrick Meehan and James Meehan will start from Milwaukee in a few days for Mexico, to look over land concessions owned by a railroad company composed of Milwaukee capitalists. There is some very valuable timber in the grant, and P. & J. Meehan may invest a considerable sum before their return.—T. R. F. News.

W. A. Sorsoleil will take wood in exchange for flour and feed at Johnson & Marshall's warehouse.

Will the merchant who is wise ever cease to advertise? Yes—when the treese grow upside down; when the beggars wear a crown; when the ice forms on the sun; when the sparrows weigh a ton; when gold dollars get to cheap; when women secrets keep; when fish forget to swim; when Satan sings a hymn; when girls go back on gum; when the small boy hates to drum; when no politician schemes; when mince pies make pleasant dreams; when its fun to break a tooth; when all lawyers tell the truth; when cold water makes you drunk; when you like to smell a skunk; when a drummer has no brass—when these things all come to pass, the man that's wise will cease to advertise.—Ex.

The Alton (Iowa) Democrat, speaking of the magnanimity shown by silver men, says:—The democrats are certainly magnanimous in their defeat. Before election the gold standard people in their papers and in their speeches assured the voters that as soon as it was known that McKinley was elected, confidence would be restored and prosperity would wrap the land in happy embrace. And swiftly following election the dickens was to pay. Banks broke on every hand, laborers were discharged, factories closed, wages were cut and democrats united with republicans in lamenting the disasters. Democrats realize that we of the west suffer alike, regardless of party belief and there was little of the vindicative spirit shown. We wonder every day if our opponents would have been as considerate if Bryan had been elected. We wonder what they would have said about these failures. We somehow believe they would not have been as charitable in expression.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the village recorder of the village of St. Hilaire from the first day of January 1897 to the eleventh day of January 1897, for taking down the old county bridge at St. Hilaire and rebuild it on the same plan as it was originally constructed, about half a mile north of the present location. All timber members to be renewed except the floor beams, joists and vertical struts; work to be completed within ninty (90) days after date of contract.

The village council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids will be opened and inspected on Monday evening January 11, 1897, at 8 o'clock p. m. For specifications call on village recorder.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 29th day of December 1896.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

RAPP & POST

General Merchants.

ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Something .....

Rapp & Post

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.
We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.
We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

FRED EIKHOFF,

DEALER IN

Hardware and Tinware!

My stock of General Hardware, House Furnishing Goods, Paints, Oils, Putty, Glass, Brushes, in fact everything kept in a first-class Hardward Store is most complete and sold at lower prices than ever.

FIRST-CLASS CABINET SHOP IN CONNECTION.

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, Real Estate Broker.
☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

L. K. KOLSTAD

DEALER IN

BOOTS and SHOES!

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

Weekly Spectator.....

The Best is the Cheapest is a trite saying with which most of us are familiar. It is especially applicable to the ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR which is the best local weekly paper in Polk County, and cheapest for the money.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Job Department....

Our Job Department is well equipped to turn out first-class work on short notice. We have New Type, New Press, New Styles, and what is more "We Print to Please" everbody.

CALL ON OR ADDRESS

The SPECTATOR,
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Life

is misery to thousands of people who have the taint of scrofula in their blood. For this terrible affliction there is no remedy equal to

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

The Best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Reversed Writing.

The case of John Ghidotti, six years of age, a pupil at the North Adams State Street school, is attracting considerable attention in that city. The boy is considered a phenomenon by some because every word he writes and every figure he makes in school are reversed, and look like the correct writing viewed in a mirror. The boy uses his left hand and begins at the wrong side of the page. His teacher has made every attempt to correct the fault, but has not succeeded very well. The boy has made correct letters, but seemingly with as much difficulty as one would have in imitating his negative chirography. The case has been brought to the attention of Dr. C. W. Wright of North Adams, who is a specialist on the eye. The doctor has not met with any such case before. He calls the case a freak of nature, and does not think that it is caused by any unusual crossing of the nerve fibers, but thinks it is evident that the image of an object appears reversed to the boy. He prefers to leave the case to higher authority.—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

New Mania.

Two well dressed strangers in widely different parts of the city were seized with some absurd mania, and began throwing away money right and left, to the delight of the small boy and the rigid astonishment of the nearest policeman. One proved to be an out-of-town lawyer and the other a Scotchman who made big money laying golf links during the prevalent craze. How a man can throw away money in New York, where there are so many good places to spend it and get a return of 100 cents on the dollar, is hard to conceive.—New York Letter.

A Tight Place.

"If you want a lawyer, get Muxley. He's as honest a man as breathes, and—"

"I'm afraid I can't win the case with Muxley. The other side has employed Hawksley, and I've got to get a bigger rascal than he is or get beat."—Chicago Tribune.

Not Running.

"Will you run for office again?" asked the politician's acquaintance.

"My friend," was the earnest and deliberate reply, "I wasn't running for office."

"Why—er—everybody thought you were."

"I thought so, too. But I have discovered that I took the wrong route."—Washington Star.

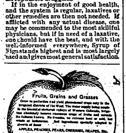
By a recent order Boston policemen are prohibited from leaning against any upright object during working hours.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



Fruits, Grains and Grasses
APPLES, PEACHES, PEARS, CHERRIES, GRAPES, Etc.
LAND OF SUNSHINE AND PROSPERITY

AGENTS WANTED

To sell our MINNESOTA grown FRUITS and SEEDS. You cannot afford to miss our offers if needing work. PAY WEEKLY. THREE PLANS. THE JEWELL NURSERY CO., Lake City, Minnesota.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
Bought and sold for future delivery, 1c to 5c per bu. deposit. Sample sales a specialty. Correspondence and consignments solicited..... MASON BROS., 145 Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill.
MEMBERS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

OPIUM HABIT AND DRUNKENNESS Cured in 10 to 20 Days. No Pay till Cured. DR. J. L. STEPHENS, LEBANON, OHIO.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

FLANNELS AND COLDS.

A PHYSICIAN SAYS WOOLEN UNDERWEAR IS BAD.

Keep Up the Natural Heat of the Body But Do It by Using Cold Water, Exercise and Light, Loose Garments.

A PHYSICIAN who has given much thought to the hygiene of clothing has come to the conclusion that many deaths are caused by heavy woolen underclothing, says the New York World. It can be proved that flannels are often the cause of severe colds. To have a cold is to be in a diseased condition and that means a loss of vitality and a shortening of life. It may even mean death. One can easily demonstrate in one's own person on a small scale the ill effects of excessive flannels. Bind your hand in thick woolen bandages and leave it in that condition for a night. In the morning you will find it damp and flabby, the pores all open. It is in the most susceptible condition for catching cold. If the whole body were brought to the same state the result of exposure to cold air would inevitably be disastrous. That the whole body is often brought to a nearly similar condition is certain. The majority of people during the winter incase themselves in heavy, tight woolen or flannel garments. These provoke perspiration and do not absorb it. The result is that the wearer's skin is hot, damp and highly susceptible to the inflammatory effects of cold. A slightly lowered temperature can hardly fail to bring on a cold. Heavy woolen underclothing is able to do all the more harm because it has the weight of ancient domestic tradition. Few people dare to be wiser than their grandmothers. Woolen underclothing, according to modern experience, should be as light as is consistent with comfort. There are many persons who go through the winter healthily in cotton underwear, and these are probably the most fortunate class of the population. But the warmth-preserving qualities of wool are not to be ignored. One of its great properties is that it is a bad conductor of heat. The heat of the body, therefore, is not given out and does not absorb perspiration freely. This is a quality of doubtful value. While it is agreeable not to have your underclothing glued to your skin it is injurious to carry a deposit of moisture which may become cold and do harm in all parts of the body. The object, therefore, should be to wear underclothing which does not cause excessive perspiration. It should be light and loose. Wool is apparently the best material for the majority of the people. The subject of colds receives too little attention. Many people are resigned to the perpetual possession of them. They should be regarded as disease dangerous, offensive and unclean. Patent medicine advertisements print eloquent descriptions of their final effects. These remarks are applicable to those who have neglected themselves too long and are fit subjects for the hospital or prolonged medical treatment. Wise attention to clothing and the general health is more valuable than all remedies and treatment. Colds are probably the chief cause of illness and disease among human beings. They give little trouble to animals, who wear no clothing. Arguing from these facts, some enthusiasts would say that the less clothing you wear and the more you expose yourself the healthier you will be. But a state of civilization of considerable antiquity has made it necessary for man to preserve his natural heat by artificial means. It is not permissible to abandon clothing entirely in this country. Nor is it advisable to wear as little as the public authorities will permit during an American winter. Neither warm clothing nor artificial heat will satisfactorily replace the natural heat of the body. To preserve this should be the first aim of all who wish to avoid colds. Good food, fresh air and exercise are obviously the principal means.

Hideous Balmoral.

Balmoral, Queen Victoria's palace in the highlands, has a tower which relieves the exterior from absolute tameness and pulls together the disjointed buildings which have been patched on from time to time, but the interior is plain to ugliness. The corridors are hung with that abomination of early Victorian days, imitation marble paper, are lighted with oil lamps, such as one sees in the engine room of a steamship. Trophies of the chase—heads and antlers of deer shot by distinguished visitors—are fixed in every available spot. These are appropriate, except that they are framed in garlands of gilded twigs. The wall papers in the rooms are pale, strippy things that ought to have long since been consigned to the flames. The pictures are inferior lithographs of the great exposition and faded family photographs. The curtains and carpets of tartan are calculated to produce headache at short notice, and the chairs and sofas of uncomfortable shape are upholstered in Berlin wool. In the big drawing-room glass-fronted cases filled with an endless variety of articles, useful and useless—certainly not ornamental—combine to give the effect of a museum with a dash of the curio shop. The library is a pleasant room and the banqueting hall has some good tapestry hangings, but here again are hideous garlands of gilded twigs.—New York Times.

Termites Destroy a Cable.

The French Academy of Sciences was informed last summer of the destruction of an electric cable in Tonquin by the attacks of termites. The cable crossed a marshy tract and was enclosed in a tube of lead. The insects bored holes in the tube and completely destroyed the insulation of the cable. It has been proposed to guard the cable against future attacks by enclosing it in an envelope of cotton and jute impregnated with sulphate of copper, which, it is believed, would prove a fatal poison to the insects.

It is calculated that the earth weighs about 6,049,836,000,000,000 tons.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

H. Erickson, Minneapolis, Minn., artificial limb; Thomas Hennessy, Grand Forks, N. D., gas generator; Victor Hodell and A. Olson, Minneapolis, Minn., lumber truck; Joseph H. Smith and W. A. Landis, St. Cloud, Minn., egg-tester; Ira Van Tilburg, St. Paul, Minn., metallic barrel; Frederick T. and J. P. Vanstrum, Minneapolis, Minn., non-refillable bottle; Darius C. Benjamin, Alpha, Minn., (design) fence strand.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul.

Prison Physiognomy.

There are fifteen college graduates in prison stripes on Blackwell's Island. This fact was learned by a clergyman of this city, who recently conducted a Sunday morning service at the penitentiary, and it was elicited by his remarking to one of the keepers that there were a great many intelligent faces in the group of prisoners confronting him. The clergyman made mental notes of some of the faces, and after the service he pointed them out to the keeper, and asked if they were not college graduates. Out of the five men indicated by him, only one was a college graduate, and, to the clergyman's dismay, the keeper designated as college men three of the most repulsive and vicious-looking prisoners in the group. One of the most intelligent faces in the throng was described by the matter-of-fact keeper as belonging to "a tough 'un, who's been on the island, off and on, ever since he was a kid."—New York Times.

The Smallest Thoroughfare.

The smallest street in San Francisco? It is Reed street, near the top of Telegraph Hill. Reed Place it is called on the adjacent lamp post, but in official parlance, all thoroughfares, whether boulevards, avenues, places or alleys are streets. Everything that bears an official name on the official map of thoroughfares in the surveyor's office is a street.

This particular street, as shown on the map in the surveyor's office, has a length of 34 feet 4 inches and a width of 6 feet 5 inches. Nevertheless, it might be argued by one disposed to be captious that Reed Place has a greater depth than this, for, when you have reached the official end of the street you come to a flight of wooden steps. Mounting these, you find yourself on what may be called the second story of Reed street. Traversing the second story a few paces, you reach another flight of stairs, and these lead up to still the third story of Reed place, at the end of which is a single green tree, hanging over the fence from a neighbor's yard—the only green thing to be seen on all Reed street.—San Francisco Call.

Bicycle Law in Mexico.

A bicycle in Mexico must be provided with a bell, a metal plate showing its license number, and at night, a lantern. The number of wheels in the capital is increasing rapidly. All makes are represented, and the very latest patterns and improvements are demanded. There are many splendid bicycle trips to be made in the valley. In every direction extend roads that have paths made smooth by the tread of the burro and barefoot native, and, while they would offer little inducement to a vehicle, furnish a good track for wheels.—Modern Mexican.

In 1641 the first rope was manufactured at Boston.

HELD UP.

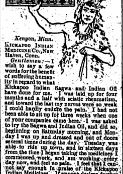
An Example of a Life Saved.

Days of Pain and Nights of Agony Give Way to Perfect Health.

How The Indian Accomplished This Wonderful Restoration.

The Indian is again to be praised for happiness and freeness from pain where misery formerly existed. If sufferers from that most dreaded of maladies, rheumatism, in its different forms, could but understand the cause of their pain and know the best way to get rid of it, rheumatism would become a thing of the past. In the first place this malady is due to a superabundance of uric acid in the blood, the kidneys and liver do not act properly and throw off this poison which settles in the different joints of the body and is the cause of the excruciating pains that attend rheumatism. This acid when it finally reaches the heart, as it eventually does, results in a death almost instantaneously, and fraught with the most dire agony.

The remedy. Tone up the kidneys, the liver, the stomach, and above all purify the blood. Nothing in the world will do this so quickly and so effectually as Kickapoo Indian Sagwa. It is a remedy that has cured thousands, not only of rheumatism but from all diseases arising from derangements of the life-creating organs. It will cure you. Do not wait until this awful suffering has broken you down physically and mentally, or perhaps has reached a point where it is about ready to attack the heart. Sufferers should remember that this medicine, while it is efficient, is absolutely harmless, containing no poisonous ingredients whatever, being made from roots, barks, herbs and gums.



One of the many who have benefited by its use is Mr. Lyman E. Turner. We will quote his experience in his own words:—

Kenyon, Minn.

Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., New Haven, Conn.

Gentlemen:—I wish to say a few words for the benefit of suffering humanity in regard to what Kickapoo Indian Sagwa and Indian Oil have done for me. I was laid up for four months and a half with sciatic rheumatism, and toward the last my nerves were so weak I could hardly endure the pain. I had not been able to sit up for three weeks when one of your companies came here. I was asked to try the Sagwa and Indian Oil, and did so, beginning on Saturday morning, and Monday I was up and dressed and out of doors several times during the day. Tuesday was able to ride up town, and in sixteen days from the time I began taking the medicines I commenced work, and am working every day now, and feel no pain. I feel that I cannot say enough in praise of the Kickapoo Indian Medicines. If anyone desires further information I will gladly give it.—Lyman E. Turner, P. O. Box 83.

Sufferers from rheumatism, do not delay. Delays are dangerous. You have but one life to live, and good health once lost is hard to restore. Anyone wishing special advice should write to us as we have a large corps of doctors who will consider all correspondence absolutely confidential. Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., New Haven, Conn. All druggists sell the Kickapoo Remedies.

SURPRISING THE ORIENTALS.

A Sea of Pigtails Watched a Twist Drill Work.

An account of a visit to a Chinese arsenal near Fuchau is given by a correspondent of Cassier's Magazine. He says:

"Taking out two drills, I sent them in and immediately was invited to enter. The official was polite, bowing and shaking his own hands, as is the custom among Chinamen, and offered me a cup of tea. There happened to be several forgings in the room and as I pressed the drills against them and pointed over the wall he seemed to comprehend what was wanted, and in a few minutes I was in a large, well-lighted machine shop. I might say this extensive plant was built and equipped by French engineers some fifteen years ago.

"The native foreman examined my tools with great interest and called in several assistants. All looked puzzled and did not seem to know what they were for. Walking to a drill press, I took out the flat drill and, after considerable packing around the shank, succeeded in getting one of my taper shank twist drills to run fairly true in the spindle. There must have been fifty Chinamen working in the room, and every one had gathered around this press. The foreman ordered them off repeatedly, and then, looking at me, laughed good-naturedly and gave it up. He brought a piece of cast iron, but I wanted something harder to drill, so I walked out to a large planer and took a long extension tool, made from 3 by 1¾-inch tool, and clamped it up to the table of the drill press. He shook his head, intimating that the twist drill could not go through, and the crowd of workmen emitted grunts of approval. The press started, the lips of the twist drill turned out two spiral chips. The men elbowed me to one side. There was a sea of pigtails bending down, watching the marvelous action of that little tool. As the chips grew in length the expressions of wonderment increased.

"It happened that the chips did not break until they were about fourteen inches long. Then others started and each time that they broke off they were eagerly snatched by the men, some burning their fingers, and examined carefully from end to end. The dull edges of the drill were shown around, and then ground and started again, and the fact that the drill would cut as well as the first time caused increased amazement and murmurs. I have made many tests with twist drills, but never before such an appreciative and demonstrative audience."

CUT OFF TOP-KNOTS.

Great Grief in Corea Over an Edict of the Japanese.

The Rev. A. F. Moore, a missionary of the Presbyterian church, for four years in Seoul, Corea, arrived at San Francisco on the steamer Rio, en route for home, accompanied by his family. Some months ago the Japanese, who dictated the appointment of the Corean cabinet, caused the Japanese police to cut off the hair, or top knot, so called, of a great many Coreans. The top-knots are a sign of distinction. They are worn only by married men, and no man is supposed to have properly asserted himself until he is married and he has a top-knot. The cutting off of these appendages caused great grief. There were many remonstrances and increased dissatisfaction. However, things have so far improved now that an edict has gone forth allowing the Coreans to wear their top-knots. The consequence is that many whose hair was cut off have collected it again and fastened it on, so that their happiness has been re-established. The gentleman says that many of the Coreans are embracing Christianity. He says there is a great disquiet in Corea, and that bands of dissatisfied natives are going about the country robbing and pillaging. Travelers are not safe.

The king whose consort was murdered over a year ago, is still at the Russian legation and largely under its control. There is much dissatisfaction because of this. A new palace is being built near the legation for the king.

HOW PLIMSOLL SAVED SAILORS

His Long Struggle with the House of Commons.

Lieut. John M. Ellicott, United States navy, describing what is the Plimsoll measure in St. Nicholas, tells how it was finally carried: At last Plimsoll got a vague sort of an act passed, giving the board of trade power to survey ships going to sea and to stop those which seemed to be unseaworthy. This was in 1873, and during the first nine months of the act 286 vessels were surveyed and 256 of them found unseaworthy. At least one in every ten was found to be so dangerously overloaded as to be in almost a sinking condition before leaving the dock. Of course, this opened the eyes of the board of trade and of parliament and Plimsoll's mark became an established feature on British seagoing ships; but its establishment was fought against by ship-owners, inch by inch. It was nicknamed the "pancake," and ridiculed and treated with contempt in every way. Some ship-owners put the mark on their smokestacks in defiance and derision. Plimsoll held to his idea, however, even getting himself suspended from the house of commons one day for being too blunt and violent in his plain talk upon the subject. The result was "the merchant shipping act of 1876," making the Plimsoll mark compulsory on all British seagoing vessels, not by the shipowners, but by the board of trade.

The English Sparrow.

The English sparrow was brought to the United States in 1850, but it was not until 1870 that the species can be said to have firmly established itself. Since then it has taken possession of the country. Its fecundity is amazing. In the latitude of New York and southward it hatches, as a rule, five or six broods in a season, with from five to six young in a brood. Assuming the average annual product of a pair to be twenty-four young, of which half are females and half males, and assuming further for the sake of computation that all live, together with their offspring, it will be seen that in ten years the progeny of a single pair would be 275,716,983,698.

Arctic Owls in the Northwest.

Papers all over the Northwest are noticing the arrival of arctic, or snowy owls, which were mentioned in the Oregonian a week ago. They have been seen at many places all the way from the boundary line to the California line, and taxidermists are being kept busy mounting specimens of this visitor from the arctic regions. One paper says: "This owl travels southward with the ducks, the companion it is generally found with." Owls and ducks do not travel together, unless the duck is inside the owl. The ducks come down from the North every winter, but the snowy owl does not migrate unless the winter north is unusually severe and his food supply is shut off. The last time these birds were seen here in numbers was in the hard winter of 1881-2.—Portland Oregonian.

New Notions in Grammar.

Our English friends are a good deal exercised on account of a new English grammar which has appeared under the auspices of the professor of English at Vanderbilt University, in Nashville, Tenn. The writer takes the view that custom is the great authority in grammar. Horace, long ago, took much the same position; but the question arises: "What usage, whose usage?" This new authority in grammar commends such sentences as "It was him." "Who did you see?" "These sort of books." This kind of English sounds a little too much like "cracker" English to warrant its adoption.—Philadelphia Press.

True to His Failing.

"Does Mr. Hicks take any interest in politics?"

"Yes. Great."

"Which side?"

"The wrong side."

"And which is that?"

"I don't know—but I know Hicks."—Harper's Bazar.

To Pay a Penalty for Dining

Is rather hard, isn't it? Yet how many are compelled to do this after every meal. Dyspepsia, that inexorable persecutor, never ceases to torment of its own volition, and rarely yields to ordinary medication. But tranquility of the stomach is in store for those who pursue a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This fine corrective also remedies malarial and kidney complaints, rheumatism, constipation, biliousness and nervousness.

Diplomacy.

"You don't mean to say that that stingy old maid has given you ten shillings for telling her fortune?"

"Indeed, I do. I told her she would meet with an accident before she was twenty-four years old."—Answers.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Weary's Definition.

Hungry Higgins—Wot, yer dunno what a miser is? A miser's a man wot denies hisself the necessaries of life, when he has the money to buy 'em.

Weary Watkins—O, I've met some of them fellers. But I thought they called themselves Prohibitionists.—Indianapolis Journal.

Especial attention is called to the engraving of the big apple in our advertising columns. No other portion of the country is attracting as much attention from fruit growers as western Colorado. A comparatively small area is as yet under cultivation, but the quality and quantity of the yield is said to be remarkable. The company advertising is thoroughly responsible and their representations can be relied on.

Eh?

Mrs. Ferry—What would you think of me if I should take a notion to be a bloomer girl?

Mr. Ferry—Bloomer what?—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Two bottles of Piso's Cure for Consumption cured me of a bad lung trouble.—Mrs. J. Nichols, Princeton, Ind., March 26, 1895.

Witnessed the Altercation.

Attorney—You say that you witnessed this altercation?

O'Hara (on the stand)—No, sir; Oi didn't see thot. Oi was busy lookin' at th' foight.—Memphis Scimeter.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c

Deceitful Appearances.

"Miss Goldie has become quite a regular church-goer. What a peculiar case she carries her prayer-book in."

"That isn't her prayer-book. That's her bicycle kit."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Philadelphia, Pa.

Modern Samson.

"Brassy, I thought you was to be captain of the Cyclone football team?"

"I wuz, but me mother cut me hair when I wuz asleep."

The Fellow Feeling.

"They give the soubrette a kindly reception, however."

"Oh, yes; they'll be old themselves some time."—Detroit Journal.

The first scientific periodical was issued in 1757.

Tinware was first made in this country in 1770.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,
Gold Medal, Midwinter Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

A Pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

A Mystery of Arithmetic.

It was interesting to read about the gentleman who, at a Sunday school meeting last Sunday, told the children that in the thirty-three years during which he had abstained from tobacco, he had saved by that means $8,882.61. It would also be interesting to know whether any bright boy in the room asked him if he had all that money in the bank. It is one of the curious things about economies of this sort that they never seem to make any difference with one's budget at the end of the year. Theoretically, arithmetically, they must, of course, but practically they don't. What lots of saving, thrifty, get-ahead fellows there are who smoke, and what lots of total abstainers from tobacco who can't lay up a cent to save their lives! It really seems as if the matter of saving money were presided over by unseen imps, who spirit away dimes and dollars from some people by night and put them in the pockets of other people. Cash accounts don't altogether explain the mystery. A man who doesn't use tobacco may often wonder where he would get the money to buy it if he did use it; but if he did use it, probably his accounts would somehow come to the same thing.—Boston Transcript.

Art of Professional Fasting.

A glimpse into the inside history of the professional "fasting" business is not without interest. A man who has fasted three weeks in a show called "Wonderland," in the Whitechapel quarter of London sued the proprietors for his salary, which they meanly withheld when he was ready for a very large quantity of victuals. He recovered most of his salary, but the defendants offered in evidence a suspicious-looking bill against him for "refreshments" during the fast. The "refreshments" were only lemonade and sugar and water, and the cost of these was deducted from his salary. He seems to have been a reasonable kind of fasting man. Not all these abnormal performers are so scrupulous. What would Wonderland have said to the man in a trance in Vienna, who, on the withdrawal of the public for the night, was seen by a watchful detective to rise and make a hearty meal of German sausage.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

The Reason.

"You are the only doctor that advises me to stay at home. All the other say I ought to go to a winter resort."

"I suppose they have all the patients they want."—Fliegende Blaetter.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Continuous Performance Style.

"Was the conversation lively at the Beverly dinner?"

"Oh, very. They have a music box that plays 1,000 tunes."—Chicago Record.

Raspberries are now to be seen growing in gardens in the Long Sutton district of Lincolnshire.

The languages used by the emperor and empress of Russia in their private intercourse are English and German.

One on the General.

An amusing story comes from India. It concerns a distinguished officer, who was constantly embracing some new hobby, much to the disgust of his brother officers and to the annoyance of the soldiers, on whom the hobbies frequently involved extra duty. His latest fad was amateur gardening. One day he was strolling past the officers' quarters, when he saw a couple of soldiers busily raking a lot of gravel stones over a patch of earth.

"Ah, men, I'm glad to see you taking an interest in gardening. It's a very nice occupation."

One of the men, not knowing him by sight, replied: "Umph! That's all you know. We wouldn't be hiding this earth with gravel if we didn't have an old fool of a general that's mad on gardening. Here we are, scraping these stones about in case he should pass this way and want to grow cabbages on the bit of earth underneath."—Harper's Round Table.

A 50-Cent Calendar Free.

Perhaps the most beautiful Calendar issued for the year '97 is The Youth's Companion Art Calendar, which is given to each subscriber to the paper for the year '97. It is made up of four charming pictures, beautifully reproduced in twelve harmonious colors. It is in form a four-page folder which, when extended, is 10x24 inches in size. The subjects are delightfully attractive. This calendar makes a desirable ornament for a mantel, center table or writing desk. It is offered for sale only by the publishers of The Youth's Companion at 50 cents per copy. Only because of the enormous number published is it possible for the publishers of The Companion to send it free to all Companion subscribers.

Ammonia in the Air.

Dr. Heber Plank says: "Chemists for a long time considered it impossible to separate nitrogen from oxygen as it exists in the air, and then to unite it with hydrogen to form ammonia; but claimed that our sources of ammonia must come from the waste and decomposition of organic matter. More recently, however, by experiment, ammonia has been produced directly from atmospheric air by means of electricity. This would seem to prove the fact that every flash of lightning is manufacturing tons upon tons of ammonia, and every peal of thunder is but recording the same, that falls to the ground during every electric rain storm, each tiny rain drop, well laden, conveying to the soil its portion of the good things already prepared for the plant's banquet table. And this also explains the reason why vegetation is so much more luxuriant after a gentle and refreshing thunder storm on our grass plats and lawns than is produced by irrigation from hydrants or brooks."

Diplomacy.

His Father—If you marry old Stubbs' daughter you shan't have a cent of my money.

The Son—But, father, if I don't marry her I can't get a cent of old Stubbs' money.

His Father (with a grudge to satisfy)—My own boy! Marry her, and render that old skinflint penniless!—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Gazette de France, which was founded in 1631, is the oldest newspaper in the world.

The wealthy Hebrews of Bagdad now own all that remains of the ancient city of Babylon.

"Mend it or End it," has been the rallying cry of reform, directed against abuses municipal or social.

For the man who lets himself be abused by a cough the cry should be modified to: Mend it, or it'll end you. You can mend any cough with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

A Thumbscrew Torture to the BIGGEST NERVE is

SCIATICA.

USE St. Jacobs Oil

It turns back the screw.—It unwinds the twist.—IT SOOTHES.—IT CURES. NO FURTHER PAIN.

Get A Move On

THAT Listless, Aimless, Dull, Lack-Lustre feeling of yours shows that your internal machinery is running too slowly.

YOUR LIVER IS LAZY
BOWELS are languid
BLOOD is sluggish

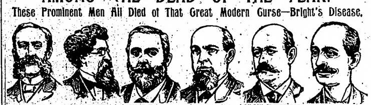
Get a move on without delay, or you'll be a very sick person. Cascarets Candy Cathartic make your liver lively, your bowels regular, your blood pure, move your machinery. Buy a box to-day, any drug store, 10c., 25c., 50c., or mailed for price. Write for booklet and free sample.

Cascarets CANDY CATHARTIC
CURE CHRONIC CONSTIPATION.

Address STERLING REMEDY COMPANY, CHICAGO; MONTREAL, CAN.; NEW YORK. 223

AMONG THE DEAD OF THE YEAR.

These Prominent Men All Died of That Great Modern Curse—Bright's Disease.



PROF. ABBOTT. M. B. BRADY. COL. T. W. KNOX. M. M. POMEROY. EX-GOV. GREENHALGE. EDWIN PARDRIDGE.

The year just closed has furnished an alarming array of prominent men who have died of Bright's disease of the kidneys. The number includes Professor Austin Abbott, the great jurist and author of law books; M. B. Brady, the famous photographer; Col. Thos. W. Knox, the author of the "Boy Travellers"; Mark M. Pomeroy, the well-known editor; Mr. Edwin Pardridge, the prominent Chicago merchant, and ex-Governor Greenhalge, of Massachusetts.

If death loves a shining mark, it is also certain that Bright's disease finds its victims among the prominent as well as among the millions of people who are suffering with it to-day, and yet do not realize this serious fact.

There are men and women in every portion of America who feel out of sorts, and who do not realize what it is that affects them. They may have peculiar pains in various parts of the body, strange lassitude, a bad taste in the mouth, pains in the back and about the loins, and a general irregularity of the system.

These things mean Bright's Disease in some one of its various stages, and no man or woman is safe who has them.

This terrible disease was once considered incurable. Eminent doctors so declared, but constant scientific and chemical experiments resulted in a discovery, which is an absolute cure for Bright's disease, even in its advanced stages. It is the one and only known remedy for this terrible complaint; its name is Warner's Safe Cure.

It is simply marvelous how many people are to-day kept in perfect health and strength through its use. It has a pleasing, soothing and quieting effect upon the kidneys, and all adjacent organs. It relieves promptly, puts the system in a condition of health, and substitutes happiness for misery. Testimonials of its great power could be furnished by the thousands, but all intelligent men and women, as well as the medical profession, know its great power and the grand work it is doing in the world.

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

FINISH

ST HILAIRE
SPECTATOR

JAN 3 THRU DEC 30
1894 1896

Title:
St. Hilaire SPECTATOR

13:22 - 16:22

Inclusive Dates: Jan 3 1894 — Dec 30 1896*

Missing Issues:

Jul 22, 1896
Dec 23, 1896

250-10-1978

252-10-1978

Originals held by: MHS X Other ___

Prepared by: V. A. Rogers vaR	Date: 10/25/1978	Format: 1A x 2B
Filmed by: Hauser	Date: 10/26/78	Camera No. Red 4
Reduction Ratio: 15½	Voltmeter .20/86	No. Expos. 723
Prelim. Inspection by:	Date:	Density:
Target Resolution: ______/mm	O.K. ___ Reject ___	Length:

The Minnesota Historical Society has reproduced the material in this microfilm without any purpose of direct or indirect commercial advantage in order to preserve and to secure it for private study, scholarship, and research. The material reproduced may be protected by copyright law (Title 17, U.S. Code). Any person engaging in further reproduction of this material may be liable for infringement.